Next Sunday, May 26. Tawas City will play hosts to Harrisville at the local Athletic Field. This should be an exciting game as both teams will be out to win. Harrisville to keep their slate clean, and Tawas City to break into the win column and also to settle an old score from last sea-son when Harrisville handed the lo-cal team two humiliating defeats.

So why not turn out and give the boys a hand and help win this game and start them on the road to vic. tories. The game is scheduled to start at 2:30 p.m. with the admission at 25 cents.

PREPAREDNESS:

THE WAR: On Schedule

Since the outbreak of war last year, the prediction that with the coming of spring fighting would "open up," has been on the lips of observers everywhere. As Adolf Hitler's military machine thrust itself across The Netherlands, into Belgium and France, these predictions were at last coming true. For the world was witnessing what was hailed as "the greatest battle in his-

As in 1914 the German forces were making the most impressive showing in the first few days of the fighting. This time fortifications are believed to be stronger and less open to attack but the Maria army open to attack but the Nazi army and air force has developed offensive war to the point where no de-fense appears to be impregnable.

In The Netherlands, the Dutch army was ordered to cease firing, thus ending resistance to Germany's swarms of bombing planes and motorized troops.

This intensive fighting along the 200-mile front from the North sea to Saarbruecken was of utmost importance to the allies and Germany alike. This was indicated by the staggering amount of force each side whipped into the fray. Some experts claimed that this first great battle might be the most of the war. It appeared that Adolf Hitler, firmly believing that "the Hour" had come, or forced through Germany's internal situation, had decided to stake all in one gigantic gamble.

As thousands of Nazi planes rained bombs upon military objectives and communication lines, England's royal air force flung back the challenge by loosing ton after ton of high explosives in areas near important munitions plants along the Rhine and upon large German troop concentrations.

Objectives

What the aims of the German high command in the great land offensive actually are, of course remain a closely guarded military secret. But in general it appeared that with The Netherlands at their mercy and with key airports in that country available to the Nazi air force, intensive bombing of the British Isles was an ever-present threat.

QUOTATIONS

. . . on the war

Robert Ley, Nazi Labor Front leader, speaking of Adolf Hitler said that he is waging war, "in God-given natural mission" to "bring Europe and the world to reason and thereby make Europe and the world happy.'

Wiscount Gort, commander of the British expeditionary forces in France, "We are now on the eve of one of the great moments in the history of our empire. The struggle will be hard and long but we can be confident of final victory."

@ Paul Van Zeeland, former Belgian premier, speaking in Des Moines, Iowa, said the small nations of Europe hope "that the might of the United States will sooner or later be felt in favor of right."

C Sen. Arthur Capper (R., Kan.,) while discussing possibility of war developments shutting off U. S. access to staple stocks such as rubber and tin from the Dutch East Indies, stated that "we would be better off if we were getting our rubber from Brazil . . ." He urged preparedness that must receive the using U. S. capital to develop the rubber industry in South America.

. How the wind is blowing NYLON-Heralded for several months as the answer to milady's plea for a superior stocking, hose made of Nylon, a synthetic fabric developed by duPont chemists, went on sale throughout the country. Nylon, a tough yet sheer product, is spun from air, water and coal.

POLITICS — In Atlantic City, supporters of a woman candidate for city commissioner, armed themselves with 200 candid cameras in efforts to keep "repeating" voters from the polls. "Every person" whose right to vote was in doubt was due for a snapshot and subsequent check-up.

BUILDING-In the 37 states east of the Rocky mountains, residential building contracts, last month, were highest since 1929. Eighty-eight per cent of the total $135,420,000 in contracts so awarded, was in private ownership construction as distinct from projects financed from public

BUSINESS:

Confusion "When business is good with us, it indicates an upswing in business conditions throughout the country." So said none other than Postmaster General James A. Farley as he announced that postal revenues reached an all-time high at the close of the last fiscal year. He also ventured the prediction that the current year would see an even larger increase in postal returns. In such increased revenue he observed a general improvement in business conditions.

For some time business analysts have been in accord with Mr. Farley in his thought that business was fairly good and getting better. Now the pattern of war is beginning to stamp itself in the industrial and agricultural fields and these impressions are sure to be felt.

