TO PROMOTE BEEF CATTLE PRODUCTION

5 Counties Represented In New Hereford Calf Association

Formation of the Northeastern Michigan Hereford Calf association was completed last week Tuesday evening when some 20 interested farmers, businessmen, bankers and County Agricultural Agents from Arenac, Ogemaw, Oscoda, Alcona and Isosco counties met at the Isosco Hotel in Tawas City.

C. T. Prescott, Sr., of Tawas City was elected president for the coming year while James P. Mielock of Alabaster was selected as the secretary-treasurer. These association managers were elected by the local board of directors who are Frank Lentz of Arenac county, George Diebold and W. A. Crandall of Ogemaw, Theodore Bartow and Elmer J. Handrich of Oscoda county, Wallace Clemens and Dallas Ford of Alcona, and C. T. Prescott and Waldo I. Curry of Isosco county.

The purpose of this association according to Secretary James Mielock is "To promote the interests of breeding Hereford feeder cattle; to encourage the breeding and handling of better feeder cattle; to aid in financing and purchasing of Hereford breeding and feeding stock; to collect disseminate information as to sources of and markets for pure bred Hereford bulls and grade Hereford cows for breeding stock and feeder cattle; to promote and assist from time to time in the holding of public sales, and generally to do any and all things which may seem necessary or desirable to advance the interests of breeders of Hereford feeder cattle in this section of Michigan."

It is known that this Northeastern section because of climate, moisture and soil fertility provides one of the most valuable cattle grazing areas of the United States. Southern Michigan counties demand thousands of high quality Hereford feeding calves each fall and it is with this in mind that this association is being formed.

Any person or party whose herd of breeding cattle contains one or more females which are predominately of Hereford breeding and who shall agree to use a pure bred registered Hereford bull for breeding purposes may become a member of this association. Application for membership may be made to Secretary Mielock at Alabaster.

The first board of directors meeting of the association will be held Monday evening, June 3, at the Country Club in West Branch.

Mothers Invited to Special Services

To every mother not worshipping elsewhere, the boys and girls of the East Tawas Methodist Sunday school extend a cordial invitation to be their honored guest, Sunday, May 12, at 10:30 a. m.

The church will be appropriately decorated, seats reserved for the mothers, and each will be presented a remembrance made by the children.

A brief program will be given in which every member of the school will have a part, including the nursery class with a "March of the Colors."

NOTICE

There will be a convention of the Democrats of Isosco county at the Courthouse, Tawas City, on Saturday, May 18, 1940, at 2:00 p. m.

This convention is called for the purpose to fill any vacancies in the list of Delegates, who are to attend the State Democratic Convention on June 15, 1940.

The State Democratic Central Committee has ordered that the Delegates for the Convention on June 15, 1940, are to be the same Delegates as were selected for the last Biennial Spring Election held in Flint in 1938.

The Delegates to the last State Biennial Spring Election were: Robt. Dahne, Chairman; R. G. Killmaster, Eugene Bing, T. Geo. Sternberg, Henry George, Ed. Vaughn.

All Democrats are urged to attend this county convention.

Isosco County Democratic Committee, Robt. Dahne, Chairman.

NOTICE

To all persons owing accounts to the late Mrs. Sarah Kelly Searle: Please call at the home of Frank Berzhinski and settle within 30 days from date of this notice. After that time unpaid accounts will be placed in the hands of an attorney.

Dated May 9, 1940.

Burley Wilson, Administrator.

Board of Review

The annual meeting of the Tawas City Board of Review will be held at the city clerk's office Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, May 20, 21, 22 and 23.

A review of the several assessment rolls will be made.

W. C. Davidson, City Clerk.

Old Business Places

The widening of Lake street will make necessary the moving of two old buildings near First street which have occupied and important place in the business life of Tawas City.

The Steinhurst building was built about 55 years ago by the late Adolph Steinhurst and has been in continuous use by some member of that family as a harness and shoe repair shop. Up until 33 years ago Mr. and Mrs. Steinhurst resided on the second floor of the building, but in 1907 they built a residence on Fifth avenue. During the past few years the shop has been operated by Julius Steinhurst. The property has been purchased by James Robinson and the building will be moved to form a part of his new service station and restaurant. This new building will be of brick veneer construction. Steinhurst has moved his shoe and harness repair shop to his residence for the immediate present.

The second structure which will be moved is the J. M. Waterbury building. This was constructed in 1884 as the home of the Tawas Bay Advocate, a newspaper owned and edited by Mr. Waterbury at that time. After the Advocate was discontinued the building was used for many purposes, eventually becoming a warehouse for C. H. Prescott and Sons' hardware. In 1913 the building was remodeled and became the home of the Tawas Herald. In 1920 the Herald moved to its present location and the building became successively a tire repair shop, a garage and then a warehouse for the Consumers Power company.

McMurray Residence Damaged by Fire

The residence of Mrs. Mae McMurray at 609 E. Baguley street was badly damaged by fire last Sunday noon. The fire started in the attic. Neighbors saw the flames bursting through the roof and notified the McMurray family who were eating lunch. By the time the fire department arrived, a few moments later, the whole upper story was in flames.

Efficient work by the fire department confined the flames to the attic and roof and the fire from spreading to the nearby home of Mrs. Ruth J. Cook.

A. I. A. Entertained Friday at Standish

The A. I. A. association was entertained at Standish last Friday evening. Visitors were present from Detroit, Bay City, Omer, Whittemore, Hale and the Tawas. Grand Esther Rhea Cashman Gladwin, of Detroit, was the speaker of the evening and gave the lecture and history of the A. I. A. She was attired in white and silver and wore a corsage of white and orchid. The Esthers of the association were honored. Flowers were presented to Esther of Violet chapter of Standish, Grand Esther and the President, of the A. I. A. Miss Helen Applin. Other speakers were Past Grand Electa Mrs. Mary Holsapple, of Bay City, Past Grand Patron James Mark, of Tawas City, and the poet Laureate of Purity Chapter, Detroit.

The regular semi-annual meeting of the A. I. A. Order of Eastern Star, will be held in Oscoda May 18. The afternoon session beginning at 2:30, and evening session at 7:30. Five or six Grand Officers, including the Worthy Grand Matron Ethel B. Kronska, will be present. Dinner will be served at six o'clock.

Interest Quiet in Delinquent Tax Sale

Seventy-four descriptions were sold Tuesday at the sale of delinquent tax lands according to County Treasurer Grace Miller. This was one of the smallest sales held in years. About half of the 1394 descriptions on the printed list had been redeemed previous to the sale according to estimates made in the county treasurer's office.

MAYOR COYLE RESIGNS; POOR HEALTH CAUSE

Bids for Widening Lake St. Will Be Opened May 15

Mayor John Coyle tendered his resignation to the common council at a regular meeting held last Monday night. Poor health was the cause of this move by Mayor Coyle.

Mayor Coyle has been an excellent city official during his tenure of office. He was serving his third term as mayor and the citizens of this city regret that his health forced him to resign and they wish him a speedy recovery.

Ernest Burtzloff, mayor pro tem and second ward councilman, was named to succeed Mayor Coyle. William Leslie was appointed to fill the vacancy in the council created by the appointment of Burtzloff as mayor.

The council adopted a resolution Monday evening giving the state highway department the right to use Lake street in its program of widening U. S. 25 in this city. It was announced that contractors' bids for the construction of this project would be opened May 15.

A building code for the residential section of this city was also adopted at the meeting. This code in the form of an ordinance will go into immediate effect following its official publication. The ordinance is now being published in another column of this newspaper and those planning to build a new residence should study its requirements.

Womens Study Club

The Women's Study club met at their rooms on Wednesday, May 1. Beauty spots of Michigan was the response to roll call.

An interesting talk on Beauty Spots of Michigan, given by Mrs. Norman Schuster, was enjoyed by all.

At the close of the meeting a delicious lunch was served by the hostesses Mrs. Harry Van Patten, Mrs. Charles Brown and Mrs. Wm. Heriman.

The next meeting will be held on June 5.

Bowling...

Tawas City Recreation

The teams of the Ladies Major League of the Tawas City Recreation celebrated with a turkey dinner at the Hotel Bancroft, Saginaw, on Wednesday evening. To say "The evening was enjoyed," would be mild. After the banquet some of the girls tried their luck on the Saginaw alleys and shot some nice scores. Each member of the Recreation team, champion of the Ladies Major league, will receive an individual medal and the team will receive a trophy from Mr. Moeller. Mrs. June Gould will be presented with a medal for high average for the league, 142 was the pace set by Mrs. Gould. June said "I will try to repeat next year and wear one on each side." Mrs. Jas. Leslie came through with a 283 score, including handicap, in the last match of the season to win a medal in that department. Her actual score was 223 which is a lot of wood on any alley.

