TAWAS CITY TAKES GAME AT LINCOLN

Locals Play Top Liners at Harrisville Next Sunday

Tawas City remained in the thick of the fight for the division title by winning from Lincoln last Sunday by a score of 4 to 1. "Bill" Mallon did the hurling for Tawas City with Frank Mark behind the plate. Frank is doing a good job of catching while Walt Laidlaw is on the sidelines with a bad knee, and has all the prospects of developing into a good catcher.

Bill allowed six hits and breezed the third strike by 12 of the opposing swatsmen. He didn't issue a base on balls nor hit a batter. While but one error was charged against the fielders, that on a bad bound at short, L. Medor, Lincoln's portside pitcher, threw the first eight innings and allowed five hits, striking out six, he issued two walks and hit one. He was taken out of the game in the eighth when after hitting his second single of the game, K. Gunderson was sent in to run for him. Lane finished the game on the mound, allowing one hit, Myles' triple, and struck out two.

Lincoln scored the first run of the game. In the third inning, G. Medore led off with a high fly to right-center which the wind carried over the fence for a home run. Bill then fanned the next three batters.

Tawas City scored two runs in the fourth to take the lead which they held throughout the remainder of the game. Zolweg struck out to open the inning. Quick singled to right and stole second. W. Mallon hit back to the box and was out pitcher to first, Quick moving to third on the play. M. Mallon lined one over the right field fence on the two base hit side of the marker - scoring Quick. McPherson hit to second and ran two bases when D. Gunderson booted the ball, Mallon scoring. Rollin fied to third for the final out of the inning.

They added another run in the eighth without the aid of a ball being struck.

The Junior set of Tawas City's baseball hopefuls had their fling at the National pastime last Tuesday when a group of teen-agers were mustered and journeyed to Alabaster where they engaged a team from that town in a game of baseball. The local boys winning by the score of 24 to 4. The roster of the teams included: Harold Bublitz, Dale Landon, Jack Rollin, Charles Luce, Jimmy Ogden, Vernon Beubin, Jim Lanskyl, Neil Libka, Bob Steinhurst and Neil Thornton, Captain. Let's not discourage the boys in playing this popular game. Who knows, but that some day one or more may be playing in the big leagues.

Isoco Red Cross Offers "Life Saving" Training

The Isoco Chapter of the American Red Cross will offer training in "Life Saving" and "Water Safety" at the State Park in East Tawas. Merriell Pollard, Chairman of First Aid, Life Saving and Accident Prevention, yesterday announced that a course would be given for all interested persons.

Any one between the ages of 12 and 17 will be given the Junior Life Saving course and persons over 17 can take the Senior Training. The only requirement is the ability to swim. Instruction will be given in rescuing drowning people, both swimming and non-swimming, use of rescue equipment, and the administering of artificial respiration. Prevention will be taught along with the course.

There is a real need for such training in Isoco county, inasmuch as there are miles and miles of bathing beaches which have no protection in the person of a life guard. Each community should make an effort to have representatives to receive the training. Upon successful completion of the course, each person is awarded an emblem to be worn on his swimming suit, as well as a certificate signifying his ability as a life saver.

Instruction will be under the supervision of Mrs. R. W. Collin, Water Safety Instructor for the American Red Cross in Isoco county. Any person interested in the training should write or call Mr. Pollard for full information.

Notice TO NEW SCHOOL TREASURERS OF PRIMARY SCHOOL DISTRICT.

Following your annual meeting and elections we would like to call your attention to some of the new school laws governing school treasurers of Primary School Districts.

First—It shall be the duty of the treasurer of each school district to execute and file with the County Commissioner of Schools within 30 days after election or appointment, a bond in the full amount of money to come into his hands during each year of office.

Said bond shall be filed with the County Commissioner of Schools, and none of the books or money of the district shall be placed in the hands of the treasurer until his bond has been approved and filed. No primary or other state moneys shall be sent to any district until the treasurer has properly filed his bond.

These are new requirements by law and every school board should take extreme care to see that they are legally complied with.

R. A. Rollin,
County School Commissioner.

Half Year Plates Must Be Destroyed Says Kelly

Harry F. Kelly, Secretary of State, Wednesday warned car owners that when they buy full year license plates to replace half plates expiring August 31, they must destroy the half plates.

"The half plates are good until August 31," said Mr. Kelly, "and unless destroyed might fall into improper hands and be used illegally on other cars."

An earlier ruling by the department required full year plate purchasers to surrender half year plates to the department, but due to inconvenience to great numbers of persons who neglected to bring old plates with them the rule has been modified.

Instead, purchasers are being warned that failure to destroy old plates might cause them trouble should the tags fall into the hands of criminals.

Full year plates at half price were placed on sale July 10.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS BY ROGER SHAW

F. D.'s Personality Dominates 1940 Democratic Convention; No U. S. Troops for Europe

(EDITOR'S NOTE—When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of the news analyst and not necessarily of this newspaper.)
Released by Western Newspaper Union.

Right up to convention time, Franklin D. Roosevelt kept the country guessing on third term plans. The Democratic National Convention, meeting in Chicago, however, felt at all times the weight of the President's personality. The sketch herewith is by the famous artist, Helge Sahlin.

II GERMAN WAR: Ships & Planes

Germany and England continued to blast one another from the air, with foolhardy gallantry. Germany slowly seemed to be establishing supremacy of numbers, although her pilots were sometimes too young, and not equal on the whole to the veteran regulars who made up a considerable portion of the royal air force: the R. A. F.

In the Mediterranean sea, the English and French and Italian fleets continued to skirmish, off North Africa, off West Africa, off Greece. Some of the French ships were surrendered to the British navy, others were sunk or disabled. Demobilized French flyers were joining up again, this time to help the Italian airmen bomb British Gibraltar. There were naval clashes between the Italian and British seamen, who already had eliminated seven of the eight French capital warships. The 43,000-ton "Ile de France"—that French luxury liner so well known in America—was seized by the British at Singapore, England's No. 1 naval base in the Far East, in the Malay peninsula. The best French warship—35,000 tons—was knocked out by a British motorboat, which artfully dropped a depth bomb near the stern. The victim was the famous Richelieu.

NO U. S. TROOPS: But Billions for Defense

Meanwhile, President Roosevelt emphatically told congress we would send no man to European wars, but would only seek to defend the western hemisphere. Towards this end he asked for billions of dollars. This presidential statement to congress tended to match the "peace" plank in the Republican campaign platform, and might have removed one of the major issues from the 1940 race.

