New Link in National Highway Chain Dedicated

A view from the Jersey side of the new $5,000,000 Tacony-Palmyra bridge, designed by Ralph Modjeski, which was opened the other day with elaborate and colorful ceremonies. Gov. Morgan Larsen of New Jersey, Mayor Mackey of Philadelphia and many other state and city officials attended. The span is the second link between New Jersey and Philadelphia, and has a direct connection with the great Lincoln highway.

Great Paddling Feat by Ten Society Girls

These ten society debs from Camp Toyon on Catalina island were photographed just before they had completed the extraordinary feat of paddling their war canoe across the treacherous waters of Catalina channel. Losing their way in darkness and getting two miles off their course, they required 5 hours and 45 minutes to make the 26 miles to the mainland at Los Angeles harbor.

"Pan-American"

"Pan" was originally a combining form used in Greek words. It means all. For instance, Pan-Hellenic means embracing all the Greeks. The form is used as a prefix before proper adjectives. Pan-American means embracing all Americans, or all the Americas—North, South, and Central. A Pan-American conference is a conference composed of delegates from the various republics in the New world.—Pathfinder Magazine.

SIX CYLINDER CHEVROLETS on the road in less than eight months!

Less than eight months have elapsed since the first Chevrolet Six was delivered into the hands of an owner—and already there are more than a million six-cylinder Chevrolets on the road! And the reasons for this overwhelming success are easy to understand.

Into a price field that had hitherto been occupied exclusively by four-cylinder cars—Chevrolet has introduced a six-cylinder car of amazing quality and value. Not only does it offer the smooth, quiet, velvety performance of a great six-cylinder valve-in-head motor—but, from every standpoint, it is a finer automobile than was ever before thought possible at such low prices! Its beautiful new bodies—which are available in a variety of colors—represent one of Fisher's greatest style triumphs. And its safety and handling ease are so outstanding that it's a sheer delight to sit at the wheel and drive. In fact, the new Chevrolet Six has completely changed every previous idea as to what the buyer of a low-priced car now has a right to expect for his money.

You owe it to yourself, as a careful buyer, to see and drive this car. For it gives you every advantage of a fine six-cylinder automobile—in the price range of the four and with economy of better than 20 miles to the gallon! Come in today!

LET'S SWAP TIRES...
WE'LL GIVE YOU
NEW SILVERTOWNS
FOR YOUR OLD ONES

HOLD ON, there! Don't throw that old tire away! It's just like tossing good money out of the window.

For today you can swap that old, worn casing for a brand new Silvertown... and get an extra-generous allowance on it!

It's just like getting cold cash for rubber that's done its duty for you. We take it in... dispose of it to a used tire buyer... And you get a generous credit for the mileage that's left.

And these are Silvertowns we give you for old tires... famous Goodrich Silvertowns or Silvertowns De Luxe!

Tires built up on a carcass of stretch-matched cord, cured by the Goodrich water-cure process, and finished off with that famous Silvertown tread. You just can't beat them for quality.

Any impartial oil expert can tell you these specifications show that the New Waxfree Havoline surpasses all previous standards of quality in oil.

These Figures Prove It!

The figures published here are the result of three years' patient effort to surpass all existing standards of quality and purity in oil.

Here, in simple terms, is what the New Waxfree Havoline represents:

- (1) Better heat resistance than any other oil of the same viscosity at 210° F. and above.
- (2) Better cold weather lubrication than any other oil.
- (3) The only oil which meets all specifications for ideal lubrication.
- (4) It is not a blended oil.
- (5) "Oiliness" at every temperature.

- (6) A paraffin base oil (recognized as the best in heat resistance) with all wax removed.

Apply this protection to your car. More than this — the New Waxfree Havoline lubricates at any speed. Much of the wear on a motor occurs in the first few moments of starting. But this oil lubricates from the first touch of the starter.

The Govers Process makes this new oil possible. Put the New Waxfree Havoline in your crankcase — and you give new protection to the life of your car. At all Havoline dealer's — 35c per quart and worth far more.

HALE

Dr. H. C. Kelker of Cleveland, Ohio will be the speaker at the Baptist church on Sunday morning, September 1. Services begin at 11 o'clock sun time.

Aaron VanWormer and three daughters of Toledo and Miss Lottie VanWormer of Flint spent the week end the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ira VanWormer.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Shaum of Chicago, Ill., on Saturday, August 24, a boy, Russell Eugene. Mrs. Shaum has been the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Dorsey, for several weeks, and Mr. Shaum came on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Elwin Hobart and family of Bay City were guests of Hale relatives over the week end.