Foreign markets for farm goods will probably be lost for the time being at least, but there will be a shift in the demand for manufactured goods from the warring nations. In particular the allies will no doubt be forced to speed up their purchases of war supplies, mainly fighting planes and equipment.

Whether the ultimate result will be a loss or gain for industry in this country is still uncertain. One thing was certain, however, confusion was the byword on the stock market. Up went some stocks, down went others.

Best guess was that the war would tend to accelerate U. S. trade with our neighbors in the Western hemisphere. And if demands for large U. S. home-defense supplies materialize, war equipment manufacturing firms should register neat gains.

POLITICS: Inside Track

For a long time New Dealers have been claiming that their champion, have the Democratic nomination for in addition to having other work and the presidency for the third time other responsibilities on her shoulif he wanted it. Fact now is that with 499 delegates solidly pledged for him and with New York's 94, practically his for the asking, he will have enough votes to be nominated on the first ballot come convention time.

And the third term tide was rising with the war. Many Washington politicians have felt for months that the President's decision to become a candidate hinged largely upon the development of Europe's conflict. With the outbreak of the "big battle" it appeared to them that he would decide to make the race. Other observers felt he would withhold accepting or rejecting the nomination until it has actually been tendered.

Cordell Hull, secretary of state, appears to have the inside track for the nomination if President Roosevelt refuses it. Montana's Sen. Burton K. Wheeler seems to be running second only to Mr. Hull in the Democratic "if-HE-doesn't-want-it" club.

MISCELLANY:

Fire destroyed $1,500,000 in war goods stored in the National Guard arsenal at Montgomery, Ala. An investigation was ordered as Adj. Gen. Ben. M. Smith reported he saw flames break out at the front and near the back of the building at about the same time.

Dry Form of Catarrh Cured With Estrogen

By DR. JAMES W. BARTON (Released by Western Newspaper Union.) THE treatment of atrophic I rhinitis, the dry form of catarrh, has not been satisfactory, so that when any new method of treatment is put forward that may give relief from the discomfort and embarrassment of this ailment these patients gladly seek it. Treatment by X-rays and by pushing a rubber bag containing hot water up the nose has given relief often.

Recently, Drs. W. W. Eagle, R. D. Baker and E. C. Hamblen, Durham,

N. C., recorded their findings in Archives of Otolaryngology, Chicago. They used estrogens in the treatment of 14 patients with atrophic rhinitis. Small sections of the mucous membrane or lining surface of the nose were removed and carefully studied before the estrogen was injected into the nose, so that the actual effect of this extract upon the mucous membrane would be known (any change in the color, the cells, the amount of mu-cus or moisture.) After the little piece of membrane had been removed, another little piece was removed after the patients had been treated with the estrogens from 27 to 216 days. No patient complained of deafness or head noises.

Twenty-Two Start Treatment. Twenty-two patients started the estrogen treatment but for economic reasons and distance from the clinic eight did not return for second examination of the membrane.

The patients washed out their noses twice daily with salt solution -one-half teaspoon to a glass of water-10 minutes later washed it out again with one or other of these solutions (to remove the crusts that had been loosened with the first washing). The estrogen substance was sprayed into the nose. Twentyone of the 22 patients reported that they were helped and wanted to continue treatment.

In all of the 14 cases where treatment was completed, there was complete or almost complete disappearance of the crusts and in not one case could the usual terrible odor (from the crusts) be noticed. The membrane had a more normal color and a smoother surface.

Colds May Be Due To Emotional Strain

VIRTUALLY every physician has had cases where the wife nursed Franklin Delano Roosevelt, could the husband through an illness, ders. The patient recovered but the wife was stricken and died of the same ailment, usually pneumonia.

What happens in these cases? The physical effort is always greatbut it is the mental, emotional or nervous effort that breaks down the resistance to infection. It was believed that the emotional upsetment, the worry about the patient, was the only factor that put a strain on the heart and caused it to fail.

There is, however, another factor that causes the loss of resistance to infection in those under emotional disturbances. We have all experienced the dryness of nose and throat which occurs when we are excited, worried, in suspense, or 'worked up" about something. It is now known that this emotional disturbance so affects the lining of the nose that it loses its natural moisture or "protective" moist coating that prevents harmful organisms getting a body "hold."

