Roads and Bridges—Van Patten, Brayman, Schmalz.

Official Bonds—McAuliff, Black, Lixey, Schneider, Brabant.

Agricultural—Burgeson, Anderson, Schmalz.

District Health—Bowman, Lixey.

In addition to the regular routine of the board a tentative budget was set up to be placed before the tax allocation Commission, which meets in June.

Womens Study Club

The Rual Women's Study club met at their rooms on Wednesday, April 10, with their newly elected officers. The roll call was answered to by current events pertaining to club work. A splendid report was given by Mrs. Dudley Nelem, delegate to the Federation. Gifts of appreciation were presented by Mrs. Luella Chambers, second vice president, to the past officers, Mrs. D. Nelem, Mrs. C. Timreck and Mrs. D. Fahselt, for their splendid work in helping to make the club a success.

At the close of the meeting a delicious lunch was served by Mrs. Frank Long and her aides. The next meeting will be held May 8.

Chamber of Commerce Meets Wednesday Night

An important meeting of the Tawas City Chamber of Commerce will be held next Wednesday night at the city hall. Important matters relative to the coming Perch Festival will come before this meeting and everyone interested is urged to be present.

Ladies Literary Club

After routine business was transacted at the Ladies' Literary club on Wednesday, a report of the State convention, held at Bay City on April 3, 4, 5 and 6, was given by Mrs. Robert W. Elliott. Tea and dainty cakes were served by the committee. The closing meeting of the club year was postponed until April 24, at 8:00 p. m.

Child Health Notes

The Children's Fund Health Unit will hold clinics in the East Tawas school on April 16 and 17 for school and pre-school children. The following program will be followed:

April 16—A. M. Physical examinations for all kindergarten children. Physical examinations for first grade children referred by the teacher and the nurse.

P. M. Examination of specially referred children in second and third grades.

April 17—A. M. Diphtheria and small pox immunization for all children in the school who present a consent card signed by the parent.

P. M. Physical examination of specially referred children in fourth, fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth grades.

Parents will receive notice of these clinics through the school and are urged to attend with the school child. The value of the physical examination is increased when a child's difficulties can be discussed with his parent.

There are a number of children in the school who need either a vaccination or a dose of toxoid to prevent diphtheria. Each child has a card to have signed for whatever he requires. The wise parent will protect his child. Children from six months of age will be welcome at any of the clinics.

Russell Rollin, Iosco County School Commissioner.

Notice To School Teachers

Superintendent of Public Instruction Dr. Eugene Elliott, has designated April 18 and 19 as Institute days. The Michigan Rural Teachers' Association will meet at Big Rapids on those dates. All teachers who can do so, are asked to attend the meeting.

FOR SALE or RENT—80 acres 3 miles north and 1 mile east of Whittemore, north 1/2 of northeast 1/4 of section 26. Suitable for farming or pasture. Raymond DeGrow, 908 Stanley ave., Pontiac, Mich. 4-12

State Bank, Whittemore and Herald Champions of Leagues

The Peoples State Bank team won the Major League championship at the Tawas City Recreation for this season by winning the playoff with Hatton's Barber Shop, winners of the second half. This was an exciting match and was witnessed by a large crowd. Grant Shattuck covered himself with glory as he paced his mates with the high total of 608. Grant was told that there was a trophy up for the winners, so he decided he would like to have it and shot the highest total he ever bowled. The members of the team will have their names engraved on the trophy and it will be kept on display at the Tawas City Recreation.

On Tuesday evening the Shedd's Products team, winner of the first half in the Minor league, and the Tawas Herald team, winner of the second half, bowled the play-off match to decide the league championship. It was an interesting match with the Newsboys emerging victorious with a 95 pin margin. C. T. Prescott, Jr., paced the ink-slingers with a total of 528, followed by P. N's First Lieutenant Ed. Libka, with a 508. Kenny Smith tried to throw a wrench in the press by hitting a 549, which led both teams, but his mates couldn't give him the necessary help and the Newsboys were declared champions. The team rosters were: Shedd's—Wm. Wendt, Jr., Kenny Smith (Capt), Ernie Moeller, Rollie Gackstetter, and Jack Dodson, with Walt Moeller, sub. The Tawas Herald—Hugh Prescott (Capt.), Mart. Reinke, Chuck Nordman, Ed. Libka, and C. T. Prescott Jr., and Dr. J. D. LeClair, sub.

The championship of the Inter-City league was won by Whittemore as they won both ends of the split season, a play-off match was unnecessary.

The Tawas City Recreation Ladies team and Silver Valley will bowl their play-off match on Wednesday evening, April 17, at 8:00. This will be a hard fought match and should bring out a large crowd of loyal fans. The girls are practicing and should put up a good battle.

The play-off match between the Tawas Herald and Triangle Shirts to decide the winner of the second half, was won by the Herald team with a margin of four pins. Bill Murray, of the Triangle team, couldn't bring his hook up and he didn't give his team the help that was expected. Harold Moeller, also of the Triangles, couldn't control his hook and wound up with the low total of 454. Harold hasn't been hitting so well since he went to the A. B. C's.

May Tax Sale

The annual tax sale of lands in Iosco County being sold for delinquent taxes will be held Tuesday, May 7, 1940, at the Court House.

The list of lands offered for sale may be obtained at the Oscoda Press, Oscoda.

The 1937 tax must be paid in full. The fifth installment of 1932 and prior years and third installment of 1933, 1934 and 1935 must be paid to avoid the sale.

Grace L. Miller, Iosco County Treasurer.

SMELT

Since Saturday night the smelt run has been on in Tawas river and Wednesday night both banks of the river, from the Haletown bridge to Whittemore street, a distance of at least a mile, were lined with fishermen. It is expected that the run will reach its peak during the week end.

Hundreds of fishermen from all sections of the county and state have been during the past few nights participating in this popular sport and before the run is over several tons of these silvery fish will have been dipped from the river. Sportsmen say that the smelt in the river are unusually large this season and that their number seem greater than ever.

As soon as the run of the silvery horde was known to be definitely on, George Myles, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, sent out postcards announcing it to 750 sportsmen in downstate cities who had been registered with the secretary. Many of these men and women have been coming here each year for several years and find a great amount of enjoyment in the sport.

The rain of Wednesday night or the frigid temperature of Thursday night did not seem to stop operations, and nets dipped continuously filling pails, sacks, milk cans, washtubs and any other available receptacles.

Mrs. Sarah Gardner

Mrs. Sarah Gardner, widow of the late Walter M. Gardner, well-known lumberman, passed away Friday evening, March 29, at her residence in East Tawas.

The deceased was born September 14, 1857, at Ogdensburg, N. Y. In 1879 she was united in marriage to Walter M. Gardner. She leaves to mourn her death, three sons, Charles, of Port Arthur, Ont.; Walter, of Detroit, and Lawrence of East Tawas; one daughter, Miss Mary Gardner of East Tawas; one sister, Mrs. M. O'Neil, of Detroit, and eight grandchildren.

The funeral services were held Monday afternoon. Rev. James R. Colby officiated. Interment was in the East Tawas cemetery.

Mrs. Gardner was a member of the Episcopal church, L. L. C. and Order of Eastern Star.

To Plant Three Million Trees in Huron Forest

More than three million pine trees now in the Beal Forest Nursery at East Tawas will be planted on the Huron National Forest this spring. The forest includes 769,000 acres, located in Iosco, Alcona, Oscoda, Ogemaw and Crawford counties.

Tree planting was started on this forest in 1911, and since that time 91,000 acres and over one hundred million trees have been planted. In the future it is planned to plant 200,000 acres additional to complete the planting job on acres needing reforestation.

The tree planting this spring will be done mostly by CCC enrollees from Silver Creek, located near here, and Luzerne and Eldorado camps, located near Luzerne. The tree planters will each plant approximately one thousand trees per day, or approximately an acre of future timberland.