NAMES ... in the news

Gen. Juan Almazan, Mexican presidential candidate, praised the "success" of the Mexican election, and lauded its small loss of life. There were only 50 killed.

John Dewey, philosopher and educationalist, returned to teach at Columbia university for the first time in 10 years. He is 80 years old, but addressed 1,000 students with all his old steam.

Col. Brehon Somervell, WPA administrator in New York, ripped out four airport murals at Floyd Bennett field in Brooklyn. It had taken four years to paint the four. Obviously, said the rippers, they were red communist propaganda, and so indeed they appeared to be. A pioneer parachute jumper looked suspiciously like Stalin, although the jumper really was Franz Reichelt, an Austrian tailor. (He had been killed, jumping from the French Eiffel tower, back in 1912.) Soviet red stars and Spanish loyalist flyers also appeared in the funniest places.

YE CAMPAIGN: Fur Flies High

Wendell Willkie appointed Congressman Joe Martin of Massachusetts as his campaign manager, and then flew for Colorado on a vacation. En route, the Willkie airplane stopped in Nebraska. Willkie wisecracked to the crowd like this: "When I was out here three or four weeks ago, they said I brought rain. If you folks vote for me in November, we'll have the rain and the sunshine of economic progress." The folks thought that was just fine.

John Hamilton remained executive director of the Republican national committee, though he was retiring as national chairman. Russell Davenport was Willkie's personal representative, and Oren Root kept busy co-ordinating volunteer groups and independent organizations. Ten newspaper men, three photographers, and two telegraphists stuck to Willkie, and to the airplane: a 21-passenger DC-3.

At this point the Democrats had become more and more chaotic, due to lack of information about III term plans. Farley had been in Hyde Park, had learned the "truth," but came back to New York saying that it was all a secret. McNutt had indicated that he knew about it, too, but Mrs. Roosevelt had said she didn't know a thing. Speculation was rife up to the time the national Democratic convention opened. Willkie, of course, had been praying for the III term (or so he said), in order to beat it down. But he still had not said anything extended, at that point, about foreign affairs.

ARMY NOTE: New York

Squadron A is the crack high-society national guard cavalry outfit in New York city. It used to wear snappy gray European hussar uniforms. It plays polo, and likes to talk horses, and has a fine 56-year record. It turns out good riders, amid plenty of conviviality. Then—a third of it got mechanized, and received 19 armored cars, instead of 97 horses.

The Seventh regiment is the crack high-society national guard infantry outfit in New York city. It used to wear fancy gray "1812" uniforms, with red stripes. It still does, on parade. It is more than 130 years old. Then—it turned into an anti-aircraft outfit, attached to the coast artillery, hardly the most aristocratic branch of the service.

WINGS 11 UP: Soaring Aloft

The United States aviation corps may soon get planes capable of soaring 11 miles aloft. Thus, we can bomb from 36,000 to 60,000 feet up in the air, while effective anti-aircraft fire is only good for 30,000 feet. These flying fortresses are good for 300 miles per hour in the really high altitudes, and it takes 40,000 parts to put one together. The U. S. government, it was reported, may order 1,000 of the super-ships.

WHAT A JOB: Re-employed

The luckless duke of Windsor, who used to be King Edward VIII, got another job, at last. They made him governor of the Bahama islands, 20 of them inhabited, off the southeast coast of Florida. It was a $12,000 annual job, whose main function was to reign over ex-slaves and tourists from the United States. Capital of the Bahamas is Nassau, on New Providence island, where they have a nice beach, and a saloon of merit called "Dirty Dick's." Windsor used to have 500,000,000 people to reign over. Now he has 68,000, plus 6 officers and 124 policemen. Critics said the basic idea was to get him out of Europe, in case the Germans took over England. Hitler, they thought, might oust brother George, and reinstate brother Edward, who is better liked all round. (On the other hand, Queen Elizabeth is much better liked than Duchess Warfield.)

M. PETAIN: Approved

While the British and American newspapers were hammering old Marshal Petain, the saviour of Verdun, who doesn't like Winston Churchill, the Vatican came out and declared that Petain was the best possible man to lead France. The Vatican said that the Marshal inspired French youth, and added that he represented the "best French tradition."

Petaian is a good Catholic, and a close friend of the Catholic dictator of Spain, his former pupil, Generalissimo Franco. French General Weygand, who aids Petain in the new Italo-type French government, is also devoutly religious, although Pierre Laval, third member of the Gallic triumvirate, has a non-clerical background. Laval is father-in-law of the official heir of Lafayette.

While the Vatican approved, the "new" France got under way. The senate was to be appointed for life, while the chamber was to represent trades, jobs, and occupations, as in the corporative state of Mussolini. Both senate and chamber were to be largely advisory, and trade unions were to be abolished, on the Italic plan.

The professional trade groups, in the chamber, were to take the place of unions, and of political parties as well. The slogan of liberty-equality-fraternity (dating from 1789) was to be supplanted by another trio: labor-family-nation. This, again, was based on the fascist system of Rome. One wit put it like this: "When in Paris, do as the Romans do."

RACIAL: Interesting

One of our foreign commentators raised an interesting point. It was this. He said that although Germans are currently unpopular, for excellent reasons, the American system was still functioning splendidly. To prove his statement, he pointed out that Wendell Willkie was of Germanic family origin. But this did not stop Mr. Willkie, able and magnetic and thoroughly likeable, from becoming the Republican candidate for President of the United States at a hectic time.

Hitler himself, said the commentator, was born in Austria, with only one Germanic parent, and one Czech parent (his mother). But Willkie was born in America, he continued, with two Germanic parents. He concluded that Willkie was a better type of the Germanic stock than the rampant Fuehrer. It was interesting to note, in addition, that our General Pershing's family name was Pfoersching, in the "correct" spelling.

Also, the Roosevelts have a Dutch origin which sometimes is mistaken for German.

III REICH: Complexities

The Hitlerian domain was sorted out into the following, to make its sway less confusing, for it covered a lot of ground in several main categories:

1. Hitler himself, plus the Nazi party itself.
2. Germany, including Austria, the Sudeten, Danzig, Posen, etc.
3. Protectorates of Poland, Czechoslovakia, Norway, Denmark, Luxembourg, Holland, Belgium, of which Denmark is the pet, with the Slovaks, Norse and Dutch next.
4. Fascist France—half victim, half neutral, a wee bit of an ally.
5. Italy, an ally, active.
6. Japan, an ally, passive. Also Spain and Hungary.
7. Russia, a treaty partner, uncertain. (Russia wants Constantinople.)
8. Client states of Sweden, Rumania. (Through Sweden and Hungary Germany has army transit rights. Spain and Rumania might come into the war on the German side.)

