TWO CHURCHES SEND MESSAGES TO OUR READERS

Text—"Then spake Jesus unto them saying, I am the Light of the World; he that followeth me shall not walk in darkness, but shall have the light of life."—John 8-12.

It is a matter of record that when one of the heirs to the throne of France was born, all the bells of the kingdom pealed forth their music of recognition of the glad event. When the Heir to the throne of the World was born in Bethlehem of Judea, the sublime event was heralded by a convoy on angles direct from the realms of glory. When the last glad refrain of that immortal song died away on the Judean plains, it was prophetic of a greater volume of music to be poured forth in the days that are to be when all the redeemed hosts of God shall join in the great Hallelujah chorus of eternity.

Christmas Day can bring to the world no more needed message this year than that which is embraced in the declaration that the meaning of Christ's coming and the fullness of His salvation should be "to all people." "A light to lighten the Gentiles and the glory of God's Israel."

What a wonderful picture! Jesus, the Light of the world. What the cloudy pillar was to the Israel of old, Jesus is to the world today. But only followers know, the blessedness of it. Just think of those blessings, the cloudy pillar was a leader, deliverer and illuminator to God's people in the desert. All this our Lord Jesus is willing to be to us. In Him all grace abounds, so that we, having a sufficiency of all things should be abundantly filled and satisfied. When we are in doubt, He will be our guide, when darkness and disaster cover our path, He will illumine the darkness and deliver us from our fears. When trials and troubles are our lot, He will be our shield and exceeding great reward.

The peace and joy of our life will be in exact proportion as we appropriate Jesus in the various aspects of His character and work. It is folly to reserve Him for special times and purposes. He is not like the electric light to be used only when we are in the dark, but like the glorious sunlight always ready when we walk in its rays.

This is the King's birthday! It is the birthday of the Prince of Peace, the world made flesh and dwelt among us for a few brief years. The most joyful day, if we except the day of His resurrection, that the world has ever seen, the fulfillment of centuries of prophecy, the coming of the Light into the darkened world, the birthday of Jesus, the Son of the Living God.

As a result the nineteen hundred years since the star and the manger have seen the glorious sunshine of the Sun of Righteousness spreading its light and healing everywhere. And best of all, He has been turning darkness into light for countless thousands of human wrecks who were stranded on the reefs of sin in the midnight blackness of despair.

Concluding then, we rejoice that the Glory Light which announced the birth of Jesus, the Light of the World, has fallen like an abiding Glory on countless millions of souls. And from the depths of joyful hearts we too can sing today:

"I heard the voice of Jesus say, 'I am this dark world's light, Look unto Me, thy morn shall rise, and all thy days be bright.' I looked to Jesus and I found in Him, my Star, my Sun. And in that Light of life I'll walk, till traveling days are done."

Rev. George Smith, Minister of the M. E. church.

My Dear Friends:—

Once more the Christmas season approaches and as a pastor in the community I am asked to send greetings to you all, through the press.

Christmas reminds us of God's great gift to us, "God so loved... that he gave..." Christmas also reminds us of our essential oneness in Christ. "So we being many, are one body in Christ; and everyone, members one of another."

Christmas is essentially a religious festival. Santa Claus never founded Christmas. But because God sent forth His own Son into the world, to overcome the sin in the world, that righteousness might be fulfilled in us

Greetings

MRS. HERMAN BROWN

The neighbors and friends of Mrs. Herman Brown were grieved to learn of her death last Thursday morning. She had not been considered seriously ill and the end was a shock to everyone. Mrs. Brown was one of the earliest settlers on the Hemlock road.

Pauline Kuhn was born in Stuttgart, Germany in the year 1846. She was 78 years, 3 months and 10 days old at the time of death.

In the year 1867 she was united in marriage to Herman Brown, who proceeded her in death one year and 11 months ago. To this union eight children were born, seven of whom survive, one dying in infancy.