Nature's Defense Line. Dr. J. Kent Leasure, Indianapolis, recently stated: "When the nose and throat feel dry as a result of emotional or physical strain, the body's first line of defense against dangerous and troublesome colds is being smashed. The thin moist coating of mucus in the nose is the body's barrier to or defense against the organisms causing colds. Let the glands manufacturing this mucus be put out of action for as short a time as half an hour, and the cold-causing organisms can get into the human system and produce their unpleasant and dangerous effects."

Whether it's games for two or the vhole crowd, you can flatter the going-on-19 set by serving unusual refreshmentsthat carry an air of sophistication. They needn't be a burden on the chief cook, either, if she masters a few short cuts in preparing them. Sandwiches, salted nuts, olives and radishes, little cakes and coffee make a spread that appeals to any age, and that is sure to be acclaimed by enthusiastic youngsters. Serve decaffeinated coffee, so that youthful enthusiasm needn't be checked in a demand for second cups; and pass lengths of stick cinnamon instead of spoons to stir this tempting brew. By all means flatter the so-phisticated teensters by using your best demi-tasse cups.

An assortment of sandwiches can be made in short order if you cut the bread lengthwise, after removing the crusts, and buttering. Spread the filling on one big slice, top with another, and cut into half a dozen small sandwiches. You can make attractive little cakes that will look as handsome as the French chef's "petit fours" by cutting a plain loaf cake or plain layers into small shapes. Then cover with frosting, and decorate with candied fruit. After-Dinner Coffee or Demi-Tasse.

(Extra Strength.) Use 11/2 heaping tablespoons decaffeinated coffee, regular grind, for each cup (1/2 pint) of water. Make by any method desired. If using decaffeinated coffee drip grind, measure well-rounded tablespoon instead of heaping tablespoon. Rolled Sandwiches.

1 loaf bread (very fresh for rolling) 1/4 cup butter (thoroughly creamed) 2 packages cream cheese 2 tablespoons cream 1/4 teaspoon salt

Red and green liquid food coloring

Remove crusts from a fresh loaf of bread. Cut entire loaf in thin slices lengthwise.

Butter each long slice and spread 1/2 of each slice with a filling made of cream cheese moistened with cream and tinted pink with red food color. Spread the other half with moistened cheese tinted with green food color. Roll like a jelly roll and wrap in a tea towel wrung out of cold water. Chill and then cut into thin slices for serving.

Orange Jiffy Cakes.

1/4 cup butter 1 cup sugar 2 eggs

1½ cups cake flour

11/2 teaspoons baking powder 1/4 teaspoon salt

½ cup orange juice Grated rind-1 orange

Cream butter and add sugar slowly while beating constantly. Add eggs, one at a time, mixing thoroughly. Mix and sift together the flour, baking powder, and salt, and add alternately with the orange juice and grated orange rind. Bake in greased muffin tins in a moderately hot oven (375 degrees) for approximately 20 minutes.

Cornucopia Sandwiches.

Slice fresh bread in 4-inch slices. Trim off crusts, so that each slice is about 21/2 inches square. Spread with softened butter, and any desired sandwich filling. Roll, to form a cornucopia or horn. Fasten with toothpicks. Chill well before serving.

Fort Atkinson Ginger Creams. (Makes 3 dozen 11/2-inch squares)

1/2 cup shortening 2 tablespoons sugar 2 cups flour

3/4 teaspoon soda ¼ teaspoon salt 1 teaspoon ginger 1 cup dark molasses 1 egg (separated)

1 cup boiling water Cream shortening and sugar together. Sift flour, soda, salt and ginger, and blend with the creamed mixture using a pastry blender or a fork. Add molasses and egg yolk and beat well. Then add boiling

4 egg whites Cream shortening, add sugar gradually, and beat well. Sift the flour, baking powder, soda and salt together, and add to the creamed mixture alternately with sour milk and soda. Beat egg whites until stiff and fold into the batter. Spread in shallow, greased cake pan and bake in a moderate oven (365 degrees) for about 25 minutes. Cool and cut cake into fancy shapes with cookie cutters. Ice with pasteltinted College Icing.

College Icing.

