ATTRACTIVE SALESROOM IN LESLIE BLDG.

Builder's Supplies and Implements to Be Carried

James Leslie announced Thursday that the store of Jas. H. Leslie & Sons at the corner of First and Lake streets is nearly ready for business. The hardware salesroom has been completely remodeled and redecorated and the various lines of merchandise, which will be carried, are now being arranged in this attractive store. Formal announcement will be made next week.

The following lines will be carried: McCormick-Deering farm machinery and implements, Johns Manville and Certainted products, Jewell paints, and varnishes. Lockwood builders' hardware products, Petoskey cement, Curtis woodwork, and a complete line of lumber and builders' supplies.

Mr. Leslie purchased this building, which was formerly owned by C. H. Prescott & Sons, last August. Since that time the work of remodeling and redecorating has been nearly continuous. In decorating the salesroom and office, materials from the lines carried were used and the arrangement makes a very attractive display of the products. Mr. Leslie invites the people of the two cities and surrounding community to visit him and inspect the store.

In addition to the store, Mr. Leslie has constructed a modern elevator on the property. Seed and grain cleaning machines and elevator equipment has been installed. This also includes grinding machinery. The work is nearly complete, and an announcement by Mr. Leslie will be made in the near future.

Sommerfield for supervisor, and John Brugger, C. E. Tanner, Frank Moore and Vernon Eckstein for Alderman.

In the first ballot for supervisor the results were as follows: Laidlaw 42, Babcock 25, Sommerfield 20. Sommerfield withdrew and in the final vote Laidlaw received 43 and Babcock 32.

The first round in the battle for alderman gave Brugger 25, Eckstein 11, Moore 9 and Tanner 7. The final vote gave Brugger 29, Eckstein 11 with a few for Tanner and Moore.

The second ward nominated Fred Brabant for supervisor and Dr. John LeClair for alderman.

The third ward nominated Wm. Hatton for supervisor and Fred Boudler for alderman.

BURLEIGH TO VOTE ON UNIT SCHOOL PLAN

Public Discussion Will Be Held Monday, March 11

Dorr Stack, School Board Counselor of the Department of Public Instruction, has given his final approval to the Burleigh township school program including the proposed tax rate for the new school. This project will be voted on April 1 as the petitions calling for the election have been signed by the necessary number of school voters and have already been submitted to the township clerk. The total cost of operating the school for the first year, as presented by Mr. Stack in his budget, will not exceed seven dollars a thousand. And in each succeeding year this taxation will become smaller. This will include free transportation for all children directly to the school and a trained agricultural consultant will work with the farm children and their parents throughout the year.

All the school voters of Burleigh township are cordially invited to attend a meeting at the Whittemore school on Monday evening, March 11, when James MacConnell, superintendent of the outstanding township schools in Michigan, will show moving pictures of his school. A lunch will be served by the Whittemore P. T. A. Everyone is urged to attend and see these movies of a fine township school.

Inspector Edward W. Knapth, 26 years with the Detroit Police Department, will tell of the effects of opium and marijuana and show actual pictures of opium and marijuana parties in progress. Every parent should learn about America's most ghastly, loathsome and insidious menace. Knowledge is the strongest factor in America's crusade against this habit demon. Admission price 25 cents.

Adds 40,000 Miles To Michigan's Map

Announcement that the government maps issued this year and hereafter will credit Michigan with possessing an additional 40,000 square miles of water area is hailed as a victory for former Governor Chas. S. Osborne.

U. S. Lake Survey charts as used by commercial fishermen, Fred A. Westerman, chief of the fish division of the department of conservation, says the change may help to give emphasis to regulatory statutes.

The former governor has campaigned, almost singlehanded, for inclusion of Great Lakes waters in official reckonings of Michigan's area. Such inclusion will rank Michigan eighth in area among the states, instead of twenty-second as has been the case.

HIT BY AUTO; SUCCUMBS TO INJURIES

Frank Kelly of Plainfield Dies at Samaritan Hospital

Frank Kelly, well known Plainfield township resident, died Monday morning at Samaritan hospital, Bay City, as a result of injuries received last week Thursday evening when he was hit by a car at Hale. The deceased was 61 years old.

While walking on the highway during the bad storm last Thursday evening Mr. Kelly was hit by a car driven by Ray Bannister of Hale. He suffered a broken leg and arm in addition to serious internal injuries. He was taken to the hospital but was beyond medical aid. The accident occurred near the Lutheran church at Hale. The storm was so severe that Bannister was unable to see Mr. Kelly.

Frank Kelly was born June 18, 1879, at Sharbet Lake, Canada. At ten years of age he came with his parents to Iosco county where they settled near Hale Lake. He was married April 28, 1903, to Delia LeClair. To this union six children were born, Thomas of Winchester, Idaho; Edward of Long Lake; Genevieve Hansen, of Trenary, Michigan; Viola Green of Hale; Leona Park of Hale, and Alene who died in infancy.

The deceased had a jovial disposition which had won him many friends in the community. During his earlier years he followed the lumber woods and been employed in the mills in this community and in the Upper Peninsula.

In addition to the widow and five children, he is survived by his aged mother, Rosa Kelly, sister, Ann Kelly, and 17 grandchildren.

Funeral services were held Wednesday morning with burial in the Evergreen cemetery.

Will Give Concert In New Auditorium

The 58-piece Tawas City High School band is planning to give a concert in the new auditorium on Tuesday, March 19. This band has gained the reputation of being the largest class D band in the state. Not are they known for the size of the band, but also for the quality of music which they play. In our high school band you will find a balance and blending of parts which make up the essentials of superior musicianship.

We have several people in this band who are from the lower grades but they have proven themselves capable of doing the work required of them. This is true because they have a keen interest in the organization and spend much of their time practicing. The whole spirit of the band is the factor that has set the band so high. These people are giving extra time outside of school to improve our band. They are not required to do this, but they have seen the value and enjoyment out of trying to get the band to as near perfection as possible.

We have an outstanding band, so why not help us boost the organization to greater heights. Show your interest by coming to our programs. Without your help and earnest support we can do no more. Plan to be with us for the concert.

The Magic Bullet At Iosco Theatre

"The Story of Dr. Ehrlich's Magic Bullet," a film construction along the same lines as "The Story of Louis Pasteur," comes to the Iosco Theatre Sunday as the feature film.

The pictures have a great deal in common in that they represent a new trend in the motion picture field, entertainment and service, but beyond this lies a highly interesting fact.

"Louis Pasteur" of course paid tribute to Dr. Pasteur eminent French scientist, "Dr. Ehrlich's Magic Bullet" is an entertaining and dramatic picturization of the life and work in the field of Dr. Paul Ehrlich, winner of the Nobel Prize for his scientific discoveries. Iosco Theatre, Oscoda, Sunday.