Tree planting operations will start around April 15, or as soon as the frost is out of the ground, and will be completed by May 30, according to Ralph E. Crowell, Forest Supervisor of the Huron National Forest.

District Oratorical Meet at East Tawas

Five schools will meet in East Tawas Friday, April 19, for the annual speech contest sponsored by the state. Three oratorical speakers, five declaimers and two extempore speakers are taking part.

Judging will be done by the coaches: Miss Mildred Goldberg, of West Branch; Edward Borgholi, of Standish; Miss Elizabeth Ballie, of Prescott; Miss Margaret Powell, of Pinconning; Mrs. D. A. Evans, of East Tawas; Wm. Cameron McKay, who won a banner for the East Tawas high school last year in oratory, will preside.

Those who won in the East Tawas local contest this spring and who will therefore represent the school are: Dorothy Haglund in orations; Glen Ross in declamations; and Martin McCormick in extempore speaking.

The contest will take place at the Community Building in East Tawas at 8:00. The public is cordially invited.

A. I. A. Met With Omer O. E. S. Chapter

Friday evening Grace Chapter of Omer, Order of the Eastern Star, entertained the A. I. A. Tri-County association. The degrees were exemplified.

After initiation the secretaries and treasurers of the eight chapters of the association were honored. Grand Treasurer, Gertrude Lewis, of Ashley, gave an interesting address and was presented with a gift of flowers.

Deary refreshments were served by Grace Chapter.

The A. I. A. Tri-County association of Eastern Stars will be entertained at Whittemore, Monday, April 22. Grand Martha, Mary Browning, of Iron Mountain, will be an honored guest. All present and past Marthas of the eight chapters will be honored.

UNIT SYSTEM ADOPTED IN BURLEIGH

New Board of Education Will be Elected April 16

On April 1 the school electors of Burleigh township voted to unify the four existing school districts of the township by forming a township unit school. This is a forward step in the establishment of a community school which will be a genuine credit to the people of Burleigh township in years to come.

The move has made it possible for this area to qualify for more state aid support both the elementary and the high schools. Also, state-subsidized transportation will be made available.

The extent of the transportation system and the full realization of all other plans depend on the decisions of the new board of education. This new school board will be elected by all the electors of the township, the election being conducted by the township board on Tuesday, April 16, from nine a. m. to six p. m. Following the organization of this new board a settlement will be made in which the four former districts turn over their property, records, and funds to the new board of education.

The ultimate control of the newly formed district rests with the new board. It will be their duty to formulate the policies for directing transportation and finance.

When the present ones are completed, each elementary room will include only two grades. This will permit more concentration on individual instruction and longer periods for recitation. Also, the vocational program will be more varied, such useful subjects as farm shop, applied agriculture, manual training, and home economics being added to the curriculum.

All of these improvements are made possible through the formation of a township unit and the people in Burleigh township are to be congratulated on taking such a forward step for the improvement of their schools.

Here's an Easy Way To Do Smocking

By RUTH WYETH SPEARS
A MOTHER writes: "I have enjoyed using the embroidery stitches in SEWING Book 2. I find a great deal of pleasure in handwork for the dresses of my little five-year-old, and am particularly interested in smocking."

Here is a trick that is useful for making honeycomb smocking in points without a special pattern. The fullness of any dress may be basted into tucks of graduated length, as at A. Even a little fullness in the center front or at the neckline may be smocked in one or two points. Always baste the center front tuck first and then work each way from it. The smocking starts at the left and is done with colored thread. Begin at the top of the second tuck. Catch it to the tuck at the left with three stitches. Work from the top down along each tuck as shown. The stitch at B is made by sliding the needle along inside the tuck.

NOTE: If you like to do handwork you will want a copy of Mrs. Spears' Book 2. It contains directions for making 42 embroidery stitches with their authentic names. Also illustrations of five processes of mending fabrics; making doll clothes, and gift items. Books are 10 cents each—please order by number—No. 1, 2, 3 and 4. Each book contains an assortment of 32-pages of curtains, slip covers, rag rugs, toys, gifts and novelties for bazaars. With your order for four booklets you will receive a FREE set of three Quilt Block patterns of Mrs. Spears' Favorite Early American Quilts. Send orders to:

Making Amends Was Bit Out of Paperhanger's Line

Whitley was having some decorating done, including the re-papering of the dining-room and the bath-room. His wife was away, so he left the men on the job when he went to business.

When he returned they were just finishing. But there had been some mistake. The dining-room paper was in the bath-room, while the dining-room showed an elegant design in green tiles and purple water-lilies.

"What are you going to do about it?" demanded the angry householder, when he'd pointed out the mistake.

"I dunno," said the paperhanger, scratching his head. "I'd willingly move the bath—but it's a plumber's job."

THE TRUTH SIMPLY TOLD
Today's popularity of Doan's Pills, after many years of world-wide use, surely must be accepted as evidence of satisfactory use. And favorable public opinion supports that of the able physicians who test the value of Doan's under exacting laboratory conditions.

These physicians, too, approve every word of advertising you read, the objective of which is only to recommend Doan's Pills as a good diuretic treatment for disorder of the kidney function and for relief of the pain and worry it causes.
If more people were aware of how the kidneys must constantly remove waste that cannot stay in the blood without injury to health, there would be better understanding of why the whole body suffers when kidneys lag, and diuretic medication would be more often employed.
Burning, scanty or too frequent urination sometimes warn of disturbed kidney function. You may suffer nagging back-ache, persistent headache, attacks of dizziness, getting up at night, swelling, puffiness under the eyes—feel weak, nervous, all played out.
Use Doan's Pills. It is better to rely on a medicine that has won world-wide acclaim than on something less favorably known. Ask your neighbor!

TALBOT MUNDY—WNU SERVICE

At the foot of the stairs, Norwood pulled out his cardcase, produced a card and gave it to one of the palace servants:

"Send that up to Miss Lynn Harding. Say I will be waiting outside. I will meet her near the front steps."

He walked out. Under the glare of the portico light he pulled out his handkerchief, raised his right arm and waved it.

O'Leary's shrill whistle answered: long-short, long-short—"Order received and executed—okay!"

O'Leary had released the Bengali doctor.

CHAPTER XXII

Lynn looked like a ghost in white chiffon. She turned instinctively to the right and stepped into the darkness. She stood within a few paces of the spot where, one night ago, she had bridled at Norwood's blunt comments. It seemed as if a whole lifetime had passed in the interval. The guitar and the songs on the wall were a far-off memory.

Norwood strode out of the darkness. "Silence!" he said. "Not a word. Nothing so easy on the nerves as saying nothing."

They continued walking until they came to a moonlit lotus pond and stood together staring at the reflections of trees. A little animal jumped into the water and swam. They watched the ripples spread until they reached the marble banks. At last Norwood spoke:

"Peeling better?"

"I can't analyze it. I suppose I'm feeling guilty."

"Want some more silence?"

"No. I would rather you'd say what you think."

Norwood chuckled: "You remember the parrot. I draw extra pay for thinking and not talking. I have only one virtue."

"You say only one virtue? What is it?"

"I never use double meanings."

"Are you telling the truth?"

"Yes."

"Good. Then please say what you think of me, straight, without any double meanings or reservations. Let's get that over with."

"Very well, Lynn. But are you quite sure you won't be belligerent about it? I didn't bring you out here to start a fight."

It wasn't the first time he had called her Lynn, but she noticed it. When Rundhia first called her Lynn she actually hadn't noticed it.

"I never am belligerent," she answered.

"No? What a pity. Of course, I don't expect to be shot but I don't even want to make you really angry. You're a bit angry now, aren't you?"

"Yes, but with myself. I'm not angry with you. Go ahead, punish me. I'll take it. Say what you think."

