Statistics are appearing in some of the state papers purporting to show that in certain counties that voted last April to go dry a great amount of saloon beverages are now sold at drug stores, the inference being unfavorable to the cause of the dries. A Flint paper reports that one druggist there in a recent week had 520 sales of liquor, and that in a single week there were 2,673 recorded liquor sales by druggists. Flint is the chief city of a dry county. The Statistics are presumably correct, but six months hence there will be an entirely different lot of statistics, unless the prosecuting officers in the dry town are woefully lax in their duties. On Sept. 19 a new law goes into effect which provides that a druggist cannot lawfully sell liquor except on the prescription of a physician of good standing, which prescription the druggist must not refill unless he wants to take a change of being prosecuted. There are also other restrictions with penalties attached which will make it far more difficult to get liquor at a drug store than under the present law.

Arid vs. Michigan Land.

The Traverse City Record publishes the following editorial which for good hard sense would be difficult to improve upon.

"The government is about to open up some more Shoshone Indian lands and the usual number will undoubtedly make application and take part in the struggle for free land. However coming right to the point, the land is not so 'free' as it seems.

In first place, there is a matter of irrigation. Water cannot be supplied free nor can the preliminary work necessary to supply this water be done without cash, hence the homesteader will have to pay a mere matter of $46 an acre for this. This is payable in ten annual installments without interest, but at the same time makes the land cost that much more per acre. Then there is the cost of maintaining and operating the system which amounts to $1 an acre annually in addition. A little mental arithmetic will show that the total cost of a forty in that section will be, to say nothing of the incidentals such as transportation, etc.

We are not decrying the government projects but when there is so much good land in this state available for a few dollars an acre it seems that anyone in Michigan who is contemplating taking up this western land is making a mistake. According to the statements issued by the government the crops are very similar to those raised in this region and the yield is no greater.

Another thing that should be borne in mind is the fact that no irrigation is necessary here and that when the land is taken and paid for, that is the end of it, there being no never-ending water rental.

"Another thing to be considered that we are adjacent to the greatest market in the country, Chicago, and there is yet undeveloped territory which will be ours some day, the great Northeast.

"In looking about for lands for homesteading or even for investment it is best not to overlook Michigan."

A Night Rider's Raid.

The worst night riders are calomel, croton oil or aloes pills. They raid your bed to rob you of rest. Not so with Dr. King's New Life Pills. They never distress or inconvenience, but always cleanse the system, curing colds, headache, constipation, malaise, 25c at A. S. Larabee's and Jas. E. Dillon's drug stores.

Germany is a Model in the Practice of Forestry.

Forest experts of all nationalities agree that Germany is in an enviable position as regards her lumber supply. No nation in the world makes more thorough utilization of its forest resources.

The German Empire has approximately 35,000,000 acres of forest, of which 31.9 per cent belongs to the State. Many years ago that country awakened to the necessity of applying the same methods of business economy to the management of its forest lands that are applied to its operations in trade, and the result is that Germany's practice of forestry has served as a model for all other countries.

German forestry is remarkable in three ways—it has always led in scientific thoroughness and now it is working out results with an exactness almost equal to that of the laboratory; it has applied this scientific knowledge with the greatest technical success; and it has solved the problem of securing through a long series of years an increasing forest output and increasing profits at the same time.

Starting with forests which were in as bad shape as many of our own cut-over areas, Germany raised the average yield of wood per acre from twenty cubic feet in 1830 to seventy-five cubic feet in 1908. During the same period it trebled the proportion of saw timber secured from the average cut, which means, in other words, that through the practice of forestry the timber lands of Germany are of three times better quality to-day than when no system was used. In a little over half a century it increased the money returns from an average acre of forest seven fold, and today the forests are in better condition than ever before.