Mrs. Ross Wbb is visiting Bay City friends this week.

Miss Lottie Putnam of Hale and Harold Eymor of Prescott were married on Sunday, August 25. The marriage was a surprise to relatives and friends here. The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. O. Putnam, and a member of the graduating class of 1929 of the East Tawas high school. Her many friends here are extending congratulations and best wishes.

Walter Wullschleger returned to his home in Frankfort, Kansas, after a three weeks' visit with Hale friends.

Mr. and Mrs. James Slosser and Wm. Slosser attended the Slosser family reunion held in Belding over the week end of August 17.

Miss Olive Greve left on Sunday for Albany, Indiana, to attend high school next year. She will make her home with her aunt, Mrs. Fuller.

Mr. and Mrs. Fuller of Albany, Indiana, have been visiting Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Greve and relatives in South Branch during the past two weeks.

Mrs. Richard Young and little daughter of Troy, Ohio, are guests at the Shattuck home for a few weeks.

Miss Bessie Brandal returned home on Monday after spending the summer in Detroit.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Morrison of Five Channels spent Wednesday in Sanford, Mich.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Giegling of Grayling were week guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Johnson.

Cobb & French are having a closing out sale this week. Mr. French will retire from the firm on September 1, and Mr. Cobb will continue the business alone.

Mr. and Mrs. Merle Bills and children are guests of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Bills.

Miss Jane Close is home from Toledo for a two weeks' visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. T. White.

Mr. and Mrs. James Ferris of Bay City visited Hale relatives over the week end.

Mrs. John Troy of Alpena visited Hale relatives a few days last week. Oliver Ferris, who has spent several months in Alpena, returned with her.

Mrs. King and daughter, Marjorie, are guests of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Slosser.

Mrs. Sarah Shellenbarger of Lake Odessa, Mich., is visiting her sister Mrs. Louisa Hutchins, this week.

Charles, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Ross Bernard, passed away Monday night after an illness of several months' duration. Complications following an attack of flu in the early spring was the cause of his death. Several physicians who were consulted in the early stages of his illness gave little hope of his recovery and all that his loving parents could do was to make his days as comfortable and peaceful as possible. His sister, Mrs. Walter McMullen of Flint came early in the summer and has been with him since. Funeral arrangements have not been completed at this writing.

What Constitutes a Gentleman?

By THOMAS ARKLE CLARK
Dean of Men, University of Illinois.

I was for a considerable number of years in the unpleasant office of treasurer of an organization, the duties of which required that I make collections from various members who had made subscriptions for the support of the group. Now asking people for money, even for money they have quite voluntarily agreed to pay, involves certain embarrassments.

I had written Pinkerton twice a year for six or seven years, politely, too, calling his attention to the fact that his notes were overdue and the indebtedness increasing as time went on, and emphasizing our need of funds. There was no reply, no remittances, nothing but silence, but a good deal of that, and yet the man was quite able to pay. Patience ceased to be a virtue; the worm turned.

I wrote brother Pinkerton that I should put his account into the hands of a reputable attorney. Having failed in one way to collect I should try another. I met him a few days later. There was no joy in his countenance, no glad hand extended, nothing of cordiality in his greeting.

"I have read your last letter," he announced to me, "and I think you are no gentleman."

It was a question, I answered, that I was prepared to argue, but whatever the final decision might be, it seemed to me it hardly affected his indebtedness to his organization. The experience led me to ask myself, "What are the characteristics of a gentleman?"

A gentleman still, I think, has respect for women and for old age. I was walking down a corridor of a public building not long ago, when I came upon a young man, his hat on his head, a cigar between his teeth, talking to a young girl. As I came by he removed his hat and took the cigar out of his mouth. He still had respect for old age, but for women—well, he had not really given the matter a great deal of consideration.

A gentleman is clean of speech, clean of body, low voiced, little given to anger. At least when anger surges within him he controls it. Nothing marks a man as common more than loud, vulgar, profane and risqué talk, and a dirty body is only little less vulgar.

Respect for the feelings of others or the comfort or the happiness of others always marks the gentleman. Should I have dunned Pinkerton?

An old lady is sitting across from me in the Pullman and facing her is a young fellow who has evidently never met her before. He has pushed a cushion under her feet; he has adjusted her pillow to give her more comfort; he has helped her on with her coat as she was leaving the train. He seemed to me a good deal of a gentleman, for he had made her comfortable, he had relieved her of responsibility, he had made her happy.

A gentleman is modest, reserved, seldom insists on sitting in the front seat, and does not often offer advice unless he is asked for it. He does his duty whether it is pleasant or not, and in doing it tries to give others as little discomfort as possible.