"Do you promise you won't hit back, or make a scene, or accuse me of hidden motives?"

"Captain Norwood, kindly go ahead and tell me. I've treated you very badly and you're entitled to revenge. I will listen. And won't answer back."

"Don't promise."

"Say what you think," she insisted.

"I think the same now that I did when I first saw you."

"What is it?"

"Perhaps I'm not being quite accurate. It wasn't until that astonishing picnic at the palace that I made up my mind to marry you. I fell in love with you at first sight, without guessing who you were, when I saw you with the Maharanee in the carriage. When I saw you on horseback in the early morning, it was all over as far as I'm concerned—nothing further to argue about. I've committed myself to the hilt. How about you?"

Lynn caught her breath. "I—I never dreamt of it!"

"I know you didn't. And you're not dreaming now. We're both of us stone-cold sober and wide awake."

"Do you always make love like this?"

"I don't even know the first rules of the game. I'm a chronic bachelor, suddenly converted."

"But Captain Norwood—"

"The only girl I ever fell in love with calls me Carl or else calls the police."

"But—" Lynn laughed. "Are there any police?"

"Try. Shout for them. An Indian night is as full of eyes as the sky is of stars."

"But I wouldn't know what to say to the police. I'd better call you Carl."

"And now to use one of your phrases, let's get this over with: I'm a pauper. I've four hundred pounds a year and an Engineer Captain's pay."

"Carl, I hope you don't think I'm wealthy. I haven't a cent in the world. I've been disinherited."

"You have? Is that an actual fact?"

"Yes. Auntie hasn't even left me a reputation."

That's marvelous! Oh, my God, what luxury! I was scared stiff."

"You? Scared?"

"Yes. Scared of you. Afraid you'd think I was after your money."

"Carl, I haven't a cent."

"All right. More preliminaries. Mostly I live in a tent. My servants are scandalous rogues, who know nearly as much as I do about crime and treachery and worse."

Lynn laughed: I never lived in a tent, and I've been kept away from sinners. I'm a very ignorant person. You'd better think again, hadn't you?"

"No. I've finished thinking about that. But how about you? It's your last chance. Lynn, you're on the edge of the abyss of matrimony. Any questions?"

"Millions of questions! Billions! I don't even know you. I'll ask them afterwards."

"Good. That's the style. There'll be lots of time afterwards. Well, you've refused to call the police, and you've promised not to talk back or make a scene. So I'll be damned if I'll wait any longer. Lynn, I love you."

The Indian night and the Indian stars; the perfumed silence and the moonlit lotus pool all merged into a consciousness of love—one moment of eternity that swept away the past—one moment of unselfconscious mystery in which the lover and the loved were one and all life was their realm, all values were in true perspective. Love was real. Everything else was illusion and unreal. Until gradually, even in Carl Norwood's arms, Lynn's awareness of earth resumed its spell and she looked away at their reflections in the moonlit lotus pond.

Lynn looked like a ghost in white chiffon.

"Look, Carl. See us! Look."

"Shadows." Then he spoke strangely: "Shadows of reflections that reflect what? You and I are shadows. We move in response to something else. What is it?"

"Carl are you real? Is that your answer back?"

"I suspect it's the real me talking to the real you. Lynn, I'm steeped in eastern thought. Life's good. We're growing—getting wiser gradually. That's why I spared Rundhia. He'd have been hanged if I hadn't done what I did. Now he'll get some money from the Maharanee and live in Europe."

"But Carl—" Lynn hesitated. "Perhaps I shouldn't say it."

"All right, I'll say it for you. He'll go to Europe and do it again. And blots of women won't have sense enough to stand him off until he's ruined them and sneered and gone."

"Yes, I was thinking of that. It was a mean thought."

"No, it wasn't."

"The way I thought it, it was mean. Carl, I believe you because I can't disbelieve you, not for any other reason. It seems impossible. How can such a man as you are, with such thoughts as you think, possibly love me? I believe I deliberately tempted Rundhia. The Maharanee—"

Norwood chuckled. "All right, I'll say that for you, too. She said he really loved you. He'd be a fool if he didn't. The trouble is, he is a fool. So it won't last. Not that it makes any difference."

"But if I've made him wretched—"

"That's his business. Each of us pays for his own mistakes."

"But that was my mistake."

"Your end of it was yours. But you paid cash. Rundhia doesn't. He lets the bill run at compound interest. Everybody makes mistakes. Nobody's worth a damn who hasn't made 'em."

"Bad ones?"

"The worse the better. The rule is, learn and don't repeat. On that condition there's no aftermath. You pay once and that's all."

"Carl, do you mean that a person's past isn't—"

Norwood laughed: "Sink of iniquity, Lynn, unchastened Jezebel, come to think of it, I left your past history seated on a trunk on the path outside the guesthouse. What with the mosquitoes and her temper she'll be cooking up a future unless we go to her rescue."

"Carl, I'm shameless. I really am. I'd forgotten Auntie."

"Did you ever have toothache? One forgets that, too, afterwards."

"But this isn't afterwards. You don't know Auntie. Carl, I'll go to her. You mustn't come. Please, really, you mustn't. She will say things that I don't want you to hear. They're not true but she'll say them."

"Are you sure?"

"You mean, am I sure they're not true?"

"I mean, are you sure she'll say them?"

"Yes. She always does when she's angry."

"Let's find out."

"Carl, I'm—"

"You're embarrassed. So'm I. It's good for both of us, so let's do it together."

They took their time, strolling along shadowy moonlit paths toward the guesthouse, too interested in each other to notice voices until they were quite close up beneath the darkness of the overhanging trees.

The trunks no longer stood in a row on the garden path. There was a light in the servants' pantry at the rear, and a smell of cooking. Light poured through the living-room window.

"Hush," said Norwood. "Listen. Rule number one is don't talk in the dark. Rule number two is listen and learn, but never tell tales."

The Maharanee's voice came quite distinctly through the open window: "If I, who am broken-hearted, can forgive my nephew Rundhia—"

An unmistakable voice interrupted: "You're being silly. Don't be sentimental. You probably ruined Rundhia by being sentimental. At your age you ought to know better. You should have spanked him when he was young, and kept him short of pocket money when he was older. I neglected to spank Lynn. That's the trouble and I'm ashamed of myself. Are you sure you know where she is? Are you quite sure? Who told you she is near the lotus pond with Captain Norwood?"

"Six servants," said the Maharanee, "and one gardener. Also the Chief of Police very kindly took the trouble to phone me about it."

"Imagine the impudence of that girl!"

"But I haven't noticed that she is impudent."

"If she was in love with Captain Norwood she should have told me."

"Do you think she knew it?" asked the Maharanee. "I knew it, late this evening. But do you think that Lynn knew it?"

Auntie Harding cackled a chair-woman's ladylike laugh on two notes, politely derisive:

"Knew it? Maharanee, what this younger generation knows is more than you and I ever will know. They're incorrigible. That girl has more whalebone in her will than there are cents in a dollar. It isn't brittle. You can't break it. It's resilient."

"Yes," said the Maharanee, "this generation has its own ideas. It goes its own way. Lynn will go far."

Oh, officers' wives get puddings and pies And soups and roasts and jellies, But poor Tommie's wives get sweet—

The most talked of newspaper serial of the past decade!

A GAY, lighthearted story of the political game as we Americans see it. It's brand new—and as refreshing as a cool summer's breeze. You'll admire kind-hearted Aunt Olympia, a politician born and made. Much more of a politician than her husband, that funny little man, Senator Alencon Delaporte Slopshire. But you'll save much of your affection for the three beautiful orphans—three glorious political assets.

It's a laugh-laden tale, typically American and overwhelmingly funny! Your readers' choice for the "serial of the year."

