JUNIOR-SENIOR PLAY WILL BE HELD APRIL 4-5

"Meet the Folks" Will be Given in Our New Auditorium

On April 4 and 5, Thursday and Friday, the Juniors and Seniors of Tawas City will present a play entitled, "Meet the Folks," in the new auditorium at eight o'clock.

Synopsis of "Meet the Folks"

A carnival of laughs, written in a breezy and ingratiating manner, and containing a great part for every member of the cast. Meet The Folks! A streamline version of the Hardys, the Jones family, and the family right next door. Meet Pa and Ma Smith and their effervescent son James, and their adolescent daughter Mary Jane.

James has arrived at that profound stage of life when he is about to make his first public speech and about to don his first tuxedo. He has rehearsed his momentous appearance as President of the Young People's Club. It is his big opportunity to "show off" for his girl friend, Jewel, and the rest of the gang when things really begin to happen. James' tuxedo arrives from the tailor, it is much too large, he suddenly comes down with a sore throat, and the gang arrives too soon. With them arrives a new neighbor, Hedy Harrington, the "Oomph" girl from Washington.

James immediately smitten by Hedy is in a quandry, but Parker, the sympathetic maid, takes pity on the suffering James and showers him with words of advice. When James goes about the task of putting Parker's advice to work, he encounters disastrous results. Pa and Ma have been called away on account of sickness and James is master of the house—and his destiny. James, imbued with confidence, goes about his speech-making, much to the disgust of his boy friends, who all have a longing look for the new "eye-ful" Hedy. But James' big moment turns into a veritable riot when Chuck steals his speech—and his is afflicted with trousseau trouble, they want stay up, well, hardly.

James, ashamed and beaten, is furious at the fib of his friends, and when Parker's well-meant advice turns sour, he starts a free-for-all which is terminated by the return of Pa and Ma, and just in time to prevent a call for the riot squad. All ends well when the boys learn Hedy is engaged, and that she isn't so hot anyway, and that she's too old, nineteen! The characters in this play are finely drawn and the interest is constantly maintained until the final curtain.

John Mothersell

John Mothersell, of Plainfield township, died last Thursday at the age of 70 years. Mr. Mothersell was well known throughout the county. In his younger days he took an active part in lumber mill operation, being employed as sawyer in various mills in this section of Michigan.

John Mothersell was born July 31, 1869, at St. Clare, Michigan. On January 29, 1893, he was united in marriage to Sophronia Shortt at Brant, Michigan.

Those left to mourn besides the Michael, of Long Lake; Martha Christia, of Hale; Julia Shufelt, of Flint; and Sara Tremain, of Oscoda; one adopted daughter, Myrtle Hull, of Flint; one son, Jesse Mothersell, of Hale; twenty-one grandchildren, and one great grandchild and a host of relatives.

Fred Crane

Fred Crane, aged resident of Plainfield township, passed away at his residence last Sunday. He had been a resident of Plainfield for 33 years. He took an active part in the early lumbering industry of Michigan.

Fred Crane was born April 9, 1850, at St. Clare, Michigan. He and Mrs. Crane were united in marriage in March 1872. The deceased is survived by the wife, Sara; one son, Joseph, of Hale; and one daughter, Mrs. Capt. Shellebarger, of Hale, eleven grandchildren and three great grandchildren.

Funeral services were held Tuesday from the Hale Baptist church. Interment was in the Hale cemetery. Rev. Frank Metcalf officiated. Pall bearers were from the Orange Lodge.

PIN SPILLERS WILL HOLD TOURNAMENT

Tawas City Association Meet Begins Next Monday

A tournament of the leagues comprising the Tawas City Bowling association will start Monday, April 1. This will prove an interesting climax to the league bowling season now ending. Entries should be filed with the association secretary before midnight Saturday. If you haven't entered your team, do so at once.

There will be a mixed doubles sweepstakes at the Tawas City Recreation on Sunday evening, March 31. This should be the most interesting event of the year. The men will place their names in a hat and the ladies will draw for their partners. The starting time for this special event will be eight o'clock.

On Sunday afternoon at 2:00 a special match game between the Peoples State Bank, winners of the first half in the Major league, and Hatton's Barber Shop, winners of the second half, will be bowled to determine the championship of the Major league. The series will consist of three games, total pins, no handicap. The members of the Bank team will be: Grant Shuttuck, Dr. Austin, Dr. LeClair, Harold Gould and Edward Siefhoff. Hatton's team will include Howard Hatton, Bill Mallon, Ted Jacques, George Prescott and Walter Laidlaw.

FKCKSTEIN OPENS NEWFEED STORE

This week L. W. Eckstein opened a feed store and cream station in the W. A. Evans building in Tawas City. Mr. Eckstein is well known to the people of this section, having operated here for several years to previous to going to West Branch last fall.

Mr. Eckstein has a large line of Hall Milling Company cattle, dairy and poultry feeds, flour and seed, and states that he is paying the very best price for cream. He invites you to visit him in his new location.

New Schedule Changes Time of Two Trains

Effective March 25, Detroit & Mackinac coach fares were reduced from two and one-half cents to two cents per mile. Round trip fares are provided at an even lower rate for distances over 100 miles. For each successive 100 miles there is a reduction of one-tenth of a cent per mile. For distances in excess of 533 miles, the round trip coach rate is one and one-half cents per mile.

Beginning Sunday, March 31, the new time table will go into effect making the following changes in the train schedule:

South bound passenger train No. 4 leaves Tawas City at 9:43 a. m. North bound, No. 3, leaves at 3:50 p. m. There is a change of five minutes in the schedule of No. 1, going north in the morning. It will leave at 8:00. No change has been made with the south bound passenger train, No. 12, leaving at 7:45 in the evening.

Mrs. G. Bergervin and daughters spent the week end at Bay City with relatives.