Beetles on Pay Roll

Several cottonseed oil mills in the South still use the coarse hair of Chinese women to weave the mats through which the oil is separated from the seeds after they have been mashed by hydraulic phis purchases 2,000 heads of such hair a month for this pur-

Here's amazing way to Relieve 'Regular' Pains

Mrs. J. C. Lyman writes: "I was undermined, had cramps, headaches and backache, associated with my monthly periods.
I took Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription for a while, gained strength, and was greatly relieved of these pains."
FOR over 70 years, countless thousands of women, who suffered functional monthly pains, have taken Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription over a period of time—and have been overjoyed to find that this famous remedy has helped them ward off each monthly discomfort.
Most amazing, this scientific remedy, formulated by a practicing physician, is guaranteed to contain no harmful drugs—no narcotics. In a scientific way, it improves nutritional assimilation; helps build up and so increases your resistance and fortifies you

THE TRUTH
SIMPLY TOLD
Today's popularity of Doan's Pills, after many years of worldwide use, surely must be accepted as evidence of a good, safe, and satisfactory use.
And favorable public opinion supports that of the able physicians
who test the value of Doan's under exacting
laboratory conditions.
These physicians, too, approve every word of advertising you read, the objective of which is only to recommend Doan's Pills of the kidney function and for relief of the pain and worry it causes.
If more people were aware of how the kidneys must constantly remove waste from the blood, there would be better understanding of why the whole body suffers when kidneys fail, and diuretic medication would be more often employed.
Burning, scanty or too frequent urination sometimes warn of disturbed kidney function. You may suffer nagging backache, persistent headache, attacks of dizziness, getting up at night, swelling, puffi-ness under the eyes—feel weak, nervous, all played out.
If you are one of these, it is better to rely on a medicine that has won world-wide acclaim than on something less favorably known. Ask your neighbor!

CHAPTER XV—Continued

"I don't get your point. What do you reckon to find out?" asked Stoddard.
"Time," said Moses. "Gulbaz times it like a jockey. He's the best judge of pace in all India. He times it to the minute. If he isn't ready, then he'll play for time."

The truck halted in front of a house whose red front door was bolted, barred, and scrawled in chalk with infamous remarks anent the virtue of its inmates. There was an alley, a yard wide, pitch dark at the farther end. Into that alley yellow light streamed through a door that was partly ajar. There was a faint staccato drumbeat, a twang of stringed music, the sickly wail of a flute, and a stench in which sensuous perfume fought with the reek of garbage. Moses spoke to the truck driver, and the truck driver sounded the horn—three times, then three more, then once.

The dissolute and dirty looking person in the big white turban, to whom Moses gave a captured knife
in the bazaar, appeared suddenly, apparently from nowhere.

"What's that bloke up to? Where did he come from?" Stoddard demanded.

"If you'd looked under the truck you'd know," said Moses. "He ain't respectable, so he don't ride first class like me and you."

Moses whispered to the man, who walked down the alley and entered the door.

"Is this your harem? Aren't we going in?" asked Stoddard.

"No. You'd break the ladies' hearts. We'll wait here and give 'em a chance. This is Gulbaz' temporary field headquarters. I've sent him a message. He'll come or he won't. If he don't, we'll know the answer."

"What did you tell that bloke to say to him?"

"I said that Sergeant Stoddard's here with information that he'll sell for a price and wants a personal interview, face to face, no go-betweens."

"You've got your nerve," said Stoddard. "I'll be all over the bloody bazaar that I'm telling secrets. Why don't you use your own name?"

"We've hooked him. Here he comes," said Moses. "Keep your hair on now and sit tight. Say nothing, and leave it to me."

Through the door, down the alley and straight to the truck, without glancing aside, without a moment's hesitation, came a man of medium height and middle weight, who walked like a young god, though he was middle-aged. He was dressed in a tight-fitting turban, white singlet and loin-cloth and a striped silk semi-European jacket. He came to the tail of the truck, gave one glance at Stoddard and stared straight at Moses. His smile changed, outwardly only a little, but something happened at the corners of his lips. It had changed to a fighting smile, merciless, malicious.

"You're a dog," he remarked in plain English.

"Fancy you giving away secrets," Moses answered. "I'm here to sell 'em for cash on the nose. Me and this Sergeant know something. It's hot. We're splitting fifty-fifty. How much?"

"I will listen. You may tell your secret."

"Cash on the nose," said Moses.

"Money down or nothing doing," Gulbaz smile changed again. It conveyed a suggestion of vanity beyond the utmost reach of ordinary mortals. He glanced at Stoddard then back at Moses.

"Are you satisfied?" he asked.

"You have recognized me? You can truly report that you have seen me in Kadur? You saw the door I came from? Very well, you may watch me return. After that, you may go to the devil."

"I'm staying here until my messenger comes out into the street alive," said Moses.

"I will send him to you," Gulbaz answered. "He is lucky. Luckier than you are. Wait and see."

Gulbaz strode back down the alley and entered the door. A moment later the messenger came out, looking scared, as if he felt murder behind him. He ran and crawled in under the truck. Moses spoke to the driver. The truck started, forward, because the street was too narrow to turn around in.

"Where now?" asked Stoddard.

"Back to camp," said Moses.

"Well, you drew blank that time.
If you feel as foolish as you look you'll think twice before you call me a fathead again. You've spent a rupee eight annas for nothing, and you're not a cent the wiser."

"Plus having learned that you're stupider than any other blasted Britisher I ever met," said Moses. "I've learned all I came for. Gulbaz isn't as smart as he thinks. In some ways he's near as stupid as you,
all along of his pride."

"Oh, that's easy to say but it's just talk," said Stoddard. "If you ask me, you're a liar. You haven't learned anything. To the extent that a white man can condescend to a half breed without losing caste,

we've been fair to middling friends,
you and I. But if you use my name again promiscuously like that, I'll knock your block off."

"Fathead," said Moses. "He knows me. He doesn't know you.
He came out because he was curious."

"And he told you to go to the devil. That's all you learned."

"Fathead! You mean that's all you learned. I learned that he's ready. He's red-hot ready."

"Ready for what?"

"To get Norwood. He's trigger-ready. If he weren't, he'd be playing for time, and we'd be arguing this minute about the price of what we'll tell him if he'll pay."

"You mean he'd have bribed us?"

"I do not. Gulbaz makes promises. And he sometimes keeps his promises, unless—"

"Unless what?"

"Unless someone else can keep
'em for him with a long knife. He can hire that done for five rupees
a head. So why pay us a thousand?
Can your intellect answer that conundrum? Figure it out on a board when you get home."

CHAPTER XVI

The Maharanee was scrupulously fair. Rather than disguise her motive, she revealed it. She stripped objections to it naked. She didn't pretend that Rundhia was a prince of virtue or a man of his word, except when it suited him, or when compelled to keep a promise. The

The Maharanee believed every word she said.

