Game Thursday, Sept. 25

Last Sunday's Results
Tawas City 23, Alabaster 3
Pinconning 2, East Tawas 0.
Omer 5, Standish 3

Tawas City holds the record on runs scored in a single game by scoring twenty-three on Alabaster at the White City last Sunday and thereby displaced them as leaders of the second division.

The game was pretty decent to look at until the first half of the fifth when with the score four to one, two out and two on, Jack Johnson laid on the first ball pitched to him for a solid three bagger. From then on Tawas City hits and Alabaster's errors piled up runs in every inning, culminating in the ninth when eight hits, four errors and a hit batsman propelled ten runs across the plate. It was the kind of a slaughter the boys had promised themselves as a fitting end to the season. Most of the hits were solid drives.

Walt Moeller held the Alabaster boys to six hits without half trying. At Mark receiving him. Syze and Musolf pulled some star catches. Rahl showed some demon baserunning. Score by Innings:

First Inning, Tawas City—A. Spring retired Musolf at first. Boldt fanned. A. Spring threw out Rahl. No run, no hit, no error.

Alabaster—Benson was safe on Moeller's low throw to first. Beck popped to the box. Syze got C. Spring's grounder and forced Benson at second. Musolf threw to first to double Spring but Jackson dropped the ball. C. Blust flied to Boldt. No run, no hit, two errors.

2nd Inning, Tawas City—A. Spring threw out Syze. Mark singled. Moeller fanned. Mark stole. Jackson walked. Libka fanned. No run, one hit, no error.

Alabaster—W. Baker singled and stole. Pavelock and A. Spring fanned. F. Baker was hit by a pitched ball. G. Blust fanned. No run, one hit, no error.

3rd Inning, Tawas City—Swartz doubled to left center. Musolf fanned. Boldt sacrificed Swartz to third. Rahl scored Swartz with a single and stole second. Rahl pulled a delayed steal of third and when A. Spring threw wide hescared. Syze singled. Mark forced Syze. Two runs, three hits, one error.

Alabaster—E. Benson singled. Beck sacrificed him to second. C. Spring and C. Blust fanned. No run, one hit, no error.

4th Inning, Tawas City—Moeller flied to center. Jackson was safe on a wide throw by G. Blust. Libka forced him at second. Swartz drove into F. Baker's hands. No run, no hit, one error.

Alabaster—W. Baker got a single on a bad hop past Syze. He took second on a wild pitch. Pavelock popped to Syze. A. Spring singled to center and when Libka let the ball get thru him, Baker scored. Moeller retired F. Baker at first. G. Blust popped to Syze. One run, two hits, one error.

5th Inning, Tawas City—Musolf singled. Boldt sacrificed. Rahl grounded to A. Spring. Syze doubled Musolf home. Mark was safe on Pavelock's fumble. Moeller singled Syze home and when W. Baker threw the ball wild over third, Mark scored. Jack Johnson batted for Libka. He hit the first ball pitched for a triple over the left fielder's head scoring Moeller and Jackson. Swartz fanned. Five runs, five hits, two errors.

Alabaster—Benson forced Syze to pull a circus tumbling catch on his low pop. Beck lined to Syze. Moeller retired C. Spring. No run, no hit, no error.

6th Inning, Tawas City—Musolf singled. He took third and Boldt second on G. Blust's wild throw of Boldt's grounder. Rahl doubled them home and went to third on a passed ball. E. Benson went to the box and A. Spring to second. Syze walked and stole. Mark fouled to Beck. Moeller fanned. Rahl scored when Pavelock missed up Jackson's grounder. Johnson fanned. Three runs, two hits, two errors.

Alabaster—C. Blust fanned. W. Baker walked, Pavelock forced Baker at second, Rahl to Musolf and was doubled at first. No run, no hit, no error.

7th Inning, Tawas City—A. Spring retired Swartz at first. Pavelock took care of Musolf's grounder. Boldt singled. Rahl walked. Syze singled Boldt home and then stole second. Mark flied to left. One run, two hits, no error.

Alabaster—A. Spring flied to Johnson. F. Baker grounded to Syze. G. Blust popped to Musolf. No run, no hit, no error.

