White Embroidery On a Dark Color

By RUTH WYETH SPEARS

CROSS-STITCH is combined here with plain running stitches to make a smart luncheon cloth that may be embroidered quickly in coarse white embroidery thread. The material may be broadcloth or other smooth-finish cotton. The color is a deep maroon and the white design is very effective on this background.

This cloth is made of two 11/2yard lengths of 36-inch-wide material. Split one piece lengthwise through the center and join to the sides of the other piece by machine. The seams are covered by the rows of running stitches. You do not need a stamping pattern to make the cross-stitch design. Baste coarse open-mesh embroidery canvas over the material; then follow the design given here at the lower left. Repeat the corner of the design to make the four corners of the center square.

NOTE: There are 36 embroidery stitches illustrated in Mrs. Spears' Sewing Book 2; also several original designs for table covers; men's ties; mittens; hats; purses: Baby's bassinet; doll's wardrobe; five ways to mend fabrics. Ask for Book 2, enclosing 10 cents coin. Address Mrs. Spears, Drawer 10, Bedford Hills, New York.

That Nagging Backache

May Warn of Disordered Kidney Action

Modern life with its hurry and worry, irregular habits, improper eating and drinking—its risk of exposure and infection—throws heavy strain on the work of the kidneys. They are apt to become over-taxed and fail to filter excess acid and other impurities from the life-giving blood.

You may suffer nagging backache, headache, dizziness, getting up nights, leg pains, swelling—feel constantly tired, nervous, all worn out. Other signs of kidney or bladder disorder are sometimes burning, scanty or too frequent urination.

Try Doan's Pills. Doan's help the kidneys to pass off harmful excess body waste. They have had more than half a century of public approval. Are recomended by grateful users everywhere. Ask your neighbor!

It had been an army lorry once, but it had fallen on evil days and was now a contractor's truck, so it looked suitably unofficial. The Indi-an driver had been commandeered by Moses and for one rupee eight annas in lawful money had agreed to go anywhere, lawful or not. Inside, beneath the rotting and ragged canvas cover, Moses sat on the floor facing Sergeant Stoddart.

"I thought this was all about a diamond mine," said Stoddart.

"You keep your fat head out o' mischief and let problems alone,' said Moses. "Tonight's no problem. It's easy excep' the consequences. We're going to lose a good officer, one way or the other, and the question is which."

"You half breeds are all alike," said Stoddart. "You daren't say what you think." He stuck his thumb in the bowl of his pipe and struck another match. His eyes were in-quisitive. "You don't mean-"

"I mean you're a fathead. That's plain talk, isn't it? Now it's your turn. You tell me what you're thinking about, plain words and no this, that, and the other. Come clean. "Everyone in camp has heard it," said Stoddart. "First I heard of it was from a coolie down by the riv-

"Heard what?"

"Someone's been bribed." "And you believe it?"

"Long ago," said Stoddart, "I gave up believing anything in India except pay-day and where there's smoke there's fire. I've known of officers burning their fingers. If the officer we're thinking about took a bribe, he'll be broke for it as sure as you and I sit in this truck. That's one way we can lose him. What's

"They may have framed him," said Stoddart.

"They'll frame your picture in a museum one o' these days as the champion fathead that ever came even from England to look popeyed at a puzzle. There's three men in India who can't be framed successful, that's to say unless they frame each other. One's me. Another's Captain High-Cockalorum Norwood. And the third is Gulbaz."

"Who'd want to frame you?" asked Stoddart. "You're not worth it. What's the other way we can lose the Captain?" "Woman."

Rundhia has her number." "You seen her?" asked Moses. "Yes," said Stoddart, "I saw her on horseback riding with the Prince.

"For our virtue. What else could he buy? Mine ain't for sale, but yours is. He wants it for the travelling wax-works o' curiosities he's taking along to tour India."

"All right then, put it this way: why are we worth bribing?"

"We ain't," said Moses.
"Speak for yourself. Whose money is he chucking away?"

"You may bet your boots it isn't his money. Considering the kind o' badmash crook he is, that has to pay out money by the bucketful to keep his skin on his back and his line o' retreat open, Gulbaz is close. He's so mean that a Scotch flea couldn't get a living off him.'