Maharanee believed every word she said. But she used arguments that sounded curious, even to Lynn, who was under the spell of the eastern environment.

Lynn later found Rundhia standing in moonlight, in a golden turban and European dinner clothes.
As a palace door closed behind Lynn, she, too, stepped into the moonlight, with her face half veiled under the sequined sari. It was she who looked oriental, dressed according to the Maharanee's wishes. Rundhia looked like a western athlete, in more or less fancy dress. And he called Lynn a goddess in western terms that any polo-playing American gallant might have used:
"You look like Miss India! You almost give me religion! Pull away that curtain! Show your golden hair, and let's give all the other goddesses a sight to make them green with envy!"

Lynn uncovered her head and walked beside him in silence.

"I feel like a god tonight," said Rundhia.

"Have you been drinking?" Lynn asked.

"You golden-haired iconoclast!
Your arrow aimed into the heart of my ballooning self-esteem! You delicious archer! I have had five cocktails. Do I seem drunk?"

"What sized cocktails?"

"Measured to my mood, exactly."

"Then you seem astonishingly sobber. What have you done about Captain Norwood?"

"Lynn, let's forget Norwood. I want to talk to you."

"I can't forget him. You and I have wronged him."

"Has he answered your letter?"
Rundhia retorted.

"No. But have you forgotten your promise?"

"Didn't the Maharanee tell you?
Don't trouble yourself about Norwood. Forget him. Talk to me."

"I wish to talk about Captain Norwood."

"He has talked about you, I don't mind telling you. According to one of the palace servants, he told your aunt this afternoon that he's disgusted with you."

"Let us talk about you," said Rundhia.

"Very well, what about me?"

"Now you have made me speechless!"

"Have I? Then perhaps you will listen to me."

"Beloved, I will gladly listen to you, in an ecstasy of patience and devotion, during years which shall flow so fast that we'll be old before we know it!"

"Did you get that from a book?"

"I never read books. When I talk to you, my tongue can only stutter miserable hints of how I feel. You make me delirious. Be good enough to notice that these arms resist impulse!" He extended his arms toward the moon, then dropped them to his sides. "Oh, Lynn, I love you."

"Good job I don't love you," she answered. "There'd be—"

"A new golden age in Kadur!" Rundhia interrupted. "Lynn: philosophy, religion, economics and the other muck they made me listen to
at school and college left me, until you came, dry of faith in anything but evil—and even evil dying! You are my first glimpse of goodness."

"Don't you love the Maharanee?
Isn't she good?"

"Oh, yes. She is good past history. Lynn, you are the present and the future! One straight look into your blue eyes, and I knew what hope means and the higher vision,
I had never seen it, until I saw you."

"Sounds good," Lynn answered.

"What was in the cocktails?"

"Don't joke! Lynn, I'm in love. I mean every word I'm saying to you."

"I mean what I say, too," Lynn answered. "I don't love you—What was that noise? In the distance. It sounded like shooting."

"I didn't hear it," said Rundhia.

"They had reached the steps that led to the kiosk on the garden wall.
It was dark in the wall's shadow.
He was justified in offering his arm to guide her up the steps, but he put it around her. She could feel his vibrance. She escaped him—ran up the steps ahead of him, then waited on the wall in full moonlight, facing him, unafraid."

"There! Did you hear that?
Wasn't that a 'tiff-shot,' Rundhia?"

"Might have been," he answered.

"Not so easy to tell."

"Isn't Captain Norwood's camp in that direction?" Lynn asked.

"Somewhere over there, yes. Possibly a jackall or a stray dog scared his sentries. Never mind Norwood.
Lynn, you say you don't love me. I don't believe you."

"Why not? I told you the plain truth—Do you think sentries would fire at a dog?"

"His would! He's crazy. Lynn, I don't believe you because you forgave what I did in the treasure room. And because when you hurt me, you were sorry. Also because you are not afraid to be alone with me now. Lynn, you don't know yourself. You're—"

"Do you know yourself?" she retorted. "Don't you think it strange that they should be shooting at night?"

"No. Most soldiers live in a continual state of false alarm. Lynn, listen to me. Don't I excite you?"

"You did. But I saw you, and I heard you laugh at Captain Nor-wood's ruin."

"You dislike me?"

"Oh, no."

"You admit I can stir your emotions?"

"Oh, yes. I admit that. Why tell lies about it? You're magnetic. I almost fell in love with you."

"Lynn, you are thinking about East and West. That hoary old superstition! It lingers, they tell me, in America more tenaciously than anywhere else, though even schoolbooks nowadays admit that we and you are of the same race. Do you know how many western women have become the wives of Indian princes?"

"I don't want to know. I don't care."

"You are right, Lynn. Quite right.
Why should you care? It is love, not what others have done, that crumbles superstitions. Lynn, I love you.
I wouldn't lie to you—"

"Have you done your best for Captain Norwood? Have you really done it? What have you done?"

"Never mind. I have done it."

"You swear?"

"Yes."

"Then I will listen. You were saying—"

Rundhia had to recover the train of his thought. He turned away from her a moment, paced the wall,
and came back:

"Lynn, my love for you may sound selfish. I always have been selfish, until I met you. I have no practice with words that a genuine lover should use. But I am genuine. For the first time in my life, I am unselfish. I may tell you—will you listen if I tell you—what my heart tells me?"

"Yes, I will listen, Rundhia."

"Will you really listen?"

"Yes, Rundhia. I would rather listen to almost anything than my own thought, at the moment."

"You are feeling deserted?"

"Depisped!" Lynn answered. "If Captain Norwood had answered my letter—"

"You are lonely! So am I lonely!
Lynn, diwaza kola hai! The door is open! Enter. It is that short step across the threshold that makes you hesitate. Leap!"

"You mean into your arms?"

"Yes."

"No."

"Come, Lynn!"

"No."

"Lynn, you make me hate myself. Am I so unappealing to you—?" Suddenly he changed his voice. He sounded angry: "Are you in love with Norwood?"

"I hardly know him. How could I be? I only know that I never felt dirty before in all my life. I don't like it, Rundhia. And I can't forgive you for having crowded over Captain Norwood's disgrace. You and I brought it on him."

"Lynn, is that all that's the matter? If I give you my word of honor that I have solved the Norwood problem, will you listen to me?"

"Have you solved it?"

"If I prove to you, before midnight, that there is no longer any problem about Norwood, will you come into my arms?"

"Speak plainly, Rundhia."

"I will. Lynn, face it! Norwood has no use for you. Has he answered your letter? He has not! The messenger reported that he tore up your letter without reading it. I don't know why you care a damn what happens to him. He doesn't care what happens to you. Your aunt doesn't care. She is leaving you flat."

Lynn interrupted: "You say Captain Norwood tore up my letter?
Why didn't you tell me that before?"