There was much talk about a single currency for Hitler-Europe, to promote "continental" free trade. The U. S. A. now has 80 per cent of the world's gold, $20,000,000,000 of it, and if it was loaned to Hitler-Europe, it would have to open wide its doors to Hitler-European goods. Hitler's "continental" currency, it was suggested, might not be based on gold at all, which would leave Yankee Kentucky out on a limb. Said a foreign statesman: "An axis victory means the end of gold slavery."

Reduction of Starches Good For Arthritis

By DR. JAMES W. BARTON
(Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

WHEN an individual suffering for months with pain in his knee and near-by muscles becomes free of this pain after the removal of his tonsils or one or two teeth, it is hard to persuade him that it was not the infected teeth or tonsils that was causing the pain. Then when he sees the disappearance of joint and muscle pains in others by removal of infected teeth or tonsils, he is fully persuaded that infection is the cause of all painful joints and muscles.

However, infection is not the cause of all cases of joint and nerve and muscle pain. From rapidly accumulating evidence it now appears that neuritis— inflammation of nerves supplying muscles and adjoining tissues—is due in many cases to lack of a certain vitamin— vitamin B—in the food. It is because the nervous system is "starved" by not getting its oxygen that neuritis arises.

What causes this starvation? Dr. W. J. McCormick, Toronto, in Medical Record, points out that lack of vitamin B prevents the oxygen of the blood from passing through the fat-like coverings of the muscles to reach the underlying nerves. It is because these nerves are deprived of the necessary amount of oxygen that a change takes place in their structure, and neuritis—pain in muscles and joints—arises.

Fewer Starches, More Fruits. It is for this reason that many physicians are now having their patients with rheumatism, arthritis and neuritis follow a diet which cuts down on starches and increases the fruits, vegetables and dairy products in the diet.

The foods recommended because they are rich in vitamin B are liver, milk, eggs, beans and whole grain products. The use of brewer's yeast in its regular form or in tablets is sometimes effective in relieving pain, because this in itself supplies the necessary amount of vitamin B.

It might well be said, of course, that infection—undiscovered—may be the cause of the pain, as infection uses up oxygen needed by the body processes.

Cancer Is Curable
If Treated in Time

LAST year a band of determined women—The Women's Field Army—organized a campaign to tell (a) that cancer is a fatal ailment untreated, and (b) that "cancer is curable" if treated in time.

So successful was last year's campaign that many cases of women have been reported who discovered they had cancer after receiving the army's message, or, quite as important, who in finding they did not have cancer were freed from months and possibly years of worry.

That the determined effort of this army of women to save lives made a deep impression on thinking men and women is proved by the enactment of the National Cancer Institute Bill of Congress, the founding of the Chicago Tumor Institute and the establishment of the Child's foundation at Yale.

'Fight Cancer With Knowledge.' The slogan of the army, which is the slogan of the American Society for the Control of Cancer, with headquarters at 1250 Sixth avenue, New York city, is "Fight Cancer With Knowledge." Seventy thousand lives might be saved each year if every man, woman and child knew the following "painless" signs of early cancer, and when they appeared, promptly visited a competent physician. These signals may not mean cancer but suggest an immediate examination.

1. Any persistent lump or thickening, especially in the breast.
2. Any irregular bleeding or discharge from any body openings.
3. Any sore that does not heal—particularly about the tongue, mouth or lips.
4. Persistent indigestion, often accompanied by loss of weight.
5. Sudden changes in the form or rate of growth of a mole or wart.

QUESTION BOX
Q.—Would cream and gingerale taken three times daily be beneficial for one trying to increase her weight?

A.—All fat foods, including cream might increase weight if the cream agreed with the individual. Rest is the big factor in increasing weight. A trial of the cream and gingerale could be given for four or six weeks.

Q.—Is the cracking sound of a joint serious?

A.—In most cases this is not serious in itself.

DEFENSE TAX
William Bruckart, Washington correspondent, makes an interesting critical analysis of the new defense tax. He finds that it is basically unsound because the federal treasury receives only part of the money collected. According to Bruckart, the entire tax system of this country should be reorganized to eliminate the "contradictory levies" which are now in effect.

Ten Per Cent Supertax
Added to Regular Levy

There was included in the taxing act also an increase in taxes from the previous rates. It was provided in the new law that a person receiving $2,000 a year, for example, will pay the old rate of tax and then will add a flat 10 per cent to that total as the amount he must contribute for support of his govern-

Taxes Raise Needed Revenue, But Are Not Basically Sound

Only Part of Money Paid by Consumers Reaches Federal Treasury as Dealers Are Forced to Collect
More Than Taxes Levied.

By WILLIAM BRUCKART
WNU Service, National Press Bldg.,
Washington, D. C.

WASHINGTON.—Among the hands on my father's farm when I was a boy was a big Negro named Noah. He was a good worker, and strong as the team of mules that he claimed and always used. Noah was a good farm hand. But my father could always count upon Noah being off of the job two or three days after he was paid his wages each month. Noah, generally called "Chalk" because he was so black, would disappear as soon as he got his money and he did not return to work until that money was gone.

It never seemed to concern Noah one bit that he was broke and couldn't even buy tobacco for his corn-cob pipe unless somebody gave him money. He was that way throughout his life because he said he "never brought nuttin here" and he would "take nuttin away" when he died. He really carried out that philosophy of life, for my father paid his burial expenses.

I have been thinking of Noah and his ideas of living, lately, because of certain developments of national import. His philosophy was recalled especially when President Roosevelt asked congress for an increase in taxes to defray the cost of the vast new program of national armament. It was recalled again when, out of a clear sky and in the shortest message ever sent to congress in Mr. Roosevelt's seven years as head of the government, the President proposed that congress take a second step in raising taxes. He asked for a "steeply graduated" excess profits tax.

Additional Taxation Has Been Needed

Now, I believe anyone who has ever read my columns will agree that I have urged additional taxation, constantly. On that point I never have wavered. It might be supposed then that I would go off of the deep end for the new taxes. That, however, is not the case. I find myself willing to support only half of the program, for reasons that will be apparent as the situation is analyzed.