Some Charming Recollections of Edward Everett Hale

Edward Everett Hale's later literary life was intimately associated with Woman's Home Companion, to which he was a regular contributor in the last years of his life. The August issue of this magazine contains a number of charming anecdotes about Doctor Hale, says:

"He loved out doors, and this was written mornings as we sat on what he called his quarter-deck, at the back of the house, overhanging the garden. So many times he would stop in the middle of a sentence and say, 'This is the kingdom of heaven,' or, 'Isn't this as nice as they make it?' or some such phrase which showed his joy in life. I always had to make him stop dictating. And he would so often beg, 'Just one sentence more and then I'll be as good as your wish.'"

The house in Roxbury which was his home for so many years, was like himself, built upon generous lines. It is a wide, double house with stately pillars at the front. At the rear, on the first floor, was his commodious library, full to overflowing with all sorts of "books which are books." In one of his poems Tenny-son describes his garden on the Isle Wight as a careless-order'd garden. Hale's library was a "careless-order'd library, responding to what his friend Star King would have called a law of disorder. What a captivating retreat it was—especially when its master sat and discoursed in it. He said to me one day when I was in Roxbury, 'I'll tell you how I came to get this house. I advertised for it, and put in the advertisement, 'modern improvements no object.'"

Bulky Public Acts For 1909.

Lansing, July 29—The 1909 volume of public acts will be ready for issue soon after August 1 and will contain 940 pages, which is 300 more pages than in the public acts of 1907. In fact, it will be one of the bulkiest volumes ever compiled by the secretary of state.

This book will contain the laws enacted by the last legislature and one of the main reasons for the large increase in the size of the book is the law pertaining to the highway code. However, in the number of acts, the book contains 18 less general laws than were passed by the legislature of 1907, and 10 less than the session of 1905. It had been estimated that as the legislature of 1909 would have to enact the necessary legislation to place some features of the new constitution into effect, the book would be a record-breaker. Instead, although the book is more bulky, there are but 322 acts, a less number than before.

The state publishes 14,000 volumes of the public acts for the use of the state, county and municipal authorities and for general distribution throughout the state.

Banking Law Changes.

Lansing, July 29—Banking Commissioner Zimmerman is sending out to all state banks a circular letter calling attention to the law pertaining to the transaction of commercial and savings bank business, which requires that the two departments be separated. The new law takes effect September 2.

Some of the provisions of this law are that section 23 prohibits lending to exceed 50 per cent of the capital stock in mortgages or other form of real estate security, while section 24 provides that commercial banks may allow interest on accounts or certificates of deposit, but all deposits in such banks shall be payable on demand without notice except when the contract of deposit otherwise provides. Banks are required to keep on hand at least 15 per cent of their total deposit, except that in cities of over 100,000 population they are required to keep at least 20 per cent of their deposit on hand.

Under the law the reserve must be kept separate on the books of the bank, but no physical separation of the cash of the departments is required. The law requires that five per cent of the deposits must be in cash in vaults of the bank, 10 per cent of deposits may be held in reserve banks, 34 per cent may be invested in collateral loans and 51 per cent may be invested in bonds for real estate securities.

The commissioner's department has prepared the necessary blanks for carrying out the new provisions, and these will be sent to all the banks of the state affected.

Indigestion

Stomach trouble is but a symptom of, and not in itself a true disease. We think of Dyspepsia, Heartburn, and Indigestion as real diseases, yet they are symptoms only of a certain specific nerve disease—indigestion.

It was this fact that first correctly led Dr. Shoop in the creation of that now very popular stomach Remedy, Shoop's Restorative. It is directed to the stomach nerves, alone brought that success and favor to Dr. Shoop and his Restorative. Without that original and highly vital principle, no such lasting accomplishments were ever to be had.

For stomach distress, biliousness, bad breath and sallow complexion, try Dr. Shoop's Restorative. It is a powerful and safe remedy for yourself what it can and will do. We sell and cheaply re-manufacture.

Ganderbone's Forecast for August.