2 cups granulated sugar

1/8 teaspoon cream of tartar 1 cup hot water

1 pound confectioners' sugar (approximately) Cake coloring

Cook sugar, cream of tartar and water in a saucepan until a thin syrup is formed (226 degrees). Cool slightly. Then add confectioners sugar to make an icing of pouring consistency. Add coloring, then pour icing over the cakes, covering them entirely. Decorate as desired.

Old-Fashioned Filled Cookies.

(Makes about 30 cookies.)

1 cup shortening 2 cups brown sugar

4 cups rolled oats 1 teaspoon soda

1/2 cup boiling water

1 teaspoon vanilla extract

1½ cups flour 1 teaspoon cinnamon

Cream shortening and add sugar gradually. Add rolled oats. Dissolve soda in hot water, and add to creamed mixture with the vanilla. Add flour and cinnamon, and mix well. Chill, roll out very thin, and cut into rounds. Place a teaspoon of date filling between 2 cookie rounds and press edges together with a fork. Place on greased cookie sheet and bake in a moderately hot oven (375 degrees) for about 15 min-

Foreign correspondents I have talked to have told me that the British air service, staffed by younger men than is the army, has been far less encumbered with brass hats and bureaucracy, and that its higher ranking officers understood and cooperated with newspaper men. Hence the handout order, a sweeping decree in barring journalists from all news sources, comes from an unsuspected quarter.

Marshal Barratt was appointed to the command of the newly created unified French-British air force by Neville Chamberlain January 10 of this year. He is 49 years old, a lavishly decorated flier and air officer of the World war, in India at intervals since 1931, senior air officer for India during part of that period. He joined the Royal Flying corps in 1914 and fought through the war. He has been commandant of the R. A. F. staff college at Andover. Many of the most effective leaders of the British air force have come from the Colonies. Marshal Barratt was born at Clifton, England, and was educated at Clifton college and Woolwich.

JEREMIAH ANNOUNCES THE NEW COVENANT

LESSON TEXT—Jeremiah 31:31-37. GOLDEN TEXT—I will put my law in their inward parts, and write it in their hearts; and will be their God, and they shall be my people.—Jeremiah 31:33.

God's law written in the hearts of all men-surely that is the ultimate goal of all of our efforts, and therein we will find the solution of all of our problems. Jeremiah the prophet, in the midst of a despairing people with only captivity and sorrow before them because of their sinful rebellion against God, gives a prophetic foregleam of the day when all Israel and Judah should know God. Sin was to be forgiven, fellowship restored, and men over all the earth were to know God. Obviously, that prophecy is still future for Israel, but in the meantime God has permitted us to enter into the enjoyment of our covenant of grace.

I. The Old Covenant (vv. 31, 32). The promise of a new covenant at once raises the question, "What was the old covenant?" We do not have space to make any complete study of it, but we note that while God did make a great covenant with Abraham, founding the nation of Israel (Gen. 17:1-14), the reference by Jeremiah is evidently to the covenant with Moses (Exod. 20-23). We observe that it was

1. National (v. 32). The old covenant was made with Israel only, and could bring blessing to the other nations of the earth only indirectly, as they might share the peace and prosperity which would have come prosperity which would have come to Israel had they been obedient to God. God was here dealing with a chosen nation for whom He had a specific plan and purpose.

2. Limited (v. 32). The blessing of the old covenant was limited not only in the sense that it was national, but also in that it was conditional. God's promise hinged on His word in Exodus 19:5: "Now therefore, if ye will obey my voice indeed, and keep my covenant, then indeed, and keep my covenant, then ye shall be a peculiar treasure unto me above all people." In other words, the fulfillment of this cov-enant was dependent on the faith-fulness of the people. We know that they failed.

3. Broken by Israel (v. 32). God was like "an husband" (v. 32) unto Israel. He was patient, tender, forgiving, always trying to restore them to Himself. He used His great power on their behalf as He "took them by the hand," and yet we read "my covenant they brake" (v. 32). Human failure in spite of God's promise and goodness, that is the history of man under law. Now, however, we turn to the new

II. The New Covenant (vv. 33-37). Jeremiah looked forward to the day when there was to be a covenant that is

1. Personal (v. 33). The reference here is not to a law written in a book, which may be neglected or forgotten, or broken because there is no power in man to keep it. This new law is to be written in the hearts of men. It is personal-not something which he shares as a member of a great nation.