Mrs. A. J. Carlson entertained at a very lovely dinner party for Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Christeson at the Christeson home last Thursday. A six o'clock dinner was served to about 28 relatives of the families. The dining room table and buffet were tastefully decorated with baskets of pink and white sweet peas and bouquet taper candles in pastel shades. A profusion of bouquets of pink and white sweet peas and pink carnations graced the rooms and tables. Myriads of pink candles cast a soft glow over the lovely scene. Miss Helen Applin, at the head of the dining table, poured. After the sumptuous dinner and the guests had partaken of the bride's cake and the groom's cake, an interesting time followed when the bride opened the several beautiful wedding gifts. A social hour of music consisting of piano numbers, vocal solos and tap dancing followed and games of bridge and five hundred ended a very lovely party. Rose Walker of Alpena and Andrew B. Christeson were married the Thursday previous by Rev. Gustav Wahlstrom at Bay City. They arrived home from Chicago an hour before the party where they had visited with Mr. and Mrs. Blaine Christeson for a week.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS BY JOSEPH W. LaBINE

Cabinet Shifts, Bombing Raids Presage Big Spring Offensives; Russia Draws Closer to Italy

(EDITOR'S NOTE—When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of the news analyst and not necessarily of this newspaper.)
Released by Western Newspaper Union

EUROPE: From Axis to Triangle

If foreign observers hoped the Finnish peace would place a quietus on western warfare, their mistake was clearly evident by late March. Not by secret maneuvers but by leaps and bounds the Rome-Berlin axis was merging into a Russian-German-Italian coalition designed to force a dictators' peace down the Anglo-French throat. At London and Paris the populace protested, demanding more aggressive pursuit of the war. Their parliaments fumed, and one government fell completely. The other, sorely afraid, jumped into the conflict head first.

Mr. Welles Goes Home

Nobody knew what was in his briefcase but U. S. Undersecretary of State Sumner Welles boarded the Conte di Savoia at Genoa, homeward bound to tell Franklin Roosevelt about the chances for a European peace. Sidetracked by France and Britain, he had more luck with Germany and Italy whose dictators, Adolf Hitler and Benito Mussolini, met at the Brenner pass and presumably framed a set of abortive terms.

Also discussed at Brenner was an Italo-Russ compromise calling for sphere-of-influence division in the Balkans. A few days later, when Soviet Ambassador Alexander Schkvarzev flew from Berlin to Moscow on a secret mission, it was clearly evident that Germany was drawing Rome and Moscow closer together. As if gloating over this diplomatic victory, Hitler sent his raiders to bomb the British naval base at Scapa Flow.

Reaction

In England. When press and public began yelling for action, Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain got mad. He gave parliament the fightingest speech of his career and promised to strike back.

For the umpteenth time in three years he averted a government collapse, this time by sending planes on a retaliatory air raid against the Nazi base at Sylt (see map). Wave after wave of bombers poured tons of explosives on the island fortress; next day reconnaissance planes brought back pictures to prove the damage. Hastily the Germans took precautions at their other vulnerable base, Heligoland. Then they

In the HEADLINES

OKLAHOMA—The U. S. obtained a preliminary order restraining Gov. Leon C. Phillips from using troops to prevent completion of the $20,000,000 Grand River dam. Phillips' contention: That the U. S. should pay the state $889,000 for property to be damaged.

TAXATION—At Washington, the U. S. treasury figured early 1939 income tax returns showed a 26 per cent boost over last year, with heaviest collections still to be reported.

AVIATION—American Airlines, Inc., asked the civil aeronautics authority for permission to operate the first complete airline from Chicago to Mexico City.

COMMUNICATIONS—Maj. Edwin Armstrong, inventor of static-free "frequency modulation" broadcasting, asked the Federal Communications Commission to give his "F-M" the broadcasting channels now used for television. Argument: That television, now impractical commercially, stands in the way of radio progress.

TRADEMARK—At Baltimore a federal district court injunction ordered makers of five other soft drinks to cease using the words "coca" or "cola," because it infringed on Coca Cola's trademark.

took revenge by raiding British convoy ships in the North sea.

In France. Fighting increased on the western front but there was a bigger fight in Paris. Called on the carpet as a result of the Russian threat, Premier Edouard Daladier emerged with such a weak vote of confidence (311 deputies had not voted) that his cabinet resigned. This was a victory for democracy, because the Daladier government has ruled for seven months under dictatorial decrees. Quickly President Albert Lebrun summoned Paul Reynaud, conservative ex-finance minister, bitter foe of Nazism and distaster of the politics-ridden Daladier cabinet. Next day Premier Reynaud emerged with a well publicized, psychologically sound "victory" cabinet dedicated to trouncing the Nazis. Edouard Daladier was still war minister, and all parties were so thoroughly represented that the chamber's confidence seemed assured.

In Finland

While 500,000 Finns hastened evacuation of territory ceded to Russia, the battered little nation began patching her defenses and counting noses. Total war casualties were placed at 58,500, of which 29,700 were dead or seriously disabled. (Total army: 360,000.)

Meanwhile new troubles were arising with Russia. The Finnish cabinet, about to resign, heard that the Kremlin opposed formation of a Norwegian-Swedish-Finnish mutual defense alliance on the ground that it would be aimed at the Soviet. Obviously Russia was not willing to surrender her new-found domination over Scandinavia.

In Poland

Numerous and unpleasant are the atrocity stories coming out of Poland since German occupation last autumn. Much of this information probably came from consular officials of neutral nations, a possibility which might explain the latest Nazi order: Effective immediately, all foreign consular offices in Poland must be evacuated, making Germany the sole source of official information on conditions in the area. At Washington the state department announced the Reich had been adamant to its protests. Left without official representation were 532 Americans living in Poland.

ASIA:

Crow Eaters

For two and one-half years Japanese troops fighting in north China have reported after every encounter that the enemy has been "routed," "given a stunning blow," "wiped out" or "annihilated." In late March the Japanese army was forced to eat crow. An official survey admitted that more than a million Chinese troops were still fighting in north China under leadership of Gen. Cheng Chien, whom the Japs reported killed in 1938.

In the south, Nippon had better luck, capturing the walled city of Lingshan and encircling a large Chinese force east of the Nanning-Yamchow railroad.

Meanwhile the puppet regime of Wang Ching-wei, turncoat ex-Chinese premier, summoned a central political council and established a government at Nanking under Japan's watchful eye.

POLITICS:

Farley's Inning

In late March Columnist Ernest Lindley wrote from Washington that President Roosevelt had told an unidentified southern legislator (1) that he wanted to retire; (2) that Cordell Hull should succeed him; (3) that Jim Farley's Catholicism would make impossible a successful race by the postmaster general.

Next day Franklin Roosevelt protested. Said he: The remark about Farley and the rest of the article all came from whole cloth—it was utterly false. While this was no recommendation, it at least let Farley's friends believe that he would have an equal chance for the job if Mr. Roosevelt turns it down.

Farley himself took heart. Next day, stepping from his train at Springfield, Mass., where Democrats have entered a full slate of delegates for him in the forthcoming primary, he said flatly: "To clear up any misunderstanding, let me say that my name will be presented to the national convention at Chicago, and that's that."