Methods Used For Ingrown Toenail Cure

By DR. JAMES W. BARTON (Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

IT IS unfortunate that many physicians give little or no attention to the foot ailments of which their patients complain—painful arches, corns, bunions, hammertoes, ringworm and others.

When it is realized that the entire weight of the body—100 to 250 pounds—rests on the feet and that in the simple act of walking the front part of the foot and toes have to lift and carry forward all this weight, some idea may be gathered of the great pressure on the toes. Instead of leaving the work of corns, ingrown toenails, and other defects to the chiropodists, although many chiropodists are skillful and use safe or antiseptic measures at all times, the physician should think of the feet as of any other organ of the body.

As an ingrown toenail often gives the patient and physician considerable annoyance and concern, Dr. Carl J. Heifetz, St. Louis, gives some helpful suggestions in the American Journal of Surgery.

The main underlying causes of ingrown toenail are ill-fitting footwear and improper cutting of the nails. The nails should be allowed to grow to considerable length and then cut straight across.

Three Stages of Symptoms. The symptoms and signs of ingrown toenail are conveniently divided into three stages: (a) inflammation and redness, (b) inflammation and a little moisture (thin at first), and (c) formation of new or granulation tissue.

In the early stages of ingrown toenail, Dr. Heifetz suggests careful packing of absorbent cotton moistened with alcohol, between the edge of the nail and the soft parts. Use a small flat instrument. Collo-dion is then applied to the cotton and allowed to dry. If a sufficiently wide shoe or a cut-out shoe is worn, the packing changed weekly, and the nail allowed to grow long enough so that it can be correctly trimmed, a lasting cure can usually be obtained.

As the second and third stages require more intensive treatment and operation, they should be under the care of a physician.

Mucous Colitis Due to Nervousness
The large bowel or intestine is known as the colon, so that an inflammation of the colon is called colitis.

What is known as mucous colitis is very common these days, as it is usually due to nervousness or emotional upsettings, which are met with so often now. There is usually soreness over abdomen, pain resembling colic, constipation (due to spasms) with large quantities of mucous, either alone or covering hardened wastes (feces) in shape of strings, shreds and bands sometimes tinged with blood. There are present also headaches and physical tiredness. The treatment of mucous colitis consists in trying to acquire calmness (avoiding excitement) and the use of soft foods—fruit juices, green vegetables such as grow above ground, cooked fruits, buttermilk, clear soups, puddings, custards. Foods to be avoided are fried foods, preserved, spiced and canned meat and fish, corn, turnips, berries, alcoholics, gravies, sauces, condiments such as pepper and mustard.

Chronic Ulcerative Colitis. However, there is a more severe form of colitis known as chronic ulcerative colitis in which the lining of the bowel is greatly inflamed and ulcerated. In this type of colitis, slime, pus and blood come away with the stools which have a disagreeable odor. There is also the distress, pain and tiredness over the abdomen, loss of appetite, loss of weight and anemia—thin blood.

Diet here is likewise very important. At first all rough or solid food is avoided, only cereal waters being allowed. Then cereal gruels alone for some time followed gradually by milk, orange and lemon juice. Then scraped meat. Cleansing enemas containing baking soda, table salt and boric acid are used daily.

QUESTION BOX
Q.—Is colitis due to eating rough food?
A.—Colitis is usually due to nervousness and emotional disturbances, but rough foods can aggravate it.

Q.—I am 23 years old and I am becoming bald. I would appreciate your advice.
A.—If you have had a recent illness your hair will likely return. If not, you should ask your physician about a blood test.

Things to make

WE OFFER here two new cut-outs. Practical as well as decorative features are incorporated in the duck; decorative-ness alone is the purpose of the sunbonnet girl. These designs, of course, are to be traced on wall-board, plywood or thin lumber. Jig, coping or keyhole saw may be used to cut them out, and when painted they become attractive ornaments for your lawn.

Outlines for the 19-inch duck and his "Keep Off Grass" sign are on pattern Z9086, 15 cents. A "Use Walk" sign is also given.

In about 24-inch size, the ever-popular sunbonnet girl and her sprinkling can are on pattern Z9088, 15 cents.

Select one or both of these clever cutout figures. General cutout directions, as well as specific painting suggestions come with each pattern. Send order to:

NOTICE

OF LETTING OF INTER-COUNTY DRAIN CONTRACT AND REVIEW OF APPORTIONMENTS

Notice is hereby given, That we, Clare Forshee, George Schroeder and Elmer Scott, County Drain Commissioners of the Counties of Arenac, Iosco and Ogemaw, State of Michigan, and John Hudson, Deputy Commissioner of Agriculture will, on the 30th day of April A. D. 1940, at the N. W. Corner of Sec. 16 in the township of Whitney, in said County of Arenac at 10:00 o'clock in the forenoon of that day, proceed to receive sealed bids until 11:00 o'clock in the forenoon of that day, when bids will be opened and publicly announced for the construction of a certain Drain known and designated as "Pink Extension Drain," located and established in the Township of Whitney, County of Arenac.

Said drain will be let in one section having the average depth and width as set forth: All stations are 100 feet apart. Beginning at station number 0 at the lower end of said drain and extending to station number 251, a distance of 25,100 feet, and having an average depth of 3.6 feet, and a 10 foot wide bottom.

Said job will be let in accordance with the diagram now on file with the other papers pertaining to said drain, in the office of the County Drain Commissioners of the counties of Arenac, Iosco and Ogemaw, to which reference may be had by all parties interested, and bids will be made and received accordingly. Contracts will be made with the lowest responsible bidder giving adequate security for the performance of the work, in the sum then and there to be fixed by me, reserving to myself the right to reject any and all bids, and to adjourn such letting to such time and place as we shall publicly announce.

The date for the completion of such contract, and the terms of payment therefor, shall and will be announced at the time and place of letting. Any person desiring to bid on the above mentioned work will be required to deposit with the Drainage Board a certified check or its equivalent to the amount of two hundred dollars as a guarantee that he will enter into contract and furnish the required bond as prescribed by law. The checks of all unsuccessful bidders will be returned after contracts are awarded.

Notice is Further Hereby Given, that on Wednesday the 22nd day of May, 1940, at the N. W. Corner of Sec. 16, in the Township of Whitney, County of Arenac, or at such other time and place thereafter, to which we, the Drainage Board of aforesaid, may adjourn the same, the apportionment for benefits and the lands comprised within the "Pink Extension Drain Special Assessment District," and the apportionments thereof will be subject to review for one day, from nine o'clock in the forenoon until five o'clock in the afternoon. At said review the computation of costs for said drain will also be open for inspection by any parties interested.

"Big News" Now?

WHEN BETTER AUTOMOBILES ARE BUILT BUICK WILL BUILD THEM

YOU can figure it out for yourself from what you see in daily traffic and what you hear when the talk turns to automobiles.

Buick's pacing the pack. Has been for several years.

It called this year's style turn a year ago. It set current performance standards in '38 with its Dynaflex engine. It still leads the crowd for riding qualities with its BuicCoil

Springing, now in its third year. So where's a more logical place to look for next year's "big news" than in this year's big and roomy Buick?

It may be smoother engines. Buick is the only car that now balances power plants after assembly.

Coil springs all around may come. Buick's never need lubrication, are practically indestructible, and even cut down skid-risks.

Maybe it'll be heavier frames — Buick has the heaviest of any car of its price. Or maybe many of the "extra touches" Buick so freely applies — safety-latches on rear doors and Two-Way Direction Signals with automatic cut-off.

You get all of these things now in Buick.

Get them with the plus of Buick quality of materials and workmanship—get them at a price that suggests a six instead of an eight.

So it's easy to start enjoying future "new features" right now.

Just go try a Buick. Look it over, inside and out. And get the prices.

Even if you've been buying in the lowest-price field you'll find it takes less than you think to step up to a Buick. Prices begin at $895* delivered at Flint, Mich.; transportation based on rail rates, state and local taxes (if any), optional equipment and accessories—extra. Prices subject to change without notice.