The first tax increase was proper. It was needed. The second proposal, that which congress is yet to consider, is not proper, but the revenue is badly needed. The difference is that the first program will yield revenue that, generally speaking, will be received by the treasury in its entirety. The second program will yield vast sums and only part of the tax paid by the consumers will reach the treasury.

It is a strong statement to make when one says that the treasury will get only part of the amount paid by the taxpayers. It is true, however, because in a levy like the excess profits tax, every dealer, great or small, collects more than the amount of the tax. We saw it when an excess profits tax was in operation during the World War of 1917-1918. A tax that amounted to half a cent was paid as one cent for the very simple reason that one has some difficulty in cutting a penny into two pieces. The seller is never going to absorb any tax, and I think he probably cannot be blamed. He raises the price to protect himself, and you and I and every mother's son carries the load of tax when it is laid that way.

The first tax program offered by Mr. Roosevelt was bad enough in that direction. On its good side, however, it can be said that it levied direct taxes on incomes, a method by which the tax, all of it, goes into the treasury. That tax bill also extended the income tax to something like 2,500,000 additional taxpayers, by reducing the personal exemption allowed. That is to say, after July 1, of this year, a married person with an income of $2,000 a year will pay income tax above that sum and a single person receiving $800 also will pay income tax for the first time. Previously, the exemption was $2,500 for a married person and $1,000 for a single person.

Ten Per Cent Supertax
Added to Regular Levy

There was included in the taxing act also an increase in taxes from the previous rates. It was provided in the new law that a person receiving $2,000 a year, for example, will pay the old rate of tax and then will add a flat 10 per cent to that total as the amount he must contribute for support of his government and for building a real national defense.

Let me show how this 10 per cent added tax works out as a means of showing why I object to, and criticize, it. The 10 per cent was added to the so-called nuisance taxes—tax on admissions, cigarettes, gasoline and a thousand other articles. Take cigarettes as an example. Popular brands sold in many places at two for a quarter. The new price, generally, is two for 27 cents. But the actual increase in price caused by the tax will be about one and a quarter cents. The dealers will get an increase in the price.

While I say with candor that the dealers get an increase, I am not one who is going to criticize them for it. I do not see how any individual or firm could absorb that additional tax—even though it is just one-eighth of a cent—on every sale that is made. He would go broke in a few months. So, there is more than the amount of the tax collected as a protection.

Business Not as Sound
As It Was in 1917-18

And that is the damnable feature of the excess profits tax. During its first application—1917, 1918 and 1919—every business that had to pay an excess profits tax had to protect its own pocketbook. It could not tell in April what its business would be in November, or any other month. Its prices had to be scaled upward to bring in enough profit that it would be able to pay the tax, the amount of which it could not forecast.

These new taxes come at a time when few businesses have any real reserve for a rainy day. Ten years of depression has left them with no fat. Yet, if we do not have the new taxes, where will our government find itself?

In respect of the lack of reserve, the business of the country is in quite a different situation than it was in 1918 when the earlier excess profits tax went on. Then, business was functioning, making money hand over fist, reaping war profits from before the United States joined the allies against Germany. Now, the tax goes on and business is flat on its back. There is no use kidding ourselves about the condition. In my opinion, any real economic recovery is now definitely off until such a type of tax is altered and the levy applied so that taxpayers will know what tax they must pay each year.

Tax Structure of Nation Needs Reorganization

The laying of these new taxes brings the people of the country face to face with another fact. I have been preaching against waste and have been called anti-New Deal because I have criticized the administration for piling up such a huge debt—in excess of $45,000,000,000. But I believe a good many folks now are going to realize that Sen. Harry Byrd, the Virginia Democrat, was exactly right when he urged that the whole tax structure be gone over and reorganized. He wanted to see a sound tax structure. He surely was right when he said there are contradictory and ridiculous tax levies in effect and they ought to be corrected.

The condition links directly with my recollection of old Noah. Noah went out and spent his money with no thought of the future. The present administration went out and borrowed under one excuse or another until the national debt is the greatest in the nation's history—without any thought of the future. They built privies and raked leaves and constructed unneeded buildings and spent billions in every direction.

It strikes me that since the administration has emulated old Noah, it ought to wake up and take the advice of some sound thinkers such as Senator Byrd. The taxes must be paid—yes, in undreamed of amounts—but the taxpayers in the country have a right to demand some system in that taxation.

Some of these days an understanding of the sour nature of these taxes will permeate down to the last person who eats. The politicians have been getting away with the grandest deceit by using hidden taxes—taxes you have paid as a part of the price of your purchase—for years. I think the end is not far off. I firmly believe that the tremendous taxes we are going to have to pay because we played like Noah, the farm hand, will teach a lot of folks a lesson.

Today, new taxes are upon us in a manner that is harmful. We must have those taxes. We should have had them five years ago. If we had, our debt would not have been so big, so unmanageable. It was, and is, Noah all over again. We have spent what we had; we have borrowed from the earnings and the savings of our children and grandchildren for play-house purposes. Now, when our nation is viewed by many to be in very real danger, the mess is made complete by a system of taxation which is completely cockeyed.

QUESTION: I have a wasp nest in one corner of my attic about 18 inches in diameter. How can I get rid of it?

Answer: On a cool day when the wasps are inert, spray the nest thoroughly with any insect liquid or kerosene. The nest can then be wrapped in heavy paper or, if possible, enclosed in a paper bag, broken away from its support, and burned.

QUESTION: In spring and fall there are wasps in our attic and in one upstairs bedroom, which they seem to enter through the window pulley openings. How can they be eliminated?

Answer: The pulley openings can be covered by strips of cloth of a width to fit the bottom of the groove, and held by a thumb-tack above the pulley. In the attic, locate the pests and spray them heavily with insect liquid. If the nests are within the walls you can locate them by observing the cracks through which the wasps crawl in and out.

QUESTION: What is a solution to be sprayed on the ground to kill weeds and to prevent the growth of poison ivy? Is this the right time of year to use such a solution?

Answer: A strong solution of rock salt in water is effective; or you can get ready-made weed killer at a seed store. Any such solution will kill all vegetation that it falls on, however, until in time rain carries it deep into the earth. This would be a good time of year to use it, for spring growth is already beginning.

Cold Bedroom Floor.
QUESTION: The area under the bedrooms is unexcavated. We find the floors in these rooms are cold. The house is just completed. Is it the newness of the house, and will the dampness pass? If this coldness will continue, what type of insulation do you suggest?