Mexico Reveals Many Interesting Varieties of Cactus

From Mexico come many interesting species of the Cactaceae. Many of these have been discovered only recently, writes E. C. Hummel in Nature Magazine. One of the comparatively new discoveries is the Mamillaria hahniana, known as the Old Lady of Mexico. This was discovered in 1929 in Central Mexico, where it grows in large clusters, completely cloaked in long, fine hair. During the blooming season it wears a crown of pink or rose flowers. Little less conspicuous is the crown of red berries that is later pushed from between the flowering tubercles, to remain for weeks like a crown of rubies on a white-haired lady.

One of the most difficult plans to locate is Roseocactus kotschubeyanus, which belongs to the living rock group of the Cactaceae. On account of the shape of its tubercles, it carries the common name of deerfoot cactus. It has a large tuberous root and the entire plant is sunken entirely in the ground. Here it is safe from the eyes of the collector until blooming time, when the large pink flowers that arise from the center disclose its presence.

Cephalocereus hoppenstedtii is one of the rarer of the old man group. It is also referred to as one saints of God have at His table of the torch cactuses, as it takes very little imagination to make it | Him, and then with one another. such, when moonlight or late sunof ten meters. Not less fascinating than these normal forms are the strange shapes produced when something goes wrong with nature's control of growth. While the cause of this phenomenon is a controversial subject, scientists agree that in certain cases it is hereditary.

roads of destiny quite unaware of how much hinges upon their choices and actions. One wonders whether the disciples realized that as the Passover drew to its end and the great memorial feast of the new covenant was established, they were witnessing the end of the old and the beginning of the new. It is certain that Jesus did realize the high import of that hour. He knew He was about to go to the cross, toward which the Passover had pointed throughout the centuries and back to which cross we in the Lord's Supper continue to point as we remember His death until He comes.

We are indeed on holy ground as we go with Him then as He meets His disciples alone in that upper room for a time of fellowship with them as He observes

I. The Last Passover (vv. 17-20). "Here we see the perfecting and the passing of the old economy and the beginning of the new. The Passover was observed, the feast of deliverance from slavery, the feast of the exodus, the feast of hope. Men had kept it fitfully through the long centuries, regularly at first and then occasionally through the age of decadence. The King sat down to keep it as one of the nation and the people. That was its last keeping in the economy of God, because all that it had foreshadowed was fulfilled as He sat at the board, and all that it had pointed to found the ultimate fulfillment in Him. He completed that of which the exodus had but been the preparation. The final exodus came by the way of that cross to which He was going" (Dr. G. Campbell Morgan).

II. The Betrayal Predicted (vv. 21-25).

What precious fellowship the twelve and their Lord must have had around that table in the upper room as they celebrated the great feast of their people. Think what a shock came to them as in the midst of this fellowship Jesus quietly and solemnly made the astonishing prediction, "Verily, I say unto you, that one of you shall betray

Their joy was changed to exceedingly great sorrow as they asked, "Lord, is it I?" III. The First Communion (vv. 26-

Taking the unleavened bread and the unfermented wine of the Passover, which had just been observed by Him for the last time, Jesus established a new feast, the Christian feast of remembrance, which we commonly call "communion" or "the Lord's table."

As we have already suggested, it is a feast of remembrance. "For as often as ye eat this bread, and drink this cup ye do show the Lord's death till He come" (I Cor. 11:26) At the Lord's table His followers find spiritual strength in remembering His death for them, and they also find joy as they remember that He is to come again. In doing so they testify to the world that they believe in and cherish these truths.

This feast is also rightly called "communion," for down through the ages and until He does come the sweet communion, first of all with

We also note that our Lord spoke light finds a reflector in the mass of the cup as "my blood of the new of beautiful white spines. In its testament." The word "testament" natural habitat it reaches a height means "covenant." The Lord's table therefore speaks of our allegiance to Him, of our loyalty to our Lord, and our devotion to His service. The Christian church therefore speaks of the communion service as a sacrament, a word taken from the Latin sacramentum, meaning "oath," and essentially an oath of

Foreign Policy Holds Spotlight In Both Houses of Congress; Reciprocal Trade Act Studied

(EDITOR'S NOTE-When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of the news analyst and not necessarily of this newspaper.) Released by Western Newspaper Union _

AT HOME: Eyes Overseas

Foreign affairs superseded domestic problems on the congressional calendar. The senate foreign relations committee postponed again its consideration of a proposed arms embargo against Japan, while a subcommittee discussed the resolution of Iowa's Sen. Guy Gillette to invoke the neutrality act in Asia's war. Main reason for delayed action was the rumor that Britain and Japan were about to sign a treaty which would give Tokyo a free hand in China, provided Japan keep hands off British possessions in the their last reserves.