KANE SELLS GARAGE TO W. C. ROACH

On Thursday of this week Henry Kane disposed of his garage, sales rooms and business to Wilbur C. Roach of Windber, Pa. Mr. Roach will retain the Ford sales and service and the force of mechanics who have been with Mr. Kane for a number of years. The deal has been under negotiation for several weeks.

Mr. Kane, who is a pioneer in the automobile game, has built up one of the best garage and Ford sales businesses in northern Michigan. The plant is the largest and best equipped between Bay City and Alpena. This success he has well deserved and his business associates and friends throughout this section will regret to learn of his retirement from active engagement in the automobile business. Mr. and Mrs. Kane will still make their home in Tawas City. Mr. Roach, the new owner, is well known to the people of this city, having spent several seasons at the Roach and Main cottage at Ind'ian lake. The following was reprinted from the Johnstown Daily Tribune, Mr. Roach's home paper:

Every sportsman in the Johnstown-Windber district will regret the decision of "Roxey" Roach to leave here and make his future home in Michigan and at the same time all will wish the popular Windber man every success in his new business and at his new residence. Roach has been one of the leading figures in the sports world in this section for many years and he numbers his friends here by the thousand.

In all lines of sports but especially in baseball and trap shooting, Roach has been a leader in the Johnstown-Windber district; a leader whose influence will be felt for a long time to come. He has not only been a leader in the field of competition in sports, but also a leader in organizing and boosting athletics. After giving Windber and Johnstown some of the best semipro baseball ever seen here Roach turned his attention to trap shooting. It is not deprecating the efforts of the other members of the Johnstown-Windber Gun Club to say that Roach has been the most active of the group of sportsmen who organized the local trap shooting association and who placed it on a sound basis after the organization was effected. Wholeheartedly and unselfishly, Roach worked hard for the success of this organization and helped to make it one of the leading associations of its kind in the state.

The same characterized Roach's efforts in baseball. While manager of the Windber and Johnstown teams he was not satisfied with an ordinary semi-pro nine but was always working and figuring to improve the team with which he played. We have always found Roach not only a hard worker in sports but also a "square shooter," a man whom it has been a real pleasure to know. We have not the least doubt but that Roach will profit by and enjoy his new surroundings, where he may be more closely in touch with the great outdoors of which he is a true lover, but it is

SUSPECT TAKEN IN FERGUSON STORE ROBBERY

Otto Van Dyke, believed to have been the person who blew the safe in the Ferguson grocery store and rifled the safe in the D. & M. station here, was taken from a Michigan Central freight train at Gaylord and is now held in Cheboygan.

Van Dyke confessed to blowing four safes in Cheboygan including Standard Oil company, Cheboygan Cold Storage company, Detroit & Mackinac and Michigan Central freight depots. He was taken on information furnished by Sheriff Slade of Cheboygan and is being held on charges in that city.

When Van Dyke was captured he carried a supply of high explosives and fuse.

CHIPS FROM THE MICHIGAN NATIONAL FOREST

Assistant District Forester C. J. Stahl of Denver, Col., was a recent visitor to the forest. Mr. Stahl was chiefly interested in land acquisition in Michigan for the federal government in accordance with the provisions of the Clark-McNary bill which was passed during the last session of Congress.

Supervisor R. G. Schreck returned recently from the upper peninsula where the matter of land acquisition in that region was taken up with various parties.

All hunters are now enjoying the privileges of duck season and it will not be long before the partridge and deer season will be opened. All hunters and fishermen are requested to be exceptionally careful with fire as an added precaution against the destruction of any of our forest areas by fire.

Planting operations on the forest are well under way at this time. It is expected that by October 15 an area of approximately 2,000 acres will have been planted. The stock is being taken from the Beal Nursery at East Tawas where it has been growing for the past two years. It is estimated that about one and one-half million trees are being transplanted. About forty men are employed in this work, and at the present time it seems as though all previous planting records will be smashed!

Ranger V. J. Dayharsh and Guard Vinton of the Mio District were recent visitors in East Tawas. They have been temporarily assigned to the planting operations on the Tawas District.

