James J. Hill may be termed the farmer member of the American Railroad family. If I had my way, he says, I would build at least one war-ship less a year, and with the $5,000,000 saved I would establish one thousand schools of agriculture.
What a blessing it would be if there was enough civic pride in the citizens of this county to start a war on weeds and keep it up until all the Canada thistles and other obnoxious weeds were exterminated. The increase in real estate values would much more than pay the expense.

Heavy drinkers in these United States. Statistics have just been issued showing that the consumption of coffee in the year ending June 30 was on the basis of 12 pounds for every one of the 80,000,000, of population. In January last her health began to rapidly fail and the end came on the 3rd inst. She was a young lady of high attainments and was universally beloved by a large circle of friends in this city.

The Soul of the Dog.
The interior and animal soul of the dog contains purer elements of natural, spontaneous and boundless kindness than that of the best of men.—H. Laverdan, in Paris Illustration.

Woman's Bright Idea.
It was a woman who had an idea when her chickens kept disappearing from the roost. She painted the legs red and when six disappeared in one night she went with a policeman to the places where chickens were offered for sale and in one crate found her fowls all dressed for the market, but still with their painted legs.

Man Does Not Know How to Live.
Modern life so depends upon medical science that, whether humanity is willing or unwilling, the profession is indispensable to progress. Because man's life is so artificial, he is the only animal that does not know how to live, and must be assisted on every hand by the science and imitation of nature.—Philadelphia Press.

Korean Grass.
The Korean grass used in the manufacture of grass cloth is grown very thickly and is usually cut the second or third year after planting the roots. The grass reaches a height of four to five feet, and with a proper start and under favorable conditions yields, it is roughly estimated, about 3,000 pounds to an acre corresponding to an acre.

One's First Duty.
There is an idea abroad among moral people that they should make their neighbors good. One person I have to make good; myself. But my duty to my neighbor is much more nearly expressed by saying that I have to make him happy—if I may.—Robert Louis Stevenson.

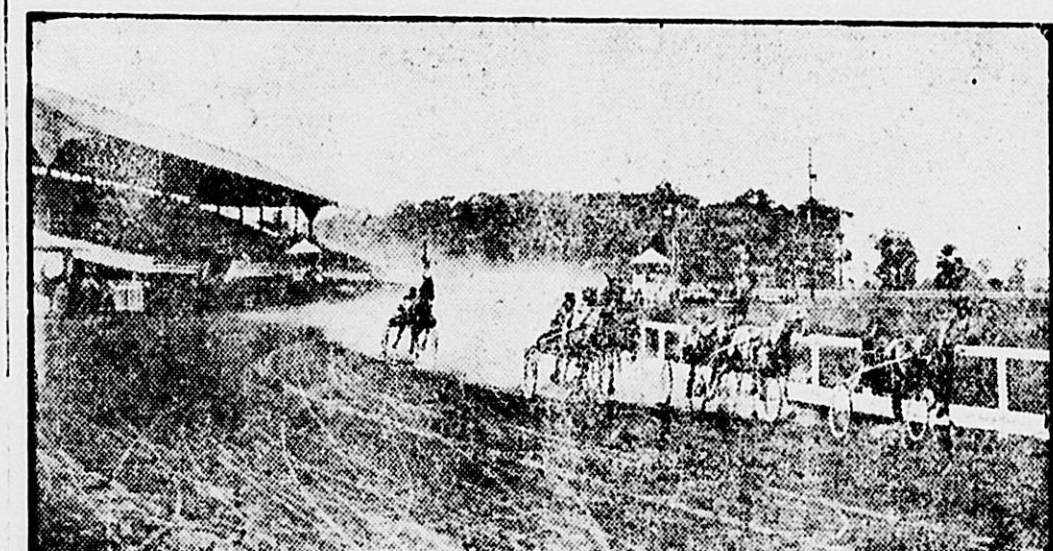

A Financier.
The negro, although proverbially improvident, sometimes has his weather-eye open. A man gave a dime to a young "darker" who had done him some trifling service. The darker handed it back. "Now, Marse Billy," he said, "you knows I doan' want no pay for what I does for you. Des gimme dat ole suit o' clo'es youse got on."—Youth's Companion.