"To save your feelings. However, you know now. That's how he feels.
That's Norwood. Lynn, you are merely hesitating on that damned old superstitious crumbling platform of 'East is East and West is West,' that Kipling lied about. You and I are above all that nonsense.
Lynn, beloved, come into my arms
now! You are lonely. So am I lonely. See, I am waiting for you. Come here, Lynn. Come of your own will.
Be mine. Face things from the inside looking outward. You shall be my wife, and I swear by my love for you, that Norwood—"

"Oh, that's only a promise," Lynn interrupted. "I won't believe you about Captain Norwood, until you prove it."

Psychologist Discusses Effect of Meat on Energy

Is the jungle lion ferocious because it lives on raw meat? Would it be more gentle if a vegetarian?
And are men who live principally on a meat diet likely to be more belligerent than those who prefer vegetables?

The Eskimos, however, are the most peaceful and unwarlike race in the world, the professor declared. Inheritance is an important factor in the degree of activity, he said. But, "it may be argued that all races have inherited a potentially high level of activity—a very questionable assumption—and that the differences we observe are due to the failure to utilize a diet which will bring out this activity to its fullest extent."

Fritz summarized by saying:
"It is quite possible that diet does influence racial temperament, but until further evidence is gathered we may well be just a bit cautious in drawing conclusions."

"According to that hypothesis," he said, "a vegetarian diet simply depresses the activity level while a generous intake of meat may bring out the full energy potentialities."

"It might be argued that the continued eating of high protein foods, such as meat, might result in a permanently higher plane of basal metabolism which would account for the energy and vigor of meat-eating nations," he continued.

But Fritz apparently found a hitch in this argument. For if it were true, he said, the Eskimos

GETHEMANE: TRIUMPH
THROUGH SURRENDER

LESSON TEXT—Matthew 26:36-46.
GOLDEN TEXT—Not as I will, but as thou wilt.—Matthew 26:39.

Surrender brings victory.
The world would say that our statement is not true; surrender is the mark of defeat. It is the final chapter in a story of struggle against impossible circumstances, against a stronger power, and finally of giving up to accept the bitter sorrow of subjection and sometimes destruction. But again we say, the way of strength is through surrender, for we speak of the spiritual realm and of our relationship to God. Here there is no victory until there is surrender. In fact, the measure of victory is the degree of surrender. Full submission to Christ means complete triumph for the Christian. The Lord Jesus does not ask His disciples to walk a way which He has not trod Himself. He went the way of full surrender to the will of God in the garden of Gethsemane. We observe five things about this way of "triumph through surrender." It was

I. A Way of Sorrow (vv. 37, 38).
He was exceedingly sorrowful unto death. It was not an easy thing that the Saviour did as He fulfilled the will of God the Father in the garden. We know that no man ever sorrowed as He did on that day, for only He bore the sins of the world.
There is, however, a lesson here for us who are His disciples. If this is the road the Master trod, should not His servants tread it still?
The way of victory for us is through surrender.

II. A Way of Self-Denial (vv. 39, 42, 44).
Self-denial does not consist in depriving one's self of some little cherished luxury. It means the denial of self, namely, that self-will is put aside and God's will is supreme.

It was no "easy thing for Jesus to carry out the Father's will and to go to the cross. He was submissive to that will; yet in this hour of anguish in the garden, when the unspeakable horror of what lay ahead almost overwhelmed His soul, it means much to say, 'Not as I will but as thou wilt' " (Dr. B. L.
Olmstead). It may be a hard thing to do, but by His grace we too may say, "Thy will be done."

III. A Way of Loneliness (vv. 36, 37, 40, 41, 43).
There were three disciples with Him as He entered the garden, and their very presence reminds us how very much alone Jesus actually was.
There were twelve with Him in the upper room, but one went out into the darkness to betray Him. Eleven came with Him to the gate of the garden, but only three came into the garden with Him. Even they could not go all the way with Him.
He prayed and agonized alone, and the three who were near at hand failed Him and slept through the dark hour when He most needed their fellowship in sympathy and prayer.

Alone? If the Master had to walk the way of surrender alone, let no Christian expect that it will be otherwise for him. Let us thank God for every blessing of true fellowship, but let us not be surprised if we are often called to walk alone —with God.

IV. A Way of Betrayal (vv. 45, 46).
"He is at hand who doth betray me" "into the hands of sinners."
One feels that the cup of the Master is already overflow full without adding betrayal by one of His own, but there it is, a dark and tragic reality.
Note with what peace and assurance Jesus goes to meet it. The victory has already been won in prayer, in communion with the Father, and in submission to His will.

No one of us will ever know such a betrayal as that of our Lord, but we do face similar crises as we go on in a life of devotion to God's will. We do well to remember the experience of Christ that we be not overwhelmed by the treachery of men and that we prepare ourselves to meet it with the power and grace of our God.

V. A Way of Divine Fellowship and Blessing (vv. 39, 42).
The way of surrender is a glorious and delightful way to go. But,
some one may ask, have we not been talking of sorrow, self-denial, loneliness and betrayal? Yes, but even these things may become the means of blessing if God is in them.

Though no man stood by our Lord
in His experience in Gethsemane, the Father was there. Jesus talked with Him, prayed to Him, trusted Him, yielded fully to His will, and the result was peace and blessing.
We read in Luke 22:43 that an angel
also came and strengthened Him.

The bride nearly collapsed. So did the bridegroom—when, on looking at the back of one of the proofs, he read: "Please state clearly when ordering which size you want, and how many."

THERE are a lot of things about this stunning 1940 Buick to claim your attention — that is, if you really want to know what's what in motorcars.

For instance, you've got to admit that its style has done a lot to brighten up and beautify the boulevards.

And, from the way folks are swinging over to Buick, it must have something value-wise that's important for you to measure.

What you hear about its quick-off-the-mark engine and the silkiness it gets from balancing after assembly certainly calls for inquiry.

So do the rave notices BuicOil Springing gets and the talk you hear about five-foot front seat room in the SUPER

and its Foamtex cushions soft as a down puff.

But skipping this — even skipping the fact that Buick's prices are lower than some sixes — there's one thing that alone is enough to send you hot-footing to your Buick dealer.

That's the obvious fact that as Buick goes these days so goes the industry.

It set this year's pace last year — and right now it is plainly the car others will be like "some day."

So do the obvious thing. Go try out this superb traveler.

Even if you don't discover that Buick is an immediate "must," you'll decide you'll never be really happy till you have one.