You get a "Good Deal" Two Ways from Your Buick Dealer

A good "deal" when it comes to old-car allowances—and a whale of a lot of automobile in your new Buick. See your dealer and find out for yourself.

"Best buy's Buick!"

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS BY JOSEPH W. LaBINE

Dewey Campaign Gains Steam With N. Y., Wisconsin Victories; Third Term Grows Less Likely

(EDITOR'S NOTE—When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of the news analyst and not necessarily of this newspaper.)
Released by Western Newspaper Union.

POLITICS: In the Spring

From coast to coast in early April the grass roots were turning green. For politicians more than anyone else, the fresh spring air was filled with anticipation. Congress grew restless, prompting Senate Majority Leader Alben Barkley to forecast adjournment in June just before the national conventions.

More pointed harbingers of an election year were primaries in New York and Wisconsin, which sent youthful Tom Dewey's star a-soaring and left Cactus Jack Garner's supporters hanging on the ropes. In the Empire state, whose delegates will be uninstructed, G. O. P. Hopeful Frank Gannett was nevertheless pigeon-holed in the public mind. In America's Dairyland, Tom Dewey not only outpointed Michigan's Sen. Arthur Vandenberg for G. O. P. delegates but also got more votes than Franklin Roosevelt got in the Democratic primary.

MICHIGAN'S VANDENBERG
Dewey also beat Roosevelt.

If third termites thought the President's Wisconsin victory over Jack Garner was a favorable sign, they also saw signs to the contrary. In Los Angeles Eleanor Roosevelt spoke her personal opinion; she was against a third term "except in extraordinary circumstances." If Europe's war was such a circumstance, Sumner Welles had probably convinced the President that the White House can never bring the Allies and Germany to peace.

At Monongah, W. Va., meanwhile, C. I. O.'s John Lewis threatened to start his own third party unless the Democrats choose a platform and candidates suitable to him. Definitely not acceptable, C. I. O. has already intimidated, is Franklin Roosevelt. And Montana's Sen. Burton K. Wheeler, whom John Lewis would like to see President, made it plain at San Francisco that he does not expect the President to run, that he himself is not a third party candidate, but that he would become Democratic candidate should the party invite him.

CONGRESS:

Fraud?

Mad as hornets were New York's Rep. Ham Fish and North Carolina's Sen. Bob Reynolds. By bundling Ambassador Bill Bullitt back to France aboard the clipper, Secretary of State Hull had cheated them out of an investigation. Subject: The German "white book" charges, intimating Bullitt had promised Jerzy Potocki, Polish ambassador to the U. S., that America would fight along with France and Britain against Germany.

Meanwhile the enterprising New York News branded as frauds the papers which Germany claimed to have taken from Polish archives when Warsaw was seized. Basis for the News' charge was the testimony of three translators who indicated that "the German propaganda ministry has slipped some new words into the Polish language." Two translators "commented that the report was written in such poor Polish that no statesman could have been guilty of its authorship." Two words, they said, were not even in the Polish language; a third was archaic.

Also in congress:
By limiting debate, the senate expedited approval of a house resolution to extend for three years the administration's reciprocal trade program. Biggest stumbling block was the attempt to retain senate ratification power over such treaties.

Economy, already blasted by a $300,000,000 boost in the farm bill, went by the boards again when the senate appropriations subcommittee added $44,000,000 for civil functions of the war department. Still ahead was the relief bill, which spending forces hoped to boost $500,000,000 above the President's $1,000,000,000 request.

The farm credit administration got a going-over in both houses. In the senate, National Grange Master L. J. Taber appealed for a bill to make FCA independent again, removing it from the agriculture department where it was placed by governmental reorganization last year. In the house, farm leaders opposed a bill to liberalize FCA loans to farmers. Reason: It might stand in the way of parity prices. The treasury, which saw interest rates going up, opposed a flat 3 per cent rate on FCA loans.

WHITE HOUSE:

Week's Work

From Grangeville, Idaho, 67-year-old Mrs. Elva Canfield set out on horseback for a six-week job, counting noses among the hardy souls who live in a 1,000-square-mile area in the Seven Devils mountains. Throughout the rest of the nation 120,000 other canvassers did likewise. In Washington, Sen. Charles Tobey of New Hampshire ushered in the sixteenth decennial census with a radio address urging Americans not to answer questions which "violate the constitutional right of privacy."

The day it started, No. 1 Census Taker William L. Austin counted the nose of America's No. 1 Citizen, Franklin Roosevelt (see photo). While photographers blazed away, the President asked and was assured that his census form was confidential. Skipped over lightly was the question on whether he held a mortgage on his residence, the White House.

Pet project of the week, however, was Franklin Roosevelt's third government reorganization order, to become effective in 60 days unless specifically rejected by either house or senate. Main aims:

(1) Creation of a federal fiscal officer, a permanent civil service employee with rank of assistant treasury secretary, who would rule the public debt service, commissioner of accounts and deposits, and U. S. treasurer.

(2) Assumption by the treasury of jurisdiction over the quasi-independent federal alcohol administration.

(3) Creation of a "surplus marketing administration," composed of the AAA's division of marketing and the federal surplus commodities corporation.

MEDICINE:

At Cleveland

Death from coronary thrombosis is really caused by suffocation of the heart, which fails to receive oxygen. At Cleveland, where the American College of Physicians met, a past president told how bay-windowed business men can avoid thrombosis. Dr. William J. Kerr of San Francisco pointed out that elastic belts which hold up "adiposities" raise the diaphragm, thus drawing more oxygen into the heart.

NEWS QUIZ

Know your news? One hundred points if you answer all the following questions. Deduct 20 for each question you miss. Score of 60 to 100 is good to perfect.

1. What controversy did the above signature arouse?
2. True or False: The earl of Athlone has been selected governor general of Australia.
3. Has the U. S. recognized the new Chinese regime just established at Nanking by Wang Ching-wei?
4. True or False: Women's new spring fashions accentuate the hips.
5. Choice: According to testimony of a WPA timekeeper at San Francisco, 13 cabinet makers' helpers, 5 cabinet makers, 2 carpenters and 5 painters repaired two high chairs. It took them: (a) 2 hours; (b) 46 hours; (c) 194 hours.

News Quiz Answers

1. Potocki, Polish ambassador to the U. S., was alleged by German sources to have placed this signature over an account of his conversation with William Bullitt, U. S. ambassador to France, in which Bullitt allegedly promised U. S. aid to the allies. Some experts call the signature a forgery.
2. False. Governor general of Canada, not Australia.
3. No, and the Wang government is consequently angry.
4. False. Carmen Snow, editor of Harper's Bazaar, says of the new skirts: "Your hips melt away."
5. (C) is correct. The job cost $190.

EUROPE:

Czar Churchill

In the World war a British landing at Gallipoli was turned into bloody defeat. Whipping boy for this catastrophe was Winston Churchill, then as now first lord of the admiralty. In defense, Minister Churchill has always maintained the Gallipoli attack would have succeeded if he had been running both army and navy.

By early April Adolf Hitler's spring offensive was getting underway. Hermann Goering boasted his air force was ready for a decisive blow "in the west" while at sea his planes bombed Scapa Flow and British convoys. To offset these attacks the allies tightened their trade noose around Germany, calling home envoys to neutral nations for conferences designed to block Nazi commerce channels. The show-down was obviously near.

Dramatically, Prime Minister Chamberlain suddenly satisfied both the British people and Winston Churchill by naming him head of a three-man inner "war cabinet." Others: Sir Kingsley Wood and Sir John Simon, lord privy seal and exchequer, respectively.

Next day, while Czar Churchill polished his brass knuckles, Premier Chamberlain boasted he was "10 times as confident" of victory now as when the war began because Adolf Hitler "missed the bus" by failing to use Germany's arms superiority last autumn.