In 1872 they came to the United States, residing for a time at Port Austin, Rogers City, Alpena, East Tawas and in 1876 they settled in Grant township on the farm now owned by their son, Charles.

Mrs. Brown was a woman of sterling qualities, always ready to give her time and strength to a neighbor in distress. That the world was made brighter and happier by her sunny disposition, happy and kind nature and constant desire to help others and make life easier and more joyous for someone else.

She leaves to mourn her loss three sons, Paul and Charles of Grant township and William of Tawas City, four daughters, Mrs. Amelia Bamberger, Mrs. Nelson Miller, Mrs. Andrew McIvor of Grant and Mrs. Willis Shipman of Belding, and nineteen grandchildren and seven great grandchildren.

Funeral services were held at the Hemlock road Baptist church Saturday afternoon at one o'clock, Rev. H. Z. Davis officiating and the remains were laid to rest in the Tawas City cemetery.

MRS. DELIA RODMAN

Mrs. Delia Rodman, 72, died Sunday evening at the home of her son, John Rodman, one and one-fourth miles southeast of Twin Falls, from effects of a paralytic stroke about 10 days ago. Funeral services, under auspices of the Baptist church, are to be held at 2 o'clock this afternoon at the Grossman chapel. Burial will be in the Twin Falls cemetery.

Mrs. Rodman came with her son to Idaho from Michigan about 15 years ago, following the death of her husband who was a veteran of the Civil war. They came to Twin Falls about six years ago after residing at Burley for eight years.—Twin Falls News.

We wish to extend our thanks to our friends and neighbors who were so kind during the death of our mother. We also wish to thank the friends for the beautiful flowers and to Rev. Davis and to the choir. Many thanks are extended to the D. & M. shops for the beautiful spray of flowers. Paul Brown

PURE BRED BULL FOR HIS HARD WORK

Clarence Curry, member of the Beatrice Creamery Junior Helpers Society, has earned a pure bred bull for his year's work. Not only did it give Clarence an opportunity to earn this fine pure bred individual but it also helped him in a part of his education.

The Beatrice Creamery Junior Helpers Society is an organization for boys and girls throughout 20 states. Its purpose being to promote a dairy enthusiasm among the young folks as well as developing their power of salesmanship.

In Michigan there are two of these societies organized, one in Durant territory and the other in Detroit territory. Clarence is a member of the latter. It has fifty one members all of whom were very hard workers in this county there are six members as follows: Clarence Curry, John Atkinson, Hale, Jack Kesler, Hale, Stanley Rescoe, Alabaster, Henry Seafert, Jr., Whittemore and Roy Short, Long Lake. Clarence's nearest competitor was Laurence Gauthier of Black River. Laurence, who is only nine years of age, sure came very close to Clarence. This of course encouraged Clarence to work just a little harder.

The member who secured the most shippers of cream for Beatrice Creamery and to whose credit there was the greatest number pounds of butter fat was the one that earned the pure bred bull and Clarence did it.

Dr. Elkov of the Beatrice Creamery in Tawas City, says the big event of presenting the bull will take place some time during January. He also says that in order to promote a keen interest in dairying, a cow testing association would help in eliminating the "boarder cow" from the herd.

MCCARDLE IS FOUND NOT GUILTY

Orland McCardle, stoutly maintaining his innocence throughout his trial, was vindicated this morning when the jury, after a few minutes deliberation, returned a verdict of not guilty. He was charged with embezzlement by W. O. Shaw, grocer, whose store is located at 2804 North Saginaw street. A hit or miss system of bookkeeping and a haphazard handling of a money bag, used by McCardle in collecting Shaw's accounts, figured prominently in the evidence.

On July 23, young McCardle, he is 20 years old, performed his usual duties for Shaw, soliciting orders, delivering groceries, and collecting accounts. This was his last day there and, after being in town for a few days, he departed for Tawas City, where his parents reside. Meantime Shaw noticed a shortage in his accounts of $105. He got in touch with his former employee who immediately came to Flint and was arrested. The youth refused to let his mother settle the case out of court and thus his trial and vindication—Flint Daily Journal.