And it was.
Other political news:
Secretary of the Navy Charles Edison announced "after weeks of earnest consideration" his candidacy in the New Jersey Democratic gubernatorial primary May 21.
Sen. Arthur Vandenberg (R., Mich.) a G. O. P. presidential hopeful, turned down invitations to campaign in Wisconsin and Nebraska (where he is a primary candidate). Reason: "The choice of the (G. O. P.) convention should flow from the deliberate judgment of the people, and not from . . . a campaign tour."

Photographers Have Field Day With White House Candidates

The campaign manager of handsome Paul McNutt, Democratic aspirant, is deliberately trying to "un-glamorize" his silver-crested candidate. This "newest portrait" shows the effective results.

Wives are helpful. Mrs. Taft gathers votes in New York.

NEW YORK.—This war, so far, has lacked bands and banners and all other such traditional excitements and John Masefield has not even written a poem about it. In one detail, however, British traditionalism again prevails. Sir Muirhead Bone, official artist of the World War, is again officially appointed as the artist of the navy, and it is understood that he also will render the graphic records of the conflict on land as well.

Sir Muirhead, 64 years old, of Scottish birth, is one of the world's most distinguished etchers. He is also a painter, but in the years between the big wars he has turned more to etching. That is, with the trend of the times, as a modern war is decidedly an etcher's war. Skeleton trees on a blasted hillside, zig-zag trenches, the splintered chaos of peasants' huts, the angular dynamics of war machinery, all lend themselves to Sir Muirhead's superlative drypoint. There isn't much of the painter's mass and color in an up-to-date war—no gay plumes, bright uniforms and snorting black horses. There are instead the sullen monochromes of desolation, the inert black and white of sharply graven ruin.

There were plenty of bands playing when Sir Muirhead was appointed official war artist in 1916. He painted boldly or etched deeply his pictures for the war museum, for which he later became trustee. Much was made, not only of the importance of a minutely observed pictorial record of the war, but of the availability of so great an artist to render its full aesthetic values. This time, there is a perfunctory announcement, only a few lines, of Sir Muirhead's appointment. Not even in the graphic arts is war getting its accustomed fanfare.

This writer remembers well Sir Muirhead's masterful drawings in the "international studio" of an earlier and happier day—mellow architectural studies, or placid landscape in English byways where no air-raid siren ever sounded. He was the son of a Glasgow journalist, studying art at a night school. It was in 1901 that he went to England, to become an honorary doctor of letters at Oxford and one of the most famous artists of England. He has exhibited in New York several times and has an enthusiastic following among critics and the American art public.

In 1937, Rep. John E. Miller of Arkansas made his campaign for the United States senatorship against the "New Deal patronage machine."

Arkansas Senator Is Ardent Foe of Revised Hatch Act

Bailey, had the active support of his "organization of 5,000 state employees," and of various members of the New Deal cabinet. Representative Miller, running as an independent against "machine politicians," achieved a sensational victory, as he won the seat of the late Joe T. Robinson. He was the first independent elected to a major political office in Arkansas since the early reconstruction days. His success was acclaimed as a triumph over patronage politics.

Today, by one of those curious reversals of political form which make news, Senator Miller is the most conspicuous opponent of the extension and strengthening of the Hatch law, directed against political job-holders mixing in politics. He would not only block its extension to cover state job-holders supported in part by federal funds, but he would repeal section nine which bars governmental employees from political activity.

The lean, bespectacled Senator Miller is somewhat professorial in appearance, and, incidentally, was graduated from Cape Girardeau Teachers' college, in Valparaiso, Ind. However, he later turned to the law and has been a practicing attorney in Searcy, Ark., since 1912. He was prosecuting attorney and county judge before his election to the house in 1930. He is a native of Stoddard County, Mo.

IN THE light of not so ancient history, it is quite clear as to why Francis B. Sayre thinks we ought to get rid of the Philippines. Our high commissioner is a holder of the Grand Cross of the White Elephant. Less pertinent, but interesting is the fact that he also is a knight commander of the Chula Krom Klav, and a Phia Kalyan Matri. These titles were gratefully bestowed on him by the king of Siam, when, in the early 1920s, Mr. Sayre was adviser to the king and aided in many treaty negotiations.

What Every Good Cook Should Know

There are certain principles of food preparation which every good cook follows, whether or not she's conscious of doing so, or understands the reasons on which they are based.

To be sure, every so often we find a recipe which seemingly contradicts every principle of cookery that has ever been formulated, and in spite of it, produces an excellent product. I suppose that's the proverbial exception that proves the rule! But in general, following definite rules of cookery produces the best results consistently.

There is, for example, a standard method for mixing cakes. Then there are revolutionary methods such as that which is used in the jiffy cake recipe below. But it's well to remember that the unusual method which, in one recipe, gives entirely satisfactory results, for another recipe may not work at all.

These are general rules (with an exception to prove every one, I do believe!) which the good cook follows as a matter of habit:

1. When mixing butter cakes or muffins, by the standard method, cream shortening, add sugar gradually, then egg yolks. Add sifted dry ingredients and liquid, alternately, beginning and ending with the dry ingredients.
2. Unless a recipe specifies otherwise, mix only until the ingredients are blended.
3. Cheese, egg and milk mixtures require a low temperature for cooking. Too high a temperature is likely to cause curdling.
4. When making pie crust, have the ingredients as cold as possible.
5. When egg white is added to a batter, it should be beaten until it is stiff but not dry, and folded lightly into the batter.

The recipes below will give you excellent results, in spite of the fact that they seem somewhat contradictory. But remember that the methods have been developed for these particular recipes, and they may not work if applied to any other.

Grandmother's Ginger Bread.

- 1/2 cup sugar
- 1/2 cup shortening
- 1 cup molasses
- 2 1/2 cups flour
- 2 eggs (beaten)
- 1 teaspoon cinnamon
- 1/2 teaspoon cloves
- 1/2 teaspoon ginger
- 2 teaspoons soda
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1 cup hot water

Sift together all dry ingredients including sugar. Combine eggs, molasses and hot water in which shortening has been melted and add to sifted mixture. Beat for 3 minutes. Bake in 350-degree oven for 45 minutes. Requires 9 by 9-inch pan.

Hot Water Pastry.

- (Makes 1 pastry shell)
- 1/2 cup shortening
- 1/4 cup boiling water
- 1 1/2 cups flour
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 teaspoon baking powder

Place shortening in a warm bowl, pour boiling water over it, and cream thoroughly with a fork. Place flour (measured after sifting once), salt, and baking powder in flour sieve and sift gradually into the creamed shortening and water mixture. Mix thoroughly. Make up into a dough ball and chill thoroughly. Roll out and arrange in pie tin. Prick well. Bake in a hot oven (450 degrees) for approximately 12 minutes.