Answer: Floors without basements under them will most likely continue to be cold. The newness of the house may aggravate the condition because of the dampness given off by the plaster. Insulation will help considerably. There is a form of blanket insulation made of shredded wood fiber enclosed in a waterproof paper, made to fit between the floor joists, which might be quite suitable for your purpose.

Old Kitchen Clock.
QUESTION: I would like to clean the works of an old porcelain kitchen clock. I was told to soak the works in kerosene, then add a few drops of light machine oil. How would you clean the clock?

Answer: If the clock is valuable, the cleaning and oiling should be done by a professional. Soaking in gasoline may be preferable to kerosene. The gasoline will cut the old oil and grease faster. In oiling, place just a drop of light oil on each pivot.

Coal and Oil.
QUESTION: For house heating how many gallons of oil are equivalent to a ton of coal?

Answer: That depends very largely on the efficiency with which both oil and coal are burned. I have had comparisons running all the way from 150 to 200 gallons of oil to the ton of coal; 175 gallons is, I believe, a fair average.

Decorating a Room.
QUESTION: A large room in my house is not heated, and the temperature in it frequently goes below freezing. In redecorating the room would you advise painting or papering?

Answer: I should paint it, for in such extreme changes in temperature and with inevitable dampness, the papering is likely to loosen.

Insulating a Floor.
QUESTION: I intend to insulate the under part of a floor, which is three feet above the ground. I expect to use rock wool batts, which have waterproof backs. Would it be better to put building paper over the batts, or do you recommend a rigid insulating board?

Answer: Waterproof asphalt paper may be more practical for your purpose. It will be easier to handle. Where the laps of the paper occur, nail strips of wood over joists to close up any bulge or openings between sheets.

Leaking Garage Walls.
QUESTION: Water seeps in under the sills on both sides of my garage on the cement floor. The floor extends beyond the walls, and is above ground. The rain seems to come in near the bottom. The walls are shingle covered frame construction. How can I overcome this trouble?

Answer: Fill all cracks, crevices and openings around the bottom of the wall with caulking compound. This will probably be sufficient.

Attic Insulation.
QUESTION: There is handpacked insulation four inches thick in the ceilings of our second-story rooms. Would insulating the roof cut down the temperature of those rooms?

Answer: It will help, but you will get far more benefit from free ventilation in the attic to carry off the attic air as fast as it becomes heated. If the attic air is cool, the rooms below will be cool also.

Your Tax Money Helps U. S. Build Battleships

As Uncle Sam's mammoth naval building program gets under way, Rear Admiral C. H. Woodward, commandant of the Third naval district, drives the first rivet to lay the keel of the new United States Battleship U. S. S. Iowa at the Brooklyn navy yard. Observing the ceremony are Captains C. A. Dunn of the navy yard, (left); T. B. Richey, production officer of the yard; and Commander J. E. Kiernan. The public was not invited to the keel-laying, because of the necessity for privacy and speed.

'Dog House' Would Be Cool Place for Summer

Dog members of Rear Admiral Byrd's Antarctic expedition were given the utmost care and attention. This section of the East Base camp pictured above was called "Dog Town" by members of the expedition. Each dog had an individual hut supplied to him for the duration of his stay which was made snug and comfortable against the Antarctic weather. The Eskimo dogs were specially trained for hauling sledges and were regarded as extremely important members of the party. Antarctic birds may be seen in the background.

JOB'S REPENTANCE AND RESTORATION

LESSON TEXT—Job 42:1-13. GOLDEN TEXT—And the Lord turned the captivity of Job, when he prayed for his friends.—Job 42:10.

The problem of suffering, like every other question arising in man's inquiring heart, finds its true solution in a right view of God. Job found it to be so. As long as he and his friends concentrated their attention on his person and his troubles, they only became more deeply involved in confusion and doubt. Much of their discussion was on a high moral and philosophical plane, and they were all doubtless earnest and capable men, but in the end Job learned, and they learned through him, that the real difficulty was that they did not know God.

Then God Himself appeared and brought before Job a panorama of the glorious works of God and His blessings upon mankind (chaps. 38-41). Where was Job when the world was created (38:4)? Who holds the world together (38:6)? What is the origin of light (38:19)? What about the glory of the snowflake (38:22)? Job is told to consider the hand of God in the animal kingdom (chap. 39) and upon those that dwell in the sea (chap. 41). It dawned upon Job that he had been arguing against the providences of the all-knowing and all-powerful One—the eternal God. In that conviction and the repentance which it brought forth, he experienced—

I. Renewed Fellowship (vv. 1-6). Job came to the realization that he had not really known God Himself until now. His religious experiences and convictions hitherto, precious and important as they were, had been by "the hearing of the ear," but now he had met God and all was changed. Fellowship with the Lord was renewed, but on an infinitely higher plane. Job had a real revival in his life which caused him to "abhor" everything that he had said and done; yes, even to set himself aside and to take God to be all and in all.

Our churches are full of people who only know God by hearsay. They have heard about Jesus Christ since their childhood, but they have never met Him. They have read of the Holy Spirit, but they have never known His power. We need a God-sent revival, one like those of the past which "have broken out like fire . . . consuming dead and out-worn systems, burning sin like a roaring flame, and casting a new light across men's pathways" (E. L. Douglass).

II. Restored Usefulness (vv. 7-10a). God's rebuke of Job's friends is significant, for it centers, not in their failure to deal rightly with Job, but their failure properly to represent God. It is a tremendously serious matter to attempt to tell others about God, for in doing so we must not in any way misrepresent Him. To stand before men as religious teachers and leaders and not to know Him so well that we represent Him rightly, is to invite His judgment and condemnation.

Job, on the other hand, was restored to a place of honor and usefulness. His friends, who thought they knew so much more than he about God, are told to ask Job to pray for them. He thus was afforded the opportunity of returning good for evil and was again enabled to serve God in serving his fellow men. Salvation is by faith (Eph. 2:8, 9); but being saved, we are restored to the place of usefulness to God.

III. Returned Prosperity (vv. 10b-13).

The abundant blessing of God upon Job is described in oriental terms of money, herds of cattle, and of a large family. These are the tangible evidences of God's blessing, and even to us today they speak of a liberal and loving God. God can and does prosper His own obedient children even in material things.