TAWAS CITY WINS EASY GAME FROM OSCODA

Last Tuesday evening the Tawas City Independents won their second victory of the season by defeating Oscoda 20 to 5.

There was only a small crowd in attendance but those there witnessed one of the fastest and cleanest games played by the local cagers for some time. Much credit is given to Rev. Brogger, who refereed the game, and made the teams play real basketball.

At the end of the first half Tawas City was leading by a 10 to 3 margin which was never threatened by the visitors at any time. Tawas City slowed down the last half of the game but managed to get five more field baskets to Oscoda's one.

Saturday night, Dec. 20, the Tawas City Independents will play the East Tawas Night Hawks at the Auditorium. This game is guaranteed to be close as the teams are evenly matched. Come out and root for the home team. Dance after the game. Music by Oscoda orchestra.

The preliminary between the game between the Shorts and the Longs was a decided success and furnished the spectators with plenty of excitement very close throughout the game and ended in favor of the Shorts.

Cannibal Ancestors

The discovery of a pile of human bones dating from the Neolithic period—at least 6,000 years ago—in a cave near Auch, in the south of France, has given rise to the theory that prehistoric men at that period were undoubtedly cannibals. The bones all bear marks of teeth and apparently form the remains of some gigantic cannibal feast.

Light Lights When Lifted

One of the most utilitarian night lights yet offered by the electrical manufacturers is one in the shape of a candlestick which when it is standing remains unlighted but immediately it is lifted the tiny bulb glows. It is a bedroom night light and works on a battery. Its own weight pushes the off button so that it remains unlighted when not in use.

Christmas

By MARY TASH LLOYD
in the Presbyterian

GOD gave his dear Son for a Savior,
When the world was by sin so distressed,
He took human form in descending,
In a young mother's arms was caressed.

At Christmas we ponder His coming,
There was no place for Him but a shed,
And Mary, His mother, watched o'er Him
In a manger where cattle were fed.

Oh, wonderful story and precious!
There were shepherds with flocks on the hill,
Who followed His star till they found Him,
He who did Scripture's promise fulfill.

The wise men, with homes at a distance,
Quickly journeyed in haste to be there;
They knelt by the Child and adored Him,
And they offered Him gifts rich and rare.

Dear Christ Child, so pure and so holy,
Whom the angels are praising today,
May we at Thy feet leave love's offering,
Carry with us Thy blessing away.

CARD GAMES AT CHRISTMAS

Thin Pasteboards Afforded Means of Entertainment in England During Yuletide Season.

A UNIVERSAL Christmas custom of England in olden times was playing at cards. Persons who never touched a card at any other season of the year felt bound to play a few games at Christmas.
A prohibitory statute of Henry VII's reign forbade card playing save during the Christmas holidays. Of course this prohibition extended only to persons of humble rank.
Sir Roger De Coverley took care to provide both creature comfort and amusement for his neighbors at Christmas by sending "a string of hog's puddings and a pack of cards" to every poor family in the parish.
Even the pulpit comes in for its share of anecdotes regarding playing cards. Fuller gives an example of a clergyman preaching from Romans 12:3, "As God hath dealt to every man the measure of faith." The reverend gentleman in question adopted as an illustration of his discourse the metaphor of "dealing" as applied to cards, reminding his congregation that they should follow suit, ever play above board, improve the gifts dealt out to them, take care of their trumps, play promptly when it came their turn, etc.

Short notes were frequently written on the backs of playing cards. In an old collection of poetry is found the following lines:
"To a Lady Who Sent Her Compliments to a Clergyman on the Ten of Hearts.
"Your compliments, dear lady, pray forbear,
"Old English services are more sincere;
"You send ten hearts—the title is only mine,
"Give me but one and burn the other nine."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Natural Cements

In Europe natural cements are called Roman cements and they were first manufactured in England in 1796 by James Parker. Natural cements began to be manufactured in France about 1825; in the United States natural cement rock was discovered while building the Erie canal in New York in 1818.