Trophies will also be presented to the Peoples State Bank, winners in the Major league; Whittemore, Inter-City winners; and The Tawas Herald, Minor league champs.

The Tawas Bay Bowling Tournament is well under way. High score in the five-man event up to and including Wednesday night is 2783 by the Peoples State bank. Three West Branch teams bowled Thursday evening, and two Alpena teams will try their luck at spilling the maples tonight (Friday).

TAWAS CITY GOES TO HALE THIS SUNDAY

N. E. M. League Will Open With 23 Teams in 3 Divisions

Next Sunday, May 12 the old familiar and welcome command, "Play Ball, Batter Up," will be heard in eleven towns of Northeastern Michigan as 22 teams will swing into action to officially open the league season. Oscoda, the 23rd team, will open a week later, May 19.

With 23 teams joining the league it was necessary to form three divisions, namely: Southern Division, made up of teams from Fisherville, Pinconning, Roadside Zoo, Beaverton, Wichlind, Orchard Inn, Pine River and Rhodes. The Central Division includes Standish, Sterling, Melita, West Branch, Rose City, Whittemore, Turner and Twining. And the Northern division of Hale, Alabaster, Tawas City, East Tawas, Oscoda, Harrisville and Lincoln.

With Fisherville the most southerly town and Lincoln a hundred miles north, and West Branch, Rhodes and Beaverton the most westerly towns, the pick of players from about a 2000 square miles area will be battling for the league laurels, namely the handsome trophy presented to the winning team each year by the Goddette Sporting Goods Store of Bay City.

The Tawas City baseball club will be most of last year's team intact will be out trying for their third consecutive division championship. Several promising prospects have been added to the team's roster and the fans can look forward toward seeing a hustling young club, John Forsen having resigned as manager of the team. Walter Laidlaw was elected to fill the vacancy. Albert "Lefty" Quick was chosen as captain, and under their supervision the team has held several stiff practice sessions during the past couple of weeks and are all set to go Sunday, when they open the season at Hale. Let's have a large following of local fans at Hale and help win this opening game. The game is scheduled to start at 2:30 p. m. Other games in the Northern Division are Alabaster at East Tawas and Harrisville at Lincoln.

Martin McCormick Wins First Place in Speaking

At the district speech contest held at Shepherd, May 8, with Oscoda, Reed City, Free Soil, Coleman, Beaverton, Standish, East Tawas, St. Charles, Stanton and Maple Ridge participating, Martin McCormick of East Tawas was awarded first place in extempore speaking. This is the highest award possible in the speech contest work and in winning it he brings to his high school the banner awarded by the U. of M. to the district champions.

Oscoda took first place in both declamations and orations. Lana Burton with "Acres of Diamonds," and Ad. Campbell with "Old Age—A National Problem." Due to the passing of a large number of people into the auditorium after her speech began, the first part of Dorothy Haglund's oration of East Tawas was lost. Mr. Smith of Alma College, the single critic judge, commented that had he been able to hear Miss Haglund's entire speech first place might well have been awarded to her for her voice was beautiful.

This is the second year in succession that East Tawas has won two first and a second in the sub-district and gone on to take a first place in the district itself.

Mrs. Ben Cover Wins Westinghouse Award

Mrs. Ben Cover of East Tawas has been awarded a new Westinghouse Streamline Iron for her entry in the nationwide Westinghouse "Advise-A-Bride" Contests.

The award is being made by W. A. Evans Furniture Co., local Westinghouse dealer.

Each week Westinghouse is giving away ten Aristocrat 6 ft. refrigerators and ten Commander electric ranges, in addition to 70 Streamlined irons.

The entry blanks for the contests, which are conducted weekly and will continue until May 23, may be obtained from the Westinghouse refrigerator and range dealer, W. A. Evans Furniture Co. During the five contests Westinghouse will give away $23,000 in electrical appliances.

Townsend Meeting

There will be a Townsend meeting Friday, May 31, in the Auditorium, Tawas City. Ira Brinker, of Bay City, will deliver an address and explain the Townsend Plan. Also show Townsend talking pictures on the screen. Everybody welcome.

WHO'S NEWS THIS WEEK

By LEMUEL F. PARTON
(Consolidated Features—WNU Service.)

NEW YORK. — We heard that Wendell L. Willkie had 300 invitations to make public addresses. Across his big desk, which in its mountainous disarray makes a newspaper man feel at home, we asked Mr. Willkie about it. The report was all wrong. The number is something over 2,000. Also in the ruck were enough pleas for magazine and syndicate articles to give Mr. Willkie writer's cramp for the rest of his life, if he took on even one-tenth of them.

Mr. Willkie, built like a guard, works like an end or a halfback. The range and agility of his mind is such that he might be a swing man, either in the line or the backfield. On his desk was a new book, the life of the Elder Pitt, about which he is writing a review; also a litter of papers having to do with pretty nearly everything from kant to kilowatts.

An hour's conversation covered a similar range. He talked rapidly and vehemently, sawing and hammering with his extended palm, when he told how the Commonwealth & Southern forced down rates, or challenged what he terms the unfair TVA bookkeeping; making hesitant or groping gestures when he touched on the intangibles of social origins and inducements. He is like that—assured and vehement on what he knows and thoughtful and explorative on what he merely thinks.

He doesn't want to kill the Securities and Exchange commission. He would merely put it under sound democratic controls.

Mr. Willkie has tremendous gusto and live, intellectual curiosity. He says all this talk of nominating him for President is incidental to the fact that he made a rock-and-sock battle on something he knew about—something which happened to be important and which perhaps helped to clarify certain basic issues. He says he never spent a dime on a personal build-up and never will. Almost his strongest emphasis was reserved for his observation that the run-of-the-mill citizen is a lot brighter than he's supposed to be, and that therein lies the hope for our continuing democracy. Out of its context, that might sound like the old homespun Indiana political hokum, but that's the last thing you could tag Mr. Willkie with.

IN 1914, Franklin D. Roosevelt, assistant secretary of the navy, was riding the venerable destroyer Patterson up the coast of Maine. He said to young Lieut. Stark at the helm, "To His Big Chief" "May I relieve you for a while? I am an experienced navigator and I know this coast." The young lieutenant replied, "I am in command here and responsible for the ship. I doubt your authority to supersede me. If you can offer any helpful suggestions I should be glad to hear them."

It was said that Mr. Roosevelt liked that kind of sea talk. At any rate, last August, he jumped Adm. Harold R. Stark over 54 others who outranked him, to make him chief of naval operations, No. 1 post in the navy. White-haired and professorial, Admiral Stark continues before the senate committee on naval affairs his advocacy of an adequate navy, this time pointing up his argument with a reference to Japan's eight new dreadnaughts, supposedly under way.

Admiral Stark commands a force of 110,000 men, 11,000 officers, 18,000 marines, 550 ships and 2,000 fliers. Two of his outstanding policies are a belief that the navy should control and operate its own air fleet, and disbelief in "attrition" warfare. In other words he thinks the navy should be always in instant readiness for quick, hard hitting. His technical attainments advanced him in his earlier years and in later years his frank and outspoken formulations of broad navy policy. He is regarded by close observers of naval affairs as a fortunate combination of the "activist" tradition and studious and informed knowledge in the overlapping zone of naval and foreign policy. This becomes important in the latter-day urgency and delicacy of international affairs.

He is an inlander, born and reared in Wilkes-Barre, Pa. When the World War started he was herding five destroyers in the Philippines, so old they weren't supposed to go out after dark. However, he got them half way around the world and entered them in the main event. He is primarily a big-gun expert. In spite of all modern improvements on the big battle wagons, he thinks the decision is apt to go to the nation whose ships are able to display the finest assortment of the biggest and best guns. He's out for all he can get.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

Nazis Gain Ground in Norway As Allied Fleet Watches Italy; Balkan States Are Still Uneasy

(EDITOR'S NOTE—When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of the news analyst and not necessarily of this newspaper.)
Released by Western Newspaper Union

THE WAR:

Shifting Scenes

Major stagehands in the theater of World War II are busy changing scenes for the next act in the current military drama. While the allies were admittedly doing a "fade-out" in southern Norway, attention was centered on the Mediterranean area where the French-Anglo fleet was concentrating.

Two important reasons for this shift in allied tactics seemed evident: (1) Britain and France figure on a swift German thrust into the Balkan countries and (2) to the allies the Italian question mark is looming larger than ever.