Old Fashioned Jelly Roll.

- 5 eggs
 - 1 cup sifted granulated sugar
 - 1 teaspoon vanilla
 - 1 cup flour
 - 1 teaspoon baking powder
 - 1/4 teaspoon salt
- Beat the eggs until thick and lemon-colored. Gradually beat in the

How true it is that the sauce can make or mar a dish, whether that dish is a cheese soufflé or a cottage pudding!

sifted sugar, and continue beating until the mixture is very fluffy. Add vanilla. Sift together the flour, baking powder and salt, and fold into the first mixture. Line a shallow baking pan (about 10 by 16 by 1 inches) with greased waxed paper. Spread batter evenly in the pan and bake in a moderately hot oven (400 degrees) for 12 to 15 minutes. As soon as the cake is removed from the oven, turn it out on a towel which has been wrung out of warm water. Remove the paper, and trim off the crisp edges of the cake. Roll up in the towel. Let stand several minutes, then unroll and spread with filling. Roll again.

Custard Pie
2 cups milk
3 eggs
1/4 tablespoon salt
5 tablespoons sugar

Scald milk. Beat the eggs light, add sugar and salt, and mix carefully. Add scalded milk. Strain into a well-greased pie pan and bake in a slow oven (300 degrees Fahrenheit) for about 40 minutes, or until custard is firm. Bake a one-crust pastry shell in a second pie tin exactly the same size as that used for the custard pie. When the custard and baked pie shell are both thoroughly cooled, gently slip the custard pie into the pie shell just before serving. Note: This eliminates the soggy pie crust so often found in custard pies.

Jiffy Cake With Self Icing.
(Makes one 8-inch cake)

- 1/4 cup butter
- 1 cup sugar
- 2 eggs
- 1/2 cup milk
- 1 teaspoon flavoring extract
- 1 1/2 cups flour (cake flour preferred)
- 1 1/2 teaspoons baking powder
- 1/4 teaspoon salt

Soften the butter by creaming. Then add sugar, unbeatened eggs, milk, flavoring extract, and the dry ingredients which have been sifted together. With a rotary beater or electric mixer, beat for 2 to 3 minutes, or until the batter is light and very smooth. Pour into greased pan 8 by 8 by 2 inches square, and cover evenly with the following mixture:

- 1/2 cup sweet chocolate (grated)
 - 1/2 cup nut meats (cut fine)
- Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees Fahrenheit) for 35 to 40 minutes.

Maple Syrup Muffins.
(Makes 12 muffins)

- 1 egg
- 1/2 cup milk
- 1/2 cup maple syrup
- 1/4 cup butter (melted)
- 2 cups flour
- 2 teaspoons baking powder
- 1/2 teaspoon salt

Beat egg until very light and blend with milk, syrup and melted butter. Sift dry ingredients and add to first mixture. Blend until the batter is smooth. Pour into greased muffin pans and bake in a moderately hot oven (400 degrees) for about 20 minutes.

Their Negotiations Saw End to Russo-Finnish War

Principal figures in bringing to an end the three and one-half month war between Finland and Russia were (left to right) Viacheslav M. Molotoff, Soviet foreign commissar; Rysto Ryti, premier of the Republic of Finland; and Dr. Juho Paasikivi, Finland's outstanding expert on Russo-Finnish affairs. Ryti and Molotoff headed the groups that agreed upon terms of a peace treaty between the two countries. Russia's grip over the northern Baltic was virtually clinched by the terms of the peace treaty reached with Finland. Terms of the treaty were considered by authorities to be much harsher than pre-war Russian demands.

THE CONTINUING TASK

LESSON TEXT—Matthew 28:16-20.
GOLDEN TEXT—Ye shall be witnesses unto me . . . unto the uttermost parts of the earth.—Acts 1:8.

World conquest! The dream of dictators and of national leaders down through the ages is to be accomplished, for there is One who has the authority to claim such a place of leadership who will one day rule, for then "the kingdoms of this world" will have become "the kingdoms of our Lord, and of His Christ; and He shall reign for ever and ever" (Rev. 11:15). While we await His coming to take the throne are we to sit idly by? No indeed, for even now Christ has all authority and He has commissioned His followers to go out and to serve Him in all the world by making disciples in every nation.

I. The Obedient Disciples (vv. 16, 17).

The Lord never fails to keep His Word, but often His followers miss great blessing because they fail to keep their appointments with Him. He had told His disciples that after His resurrection He would meet them in Galilee, and we read that they met Him at the appointed place. One trembles to think of what they and we might have missed if they had failed to meet Him.

His promise to us is just as true and definite. "Where two or three are gathered in my name, there am I in the midst of them" (Matt. 18:20) applies to us today. If we meet Him at the appointed place, blessing will come to us and will flow out through us to all the world.

Observe that "some doubted," that is, they were perplexed and uncertain about the risen Saviour. If they persisted in their lack of faith we know that it must have shut them out of a great blessing, but at the same time it did not hinder the Lord's gracious ministry to His other disciples.

II. The All-Powerful Leader (v. 18).

Quietly and without any fanfare, Jesus announced that all power was given unto Him; or as the Revised Version more appropriately translates the word, "all authority." He does have all power, but He has more. He has the supreme authority which gives Him the right to rule over the entire creation, heaven and earth, spiritual as well as material.

No man in his right mind has ever laid claim to authority over even so much as the earth, but here is One who without hesitation or qualification declares that to Him has been given all authority in heaven as well as in earth, that is, over the entire creation. Surely it is God Himself who here speaks to us.

III. The Great Commission (vv. 19, 20a).

"It is the sublimest of all spectacles to see the risen Christ without money or army or state, charging this band of 500 men and women with world conquest and bringing them to believe it possible and to undertake it with serious passion and power. Pentecost is still to come, but dynamic faith rules on this mountain in Galilee" (Dr. A. T. Robertson).

Such faith and such a commission call for a worldwide mission. The church or individual without a worldwide missionary vision assuredly does not have the viewpoint of Christ. Observe also that it is an evangelistic mission. We are not called to entertain the world, nor primarily to improve the social order. Our business is to "make disciples," that is, true followers of Jesus Christ, which they can only become through accepting Him as Saviour and Lord.