Foreign policy discussions in the house centered around Secretary of State Cordell Hull's reciprocal trade program. Up for passage was a resolution continuing the state department's trade treaty power, but there was a strong G. O. P. fight to restore the senate's ratification right over such treaties.

Both politics and the war entered into this question. Should the house adopt the resolution (a virtual certainty), Secretary Hull's presidential aspirations would be furthered. Moreover, G. O. P. Hopeful Robert Taft, senator from Ohio, was expected to defend his opponent's program from the senate floor. Reason: Tafts have always opposed congressional participation in trade

How the state department feels about its program with regard to Europe's war was indicated at Chicago, where Assistant Secretary Henry F. Grady addressed a for-

Other news from Washington:

I Emil Shram, chairman of RFC, told the house inquiry into the National Labor Relations board that NLRB had tried in nine separate cases to make RFC refuse loans to companies accused of not conforming with the Wagner labor act.

I The advisory council of the federal reserve system okayed a bill by Delaware's Sen. John Townsend Jr., calling for repeal of the administration's foreign silver purchase program. Reasoning: It is a direct subsidy to foreign governments which must be borne by U. S. taxpayers. Next day Nevada's Sen. Key Pittman suggested that silver bullion should be coined to delay approach of the national debt limit His reasoning: Since the monetary price of silver is fixed by law at $1.29 an ounce, and since the treasury now pays about 35 cents an ounce on the world market, the reserves could be turned to a good advantage:

The house banking committee deferred its vote on senate-approved legislation to boost the Export-Import bank's working capital by $100,000,000, thus making $20,000,000 available for non-military purchases by Finland.

At Madison, Wis., it was indicated both Senators Arthur Vandenberg of Michigan and Robert Taft of Ohio would enter the April 2 presidential primaries to stop another G. O. P. hopeful, New York's Tom Dewey.

I Fearful that congress is "drifting with the international situation," 24 bi-partisan congressmen decided to wrestle with "the first and most fundamental problem before congress unemployment."

Chairman Arthur Altmeyer of the Social Security board urged that states liberalize their unemployment insurance systems.

ABROAD: Spreading Warfare

Hard-pressed Finnish troops continued retreating on the Karelian isthmus, where the Russian invaders were pouring men and machines extravagantly into a mighty campaign against the Mannerheim line. Moscow claimed capture of Koivisto, western anchor citadel of the Finnish defense system and guardian of the Reds' immediate objective, Viipuri. As a blizzard swept down to immobilize opposing armies for the time being, the desperate Finns called up men of 45 and 46-

If aid was coming from France and Britain, it took a long time to get there. Foreign Minister Viscount Halifax told the house of commons that munitions were being sent to supplement the British volunteers passing in a steady stream through Norway and Sweden.

In Scandinavia

Denmark remained aloof from complications, apparently through a peculiar arrangement between Britain and Germany. But Norway and Sweden had no such luck.

Norway continued protesting Britain's action in raiding a German supply and prison ship, the Altmark, within Norwegian territorial waters. About 300 British prisoners of war ware freed in the raid Cormon ware. were freed in the raid, Germany complaining that Norway should have protected the Altmark, Britain, on the other hand, wondered why Norway had allowed the soil inside her territorial waters. German wrath cooled when Norway in-

Sweden's position was even more delicate. Fearful lest a Soviet victory in Finland would place Sweden next in line for a Russ invasion, the Stockholm government nevertheless hesitated to send aid for fear of angering Russia's partner in crime, Germany. But it was hard for the Swedes to close their eyes when Russian planes crossed the northern frontier and showered 40 bombs on Pajala, a town of 3,000 population.

In the Mediterranean

Britain's disregard for Scandinavian neutrality was also being felt by Italy, heretofore the recipient of many an allied favor. But Italy has consistently refused British-French trade offers; hence the allies decided to apply blockade restrictions against Italian purchases of German coal. Said Ronald Cross, British minister of economic warfare: "A period has been arranged to enable Italy to negotiate to obtain its coal from other sources (meaning England), and this period will come to an end shortly.

Another Mediterranean state, Turkey, prepared to insure Balkan neutrality with force. Said Istanbul's Yeni Sabah, authoritative newspa-"Turkey will enter the war the day a foreign power marches into the Balkans.'