(Copyright 1909, by C. H. Rieth.)
Last year—
Sagamore Hill,
Fever and thrill,
Never a minute
When it was so still.
Always a liar
To put in the club,
A rogue or a rascal
To raise a hubbub.
Last year—
Sagamore Hill.
This year—
Lo, and alas!
Beverly, Mass.,
With Bill on the flat
Of his back in the grass
Dreaming a dream
Of the faraway sky,
And now and then stirring,
To bat at a fly.
Last year—
Shindy and sass,
This year—
Beverly, Mass.
Last year—
Quarrel and grudge,
This year—
O, fudge!

August was originally the month of Sextilis, but in the time of Augustus there was a movement in the Roman senate to name it for the reigning Caesar. The resolution was bitterly opposed by the insurgents and Democrats but Agrippa Aldrich and Maccenas Cannonus put it through, and Consumus Uulimatus, the leader of the opposition, was made a galley slave. The fight was one of the most thrilling in the history of Rome, and it kept the Senate in session so late in the summer that some of the senators almost missed their chautauqua engagements.

In the beginning, too, August had but twenty-nine days, and it was pretty generally felt that this was enough; but Julius Caesar added two days, and only the entreaties of the people restrained him from adding two or three more. He liked August. It was a glorious season in the Pontine marshes, and the hardness and manhood which subsequently made him Imperial Caesar he attributed to swimming in green ponds, fighting mad dogs and going around with his big toe bandaged in the good old days when the boys called him "Red."

The cow will wade the pasture pond with each day boiling hotter, and the luckless calf will have to learn

To suckle under water,
To stick his head up, wanting breath,
To duck it, wanting rations,
And otherwise amuse the ducks,
Mud-turtles and batrachians.

The farmer will survey the field and pray to have a rainstorm, and the dog will look upon the pool and have another brainstorm, the weary world will make its rounds with sweltering and yawning, and the sun will try a brand new lens upon the summer awning.

Mr. Rockefeller will give away money this month on the 2nd, 17th and 26th. He will receive it the other twenty-eight days of the month. The moon will be full on the 1st, Mercury will become evening star on the 4th, and the consumer will eat on the 8th, and the 21st. Lecturers will move in the regular outdoor orbit from the 1st, to the 20th, and elocutionists will be at large for the first fifteen days. No trusts will be busted this month, but the regular monthly installments will be collected on all fines. Mr. Roosevelt will range into the Albertine Basin, and the Cabinet will meet under a bush on the President's lawn. Persons trying to tour Europe on $300 will cable home for more money, summer boarders will come back to town for something to eat, and Mr. Bryan will mount the squared platform in the wilderness and continue to supply the opposition with ideas.

Our Mr. Taft will play golf
And the sun will burn and tawn him
The while a nigger follows up
And throws ice water on him.
The canning season will return and the Sugar Trust will manage to make us pay that one or two odd million it was damaged when Uncle Sam inflicted justice upon its deep-laid plot to bust us. O, would that we could find a trust that would so far indebted us that after we had basted it there were no way to get us! Or that the mad consumer might lay one trust in its coffin with some invention where he did not sting himself so often!

But hold! enough of these vain hopes
There is no promise there.
The average consumer's head's
A loafing place for hair,

And not a rendezvous for bright Ideas; if it were,

He'd have a trust himself and lift
The other fellow's fur.
Meanwhile, Mars will advance by stages, and the signal corps will practice daily for the interplanetary communication we are to have in October, Mars will at that time be distant but 36,990,000 miles, and there is some hope that he may have seen prosperity, which appears to have gone that far, anyway.

On the twenty-second the month will pass from the influence of Leo the Lion to that of Virgo, the sixth sign of the zodiac. Persons born under Virgo lack the audacious brilliancy which makes presidents and great men of those born under Leo, but they are shrewd and soft-stepping, and get what they wanted in the new tariff bill. Virgo babies are born with only one eye shut. No Virgo person ever had both eyes closed at the same time, or tried to put a letter in a fire-alarm box.