Worth Boasting About.
"What was the best job you ever did?" inquired the first barber. "I once shaved a man," replied the second barber. "Go on." "Then I persuaded him to have a hair cut, shampoo, facial massage, singe, seafoam, electric buzz, tar spray and tonic rub." "What then?" "By that time he needed another shave."

Each a Complement of the Other.
Yet, as the great Ruskin said: "We are foolish in speaking of the superiority of one sex to the other. Each has what the other has not; each completes the other. They are in nothing alike, and yet the happiness and perfection of both depends on each other and what the other can give."

Life 100,000 Years Ago.
Scientists have found in a cave in Switzerland bones of men, who lived 100,000 years ago, when life was in constant danger from wild beasts. Today the danger, as shown by A. W. Brown, of Alexander, Me., is largely from deadly disease. "If it had not been for Dr. King's New Discovery which cured me, I could not have lived," he writes, "suffering as I did from a severe lung trouble and stubborn cough." To cure sore lungs, colds, obstinate coughs, and prevent pneumonia, its the best medicine on earth. 50c and $1.00. Guaranteed by A. S. Larabee and Jas. E. Dillon Trial bottle free.

Teach Children Humanity.

Without having any desire to enter into a discussion of what has been termed Mr. Roosevelt's motto "Let us go out and kill something," we do believe that the efforts of the National Audubon society to instill into the minds of the boys and girls of the country a love for birds and a desire to cherish and protect the bird life of the nation are worthy of the highest commendation. The local feeling on this subject all over the country has had a tendency to improve conditions the past few years, and now we find that the lessons of humanity are extending to a disposition to stop the "nest-robbing" which is only next to viciousness to the cruel slaying of the beautiful creatures which do so much to protect the trees and plant life of the country by their warfare on the harmful bugs and insects. Our nation is learning the lesson of material welfare along with the lesson of humanity, and many have been the laws passed in recent years looking toward the furtherance of the objects of Audubon societies. For ourselves, we believe that the inculcation of these ideas of humanity and love of nature makes better boys and girls in all walks of life. It teaches gentleness instead of cruelty; it teaches the kindly spirit and consideration which makes for better citizenship; it even teaches respect for the rights of our fellow-man, for when we respect the right of the innocent bird of the field to live and work out its own destiny under nature's law, we are sure to respect the rights of our fellow being. Then all praise to the work of the Audubon societies, and all praise to the work of every organization, legal or otherwise, which develops in the minds of our growing youth the sentiment of reverence for the saying "Thou shalt not kill" as applied to the beautiful and useful creatures of the woods and fields.—Saginaw News.

Looking for an Explanation.

There is a man in a Midland town whose name is Burst. It is a misfortune that would not have attracted much attention if he had not called his two children Annie May and Ernest Will.—Exchange.

Influence.

Influence is a power we exert over others by our thought, words and actions. We all of us at times lose sight of this principal, and apparently act on the assumption that what we do or think or say can affect no one but ourselves. But we are so connected with the immortal beings around us that we cannot avoid exerting a most important influence over their character and final conditions. Since we all have a personal influence and our words and actions leave a well-nigh indelible trace, it is our duty to make that influence as potential for good as possible. In order to do this you must show yourself a woman among all. How great a beauty and blessing it is to hold the royal gifts of the soul, so that they shall be music to some and a fragrance to others and life to all!

Some women cling to their homes like the honeysuckle over the door, yet like it, sweeten all the region with the subtle fragrance of their goodness.

Oh, it is terrible the power that we have; the power of influence. No thought to us is more rife with a solemn grandeur of interests than that which relates to the influence, we are silently exerting upon our creature. We read that not in the earthquake that shook the mountain pillars, nor in the whirlwind that rent the forest was God found; but in the "still, small voice," which, like the whisper of love, breaths into the heart what the loud voice cannot.—Selected.