Such a ministry will inevitably be a teaching ministry. "Faith cometh by hearing, and hearing by the word of God" (Rom. 10:17). How foolish is the preacher or evangelist who fails to teach the Word of God. It is His appointed method which cannot fail. Christian baptism is also a vital part of the Great Commission. It was first practiced at Pentecost (Acts 2) and later in the Church (Acts 8 and 10).

IV. The Abiding Presence (v. 20b).

There is no other statement of fact (for it is more than a promise) anywhere or by anyone that can compare with the assurance of Christ that He is with His witnesses always, even unto the end of the age.

Consider first of all who is to be with us, namely, the Son of God, the risen Christ, the One with all authority in heaven and earth! Then note that He is to be with His disciples "always." How important that is, for as we well know, the inspiration of even the greatest human leader largely goes with him to the grave. The Lord Jesus, on the other hand, is with each one of His children always. What assurance that is, for we are to be with Him joyfully to the carrying out of the Great Commission!

PATTERN DEPARTMENT SEWING CIRCLE

In this truly money-saving pattern (8597). The tennis frock has a swing skirt, wide, inset belt and strap back. Add the pinch-waisted little jacket-blouse (the fitting is all by means of easy darts) and there's your suit-frock.

What's more, you can make the jacket-blouse two ways—with scalloped sleeves and neckline, and with a naive, round collar. So you can see what a help this clever pattern will be! Perfect for summertime in sports cottons, it will be very smart for right now in silk print, tie silk or flat crepe.

Pattern No. 8597 is designed for sizes 12, 14, 16, 18 and 20. Size 14 requires 2½ yards of 39-inch material for frock; 1½ yards for jacket-blouse; 3 yards trimming.

Jones had finally mustered up enough courage to approach his boss for an increase, but his request had been received with stony silence. The thought came to Jones that he had better strengthen his case.

"You see, sir, the reason I'm asking for more money is because three other companies are after me," he explained.

The boss surveyed Jones from head to foot for a moment, then smiled coldly.

"Indeed," he sneered. "And may I ask who they are?"

"Well, sir," replied Jones, "there's the gas company after me, and the coal company after me, and the company we got our furniture from."

Side-Slipped

The fancy-dress dance was nearly over and the local gossips were comparing notes.

"Mrs. Smithington-Smythe looks rather upset, don't you think?" said the first, gloatingly.

"Yes, my dear. You see, she came as a Hawaiian beauty, with grass skirts and all—and they awarded her first prize in the humorous section as 'The Old Thatched Cottage.'"

IN OTHER, blunter words, why be satisfied to trail? set two years back when the Buick Dynaflex engine appeared. Meantime you'll have those Buick blessings to enjoy.

Why buy a car that's content to follow along—when little, if any, more money will put you in a Buick up where the banners are flying? You'll step out front at the touch of an eager treadle, swing through the gear changes with light-and-easy finger-flicking, pilot a joyous traveler that's equally ready for work or play, and does everything with ease matched only by its smartness.

For as five minutes on any busy street corner will show you, this year's automotive style pattern was cut by Buick a good twelve months ago. You'll drive the style-leader, the comfort-leader, the value-leader—a car full of things that will still be "new" a good two years from now.

This year's performance tempo was set two years back when the Buick Dynaflex engine appeared. Meantime you'll have those Buick blessings to enjoy.

Eventually, perhaps, others may find a way to micropoise-balance engines after assembly in search of Buick's present silky smoothness. They may get around to making Two-Way Direction Signals standard equipment instead of extras; they may heavy-up their frames, and generally seek to equal Buick's staunchness. CHAPTER XIX—Continued.

"I'll talk English to His Highness," said Rundhia. "The old sheep shall do one useful thing before he dies. You have the poison ready?"

"Yes, but this is a crisis," the Bengali answered. "Are you in a fit condition to control a crisis? To me, you seem very nervous. Let me feel your heart-beat. Why not postpone this until tomorrow?"

"Because tomorrow the old sheep might change his will. I've had a warning from the Resident. By the day after tomorrow, they might already have vetoed my succession to the throne. If he's already dead they'll let me succeed, to save themselves trouble. So poison the old sheep tonight, and take your money and go to the devil. I hope I never see you again. If you fail, I'll take damned good care you hang!"

"There is no risk of failure, unless you are too excited and behave suspiciously."

"Yes, there is," said Rundhia. "You do as I tell you. Be a little late with his tonic, so that he drinks it greedily. I'm going in to see him now. After I come out, you wait until someone else goes in to see him."

"But if no one goes?"

"I will take care that someone does go. If you give it to him in someone else's presence, it will look more innocent. Will he be able to speak after he drinks it?"

"No. It will paralyze his nerves immediately."

"How long will it take him to die?"

"Perhaps ten minutes. Perhaps less. It will appear to be heart failure."

"Very well then. Where's your needle? Give me a strong shot."

"No. Not too strong. You must not get the habit. After this, you will need your faculties and self-control, if we are not to be found out. I will give you just sufficient to steady your nerves."

The Maharajah stared, noted the expression on Rundhia's face when he entered the room and made a warning gesture toward the Punjabi stamp salesman.

"Can he understand English?" Rundhia demanded.

"I believe not."

"Well, I will speak English. If he does understand it, it won't matter. I want you to call up the Resident and demand the immediate arrest of Captain Norwood!"

"Why?" asked the Maharajah.

"He has not only taken a bribe from the priests, as you already know—"

"I have heard it said."

"You know it's true. And now he has assaulted me. He knocked me out with a punch in the face."

"Were you drunk?" asked the Maharajah. "He should be beneath my dignity to ask the Resident to take official cognizance of a brawl between two drunks."

CHAPTER XX

Lynn changed from the Indian costume. She entered the Maharanees's boudoir in a chignon evening gown.

"Please don't get up, Maharanees dear. You treat me as if I were royalty and you a subject or something."

"Why did you change your dress, Lynn? You looked so charming in—"

"Oh, this dress feels more honest somehow. I mean more like my real colors. Maharanees dear, I'm afraid I'm all upset. I'm not fit to talk to."

"Lynn dear, what has happened?"

"Rundhia made love to me, and I wasn't even polite to him. Captain Norwood came, and punched Rundhia—he knocked him off the wall. I thought he had killed him. Oh, why do I keep on getting other people into trouble!"

The Maharanees's worried face seemed to age under Lynn's eyes:

"Lynn, did he hurt Rundhia badly?"

"No, I think not. Rundhia walked away."

"Did you speak to Captain Norwood?"