2. Universal (v. 34). From the least to the greatest, every than shall know God. That promise awaits its future complete fulfillment to Israel (and remember that God has not forgotten His people). Even now, however, we have the spiritual fulfillment of the promise in the Church. It is true now that, regardless of nationality, education, wealth, or position, the grace of God is made manifest in the hearts of men and women everywhere.

3. Assured by God (vv. 35-37) The old covenant of law failed, for it hinged upon the faithfulness of undependable man—"If ye will" (Exod. 19:5). But the new covenant of grace rests upon the "I will" of God (v. 34; see also Heb. 8:10-12). This is indeed "a better covenant, which was established upon better promises" (Heb. 8:6). It is an 'everlasting covenant" (Heb. 13:20).

As You See Yourself

A photographer has discovered that most of us don't recognize ourselves. He takes an ordinary portrait of a sitter, and then makes two prints—one right, and one wrong. In the latter, left becomes right and vice versa. When confronted with these two images of himself and asked which is the better likeness the sitter invariably picks out the "wrong" print. That is because we are so used to seeing ourselves. we are so used to seeing ourselves in the mirror that we don't really know what we look like.

The Origin of Cheese Although it seems likely that theese was created first by accident, when an Arab traveler left his day's ration of milk in a canteen made from an animal stomach in which rennet was still active, the Greeks believed cheese had a mythical origin. According to their legend, cheese was invented by Aristaeus, the son of Apollo, also king of Arcadia. It was regarded in Oracce as a divine present.

THE STORY THUS FAR

Left orphans by a tragic automobile accident which claimed the lives of their mother and father, three sisters, Helen, Adele and "Limpy," are visited by their Aunt Olympia, politically minded wife of Senator Alencon Delaporte Slopshire. She insists that the girls return with her to Washington, to make their home with them. In addition to loving the girls, Aunt Olympia knows they will be a terrific political asset. Senator Slopshire has as his political opponent one Brother Wilkie, a minister, whose political campaign is furthered by seven "unspeakable brats" who sit on the rostrum with him while he makes speeches. Aunt Olympia and the Senator, kind and loving, nevertheless know that their three nieces will mean votes for the Senator. Senator Slopshire, a pleasantly foggy individual who depends on the astuteness of his wife, prepares for their coming. Though Limpy, the youngest, is 16, and Helen, the oldest, is 21, the Senator buys them all the toys and gifts he can find, feeling that "children" should be occupied. When they first meet their "Uncle Lancy," as he is to be known, the girls take him to their united bosom. Soon Adele, most beautiful of the sisters, meets Len Hardesty, publicity man for Brother Wilkie. Though it is Len's job to help defeat the Senator, he promptly falls in love with Adele.

The Senator coughed deprecatingly. "She's joking, Adele. This is preelection stuff. Before election day, she'll be telling me, with forceful, if inelegant, expletives, that if I ever run for anything again she'll divorce, and probably de-neck, me. This is before-the-campaign stuff."
"My very words," said Aunt Olympia-complacently.

"I forgot my quotes," admitted Uncle Lancy.

"What a cocky little fool I was, Brick," Helen wrote home to Iowa, "to think I could learn this racket in one year. Aunt Olympia's been in it right from the cradle-or at least from the marriage altar-and she says it's still so much haywire to her. It seems to be mostly luck and 'getting the breaks,' and of course, seizing Opportunity before the Opposition gets hold of it. Aunt Olympia says if she didn't watch every breath the Senator draws, he'd get himself impeached before breakfast. But I am learning a little, I

"There's one thing I've learned, and this is important. We've got to get over that provincial feeling that political opponents are social lepers, to be snubbed and ostracised and passed by on the other side. Aunt Olympia says it is a sign of superiority to hobnob with the Opposition -except at the polls, of course. She says it is only little fry who carry political animosities further than the Congressional Record. And I must say, she lives up to her philosophy. I've met quite a number of Republican wives and they are very nice to me and ask me to their meetings and teas, and Aunt Olympia encourages me to go. Sometimes she goes with me.

