With two men down in the ninth and the score 10 to 8 in favor of Alabaster, Musolf, Johnson and Moeller singled in succession to tie the score. Neither side scored in the tenth but our gang went into the eleventh and pounded four runs across the plate and held Alabaster scoreless.

Only nine men showed up Sunday at Alabaster. Eddie Libka played short and Bratt third, positions where they are not at home. But the gang had the spirit that wins and although seven errors were made they pounded out twenty-two hits for twenty six bases and fourteen earned runs off M. Benson, A. Spring and Bolen. Everyone on the team got at least one hit, Johnson getting three singles and a double. Hugo Boldt reached first as many times as Jack Johnson with a single, a double and three walks.

Alabaster with fifteen hits for eighteen bases wasn't so awfully weak at the bat either. Jackson was (Continued on last page)

Here's a Man Who Will Make You Laugh

WILLIE MACK
WILLIE MACK, one of the most popular entertainers on the Chautauqua circuits, will be with The Black and White Male Chorus and Minstrels when that great musical organization comes to the local Assembly.

FAMOUS MALE CHORUS WILL APPEAR HERE

"I'm going to hear that." This remark, heard so frequently when the Black and White Male Chorus which appears on the Chautauqua program this year is mentioned, is easily accounted for by the fact that a chorus of fine male voices blended in close harmony has always had a strong appeal for music lovers. This splendid organization comes to the Chautauqua this year with two great programs of choruses, male quartets, solos and comedy numbers, and as though this were not enough, they add to their evening program a minstrel sketch elaborately costumed and produced.

This, of course, is but one of the fine numbers which Chautauqua season ticket holders will have the privilege of hearing this summer. A three act comedy with Arthur Murray, one of the finest of character men in the lead; Leake's Orchestral Entertainers in a program of novelty music; the Mordelia Trio with the famous Pietro Mordelia, piano-accompanist; and two nationally known concert artists, Waldemar Gelche, violinist, and A'elix Baas, bass-baritone, form a series of (Continued on last page)

69th ANNIVERSARY

A pleasant surprise was given last Sunday, July 13, when all the children and grand children with the exception of three and great grandchild except one gathered at the home of James McArdle Jr., to celebrate the 69th anniversary of Mrs. Jas. McArdle Sr., birthday.

About 11:30 the sound of auto horns announced the arrival of four carloads of visitors, who walked in and found Mrs. McArdle busily engaged helping prepare dinner for the supposed hungry bunch as some of the party had traveled from Alpena that morning in order to be present.

It was then announced that this was unnecessary as the cars contained baskets, me'ons, ice cream, etc., sufficient to take care of this matter. A picnic dinner was served in the orchard where all had scampereed during childhood days.

Mrs. McArdle received a number of useful presents. Twenty-eight were present.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of our dear daughter, and sister, Florence Thompson Greene, who passed away one year ago today.

One year has passed since that sad day,
When we loved was called away.
God took her home, it was his will;
But in our hearts she liveth still.
'Tis sweet to know we will meet again,

Where partings are no more,
And that the one we loved so well,
Has only gone before.

Her loving mother, sister and brothers.

CHAUTAUQUA DAYS
NOT FAR DISTANT

Program For Assembly This Year
Made Up of Best Type of Talent

Without question the coming Chautauqua will be the greatest event of the summer in this vicinity. This statement is made because of the fact that the program for the five days' session is made up of talent the equal of which has never before been brought together.

Work of preparation for the Assembly is already under way, and members of the local association are encouraged to believe the attendance will be unusually large.

A glance over the list of talent engaged is sufficient to justify the conclusion that the course will be one of the greatest merit throughout.

Leake's Orchestral Entertainers, a quartet of musicians, who play a great variety of instruments, will open the Assembly. The closing day will bring the Black and White Male Chorus and Minstrels, a glee club of eight members, including the famous comedian, Willie Mack.

The play this year is the comedy, "Two Blocks Away," which has been successfully produced in all sections of the country. It will be given here by the MacMurray Players.