Merger of Two Wars Feared If Allies Send Aid to Finland; Poles Drill Big Army in France

U. S. and the Wars: After Six Months

Six months had passed since Germany invaded Poland, since President Roosevelt summoned congress to safeguard U. S. neutrality. Good intentions notwithstanding, the U. S. found itself deeply concerned with Europe's wars—politically, financially, economically, socially. Items in a week's news:

Agriculture

During senate hearings on the reciprocal trade act, Secretary of Agriculture Henry Wallace hinted the U. S. may seek means to help the farmer, whose exports have been reduced since the war started. Main reason for woe: Allies claim they need all their foreign exchange to buy munitions. One possible remedy is an excise tax on munitions exports which might be paid to farmers.

Trade

U. S. exports exceeded imports in January by $126,589,000, the largest margin in recent years. One unhappy trend: Gold and silver holdings of the U. S. piled higher and higher as foreign nations used this method to pay for their purchases.

Industry

Latest item in the $1,000,000,000 worth of allied war purchases in the U. S. was a $20,000,000 contract placed with Douglas Aircraft company for construction of bombers for Great Britain.

EUROPE:

The Wars

Finnish Front. Around Viipuri on the Karelian isthmus and near Petsamo in the far north, Finland's defenders continued retreating before Russian pressure. But the Finns held their ground at the "waistline," halfway up the border.

Western Front. Increased patrol and artillery activity was acknowledged by both high commands. Heavy German troop movements were reported near Luxembourg, and the Nazis were said to be extending the Siegfried line along the Belgian and Dutch frontiers.

In the Air. British reconnaissance planes flew over Berlin two successive nights, while Nazi planes were chased away from Paris.

At Sea. Allied warships, massing in the Arctic sea to block Russian-German sea commerce, sank two Nazi merchantmen near the Finnish shore. An undenied report of naval activity off Petsamo was considered by observers as the first sign that Europe's two wars may merge.

Behind Scenes

Somewhere in France correspondents discovered Gen. Wladyslaw Sikorski of Poland drilling almost 100,000 troops—peasant boys, students, miners and professionals—men who escaped from Poland after Germany's blitzkrieg. With France's in the news . . .

At Little America, Adm. Richard E. Byrd reported he and two assistants had mapped the long-unknown South Pacific coast of Antarctica, discovering a vast mountain range and an ice-covered island 80 miles offshore.

At London, ex-Premier David Lloyd George scored England's woefully poor food production, claiming that two and a half million acres which produced 1,000,000 tons of food in 1914 are now overgrown with weeds.

At London, it was rumored Maj. Kermit Roosevelt, son of the "Roughrider," would leave his British army post to lead an international brigade against Russia in Finland.

Arriving in the U. S. for a three-week visit, Archduke Otto of Austria hoped to arouse sentiment for his entrenchment—provided Germany loses the war and Austria is restored.

fish; in the Canal Zone he had fished for information, getting himself convinced that America's Gibraltar is inadequately guarded.

At a press conference aboard the Tuscaloosa he gave reporters some news which startled congressmen who read it in Washington next day. Not only must the present number of guns and planes at Panama be doubled, said the President, but a long-range defense program must be arranged to extend throughout Central America and as far south as Ecuador, Colombia and Venezuela.

Reason for this, he said, was the need for a better opportunity to discover an attacking force at a much longer distance from the canal. Even the new Caribbean fortresses were inadequate protection from the east, he maintained.

An interested observer was Augusto Boyd, president of little Panama, whose country will profit by heavy U. S. expenditures in the Canal Zone. Said he, after a conference aboard the Tuscaloosa: "I think we're all in the same boat. Latin America must co-operate with the United States in defense of the canal. . . . We are in there 100 per cent as far as co-operation is concerned."

DOMESTIC:

Nose Count

Of all questions in the 1940 census, none has drawn more fire than those regarding personal income. When census takers begin their rounds April 1 many a citizen will probably refuse to answer these questions despite the threat of a fine. Adding weight to the G. O. P.-sponsored campaign of protest, Miss Catherine Curtis of New York appeared before the senate subcommittee on behalf of women investors. Said she: Congress will have to enlarge the jails to house protesting women if income questions are not stricken from the census.

Nevertheless Census Director William Austin went ahead with his plans, hoping his nose-count will not be completely sabotaged. Meanwhile the department of commerce announced creation of a new national income division which will "analyze and interpret the flow of income from various sources and its expenditure in the final analysis for goods and services." For its source material the division will probe every source of personal income data available, including social security records, bureau of internal revenue—and the 1940 census.

LABOR:

Biggest Election

At Washington the National Labor Relations board issued orders for the largest collective bargaining election ever held. "As soon as possible," approximately 150,000 employees in 59 General Motors plants in 11 states will cast their ballots, the principal issue being affiliation with C. I. O. or A. F. of L.

POLITICS:

Victory in Ohio

Both Republicans and Democrats conceded that Ohio's six-county seventeenth congressional district was a sounding board for Ohio's political cross-currents. In that district, Republican J. Harry McGregor was fighting it out with Democrat Byron Ashbrook, nephew of the late Rep. William A. Ashbrook.

In the twenty-second district a Republican victory was not unexpected, provided Ohio would send a woman to congress. Hoping it would, socially prominent Mrs. Frances Payne Bolton sought to succeed her late husband.

When the votes were in Mrs. Bolton found herself elected. So did

MRS. BOLTON
Ohio accepted her.

Republican McGregor, which was a significant victory if the prophetic seventeenth district wasn't fooling. At Washington the G. O. P. congressional campaign committee hailed Ohio's results as a sign that "the tide of national sentiment continues strongly toward a Republican sweep next November."

Other political news: Four Democratic senators (Massachusetts' Walsh, Iowa's Herring, Michigan's Brown and Indiana's Minton) indicated they could conceive of an international situation which would make it wise to nominate and elect Franklin Roosevelt for a third term.

Thomas E. Dewey had his name filed in the Nebraska G. O. P. primary, where he will fight it out with Michigan's Sen. Arthur Vandenberg. Vice President John Nance Garner let his name be entered in New York.

Star Dust

STAGE-SCREEN-RADIO
By VIRGINIA VALE
(Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

BETTE DAVIS has always made it very clear that she had the courage of her convictions. She's prepared to back one of her pet theories with coin of the realm right now, and John Garfield, James Cagney and Pat O'Brien are ready to string along with her.

She believes that Hollywood could be made a theatrical center, since there is all sorts of talent on the coast, and she and her partners are prepared to form an organization for producing plays—and also to act in them. Plays that succeed will be sent along to Broadway.

Olivia De Haviland hadn't much more than settled her differences with Warner Brothers than she got into hot water again by refusing to work in "Flight 8," and was suspended again. Virginia Bruce was free, after cancellation of her Metro contract, so you'll see her as the heroine, opposite Ralph Bellamy. The lovely Olivia seems to know what she wants—the difficulty lies in getting it.

Metro is prepared to shoot the works and give the public a treat in "Boom Town"; Clark Gable, Spencer Tracy, Claudette Colbert and Hedy Lamarr will have the leading roles, Jack Conway will direct, and John Lee Mahin adapted the story for the screen.