"Really, Brick, they are amazing, Uncle Lancy and she. Take Len Hardesty for instance. He is here half the time, mooning over Adele mostly, but always showing up at the dinner table and the cocktail tray.

And last week who should breeze in unexpectedly but Brother Wilkie, the Governor, running against Uncle Lancy. He 'phoned and Auntie asked him to dinner and he came. They were lovely to him and Aunt Olympia asked him to ask the blessing.'

Aunt Olympia was far deeper i the campaign than either the girls or the Senator realized. She spent two hours every morning carefully conning the important dailies from home and making notes of things to be attended to; cards of congratulations from herself and the Senator to everyone having babies or getting married; condolences for illness and death; approval of the activities of clubs and church organizations, with pertinent suggestions and offering co-operation; and she pains-takingly, with well-concealed bitterness, received every constituent who happened to be in Washington and telephoned or called.

By the first of April Olympia had completed plans for the campaign entourage; deciding on a motor trailer to insure the domesticity of the family, with beds, kitchen and cozy dinette.

"We won't have to eat there much," she assured the girls kindly. "Just enough to get good photos of how domestic and homey we are, with you girls tripping prettily around at your work. We'll have Hilda send us a crate of cooked food every day."

"Doesn't she campaign with us?" "Oh, no! Except in the Scandinavian districts, where she sits at the table with us . . . Not in the rest of the state. The average voter thinks if a Senator can afford a maid he's getting too much money."

There would be a sound truck for the Senator's speeches and in addition to their own big car, a couple of secondhand Fords for the staff, visiting reporters, et al. She fretted a good deal over the sound truck, having ideas of her own on that important matter. It must have microphones both inside and on the driver's seat: on the driver's seat to show the Senator off in good weather and inside "for rain; the Senator catches cold if he gets wet."

After consulting and personally inspecting every make of trailer and sound truck on the market, she decided to buy-from some home dealer, of course-old, run-down, antiquated cars that could be rebuilt.

"The shabbier the better-on the outside," she explained to the girls. "To take some of the gravel off that 'Alencon' . . . New cars look royal-. But don't worry. We'll hats. Wide, sweeping black for Helhave the best and most modern engines installed under the rusty hoods; like Uncle Joe Cannon, with streamers."

"I suppose I'm to go bareheaded," said Adele.

"No, no, darling! Not quite. Teeny black and white something or other, with a bit of a veil and my only regret is that Len Hardesty won't be there to see it. He'd strangle the brats with his bare hands."

Helen did not follow the preliminary campaign activities as closely as her sisters. Studying the politi-cal racket kept her fairly busy. She read the Congressional Record conscientiously, if boredly. She spent hours visiting the Senator's committees and trying to make heads and tails of things which didn't make sense to an average intelligence like hers. She hung over the gallery of the House as if she had become a fixture there.

Aunt Olympia at last reached a stage of her preparations where she felt impelled to ask the Senator's advice.

"Del, how about a publicity man for our campaign?" "Why, we're going to have Dave Cooper. He's the best we can get, since Len's tied up. I've already spoken to him about it. He's working on it now."

"Yes, of course, for you," she said significantly. "But how about the girls here?"

The Senator wisely said nothing, but the girls rose to it.

"For us!" "We've had enough publicity to last us a lifetime!' "Heavens, Auntie, do we rate publicity man?"

"Oh, he'll only be an assistant to Dave Cooper, but we'll need someone to handle our end of it. Dave'll be pretty busy . . . We need someone more sentimental. For sob stuff. Heart interest. Human appeal. Let me see-um-ah! Del-what would you think of-well, what would you think of-say-someone like-Cecil Dodd?"

The Senator came to with a snap. "Cecil Dodd! . . . Cecil Dodd, my dear!" The Senator put on an extra pair of glasses to regard her more severely. "Why, Ollie, Cecil Dodd doesn't know the first thing about politics! He'd never get to first base. In fact, he'd never even get to bat. He's never been in a campaign in his life. Cecil Doddwell, Cecil Dodd is what I call a sofa-sitter. But I've heard it expressed more forcibly and perhaps with more truth."