While Prime Minister Chamberlain was telling the house of commons that British forces were being removed from their central Norwegian base at Andalsnes, Germany was claiming that the allies were in "headlong flight" in that area.

German gains in central and southern Norway have been strengthened but the battle is far from over. A long campaign is apparent and allied leaders are now attempting to cut off German supplies and troops from the homeland by intensifying attacks upon shipping and air bases.

Since the British sea blockade of Germany's coal shipments to Italy, Nazi officials have been transferring supplies of this important commodity by railroad, through historic Brenner pass. (See cut). But transportation problems in the war areas are getting even more complicated. Because of fears that Italy may align herself with Germany in the present war, Britain is discontinuing all through-shipping in the Mediterranean and is routing such cargo around the tip of Africa via the Cape of Good Hope. This, combined with the massing of the allied fleet in the eastern Mediterranean, appeared to point toward Italian war entrance.

But while this activity was taking place two counter moves were made which pointed toward continued Italian neutrality. William Phillips, U. S. ambassador to Italy, was reported to have learned from Premier Mussolini himself that Italy was not planning a war movement at present. The other favorable sign was the sailing of the great Italian trans-Atlantic steamship, Rex—out of Naples to New York. Foreign observers believed it unlikely that Italy would let this prized ship leave the country if war were near.

It appeared that the allies were attempting to force Italy into an official statement regarding her position in the present conflict.

SIDELIGHTS

... of the war

In Canada the Department of National Defense issued posters which warned citizens to refrain from aimless or idle talk about military matters. Placed in conspicuous places throughout the country, the placards were released because the government fears the presence of enemy agents, according to the department.

France too, clamped down on gossip as the government warned citizens to be on guard against listening ears of the enemy. Even the slightest chance remark might reveal the clue to important information said the official statement. Indiscreet babblers of such information are liable to prosecution.

In Paris the restaurant owners were beginning to wonder if the war would deprive them of their usual excellent evening trade next summer. It's an old Parisian custom to dine and drink out of doors in sidewalk cafes during the summer months. But as night comes there must be a little light in these eating places and with blackout still the order of day the custom may have to be abolished. Managers of the eatings places were hoping the government will make allowances for lights to be used at least a few hours each evening.

POLITICS:

Came the Spring

Month of blossoms and green grass, May, this year is watching leaders of both major political parties scamper to the grass roots to pluck choice blossoms in the form of convention delegates. There was plenty of weeding to do in the garden of presidential candidates, however, and while President Roosevelt could claim the greatest share of instructed Democratic delegates and Thomas Dewey was leading the Republican fold in that regard, May is definitely regarded as a vital month.

Republicans will choose 477 of their 1,000 delegates this month, almost completing their total. Democrats, who have already chosen 374, of their 1,094, will select about 400 more in May. With Roosevelt already having 305 pledged and semi-pledged delegates tucked away in his fold he looked like an odds-on favorite to enter the convention with a nice majority for himself or for his own "favorite-son"—whoever that might be.

While many of the lesser "buds" continued to hide their shy little heads at least one more Democrat blossomed out with the statement that he would make the race if the President didn't. And what's more, said he—none other than Burton K. Wheeler, senator from Montana—"I can't conceive of him (Roosevelt) being a candidate."

Republicans meanwhile gathered in Washington to do a little spading and cultivating with their convention and campaign problems. Keynote Harold Stassen of Minnesota held conferences with the designated choice for permanent chairman of the convention, Rep. Joe Martin of Massachusetts. He also contacted other party leaders as the party's platform began to take shape. Stassen said that party leaders were in "general agreement" over most planks. Biggest stumbling plank was the "anti-war" attitude to be taken. All agreed that the party should promise to keep out of war, but a split was evident over the best manner in which to gain that end.

DOMESTIC:

Shipping

Despite restrictions placed upon it by the neutrality act, U. S. shipping has climbed to its highest point in 10 years. As this news was announced Attorney General Jackson was forming a special justice department unit to investigate and prosecute any violations related to neutrality sedition, espionage and similar offenses. Because so many ships are clearing U. S. ports for foreign destinations, law enforcement agencies have been hard pressed to keep track of all violations of the neutrality act.

Help Wanted

While Federal Security Administrator Paul McNutt was reporting that private industry was hiring about 18 per cent more persons last month than a year ago, another federal official, WPA Commissioner Harrington, was urging private employers to hire additional workers being released from WPA projects. Harrington stated that about 1,250,000 workers had left WPA in the past 12 months to take jobs in industry and on the nation's farms. Many of these, however, usually find it necessary to return to WPA after a few months of work.

Cause and Cure

Meeting in Washington for its 28th annual session the United States Chamber of Commerce heard its president, W. Gibson Carey, blame the New Deal for the last seven years of "depression or near depression." Only accomplishments credited to the Roosevelt administration by Carey were distress, general bewilderment and labor disturbance. He did not mention the President's name directly but left little doubt as to whom he thought was responsible for the situation.

TREND

How the wind is blowing . . .

Car Design—From Detroit, world-center of the auto industry, comes word that 1941 models will present "changes . . . of a magnitude rarely before equaled in the automobile industry." Designs will be revised with a definite trend toward streamlined "torpedo" bodies.

Construction—At Miami, 600 architects saw a display showing how structural glass, large windows and plate glass mirrors may make tomorrow's home a "house of glass."

Transportation—Railroad companies have put into effect a plan whereby travelers in at least 30 states can rent automobiles for use in a community after having made their long trip by rail. Reservations are made at the time the train ticket is purchased and cars are ready when the traveler arrives. An association will cooperate with railroads in providing the cars and uniform national rates have been set up.

LABOR:

Ambitions

According to William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, his arch-rival, John L. Lewis, desires to be President of the United States. Speaking before 1,500 delegates to the Pennsylvania A. F. of L. convention, Green charged that Lewis was trying to form a third party so that he could become its presidential candidate. Speaking in West Virginia last month, Lewis stated that unless the Democrats selected candidates acceptable to the common people and to labor he would advocate a convention for "every U. S. citizen."

In Green's Pennsylvania address he was cheered when he said: "He (Lewis) says the President is no good, nobody in the Democratic party is any good. He can't find anybody that measures up so he looks around and says, 'I'm the man.'" Green asserted that A. F. of L. would refuse to affiliate with any third party move.

MAY DAY:

Contrasts

Thousands of America's rural villages and towns regard May day as a time of traditional fun and frolic for U. S. children.

But in the major cities of the world the day takes on a varying hue. It is usually a day for the voice of labor to be heard. This year even that voice was quieted for laborers listened to still another voice—that of military might.

Around the world, May day, 1940 style, sounded like this:

Stockholm—Addressing a gathering of Swedish citizens, Premier Albin Hansson told the world that Sweden was determined to defend her neutrality "with all our power." He pleaded for Swedish people to cooperate fully with the government in every way to meet the present international situation. Both the allies and Germany have assured Sweden that her neutrality will be respected but lately the nation has undertaken broad military precautions.

Premier Hansson

Berlin—Adolf Hitler's party deputy, Rudolf Hess, declared to a group of workers that the German people were engaged in this year's May day celebration "with the certainty of victory as never before." He ridiculed all allied hopes for Germany's internal collapse.

Moscow—Always impressive on May day, Russia's parade this year lived up to tradition as thousands of troops filed by the tomb of Lenin. Joseph Stalin stood for hours on the reviewing stand as his might was revealed before him in the never-ending line of soldiers. Members of the American diplomatic corps were among the thousands of spectators who watched the ceremonies and heard the speakers declare that capitalistic governments and the Soviet were steadily growing further apart.

MISCELLANY:
Old Glory was lowered in Little America overnight. It will stay lowered for four months—until August 28, when the sun will reappear in the Antarctic regions.
A report from Manila, Philippine islands, indicated that a wave of head hunting was under way in the interior of the Nueva Ecija province. Three homesteaders were said to have been beheaded. The wild tribesmen are fighting encroachment upon their ancestral hunting grounds by farmers.
Winds of tornadic intensity swept across the central United States taking a toll of at least 12 lives in Illinois, Missouri and Arkansas. A cloudburst in east Texas caused thousands of dollars' worth of property damage as at least six persons were killed in the area.
George M. Cohan wrote "Over There" when the boys were going across to get the kaiser. The war left plenty of headaches, but the veteran actor got a gold medal for his song the other day from President Roosevelt. It had been voted by congress.

Don't Become an Air Hostess If You're Afraid of Hard Work

Being an airline stewardess is romantic, but it isn't peaches and cream. Katherine Wilson, below, TWA hostess, was chosen "Miss American Aviation" last year. Prerequisites for a stewardess job: Candidates must be registered nurses between 21 and 25 years old; not under 5 feet 2 inches nor more than 5 feet 5 inches; weight, between 100 and 125 pounds; cheerful disposition; attractive; unmarried. Training course lasts from six to twelve weeks, and it must be intensive because the stewardess' duties are legion.