Such outward mercies, however, only feebly represent the blessings of the soul, the ultimate and eternal joys of the spirit. They point us, it is true, to the assurance that as we yield ourselves in unconditional obedience to God's will, we may confidently trust Him with the dark days of sorrow and affliction, as well as the days of sunshine and prosperity. No matter how tangled may seem the threads on this side of the loom, we know that the heavenly Father behind the scenes is weaving the pattern of beauty which shall one day be revealed as we stand complete in Christ.

HOW TO SEW

of this fascinating job of mine, and to tell you about the adventures of many clever women who make the things that they want for their homes—sometimes from almost nothing. There were more of these adventures in Book 4, and there are still more in Book 5.

There is nothing that pleases me so much as when you tell me that my sketches are so clear that you can see at a glance how to make things. I am glad that everything needed is in today's sketch about this remodeled washstand because I have used up all my space now; and the frill around the top shelf is five inches deep. Is your child a NOSE PICKER?

It may be just a nasty habit, but sometimes nose picking is a sign of something nastier. It may mean that your child has round worms—especially if there are other symptoms, such as fidgeting, finicky appetite, restless sleep and itching in certain parts. Many mothers don't realize how easy it is to "catch" this dreadful infection and how many children have it. If you even suspect that your child has round worms, get JAYNE'S VERMIFUGE right away! Drive out those ugly, crawling things before they can grow and cause serious distress. JAYNE'S VERMIFUGE is the best known worm expellant in America. It is backed by modern scientific study and has been used by millions for over a century. JAYNE'S VERMIFUGE has the ability to drive out large round worms, yet it tastes good and acts gently. It does not contain Santonin. If there are no worms it works merely as a mild laxative. Ask for JAYNE'S VER-MI-FUGE at any drugstore. FREE: Valuable medical book, "Worms Living Inside You." CHAPTER XIII—Continued

The truck pulled into the camp grounds where a space had been reserved and roped off for it. The girls still stared through the little darkened windows.

"Girls," Helen whispered suddenly. "Look! It's the wrong rally! There's Brother Wilkie on the platform. There's Len Hardesty standing on the steps."

"Why, Ben's brought us to the wrong rally!" said Adele. "You'd think he would know it by this time!"

"He must be drunk," said Helen. "I'll tell him."

They ran to the front of the truck and banged furiously on the small locked doors that separated the driver's seat from the body. They called, softly at first, then as loudly as they could scream, "Ben! Ben Baldy! Oh, Ben!" Still no reply. "Uncle Lancy'll fire Ben Baldy for this," said Adele.

"Aunt Olympia'll strangle him," said Limpy.

They climbed back to their narrow perches and peered interestedly through the small high windows to witness the Republican rally. Adele's eyes clung to Len Hardesty's lean face, where he stood alertly on the steps that led to the platform.

Len Hardesty had been on intent lookout for the sound truck. There it came! There it was! A faint semblance of a smile softened his set features. A stroke of genius! It wouldn't win the Governor many votes perhaps, but it would certainly make talk, and better still, it would create laughter. It would embarrass Sloppy. It would show Olympia he wasn't to be sneezed at.

"Here's the truck," he wrote on a card and passed it up to the Governor.

"Be ready with the lights," he said to the engineer who stood beside him.

The Governor finished his paragraph. Then he paused dramatically.

"My friends," he belloved suddenly, "we have charged that your representative in the Senate of the United States—Alencor Delaporte Sloppy—is a careless, indifferent, inefficient man! Too careless, too inefficient, to be trusted to safeguard the rights of this sovereign state! We have been challenged to produce proof of that charge! Tonight, we bring that proof! . . . Do you believe—is any child innocent enough to believe—that a man who cannot protect his own property, cannot safeguard his own interests, cannot be trusted to safeguard the property, the rights, the interests of our sovereign state! Ladies and gentlemen, on this night of all nights in this campaign, at this crucial moment, Senator Sloppy has shown himself so careless, so inefficient, that he has allowed his own campaign sound truck to be driven off under his very nose! Ladies and gentlemen—this is our proof! We give you the Sloppy Sound Truck! It stands before you!"

Immediately floodlights from all over the park were flashed on that silent tomb, the Senator's sound truck. The girls crouched down out of sight below the small windows. Spike O'Connor, stern, unsmiling, accepted his honors with a stiff bow. A roar went up from the crowd, hand-clapping, cheers; and boos for Sloppy.

When the applause had somewhat subsided, the Governor went on:

"Here, my friends, you have actual, physical, incontrovertible proof of our charge of inefficiency. In the face of this testimony, what can be said of the Senator's sagacity, his senatorial watch-care of our state's rights, his guardianship of the sacred privilege of our common citizenship? Tonight—at this hour—Senator Sloppy is supposed to be making an intensive drive for votes in this state, addressing gathered crowds through the microphone of this sound truck. This is the truck that carries his valuable papers, his books, his files, his notes; as well as his loud-speaking equipment. Can you trust a man who can't take care of his own property, to take care of yours?"

"Ah, ladies and gentlemen, in the Holy Book of our Fathers, in Divine Scripture, what is declared to be the fate of those wicked and slothful servants, who, not being faithful in small things, cannot be trusted with greater things? Is it to him these words were spoken, 'Well done, thou good and faithful servant; thou hast been faithful over a few things, I will make thee ruler over many things? Ah, no! That wicked and slothful servant, careless, inefficient, faithless in small things, is to be cast into the outer darkness and there shall be weeping and gnashing of teeth.'

"But this Good Book of Guidance offers counsel and advice for all; yea, even to the wicked and slothful servant, faithless in small things! Come back with me to Proverbs, and read this admonition. 'Go to the ant, thou sluggard; consider her ways and be wise.' . . . Go to the ant, Senator Sloppy, consider her ways, and be wise."

Limpy could stand no more. "Give me that mikel!" she said passionately. "I'll tell them a thing or two."

And as the roar of applause died down, suddenly the tomb of inefficiency found voice and spoke. Limpy, standing tense and rigid between the cabinets, bawled bravely into the microphone.

"Ladies and gentlemen! Listen to me a minute! It's the most outrageous lie I ever heard!"

Startled silence gripped the crowd. Was this a plant? At any rate, it was dramatic. All eyes were riveted to the truck.

"I'm Limpy Rutherford, and Senator Sloppy's my uncle and there never lived a better uncle than my Uncle Lancy. This is the most despicable outrage I ever heard of!"

Len Hardesty collapsed on the bottom step. "Oh, my God, he swiped the kid with it!" he groaned.