If you've tried to get "Swiss Family Robinson" at your local library lately you've probably been out of luck. Translated from the Swiss in 1820, the book is said still to be a best-seller, ranking second only to the Bible in gross sales. It had never been screened until RKO offered it to the public, and the picture has made the book more popular than ever.

Small boys—and their fathers as well—are likely to want to camp out in the theaters showing RKO's Pathe's Sportscope reel on baseball. It features the tactics and technique of such experts as Gabby Hartnett, Dizzy Dean, Joe Moore, Merrill May, Joe Medwick, Arky Vaughan and Paul Derringer. It's called "Pennant Chasers."

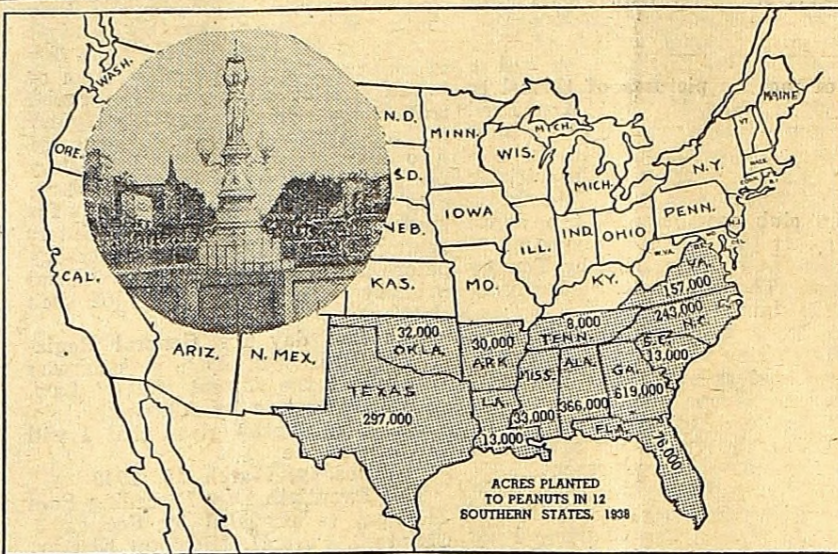

It's reunion on "Big Sister" for Alice Frost and Zasu Pitts. Alice broke into radio years ago by doing impersonations of Zasu, as taught her by Miss Pitts, a friend of the family.

Erin O'Brien Moore will appear as Empress Carlotta, the role created by Bette Davis on the screen, when she is heard on the Star Theater in "Juarez and Maximilian" on March 13. Aherne will play Maximilian, as he did in the picture.

Anyone who says a magpie bit him, in explanation of a gash under the eye, can't expect to be believed—Al Pearce can swear to that. He has an aviary in his yard, and among the birds is a magpie. Pearce was holding the bird—which he calls Arlene Harris—and it snapped at him. That's his story, and he's sticking to it; but his gang, however, is enthusiastically giving him "the bird!"

ODDS AND ENDS . . . An eastern syndicate is negotiating with Lum and Abner for the right to portray their adventures in a newspaper cartoon series . . . Don Wilson is now plugging eleven different products on the air—and never getting them mixed! . . . Bill Powell was so determined not to do "Cyrano de Bergerac"—which Metro bought for him—that he refused to sign his new contract until a clause was inserted that protected him against it. . . . Spencer Tracy accepted it without protest. . . . "Pinocchio" is so good that it's hard to see how Walt Disney and his talented crew can ever do anything better.

Lowly Peanut Replaces Cotton To Boost South's Prosperity

In the little town of Enterprise, Ala., is an elaborate monument (inset) inspired by the lowly peanut. It was erected in honor of the boll weevil when that insect ruined cotton crops and brought peanut raising into popularity. Since then the peanut industry has been expanded so rapidly that today 12 southern states have a total of 1,887,000 acres planted to peanuts, as shown on the map above. The industry is highly promoted, and many new uses for the peanut are being developed each year. In January the state of Virginia observed its annual "Peanut Week." The peanut is honored each year by the Virginia-Carolina Peanut association. Miss Emily Cross of Suffolk, Va., (left) was queen.

By this year the peanut harvest has become so great that a serious problem faced more than 30,000 southern farm families who depend on the crop for their livelihood. Organized aid was provided through special producer-consumer drives, the latest in a series to move surplus farm products, by independent merchants and by the rapid distribution system of food chain stores.

Locomotives, too. Peanut oil helps make the wheels turn.

Loss: Before going back to her little old home town to have her tonsils removed by her family physician, a young professional woman not only bought a lot of silk things for hospital wear but also had a beauty specialist add to her glamour. The operation was a success and soon the patient demanded a mirror. To her surprise the nurse refused to bring one. Naturally she wanted to know the reason, but didn't get it until after she had become quite upset about the matter. Then the nurse, who'd had a conference with the doctor, explained that "something terrible" had happened.

"It's your beautiful eye lashes," she continued with her hand on the patient's shoulder. "When I washed the vaseline from your eyes they came off on the cloth." Despite her sore throat, the patient laughed. Those beautiful eye-lashes had been pasted on by the beauty specialist.

Street Scene: A gray-haired colored man pushing a rickety cart piled high with old papers. . . . A vegetable peddler singing the merits of his wares in a rich baritone. . . . A milk wagon horse standing with its forelegs on the sidewalk solemnly eyeing passersby. . . . Youngsters playfully throwing ashes, taken from a convenient can, at one another. . . . A fat woman, her arms loaded with bundles, shrieking as she skids on a bit of ice. . . . A shawled woman slipping out of a saloon with a foam-crowned pitcher. . . . A blind man tapping his way along slowly and chanting monotonously, "Pencil. Please buy a pencil." . . . A girl in a thin coat and skirt taking a discarded newspaper from a corner trash can and hurriedly turning to the "Help Wanted" columns.

Insurance: Ed Hart told me about three high school lads who got on a trolley car on Webster avenue. Two of them started riding the third about not dropping his nickel in the farebox—chiseling a ride in other words. The young fellow's face reddened at the charge.

"I did pay my fare," he announced. "Do you think I'd want anything like that on my conscience with examinations today; and I went to church yesterday, too!" Ed is keeping a sharp lookout for the lad. He's curious to know if he got passing marks.

Questions: Bob Hawk, who conducts one of those radio quiz programs, maintains a suite of offices where 12 girls do nothing but sort mail. More than 500,000 letters have been tallied and 1,290,000 questions indexed. Analysis shows New Yorkers are sports minded; questioners from New England trend toward history and, curiously, Midwesterners ask the most cosmopolitan questions. Sixty per cent of those who mail quiz queries are women. Three per cent of the questions are gags and the leading question—more than 6,000 have sent in—is, "What three Presidents were assassinated in office?"

