ADELAIDE

DELAIDE has an heroic signifi-A cance; it means noble cheer. It is distinctly a Teutonic name, coming from Adilo or Odilo. Ado and Addo other syllables have been added for the more modern version.

Curiously, Adele and Adela occur very early in history, unlike most names, which show quaint and sometimes almost unrecognizable forms in their beginnings. Adal was a prefix used frequently among the Teutonic races and Adalheit or Adelchen were diminutives given to the daughters of "noble estate" and thus the princess of each little Frankish duchy was the "nobleness thereof."

All the feudal princes of the Tenth and Eleventh centuries seem to have had an Adelheid to offer in marriage in Detroit. and they have Latinized her in all manner of ways. The French have made great use of all forms of the name. The Teutonic races, in honor perhaps of the Italian Queen Adelaide whose adventures, before her marriage with Emperor Otho, were so curious-preferred Adelaide to all other forms. From them England received it again with their good Queen Adelaide, whose popularity made it and Alisa, and France makes her Ade-

Tennyson, who omitted very few feminine names from his list of poems to fair women, writes of Adeline:

When the chicks were hatched there were eleven, and eight more white eggs in the nest. It is presumed that the hen was laying and setting at the same time.

Adjustable Window Sashes.

A multiple-sash window, whose several sashes slide horizonally in the window frame, so as to permit adjustment to suit any external weather conditions, is described and illustrated in Popular Mechanics Magazine. Two or more sets of sashes may be mounted in the frame, of which one set may be provided with glass, and the others with wire screenings, or Venetian blinds. In the winter all may be fitted with glass, insuring an absolutely weather-tight window for keeping the cold out. Horizontally grooved frames, invisible in the window wall, receive the flanged rollers and the wall is recessed, of course, to receive those sashes which are not in use. The sides of the frame proper are also provided with a stop catch to limit the movement of each sash.

Daring Feat of Aviator.

A landing has been made with an airplane on the brink of the crater of a volcano in eruption. The hero of the exploit is Chanteloup, the famous French pilot, who, with three friends, went to Java in search of the most daring feat he could achieve in a small airplane. He effected a landing on Bromo, one of the series of active volcanoes in the Tengger chain of mountains, and more than 8,000 feet high.

Casing-Head Gas.

Casing-head gas has been made since 1904. An oil which has the faculty of absorbing gasoline from natural gas is sprayed downward through a tall pipe or tower, while the natural gas coming out at the top is practically without gasoline, while the oil at the bottom has absorbed it. Then, by a simple process of distillation, the with which each sash is provided; the oil goes through the same opergasoline is derived from the oil, and ation again. A good-sized plant can treat 80,000,000 cubic feet of natural gas this way, and obtain at least 8,000 gallons of gasoline a day.

Development of International Law.

The American Peace Award brought forth 22,165 plans and many thousands of letters. Since many of the plans were the composite work of organizations, universities, etc., a single plan often represented the views of hundreds or thousands of individuals. The content of these plans is therefore an index of the true feeling and judgment of hundreds of thousands of American citizens.

ELIHU ROOT, Chairman JAMES GUTHRIE HARBORD EDWARD M. HOUSE ELLEN FITZ PENDLETON ROSCOE POUND WILLIAM ALLEN WHITE BRAND WHITLOCK

The Question to Be Voted Upon The substantial provisions which constitute the plan selected by the Jury of Award, and upon which the vote of the American people is asked, ognize not merely political but also are hereby submitted by the Policy

I. ENTER THE PERMANENT COURT

That the United States adhere to the Permanent Court of International Justice for the reasons and under the conditions stated by Secretary Hughes and President Harding in February, 1923.

II. COOPERATE WITH THE LEAGUE OF NATIONS, WITHOUT FULL MEMBERSHIP AT PRESENT

That without becoming a member of the League of Nations as at present constituted, the United States Government should extend its present cooperation with the League and propose participation in the work of its Assembly and Council under the following conditions and

Safeguarding of Monroe Doctrine

1. The United States accepts the League of Nations as an instrument of mutual counsel, but it will assume no obligation to interfere with political questions of policy or internal administration of any

In uniting its efforts with those of other States for the preservation of peace and the promotion of the common welfare, the United States insists upon the safeguarding of the Monroe Doctrine and does not abandon its traditional attitude concerning American independence of the Old World and does not consent to submit its long established policy concerning questions regarded by it as purely American to the recommendation or decision of other Powers.

No Military or Economic Force

2. That the only kind of compulsion which nations can freely engage to apply to each other in the name of Peace is that which arises from conference, from moral judgment, from full publicity, and from the power of public opinion.

The United States would assume no obligations under Article X in its present form, or under Article XVI in its present form in the Covenant, or in its amended form as now proposed, unless in any particular case Congress has authorized such action.

The United States proposes that Articles X and XVI be either dropped altogether or so amended and changed as to eliminate any suggestion of a general agreement to use coercion for obtaining conformity to the pledges of the Covenant.

No Obligations Under Versailles Treaty

That the United States will accept no responsibilities under the Treaty of Versailles unless in any particular case Congress has authorized such action.

League Open to All Nations

The United States Government proposes that Article I of the Covenant be construed and applied, or, if necessary, redrafted, so that admission to the League shall be assured to any self-governing State that wishes to join and that receives the favorable vote of two-thirds of the Assembly.

Development of International Law

As a condition of its participation in the work and counsels of the League, the United States asks that the Assembly and Council consent-or obtain authority-to begin collaboration for the revision and development of international law, employing for this purpose the aid of a commission of jurists. This Commission would be directed to formulate anew existing rules of the law of nations, to reconcile divergent opinions, to consider points hitherto inadequately provided for but vital to the maintenance of international justice, and in general to define the social rights and duties of States. The recommendations of the Commission would be presented from time to time, in proper form for consideration, to the Assembly as to a recommending if not a law-making body.

Author's Name Not to Be Revealed Until After Referendum

In order that the vote may be taken solely upon the merits of the plan, the Policy Committee, with the acquiescence of Mr. Bok, has decided not to disclose the authorship of the plan until after the referendum. The identity is unknown to the members of the Jury of Award and the Policy Committee, except one delegated member.

Modern Cracksmen.

Progress of Metallurgical Science Has Been Most Rapid and the Up-to-Date Burglar Has Difficult Task.

Those who have valuables deposited for safe custody with their bankers do not doubt that they are secure indeed. They do not realize that the continuance of this security involves a never-ending battle of minds between strong-room and safe manufacturers and scientific cracksmen.

Many modern burglars acquired experience of different explosives during the war that has aided them enormously. Before a new method of security has been long in use, some clever criminal will find a way to defeat it, and it is thereby rendered obso-

The time has passed since safemakers produced anything they considered absolutely burgiar-proof. Their aim nowadays is to produce a safe or strong room calculated to hold out against attack for a given length

The longest period that a bank safe, filled with money and clients' valuables, can be left without being visited is that from close of business at the end of the week until Monday morning, or something over forty