The past season has been an exceptionally favorable one as far as fires are concerned. The personnel of the forest consider themselves extremely fortunate in this respect, and much credit is due to the increased interest and cooperation of the general public.

A motion picture schedule has recently been established. These reels are being secured from Washington, D. C., through the various forests in this district. The pictures are being shown at the local theatre and high school and at various other places in the vicinity. Many of them embrace beautiful scenes from various parts of the United States and are well worth seeing.

A great amount of stock is being transplanted and this involves a considerable amount of work. A number of high school boys have been employed.

Arthur W. Stace, a representative of the Grand Rapids Press, was a recent guest of Supervisor Schreck. Mr. Stace made a thorough visit of the forest and received first hand knowledge of the various methods used in the different operations being carried on. Mr. Stace intends to write a number of articles on the Michigan National Forest and they will appear in the leading papers in the state.

Have You This Habit?

By Margaret Morison

DAVID SWIFT

TRY David Swift," said the senior member of the banking firm of Smith, Jones & Brown to his friend; and accordingly after lunch the two men took the baffling slip of yellow paper to Mr. Smith's official decipherer of mixed code cables.

"That man eight years ago was earning two dollars a day at unskilled labor; now I pay him ten thousand a year," said the great man as he and his friend waited for the outcome over their cigars in the inner office. Then he told David Swift's story.

"Not so long ago we were actually losing money through delays in decoding messages that had been relayed from Hong Kong, or even sometimes London. That set me looking for a man who had what I call 'the habit of attack.' Well, one day after closing hour I stopped in to find a very important letter; there is just one man there working, and I told him what I was after. I admit that it seemed hopeless to me; but in ten minutes he had what I wanted.

"Now that's what I call 'attack.' I asked the head of our filing department about him next day. It seemed that the chief filing clerk's uncle had a big milk farm where eight years ago this young David Swift was a regular hand in summer—in winter he still went to high school. Eight years ago, the corn for the silo had all been cut, except one big ten-acre field. That afternoon everyone was prophesying frost; the boss was away, and the men were contending that it was hopeless to start such a big job so late. But young David Swift's sporting blood was up; if three of them would help him, he said, he'd save the crop. Our clerk's uncle came back to find them cutting the last rows by moonlight, and he was so impressed by what David Swift had done that, when the boy graduated from his school the following spring, he got him a job with his nephew in our office. You see what I mean by his—what I call—'attack'?"

Just then the door of the office opened and there entered a square built young man whose head and shoulders had the appearance of getting ahead of the rest of his body.

"You've given it up!" cried Mr. Smith's friend disappointedly.

"It wasn't code at all, sir; simply a badly jumbled message," answered David Swift. "I think that's the reason they missed it at your office; they were looking for something hard."

As the door closed Smith turned to his friend: "Is ten thousand too high for this 'habit of attack'?" he asked triumphantly.

O Florida, bright Florida,
Thy wondrous clime is calling me,
O, Florida, fair Florida,
Cease not thy messages to me.

Each orange grove

Each dainty flower

PUTTING BABY ON THE BED

IT IS commonly believed, in New England, at least, and probably in many other sections of the country, that if the first time a baby is taken visiting it is placed on a married couple's bed there will be a child born to that couple.

This is a phase of a world-wide superstition which has not only been handed down to the civilization of today from our primitive forbears, but exists in an almost identical form among nearly all civilized races. It is an excellent example of how the primitive mind, working in unrelated peoples, ignorant of each other's existence and far asunder in point of location, arrives at a common conclusion. In some savage tribes barren women are given a carved image of a child or a bundle of rags done up in imitation of a baby, to fondle; and in all such tribes there exist analogous customs for producing fruitfulness in married couples—with the exception, perhaps, of the lowest type of savages, the Australian aborigines.

The superstition is the purest form of primitive sympathetic magic of the so-called homeopathic type—like produces like. It is interesting to note that the American Folk-Lore society finds this superstition common today in sections where, once upon a time, they were grievously given to burning witches.