Information: Having a free day between two recent New England concert dates, Erica Morini, violinist, now in the process of becoming an American citizen, thought she might add to her knowledge of her adopted homeland by visiting a few of the local points of historic interest.

Before an ancient colonial house, her guide stopped and asked, "I suppose you have heard about Ethan Allen and the Green Mountain Boys?"

"Well—no," Miss Morini confessed. "You see, I seldom listen to those mountain music quartets on the radio."

End Piece: All that is Russian is not anti-Finnish. Inside the doors of the Russian Kretchma a basket has been placed for funds for Herbert Hoover's relief campaign and the entertainers have unanimously agreed to turn over a percentage of their weekly salaries to that same fund.

Professor Tells Students To Open Minds to Truth

HOLYOKE, MASS.—Prof. Walter Kotschnig told Holyoke college students to keep their minds open—"but not so open that your brains fall out."

He condemned the purpose of students who go to college merely to learn skill and urged his listeners to find the "real aim of education, to acquire a philosophy of life, intellectual honesty and a constant search for truth."

Arizona Indians Renounce 'Desecrated' Swastika

BECAUSE THE ABOVE ORNAMENT WHICH HAS BEEN A SYMBOL OF FRIENDSHIP AMONG OUR FOREFATHERS FOR MANY CENTURIES HAS BEEN DESECRATED RECENTLY BY ANOTHER NATION OF PEOPLES THEREFORE IT IS RESOLVED THAT HENCEFORTH FROM THIS DATE ON AND FOREVER MORE OUR TRIBES RENOUNCE THE USE OF THE SWASTIKA COMMONLY KNOWN TODAY AS THE SWASTIKA OR FULFOT ON OUR BLANKETS, BASKETS, HAT OBJECTS, SANDPAINTINGS AND CLOTHING.

Four tribes of Arizona Indians, the Navajos, Papagos, Apaches, and Hopis, through their head men at the Indian conclave in Tucson, have banned use of the swastika from all designs in their basket weaving and blanket making. The use of the swastika by the Nazi party and the Indian's resentment against "acts of oppression" by the Nazi government was given as reason for their action. Florence Smiley, a Navajo girl, signs the parchment document drawn up by one of the Indian artists.

Sea Scouts Rescue Pilots of Crashed Army Bomber

District of Columbia Sea Scouts rescued two pilots from the "Gruman," a United States army amphibian bomber which recently crashed into the Potomac river at Washington. The two fliers were trapped in the cabin, while two others escaped without help. 'Grosvenor House' Trio Entertains Buddies

The "Grosvenor House Orchestra," a musical trio recruited from Britain's royal air force, conducts a "jam-session" somewhere in France on the western front. "Grosvenor House" is also the name of their dugout, as well as the name of an exclusive London hotel. The enemy's savage breast was not reported soothed by the music.

Rumanian Troops Rushed to Guard Oil

Germany's challenge to the Rumanian government's ban on the export of aviation gasoline to the Reich has resulted in many of Rumania's 200,000 reserve troops being called to concentration centers. Rumania is reported to have 1,600,000 men under arms, ready for any eventuality.

Excess Weight Causes Heart Added Labor

By DR. JAMES W. BARTON

MANY smile as they speak of a friend as acquiring, or having acquired a "middle-aged spread" although he is in his early 30s. As a matter of fact, this individual is or has aged himself by a number of years.

Aside from the natural disadvantages of overweight which slow up the individual's physical activities, one of the more serious results is the increase in blood pressure. It has long been said that a man is as old as his arteries, meaning that as the arteries (bloodvessels) lose some of their elastic tissue, the loss is made up by hard or nonelastic tissue. As blood cannot be pumped into a hard resisting tube as easily as into one that is soft and elastic, the heart has to use that much more pressure to push blood onward. This means more wear and tear on the heart.

Even when the blood vessels have not lost their elastic tissue, excess weight makes it necessary for the heart to push more blood through the blood vessels and the pressure needs must be higher. In Proceedings of Life Extension Examinations, Dr. H. A. Ley says: "As age increases and its accompanying changes take place in the body, it is well known that an increase in weight will usually be related to an increase in tension of the bloodvessels—increased blood pressure. After a reduction in weight of 5 per cent or more, the blood pressures of a group of 3,516 applicants for life insurance were reduced despite the fact that the applicants were then five years older. Increases in weight showed greater increases in blood pressure than might be attributed to advancing age. Loss of weight in people of normal weight produced greater reductions than did similar losses in the overweight. Gain in weight among the normal weight persons showed less increase in blood pressure than similar gains among the overweight."

Epilepsy and Routine Treatment

ALTHOUGH attacks of epilepsy can be prevented entirely in many cases, and can be reduced in number and severity in others, there are still some cases in which attacks occur despite the usual, routine treatment. This treating is the cutting down on all starch foods and on all liquids, increasing the amount of fat foods, and the daily use of phenobarbital in the dose prescribed by the physician.

Physicians are often asked to advise young men and women whether it would be wise to marry when there is a family history of epilepsy. This is often difficult because epilepsy is sometimes caused by injury and there may be the history of but one case as far back as the family history can be traced.

Epilepsy History Traced.

Dr. W. G. Lennox, Dr. F. A. Gibbs and Erna L. Gibbs, Boston, in the Journal of the American Medical Association, state that although the opinion that heredity is an important influence in epilepsy is widespread, only one epileptic person in five is able to name any relatives who had or has epilepsy. By means of electric equipment they were able to record on paper the brain waves of 123 persons—parents or children of 78 persons with epilepsy, and 50 healthy persons.

"Definitely abnormal records or tracings were obtained in 54 per cent of the relatives of epileptics against 6 per cent in the 50 healthy persons (control group), who were not related to epileptics. In 46 of the 78 families, records were made of both parents. In 28 per cent both parents and in 94 per cent at least one parent had abnormal records."

From the above records, these research workers believe that the abnormal rhythm or regularity of brain waves is "inheritable" and may represent a predisposition to epilepsy or similar ailments.