Keep Out of Debt.

One reason why so many people find the road of life uncomfortable is the fact that they're walking bare-footed over broken promises.

There's nothing so heavy to carry, so disheartening, so weakening, so nerve-racking as debt.

If it is stopped with the flattening of the pocketbook it would be bad enough; but it only begins there.

It weighs on the mind. It places the victim at a disadvantage in work and play. It compromises manhood and womanhood, and eats away at character like a canker worm.

The best and biggest vow a young man can make is to keep out of debt.

There may come times when he cannot keep his vow and fulfill his duty to his own. Such times are not of frequent occurrence, however, but when they do come, the debtless man will find it easier to get credit than it would be if he had already exhausted his credit.

To keep out of debt means self-respect and self-reliance. It means health and happiness and freedom from that worst of foes, worry.—Philadelphia North American.

Hints to the Drowning.

Ninety-nine times in one hundred drowning is the result of fright and frenzy. There is a public horror of cramps. Not one case of cramps in 1,000 is dangerous if the victim knows what to do and does it. Every long distance swimmer entering a race expects to get cramps, yet he doesn't drown and he doesn't stop swimming either. He keeps going until his legs are in knots, still, he doesn't sink. He plugs along until there isn't another kick in him, and even now he doesn't go down. Instead of that he rolls over on his back and waits for the boat to pick him up. It may be a minute or it may be an hour, but until the boat comes the expert will be floating around like a chip.

When you catch a cramp in your arm or leg don't get excited. You may yell, but keep yourself under control. Don't exert yourself for it takes little or no effort to keep afloat. Crush down the feeling of panic. Stretch out your arm or leg, as the case may be, until you are straining to the utmost. Then strain a bit harder, and watch the lumped muscle go down.—New York press.

Insect Stings Serious.

Stings and bites of insects are extremely dangerous at all times, and especially when the system is not in a condition to resist the poison injected. In many insects the nature of the poison has not been ascertained; while in most of them it is of an acid, irritant nature; in others it may contain a powerful cardiac sedative and depressant, and in still other organisms impure or mixed cultures may be introduced with the sting or bite. Apart from the natural poison used by insects, it should not be forgotten that flies and other insects that live on carrion may easily carry contagion and inoculate the persons whom they bite or sting. In the case of ordinary bites or stings the chemical antidote is a strong alkaline solution, such as a strong solution of bicarbonate of soda or potash, which counteracts the acid of the sting. Suction at the wound in all these varieties of stings and bites will draw out some of the poison, and until some antitoxin treatment can be found which will prove an antidote to the bacterial poison introduced, little can be done beyond a stimulating and supporting treatment with attention to symptoms.

The Cargo For Fargo

Hiram Fargo had a cargo that he wished to ship to Fargo; But he couldn't find the proper kind of car.

"What?" asked Fargo, "Does my cargo come beneath some fool embargo just because I want to ship a lot of tar?"

Hiram Fargo billed his cargo. But at once he found he'd started quite a stir.

Said the agent: "Can't let tar go in a cargo out to Fargo. Lest it leak, and then the right of way 'twill mar."

"O," begged Fargo, "let my tar go; You will find my rating par; go. Look me up, and also, smoke this good cigar."

But the agent growled: "Too far. Go by some other route to Fargo—For your class of goods is marked here by a star."

Then vowed Fargo: "If my cargo Cannot in your blamed old car go I will find out just how big a man you are."

In the words of Potiphar: "Go To a hotter spot than Fargo. If I can't ship my tar cargo in your car."

Hiram Fargo fixed his cargo. Spoke of all the old embargo—And the agent sighed while looking at the tar:

"Let the car go with its cargo. Though too far, go on to Fargo; With the cargo tar go Fargo as you are."

Local Color.