"My Uncle Lancy is the most honorable, most gentlemanly, most—conscientious person that ever lived. I've lived with him a year and I ought to know. And he's efficient, too. He's terribly efficient. I know his car hasn't run out of gas since we've been here, and that's efficient."

"And he's a good Senator, too. Everybody in the Senate just loves Uncle Lancy; even Republicans love him—all the important ones, that amount to anything. McNary just dotes on him, he said so himself. And Vandenberg thinks everything in the world of Uncle Lancy. He told me if Uncle Lancy was a Republican he'd be presidential timber. And Uncle Lancy's a good Christian, too, I don't care if he is a senator!"

"I know all about the Scripture! I was brought up on the Bible; the real Bible. Would my Uncle Lancy stoop to stealing Brother Wilkie's sound truck—and commit thievery—just to win a few votes? Certainly not! He wouldn't think of it! Do you think for one minute my Uncle Lancy would steal Brother Wilkie's brats?"

"Oh, Limpy, don't say brats!" moaned Helen.

"I mean children," Limpy corrected herself hastily. "He wouldn't do it, anyhow. He wouldn't soil his fingers with them! He's too much of a gentleman and too much of a Christian and too good a senator. And even though I'm a Republican myself, if I had a vote, do you know who I'd vote for? I'd vote for Uncle Lancy—that's who! I'd vote for him a thousand times if I could and go to jail for it, and it would be worth it, too. I'd be glad to go to jail for Uncle Lancy. He—he's a—swell—guy."

Tears began welling to Limpy's eyes. A lump rose in her throat. She struggled on. "My Uncle Lancy is—just—swell."

Limpy collapsed in a passion of tears on the floor of the truck. Helen grabbed Limpy. Adele grabbed the microphone.

Suddenly her low, even voice swept over the crowd, still gripped in awed, electrical silence.

"My sister is perfectly right. Every word she said is the gospel truth. I'm Adele."

"Oh, my God, he got them all!" gasped Len Hardesty, and started for the truck.

"I have never been so shocked in my life," continued Adele. Our preachers in Iowa wouldn't do it! That's not the kind of preachers we have. And if Brother Wilkie is so fond of the Scripture, he'd better read up on that handwriting on the wall business; if he doesn't see handwriting tonight, he will next Tuesday!"

"Play, you idiots!" roared Brother Wilkie, and the band swept, too late, into the cheerful strains of "Don't you weep for me."

But already the crowd had moved away from the platform and was massing around the sound truck, once more standing silent, grim and tomblike. Reporters nosed closer, closer. Cameras turned on it from every direction. Light bulbs exploded. Len Hardesty pushed his way through. He beat on the door of the truck.

"Adele! Open this door! Come out of that truck!"

Adele opened the door. Light flashed about her, cameras clicked, the crowd roared. Adele, wide-eyed, damp curls clustering about her pale face, slim bare legs shivering beneath the short damp cape, stood clearly revealed. Helen, with the weeping Limpy in her arms, was behind her.

Len took one look. "Adele!" he roared. "Get back in that truck and put on your clothes."

"We haven't any clothes," said Adele pathetically. "They stole our clothes, too." Her teeth chattered nervously. "We're half-frozen." And she slammed the door.

Len Hardesty flung himself against it, facing the cheering, laughing crowd. He was haggard and wild-eyed.

The crowd, too, was beginning to mutter, almost menacingly. This, definitely, was carrying things too far, even in a mud-slinging campaign.

And then, from the distance, came the roar of approaching motors, the shriek of sirens, the scream of police whistles. Nearer, nearer!

"Oh, my God, it's the police!" groaned Len Hardesty. "Well, they'll get into this truck over my dead body!"

And he planted himself more firmly against the door of the truck, both arms outstretched, a figure of grim defiance.

CHAPTER XIV

It was the police—a thoroughly outraged and vengeful police escort, reinforced by a dozen or more additional officers from Uncle Lancy's big rally. The escort was offended to the depths of its being. It is true, it had not been in the immediate vicinity of the commission of this crime against law and order. Still, it had been detailed to the Senator for the campaign, and to have three girls and a sound truck kidnaped from under its nose, as it were, was certainly going to make talk. It might even instigate an investigation.

The roaring onswep of motors was the noisy approach of the Senator and Aunt Olympia, in pursuit of their children.

Aunt Olympia never forgave her subconscious for not affording her some premonition of what was to happen that fateful night.

A beaming Madonna with a clear conscience and red face, she had accompanied the Senator on his last trek; received with him the plaudits of the crowds, accepted bouquets, and at Millsville dimpled rosiely over the handsome evening bag presented with a good deal of ceremony. She listened attentively to the Senator's speeches, applauding good points, the incarnation of devoted wifeliness and temporary motherhood.

Aunt Olympia

Eventually they arrived at the last round-up, Trentfare. There she received her fourth bouquet, the others being left out of sight on the floor of the automobile. She didn't mind at all because the girls were late.

"God knows they need a rest from all the speech-making," she thought leniently. "They'll get here in time for the wind-up—in those costumes—looking like angels. They'll be a sensation. They'll cinch every float-er for miles around."

She smiled, she shook hands, she acknowledged introductions and took bows, and then flattered down in her chair with modest decorum. But she couldn't help keeping watch for the girls. Her fond eyes yearned for the blessed sight of them, in those works of art.

Just as the Senator was getting well launched in what was to be the climactic closing speech of the campaign, suddenly the haggard face of Ben Baldy appeared at the side door of the platform. He waved grimy hands toward Aunt Olympia, he shook his head, he scowled. Someone seated near the door whispered to him. A message trickled along the front row until it reached Aunt Olympia.

"He wants to speak to you."

Even then Aunt Olympia was not startled. It was the girls, of course; probably wanting to know whether they should come right on or wait until the Senator had finished. She rose, carrying the huge bouquet, and tiptoed over the feet of the front-row honor guests on the platform, whispering apologies, until she reached the door.

With a big, soiled finger Ben motioned her to come a little farther. "Mis' Sloppy!" he whispered tersely. "They swiped our girls."

Olympia drew herself together into her familiar posture of hauteur. "Baldy, have you been drinking?"

"I wish to God I had been," he answered, in a voice both evasive and devout. "Brother Wilkie done it. They swiped the sound truck and the girls along with it while I was—snatching a bite. A cop brought me in a side car."

"Brother Wilkie—swiped—?" she said quaveringly, her knees going weak.