Only a Dream

There is no El Dorado. This land of golden promise was mythical—like so many other golden promises in this life. The proof that it does not exist lies in the simple fact that, if it did exist, we should all go there.

A Common Place

The chief danger in platonic friendship is that it so frequently ends in matrimony.—Duluth Herald.

LEGEND OF THE MISTLETOE

Yuletide Bough Was Responsible for Death of Balder, Son of Odin, an Old Story.

THE mistletoe bough, according to an old Scandinavian legend, was responsible for the death of Balder, the son of Odin, and the God of Eloquence and Poetry. Having informed his mother, Friga, that a dream had warned him of his imminent death she invoked all the powers of earth—fire, air, earth and water (including all animals and plants)—to come to his rescue. In the combats of the gods, therefore, he found himself uninjured.

But Loake, his deadly enemy, was determined to discover the secret of his invulnerability, and by judiciously flattering Friga, and praising the progress of her son, obtained from her the reason. But, she foolishly told him, there was one feeble little shoot she had not thought it necessary to invoke—the mistletoe.
The treacherous Loake immediately procured a branch of the mistletoe, and entering the assembly of gods presented an arrow made from it to blind Heda, with the words—"Balder is before thee. Shoot!" He shot and Balder fell, pierced and slain.
And countless thousands have since been "slain" and will be slain for ages to come with "darts" from the "mistletoe bough."

MYTHS OF CHRISTMAS SEASON

Among Some of Peasantry of France Is Belief That Bread Remains Fresh Ten Years.

LEGENDS and myths without number have become associated with the celebration of Christmas. Among some of the peasantry of France is a strong belief that loaves of bread baked at Christmas will remain fresh for ten years. It is also believed by some of the simple folk that during the whole of the Christmas holidays a portion of bread should be left on the table day and night because the Holy Mother may come to share it. For some reason not to be explained, there is a superstition among some French peasant wives that no bread must be baked during Christmas day and the Feast of the Circumcision, because an infraction of this rule will bring disaster on the household.
There is a peasant belief of age-long standing that if the cattle on the farm be given drink immediately after the midnight mass of Christmas their health will continue good throughout the year. Another belief is that if seed of wheat be wrapped in a tablecloth which has been used for Christmas dinner, a profitable harvest will be insured. Another strange belief is that a cold bath taken on Christmas day will protect the bather against fevers and toothache throughout the year.

Symbol of Mother Love
In plucking the down from her breast to make a soft, warm lining
for her young, the mother pelican sometimes draws a drop or two of blood in tugging at some recalcitrant feather. This fact has been responsible for the pelican's being accepted
as the symbol of self-sacrificing mother love.—From the Mentor.

Legends of Gods and Goddesses in Hawaii
Near the city of Hilo, on the island of Hawaii, are the locally celebrated Rainbow falls, around which many legends center, says the Detroit News. One is that the goddess Hina lived underneath the falls in a cave and that the dragon Kuanamoo tried to down her by throwing up a dam below the falls. She called for aid to her son Maui, who at the time was trying to lasso the sun at a distant point because of the complaint by the natives of the shortness of the summer season. The fable has it that the son in his canoe crossed the ocean
from a near-by island in two strokes and chased the dragon to what is known as the "Boiling Pots," where he threw red-hot stones into the water, scalded the monster and finally killed him.
The Naha stone, one of the historical relics of the Hawaiian islands, is found on the grounds of the Hilo public library. An old prophecy concerning the Naha stone was that he who could move it would be king of the island of Hawaii, but that to him who could overturn it would be given sovereignty over all the islands in the group. Kamehameha the Great, who finally conquered all the other islands, visited the island in his youth to test the efficacy of the prophecy, and, having succeeded in turning the stone, was so inspired that he entered upon the career which ended in the union of all the Hawaiian islands under his control. Native Hawaiians put full faith in the story as having been handed down to them from generations to the days of Kamehameha.