What happened the next day looked bad for Balkan peace. As if acting on the Turkish threat, several hundred Russian technical experts employed in Istanbul industry, got orders from Moscow to hurry home. Meanwhile, Rumania rushed mobilization of 1,000,000 men, presumably to safeguard her Bessarabian province from a Russian attack. But equally important was Germany's challenge of a Rumanian ban on export of aviation gasoline.

In Asia

Japan's diet passed a $2,420,500,-000 budget, representing the largest spending program in the nation's history. What made it most outstanding was the breakdown-nearly 70 per cent will be devoted to military purposes. Strongly hinted, moreover, was a plan to spend much of this 70 per cent for an arms replenishing program aimed at preparing the country for a world war. Finance Minister Yukio Sakurauchi told the diet that Nippon's budget must grow bigger instead of smaller. NEWS QUIZ

At Lhasa, in far-away Tibet, a six-year-old boy arrived from the tiny village of Taerhssu. While Buddhist priests nodded in approval, he was dressed in red silk robes and given a gold crown. Then he was placed on a throne, to reign over the "land at the top of the world," Tibet. As such, young Ling-Erh became dalai lama, so-called reincarnated civil and religious ruler who was reputedly born the moment his predecessor, the thirteenth da-lai lama, died on December 17, 1933. For six days Lhasa celebrated with abandon, then settled down for three months of milder celebration. Most evident among those who came to pay tribute was the Chinese delegation sent from Chungking, oping to establish better economic relations with its Tibetan provinces. Purpose: To open up new trade routes and tap Tibet's vast mineral

COMMERCE:

Kim Crisis

Several weeks ago the Russian freighter Kim caused a mild U. S. sensation. Docking at San Francisco, Kim dumped a cargo of Soviet gold bullion, much to the consternation of congressmen who feared Russia was trading the gold for munitions. A couple of weeks later Kim returned to the news, probably verifying congressional fears. At Mexico's Pacific port of Manzanillo she took aboard 12,000 tons of copper which had been mined in the U.S. and sent to Mexico for transshipment to Vladivostok. From there, observers learned, it will be carted across the Trans-Siberian railroad to Germany.

Informed of this, the commerce department expressed official doubts that such Russian imports would get to Germany. Nevertheless, the department had to admit that 90 per cent of Russia's purchases here since last September have been essentials for war.

- KALTENBORN SAYS: -

Enemies Stalemated After 6 Months Because Defense Outshines Offense

By H. V. KALTENBORN
Noted Radio Commentator.

T THE end of the first six months of war we find that the major belligerents have not yet begun to fight, while the major neutral powers have begun to fight for peace. Small wonder that the late Senator Borah called this a "phoney" Only in Finland is there a major military effort and mighty Soviet Russia does not even admit that she has gone to war against little Finland. When the war began no one expected Soviet Russia to participate in military operations and no one expected Finland to be invaded. On the other hand, everyone expected an immediate air-raid by hundreds of bombingplanes on the capitals of Europe, and for weeks the headlines spoke of the coming big offensives on the Maginot and Siegfried lines. Neither the raids nor the offensives developed during the first half-year of fighting. Why? Defense Is Major Factor.

The primary reason is that in modern war, defense is stronger than offense. The war in Spain showed the world that air attack on large cities is tremendously destructive, but it also showed that it is not likely to be decisive. The exis not likely to be decisive. The ex-pense in planes, fuel, bombs and broadcast. The British and French, aviators who do not return is apt to offset the military advantages gained in any mass bombing flight. And the effect on neutral opinion of the killing of thousands of women and children, together with the de-struction of historic monuments in cities far away from any actual fighting zone, might well be disastrous.

The fear of such wholesale airraids led France and Britain to surrender at Munich. Now, after a year and a half of additional intensive preparation for air-defense, they no longer fear German attack. They are prepared to meet it and could make it so costly that it would probably not be repeated. The successful defense of the Mannerheim line against the most highly concentrat-ed Soviet military effort showed the strength of defense fortifications in modern war.

Why Poland Was Weak.

The two great surprises of this war so far have been Poland's weakness and Finland's strength. Poland's weakness arose from a lack of national unity and domination of the illiterate masses by an aristocratic caste. In the larger sense, the government of Poland was nei-

Just as the failure of Poland's de-

the success of the German blitzkrieg

More Activity on Sea.

At sea, a war of movement has been possible. This is why there has been much more activity at sea than on land. Britain's control of the sea has again demonstrated its importance. The German fleet is bottled up. Except for submarines, the German navy and the German Merchant Marine have been swept from the seas.