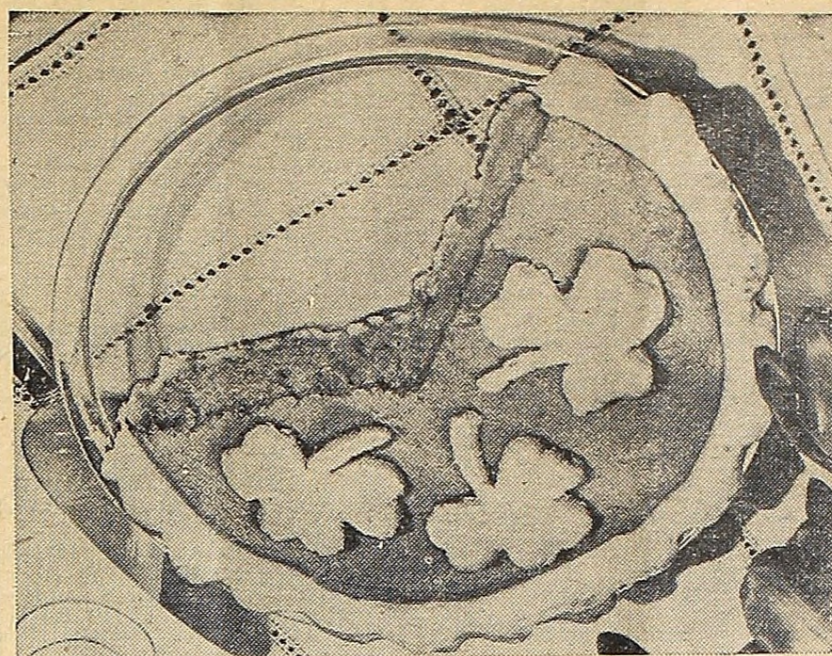

QUESTION BOX

Q.—Would a growth in the nose cause hard hearing or head noises?

A.—A growth in the nose large enough to cover part of the opening of the air tube from throat to middle ear might cause these symptoms.

Q.—What is the diet used in arthritis?

A.—The main point is to cut down on starch foods—bread, potatoes, sugar and on proteins—meats, fish and eggs. Increase fruits and vegetables.

ON ST. PATRICK'S DAY IN THE MORNIN'
(See Recipes Below)

Some Ideas for a Party

Shur-r-re an' in the mer'ry month o' Mar-rch, it's St. Patrick's day we're thinkin' of when we pass along these ideas for a party.

Parties seem to move along more smoothly after a bit of fun—and fun it is to find an Irish Paddy's Pig at your place at the table! Small Irish potatoes, scrubbed until they shine, make the fat bodies of the pigs. For the head, fasten a large round gum drop to one end of each potato, with a toothpick. Make the snout from a small gum drop pinched to the proper shape, and fasten it to the head with a toothpick. Insert whole cloves for "facial features." Cut ears and a curly tail from jelly strings and fasten these in position with toothpicks too. Small gum drops, fastened to the body with toothpicks, make the legs.

Nut cups which look like Paddy's clay pipe, can be made from marshmallows, green cellophane soda straws, and a bit of green ribbon. With a pair of sharp-pointed scissors, hollow out the center of the marshmallow slightly, to form the bowl of the pipe. Tie a green ribbon (with a jaunty bow) around the pipe bowl, and insert a cellophane soda sipper low in one side, for the stem.

These two party menus are planned for St. Patrick's day. You'll find other suggestions for parties of every kind, in my cook book, "Easy Entertaining."

Refrigerator Cloverleaf Rolls.

(Makes 3 dozen)
2 cups water (boiling)
1/2 cup and 1 teaspoon sugar
1 tablespoon salt
6 tablespoons shortening (part butter for flavor)
2 cakes yeast
1/4 cup water (lukewarm)
2 eggs (beaten)
8 cups flour

Mix together the boiling water, 1/2 cup sugar, the salt, and shortening. Cool slightly. Dissolve yeast and 1 teaspoon sugar in the lukewarm water, and add to the first mixture. Add eggs and half of the flour. Beat well. Add remaining flour and mix thoroughly.

Place dough in greased bowl, grease the top lightly and cover the bowl. Store in refrigerator. Before using, let the dough stand at room temperature to warm up, before shaping the rolls. To shape cloverleaf rolls, brush very small balls of the dough with melted butter and place three balls in each section of a greased muffin pan. Let rise until light and bake in a moderately hot oven (400 degrees) for about 20 minutes.

Cooked Mayonnaise Dressing.

2 tablespoons vinegar
2 eggs (beaten)
1 cup salad oil
1/4 teaspoon dry mustard
1/4 teaspoon paprika
1/2 teaspoon salt

Add vinegar gradually to the beaten eggs, and continue beating until blended. Cook in a double boiler, stirring constantly until the mixture thickens. Remove from flame and cool. Then slowly add the oil, beating constantly. Combine seasonings and fold into the dressing.

Fruit Salad Dressing.

While making your favorite boiled salad dressing recipe you'll undoubtedly want to reserve half of the dressing "as is" for use on vegetable salads. However, to the remaining half—which should be hot—

Hinged Curtains for Window Cupboards

By RUTH WYETH SPEARS

WHY not build cupboards at each side of a pair of windows and a comfortable seat between? This takes very little space and adds useful storage room; as well as a cozy place to sit. The cupboards are hidden by hinged curtains that are a part of the general window treatment. The chintz for the valance and seat pad is in tan, yellow and blue—green. The blue-green edges the curtains and valance and is used also for the two cushions. The frilled glass curtains are clear yellow. The closet curtains tacked to a hinged arm may be swung back just as you would open a door.

NOTE: Mrs. Spears has prepared four booklets for our readers containing a total of 128 thrifty homemaking ideas; with step-by-step illustrated directions. Each book contains an assortment of curtains; slip covers; household furnishings; rag rugs; toys; gifts and novelties for bazaars. AROUND THE HOUSE

When cleaning celery, use a vegetable brush. It gets into the grooves and cleans the celery better than it can be cleaned otherwise.

Use Dry Holder.—Never use a damp or wet cloth or holder in removing a hot dish from the oven or stove. A dry one prevents the heat from penetrating and scorching the fingers.

Hooked rugs will lay flat if they are dried properly. Place them, top side down, on papers spread over the floor. Allow them to dry thoroughly.

Cooking Pork Sausage.—Pork sausage requires slow cooking. If much fat collects, drain it off—to prevent greasiness. Pierce link sausage several times with a fork to prevent them from bursting while cooking. To form a brown, crusty covering on sausage sprinkle them with flour just before they are cooked.

Wash dully-waxed furniture with a chamois skin that has been rinsed frequently in warm water. Doing so will remove the dirt film. Then rub the furniture thoroughly with a soft cloth saturated in furniture polish. Afterwards wipe the furniture dry with a clean soft cloth.

Vernon Elust, class of 1939, recently was accepted as a member of the United States Marines at Detroit. Before being accepted, he was given a physical and a mental examination. The latter consisted of about five pages of objective questions. The United States authorities also wrote to three people in the city who had known the candidate for several years, inquiring as to his character, home environment, his trustworthiness, scholastic average, and general intelligence level. It is quite evident that the military forces are now seeking a different class of young people than is generally indicated in the old-time books and pictures.

The New "Chateau" Washables for 1940

IT'S prophecy, not propaganda that the Fashion World will go "Washable" for 1940, and in the lead are "CHATEAU" Frocks.

There's such a secure feel of "dress up" in them; and you'll bask in the admiration they will bring your way.

To illustrate our point, we sketch one of the many 1940 styles, a model trimly tailored of Crown Test Spun-Lo of bold stripe pattern arranged in angled smartness.