Dried Rice Fatal to One Household Pest

Whence do all the beetles, ants and flies come that swarm about the house, and particularly in the kitchen and larder? And what is the best way to get rid of them? These two questions are always very much in the minds of householders.

The first is not easy to answer. The intrusiveness of beetles and cockroaches is something uncanny. They are found down deep mines, and they appear in new ships the moment steam is raised. Wherever there is a moist heat there they come quickly.

The entry of ants into a house is often traceable to some opening near the ground, such as a ventilator.
Moths come in through the open windows after the lamps are lighted. Windows closed or guarded by mosquito nettings after lighting up time should keep them out.

The ant is, of course, intelligent.
But ground rice, it is said, finds his weakness. Sprinkle the rice in his track, and he will eat of it greedily.
Then it swells within him and kills him. But the rice must not be thrown down on a wet floor or it will swell before he eats it, and he will come to no harm.

English Law a Paradox

One may be fined for stopping a dog fight or not stopping a dog fight. But the post office can record something even better, the Manchester Guardian relates. At a seaside town a man walked into a post office followed by a huge dog. A woman was already at the public counter, and she also had a dog. The two dogs began to fight.
The man did not attempt to interfere. He appealed to the girl assistant, who was on the safe side of the counter, to come over and part the combatants. She declined, very naturally. Eventually the turmoil ceased, and then the dog owner lodged a complaint with the postmaster that his subordinate had permitted confusion
in the office and upset the public.

Famous Roman Monument

Trajan's column is a superb marble column in Trajan's forum at Rome, erected in 114 A. D., by the senate and the Roman people, to commemorate the victories of Emperor Trajan (98-117 A. D.) over the Daclans, the Kansas City Times tells us. It is 132 feet high and about 12 feet in diameter, and is constructed of 84 blocks of Carrara marble, adorned with sculptures in bas-relief. The summit, which is reached by a spiral staircase of 185 steps, was originally surmounted by a colossal gilded statue of the emperor;
but this, having fallen to the ground,
was replaced by Pope Sixtus V in the Sixteenth century with one of St. Peter, 11 feet high. The ashes of Trajan rest beneath this column.

Financial or Otherwise?

The tongues of the gossips were busy in the suburban town, over the latest marriage. "Have you seen the bride?"
asked one. "Has her husband any money?"
"I don't know about that," replied
the other with some reluctance, "you know he didn't live here."
"Well," said the first speaker, "you know she said she never would marry
a poor man."
"I know, my dear, but she hasn't been married a month, yet everybody is saying, 'poor man.'"

plexing mysteries of the Indian ocean.

Sets Colors Permanently

To set the color in any cotton material, add a handful of salt and two tablespoonfuls of turpentine to three-quarters of a pail of hot water. Put goods in and allow to remain until water is cold. This should set the colors permanently so that neither sun nor washing will fade them afterward. —Washington Star.

who follow not after the world, but rather the Spirit. We also show our appreciation of God's gift, by giving to others.

The manger and its surroundings should be uppermost in our minds. The house of God, and his worship should have its chief place in our hearts.

The time comes when Santa Claus must be explained to every child. Let us beware that much of the heart of his religion is not undermined at the same time. It reminds me of the conversation between two children. Said the first, "Do you believe there is a devil?" The second answered, "Oh, that is just like Santa Claus, it is your father." More seriously, the Dean of a western college, in putting some questions on religion to a class in ethics, asked for a definition of sin. Forty per cent replied, debts. In discussing his answers, he asked, "Do we who insist upon thus reciting the Lord's Prayer, teach such errors—if so, let us correctly translate that prayer for our people."

While we are making merry, and in our merry making, let us never obscure from the minds of our young, the central figure of the Christ our priceless gift without which all giving would be vain. Faithfully, C. E. Edinger.