She must know how to handle tickets; how to serve hot meals; to make berths; to control heating and ventilating; to answer passengers' questions (foolish and otherwise) about airplanes and engines. During training she is paid $2.50 a day. Her starting salary on the run is $100 a month, gradually increasing to $125 a month plus $4 daily for expenses.

Hostesses cannot work more than 110 hours a month, work days being interspersed with days off. From time of takeoff to arrival at the plane's destinations she is busy preparing delicious meals, answering questions and making conversation. Favorite topic of most travelers is themselves. Subject may range from literature to sports and religion, so the stewardess must keep herself posted. At right: American airline hostesses learn about a motor.

Above is a typical stewardess classroom scene. At New York's North Beach airport, 23 girls from 18 cities, representing nine different states, learn flying technique as demonstrated in a Link trainer.

HOUSEHOLD QUESTIONS

A few cloves added to vegetable soup will give it a delicious flavor.

A teaspoon of vinegar beaten into boiled frosting when flavoring is added will keep it from being brittle or breaking when cut.

When you boil potatoes and want them to be floury, put a heaped teaspoonful of sugar in the boiling water. They will taste delicious.

A generous-sized shoe bag hung on the inside of the downstairs hall closet door can serve for storing many articles—caps, mittens, rubbers, small brooms, hat brushes, etc.

Your stockings will not ladder if you add a few drops of vinegar to the water when you wash them for the first time. It strengthens the weave.

If you like scented linens and use scented soaps store the soap, unwrapped, in the linen drawers or closet. Sachets, too, lend pleasing odors.

Mildew can be avoided if damp articles are never placed in clothes hampers. Dry all clothing and household linen thoroughly. Don't let it collect in damp basements, dark closets or other spots that are likely to be damp.

Slide fasteners are very convenient for furniture coverings. They make it easy to remove and replace the covers for cleaning. Such fasteners are available in washable, nonrust materials.

In sewing buttons back in place on upholstered furniture put the button on the loop end of a wire hairpin. Push the opposite end of the hairpin through the fabric and catch the button in place with a heavy needle and strong thread. Remove the hairpin and finish sewing on the button.

When your child BITES HIS NAILS

It may be a Danger Sign!

It isn't always "nerves" that makes a child bite his nails. Often it's because of an entirely different reason—a reason few mothers suspect—WORMS!

If, along with nail-biting, there are signs of an uneasy stomach, finicky appetite, fidgeting and restless sleep . . . take heed! For these may be the symptoms of round worms; a nasty infection that can cause your child real distress.

JAYNE'S VERMIFUGE is the best known remedy in America for expelling round worms. It has been used by millions of mothers, for over a century, and is backed by the most modern scientific study.

JAYNE'S VERMIFUGE has great ability to drive out large round worms, yet it tastes good and acts gently. JAYNE'S does not contain saltonin. If there are no worms it works merely as a mild laxative. Ask for "JAYNE'S VERMIFUGE."

Inner Things

Happiness depends, as Nature shows, less on exterior things than most suppose.—Cowper.

DON'T SQUEEZE SURFACE PIMPLES

Don't risk scarring your skin and spreading infection by squeezing unsightly pimples and blackheads. ## Who's Afraid of the Big, Bad Pups? Not Susie!

Jack fell down and lost his crown (as best pet), and Jill came tumbling after. Both pups were decidedly glum after Susie, coy maiden in the center, was named blue ribbon winner in the New York Boys' club sixth annual pet show. And look at the kittenish twinkle in her queenly eye as she lords it over the droopy-eared pups. Jack, incidentally, is pictured on the left.

Chronic Pains May Be Aided By Body Brace

By DR. JAMES W. BARTON
(Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

A PREPARATORY school reports that while the parents of the present pupils were a little taller than their parents (the grandparents of the present pupils), the present pupils are so much taller than their grandparents that longer beds have become necessary. And physicians having to do with the examination and care of previous and present generations of preparatory and university students report that the average height of the present students is between one and two inches more than the previous generation.

TODAY'S HEALTH COLUMN

If this increase in height were accompanied by an increase in width and strength, it would be a great boon, but unfortunately this increase in height is often accompanied by thinness of body, and the lack of fat to hold up the abdominal organs, allows the stomach, intestines and kidneys to drop more or less, thus interfering with digestion.

Dr. Barton

In describing a case before the International Assembly of Physicians in Philadelphia, Prof. Peter T. Bohan, University of Kansas school of medicine, said:

Chronic Pain Relieved.

"A woman came to me complaining of pain in the right lower side of the abdomen; diarrhea and chronic fatigue. The pain had been present for months, with no acute attack over a period of weeks. At the time I saw her it had been almost constant for the biggest part of the day for over seven years and was worse when she was overtired. She also had had a backache for 20 years. She consulted me over a year ago and the first thing I did was to take her history (listen to her story and have her answer my questions) which required three hours. I gave her some advice and a back brace. She had had no pain and her bowels and general health are better."

Epileptic Attacks Greatly Reduced

PHYSICIANS now look back but a few years to bring to mind the large number of patients suffering with epilepsy who "took fits" on the street, in their homes, churches and theaters or anywhere else they happened to be. Today it is uncommon to see a patient undergoing an epileptic attack.

Here are a few simple rules to be followed:

1. Cutting down on all starch foods—bread, sugar, potatoes, pastries.
2. Cutting down on all liquids—water, tea, coffee, milk, soft and hard drinks.
3. Increasing the fat foods—butter, cream, fat meat, egg yolks.
4. The use of a tablet of phenobarbital (½ to 1½ grains), as prescribed by a physician, every 24 hours.

However, the body pays for its relief by giving up some of its good rich blood.

Patients Are Examined.

Dr. G. Maillard and Miss Jammot state in Paris Medical Journal that having observed anaemia (thin blood) in two epileptic patients who had been treated for a long time with phenobarbital, they then examined the blood of 15 epileptic patients who had been treated with phenobarbital for several years. In eight of the patients they detected a more or less severe reduction in red blood corpuscles and also other changes. As the reduction of the red corpuscles (and the other changes also) came about very slowly, neither patient nor physician suspected that the symptoms—tiredness, paleness, rapid heart beat, the swelling of ankles—were due to anaemia following the use of phenobarbital.

Now the epileptic attacks must be prevented and phenobarbital must be used, but these investigators state that the blood can be built up again by reducing the dose of phenobarbital and by treating the patient with liver extract. It is likely that ordinary liver—four to five ounces a day—would give satisfactory results.

QUESTION BOX

Q.—Can nervousness cause ulcer of the stomach?

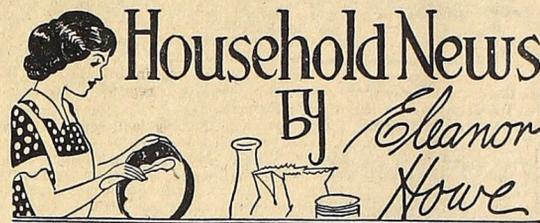

A.—Yes. Nervousness or emotional disturbances can cause peptic ulcer—ulcer of the stomach and small intestine.

Q.—What will cure a cough?

A.—If the cough is due to congestion a drug to cut the mucus is needed. If the cough is due to a habit or an irritation a "quieting" drug is used.

FOR A SHOWER PARTY FOR SPRING BRIDE
(See Recipes Below)

Here Comes the Bride!

And so they are married—and after the ceremony there is to be a wedding reception at the home of the bride's mother.

It takes a bit of planning to carry through a lovely wedding so that every detail is correct. And the reception which follows must be as nearly perfect as it is possible to make it. Plan a menu that's simple and easy to serve, yet appetizing and delicious to eat. Set the table for buffet service—using your loveliest linen, silver and china. Since the proverbial color scheme for the bride's table is green and white, plan to use white flowers for the centerpiece; if candles are used, they may be white or green.

A party for the bride calls for something very special in the way of food. Here's a menu for a wedding reception, with tested recipes to enable you to use it as it is given.

Assorted Hors d'Oeuvres
Grapefruit-Lobster or Crabmeat Salad
Buttermilk Rolls
Celery
Pistachio Ice Cream
Bride's Cake
Punch

Butter
Olives
Radishes
Coffee

For a shower party for a spring bride, serve simple—but very good—refreshments like this:

Bride's Pie
Assorted Salted Nuts
You'll find other recipes for special party cakes and desserts in my cook book "Better Baking." There's a recipe for wedding cakes, as well.