"Oh, he's not so dumb," Olympia rose to the argument. "He's chockfull of human appeal; full of adjectives; why, he knows adjectives I've never even heard of! He's the loudest exponent of youth and beauty in Washington. Do you remember those articles he wrote when Sissy Graves was killed in an airplane accident? A dozen people were killed-and some of them important -but he wrote about Sissy with so much heart appeal that everybody forgot all about the rest of them and made it her exclusive fatality. I know it brought tears to my eyes. "I don't go in for tears in a campaign," he said, more on the defensive than the girls had ever seen him. "There isn't going to be anything milksop about this campaign. It's going to be muddy."

"He's a fine dancer; he rides horseback and plays tennis and golf and has taken prizes for swimming and diving. Del, try to forget your personal, political aspirations for once in your life, and think of these poor dear children! Don't you want them to have any amusement? Do you expect them to listen to you make speeches and shake hands for six months with no exercise, no fresh air and no-no young companionship?"

This put a different light on the matter. The Senator took off both pairs of glasses and set to wiping one. "That's so," he assented. "I didn't mean to be selfish, my dear. ing suits, riding costumes; there | The children come first, of course But I don't suppose we can get him. I don't think he could tear himself away from the sofas long pia persistently referred to these as their "cottons." "We can get him," said Olympia. "I've already spoken to him-just tentatively, you understand; asking why he didn't get into the political end of it and he said he wanted to but never got the breaks. We can get him." A happy smile rosied her men. "We don't raise cotton, but face. "Wait till Len Hardesty hears we have nineteen large cotton mills and they employ at least ten thouthis!"

Len Hardesty was not long hearing it. He dropped in on them the next night.

"Had to fly down," he said cheerfully. "Got to fly back, too. The Governor's going tightwad on me." "I'm glad you came, Len," said Olympia heartily, almost fondly. "I want to ask your advice about some-

A guarded expression settled over his face. "Oh, you do eh? Then you're up to something I'm against." He braced himself to receive it. "All right. Let's have it. It's dead wrong and you know it."

Olympia laughed happily. "Oh, it's really nothing or I shouldn't be asking your advice. It's a mere detail. It's about a publicity man for the campaign. You know those publicity gangsters better than we do."

Len, who had thought he was prepared for anything, was genuinely surprised. "Publicity man! Why, you dumb cluck, aren't you having Dave Coop-

"Don't be silly, Len. Of course we're having him . . . For the Senator . . . But we've got to have an assistant. You see, there's going to be quite a cavalcade of us-what with the trailer and the tent and the sound truck and three cars. We don't want anybody to work day and night for us. We're not like some candidates, who expect a poor publicity man to live, move and have his being with seven brats and a trumpeting beldame."

"I smell a rat," said Len Hardesty. "You never gave me an assistant."

"But we're a much larger party this year, you silly dunce . . . No, definitely, I am for you laboring classes and I will not have poor old Dave imposed on and worked to death, not even for the Senator. But we'll expect his assistant chiefly to handle our end of it, mine and the girls', when the Senator and Dave are off on their flying junkets and we're cooped up in the trailer. We'll need someone rather young and fairly presentable, don't you think? So he can be a sort of companion to the girls when they're dancing and riding and swimming? And you know yourself, Len, that fairly presentable publicity men are hard to get. I don't know that I've ever seen one."

"I'm sorry I spent the money to fly down," he said grimly. "If I'm to pick out a man for you, seems to me you ought to pay the bill out of your expense account."

"Unfortunately we haven't a percentage club, like the Governor," she disclaimed quickly. "Besides, darling, I don't expect you to pick him out.

"That's what I was afraid of," he admitted gloomily. "Now let's get this straight, Ollie. You speak of your cavalcade of cars. What's it to be? A campaign for re-election, or a specially conducted young la-dies' tour with a presentable escort?"

"The election comes first, of course. But after all, the Senator— Uncle Lancy-and I cannot overlook our responsibility to these poor dear children. We must provide for them as best we can, even in the exigencies of a campaign. Who would you suggest?"

"I wouldn't suggest anybody. I'd suggest putting the girls in jail till I get rid of the Governor. They don't need an escort. Dave Cooper can handle them. True, he's no Don Juan! He's forty and fat and married and chews tobacco. But he can give you all the publicity you need and more than you merit." "I was thinking of someone like-well, how about Cecil Dodd?"