Others on the program include Pietro Mordelia and company—Pietro is famous as a piano-accordionist; Captain Kilroy Harris, Australian explorer and adventurer in his lecture, "Through Unknown Australia"; Arthur MacMurray, who will lecture on "The Confessions of a Luncheon"; Waldemar Galtch, violinist, and Alexis Baas, baritone, who will give two artist's recitals and Dr. Yutaka Mhakuichi, native of Japan. In his lecture "The Borderland," he discusses the problems of his own country.

The Junior Chautauqua will be of greater importance than ever. That's saying a good deal.

FAIR STRUCTURES
TO COST $500,000

GRANDSTAND AND DAIRY CATTLE QUARTERS INCLUDED IN IMPROVEMENTS

FIREPROOF CONSTRUCTION REPLACES WOODEN BUILDINGS

With a half-million dollar construction program, embracing long needed improvements, in full swing, the Michigan State Fair approaches its seventy-fifth annual exposition better equipped than ever before to present the agricultural and industrial picture of the state.

This fair, the "greatest of them all," says G. W. Dickinson, secretary manager, will begin August 29 and run to September 7.

Three-quarter Century Mark. Because it celebrates the three-quarter century mark of Michigan's State Fair, one of the first in America, "no stone will be left unturned" to make it the most complete exhibition ever presented to a public, barring possible exceptions such as World Events and the Toronto show.

Under the personal supervision of Mr. Dickinson, a program of improvements including the construction of a new grandstand, subway drive for automobiles, paving and sidewalks, and addition to the Sheep and Swine building, a new Dairy Cattle building, Floral hall, remodeling of Agriculture and Horticulture building, additional lighting systems and better side track facilities, already is well under way.

To Be Ready for Fair. It is a certainty that the entire construction program which also includes general beautifying of the grounds will be completed before the gates swing open for the exposition.

This program is in keeping with the plans of the management to gradually replace ramshackle wooden structures on the grounds with modern buildings of steel fireproof construction and striking in appearance. This year brings the directing heads of the fair nearer to this accomplishment than ever before.

"We'll keep at it everlastingly," says G. W. Dickinson, "until we have the finest group of fair buildings in this country. I see no reason why the Michigan State Fair, leading and most successful of state expositions, should not be housed in model buildings before five years elapse. In fact, this may be accomplished in even a shorter space of time."

$100,000 in Premiums. Generally, of course, the seventy-fifth annual exposition will be a big improvement over its predecessors. Premiums amounting to more than $100,000 will draw it, is said, the largest entry of the finest livestock ever brought into a judging ring. On the hills and plains of Michigan already there are crops in that the growers believe will carry off "blue ribbons and cash premiums" when the competition is declared under way.

"While we are determined that we shall not lose sight for one moment of the educational mission of the Michigan State Fair we are preparing adequately for the entertainment of visitors this year," Mr. Dickinson announces. He is not in position at this time to divulge in its entirety the entertainment program but if we can take his word for it, and we usually can, it will be a "blinger."

Every care in the selection of officials and naming of premiums is being exercised by the management. Invitations and premium lists announcing the facts of the seventy-fifth fair will shortly be broadcast throughout the state, reaching prospective exhibitors days in advance of scheduled time, this year.

The melodies that Pietro Mordelia brings out of his piano-accordion cover every variety of music. He is classed as "a wizard" among musicians using this instrument. With his company he will appear at the Chautauqua on the second day.

You may ask what could a "lunkhead" have to confess? Arthur Mac Murray says he knows and will explain in his "Confessions of a Lunkhead" during the coming Chautauqua.

SAND LAKE

Mrs. Laraway and daughter are occupying the Ridgley cottage.

I. W. Pelton and Mr. Rosenkranz of Flint spent the week end at their cottages.

The Moeller cottage on the Cowan Subdivision is nearing completion.

Parties on the shores were given an unusual sight Monday night. The Y boys of Camp Iroquois accompanied by Mr. White, Bay City Episcopal organist gave some very fine selections. The large raft carrying the piano and chorus was towed by row boats all being lighted by large torches, around the lake. It was greatly enjoyed by all.