"Yes, I insulted him. I did it thoroughly. I suppose I shouldn't have, since it was I who injured him. But I couldn't help it. He tore up my letter, so I tore up his. I am not meek by nature. I'm not good at pretending."

"And Rundhia wasn't hurt? You are sure?"

"Captain Norwood went down off the wall to look. It wasn't long before Rundhia walked away. I don't know why he didn't come back and face Captain Norwood, but perhaps he was too stunned by being knocked off the wall. Rundhia didn't behave very well."

"He needs you, Lynn."

Lynn laughed—bitter—contemptuous: "Needs me? I need a friend. Rundhia is—"

"Be strong," said the Maharanees. "I am your friend."

"Yes, bless you! Rundhia seemed strong," Lynn said. "And he talked like a perfect lover. I had almost begun to believe he can love. And then something happened. There was shooting—perhaps nothing important—I don't know. I asked Rundhia, and I thought he was lying when he said he didn't know. After that—it was quite sudden—I didn't believe in him any longer. I can't explain it. Then Captain Norwood came."

A servant entered. He announced that Prince Rundhia was waiting.

"Lynn, will you see him?"

"Not alone," Lynn answered.

The Maharanees thought a minute: "It is against precedent, against custom. Lynn dear, will you be shocked if I ask Rundhia to come in here to talk to us?"

Lynn found a smile. "I suppose you're afraid he might brag! Let's risk that. I won't tell."

Rundhia strode in. He stood stock-still in the center of the room. He was wearing a blood-red turban and dinner jacket. He looked like the real Rundhia again. Easy to imagine him horsed and riding hard at an enemy. He gazed at Lynn a moment, then at the Maharanees.

"Has Lynn told you?" he asked.

"Yes, Rundhia. What did you do to make Captain Norwood strike you?"

Rundhia tossed his head. He looked like a man when he did that.

"Lynn saw. Lynn heard," he answered. "I went at once and demanded Norwood's arrest. His Highness your husband, my revered and beloved uncle, refused. Lynn must decide."

"Lynn dear, what has happened?"

"Decide what?" Lynn asked.

Rundhia looked strangely at her. "Does he live or die? It was because you were there that Norwood struck me. I hadn't offered to strike him. There is only one possible resort to that insult—unless you forbid. That is what you must decide now. Lynn, I have offered you my heart and the throne of Kadur. What is your answer?"

"Lynn," said the Maharanees—and stopped speaking.

There was a knock at the door. A servant entered:

"Captain Norwood sahib! He waits. He begs leave to speak to Her Highness the Maharanees. Captain Norwood says his business is very urgent."

"I will not see Captain Norwood," said the Maharanees. "This is no hour for me to receive him." She stared at Rundhia. Then, slowly, to the servant: "Tell Captain Norwood he should ask for His Highness my husband. I will send word to His Highness, asking him to receive Captain Norwood."

The servant vanished.

Lynn got up out of her chair. She looked desolate but perfectly calm.

"Lynn darling," said the Maharanees.

Rundhia interrupted: "Norwood's fate is in your hands. I will do anything for you—if—"

"If what, Rundhia?"

"If you accept my love."

"I don't love you," she answered.

"Accept my love. My love will make you love me!"

"If not?" Lynn asked.

"I will kill Norwood. After that, I will let happen what may. If my love means nothing, I will trample it into oblivion. Yes or no, Lynn?"

"Rundhia," Lynn's voice was as quiet and controlled as if she were facing death. "The barrier between you and me is your laugh when you boasted of Captain Norwood's ruin. You promised me that you would do your best to clear him. Did you?"

"No," said Rundhia. "But if you will marry me, I will. I will accept your promise. I don't believe you know how to break one. I will keep mine."

"Rundhia," said Lynn, "I will promise to marry you, if you will write, and sign, a retraction of any and all accusations against Captain Norwood. You must put it in the form of a letter to the British Resident, and it must be witnessed by the Maharanees and the Maharajah.

You must meet Captain Norwood in my presence, and the Maharanees, and you must say to him personally that you withdraw. I won't ask you to beg his pardon, because I won't do that. I won't speak to him. But I insist on your behaving like a man."

The Maharanees spoke suddenly with a ring of command in her voice:

"Rundhia, go to the table and write!"

Rundhia went to the table. Lynn sat down beside the Maharanees:

"Maharanees dear, you must be my wise friend, for I am all in the dark. I feel so western and so lonely, and I don't know whether I am doing right or wrong. But I will do my best."

"Lynn—"

Lynn interrupted her: "Will you make me a promise? Will you never, never tell Captain Norwood why I married Rundhia? Will you keep it a secret?"

The Maharanees was silent for nearly a minute. She was not quite dry-eyed. She spoke suddenly, low-voiced:

"Lynn, do you love Captain Norwood?"

"Maharanees dear, I have promised to marry Rundhia."

CHAPTER XXI

Norwood stood stock-still, beneath a Tibetan devil-mask, between two suits of ancient Indian armor. He had sent up his card to the Maharanees with a request for an immediate interview. It was an outrageous request, and he knew it. The palace chamberlain approached him, stared—stared harder—hesitated, and then:

"Captain Norwood? We had heard you are dead!"

"Yes. I have been wondering who is sorry I'm not dead. Has the Maharajah heard it?"

"No, I believe not. He is rather inaccessible this evening. And it was only a rumor, unconfirmed yet. It was thought best not to mention it to him prematurely. May I congratulate you on your escape. It was said that criminals attacked your camp. I am sincerely—"

"Thanks."

"Your business at the palace? I think the Maharajah might be pleased to see you. He has a document—"

"I have asked to see the Maharanees."

"Oh, impossible! Captain Norwood, please. We have been very unconventional of late, but—"

"Here comes the servant," said Norwood.

The servant delivered his message: the chamberlain accompanied Norwood upstairs as far as the anteroom that led into the Maharajah's study:

"I am sure His Highness will be glad to see you, because of that new document he has discovered. The attendant in the anteroom will announce you. Hee-hee! You may believe it or not, but I wouldn't dare to do it."

"Don't mention my name," said Norwood.

"I wouldn't think of it. The doctor and I are not cronies. I will simply say someone went in. I believe you will be admitted. His Highness spoke of you. I think he really wants to see you."

The chamberlain left him. Norwood was announced. The Punjabi stamp salesman was dismissed, smiling as if he had done good business. The door closed, and Norwood was alone with the Maharajah.

