TAWAS CITY TO PLAY BASEBALL THIS SUMMER

Final Arrangements to be Made at League Meeting at the Masonic Temple

Tawas City will be host tonight to representatives of base ball teams from Oscoda, Alabaster, East Tawas, Standish and Omer. At a meeting held in Oscoda last Sunday, Mr. Penet of Alabaster, who was elected president of the D. & M. League the previous Sunday, suggested that the league be reorganized and new officers elected. His suggestion was adopted and upon invitation of representatives from our city, the directors of the several teams will meet in the lobby of the Masonic temple to reorganize.

Reports have reached the promoters of the local league that the Northeastern Michigan League has decided not to function this year and it may be that the name of the old D. & M. League will be changed. Most of the teams comprising the D. & M. League were members of the old Northeastern Michigan when it was first organized and the name would be more appropriate with teams off the D. & M. railroad playing.

At the first meeting of the League the directors decided to eliminate the territory limit and as the Hale boys have signified their willingness to play with Tawas City, this city will be represented on the ball field this summer. New talent in our own city has been discovered and it is expected that the home fans will be given an opportunity to see first class ball.

Isadore Friedman has been elected director, Martin Musolf, treasurer and Jas. F. Mark, manager of the locals. All of last year's players and any one else, who is willing to help boost, is wanted at the fair grounds on Sunday afternoon at the first practice.

CHAUTAUQUA PROGRAM

The following is the contemplated program of the Iosco County Chautauqua for this season:

First night—A more ideal musical organization than Leake's Orchestral Entertainers could hardly have been selected for the first night's program. This company offers a musical program of such great variety that one surprise follows another, throughout the evening until their long concert is finished in what seems to the hearer to have been but half the time of an ordinary concert. There seems to be no limit to the number of things that H. J. Leake, the Director, of the Company, can do, and yet with each succeeding thing that he does, the audience is convinced that he did it better than the one just preceding. He is par excellence on the drums, xylophone, marimbaphone and saxophone, is a whistler, monologist and polyphonic imitator. His description of an early morning scene in a farm yard is riotously funny and most realistic. Betty Woodward Leake, soprano and accompanist, will offer vocal solos and be at the piano for orchestral numbers and accompaniments for instrumental solos. Other members of the company play the violin, saxophone, clarinet and piano so that with such diversified talent, an almost endless variety of combinations can be produced. One of the most pleasing numbers of their program is the marimbaphone quartette with all four members of the company playing this instrument which extends almost entirely across the platform. So many are the instruments (Continued on last page)

IOSCO-ARENAC HOLD RIPARIAN RIGHTS ON BAY

Decision of Judge A. Widdis Affirmed by the Supreme Court

In the case of J. L. Brown, estate, vs. the Trudell Fisheries Company, in which the plaintiff received a judgement in circuit court, the supreme court affirmed the decision of Judge A. Widdis last Thursday. This case is of particular interest to the people of this section because Judge A. Widdis, in his decision, held that Act 234 of Public Acts of 1921 reverting the ownership of fishing rights along the Great Lakes to the State of Michigan did not take those rights away from the owners of such privileges in Iosco and Arenac counties.

The following is the text of the decision handed down by the supreme court last Thursday affirming the decision of Judge Widdis:

The legislature in 1865 passed Act No. 350 entitled: "An Act to protect fish and preserve the fisheries of this state." The act was amended by Act 94 of 1869 by adding sections 10 and 11. Section 10 of this act is section 7640 C. L. 1915, and purported to give exclusive rights within one mile limit to the riparian owner. The legislature of 1905 passed Act No. 122 entitled: An Act to define and to protect fishing rights and privileges in that portion of Saginaw Bay bordering on Arenac and Iosco counties, State of Michigan.

Section 1 of this act reads: "No person shall drive any stakes for fishing purposes or set or place any nets in the waters of Saginaw Bay contiguous or adjacent to the shores of Arenac and Iosco counties in said state, for a distance of two miles from said shores, unless such person is the lawful owner, or occupant of the shore frontage, opposite to which said stakes are driven or nets set or placed, or unless such person shall have a license so to do from the said owner or occupant: Provided, That the provisions of this act shall not apply to the Charities or any other islands situated in Saginaw Bay."

