NOEL GETS "HOMER"

The local fans were treated to class baseball, both Sunday and Monday in the Essexville-Tawas games. Essexville taking the first game by a 9-4 score and Tawas capturing the second, by a score of 8-7, in a ninth inning rally.

Among the long drives received by the local nine, were Noel's home run over the right field fence in the fourth inning, and Musolf's long sacrifice to the right field fence, which would easily have gone for a "homer" had it not been for a star catch by Bassett, the "Ace" of the Aetnas.

Noel, Johnson and Moeller made up the outfield and proved they were capable, by not losing one chance to field a ball during the entire game. Fast hit balls to the infield made Roach, Musolf, Fields and Rahl do their best and, although nine hits were allowed by Jackson less than half meant runs while Tawas touched the Essexville hurlers, for the same amount, but due largely to the fact that Essexville had practically an errorless game, gave them the big end of a 9-4 score.

Tawas won Monday's game from Essexville by a score of 8-7. The game was loosely played on both sides, as each of the teams only had two earned runs. Oxl Johnson threw good ball for Tawas, with Stan Noel at the receiving end, while the Johnson brothers were the battery for Essexville.

Lovell Syze was at short for Tawas and showed the fans some of his old work. Merle Nelem made his first appearance in uniform this season, when he batted for Boldt in the ninth.

F. C. HOLBECK CANDIDATE FOR STATE REPRESENTATIVE

It has been announced, that F. C. Holbeck of Long Lake, will be candidate for the nomination for Representative in the state legislature. Mr. Holbeck needs no introduction to the people of this district. His work as the owner of the Nordland farms at Long Lake, has become an inspiration to the farmers of Northern Michigan, as an example of what really can be accomplished as a dairy farmer in this section.

Much of Mr. Holbeck's success as a dairy farmer can be attributed to his prior years of experience in the business world at Bay City and Lansing. He has placed his farm on absolute business basis. The following is an excerpt from an article appearing in the June 19th issue of "The Michigan Business Farmer."

"In 1913 Fred C. Holbeck, together with a party of business men went to Long Lake, Iosco County, on a fishing trip. While there he became greatly impressed with the fact that there were thousands of acres of the finest farming land lying idle; true this land was covered with logs, stumps and brush. It also was covered with clover, which seemed to grow everywhere without any attention on the part of men.

"When a year later Mr. Holbeck was ordered to the country by his Physician, his mind turned to this wonderful part of Michigan and after spending a couple of months on the shores of Long Lake he conceived the idea of building a farm out of some of this wild land. At first two hundred and fifty acres were purchased, later another hundred was added and work immediately started. Ninety acres were brushed off the first fall. Buildings were started and by the fall of 1915 farming operations were in full swing.

"At first the farming was carried on much the same as was done on the farm when Mr. Holbeck was a boy on his fathers farm and much the same as is being done today, on a great many farms in the northern part of lower Michigan. A few beans, potatoes, oats and corn were planted in the spring, some hay and rye were harvested during the summer, a half dozen scrub cows were secured and milked but when the books were balanced at the end of the first year's operation a considerable loss was evident.

"A second year was passed in much the same manner with the exception that the loss was even greater, caused partly by the loss of the bean crop.

"It was at this time or in other words ten years ago that Mr. Holbeck made two decisions that had a far reaching effect on his future success and the success of many of his friends and neighbors in the farming business.

"First he decided that dairy farming was the only thing that would show a profit in this northern part of the state, and second, he decided that on account of the fact that it was almost impossible to market anything but cream that the Guernsey cow was best fitted to his needs.

"It was at this time, or in other words the fall of 1916, that Mr. Holbeck bought his first Guernsey cattle, two heifers and a bull, and from this start he has developed one of the finest herds not only in the state of Michigan but in the United States. A calf from one of the first heifers purchased until Saturday noon.

He Sold Matches by Telephone in The Dull Season

Business was dull the first of July, so the salesman tried the Long Distance sales plan suggested by the Telephone Manager.

He went to the telephone office in Jackson, gave the operator a list of 20 stores in eight nearby towns and asked that the calls be set up one after another—sequence calls, they are called.

The plan with the consequent saving of money to the match company and therefore to the dealer, appealed. The idea went over big—and so did the matches. And the salesman covered the eight towns in five hours.