Bride's Pie.
(Serves 10 to 12)
6 egg whites
¼ teaspoon salt
1 cup sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla
1½ quarts strawberry ice cream
2 baked pie shells
Beat egg whites until foamy, add salt and continue beating until the egg whites are stiff. Gradually beat in the sugar and continue beating until the egg whites are stiff and glossy. Add vanilla. Pack ¾ quart of ice cream into each pie shell. Cover with meringue and bake in a very hot oven (350 degrees) until meringue is lightly browned. Serve immediately.

Assorted Canapes.
Place chilled shrimp on a bed of shaved ice; serve cocktail sauce with it as an accompaniment. Stuff celery stalks with cream cheese which has been mixed with chopped stuffed olives. Cut crusts from slices of very fresh bread and cut loaf in long lengthwise slices. Spread with cream cheese. Roll as for jelly roll and slice in very thin slices. Brush with melted butter, place on broiler and toast lightly. Serve hot.

Grapefruit Lobster or Crabmeat Salad.
Cut grapefruit in half, remove center with grapefruit corer. With grapefruit knife cut around each section and remove membrane. Cover edges of grapefruit with finely chopped parsley. Fill chilled center of grapefruit with lobster or crabmeat. Top with mayonnaise and serve.

Buttermilk Rolls.
(Makes 2½ dozen)
1 cake yeast
2 tablespoons lukewarm water
2 cups buttermilk (at room temperature)

6½ cups of flour (approximately)
½ cup shortening
½ cup sugar
1½ teaspoons salt
½ teaspoon soda
1 teaspoon baking powder

Soften yeast in lukewarm water. Combine with buttermilk and mix well. Add about 2 cups of flour and beat until smooth. Cover and let rise in a warm place until the batter is light and bubbly. Cream shortening and sugar thoroughly.

Add to raised batter and beat well. Sift together the remaining flour, the salt, soda and baking powder. Add to batter in 3 or 4 portions and mix well. Pinch off small bits of the dough, shape into balls and place in small, greased muffin cups. Cover and allow to rise until the rolls are very light. Brush with melted shortening. Bake in a moderately hot oven (375 degrees) for about 15 minutes.

Groom's Cake.
½ cup butter
1 cup light brown sugar
2 eggs
2 cups general purpose flour
½ teaspoon soda
¼ teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon cinnamon
½ teaspoon nutmeg
1 teaspoon allspice
¾ cup sour milk
¼ cup citron, cut
1 cup raisins
1 cup nut meats, broken
1 teaspoon vanilla extract

Cream butter, add sugar, and beat thoroughly. Add eggs (well beaten). Mix and sift together all dry ingredients, reserving ¼ cup of flour. Add flour mixture and sour milk alternately—beginning with the flour mixture. Flour, citron, raisins, and nuts with the ¼ cup of flour which was reserved and add to the cake mixture. Add vanilla extract. Place in well-greased, small tube pan. Bake 40 to 50 minutes in a moderate oven (350 degrees).

Pistachio Ice Cream.
1 pint coffee cream
1 cup top milk
¼ teaspoon salt
¾ cup sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla extract
¼ teaspoon almond extract
3 to 4 drops green pure food color
½ cup pistachio nut meats (cut fine)

Mix all ingredients together thoroughly. Pour mixture into freezing container of modern ice cream freezer. (To allow for expansion fill not more than ¾ full.) Assemble and cover. Then pack mixture of cracked ice and rock salt (use 3 parts ice to 1 part of salt by volume) around the freezing container. Turn crank steadily about 5 minutes. When mixture becomes difficult to turn, remove cover carefully, take out dasher, and pack down evenly with a spoon. Cover ice cream with wax paper and replace cover. Draw off water and replenish ice and salt mixture. Cover and allow to harden at least one hour before serving.

Twenty-Four Hour Pike's Peak.
(Serves 6)
4 egg whites
¾ teaspoon cream of tartar
1 cup sugar
Add cream of tartar to egg whites and beat until the egg whites are stiff but not dry. Gradually beat in the sugar, and continue beating until the mixture is stiff and glossy. Spread in a greased pie plate. Bake in a slow oven (275 degrees) for 20 minutes, then increase temperature to 300 degrees and bake 40 minutes longer.

Filling.
4 egg yolks
½ cup sugar
3 tablespoons lemon juice
2 teaspoons lemon rind (grated)
Beat egg yolks until thick and lemon-colored. Add remaining ingredients and cook in double boiler until thick, stirring constantly. Cool. Whip 1 cup cream and spread half the cream on the cooled meringue. Cover with lemon filling and top with remaining cream. Chill.

Now is the time for each foresighted homemaker to add to her own collection of favorite recipes, some new and unusual ones which are sure to please her family. Next week Eleanor Howe will give you some of her own tested recipes—recipes for meats, for vegetables and for desserts—and a choice recipe for rhubarb conserve.

Star's Magnetic Influence Felt, but Not Recognized

The film star, a practical joker, had an electrified chair, disguised as an ordinary upholstered one, in his home. He delighted in seeing a guest, comfortably seated, suddenly leap at the press of a button.

A pretty girl came to interview him. She sat in the chair, and he couldn't resist pressing the button.

But she just sat there, conversing animatedly.

Finally he asked: "Don't you feel rather strange?"

"Yes," she replied. "As if electricity were going through me. But I always feel that way when talking to film stars. They're so magnetic."

★ MORE THAN BIG—
it's big in the right places!

Inside the car, where bigness really counts, you find a Ford V-8 extra "big for its size." Big by any measure, it's especially so at the important comfort points shown below. Check them now, then come in and try a Ford. It's got a lot of things like this that are just too good to miss!

A Measured from windshield to rear window, a Ford Sedan is 100¼ inches... this is longer than in a number of much higher-priced cars today!

B Kneeroom for rear-seat passengers in a Ford is considerably greater than that of any other car in its price class!

C With its compact V-type engine, the Ford is designed to carry rear-seat passengers farther ahead of the rear spring than any other car at this price—toward the center of the car where riding quality is best!

SURPRISING is the word for a 1940 Ford! Surprising because it gives so much you wouldn't expect at its low price. Surprising all-round performance, as proved when it won the big 3700-mile Argentine Grand Prize Road Race. Surprising gas economy, as proved when it gave most miles per gallon of all standard-equipped cars at its price in the Gilmore-Yosemite Economy Run. Surprising in its big-car ride and room. Surprising in its long, long list of truly fine-car features. Come in today and get to know a Ford V-8!

Venetian Blinds to Simulate Windows

By RUTH WYETH SPEARS
HAVE you ever tried placing your davenport on the side of the room where there was a single window? You probably found that it did not look well, because the back was just high enough to give the draperies an awkward cut-off appearance, as shown in the upper sketch. The lower sketch shows how a friend of mine solved this problem.

There are no windows under those lowered blinds. A painted box-like cornice board was made about 2 feet longer than the davenport and was fastened to the top of the frame of the one window. The venetian blinds and the rods for the draperies were fastened inside this. A narrow shelf for plants just the length of the davenport back was fastened securely to the window sill. The flowers increase the illusion that there are three windows and add a cheerful note of color.

Great Circle Course

When sailing between widely separated ports, most ships follow a Great Circle course, or an arc whose center is the center of the earth, because it is the shortest distance. For instance, the distance between San Francisco and Yokohama by direct compass bearing is 5,517 miles, whereas the Great Circle course is only 5,224 miles.—Collier's.

THE STORY THUS FAR

Left orphans by a tragic automobile accident which claimed the lives of their mother and father, three sisters, Helen, Adele and "Limpy," are visited by their Aunt Olympia, politically minded wife of Senator Alencon Delaporte Slophshire. She insists that the girls return with her to Washington, to make their home with them. In addition to loving the girls, Aunt Olympia knows they will be a terrific political asset. Senator Slophshire has as his political opponent one Brother Wilkie, a minister, whose political campaign is furthered by seven "unspeakable brats" who sit on the rostrum with him while he makes speeches. Aunt Olympia and the Senator, kind and loving, nevertheless know that their three nieces will mean votes for the Senator. Senator Slophshire, a pleasantly foggy individual who depends on the astuteness of his wife, prepares for their coming. Though Limpy, the youngest, is 16, and Helen, the oldest, is 21, the Senator buys them all the toys and gifts he can find, feeling that "children" should be occupied.

CHAPTER III—Continued

"An apartment is part of a house and home is what you make it," Olympia contradicted the Senator. "And an apartment is closer together, more intimate. I want them to be intimate. I want them to get used to seeing you around and being with you and—if possible—to like you as if you were their very own. . . . Before the campaign starts," she added significantly.