"James L. Brown in his lifetime owned lands in Iosco county on the shore of Saginaw Bay. He claimed the exclusive rights of fishing in the above mentioned acts and Act 114 Public Acts 1907. On February 1, 1919, he leased such shore land to defendants for five years at an annual rental of $1600 payable in advance. Two years' rent was paid. The rent for 1921 and 1922 not having been paid, plaintiff as executrix under her husband's will, brought this suit on September 11, 1922, and recovered judgment for the rent for both years. Upon the trial it was insisted by defendant that the title to the fish and (Continued on last page)

"Squads Right, Ho!"

The snapping of gun slings and clicking of heels can be heard and the distant call of the bugle sounds militant. But the pacifists need not worry. It's only Lieutenant Friedman with his platoon of veterans and Bugler Borden getting in trim for Memorial Day. Six years have passed since the time carrying a gun was their principal vocation, but some of the boys can do a mean looking "Port" right now.

PERFECT HEALTH!

HAVE you any idea of what perfect health means? Can you form any image of what would be your feeling if every organ in your body was functioning perfectly? Perhaps you can go back to some day in your youth, when you got up early in the morning and went for a walk, and the spirit of the sunrise got into your blood, and you walked faster, and took deep breaths, and laughed aloud for sheer happiness of being alive in such a world of beauty. And now you are grown older---and what you give for the secret of that glorious feeling? What would you say if you were told that you could bring it back and keep it?

It is the power within ourselves that can make us well and happy, but this is possible only when there is no obstruction to nerve paths cutting down the vital energy transmitted to the different organs of the body.

It is the chiropractors work to correct the conditions of pressure on nerve paths thus allowing nature to operate normally and each part of the body to function properly.

To be healthy is to live. To have poor health is merely to exist! Learn the truth about Chiropractic. Millions have recovered their health by giving Chiropractic a fair trial!

MICHIGAN NATIONAL FOREST NEWS

Ranger V. J. Dayharsh has taken three months leave without pay to attend the Michigan Agricultural College, and Ranger Roy A. Wood will have charge of the Mio division of the Michigan Forest during the absence of Ranger Dayharsh.

Forest Guard E. L. Vinton, who has been attending the Forestry School at Ames, Iowa, has returned to the forest and will take up the duties of lookout observer on the Long Lake lookout tower, near Mio.

Messrs. A. J. Howard and Orville Westcott have been employed as lookout observers on the Tawas District for the coming season. Mr. Howard will be stationed at the Rollways Ranger Station and Mr. Westcott will be on duty at the Silver Creek tower located at the Silver Creek Ranger Station.

G. G. Hahn, Pathologist, from the Bureau of Plant Industry at Washington, D. C., has been at Beal Nursery during the past week and has initiated experiments for the checking of the damping-off fungus which has appeared at the nursery and which seriously affects the young seedlings.

Fire Chief John McLaren and District Fiscal Agent J. I. Buckner from the Denver office were visitors on the forest last week.

E. L. Tinker from Denver, Colorado and Captain I. F. Eldridge from the Washington office are making an extended inspection tour of the forest this time.

Planting Assistant Harry Turner who has been attached to the Nebraska Forest for several years will move with his family to East Tawas May 15 and will be attached to the Michigan Forest to assist Mr. Johnson at the Beal Nursery.

A new modern 80 foot steel lookout tower with glassed in observation has been purchased to replace the old structure at Long Lake. The new tower will be erected in the very near future under the supervision of Ranger Johnson.

The overhead irrigation system at the Beal Nursery has now been completed, and the entire area that is now growing plants can be easily watered by this new improved method.

Ranger Johnson is now sowing Norway Pine seed that will produce 1,500,000 trees for planting purposes. The planting program for the Michigan Forest has now been increased to 2,000 acres annually, and beginning in October, 1924, 2,000 acres will be planted each year. It is only a short time until we expect this program to be doubled.

Forest Protection Week, which was declared this year by President Coolidge from April 21 to 27, inclusive, was the most effective ever staged by the personnel on the Michigan Forest. Lessons were prepared for each day during the week for the forty-two schools in Isosco county. This work was done through the cooperation of Miss Ina Bradley, Commissioner of Schools for the county. The East Tawas high school staged a Forest Protection program on Thursday, April 24, at which time Fire Chief John McLaren and Forest Supervisor R. G. Schreck gave talks on Fire Prevention and showed slides representing scenes on the Michigan Superior and Colorado Forests.

Forest Clerk Chartrand also gave illustrated lectures in the schools at Tawas City and Hale.

The plans are at this time to enlarge the camp grounds at Corsair Bridge, High Banks and Rollways to care for the great increase of tourists that visit the forest annually.

Ranger Glenn G. Barnes, who has been on the Superior Forest during the winter months on timber reconnaissance work, has returned and taken charge of the Marquette division of the forest.