The Near Eastern Franco-British army of half a million men under the leadership of General Weygandt is now waiting in Syria, ready for instant action against Russia or Germany in any part of the Balkans. This army may yet prove the decisive military factor in this war. Allied victories in Palestine and Turkey presaged the collapse of the Central Powers in 1918.

Germany's commerce - raiders were swept from the seas much more quickly than during the World war. The Graf Spee lies wrecked in Montevideo harbor after being put out of action by the combined efforts of three small British cruis-

close they came to forcing a deci-

Losses Not Important.

But nothing in these losses produced by mines and submarines even suggests the possibility of a decisive result. The British mer-tons. The British claim that deand new construction, their net loss in six months of warfare has been less than 200,000 tons. It is also probable that the losses will decrease rather than increase, since at sea as well as on land defense is proving itself stronger than attack.

But raiding with surface ships is or indirectly through the air-waves. | netic mine sown by the Germans few weeks in which it was used. Then more effective mine-sweeping methods and the establishment of narrow ship-channels which were carefully patrolled reduced the successes of Germany's mine-laying airplanes.

British Also Unsuccessful.

On the other hand, the British have been no more successful in their raids against the German navy. Both German and British submarines have destroyed an oc-casional warship, but these forays have been costly to the submarines attempting them. The British and French claim to have sunk between 40 and 50 German submarines since the beginning of the war. The Germans admit the loss of less than half this number. Yet whenever a submarine is lost, the entire crew is lost with it, and it takes five years to train men to handle a submarine under war conditions.

Talk about the Germans building one submarine a day is nothing more than talk. It is more likely that the Germans are completing anywhere from six to ten U-boats a month, which is just about the rate at which they are being destroyed.

Already Planning for Peace.

There is, then, nothing decisive in action at sea or in the air. Defense is stronger than attack. But what about the economic front? That is probably the most important front of all and the one that will be dominant long after the war has ended. Already Secretary of State Hull is negotiating with the neutral powers to work out a plan of economic re-construction. The plan must be ready for instant application on the day of the armistice if Europe is not to sink in to chaos when the fighting ends.

Every country in Europe, neutral and belligerent alike, has mort-gaged its future. Only if the New world remains out of the war and stands ready to lend its resources for European reconstruction is there any hope of true peace. Europe was ready for revolution before the war came and will be much more ready for it when the war is done.

What After Collapse?

France and Britain count on economic pressure to bring about the collapse of Germany, but one wonders whether they have asked them-selves, what then? Will they march into Germany at the head of a victorious army, establish a new Kaiser and a new Junker government? Or will they stand aside while Germany's underground Communist movement re-asserts itself and calls out for assistance to the Red brethren in Moscow?

. There is the third possibility of organizing those liberal forces that have either been driven out of Germany or driven under cover within Germany, and helping them to reestablish constitutional government by granting them a generous peace. That would be the hardest task.

Rumania Under Pressure. Meanwhile, there is more pressure behind the economic than behind the military war. Members of the Rumanian government are being bribed, bulldozed, flattered and cajoled by both sides. Both are seeking to purchase Rumania's oil and Rumania's grain. Each wants it so that the other cannot have it. The French and British offer gold, the Germans threaten war. So far, King Carol has kept a precarious balance; Britain and France continue to guarantee his frontiers and a full-sized trial offer postpaid. King Carol remembers the Blitzkrieg against Poland. Poland had been given the same guarantees. On the diplomatic front, the Allied powers won their greatest victory in winning Turkey to their cause. This gives them control of the Dardanelles and the Black Sea, in case of war with Russia. It also assures France and Britain complete dominance of the Mediterranean thereby discouraging Italy from siding with Germany. (Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

Dental History Gives 'Why' of Decayed Teeth

By DR. JAMES W. BARTON

(Released by Western Newspaper Union.) WHEN the school report shows that the majority of school children have some physical defects, parents may be alarmed until they see that 90 TODAY'S per cent of these defects are decayed teeth. As | COLUMN there are a number of children who have defects of the teeth, it would be interesting to know how they have preserved their teeth from decay.

Doctors H. G. Miller and D. M. R. Crombie in the Lancet, London, tell of their endeavor to trace some of the grosser factors causing tooth decay. They examined 25 children from ten to fourteen years of age with no decayed teeth, and no history of decay in their permanent teeth, and compared them with an equal number of children showing severe or gross decay of teeth, but similar in other respects.

Hygiene, Diet Important.