It must be said for the Senator that never once had he remotely thought of the children as latent campaign material.

"Oh, they've got plenty of time to get used to me," he said mildly.

"Well, it took me a good many years to get used to you and even now sometimes I'm surprised. Very much surprised! Besides, a hotel apartment is more accessible. Accessible to newspapermen and photographers as well as constituents. . . . Fortunately, they photograph well. . . . Yes, you're right, Del. We'd better take a larger apartment and stay where we are. This year at least. Next year is another year."

Their talk during those intervening days was all of the children. The Senator wiped his glasses without intermission during a full hour while Olympia told him the sad details of the tragedy and the funeral. He did not brighten until she added thoughtfully:

"As Limpy says, it's just terrifying the way things happen so out of a clear sky. But as I said to Limpy, there's always something to look forward to. I was all cut up—I was terribly cut up—about this horrible tragedy. . . . Her chin quivered a little and tears flooded her eyes. "And yet just look! Nothing else in the world could have given us those children."

"We'll be very good to them," said the Senator. "I'll buy them anything they want." The Senator's sole idea of being good to children was to buy them things.

"Del," Olympia said, almost pleadingly, "I want you to help me about something." That shocked the Senator. He was used to having his advice asked when Olympia had her mind made up. He was used to receiving orders for co-operation or for the carrying out of plans. For Olympia to ask his help, ask it pleadingly, was something new.

"Helen," she explained, tearfully, "is going home next winter and marry a grocery store. She doesn't know I know it, so kindly do not make any comments about it. She's of age and it's nobody's business but her own. Adele is so beautiful that she's bound to be gobbled up immediately and that's an end of her. But Del," Olympia began to cry softly, which so distressed the Senator that he set at once to wiping his glasses though he had no idea what she was crying about. "Del, there's Limpy! If we work this thing right, we can have Limpy! She's only sixteen; she calls it seventeen minus, but she's only sixteen. If we make her happy and she learns to like us, we can have her. I—Del, I never wanted anything so much in my life." And she fell to crying again.

The Senator didn't even cough. "Ollie," he said firmly, "if you want that child, you can have her. You deserve her, Ollie. If she turns out to be a nice child and you want her, you can have her."

"She's a grand child, Del. She's just grand! And named after me, too. . . . You'd think she might like me all right, wouldn't you? . . . They're all nice children," she admitted, rather grudgingly. "Helen is a little pig-headed. You wouldn't think a person as angelic as Helen could be so pig-headed about a delivery boy. Adele's nice, too. I wouldn't have believed such a beauty could be so nice if I hadn't seen it with my own eyes. . . . But Limpy—Del, Limpy is the cockiest, bravest little thing you ever saw. She's—well, it made me sick to have to come away and leave her even for three weeks. I kept wanting all the time to pick her up and start running with her."

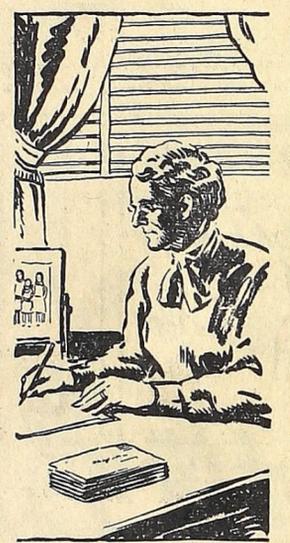

"Do you want her as much as that, Ollie?" he asked, rather awkwardly. They had been married a long time and sweet speeches between them had come to seem artificial and affected, but he really thought a great deal of Olympia; he was actually fond of her. "Ollie, you're all right! And anything you want as much as that, I'm going to see that you get it!"

"It's not as simple as that," she said ruefully. "But Del, I give you my word, I—I want Limpy so much that I'd rather have her than have you lick that damn preacher. I'd rather have her than the whole Senate and the House thrown in. I'd rather have her than the White House!"

That settled it for the Senator.

Limpy was virtually her child. Aunt Olympia occupied herself until the girls' arrival by a systematic procedure which she called "building them up." There were details to be attended to, of course; taking a larger apartment, for instance; laying in additional household supplies; sending back almost daily the curious assortment of gifts the Senator sent up in advance of their coming. But in the main, she devoted herself to "building them up." She saw everyone, she accepted every invitation, she resumed attendance at all her neglected clubs. She gave a large luncheon. She even went calling on just the right people. She talked constantly of "my poor dear children." She showed pictures of them, the most flattering ones. She apologized for her constant rush by saying she wanted to get everything of a social nature off her calendar before the poor dear children arrived. "Naturally, then, my place will be with them. They are very sad. Such a tragedy! But their uncle and I will do what we can to comfort them."

Every word, every gesture, was deliberately planned to whet interest.

She wrote letters to her friends at home, voters, every one!

est, to arouse sympathy, to insure a profusion of polite courtesies with attendant publicity.

She wrote letters to her friends at home—voters, every one!—recounting the tragedy and invariably added, "We shall have our three dear little nieces with us this summer. Naturally, they will make their home with us. I do want them to find new interest in life and come gradually out from this terrible shadow that has so darkened their beautiful youth. I know you will help me."

Due largely to these tireless and effectual preliminaries, the Senator got a very good press on his benign adoption of the three young orphans. He, along with Olympia and a crowd of newspapermen and photographers, met them on their arrival at Union Station. Uncle Lancy was photographed with them in many interesting poses; kissing Limpy, the youngest; patting the grave Helen paternally on the shoulder; chucking the beautiful Adele under her highly photographic chin. He was photographed, too, wiping the moisture from his glasses with a very large, very white handkerchief. It was genuine moisture. The picture was appropriately captioned "Senator Weeps Over Pretty, Pathetic Young Wards."

Even Aunt Olympia pronounced the arrival a complete success. Senator Slophshire was neither large, nor tall, nor handsome, being instead rather jauntily rotund with a ruddy pink skin. He was slightly bald and the top of his head was of a ruddy pinkness. He was definitely dapper, punctilious in every detail of dress, manner and speech.

The girls found, to their delighted relief, that, for all her robust energy, Aunt Olympia was easy to live with. She was always alert, always humorously sarcastic, even bitter, but her pleasure in the girls' presence was obvious and she was flattered to rosy flushes by their spontaneous laughter at her remarks. She gave them almost unlimited freedom. She said that, in her opinion, "people should do as they pleased." If they wanted to get up for breakfast, they could. If they didn't, they could stay abed. If they wanted to come in when there were callers, she was glad to have them; if they were disinclined, she made voluble excuse for them. Best of all, she was not snoopy and she never pried. Anything that came naturally within range of her eyes or ears went immediately into her storehouse of knowledge and was used to telling effect. But she never snooped.

Helen sometimes wondered uneasily if all this "doing as she pleased" was quite the best training for Limpy, at such a tender age. After all, she was only a child. One evening, as they sat together before the fireplace in the big living room, part of Olympia's persistent campaign to "make them intimate," Helen said:

"Auntie, have you inquired about a school for Limpy? The second semester should begin very soon now, I think."

"Yes," said Olympia promptly. "I have a list of all the girls' schools in the District and I know just what they're good for. All Limpy has to do is to decide whether she wants to educate herself up to society, to the night clubs, to get married, or go into business."

The Senator took off his glasses, wiped them thoroughly and coughed deprecatingly.

"My dear, do you think it's wise starting the child into school in the middle of the year, and such a very hard year? In my opinion, she needs a rest and a change and a little vacation. She looks thin and pale to me!"

The girls and Olympia turned shocked eyes to inspect the astonished Limpy, whose face turned a deep rose from delighted excitement at thought of escaping school.

"Limpy, don't you feel well? You do look feverish!" ejaculated Aunt Olympia, in a panic of alarm.

"Of course she's feverish," said the Senator. "And pale, too, for that matter. Why shouldn't she be pale and feverish? Look at all she's gone through! Too much study doesn't do a young mind any good. I say let her come around with me and see the sights and get a good rest. She can get enough schooling next year."

Aunt Olympia was more than distressed; she was terrified. This was Limpy!

"Limpy, do you feel sick? Have you any pain?" she quavered. And her alarm was for Limpy alone. She never once thought of the danger to her campaign. "Limpy, I don't believe you do look very healthy. We'll have the doctor in, right away. Maybe the Senator is right, girls. Maybe she'd better rest and take things easy this year."

"Of course I'm right," said the Senator, well pleased with himself. "Certainly she'd better rest and have a good time. She can read good books when she feels like it. There's real education in books. She can come up with me and listen to the Senate—though it is not usually very educational."

"I could coach her in trigonometry," said Helen. "She's going to have trouble with that when she goes to college."