All Nations Chew Gum

The gum-chewing habit encircles the globe. The American soldiers introduced gum to the soldiers of the other nations engaged in the World war, who, in turn, took it to their countries. In this way chewing gum is now known in practically every country which has contact with the world.

Led in Use of Iron

Either the ancient Assyrians or Egyptians were the first to use iron. The earliest pieces of iron now known came from Egypt, but it is probable that the Assyrians were the first to use the metal freely in the manufacture of tools, weapons and ornaments.

His Last Excuse

The colonel was playing his daily round of golf, but, as usual, he was pretty badly off his game. At the second hole he fooled his drive and cursed the condition of the green. And so the game progressed, the colonel making mistakes galore and finding a new excuse for each one of them.

At the fifteenth hole he fooled a beautiful brassie lie, but by now he was absolutely devoid of excuses. With bristling moustache he glared round about him, and then bellowed, as he observed the sea in the distance: "How the devil can any man be expected to play decent golf with all these blasted ships sailing up and down!" — Sporting and Dramatic News.

AGED AUTO HAS GREAT RE-CORD
Willys-Knight Coupe Goes 150,000
Miles Without Having Engine
Adjusted
Signed statements by reputable
men through whose hands a Willys-Knight coupe, now owned by W. P.
Rouse of Sacramento, Calif., has passed, give ground to the belief that in seven years it has left the longest trail of any motor car in the world without its motor ever once being taken down.

The car has traveled 150,000 miles
and it is asserted that in the period during which it was rolling up a mileage equal to six times the distance around the earth at the equator
no person has ever viewed the internal mechanism of the motor.
The coupe, a model 84-B, engine
No. 88,202, was bought by Dr. Geo.
A. Spencer, a well known physician in the Sacramento valley, in November 1917. He disposed of the car in April 1, 1923. During the years of his ownership the car was in constant use, day and night, Sundays and holidays included.

Dr. Spencer emphatically states that never while he possessed the coupe was the motor opened for any mechanical work whatsoever.
From Dr. Spencer the car passed into the hands of H. A. Hirsch, of San Francisco, who drove it until last February, when it was taken in by the Willys-Overland dealer at Sacramento, who uses the car constantly in his own work. The car still possesses power and speed and though a grand-dad in performance,
will amble along more cheerfully
even now than many an automotive youngster.

Valuable Black Walnut
A number of native black-walnut trees have been discovered whose nuts
possess superior cracking qualities.
By means of scions or buds from the original trees, these are being propagated in greater numbers each year, since the value of the nut crop is thereby greatly enhanced and the timber is of the same high quality as that of other walnut trees. Stocks of these selected trees are available in limited numbers from the owners and make possible the growing of valuable nut trees about the home or in nut orchards, says the American Forestry association.

Forced to Beg Off
An indefatigable traveler, arriving in New York, did not go to the palatial caravansary he usually patronized but put up in an obscure hotel on a side street. But the very next day he bumped into the manager of the down-to-the-minute hostelry where he had always stopped and where he was known so well.
"Why, Mr. Blank," was the shocked greeting, "in New York and not stopping with us?"
"It's this way, old fellow," explained Blank contritely. "I'm too tired this trip to live up to the unparalleled service you give."

Mother's Cook Book

to have.—Edward Everett Hale.

HELPFUL SUGGESTIONS
A LARGE chicken is much more economical to buy than a small one, as the proportion of meat to bone is greater. After all the meat is removed, the bits too small to serve on the table may be used in a salad or as a cream sauce on toast. The bones, with a stalk or two of celery, with an onion and a bit of carrot, covered with cold water and simmered for several hours,
will make a most delicious soup.
Cream, egg or rice may be added, or
it may be served clear with croutons.

For the child who carries a lunch
a sandwich or two, one for real nourishment and the other for a sweet, with a bit of seasonal fruit, will make a good meal and one easy to prepare on a busy morning.
Many a child has been taught to like tea or coffee by having the milk
warmed by either of those beverages.
This is a most pernicious habit to form.
Milk may be warmed with hot water or heated milk may be given the child
if a hot drink is desirable, but tea or coffee in any form should never be allowed. Weak tea or coffee is more harmful than a well-prepared concoction, some of our dietitians tell us, as the weak solution sets up a fermentation, causing sour stomach and other digestive disorders. The safe thing is to leave such beverages for older people who ought to be able to withstand such indulgence, if ill effects result from their use.