This confidence was contagious. At Paris, Premier Paul Reynaud left a conference of his inner cabinet and military leaders to speak via radio to America. Said he: "France will sign no 'phony' peace."

UNAMERICANISM:

King Pelley I

Head of the pro-Fascist, anti-Jewish Silver Legion is goated William Dudley Pelley. At Washington, when the Dies un-Americanism committee opened its latest series of hearings, Fascist Pelley found himself well smeared by a blonde named Dorothy Waring. A secret agent, formerly with the McCormack committee, Miss Waring told the Dies investigators that Pelley once came to her New York apartment dressed in uniform, black boots, shoulder strap and pistol.

What he wanted, she said, was financial support for the Legion. On one future day he promised to lead a march on Washington which would make him U. S. dictator, "the country's white king."

DOROTHY WARING
King-wrecker.

Meanwhile Dies agents were concentrating on Communism. At Philadelphia they raided party headquarters and got away with a truckload of membership lists and financial statements.

MISCELLANY:

Submission

At Rome, Gen. Giuseppe Garibaldi, eldest son of the Italian patriot and voluntary political exile in the U. S. for 16 years, returned home to visit his ailing mother. So impressed was he that he wrote Dictator Mussolini, making a public act of submission to Fascism.

At Helsinki, Finnish men and women voluntarily surrendered their jewelry to raise $6,000,000 for pursuit planes.

Seventy-Five Years Ago This Month The Whole World Was in Mourning for America's First Martyred President

"STOP THAT MAN!"—John Wilkes Booth flees across the stage of Ford's theater in Washington after firing the shot which ended the life of Abraham Lincoln. (From a drawing in Harper's Weekly, April 29, 1865.)

By ELMO SCOTT WATSON
(Released by Western Newspaper Union.)
IT IS the evening of April 14, 1865—Good Friday.

On the stage of Ford's theater in Washington the famous actress, Laura Keane, is playing in a delightful comedy, "Our American Cousin." Joining in the laughter that sweeps through the audience from time to time is a gaunt, sad-faced man sitting at ease in a high-backed, satin-upholstered rocking chair in an upper stage box. Abraham Lincoln is forgetting for a few minutes the crushing responsibilities which he, as Chief Executive of a nation torn asunder in civil war, has been bearing for four long years.

The third act of the play begins. The President leans over to whisper something to Mrs. Lincoln who sits beside him. Neither the Lincolns nor Maj. Harry R. Rathbone and a Miss Harris, who accompanied them to the theater, notice that a dark-moustached young man has slipped through the door at the rear of the box and is now standing behind the President.

The next moment there is the muffled sound of a shot. It is unnoticed by the players on the stage or the audience, still chuckling over the last funny line they have heard. But the President's head drops forward on his breast.

Stertled, Major Rathbone looks around. Through the smoke he sees the dark young man with a pistol in his hand and hears him mutter something which sounds like "Freedom!" The major leaps to his feet and grapples with the intruder, who slashes at him with a knife, tears loose from the officer's grasp and springs to the front of the box.

As he vaults over the railing, his spur catches in an American flag which drapes the front of the box. He drops heavily to the stage with one leg doubled under him, then scrambles to his feet. With blood streaming from his wounded arms, Rathbone rushes to the front of the box.

"Stop that man! Stop him!" he shouts. "The President has been shot!"

But everyone is too stunned to move for a moment. The young man, waving aloft the bloody knife, drags himself across the stage and disappears in the wings. But before he does so, the startled actors recognize in the white face and the black eyes blazing with fanatical hatred the familiar features of one of their own profession—John Wilkes Booth.

All this has taken place in less time than it takes to tell it. The next moment Ford's theater is a pandemonium of screaming women and shouting men, shoving, pushing, breaking chairs, crashing through railings and trampling upon each other as they surge toward the stage or try to climb up to the box where the moaning Mrs. Lincoln is supporting her stricken husband and Major Rathbone is trying vainly to open the door which the assassin had barred from the inside.

Now the soldiers of the President's guard come bursting into the theater and with fixed bayonets and drawn pistols they charge the milling crowd. Their hoarse shouts of "Clear out! Clear out, you sons of hell!" rise above the tumult as they drive the half-crazed audience out of the theater.

Meanwhile Rathbone has succeeded in unbarring the door to the box and several people, among them a surgeon, rush in. They see the tall form of the President slumped forward in his chair, his sad eyes closed, never to open again. Someone brings a shutter, torn from a building near by, and they lay his gaunt form upon it. They carry him out of the theater to the house of Charles Peterson across the street.

Ford's theater is empty, deserted now. Its curtain has been rung down upon the comedy, "Our American Cousin"—and upon one of the greatest tragedies in American history.

Death at 7:22 A. M.

The next morning Washington newspapers carried this story:

"The body of President Lincoln, who died from an assassin's bullet at 7:22 o'clock this morning, was removed from the Peterson residence opposite Ford's theater to the executive mansion in a hearse and wrapped in the American flag. It was escorted by a small squad of cavalry and by Gen. Augur and other military officials on foot. A dense crowd accompanied the remains to the White House, where a military guard excluded the people, allowing none but persons of the household and personal friends of the deceased to enter. Gen. Grant arrived here at 2 o'clock in a special train from Philadelphia. His presence tends somewhat to allay the excitement. The last lines penned by Mr. Lincoln were written on a card about 8:15 p. m., while seated in his carriage in front of the White House just before he started for the theater. They were addressed to the Hon. George Ashmun and were as follows: 'Allow Mr. Sherman and friends to come to me at 9 a. m. tomorrow.'

"A. Lincoln."

Leaf through the pages of James G. Blaine's "Twenty Years in Congress," published in 1886, and read there this description of the events which followed:

"The remains of the late President lay in state at the executive mansion for four days. The entire city seemed as a house of mourning. The martial music which had been resounding in glad celebration of the national triumph had ceased; public edifice and private mansion were alike draped with the insignia of grief.

"Funeral services, conducted by the leading clergymen of the city, were held in the east room on Wednesday, the 19th of April. Amid the solemn tolling of church bells, and the still more solemn thundering of minute guns from the vast line of fortifications which had protected Washington, the body, escorted by

WHO'S NEWS THIS WEEK

By LEMUEL F. PARTON
(Consolidated Features—WNU Service.)

NEW YORK.— Paul Reynaud, who was asked to form a new French cabinet, and successor to Premier Daladier, put through the French-British monetary and economic accord of last December, and, even before the start of the war was an advocate of a close financial union between the two countries as the first bulwark of their joint defense. For several years, he has been studying English finance and history, insisting that both nations must abandon their old plan of remaining apart in the matter of monetary and economic relationships.

He is a lawyer, financier and economist, minister of finance since October, 1938. In the chamber of deputies, he represents a "big business" section of Paris and has contended vigorously against "governmental meddling in business." In 1935 and 1936 he made a courageous fight for the devaluation of the franc, an issue which is always loaded in France and always sidestepped by more cautious politicians. His business sagacity was demonstrated in the summer of 1929, when he warned all and sundry that a big smash was coming, and withdrew all of his securities from the market.

He is as direct, decisive and fiery as Daladier is ponderous and meditative, and for many years has been making prophecies more gloomy than Cassandra's foredoom of Troy, as he urged France to prepare for the worst. He parts his hair in the middle, strings with the Alliance Democratique, a center group, and has never been classified as either right or left. He is said to be "too intelligent to be liked," and does not seem to mind. He is small and alert, only slightly gray at 60, carefully groomed and the master of a verbal short jab which seldom invites a return engagement for anyone inclined to mix with him.

He was a holdout on Laval's deal to give Mussolini a green light in Ethiopia and in this connection warned France that it had better be looking to its empire. In politics since 1919, in the chamber since 1928, he was previously minister of finance in Tardieu's cabinet. He comes of a family high in the mountains of Barcelonnette, of a clan which has extensive holdings in several foreign countries, including Mexico.