"Of course!" said the Senator. "A few minutes a day won't hurt her, but don't run it into the ground."

And then suddenly Limpy came to life. She bounded out of her low chair, crossed the room in two lithe leaps and landed in a heap on the Senator's rigid, unaccustomed knees. She clasped him in both arms, seriously deranging his two-dollar tie and knocking off his glasses.

"Oh, Uncle Lancy, you darling!" she cried. "You perfect old peach! What a simply swell idea! . . . Aunt Olympia, he's right! I swear I'm beginning to think maybe I very nearly do feel sick!"

There was no further trouble about being intimate with Uncle Lancy. Limpy had taken him to their united bosom and he was theirs. But Helen took pains to select good books for her to read for educational purposes and gave her an hour's grilling in trigonometry every day. After all, a child that age should spend some time learning something!

On an afternoon in March, when all official Washington was beginning to fret at the unconscionable delay of adjournment, Aunt Olympia sat quietly, at peace with the world, reading the Congressional Record.

Adele stood between the deep blue curtains at the window looking down into the hotel park. All outdoor things made her think of home and of old days and of that low mound in the cemetery back in Iowa; made her a little sad. She wore a graceful ankle-length gown of white crepe, with wide loose sleeves banded with soft black fur. Aunt Olympia had picked it out. A narrow band of black velvet confined Adele's fair curls—that was her own idea.

Hilda, the sour Swede, appeared suddenly at the door, prefacing her appearance with a suggestive cough.

"I wish you wouldn't cough," said Aunt Olympia irritably. "You sound like the Senator about to take the edge off something good. If you've got anything to say, take a cough drop and say it."

"Mr. Len Hardesty is downstairs and craves a few minutes," said Hilda.

Aunt Olympia flung the Record halfway across the room. She bounded out of her chair. She palpitated all over. Adele, turning between the curtains, regarded her with amazement. Aunt Olympia had never before shown temper, except verbally.

"Len Hardesty! That louse! That snake-in-the-grass! I won't see him! Don't you let him cross my threshold! Tell him I'm not at home."

"Sure you're home, Ollie Slop, old top," drawled a low voice, and Len Hardesty stood in the door. "I was afraid you'd be in one of your little pre-campaign moods, so I told them to announce me in five minutes and I came right on up and tapped at the side door and a very nice young lady at the telephone let me in and motioned me down here, and here I am."

"Oh, hello, Len," said Aunt Olympia, not at all unpleasantly but rather cordially.

"How lovely and serene you are today, with the Record at your feet," he went on coolly. "Where's Sloppy?"

"If you mean the Senator, he is where he should be, trying to bring some order out of a chaotic Congress."

Her eyes went unconsciously to the motionless figure in black and white between the blue curtains. Quite naturally Len Hardesty's gaze followed hers.

Swiftly his eyes widened. Inelegantly, his jaw dropped. Wordless for once he gaped at the vision between the curtains. Then he flung his hat to the floor and clutched his head in both hands.

"My little niece, Adele, the Senator's middle ward," announced Olympia, with a smirk of smug complacency.

"Not one of the orphans! Ollie, you wouldn't do that to an old pal! You couldn't be that low—not even you could be as low as that! You wouldn't sick your old buddy onto seven brats and a tin trumpet and then double-cross me with—heaven-earth! Would you do that?"

"Oh, that's only one of them," said Aunt Olympia happily. "We have three! They adore the Senator!"

"You couldn't have three! There couldn't be three. There are no miracles, not even in politics. She's not flesh and blood anyhow. She's wax. She's an automaton you've rigged up to throw a scare into me—and successfully, I admit that, most successfully!"

Adele, being stared at, dropped a very slight curtsy and smiled.

"You pulled a wire!" Len Hardesty accused Aunt Olympia. "You know you pulled a wire. She's a female Charlie McCarthy, that's what she is; but much better-looking."

"Well, what of it? Charlie seems to be doing all right for himself. And so's Adele, if you ask me! . . . Sit down, darling." The warmth of her smile for Adele was beatific.

"Ollie, I want to make a deal with you," said Len Hardesty earnestly. "I'll swap you the brats, all seven of 'em, and the bellwether too, for this one; just this one. You can keep the others."

"Not interested. Definitely not interested," said Aunt Olympia. "You admit, then, that when I pick campaign material, I pick it."

"I'll throw in two of Brother Wilkie's best sermons and the tin trumpet. I'll throw in the cane, too."

Aunt Olympia waved the idea from her with a happy gesture.

Len Hardesty took another look at the smiling Adele. "To tell you the truth, Ollie," he said, humbly, "I'm not sure but I'll throw in the Governor. . . . Yes, come to think of it, I will! I'll throw in the Governor."

"I wouldn't have him for fish bait," she said contemptuously. "You made your political bed, now lie in it. If you can find room among the brats and the tin horn."

"I'd better have a drink, Ollie. I'd better have two drinks. I feel very badly. Low! Very low. She"—he nodded his head dolorously toward Adele—"wouldn't know what we are talking about, Ollie, but you and I know. Well, I feel very bad in the pit of my stomach."

"Oh, I know about the pit of the stomach," said Adele brightly. "It's where you feel the most all-gone when you feel all-gone."

"I'll probably need three drinks. Ring, Ollie," he said dully.

Aunt Olympia, quivering with pleasure, rang for Hilda.

"Since this snake-in-the-grass is bent on drinking himself to death, we may as well do what we can to help along the good cause. Scotch and soda, Hilda, and a plain lemonade for Miss Adele."

Len Hardesty, still holding his head in both hands, stared uninterestingly at Adele.

"Can't I do something for you? Can't I be helpful? May I offer you a cigarette?"

"Not now, thanks," said Adele politely.

"What do you mean, 'Not now, thanks'? Don't you smoke?" he asked moodily.

"Oh, Aunt Olympia!" Adele cried reproachfully. "You said no one would ever suspect we don't smoke if we just say, 'Not now, thanks.'"

"So she's teaching you your lines, eh? I might have known it. I suppose it was she who taught you to run your eyelashes up and down like that and give a guy goose flesh."

"No, I must have got that from God. But she told me what to say about drinking."

"What did she tell you to say?" he asked in sepulchral tones. "Whatever it is, it's going to be a vote-getter."

"She said if a gentleman simply insists that you take a drink. . . . Now, you pretend you're a gentleman and insist that I have a drink and I'll give you a demonstration. I need practice anyhow."

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By HAROLD L. LUNDQUIST, D. D., Dean of The Moody Bible Institute of Chicago. (Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

Lesson for May 12

Lesson subjects and Scripture texts selected and copyrighted by International Council of Religious Education; used by permission.

HABAKKUK FIGHTS THROUGH DOUBT TO FAITH

LESSON TEXT—Habakkuk 1:12-2:4. GOLDEN TEXT—The just shall live by his faith.—Habakkuk 2:4.

"The just shall live by his faith"—the great rallying cry of the Reformation; in fact, the very essence of Christianity, is found in the glorious conclusion which the prophet Habakkuk reaches in his triumphant confidence in God. Trying circumstance, doubt and fear must all yield to faith in God.

The lesson for today is peculiarly appropriate to the situation in which the world finds itself just now. Men's hearts are failing them for fear. It seems to them that all is chaotic disorder; they wonder whether God has any plan for the world and its people, and whether He really cares. "Why doesn't God do something?" is the question on many lips. The answer is in our lesson.

I. Believe, Though Surrounded by Questions (1:12-17)

Habakkuk does not question that his people had sinned and were worthy of God's disciplinary chastening, but he is astonished to learn that God plans to use the wicked Chaldeans to bring it about. Questions pour in upon him as he describes their iniquity (v. 13), and speaks of them as catching Judah in their net (vv. 14, 15) and gloating over their victims (vv. 16, 17).

He does not yet know the answer to his questions, but he has already stated the foundation of his faith in verse 12. Whatever happens, no matter how sore the trial and non-understandable the outworking of God's plan, the prophet is sure of his God as the eternal and holy One. The point to be borne in mind in such a time is that God is not making plans for the moment or because of some unexpected change in circumstances. He is "from everlasting" (v. 12). His plans are eternal. But He is also the "Holy One" (v. 12). It may seem for the present that sin and wickedness have triumphed, but let us remember that the eternal plans of God are conceived and executed in holiness and power.

II. Be Alert in the Midst of Uncertainty (2:1)

One who does not have faith in God is prone to say in such times that all hope is lost, and give up in despair. Not so Habakkuk. He knew that there is nothing harder than to wait patiently for God. He determines to be neither discouraged nor impatient, but to stand watch in the tower (v. 1). "His words bespeak a very right and proper condition of soul. Perplexed and confused by the seeming enigma of God's ways, he owns he may require reproof, and takes his stand upon the watch tower, above the mists of the earth and beyond the thoughts and doings of men, where he can quietly wait on God and look out to see what He will say to him" (Ironside).