MILLINERY AND FROCKS FOR FALL SHOW NOTABLE CHANGES

The latest gesture in hats is for their brims to be turned back, or worn back, if not turned back so as to reveal the forehead. One can see by the trio of models here illustrated that brims are turned up at decidedly different angles from those heretofore. Nor are these types nearly so extreme as some. The manipulation that features Paris hats for fall is so diverse and so intricate one marvels at the skill and ingenuity displayed. A veritable labyrinth of accent their importance. Time was when at the mention of tweed the mind immediately formed a picture of a sturdy woolen weave suitable only for cold weather wear. The assumption was then perfectly correct—but then that was not the present era of fabric miracles.

The cult of modern fabricists teaches us otherwise, in that the style vocabulary now refers to tweed-patterned silks and rayon tweed weaves with as much enthusiasm as it does folds, plaits, darts and the like are employed and yet when all is said and done the result is that smart simplicity which so appeals to discriminating taste.

This movement toward forehead-exposing brims which is so apparent in the new modes, is to say the least very promising for "something different" in hat silhouettes from what we have been having. Indeed a last season's hat becomes hopelessly passe in the presence of the latest arriving models. Wherefore in the matter of headgear fashion aspirants will have to make an entirely new start in order to keep pace with the style parade.

The smart little felt hat shown in the circle indicates the new trend. It reflects those very "tricks of the trade" in the way of brim treatments which are giving such zest to the autumn mode. Through a series of intricate maneuvers not only is its brim made to turn back in approved fashion, but the side-to-side width which is so characteristic of new styles is also artfully accomplished.

It is the exaggerated one-side effect which answers to the call of the millinery mode in the hat illustrated at the top of this group. So becoming has this lengthened side proved, designers are making much of it for the coming season.

A third exponent of the forehead-revealing brim is shown to the tweed woollens. Better still one can secure tweeds, using tweed in the modern sense of the word, as sheer and supple and lightweight as occasion may demand. Which accounts for the fact that tweeds and tweedlike effects are placed in the very foreground of sponsored fabrics for fall.

For immediate street or travel wear a frock or ensemble of tweed is placed at the top of the list of favorites. The engaging model in the picture below is styled of an autumn-red bengal tweed weave. It carries the youthful note through and through, especially in the little bolero jacket effect which always dispels any idea of the mature. The girlish tie of velvet ribbon adds to its piquancy, as does also the lingerie touches of fine linen at neck and wrists.

The raised waistline of the blouse is significant in that it confirms the report that waistlines are going up while hemlines are coming down. If the skirt had not been plaited as it so deftly is in this model, then it would very likely have been cut circular or taken unto self godets to make it ripple, for hemline fullness is one of the commands coming direct from authoritative sources.

The fact that this chic costume is in tones of red confirms the message of bright colored tweed ensembles for fall. The color note in this instance is accented with red shoes and a felt left. Unlike the model just described, this demure shape balances its brim at the sides. Somewhat identified with this movement is the widened back brim. "Pirate" hats they are called, the brim turned up at the front, with low draped sides which develop into a wide flaring or plaited brim at the back.

In regard to tweeds and tweed patternings, the coming months will hat in shades of red. One may have their choice, so stylists declare, of tweed patternings in rose or blue, yellow or violet, which are mellowed to soft shades tuned to street requirements. A lightweight tweed in rose color, for instance, is used for a suit which is accompanied by a silk crepe eggshell blouse.

Eskimo Boys in Hard Luck

Toronto.—Ben and Sam, two Eskimo boys on whom the hopes of their race had been pinned in an experiment with the civilization of the white man, are fleeing for their lives back to the safety of the Arctic wastes. Not from the roar of the cities are they fleeing, nor from the white man's learning, but from a mightier agency—disease. The experiment has failed.

Two years ago an Eskimo chieftain, far up in the silent Arctic, asked the head of the missionaries to send his son to the unknown lands to the south to learn the ways of the white man. "My people have not a chance unless they are able to meet the white man on his own ground," he said.

And so nine-year-old Ben, son of Chief John Eli, head of the Southampton island Eskimos, accompanied by his friend of the same age, Sam Pudbutt, of Lake Harbor, Baffin Land, were handed over to the headmaster of the Lakefield Preparatory school, near Peterboro. They had been brought down from the North by Rev. F. H. Gibbs, a returning missionary.

"It is of the utmost importance that these boys should be considered in every way on the basis of white men," were the instructions of Venerable A. L. Fleming, archdeacon of the Arctic.