One day, just to be doing it, more than for anything else, Julius Caesar, well known as the author of "Commentaries" as well as being the emperor of Rome, took his stylus in hand and turned out a batch of fables.

He turned them to the editor of the Roma Daily Tribune and offered them for publication.

"But these fables are incomplete," objected the editor.

"How so?" asked Caesar.

"Not one of them has the customary moral."

"My dear sir, if you read your own paper you would know there are no morals in Rome at present," retorted Caesar, haughtily taking his manuscript and leaving the office.

The Crime of 1909.

It was over.

The gavel of the speaker had crashed upon the desk.

The Payne tariff bill was a law. The increased tax upon stockings had been smuggled into the statutes of the nation at the last moment.

"And now," said the men, "with stockings so much higher it is going to be more difficult than ever to raise the wind."

"Well," said the women, "if we have to spend so much more money on hosiery, it is the duty of the government to instruct the weather bureau to raise the wind."

In this, you see, they meant that more than the reason for such a remark should be obvious.

That Alters the Case.

Money makes the mare go, unless you have bet it on her.

The Idle Moment.

Every man should endeavor to have as many idle moments as possible.

When we ponder upon the many great discoveries and inventions that have had their inception in idle moments we realize that a powerful influence the idle moment is upon the history of mankind. Columbus decided to discover America in an idle moment, Newton figured out gravity in an idle moment, Edison thought of the incandescent lamp in an idle moment, Marconi planned the wireless telegraph in an idle moment, Victor Hugo conceived the idea of "Les Misérables" in an idle moment, and so on

To check early colds or Grippe with "Preventics" means sure defeat for Pneumonia. To stop a cold with Preventics is so far from letting it run and be obliged to cure it afterwards. That's why they are called preventics.

Preventics are little Candy Cold Cures. No Ointment, no phlegm, nothing sickening. Now for the children, thoroughly safe. For you, if you feel chilly, if you sneeze, if you ache all over, if you feel any unusual sickness, And don't forget your child, if there's a feverishness, night fever, Headache, or anything like that, if you give your child a little Preventics. The Log Rolling Contest.

The river bank in front of Weno-mah park was lined with people Friday afternoon to witness the log-rolling contest. This event was in charge Lovell U. Grant and was pulled off on schedule time and in a very interesting manner. In earlier days when the lumbering industry held complete sway in the industrial pursuits of the valley it was nothing to see a contest of this nature almost any day along the Saginaw river and in fact on all the log driving streams of the state where operations were carried on. But within the past few years a spectacle of the kind has been rare and the contest yesterday brought many citizens back to the good old days. Those participating in the event were George W. McLaughlin and Nelson Cardinal, of AuSable, Leo McKenzie, of Prescott, and Arthur Berry, of Alpena, Edward Agans, of AuSable, formerly of this city, was judge. The log rollers, with corks in their boots, performed in front of the park where hundreds watched them go through their antics. The match was so even that the judge decided to divide the prize money between the men. To ride a log might be considered an easy proposition by the casual observer, but when the rolling begins and the contestants travel at the rate of eight or ten miles an hour, only to have one of them suddenly halt and start the log going in an opposite direction it requires one of skill and agility to keep from going into the drink. And even with the splendid performance of the contestants on this occasion there was an occasional splash in the water. The sight was an amusing one to the lookers-on.—Bay City Times.

Public Domain Commission.

Lansing, July 15.—The first meeting of the new public domain commission, created by last legislature, met last week for the first time and organized with the following officers: Chairman—Ex-Senator A. J. Doherty, of Clare. Secretary—A. C. Carton deputy land commissioner. The next meeting of the commission will be in better shape for handling their new work, and will have reports upon which to work.

A committee consisting of Secretary of State F. C. Martindale, State Regent Junius E. Beal and Secretary A. C. Carton was appointed and will visit the forestry reserves, take an inventory of the state property and appoint temporary custodians for the immediate protection of the land from fires.

A supervisor of trespass who will have general supervision over all trespass agents, will be appointed at the next meeting.