At last the Maharajah spoke: "I am pleased to receive you, Captain Norwood, even though the hour is unusual. You came to speak to me about the—ah—boundary dispute? I starts in to round them up—and out. One of the most offensive algae—Reservoir Enemy No. 1—is Synura Uvella. He is a two-tailed creature that likes to travel in gangs of 50 or so. Such a bunch, magnified 600 times, makes a spot about the size of a quarter. Three of these gangs in a gallon of water will make it taste pretty awful—some say like geraniums; others like dead fish. Synura loves the cold, so is specially offensive in winter.

Anabaena is good-looking algae—under the microscope—with cells arranged in graceful curlicues. However, it creates an odor and taste described as "grassy, moldy and vile." Asterionella adds the delightful touch of a pig-pen odor to the reservoir water, and it, too, is pretty, with its cells arranged like a star.

These and other public water enemies are one reason why you have a water bill to pay. Just as you need a police department to protect you, so you need the men at the water works, particularly the trained chemists, to keep the water pure and tasty.

"Algae" Worry Scientists Seeking Pure Water Supply

Supplies pure, good-tasting water to a modern city has its ups and downs. One of the biggest "downs" is the sudden appearance of a small or taste suggesting moldy basements, cucumbers, pig pens or long-dead fishes. This means that algae is in the reservoir and instead of calling the police with a drag-net, the trouble shooters at the water works go hunting with a microscope.

Algae are the simplest and most ancient forms of plant life. They do not bother drinking water as long as they behave themselves. Usually they are taken care of by filtration and other purification. But, like any other, there is always a smart aleck or two. That is when the super-tendent of the reservoir has his worries.

Nearly every city water system that draws its supply from surface reservoirs must be guarded constantly against sudden invasions of such algae and their relatives, writes Walter E. Burton in Nature Magazine. The chemist at the water works keeps a rogue's gallery of photomicrographs of the offenders. Once they are identified he have news. Since I saw you, my secretary has found a document which seems to me to make the priests' case so ridiculous that—"

"Oh, I expect to find in the favor of the priests, Your Highness. Those documents may interest lawyers. I am only concerned with the boundary line. I have been accused of accepting a bribe from the priests—"

"Oh! Captain Norwood, you astonish me. Who is your accuser?"

"I supposed you already knew. He will tell you. As a matter of fact, I called on Her Highness the Maharanees. I want to speak to Miss Lynn Harding. I have reason to believe that without the Maharanees's advice she might refuse to see me until perhaps tomorrow. I need to see her tonight. I hoped to persuade the Maharanees to arrange the interview, but she refused, so I came to you instead."

"Is it urgent? Won't you please be seated? Won't you read this document?"

"Your Highness, do you think I would disturb you at this time of night if it wasn't urgent!"

"Oh, well, possibly an interview can be arranged. I will enquire presently. Won't you read that document?"

Norwood smiled agreeably: "I will. As you have reason to know, sir, I'm a bit slow at reading this ancient script."

"I wouldn't care to let that out of my possession," said the Maharajah.

"Suits me," Norwood answered. "I ask nothing better than to sit here for the time being. You will learn why, later."

The Maharajah looked up sharply, but Norwood raised the document between them. He couldn't see Norwood's face:

"You flatter me," he said after a moment.

At last came a knock at the door. The Maharajah tapped the gong with his fingers and the Bengali doctor entered, making his suave professional bow. He was followed by the Maharajah's personal attendant, carrying a big blue goblet on a silver tray. The Bengali eyed Norwood with horror.

"You are late," said the Maharajah. "Why are you late?"

"I was delayed, your Highness."

Norwood had laid down the document. He rose from his chair. He stepped behind the Bengali. He held his right fist ready for emergency and seized the goblet in his left hand. The Bengali stepped back, out of reach of the fist. The Maharajah made a sudden exclamation, not unlike a sheep's bleat. The white-clad servant backed away, showing the whites of his eyes. Norwood held the goblet toward the Bengali:

"Drink it!" he commanded.

The Bengali was speechless. It was several seconds before he could stammer: "Sir, are you mad?"

The Maharajah, with his elbows on the desk, and one hand within reach of the drumstick of the golden gong, leaned forward, staring.

Norwood spoke again quite calmly. But it was a deadly calm. It frightened the Bengali:

"You are, aren't you, the doctor who poisoned Mrs. Harding's toast?"

"Sir, beware whom you slander!" The Bengali appealed to the Maharajah: "Is Your Highness pleased to hear me slandered by a madman who is known to have been bribed by—"

Norwood interrupted: "Cut that! You heard me. Drink it!"

"That is His Highness' tonic." He looked almost happy. He sounded quite calm. But his fingernails drummed on the desk. Not a sign of humor.

Allergic Child May Be Upset In Many Ways

By DR. JAMES W. BARTON
(Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

IF AN infant or young child breaks out with hives or a skin rash, most mothers nowadays know that some food which disagrees with the youngster or to which he is allergic or sensitive is the cause. Most adults also know when they have hives just about which food is responsible.

TODAY'S HEALTH COLUMN

There are, however, other symptoms due to foods of which many mothers are not aware. Dr. H. A. Slesinger, Windber, Pa., points these out in Hygeia, the health magazine.

"Eczema in infants is usually caused by the presence of certain proteins in cow's milk which the child cannot tolerate. It is now possible for a child to be allergic (sensitive) to his own mother's milk. Many of these babies will recover completely and never have any more symptoms of allergy. Others will remain allergic to milk and must be kept on a milk-free diet for many years. Still others become allergic to other substances and will develop various symptoms."

Even a change in temperature affects some individuals sometimes almost taking away their breath or causing a stomach upset.

Dr. Slesinger says that the most satisfactory method of dealing with the allergic child is to try to remove the offending food from his diet, and the offending substance—pollen, feathers, furs—from his surroundings. When the food or other substance is difficult to remove from his diet or surroundings, then a process of trying to make him less allergic or sensitive to this food or other substance should be used. This is done in the case of food by starting with small amounts of the food daily and gradually increasing the amount until he is able to eat the usual serving without the development of any symptoms.

Age Important in Treatment of Hernia

TWO brothers consulted a physician regarding "lump" in the lower abdomen which was really a "threatened" rupture or hernia. As they disliked the idea of an operation and the injection treatment was not in use at the time, the physician advised abdominal exercises—lying on back and raising legs (knees straight)—and the wearing of a light truss to prevent threatened hernia from becoming worse.

In one case the results were most satisfactory and the "lump" completely disappeared, even when the truss was removed. In the other case the hernia became worse and operation was performed. Later, in the apparently cured case, there was no sign of hernia for 15 years until a heavy "lift" was made and the hernia "came down." Operation gave fine results as the abdominal muscles were in good condition.