Everyday Cake.
Beat four tablespoonfuls of butter
to a cream, add one-half cupful of sugar, one-half cupful of chopped
raisins, two egg yolks beaten light, one-fourth of a cupful each of maple and corn syrup, one-half cupful of milk; add one and three-fourths cupfuls of flour, a teaspoonful of cream
of tartar, half teaspoonful of soda, one-half teaspoonful each of salt and mace all sifted together. Add the stiffly-beaten whites of the eggs and turn into a shallow pan. Sprinkle with chopped nuts and dredge with sugar. Bake in a moderate oven about an hour. When a cake for a nice occasion is wanted, the following will be the one to prepare:

Onions With Cheese.
Cook even-sized onions until tender,
place a layer in a baking dish, cover
with a rich white sauce and a half-inch layer of finely-minced cheese; cover with another layer of onions and white sauce, sprinkle with buttered crumbs
and place in a hot oven to thoroughly heat through and brown the crumbs.

China Had Great Ruler
in Ch'in Shih Huang Fifty miles south of the Chinese city of Peking has been discovered the walls of an ancient city, which flourished over 2,000 years ago. The walls embrace greater area than the walls of Peking and lie buried at an average depth of four feet. Late in the Second century B. C., there arose a king in the then comparatively small China who compared favorably with Alexander in conquests and empire building and whose empire lasted almost until the present day. This was Ch'in Shih Huang, or Shih Huang Ti
("The First Emperor"), whose rule ending in 209 B. C., marks the close of the feudal period and the beginning of the empire in Chinese history. Shih Huang Ti subdued the feudal princes, built the famed great Chinese wall
and successfully defended the country
against the Tartars from the north,
standardized money, transport, law,
writing and other things which aided centralization, and destroyed as much of the ancient classics and traditions as possible, with the idea that the history of the Chinese empire should begin with his reign.

GAME PLENTIFUL—SO ARE SPORTSMEN'S SUPPLIES

Fortunately game is plentiful this year. It has to be. The stores in town that carry sporting goods have laid in large and varied stocks—including some mighty good ideas in the way of hunters' equipment.
"The best idea in loading shells I've run across in many a year," one nimrod in town well-known as an experienced and successful gunner told your representative yesterday, "is Remington Game Loads." Say, those fellows have got the right hunch in scientifically loading shells to a uniform standard of pattern, penetration and velocity with moderate recoil. It means you get uniform results if you aim straight and you can sure count on yours truly to do that." Several other local sportsmen have echoed his sentiments.
All in all, it bids fair to be a most successful season!

Gaiana Blow Gun
Perhaps the most elaborate form of blowgun is that made by the Indians of the Gulanias. It consists of an inner tube fashioned from a certain palm which grows very thin and straight.
The pithy center and the knots are knocked out with a hardwood stick,
and the bore, about one-half inch in diameter, is ground to a machine finish with a rough leaf which cuts like sandpaper. This barrel is then inclosed for protection in an outer casing made of two lengths of hardwood grooved down the center, glued together and bound with ornamental
cane and beadwork, says the Detroit News.
A lip piece of carved wood is carefully fitted, and sights are added—actual front and rear sights, the latter open, the lower jaw and canine teeth of some small jungle cat—and the weapon is then a completed zarabalan, a field piece of some eight to ten or twelve feet in length, according to the available length of the original inner tube.

Eggs as Coins

Money is not the only form of currency existent, though it is the only form internationally recognized. Norway sometimes uses corn for coin; the Fijians use what's teeth; while chocolate, coconuts, and eggs are employed in the interior of South America. There are parts of New Guinea where the natives pay their bills in slaves!

MISS STAR

"WHAT a charming person Miss Star is, and what interesting things she has done!" one of her guests said to Mrs. George the day after her dinner party.