How desperately we need such alert and earnest watchers in our day. Christians, arise! Do not permit yourself to be either lulled into a false security or into deadening discouragement.

III. Receive the Answer of Triumphant Faith (2:2-4)

"The Lord answered me." He always does, if we are ready to listen and to abide His time. Habakkuk received a vision of God's truth in which he was to write so plainly that everyone who read it would understand it and, in turn, run to others with the message. Those of us who teach and preach would do well to follow that admonition. All too often our message is not understood or fails to stir those who hear it to go quickly and tell others.

Looking forward to Christ, the just man of Habakkuk's day was to live by faith; even as we of this day, looking back to the cross of Christ, are justified by faith and then are to go on to live by faith. This is the word which, as we have already suggested, stirred Luther and his fellows to bring about the Reformation. Long before Luther's day, however, the same words had come by the Holy Spirit's inspiration to be the heart of the great messages of Paul the apostle as he taught justification (Rom. 1:16, 17), as he defended grace against legalism (Gal. 3:11), and as he portrayed "the pilgrim's path through this world from the cross to the glory" (Heb. 10:38).

Works of the Lord

Oh, that men would praise the Lord for his goodness, and for his wonderful works to the children of men! And let them sacrifice the sacrifices of thanksgiving, and declare his works with rejoicing.—Psalm 107:21-22.

Pride

The lofty looks of men shall be humbled, and the haughtiness of men shall be bowed down.—Isaiah 2:11.

HIGH SCHOOL

The Seniors expect to take their annual class trip this year to Holland in order to visit the Tulip Festival which is being held in that city. They will leave Friday, May 17, and return the following day.

Commencement will be held in the school auditorium Wednesday, May 29, at 8:15. Judge Herman Dehnke will be the guest speaker.

In the test given on the use of bookkeeping sets, results prove clearly that old saying "one learns by doing." Several students, whose apparent knowledge of bookkeeping seemed rather vague, showed great improvement after completing one month's work of actual practice with a set of books.

Typing II students are giving typing II students a real race in both speed and accuracy this year.

High School Baseball Team Wins
Our baseball team defeated Whittemore high school last Friday at Whittemore by a score of 9 to 2. Dick Prescott and Frank Mark formed the winning battery while F. Partlo and Shellenbarger worked for Whittemore. Dick allowed 7 hits, walked 3, and struck out 7, while Partlo allowed 8 hits, walked 2, and struck out 8. Richard Zollweg, Harold Ross and Frank Mark each got two hits, one of Richard's being a triple. Britt and Jacques each got two singles for Whittemore.

Three wins and no defeats is the record of the baseball team after defeating Au Gres high school Tuesday by a score of 17 to 1. Frank Hill and Bob Rollin worked on the mound for Tawas City with Frank Mark behind the plate. Au Gres used three pitchers who allowed our boys 15 hits, walked 3, hit 2 batsmen, and struck out 4. Frank Hill allowed the visitors their one run on five hits in five innings, while Bob Rollin worked two innings, allowing no hits and no runs.

SEVENTH and EIGHTH GRADES
A Stanford arithmetic test was given to the pupils of this room April 25. Most of the pupils ratings are higher than on the test given last semester. The ratings are as follows:

Seventh grade, Harold Bublitz, Ardieth Lake, Vernon Beaubin and Harold Burtzlog doing 11th grade work. Wayne Hughes doing 9th grade in the eighth months. Lucille Malcolm doing 8th grade in the seven months, and Kathryn Westcott doing 8th grade work in the five months. The ratings in the 8th grade are as follows: Neil Libka, Linda Lou Libka, Hazel Galliker, Maxine DePotty, Hugo Wegner, Leland Britting and Evelyn Colby doing 10th grade work. Roy Landon did 9th grade work in eight months, Harry Rollin doing 8th grade in the nine months.

Five of the seventh and eighth grade boys have organized a baseball team and are going to play against the Vine and Greenwood boys Thursday afternoon.

Some of the pupils were excused for the ball game with Au Gres, Tuesday.

In Michigan history class the eighth grade are studying the development of the automobile industry in Michigan.

PRIMARY
We are sorry to have Susan Wallace leave our first grade. She moved to East Tawas.

Lyle Groff completed a 5 1/2 minute test in arithmetic in 1 1/2 minutes and had a perfect score. Several others had excellent scores but took more time to complete the work.

Andon B. Dolson and Alice R. Dolson, his wife, Plaintiffs, Vs. Joseph E. Lubaway and Stella Lubaway, his wife, Defendants.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION
Suit pending in the Circuit Court for the County of Ingham, in Chancery, at Tawas City, Michigan, on the fourth day of April A. D. 1940.

In this cause it appearing from affidavit on file, that the defendant Joseph E. Lubaway, is a resident of this state, and that a subpoena to appear and answer has been duly issued in this cause, but could not be served upon the said Joseph E. Lubaway by reason of his continued concealment within the state, and by reason of his continued absence from his place of residence.

On motion of John A. Stewart, Attorney for plaintiffs, it is ordered that the appearance of the said defendant, Joseph E. Lubaway be entered in this cause within three months from the date of this order; and that in case of his appearance that he cause his answer to the Bill of Complaint to be filed and a copy thereof be served upon the Attorney for Plaintiffs within fifteen days after service on him or his attorney of a copy of said bill, and in default thereof of said bill be taken as confessed by the said defendant, Joseph E. Lubaway.

And it is further ordered that the said plaintiffs cause this order to be published in the Tawas Herald, a newspaper printed, published and circulated in said county, and that such publication be commenced within twenty days from the date of this order and that such publication be continued therein once each week for a period of six weeks in succession or that said plaintiffs cause a copy of this order to be personally served on the said defendant Joseph E. Lubaway, at least twenty days before the time above described for his appearance.

Ordinance No. 104

An Ordinance Regulating the Construction, Repairing and Alteration of Dwelling in the City of Tawas City.

The City of Tawas City Ordains:—

1. It is hereby determined and declared to be necessary and conducive to the public health, safety and welfare of the city of Tawas City to regulate the light, ventilation, sanitation, fire protection maintenance, alteration and improvement of dwellings.

2. That for the purpose of this ordinance, Act No. 197 P. A. of 1917, section two (2) shall be accepted as the definition of a dwelling.

3. That before the construction or alteration of a dwelling is commenced or before the construction or alteration of any building or structure in the same lot with a dwelling, the owner, or his agent shall submit to the Common Council of the city of Tawas City, a detailed statement in writing verified by the affidavit of the person making the same, of the specifications for such dwelling or building in such form as may be required by said council; such statement shall also give in full the name and residence of the owners and a complete description of the lot; and of the size of building to be erected and its position on said lot; that said Common Council shall upon the receipt of such fees as the common council shall determine to be fair and just, issue a permit to the applicant for the construction of said building, provided that such plans comply with the regulations and restrictions set forth in this ordinance.

4. That no dwelling shall hereafter be constructed in the city of Tawas City having a ground floor area of less than 575 square feet or without a cement foundation or equal.

5. That the exterior of all dwellings shall be covered with either wood siding, brick, imitation brick shingles or cement blocks.

6. That in every dwelling hereafter erected all rooms, except water-closets, compartments and bathrooms shall be of the following minimum sizes; every room shall contain at least eighty (80) square feet of floor area, except in kitchenettes may be fifty (50) square feet in area; no room except kitchenette shall be less than seven (7) feet wide.

7. That in every dwelling hereafter erected all rooms, shall have at least one (1) window equal to one-eighth (1/8) of the superficial area of the room.

8. That in every dwelling hereafter erected every room shall be of the following specified height; no room on the first floor shall be less than eight (8) feet in height in any part thereof, on the second floor shall be not less than seven foot in height.

9. That no outside toilets shall be constructed on any lot serviced by the city Sanitary Sewer System.

10. That every person who shall violate, assist in the violation of any provision of this ordinance, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor punishable, by the fine of not less than ten ($10) dollars or more than one hundred ($100) dollars and in default in payment thereof, by imprisonment in the county jail for one (1) day per each and every day such violation has continued.

11. All ordinances, resolutions or orders or parts thereof, in conflict with the provisions of this ordinance are the intent of such conflict hereby repealed.

12. This Ordinance shall be published in the Tawas Herald a weekly newspaper published and circulated in the city of Tawas City, once a week for two successive weeks and shall take immediate effect after such publication.