Pietro, Famous Accordionist Coming For Chautauqua

PIETRO MORDELIA AND COMPANY

THE next morning after you have heard Pietro Mordelia and his company of musicians, you will be humming or whistling the melodies the remarkable Pietro brings out of his piano-accordion.

You have heard of Pietro, for he is the famous accordion player who has played in practically every section of the land, and of whom it is said, "you may close your eyes, and when he plays you can easily imagine yourself listening to a full band of music."

Pietro plays just the music you want him to play. He has that happy faculty of knowing what is good for his audiences, and many hands will be weary from applauding him.

With Mordelia are Miss Edna Pollay, soprano, and Miss Margaret Lybarger, violinist and pianist. Both are well known as Chautauqua entertainers.

Pietro and his company will give a program which includes operatic, patriotic, sacred and popular numbers aside from a great many novelties and specials. He never tires of responding to encores. Don't forget, on the second day.

The afternoon and evening programs will be entirely different. If you miss either of the concerts you will be depriving yourself of a great deal of pleasure.

SUCCESSFUL COMEDY COMING HERE

SCENE FROM "TWO BLOCKS AWAY"

FROM the time George M. Cohan first produced "Two Blocks Away" on Broadway, it has been one of the most popular plays of its class ever written.

There is yet to be recorded a failure in the presentation of this great comedy drama. Among the most successful companies is that known as the MacMurray-Kackley Players and it is this company that will offer "Two Blocks Away" here during the coming hautauqua.

Arthur MacMurray and Olive Kackley, who head the cast, have put their best efforts into it, both as producers and as actors. They have surrounded themselves with a competent company. Mr. MacMurray's fifteen years of successful experience as a dramatic critic, coach and producer assures the success of this company.

Miss Olive Kackley is one of the most versatile of stage women. She is actress, director and producer. She also has a record of having trained several thousand young men and women for stage and platform work.

A strong cast whose individual abilities are established beyond cavil or doubt, will support Mr. MacMurray and Miss Kackley in this great comedy drama.

Excellent Company In Snappy Comedy

SCENE FROM "TWO BLOCKS AWAY"

"TWO BLOCKS AWAY," famous comedy-drama will be presented on the third night of the Chautauqua course.

Since its first production on Broadway by George M. Cohan it has been successfully presented in all the larger cities of the country.

It is one of those comedies that has punch, is clean, but laughable and enduring. Members of the company who will offer it here, have been playing their different roles for many weeks, having spent almost the entire winter in the comedy.

"Two Blocks Away" tells humorously and thrillingly of incidents in the life of an old shoemaker who was always contentedly pegging away, until—pop, right into his lap was thrown a great fortune.

There's a twist to the plot that comes as a surprise—so unexpected, in fact that when the climax is reached there is a tenseness that is scarcely relieved until the curtain falls on the last act.

UNDER the provisions of the Federal Revenue Act of 1924, all telephone messages became free from tax at midnight, July 2, 1924. The taxes imposed under the previous law were as follows:

- On a telephone toll message for which the charge was more than fourteen cents and not more than fifty cents 5 cents
- On a message for which the charge was more than fifty cents 10 cents

These taxes were highest, in proportion to the charge for service, for toll messages over moderate distances, the tax in some cases amounting to one-third of the toll charge.

We have anticipated the increased use of toll facilities that will follow the removal of these taxes and are prepared to care for it.

musical attractions that would "be hard to beat."

A lecture on "Unknown Australia" by Captain Kilroy Harris, Australian frontiersman and world traveler; a humorous lecture-recital, "The Confessions of a Luncheon" by Mr. MacMurray; and a great inspirational address by Dr. Yutaka Minakuchi, noted Japanese orator, are other worth while attractions.

The Junior Department for the kiddies will be greater than ever and every boy and girl between the ages of 6 and 14 is to have a "Little Lady" harmonica free. This is the smallest perfect musical instrument in the world and one on which nearly every boy and girl can easily learn to play.

With such an array of talent and the good fellowship and neighborliness that is always so prominent a feature under the big brown tent, it is expected that the number of season tickets sold this year will far exceed the quota required to make the assembly a financial success.