"Miss Star told me all about knowing this explorer who's just come back from Greenland, and described some of the things he told her. I've never enjoyed a dinner more."

Mrs. George of course repeated this conversation to Miss Star on their next meeting. Miss Star looked confused. "Oh, ah, yes," she said vaguely, "I went to the illustrated lecture the other night."

Then Mrs. George forgot her impression of discrepancy. It was a month before she saw Miss Star again. Miss Star was drooping about, decoratively watching a tennis tournament. Mrs. George asked why she wasn't playing, and Miss Star replied, "I don't wish to alarm my friends; but the doctor as good as told me this morning that I could never play again. Heart," she whispered mysteriously. "I've got to be very careful for a long while!"

Mrs. George was really concerned. She spent the afternoon making herself useful and delightful to poor Miss Star, who was so good-looking. She was surprised, therefore, the following day to find Miss Star out on the courts as usual.

"Oh, I guess the doctor was mistaken," Miss Star's somewhat unconvincing explanation.

A month later Miss Star was asked to come informally to family supper with the Georges. The evening passed pleasantly and quietly. Not long afterward an acquaintance asked Mrs. George about her banquet for a certain feted foreigner—Miss Star, who had been present, had described the occasion to the acquaintance as very brilliant. And Miss Star's subsequent explanation to Mrs. George that the acquaintance must have misunderstood somehow didn't hold water.

After that, when Miss Star talked about her admirers and her engagements and her adventures, Mrs. George deducted a large percentage, and then accepted the remainder tentatively. So she got on with a good deal of amusement and no disillusionments.

Then one day Miss Star told her that she was going away to live, that she was leaving in a week, and that probably they would not see her again. No one believed the news, Mrs. George least of all. She felt a good deal of attachment for Miss Star, and was glad that she did not have to accept this announcement for fact. Having forgotten the incident she stopped one day to call. Miss Star's house was empty. Her habit of so dramatizing every situation that people discounted everything she said, had left her farewell performance without an audience.

"Heel of Achilles"

The Heel of Achilles refers to a vulnerable part. It is in allusion to the story that when Thetis, mother of Achilles, dipped him into the Styx to make him invulnerable, she held him by the heel so that the water did not touch it. Therefore his heel was the one spot in his body where he was vulnerable.

Must Have Been a Delight

Shaving the beard was, before the Bronze or Iron ages, performed with flints, shells, or bones, on which a specially sharp edge was ground.

According to Hoyle

As Hiram Jones came into town he saw a sign in a store advertising a shoe sale. Shoes were hung all around the window in pairs, and in the center, on a small table, were laid three silver dollars, with the sign: "Get your shoes now. Three of a kind takes them."

"Hiram needed a pair of shoes; so he entered the store, and said to the clerk: 'I see you're selling shoes according to poker rules.'"

"Yes."

"Well, give me two pair."

"What size?"

"Number nine."

When the clerk returned with the shoes Hiram passed over three silver dollars and started to grab the shoes, but the clerk stopped him.

"Two pair of shoes at three dollars is six dollars."

"Didn't you say you sold shoes on poker rules?"

"Yes."

"Well, don't three of a kind take two pairs?"

"Sure," replied the clerk, "but it won't take four nines."—Judge.

BECOMES WEALTHY BY RAISING CATNIP

Long Islander Raises Family on Profits From Crops.

Many there are who know the catnip man of Paddy's market, now past threescore and ten, an exchange says. He has a snug fortune and a house out on Long Island because he knows how to cater to cat aristocracy. Most persons think catnip is just catnip, just as there were certain ones in olden days who spoke of "opening wine." There are qualities of catnip just as there used to be Burgundy and Graves and Chateau Yquem.

When he first went into the business of providing the delicacy for the pampered favorites of catdom, the catnip man had only a basket and a smiling face. He knew, however, the banks where the sweet herbs grew.

He was not content to serve ordinary leaves, so to speak, but he went in for high-class "first chop." There are many persons who own estates on Long Island. They did not care if the man who ministered to the happiness of cats did stop beneath their hedges or walk about the private grounds to gather up his wares.