The summer camper will desert the city for the woods, his duffle and his goods. He'll pitch his tent upon some wild and shady bit of ground, and take a spade and raise a slight embankment all around. The birds will sing him welcome, and the trees will sigh aloft, and the earth will team with beauty in the gloaming sweet and soft. The stilly night will drop its robe and pin it with a star, and when the morning dawns they'll find a torn mosquito bar, a million or so little holes through which he has been bled, and nothing but an empty skin deflated on the bed.

The chautauqua lectured rates for this month are most tempting in viz: U. S. Senators, insurgent, $2500; standpat, $250; Democrat voting with Aldrich, $100; Standard Oil, $1000; sugar, $800; steel $750; woolen stuffs, $600; other industries, $300. Standard Oil Judges: preferred, $1000; common, $300. Congressmen, heard of, $500; unheard of, $200. Governors: democratic who ran ahead of Bryan, $1200; who defied federal courts, southern variety, $1201; plain, $125. Reformers, civic, $300; prohibition, $75; general, $5. Suffragettes: pretty, $3500; intellectual, $750. Trust busters: U. S., $800; local, $75. Crators: fancy, $125; medium, $75; plain, $50. Heroes: army, $100; navy, $500. Talkers, $95. Thinkers, $65. Prophets: disaster, $325; prosperity, $15. Windjammers: ordinary, $50; extraordinary, $300. And then September will step up

And hammer on the gate,
And keeping sweet will not be half
The trick it's been of late.

Doctors gave her up and all remedies failed till Electric Bitters worked such wonders for her health." ### From England.

Chester, Eng., 7-12-'09.
Friend Patterson—
Voyage across an eventful—escaped being sea-sick. It was hot only one day, when we crossed the Gulf Stream. We stopped a half day at Liverpool with its seven miles of docks and other varied interests. Saw horses hitched tandem, two horses will draw loads from three to four tons. On the way to Chester we saw beautiful green fields, old hedges and the real "Old England" for the first time. The railroads have no grade crossings, so no people are killed at the crossings.

Chester is a quaint old town of several hundred years, said to have been a Roman camp before the Norman came. The walls of the old city probably date back 600 years, and are said to be built on a Roman foundation. These walls are from eight to 30 feet high, and eight feet thick. On the top is a walk from four to six feet wide, along which we walked for two miles. These walls have towers and did have gates, now arches; the streets are named for the gates, as Northgate street. Old houses dating back to 1600 are not uncommon.

The "Rows" are one of the strange things. Above the walks and lower story of the stores one walks along and finds other stores. The way along in front of these stores is directly above the stores below in many cases. In some the foot path is supported by posts set in the lower walks.

We are learning to say "tuppence" and "two-and-six," also to drop some of the letters like h and w.

The Cathedral is a very ancient one built of stone probably as early as the tenth century. Its extreme length is 355 feet, and extreme width 200 feet; height 78 feet, and tower 127 feet. We attended services here yesterday afternoon.

Near here is the palace of the Duke of Westminster. One shilling admits the visitor to a part, such part as the guide may of a palace costing several millions. The library of 12000 volumes is in a room about 30x60 feet, ornamented with inlaid boywood and mother-of-pearl. The grounds comprise thousands of acres. We start for Warwick today.

MILES E. VALENTINE.
A failing tiny nerve—no larger than the finest silken thread—takes from the heart its impulse, its power, its regularity. The stomach also has its hidden, or inside nerve. It was Dr. Shoop who first told us it was wrong to drug a weak or failing stomach, heart or kidneys. His prescription—Dr. Shoop's Restorative—is directed straight for the cause of these ailments—these weak and faltering in side nerves. This, no doubt clearly explains why the Restorative has of late grown so rapidly in popularity. Druggists say that those who test the Restorative even for a few days soon become fully convinced of its wonderful merit. Anyway, don't drug the organ. Treating the cause of sickness is the only sensible and successful way. Sold by C. H. Prescott & Sons.