J. L. Brownlee, District Highway Engineer from the Denver office is making his visit to the forest at this time to study road conditions and what roads are needed for the forest.

Edgar Cochrun, Secretary of the Department of Conservation of Michigan, was a visitor on the forest during last week.

CHAUTAQUA PROGRAM

ments that this company plays, that on the first night the Chautauqua platform will have the appearance of a well stocked musical instrument store.

Second day—The Pietro Mordelia Trio is the musical attraction of this day. This is a company which for the past two seasons has covered Community Chautauqua circuits in New England and the eastern states. Pietro Mordelia is known the world around as "the celebrated accordionist." He is one of the cleverest entertainers on the American platform. Starting with a medley of grand opera, he carries you through patriotic, sacred, popular numbers, southern melodies, folk songs, running the gamut of musical interpretation. Close your eyes and you hear a full band. With him are Miss Edna Pollay, soprano and pianist, and Miss Margerite Lybarger, violinist and entertainer. All three are artists trained in the finest traditions of the musical world. This company presents programs that are "refreshingly different." The Mordelia trio will present the full afternoon program and the prelude in the evening to an illustrated lecture "Through Unknown Australia" by Capt. Kilroy Harris.

Mr. Harris was a captain in the British army during the war. On four occasions he was decorated by King George of England for gallantry in action. He now holds a commission in the Legion of Frontiersmen. His lecture "Through Unknown Australia" will bring to Chautauquans a wealth of information concerning that little known continent. Capt. Harris has traveled over ten thousand miles through the "back country" of Australia. He is the youngest feliety and a life fellow of the Royal Colonial Institute. He has a very fine collection of slides illustrating the primitive life of the Aborigines of Australia.

Third day—On this day Aaron Hoffman's comedy, "Two Blocks Away" will be presented by the MacMurray-Kackley Players. This company is in every respect the best dramatic company we have ever offered the communities we serve. Mr. MacMurray was for six years the head of the Public Speaking and Dramatic Art Departments of Iowa State College, and for eight years occupied the same position in the State University of Kansas. He is now the Dramatic Director for Community Chautauquans.

The name Olive Kackley is well known among the producers of plays. The March 1923 issue of the magazine "Theater and Drama," says: "Miss Kackley brings into her own work a thorough grounding in the art. She is endowed with exceptional critical ability."

"Two Blocks Away" has been produced under the direction of these two capable persons, each of whom will take major parts in the play. This will be one of the most enjoyable evenings of the Chautauqua. In the afternoon the members of the players will present a musical and dramatic entertainment as a prelude to Mr. MacMurray's lecture, "The Confessions of a Luncheon." Mr. MacMurray's standing as a lecturer in the Chautauqua field has been established for many years and in this lecture he combines with rare ability, literary appreciation, humor and sound philosophy.

Fourth day—It is not often that it is possible to present in a recital two artists of such standing as Waldemar Gelich, "the violinist with a message" and Alexius Baas, distinguished American lieder singer. These two artists will present on the fourth day, two recitals. While each of these men is a great and well known artist, each has a thorough understanding of what the public appreciates and enjoys and has repeatedly demonstrated his ability to make his concerts of recitals interesting and popular with Chautauqua audiences. Waldemar Gelich has played in all but three states of the Union and has been aptly called "the people's violinist." He perfected himself as an artist under the greatest teachers both here and abroad—Listman, Saurer, Zajic and Auer. When Alexius Baas, bass baritone, signed his contract with Community Chautauquans, he was appearing as soloist with the Minneapolis Symphony Orchestra. Two comments from Chicago papers following a recent Chicago recital by Mr. Baas, are as follows: "A baritone voice much above the average in quality and quite unusual willingness to detect and project the emotional elements in a song made his performance notable. He has distinct artistic assets."—Chicago Tribune. "Baas is a baritone of quality and talent—Actor as well as singer. Mezza voice well poised and effective, articulation very good, and he has brains too."—Chicago American. Miss Catharine Moore will be at the piano as accompanist with both of these artists.

Following the musical recital in the evening Dr. Yutaka Minakuchi, Japanese orator will deliver his lecture "The Borderland." Dr. Minakuchi is a Christian Japanese, educated in the American Universities of Kentucky, North Carolina, Virginia and at Yale. He is a scholar of deep philosophical insight and power. His English is perfect and he is rated as one of the great orators of the country. In his lecture, "The Borderland" he will discuss the relationships of American and Japanese peoples.