He soon found a way to force or cultivate catnip with extra large leaves. Whenever he found a little bed of the herb growing luxuriantly of itself he thinned it out so as to give the hardest of the plants more room. If the quality of the plant was good but the soil not up to his standard, he brought a basket of fertilizer and improved the bearing qualities.

On certain days the catnip man makes the rounds of the stores where cats are for sale with a basket filled with bunches of selected, highly cultured leaf. He never gives just the run of the bed. Every sprig is hand sorted after it is hand picked. When winter comes and the supply is more scarce, he has cured catnip ready. It is no drug store herb, all pressed into a cake, but is full-flavored leaf.

His sales may seem to be small, yet many of the largest dealers buy this catnip at wholesale. When he sells in Paddy's market and in that neighborhood about Ninth avenue and Forty-second street, he gives good, liberal portions and makes speedy sales—especially in winter. By supplying the tonic for felines all the year round and building up a clientele the catnip man soon found that he was slowly but surely accumulating a fortune. He built a house on catnip "revenue," bought some land on catnip, "and on catnip he brought up a large family and educated them."

Oldest British Custom Revived During the War

When the war flung the world into confusion it laid its hand on the oldest custom in the British Isles, a most curious practice that had come from the far-off time of the Druids and had flourished from then without a break until the year 1915. In Burghhead, a little fishing place on the Moray firth, this custom had been practiced from the very dawn of human society. It is the strange ritual of the burning of the clavie.

The clavie is made of a half barrel roughly put together and attached to a long pole by which it is carried. A stone is used to hammer in the wooden pegs that serve for nails, for it is considered as unlawful to allow iron to touch the wood. Old tales tell how a wicker basket with a fish inside used to be burned. Perhaps when the first Druid lighted the first clavie the sacrifice was something greater than a fish. Within more recent times neither basket nor fish appears, but the clavie is filled with chips of wood and shavings plentifully sprinkled with tar. The whole mass is set on fire by means of burning peat.

With an oilskin over his shoulder, the clavie bearer lifts his burning burden on his back and sets off to the site of a Roman camp, rocky promontory that thrusts itself out into the sea. Here a stone pedestal has been erected to hold the fire.

In this strange ritual Druidical and Christian customs are strangely interwoven. The lighting with peat was pagan and harks back to the sacrificial fires of Baal. The circling of the village sunward is from the same source. To the Druids the sun was an immediate object of worship. The use of wooden pegs rather than of iron nails and the use of a stone instead of a hammer are Christian, for the early Christian would not use the iron with which our Lord was nailed to the cross.

Why the custom lingered in quaint little burghhead we cannot tell. In 1915 the admiralty forbade the showing of all lights seaward and the clavie was left unkindled. In 1919, however, this sole British survival of the worship of fire, the first of all religions and rituals, was rekindled.

Ladies First

The new justice of the peace was serving on his first day. "The next case" began the clerk, "is that of Frederick Smith, alias Jones, alias Robinson, charged with assault and battery." The new justice was not to be rushed, however. "One at a time, one at a time," he cautioned. "And first, the women. Bring in Miss Jones."

CHIPS FROM THE NATIONAL FOREST

Ranger Groesbeck, who was recently under quarantine for scarlet fever, is back on the job again and actively engaged in the planting operations.

Assistant District Forester Stahl, Supervisor Schreck and Ranger Barnes were guests of the Kiwanis Club of Sault St. Marie at a luncheon last week. Mr. Schreck talked on "What the U. S. Forest Service is doing in Michigan and future plans." Mr. Schreck will also speak before the student body of the Central Michigan Normal school at Mount Pleasant on Friday.

R. H. Johnson, Senior Forest Assistant, has moved the planting camp to a new location where it will be centrally located for this fall's planting operations. A new cook-house has been erected and practically all new equipment is being used.

The name "Cleopatra's Needles" is improperly given to two famous obelisks erected by Thothmes III, at On (Heliopolis) about 1500 B. C., and brought to Alexandria by Augustus about 23 B. C., to add to the beauty of the city. One of these granite monoliths now stands on the Victoria embankment in London, while the other is in Central park, New York.