Sees Mother Grow Young.

"It would be hard to overstate the wonderful change in my mother since she began to use Electric Bitters," writes Mrs. W. L. Gilpatrick of Danforth, Me. "Although past 70 she seems really to be growing young again. She suffered untold misery from dyspepsia for 20 years. At last she could neither eat, drink nor sleep. Doctors gave her up and all remedies failed till Electric Bitters worked such wonders for her health." They invigorate all vital organs, cure liver and kidney troubles, induce sleep, impart strength and appetite. Only 50c at A. S. Larabee's and Jas. E. Dillon's drug stores.

School at Coldwater.

The State Public School, located at Coldwater, in its report for June shows a slight increase over the previous month. At the close of June there were 185 persons there—154 males and 31 females, and during the month a total of 27 were discharged from the school—14 males and 13 females.

The close of May showed a total of 181 at the school—151 males and 30 females. However, during the month of June, 22 new faces appeared at the institution and nine probationers, seven were females and of the new faces, 15 were males.

Tortured On a Horse.

"For ten years I couldn't ride a horse without being in torture from piles," writes L. S. Napier, of Ragless, Ky., "when all doctors and other remedies failed, Bucklen's Arnica Salve cured me." Infallible for piles, burns, scalds, cuts, boils, fever sores, eczema, salt rheum, corns. 25c Guaranteed by A. S. Larabee and Jas. E. Dillon.

State Capitol News.

Lansing, July 15.—The supreme court has just handed down a decision declaring the act constitutional which authorizes county boards of supervisors to fix the place where county moneys shall be deposited. The case came to the court from Genesee county, where the treasurer denied the right of the board to name the depository.

One of the state institutions, the U. of M. at Ann Arbor, has the largest summer school attendance in its history, the attendance last week reaching the 1,210 mark.

The supreme court held that the publishing of the notices of the local option election four days later than the law directs to be a ministerial error, and does not invalidate the election in Tuscola county. This places the county definitely in the dry column. By the notices being posted four days sooner, the court held, it would not have affected the result.

By this time most of the Senators and representatives on the last legislature have a good-sized library of red books, as they have been shipped from the secretary of state's department.

While everything will be in readiness for the unveiling of the new Custer monument at Monroe about the first of next year, the public services will not be held until along in the summer, when the weather is appropriate for an occasion of this kind. The committee recently appointed which will have charge of the exercises, are working on the program and taking care of all details.

Attorney General Bird has furnished the state tax commission with an opinion that telephone and telegraph companies may be taxed this year under the new law and the work of ascertaining their value is already under way. Interurban railroads which have organized under the steam railroad act will be assessed under the ad valorem system.

The state board of health is out with a bulletin advising a simple summer diet and advising that meat be not used during the summer, but plenty of vegetables, grains and fruit.

It is expected that a successor for Dr. Alfred C. Lane who has resigned as head of the geological survey, will be chosen at a meeting of the board of geological survey, which will be held July 23 at Calumet. There are a number of candidates for the position.

Life 100,000 Years Ago.

Scientists have found in a cave in Switzerland bones of men, who lived 100,000 years ago, when life was in constant danger from wild beasts. Today the danger, as shown by A. W. Brown, of Alexander, Me., is largely from deadly disease. "If it had not been for Dr. King's New Discovery, which cured me, I could not have lived," he writes, "suffering as I did from a severe lung trouble and stubborn cough." To cure sore lungs, colds, obstinate coughs, and prevent pneumonia, its the best medicine on earth. 50c and $1.00. Guaranteed by A. S. Larabee and Jas. E. Dillon Trial bottle free.

High Ideals Should Be Guide.

In the adoption of a profession or trade another important fact not to be overlooked is the end to which your selection will lead. Let high ideals be your guide, lofty motives your ambition. A man may profitably work for money, but money and social position are the lowest imaginable ideals. When you have fixed upon your purpose go fearlessly onward. Don't mind sneers and taunts and calumnies. Weave your crown with the garland of obstacles conquered and difficulties overcome.