Fifth day—A part of the afternoon program will be given over to the Junior Chautauquans, who will present a series of musical dramatizations. A Music Memory Contest will also be presented in connection with this afternoon program.

A male chorus of eight voices will offer, following the children's program, a postlude which will run the gamut of music for male voices, from comedy and light ballads to the heavy classics.

In the evening the Black and White Male Chorus will present a varied program. This organization is made up of the best male singers obtainable. Each of them comes from a successful connection with one or another of the great vocal organizations of the country. The 1924 Chautauqua will be brought to a close with a joy program in the nature of a thirty minute Minstrel Sketch by this male chorus. The Black and White Male Chorus will be splendidly uniformed both for their concert and for the Minstrel and special lighting effects will be employed.

the bed of the Great Lakes is in the State in trust for all the people; that it was beyond the power of the State to grant the exclusive right of fishing in the Great Lakes, and that the legislation above referred to was invalid; it was also insisted that the Act of 1905 was class legislation and for this additional reason invalid. The case seems to have proceeded in both courts upon the theory that Act 234 of the Public Acts of 1921 not only withdrew such rights as the amendment of 1869 gave the riparian owner, but also repealed the Acts of 1905 and 1907, and plaintiff's counsel insisted and the trial court held that it was invalid. If this act repealed all the acts above cited we would have in the case the question of whether defendants had been evicted by a paramount title and it would be necessary to determine the validity of the Act of 1921. We therefore invited briefs from counsel in the case and the Attorney General upon the specific question of whether the Act of 1921 repealed the Acts of 1905 and 1907. These briefs are now before us. Plaintiff's counsel and the Attorney General entertain the view that the Acts of 1905 and 1907 are not repealed and cite numerous authorities which are persuasive to them on the subject. Defendant's counsel have also filed an able brief in which they urge the only plausible ground for a contrary holding, i. e., that the legislation of 1921 declares a state policy with reference to fishing in the waters of the Great Lakes which is repugnant to the Acts of 1905 and 1907, and that these acts are repealed by implication. But replies by implication are not favored in the law. Act 234 of the Public Acts of 1921 does not purport to be a revision of the fishing laws of the State; it purports to be and is an amendatory act, the amendment being the withdrawal of the license conferred generally upon riparian owners by the Act of 1865, as amended by the Act of 1869, but Act 122 of the Public Acts of 1905 conferred a privilege or license upon the riparian owners in Arenac and Isosco counties alone, a privilege or license differing in terms from those found in the general act. Act 114 of the Public Acts of 1907 confirmed these privileges. We do not think this act, which by its title purported to be only an amendatory act, repealed by implication the acts having specific reference to Arenac and Isosco counties. There was other legislation in 1921 indicative of a State policy applicable to the waters of the Great Lakes and certain enumerated acts were repealed, but the acts in question were not among this number. There are few sessions of the legislature which do not legislate on the subject of fishing in the Great Lakes and it would be stretching the doctrine of repeals by implication to a dangerous point to hold that such general legislation repealed by implication all legislation that had gone before having reference to the subject of fishing in the Great Lakes. We are, therefore, constrained to hold that the Acts of 1905 and 1907 are still in force.

"We have little difficulty in following the contention of defendants' counsel that the moving consideration of the lease was the exclusive fishing privileges which were leased with the land, but we can not follow them in their contention that in this action on the lease for rent they may in their defense set up the invalidity of their landlord's title to such privileges. While it is true that such privileges are purported to be given by an act of the legislature the tenant can no more question that title than he could a title deed. This rule, as we have already suggested, is subject to the further rule that where the defendant has been evicted by a paramount title he may show that fact in defense of an action for rent."

It is too bad that a barber can't tell in advance whether bobbed hair will look well on a woman. But what difference would it make if he could tell. He wouldn't dare do it. Let a barber try telling a customer that she wouldn't look well with bobbed hair and he would quickly learn that his opinion didn't amount to much.

Two comments from Chicago papers following a recent Chicago recital by Mr. Baas, are as follows: "A baritone voice much above the average in quality and quite unusual willingness to detect and project the emotional elements in a song made his performance notable. He has distinct artistic assets."—Chicago Tribune. "Baas is a baritone of quality and talent—Actor as well as singer. Mezza voice well poised and effective, articulation very good, and he has brains too."—Chicago American. Miss Catharine Moore will be at the piano as accompanist with both of these artists.

Following the musical recital in the evening Dr. Yutaka Minakuchi, Japanese orator will deliver his lecture "The Borderland."