Ben and Sam knew no English, but they were good-natured, good sports and intelligent. They were unanimously acclaimed as general favorites by their new white playmates.

But Ben and Sam were forced to relinquish their studies to face an ordeal of sickness, from which they barely escaped with their lives. After influenza they took pneumonia, measles, tonsillitis and underwent operations for mastoids and adenoids.

It had been pronounced that for them to remain here means only one thing—death.

So Ben and Sam sailed from Montreal on a Hudson Bay company's ice-breaker, the Nascopee. They will be taken back by returning missionaries. They do not want to go back to the land of the midnight sun, and the

Shares Riches; Finds Happiness

St. Louis, Mo.—Giving away a fortune has provided happiness in the declining years of life for Robert S. Brookings, of this city. Thirty-three years ago Mr. Brookings was a wealthy man. Today he has only a moderate income—because he believes a man can enjoy money more by spending it wisely than by hoarding it.

Mr. Brookings is now seventy-nine years old. The philanthropist began his business career as a shipping clerk at a salary of $25 a month, which was just enough to pay for his room and board. He was promoted time after time until he was high in the employ of a large manufacturing business operated by Samuel Cupples, in St. Louis.

Just 33 years ago Mr. Brookings and Mr. Cupples held one of the strangest conferences in history—the former asking his employer just how was the best way of getting rid of all his money except what he would need to support himself.

The ultimate result of that conference was that Mr. Brookings has organized three institutions for study and research in problems of government, developed a tottering little college into an institution of world-wide fame, Washington university, and devoted much of his time and money to patriotic service for his country. There are hundreds upon hundreds of homes in St. Louis today which are more luxurious than his. But he is happy!

There must be something wrong with that old axiom about ignorance being bliss—otherwise more people would be happy.

Dynamite and Oil

A successful method of locating oil is through the use of dynamite. The salt dome, in most cases far beneath the ground's surface, is usually but not always an indication of oil. To detect the domes, dynamite is exploded and the vibrations recorded by the seismograph. Vibrations pass through ordinary soil about one-third as slowly as when they pass through a salt dome, and the seismograph indicates the difference.

more, Standish, Twining, Omer, Turner, National City and McIvor will meet at Whittemore, while representatives from Tawas City, East Tawas, Alabaster, Wilber, Hemlock Road and Oscoda will meet at Tawas City.

The first meeting is open to members and leaders also, since all explanation of the entire course will be offered at that time.

To form a group it is necessary to have from 8 to 20 members. From these, two are chosen to act as leaders. They are responsible for attending the training meetings regularly and repeating the lesson in their local groups.

The course will include a study of health standards and the relation that food habits bear to health.

Food preparation demonstrations will be given to illustrate the principles taught.

The total number of groups limited to 20 in a county, has not been reached yet, consequently others who wish to form groups may still do so. For further information write Miss Muriel Dundas, Nutrition Specialist, Michigan State College, East Lansing, Michigan.

eastern Michigan fair at Bay City.

TWO-DAY RACE PROGRAM

We have two days of racing, September 6 and 7, and races are open to all. Since our dates do not conflict with any nearby fairs, we are assured each event will be well filled and some fine racing should result. Come Friday and Saturday to see the races.

URGED TO MAKE EXHIBITS

We hope that every resident of the county will feel that this is his fair and do his part both in exhibiting something and attending, and thereby keep Iosco county on the fair map.

ENTRY DAY SEPTEMBER 4

We are advertising only the three days program, although we have an entry day as formerly, September 4, and all superintendents are requested to be on hand that day to take charge of their departments. A force of entry clerks will be on hand to handle the entries, which close at 6 p. m. Those who can should come early. It is hoped all exhibits will be in place that day, but if properly entered Wednesday, exhibits may be placed until 10 a. m. September 5.

TUBERCULIN TEST

As we understand the regulations in regard to the tuberculin test, cattle from a herd having passed one successful test without reactors being found in the county tuberculin test, will be eligible to exhibit.

As the last day comes on Saturday, livestock may be removed early Saturday afternoon, if necessary, and get them-home before darkness.

SCHOOL DAY THURSDAY

All school children will be admitted free September 5. Miss Worcester, county school commissioner, has these tickets and teachers can cure them through her office. School children should get their tickets at their respective schools. After September 5, on the other two days children under 15 years when accompanied by their parent or parents holding a membership ticket will be admitted free.

MEMBERSHIP TICKETS $1.00

A coupon membership ticket entitling holder to entire fair and exhibit in his or her name, also passes car, will be on sale at one dollar. Return checks will be issued to holders desiring to leave grounds during the day.