A falling tiny nerve—no larger than the finest silken thread—takes from the heart its impulse, its power, its regularity. The stomach also has its hidden, or inside nerve. It was Dr. Shoop who first told us it was wrong to drug a weak or failing stomach, heart or kidneys. His prescription—Dr. Shoop's Restorative—is directed straight for the cause of these ailments—these weak and faltering inside nerves. This, no doubt clearly explains why the Restorative has of late grown so rapidly into popularity. Druggists say that those who test the Restorative even for a few days soon become fully convinced of its wonderful merit. Anyway, don't drug the organ. Treating the cause of sickness is the only sensible and successful way. Sold by C. H. Prescott & Sons.

Man and the Boy.

A man wants an automobile, but a boy is perfectly satisfied with an automobile horn.—Topeka Capital.

Some of the Prize Sheep at the State Fair Grounds, Detroit.

Not in Favor of "Whuppies."

The Kentucky mother of 14 children, herself unmothered, and all her "dees" gathered from experience and watchin' and studin' about things, has come to a very modern conclusion on family government: "Folks chumps children too much. Hitts 'em more than children's deersavin' hit. The ol' folks'll hev some of their own, an' they'll turn and whupp a child, an' hit innocent."

Britain's Coal Troubles.

We hear a great deal in these times of the folly and wickedness of war between civilized peoples. What, then, shall be said of industrial civil war in our midst? In every dispute here must always be a reasonable middle course. If it cannot be found that is nothing short of a disgrace to our civilization.—London Weekly Dispatch.

His Four Seasons.

An amusing story is told by Sir W. L. Holland of the answer given by a Londoner to a Salvation Army captain. The zealous officer had asked the boy what work he did to provide him with food, etc., and the reply was: "I pick strawberries in the summer, I pick hops in the autumn, I pick peckets in the winter, and oakum for the rest of the year."

Be Not Too Ready with Excuses.

That man who always is searching for excuses for his shortcomings is a bugbear in business life. To find an excuse almost always involves some one or more of his fellows. To have his excuses accepted tends to place his fellows more or less under censure, and whether the censure be just or unjust, friction results inevitably.

Trouble for Midnight Sons.

"Now that the doctors are locating lies by means of X-rays," said the little grass widow, "I don't know what's to become of the men. It'll be worse than having a wife who sees what they are doing in a sort of psychic trance and tells them all about it when they get home in the wee hours of the morning."

Makes for Safety in Mines.

To prevent an explosion of dust or gas in the event of an incandescent globe breaking in a mine, a new lamp has been devised in which the usual globe is inclosed in another, filled with air. Should either globe break it is said the air would extinguish the carbon before it could ignite the dust or gas.

Marvelous.

"More than 5,000 elephants a year go to make our piano keys," remarked the student boarder who had been reading the scientific notes in a patent medicine almanac. "For the land's sake!" exclaimed the landlady. "Ain't it wonderful what some animals can be trained to do?"

Pays to Use Preservatives.

It is estimated that a fence post, which under ordinary circumstances will last for perhaps two years, will, if given preservative treatment costing about ten cents, last 18 years. The service of other timbers, such as railroad ties and telephone poles, can be doubled and often trebled by inexpensive preservative treatment.

An Ill Behaved Chick.

My one chick hung six chicks in two days. I never had such a peculiar experience and can find no reason for it. Can you? A.—You give your hens too many eggs or too small a nest box; result, broken eggs that smear the feathers, which sticking to either make loops which catch chicks by the neck. Make box 18 inches square and set from 13 to 15 eggs, according to size of hen and season.—Cape May Star and Wave.

Things Needed for Success.

It does not matter whether you are a plowman or a statesman. The one is as necessary to the world as the other. And the former when pursued with the right spirit and entered with honest intent can be made a shining success, while the latter may degenerate into a dismal failure if it has not character, integrity and determination to succeed at the back of it.