What about trusses to control a rupture or hernia? In those whose abdominal muscle tissue is poor, in those who fear operation, and in those whose hernia is unsuitable for injection, the wearing of a properly fitted truss gives both comfort and safety.

I have seen a number "apparently" cured by exercise and the truss, but as in the case above mentioned the later history of the case might reveal a return of the hernia.

Can a rupture be cured by wearing a truss alone, that is, without exercise? Dr. Ralph Coyte, in the British Medical Journal, says:

"Concerning the chance for cure by wearing a truss, I should like to say that there does not appear to be any chance after the age of four. Even before the age of four, the chance of curing a hernia by simply wearing the truss is very small and depends on one important point. That is that once the truss has been applied no further protrusion (pushing through) be allowed until the truss is discarded, which may be only after several years."

It would be well for parents to consult their physician if their youngster under four has a hernia. They should not wait, hoping that it will disappear without treatment.

QUESTION BOX

Q.—Will foods containing lime help to strengthen finger nails? What foods contain lime?

A.—Yes. Foods containing lime are milk and dairy products, egg yolk and green vegetables.

Q.—Should a diabetic patient avoid starchy food?

A.—Yes. Starchy foods such as macaroni, bread, potatoes, pastry, crackers and cake should be avoided, or eaten in small quantities as your physician directs.

YOUTH

"THE best thing we can do for youth is to undertake to get back to real American thrift and economy in living—to get away from the idea that 'the Government owes us' one. We must get rid of the idea that youth and its elders too prevalently have today, that this is a good government to live in because it is a good one to live on and off from." —U. S. Representative C. The Pleasant Way to Correct Constipation

Why let yourself in for all the discomfort of constipation—and then have to take an emergency medicine—if you can avoid both by getting at the cause of the trouble?

If your difficulty, like that of millions, is due to lack of "bulk" in the diet, the "better way" is to eat Kellogg's All-Bran. This is crunchy toasted cereal—a natural food, not a medicine—has just the "bulk" you need. If you eat it every day, it will help you not only to get regular but to keep regular, month after month, by the pleasantest means you ever knew! Eat All-Bran often, drink plenty of water, and "Join the Regulars." Made by Kellogg's in Battle Creek. Sold by every grocer. If your condition is chronic, it is wise to consult a physician.

School Notes

HIGH SCHOOL

In the period following the downfall of Napoleon a movement led by Metternich, of Austria, tried to revise Absolute Monarchical rule throughout Europe. Underneath this muzzle of suppression, another movement was slowly gaining ground, the growth of democracy. The European history students are learning to appreciate this democratic heritage which was established after such long and strenuous effort. It is to be hoped they appreciate it enough to actively share in its preservations. Bookkeeping students are making final preparations before starting their big practice set of the year. This part, the recording of supplies and equipment, is the most difficult to understand of all the bookkeeping of the year.

The guidance class was fortunate in having Dr. LeClair give a speech about Dentistry on Wednesday afternoon. Dentistry is one of the many vocations we are making a study of in our guidance class. Dr. LeClair gave us a list of requirements a student must have and they are the following: Good moral standing in community, good health and stamina, personality, sense of touch, and ambition. These are very important in making a good dentist, it was pointed out. We were told the advantages and disadvantages of dentistry. Some of the advantages are: Your time is limited to six or eight hours a day, leaving time for recreation and to have a private office of your own; and it affords a good starting job from the start. Probably because of the fact that you will go to most anyone if your tooth is aching bad enough. Of course, there are disadvantages also, of which the following are a few. First, it is a very tiring and back-breaking profession and good health and sound physique are very necessary, second, you are forced to come in contact with many different kinds of people with diseased mouths and many times bodies, and last, the pay is not very high. Mr. LeClair gave as an example a bricklayer's salary compared with a dentist's, and it was found that the bricklayer's exceeded the dentist's after the amount put into both professions was considered.

Dr. LeClair said he would be willing to go into the subject more deeply with anyone who was interested in dentistry, and that he would let the person interested come down to his office and watch actual work on different kinds of teeth decay. We were glad to have him come and speak to us, and hope to benefit by his remarks.

SEVENTH and EIGHTH GRADES

Lucille Malcolm and Neil Libka received tickets to the play "Meet the Folks" as their posters were the best made in this room.

Those on the honor roll for this month are: seventh grade—Donna Moore, Ardith Lake, Harold Purcell, Marion Bing and Gay Young; eighth grade—Hugo Wegner, Neil Libka, Hazel Galliker, Maxine P. Potty and Evelyn Colby.

The seventh grade have started the study of the poem "The Courtship of Miles Standish," by H. W. Longfellow, for reading. Evelyn Colby spent the Easter vacation with her grandparents at Maple Ridge.

Hazel Galliker received the highest mark on the civics test Friday.

FIFTH and SIXTH GRADES

Jean Smith and Betty LaReau were awarded tickets for the Junior-Senior play as a reward for making posters. Mildred Shurkey, of Bay City, visited our room recently. Jean Lansky visited Tuesday.

The fifth grade language class is memorizing the poem entitled "Somebody's Mother." The sixth grade is learning the poem entitled "The Village Blacksmith."

The sixth grade language class has been studying the folding of business letters. Neil Thornton brought a number of letters for us to examine.

You pay a low price to begin with... You save on gas and oil...

AND YOU GET AN "8" NOTHING LESS!

WHEN every high-priced car made in America today has 8 cylinders or more, why should you take less in your new car? In a Ford you get an "8"—at low cost—and the Ford's 24.92 miles per gallon in the Gilmore-Yosemite economy test was best of all standard-equipped cars at its price! With it... you also get the most important fine-car "features" ever put together in a single low-priced car!

FOR THE GOOD THINGS THAT COUNT MOST OWN A FORD!
8-Cylinder Performance with proved best gas mileage among all three leading low-priced cars in this year's Gilmore-Yosemite Economy Run!
The Ride of the Year! Soft, quiet, safe, and with high tire mileage!
Longest Springbase in any Low-Priced Car!
Finger-Tip Control on Steering
Post! Positive, easy-acting mechanical type, not dependent upon engine. All models, no extra cost!
Biggest Hydraulic Brakes in any Low-Priced Car!
New Front Window Ventilation Control!
Sealed-Beam Headlamps! Longer life, 60% better light!

FORD V-8 DIFFERENT FROM ANY LOW-PRICED CAR YOU'VE EVER SEEN!