A MESSAGE FROM MARS

Heretofore the dramatic productions possible on Chautauqua platforms have been limited because of the lack of stage room and the theatrical paraphernalia necessary to attain special effects. With the marvelous stage and lighting effects provided by the new tent equipments being used this year for our Chautauqua, this handicap is overcome and on the fifth night of the Chautauqua we will have the fantastical comedy, "A Message From Mars." From a scenic and spectacular standpoint, this is a pretentious production. The story of the play is one of intense interest. It is a play which once seen will never be forgotten. Its successful runs in London, New York, Chicago and other dramatic centers are pleasantly remembered by lovers of the drama. The superb cast which presents this play includes Hugh Douglass as "The Messenger," Frances Parkinson as Aunt Martha; Edward Green as Arthur Dicey; Florence Hood as Bella; J. Allen Saunders as Horace Parker and Ruth Lash as Minnie Templar. Other members of the cast playing the parts of Mrs. Clarence, Sir Edward Vivian, Dr. Chapman, Polly and other characters, are equally strong. The production contains all the elements of a great play. Without taking away the element of surprise as the story unfolds, it may be said that the play, the scene of which is laid in London, depicts a self centered man, a pseudo astronomer, who is visited by an inhabitant of the planet Mars, sent to earth to accomplish a definite purpose, with the necessity of seeing his task fully completed before he may return home. The play is fantastic in its conception and its execution. For such a production the big Chautauqua tent will unquestionably be packed to capacity.

Green and His Band to Return

Green and His Band are always favorites with Chautauqua audiences in all parts of the country. Charles E. Green, the organizer of this Band, has a fine sense of program building. He knows what people like. Also he knows what they ought to like. Also he knows how to mix just enough of both to make his program entertaining and at the same time, musically right. The afternoon and evening concerts of this Band on the third day, while including well known band selections such as "Raymond Overture" and "William Tell," are not made up of time worn numbers. Descriptive numbers, humorous numbers, characteristic numbers and novelties, as well as stirring marches, are features of the program. Practically all of the numbers used in these programs are specially arranged for this Band, many of the arrangements being made by Herman Belstedt, who for many years has written the principal arrangements for Sousa's Band. Not only do Green and His Band provide a feast for the ear but they are pictorially perfect. Uniforms are striking, the instruments are beautiful and the stage is set in gold satin hangings. Special colored lighting effects are employed to enhance the effectiveness of the interpretation of many numbers. Most of the towns on this circuit had the pleasure of hearing Green and His Band in the summer of 1923. Since that time the Band has made a tour of the principal cities of the mid-west and east, where it has been enthusiastically acclaimed as one of the great bands of the country.

WARD B. FLAXINGTON

There are two kinds of patriotism—The Patriotism of Peace and the Patriotism of War. As great as is the variance in the evidences of these two types, the fact remains that their ultimate purpose is the same—service to one's country. The Patriotism of War requires a willingness to die for one's country; the Patriotism of Peace requires not only a willingness but a determination to live for one's country. Ward B. Flaxington, the orator on the second day of the Chautauqua, possesses both kinds of patriotism, and he has put both of them into practice. As a soldier in the American Expeditionary Forces of the World War, he struggled in the slime and the mud of the trenches as an American citizen in peace, he is struggling in the muck of social unrest, endeavoring to analyze and throw the white light of reason upon the problems that America faces today. His clear forceful presentation of his subject inspires and commands admiration.

"We Serve Michigan"
Building Up Markets
THE constituent lines of the Michigan Railroad Association will expend nearly $25,000,000 this year for additions and betterments to the respective properties. These outlays will provide for greater safe-guards to human life, more comfort for the traveling public, increased facilities and better freight service.
Michigan Railroads may justly claim more than their modest slogan—We Serve Michigan. They have contributed to the upbuilding of the industries of the Commonwealth, as perhaps no other group of rail lines in America has done. Two decades of tremendous industrial expansion justified this far-sighted policy of the railroads.
In encouraging industrial up-building, the railroads have also, in a measure, created a Home Market that absorbs the bulk of the products of our farms, orchards, gardens, etc., right at home. So true is this that with increased production, the railroads are annually hauling farm commodities less and less. All of these—except the hay crop—are consumed at home.
THIS tremendous Home Market is the ideal market. But the expansion policy means more. It has created an outlet for similar products grown in other states. The track market at Detroit, for instance, handles 40 different perishable commodities from the cars direct to the dealers—a single transfer only. To illustrate: Fresh tomatoes are found at the green grocers for seven months in the year, thanks to expedited service and the refrigerator car. Shipments are made from Old Mexico and five southern states before the Michigan crop has matured. This is so for the entire list of fruits and vegetables.
With our present railroad system the average wage earner of today enjoys a far wider range of delicacies on his table the year round than did the Kings and Nobles of Europe of a century or more ago.
THE Michigan Railroad Association, then, takes justifiable pride in announcing its program of improvements and betterments for the current year which will further aid the state's industrial advancement, give even greater importance to the Home Market, and contribute still more towards raising the standard of living of all the people.