Not Altogether Bad.

We once casually knew an old profane, wicked, and irreligious lawyer, and we did not like him at all. On one occasion the wealthy relatives of a man who had committed a heinous crime went to this lawyer to employ him to defend this man. He gruffly replied in substance: "I need money, but you can't raise enough to employ me to defend that man." Since then our respect for that old lawyer has been materially enlarged.—Petty (Tex.) Enterprise.

A Night Rider's Raid.

The worst night riders are calomel, croton oil or aloes pills. They raid your bed to rob you of rest. Not so with Dr. King's New Life Pills. They never distress or inconvenience, but always cleanse the system, curing colds, headache, constipation, malaria. 25c at A. S. Larabee's and Jas. E. Dillon's drug stores.

Prayer and a Garter.

The two stenographers had eaten their lunch on a grave in Old Trinity churchyard and were on their way back to work. As they were about to pass the church one caught the other by the arm. "Come," said she, "and let's go in here a minute. I want to say a little prayer. And, besides, my garter has come undone."—New York Press.

Barberous.

One of the most unfortunate things of life is that men get into wrong places. Sometimes the fault is not their own. Possibly their attention has not been called to the fact by wiser men that they might be more successful at something else. For instance, a man who is a poor barber might be a good fish scaler.—Boston Herald.

Georgia Maillred Charbonneau was born at Hale, January 24, 1884, and died at Toledo, O., July 8, 1909, aged 25 years, five months and 14 days. Her early life was spent at Hale where she grew to womanhood, and where she was united in marriage to Edward Beach. To this union two sons were born, Kenneth R. and Clarence A. On December 10, '08 she was united in marriage to Lavern N. Sutherland, and they removed to Toledo. Since last January her health has gradually failed until death came on the 8th inst. Those left to mourn her untimely death are her husband, two sons, father, two sisters and a large circle of other relatives and friends. The remains were brought to Hale and the funeral held from the Baptist church, Rev. A. E. Schultz officiating, and the burial was at the Hale cemetery.

Tortured On a Horse.

"For ten years I couldn't ride a horse without being in torture from piles," writes L. S. Napier, of Ragless, Ky., "when all doctors and other remedies failed, Bucklen's Arnea Salve cured me." Infalible for piles, burns, scalds, cuts, boils, fever sores, eczema, salt rheum, corns. 25c Guaranteed by A. S. Larabee and Jas. E. Dillon.

A failing tiny nerve—no larger than the finest silver thread—takes from the heart its impulse, its power, its regularity. The stomach also has its hidden, or inside nerve. It was Dr. Shoop who first told us it was wrong to drug a weak or failing stomach, heart or kidneys. His prescription—Dr. Shoop's Restorative—is directed straight for the cause of these ailments—these weak and faltering inside nerves. This, no doubt clearly explains why the Restorative has of late grown so rapidly into popularity. Druggists say that those who test the Restorative even for a few days soon become fully convinced of its wonderful merit. Anyway, don't drug the organ. Treating the cause of sickness is the only sensible and successful way. Sold by C. H. Prescott & Sons.

Lesson Learned from Nature.

It seems to me that to be quiet and to be active, or rather, to be quietly active, constantly going on with untiring energy, and yet so softly as scarcely to be perceptible, this seems to me to be an approach toward perfection. And this lesson we learn from nature, which is unceasingly and yet imperceptibly changing.—Anne J. Clough.

What Women Are For.

"Every good woman, if I may call myself one, turns the men she cares for round her little finger, and it's the men who are worth most in life who submit most readily to the process. Do you know why God created angels? It was to whisper good thoughts to women. Do you know why he created women? It was to whisper good thoughts to men."—Inner Shrine.

Fly Remarks.

"When the angler stands knee deep in a mud brook, waiting for a trout to switch his fly under," asks a true Waltonian, "do his thoughts run in dactyls or spondee?" Never thought of it in that light, but have heard fishermen saying words like those.—N. Y. Herald.