BUILDING more stately mansions for his soul, Fritz Mandl, the Austrian munitioneer, runner-up for Zeharoff, was interrupted by Adolf Hitler. In a New York municipal court, an Austrian architect sues Mr. Mandl for payment for designs for a new wing on his Alpine castle, when he was married to Hedy Lamarr, the screen star, now the wife of Gene Markey, Hollywood producer. The castle and the plans were a war casualty, but Mr. Mandl is sitting pretty in Argentina, the Hidalgo of a great estate, and getting a fast running start with new steel and munitions plants in the land of the pampas.

He fooled Hitler. His great arms plants, including the Hirtenberg plant, were supposed to be worth about $60,000,000. That was a nice, fat grouch for the Nazi nimrod, but when Der Fuehrer moved in, he found the great plants just a hollow shell, the securities long since liquidated and Mr. Mandl at a safe nose-thumbing distance with his former fortune remaining more or less intact.

Now 40 years old, round-faced and merry, he was a playboy in his youth, but stayed on the job in his later years. The munitions works were a family holding, founded by his grandfather, Sigmund, and expanded by his father, Alexander. He was an associate of the fallen Prince Ernst Ruediger von Starheimberg in the Vienna putsch of 1934—not at all interested in political ideologies, and smarter than the prince in both making a get-away from Hitler and from Germany as well as being able to save his fortune.

NOT a refugee fortune, but the makings of a new one appears in the operations of Arnold Bernstein, who also found a hole in the Nazi line. A freighter of the Americanized Arnold Bernstein shipping lines burns at Baltimore, but it was insured and his newly recruited ships are running cargos to Europe and his fleet is expanding. He came here last October, from a Nazi jail, where a tangle over the mysterious blocked marks had landed him. At 51, a tall, pale, thoughtful man, he gets a new start.

Portable Camps Follow Nation's Migratory Workers

Health and living conditions of some 350,000 migrant workers have been improved by government-established portable camps which follow laborers through California, Oregon, Idaho, Washington and other states. A typical portable camp, above, located now in California, has about 200 tent platforms which are hauled by truck. It also has a first-aid and children's clinic built into a trailer, and a trailer which contains 24 shower baths. There are six of these portable camps in existence. Each camp has a trained nurse and complete sanitary facilities. Camp affairs are handled by a camp council, elected by camp residents. The Farm Security administration also has established 26 permanent camps which take care of 7,000 migrant families. Lower left: A young migrant mother in the door of her "home." Tommies Do Their Bit to Relieve French Agriculture

With so many men of the French peasantry at the front, a general shortage of labor has resulted on the farms of France. With a view toward alleviating the plight of their allies, these British soldiers lend a hand. The women of the farms know what is to be done and under their directions the Tommies, armed with pitchforks, attack their new agricultural jobs.

Royal Artillery Tunes Up for Action

Both men and guns become rusty through inactivity, according to the British censor, so the royal artillery keeps tuned up by regular gunnery practice while awaiting action on France's western front. This crew is at loading exercises in a camouflaged gun pit, somewhere in the forward zone.

HOSEA TELLS OF GOD'S FORGIVING LOVE

LESSON TEXT—Hosea 6:1-7; 14:4-9.
GOLDEN TEXT—If we confess our sins, he is faithful and just to forgive us our sins, and to cleanse us from all unrighteousness.—1 John 1:9.

God loves sinners! This is the message of the Bible. God hates sin, but He loves sinners and is eager that they should repent and receive His forgiveness. God even loves the backslider, the one who has been in fellowship with Him, tasted the joys of the eternal promised land and then turned back to the fleshpots of the world. This is the special message of the book of Hosea, for he deals with a backsliding and rebellious Israel, so determined to turn against God's love that they are described in 11:7 (R. V.) as being "bent on backsliding."

Israel failed to heed God's warning, did not respond to His loving call, and went on to judgment. May none of us be so foolish and stubborn. God is now calling sinners in love and compassion, doing everything in His power to lead them to repentance and spiritual healing. "Today, if ye will hear his voice, harden not your hearts" (Ps. 95:7, 8).

I. God Calling Sinners (6:1, 2).

The great loving heart of God longs after wayward men. Though they have in deliberate unbelief turned from Him, yet He sends His messenger to bring them His gracious invitation. No more beautiful word can be spoken than "Come." It speaks of an open door, of a forgiving spirit, of a desire for renewed fellowship.

Come, O sinner, and meet the Saviour. He it is who by both life and death has revealed the fullness of God's love to you. In Him you will find entrance to eternal life and joy. He says, "I am the door, by me if any man enter in he shall be saved" (John 10:9).

Observe also the word "return." The invitation from God is not only to those who have never known Him, but also to the backslider. How many miserably unhappy backsliding Christians there are in the world! Friend, if you are one of them, this invitation is especially for you!

II. God's Dealings With Sinners (6:3-7).

Our Lord is both compassionate and faithful in His dealings with sinners. He will win them with love and tenderness if they permit Him to do so, but if necessary He can also use the rod of punishment or the storm of unpleasant circumstances to drive them to Him. Remember that both the tenderness and the severity of God are expressions of His love.

With Israel God wanted to come as the gentle, reviving rain from heaven (v. 3), but because of their unrepentant attitude (v. 4) He had to come forth as One who hews down and destroys (v. 5). Even in this breaking down and destroying He is only preparing to rebuild. As the surgeon must first hurt in order to heal, God must sometimes cut deeply in order to remove the blight of sin.

These lines will probably be read by many who have wondered at the dealings of God with them. Perhaps they have been inclined to condemn Him as being unkind or severe. Let them be assured that God is love and that back of all of His dealings with men there is His tender purpose to bring them unto Himself for salvation or for blessing.

III. God Healing Sinners (14:4-9).

When sinners come to Him with words of repentance (14:1) God is ready to meet them and to heal all of their sins and backslidings. Observe that not only will He heal their past sins, but will cause their present position to be such that He may "love them freely" (v. 4), and then their future will be one of great glory. God is infinitely gracious and pours out His love without measure upon the sinner who returns to Him.

Verses 5 to 8 give a beautiful picture of God's blessings on the life of the regenerated man. The lily (v. 5) speaks of stately royal beauty. Lebanon (v. 5) is strength and stability, even as the great cedars of Lebanon were treasured for their strength. The spreading branches (v. 6) tell of expansion and growth. The olive tree (v. 6), the corn and the vine (v. 7), all speak of fruitfulness and usefulness. The smell of Lebanon (v. 6) is the smell of cedar and bespeaks a life so fragrant that it spreads around it the "sweet savor of Christ" (II Cor. 2:15). The evergreen fir tree (v. 8) speaks of constant freshness and beauty.

God has all these things in mind for every Christian, that is, for every sinner who will repent and turn to Him through Christ, and for every backslider who will return to Him today.

LAMB CHOPS EN CASSEROLE MAKE A "BUSY-DAY DINNER"

(See Recipes Below)

Busy-Day Meals

There's something about the first warm, sunny days of spring that makes a woman don her working clothes, roll up her sleeves and get started on house cleaning.

In spite of all the work involved, spring cleaning does give your spirits a lift. And it's very apt to spur you on to such heights that unless you've planned your cleaning campaign with all the finesse of an army general, the end of house cleaning is likely to find you with a shining, immaculate house, but an exceedingly weary body and a very disturbed family! But with a definite plan of action to guide you, even your meals can be served on schedule, and they can be good meals; a simple meal with a hot main dish that can be partly prepared the day before, is one solution to the problem of how to keep your family well fed and happy even at house cleaning time.