There was no difference as far as wealth or income was concerned between the two importance ap-

What are the lessons learned from the above test? First, that while it was helpful to have parents who had good teeth, this was not as important as the proper diet and proper health habits of the youngsters themselves. Thus fruits and leafy vegetables and all dairy foods—milks, cream, but-ter—the protective foods, are of great importance in preventing de-cay of teeth. Other good health habits affecting the teeth are outdoor play and proper rest.

Second, that other things being equal, natural infant feeding is better than artificial feeding.

Third, the absence of severe illness and not having the infectious ailments of children too early, also helped preserve the teeth.

Everyday Health Depends on Liver

As WE think of the heart we realize that it has but one job-pumping the blood—the stomach rolls the food around so it can mix with the stomach digestive juices, the kidneys take wastes out of the blood and pass them down to the bladder, the small intestine absorbs nourishment from the food and passes it into the blood stream. That is, every organ has one or two jobs to do. Dr. Robert G. Contrell, Englewood, N. J., in Clinical Medicine and Surgery, says: "Not so with the liver, for there is hardly a part of the body that is not directly or indirectly affected by the functioning or working of this large gland.

Liver Has Many Activities.

"It is conservatively stated that the liver has from 60 to 100 distinct activities, and that every other important system-circulation, digestive, nervous and others-is definitely influenced by its activities."

All the blood from the digestive apparatus-stomach and intestineis carried to the liver to be filtered and cleared of harmful substances before it goes back to the heart to be sent to lungs and thence to the heart to be sent to all parts of the body. The blood must not only get rid of carbon dioxide and be enriched with oxygen by means of the lungs, but before it can do all its work of building and maintaining the various tissues it is made fit by the liver to destroy harmful products in other fluids of the body.

It has long been said that life depends upon the liver; it might well be said that "your everyday health depends on the liver."

Generally speaking, the liver processes can be kept "more active" by bending exercises keeping the knees straight and by deep breathing exercises. For those who cannot exercise, the physician can now prescribe some safe and helpful preparations to make liver cells more

CHOOSE DESSERT TO FIT MAKEUP OF MEAL (See Recipes Below)

What Shall I Serve for Dessert?

To most of us "something sweet" served at the close of a meal is as important as the main dish itself. For dessert, men undoubtedly have a penchant for such substantial item as pie, ice cream and chocolate cake; but they seem to like the homey, less spectacular desserts almost as much. Baked apples, oldfashioned apple dumplings, rice pud-ding and fresh fruit desserts are masculine favorites and they're simple enough to suit the youngsters of the family, too. You'll find sugges-tions and recipes for the desserts that father likes, in my cook book, "Feeding Father."

When you choose a dessert, con sider first the meal as a whole-is it substantial or light? If it's a hearty, heavy meal, choose a light dessert, because appetites are likely to be pretty well satisfied by the time the dessert course appears. On the other hand, if the meal has been light, a hearty, satisfying sweet course is in order.

Choose your dessert, too, to fit the general make-up of the meal. Don't forget that contrast is important. If you've had a fruit salad, avoid serving a fruit dessert; if spanish rice or macaroni made up the main dish of the meal don't serve a starchy sweet.

And speaking of desserts: when your facilities for entertaining are limited, why not plan a "dessert party"? Invite your guests to skip their dessert at home, and have it with you. Dessert, with a beverage, is all you serve-and you serve it before the bridge playing or other entertainment begins.

The guidance class is now studying material concerning the occupational advantages offered in the United States today. One factor of note is that the Navy is now so highly mechanized that over two_thirds of the men in the service are specialists. The many has been forced to establish and maintain one of the largest and most efficient educational systems in the world.

The boys have begun executing the elements of basket ball in the new gymnasium. Slightly more than 20 boys have indicated an interest by appearing after school has closed. Last Thursday and Friday the elimbe held in the gymnasium. The American literature class is studying the poetry of the New England and the Southern poets.

Modern short stories are being studied in the English II class. These are very interesting as many are written by immigrants who tell the story of their successful life in America. They also tell about their first impression of America.

It is no accident that America's telephone service is the best and most widely used telephone service in the world. Instead, this is the result of a long-established policy of the Bell System . . . a policy that has always sought to provide the public with the best possible service at the lowest possible price. America endorses this policy by using the telephone about 70 million times a day. . . . Guided by the same sense of responsibility to the public, the Michigan Bell Telephone Company strives to keep Michigan's telephone service good and cheap, and within the reach of all.
