YOSEMITE RUN PRIZES

The tenth Annual Los Angeles-Yosemite Economy Run recently staged under the auspices of the American Automobile Association, scored awards for both the Star Four and Star Six entries.

The route covers 360 miles over California's paved roads up the San Joaquin Valley with its grade and the tortuous curves of the Wawona Road.

A Star Four Touring car, driven by "Red" Hodnett, which averaged 29.09 miles per gallon of gas, carried off first honors in the four cylinder class A-1 event.

A Star Six Touring, driven by Ray Rogers, averaging 23.6 miles per gallon of gas, and consuming one quart of oil on the 360 mile drive, won first prize in class A-2 for six-cylinder cars selling under $1,000.