Plan a meal that requires little watching, one that is easy to serve and one that won't be spoiled if it isn't eaten on the stroke of 12:00. Serve the meal "help-yourself-style," using paper plates and napkins, because these are the things that make hot meals practical even in the thick clean-up by flying brooms and dust mops.

You'll find worthwhile suggestions for busy-day meals, below.

Spanish Roll.

Round steak, 2½ inches thick
1 No. 2 can tomatoes
1 small can mushrooms
1 medium onion (cut fine)
1 green pepper (cut fine)
¼ teaspoon cayenne pepper
4 whole cloves
Dash of allspice
½ teaspoon salt
Noodles

Dredge steak with flour and sear on both sides. Place in casserole, and add tomatoes, mushrooms, onion, green peppers and seasoning. Cover and bake about 2½ hours in a slow oven (300 degrees). Half an hour before serving, boil some noodles in salted water. Drain. Place steak on large platter, surround with noodles, and cover with the sauce.

Busy-Day Cake.

(Makes one 8-inch cake)
¼ cup butter
1 cup sugar
2 eggs
½ cup milk
1 teaspoon flavoring extract
1½ cups flour (cake flour preferred)
1½ teaspoons baking powder
¼ teaspoon salt

Soften the butter by creaming. Then add sugar, unbeaten eggs, milk, flavoring extract, and the dry ingredients which have been sifted together. With a rotary beater or electric mixer, beat for 2 or 3 minutes, or until the batter is light and very smooth. Pour into greased pan 8 by 8 by 2 inches deep, and cover evenly with the following mixture.

½ cup sweet chocolate (grated)
½ cup nut meats (cut fine)
Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees) for 35 to 40 minutes.

Lamb Chops en Casserole.

(Serves 6)
8 lamb chops
¼ teaspoon salt
Few grains pepper
15 small new potatoes
2 lbs. fresh peas, (2 cups shelled)
¼ cup water
1 teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon butter

Cut fat from the chops, sprinkle them with ¼ teaspoon salt and few grains pepper and brown slightly on both sides. Arrange the chops around the sides of a shallow casserole, 2 quart size. In the center, place the scraped new potatoes and shelled peas. Add water, sprinkle with salt and put bits of butter over the top. Cover the dish and bake in a moderately hot oven (375 degrees) about 1½ hours, or until the vegetables are tender.

Old Fashioned Rice Pudding.

¾ cup rice
1 cup sugar
1 quart milk
½ teaspoon salt

Wash rice and mix with 1 cup sugar, 1 quart milk and salt. Place in hot oven (425 degrees). Stir into pudding frequently the brown crust that forms. As it thickens pour in ½ cup milk. Bake for about 1½ hours and serve hot or cold.

All in One Dinner.

(Serves 5-6)
3 cups raw potatoes (sliced)
2 teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
6 loin pork chops
3 cups spanish onions (sliced)
1 tablespoon butter
1 can condensed tomato soup
1½ cups sweet milk

In a greased casserole arrange a layer of the sliced potatoes. Season with salt and pepper. Then add a layer of pork chops and season these with salt and pepper. Cover with a layer of onions. Dot with butter and season. Add additional layers of potatoes, chops and onions, as needed. Combine the tomato soup and the milk and pour into the casserole. Cover, and bake in a moderate oven (375 degrees) for about 1½ hours.

Spring Salads for Spring Tonics.

No sulphur and molasses needed for a spring tonic, when you serve spring salads! Next week Eleanor Howe will give you some of her own favorite, tested recipes for simple and delicious salads, fruit salads, vegetable salads and molded salads, too. Be sure to read this column next week.

Apple Crisp

(Serves 6)
6 tart apples (peeled and sliced)
½ cup brown sugar
1 teaspoon cinnamon
½ cup water
¼ cup general purpose flour
½ cup white sugar
3 tablespoons butter

Pare, core, and slice apples. Put in a greased baking dish. Mix together the brown sugar and the cinnamon, and sprinkle over apples. Pour water over all. Mix together the flour and the sugar, and cut in the butter. Sprinkle this crumbly mixture over the apples. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees) 50 to 55 minutes, or until apples are tender and top brown.

Pa's Lima Beans and Sausage.
1 pound country sausage
2 medium sized onions (sliced)
1 can lima beans
2 cups canned tomatoes
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon chili powder

Shape sausage into flat cakes and pan fry, with the onions, until the sausage is done. Drain off all but ½ cup of the fat, add remaining ingredients and simmer for 30 minutes.

Lowly Maggot an Aid To Flower Breeders

USE of the loathsome maggot in the development of more lovely flowers for the gardeners of the world constitutes a little-known phase of the science of flower breeding.

Often in his work the flower breeder obtains outstanding, single-plant specimens which give promise of becoming sensational, new flower creations. This remarkable plant individual must be protected from contamination (cross-pollination) by neighbor flowers. So the breeder encloses it, as it grows, in a muslin cage. If the plant is to mature properly and produce seed, however, its flowers must be pollinated, but only with the pollen grains of that plant itself. Scientists call this "selfing."

Pollination by hand of all the caged plants on a flower breeding plot would be long, tedious work, so Gordon Morrison, Ferry-Morse Seed Station hybridist, enlists the aid of the maggot. It is the maggot of the objectionable blowfly, moreover. Blowfly maggots in the pupae stage are placed in the flower cage, subsequently maturing into flies. The insects are extremely active and they fly from flower to flower on the caged plant, doing an excellent job of spreading pollen from one blossom to another. The plant then proceeds to produce its prized crop of seed.

Thus the long-despised maggot do their part to help make the world more beautiful. Even so, let's hope flower breeders find a way to put them out of existence after they have done their pollination chore.

material concerning the work and opportunities offered in the above institution.

A committee of seniors and Mr. Nordman recently have been working on a commencement program. Commencement will take place Wednesday evening, May 29. It is expected that Judge Hehman Dehnke will be the guest speaker.

In the last two chapter tests given in bookkeeping, perfect scores were received by Ruth Herriman, Leona Ziehl and Hazel Moran.

Last week the typing I class typed addresses on the smelt cards for the Chamber of Commerce.

The total gate receipts for the Junior-Senior play was approximately $104.00.

SEVENTH and EIGHTH GRADES
The eighth grade Michigan history class is studying about the mineral resources of Michigan.

Hazel Galliker and Evelyn Colby had the highest marks in the civics test Monday.

The Seventh grade has started the study of geometrical figures for arithmetic.

Maidla Schultz has been absent this week because of illness.

The eighth grade has finished the study of Longfellow's poem "Evangeline."

FIFTH and SIXTH GRADES
Ruth Ulman is absent because of illness.

Form C of the Dearborn arithmetic test was given in our room this week. Phyllis LaRau, Charles Luce and Janet Musolf did outstanding work in the fifth grade. Beverly Bigelow, Audrey Ogden and Raymond Westcott did exceptionally well in the sixth grade. Everyone in the room showed considerable improvement since last fall. Form B of the test was given last October.

Everyone in our room is taking part in the P.-T. A. program.

Dale Landon received a perfect score in a sixth grade history test on "The Church of the Middle Ages."

THIRD and FOURTH GRADES
In a fourth grade geography test, given at the completion of a study of Switzerland, Milla Oisten received the highest mark. The fourth grade also copied Swiss boys. They are now studying Mediterranean lands.

All the pupils took the Dearborn arithmetic test. Highest marks went to Martin Musolf and Richard Matchewet.

The fourth graders are using their new readers. The books are called "Science Stories" and are very interesting. They have discovered three ways in which animals breathe and many other new things.

The room is decorated with April pictures. There are showers in the room on the brightest of days.

PRIMARY
The second grade made several very good illustrations of the story of "Mousie Cruso" which they have just read.

The beginners enjoyed making moving pictures of the story "The Wee Wee Woman."

The first grade is doing some very good work in the reading test books. The stories are enjoyed by all.