"Cecil Dodd! Lord, Ollie, if you upholster your trailer in purple duvetyn and silken cushions you'll elect the Governor! . . . Cecil Dodd! . . . Ollie, we've had our occasional differences but I've always admired you as a straight shooting, shoulder-to-shoulder old trooper . . . Cecil Dodd! . . .

"He writes very beautiful and touching articles, Len Hardesty, and you can't deny it . . . But I admit I want him especially as a sort of a companion-a sort of chaperon for the girls . . . When they do their playing . . . I can't keep my mind on them every minute and run this campaign at the same time."

"No! So you salve your calloused conscience by giving them thisthis silk pajamaed pariah as a watchdog . . . Well, if that's what you're up to, you count Adele out. She can't go. I put my foot down on that. You can sick him onto your innocent Helen and trusting little Limpy if you like-if that's your idea of Christian duty to young orphans-but I've got King's X on Adele and she can't go."

"Well, I'm glad you approve," said Olympia beamingly. "Have a drink, Len? Your seal of approval relieves me a lot. I wasn't quite sure about it in my own mind, but you've settled my doubts."

You Can Make Your Own Summer Shade

By RUTH WYETH SPEARS MR. AND MRS. NEWHOUSE looked out over their backyard and were in no mood to plant an acorn and wait for it to grow up to give them summer shade. Mr. Newhouse bought some second-hand pipe for a song and made a sketch for the frame of a shelter like the one I have shown at the upper right. He had a plumber cut and thread the pipe so it could be put together easily.

Mrs. Newhouse wanted the shelter to be as cool as a dell, so she avoided all the hot red and orange colorings. The pipe frame was painted bright blue. Then she selected green and white striped awning material for the top. This material was 30 inches wide and 12 yards were needed. About 15 yards of bright blue bias binding were used for the scalloped edge. The method of fastening the awning to the frame is illustrated. The fabric loops were made of the awning material stitched in place through heavy woven tape.

Whether you have a new home or an old one, 10 cents to cover cost and mailing charges on Mrs. Spears' Sewing Book No. 1 can save you many dollars. THE FORD WAY DOING BUSINESS

Henry Ford and Edsel

Ford keep daily personal touch with all phases of Ford manufacture. In a conference with his staff, Henry

Ford often says: "Go ahead-I'll sit here and represent the public."

The Ford Motor Company was founded by a working-man for working-men. Its present officers began as employees of the Company. It was the first company to pay a minimum wage, beginning in 1914, at the then astounding figure of $5 a day. That was double the prevailing wage of the time. The Ford minimum is now $6 a day for all employees engaged in production work. And from that, the wages rise to $10.80 a day, with the average wage $7.25, exclusive of salaried employees.

The Ford Motor Company was the first large company to establish the 8-hour day-also in 1914. And the 40-hour week was inaugurated by the Ford Motor Company in 1926, years before any such laws existed.

The Ford Motor Company employs men without regard to race, creed or color. It is common knowledge that working conditions in the Ford shops are the best that science and constant care can make them. A square deal, a just wage and stabilized employment for a large proportion of our employees - and as fully stabilized for all as conditions will permit enable our men to retain their personal independence.

In consequence of these policies the Ford Motor Company has one of the finest bodies of employees in the world. The larger proportion are mature men of long service with the Company-sober, decent family men. Hundreds of them have been with the Company for more than 25 years — thousands for more than 15 years. Their health record, home ownership and citizenship records are good.

All this is reflected in Ford products, whether cars, trucks or tractors. The work is honestly done. Materials are the best that can be made or procured. Less profit to the Company and more value to the customer is known throughout the motoring world as "Ford's way of doing business."

Ford Motor Company was the first to make a motor car within the means of the average family-quitting the manufacture of what was then the largest selling model in the world to do so. Its chosen field in all the 30 years since that time has been the average American family - for which it has consistently provided car, facilities which formerly only the wealthy could buy.

It is the policy of the Ford Motor Company to share the benefits of advanced methods and management with workers and public alike. Increased wages and employment over a period of many years have resulted in

A 300 per cent increase in the built-in value of the Ford car and a 75 per cent reduction in its price.