"are my girls?" she demanded, her voice going swiftly crescendo. "They're swiped."

"But where are they now? What's happened to them?"

"They're still swiped."

Aunt Olympia was game to the depths of her being. Even to this catastrophe, she arose with rampant resourcefulness.

"We must head off the Senator," she said. "He'll kill Brother Wilkie for this! . . . Wait here, Baldy. I'll go down front and catch his eye."

The Senator, working up to one of his best points, was a good deal surprised to see a pale and grumpy Olympia appear before him below the speaker's stand. Her rightful place was in a good position on the platform. But even a pale Olympia gave him courage. Not a bad idea, getting down there where he could catch her glare.

Olympia, who had a stimulating effect on perfect strangers, was almost intoxicating to the Senator.

He went on, with greater eloquence. In the burst of applause that followed the paragraph, he glanced complacently down for a beam of approval. Imagine his amazement to see Olympia silently weeping, swabbing at her underchin. The Senator tried desperately to recall if he had said anything of a pathetic nature to arouse her emotions, but there had been no paths in this speech; this was a fighting speech and Olympia never cried over fights. He gazed at her distractedly. Falteringly he took up the next paragraph, but he couldn't get his mind off Olympia, sobbing silently almost beneath his feet.

"Clap, boys," he whispered to those behind him on the packed platform.

Accepting the cue, they broke into hearty applause, and the audience joined willingly enough. Taking advantage of this interval, the Senator leaned over the rostrum.

"What's the matter?"

"The Republicans stole the children. Kidnaped them. They've got the children."

"What!"

She nodded her head, tears streaming down a face in which the last vestige of rose had faded, even to her lips. "Stole them. Got them. All of them."

The Senator rose to dramatic heights of which even Olympia had never dreamed he was capable. He towered to a height which was really impressive for his somewhat slight stature. He raised his hand for silence. He leaned forward again.

"What did you say, my dear?" he asked, clearly.

"Brother Wilkie stole our truck and kidnaped our children. They took them to the other rally."

The Senator raised both arms. Mild though he was supposed to be, the united Opposition would have quailed before his look at that moment.

"My friends," he said, and there was the venom of murder in his voice. As for the sweating throng, this being a decided innovation in a campaign which had not been dull, an almost unearthly silence gripped it.

"My friends, I came here tonight prepared to answer briefly, decisively, every issue that has been raised in this campaign. But my campaign is ended at this moment. I shall not continue my speech. I am obliged to leave you. I have just learned that the Opposition, reduced in their extremity to dastardly deeds of violence, have stolen those three children who are dearer to my wife and me than our very lives. They have taken our children. Ladies and gentlemen, I relinquish the campaign; I leave it in your hands. For myself, I go to rescue our girls from this act of wanton depravity. Let your votes fall where they may."

He leaped nimbly down from the platform and put his arm around Olympia. The audience waited in taut silence, anticipating some further, exciting denouement. But Jim Allen, the state chairman, did not wait. He, too, leaped from the platform and caught the Senator by the arm.

"Senator, for God's sake, you can't do that!" he said. "You can't walk out on us! You'll offend every Democrat in the state. The kids will be all right. Nobody'll hurt 'em. But we've got every county chairman in the state here; we've got committees from every club; they'll never forgive you."

The Senator drew himself up.

"Unhand me, Jim," he said thickly. "You can't go, Senator; I won't permit it; I've worked too hard on this!"

The Senator let go of Olympia. He took his glasses carefully in his left hand. He doubled his right fist, rose toweringly on his toes—Jim was a tall man—and delivered a surprisingly straight, clean uppercut to Jim Allen's face. Jim Allen, felled more by surprise than by the force of the blow, sank to the floor.

"Come, Olympia!" said the Senator, gently, replacing his glasses.

Olympia, even in this crisis, did not forget that she was a lady. As she stepped, carefully, though blindfolded, over the prostrate form of Jim Allen, she hesitated long enough to murmur, "So sorry, Jim!" And the Senator led her away.

G-Men on Trail Of 5th Column

General Intelligence Unit Is Operating Against Subversive Forces.

WASHINGTON.—The Federal Bureau of Investigation is operating against subversive forces in the United States under near-wartime authority granted by President Roosevelt.

The Chief Executive followed up his proclamation of a national emergency last fall with an order designating the FBI as the clearing house for information concerning espionage, sabotage, subversive activities, and violations of the neutrality laws.

G-men ordinarily are constrained in their investigations to actual violations of federal law, but the additional authority permits them to place under surveillance persons suspected of subversive activity.

J. Edgar Hoover, chief of the bureau, has established a general intelligence division within the FBI to direct its far-flung activities to preserve the national defense against foreign agents.

Special Inquiries Made.

He pointed out that the FBI has conducted special investigations of persons reported as being active in any subversive activity or in movements detrimental to the internal security.

In that connection, he added, the FBI has established a general index, arranged alphabetically and geographically, so that in the event of "any greater emergency" in the United States, federal agents will be able to locate immediately persons who may need to be the subject of further investigation.

Without the presidential authority, the FBI could not have extended its jurisdiction to maintain surveillance over persons suspected of subversive activities.

Hoover made this clear in a departmental memorandum in 1924, after he had been asked by another bureau to investigate alleged subversive activities of suspected persons.

"In this connection," he wrote, "it is, of course, to be remembered that the activities of communists and other ultra-radicals have not up to the present time constituted a violation of the federal statutes, and, consequently, the department of justice, theoretically, has no right to investigate such activities, as there has been no violation of federal laws."

List Has 2,500 Names.

Although there have been charges that Hoover is establishing a national police, the file of subversive forces contains only about 2,500 names.

During a single year, G-men touched approximately 60,000 persons in their investigations. This group comprises only .00004 of one per cent of the population.

FBI investigations, during the same year, resulted in 5,162 convictions—or one conviction for every 12 persons investigated. Considering the fact that G-men must investigate groundless suspicions and malicious charges along with bona fide complaints, Attorney General Robert H. Jackson did not feel that "the bureau has been throwing its net very far from the mark."

Opera Tenor Fails to Win This Blond's Heart

PUEBLO, COLO.—They say that John Carter, dark, handsome and romantic Metropolitan opera tenor, sets women's hearts aflutter. But he failed with one Pueblo blonde.

"Oh come," said Carter in his most persuasive manner as he tried to get the blonde to sit on a grand piano and pose with him for a picture. "Don't you want to talk to me? Won't you take my hand? Won't you have your picture taken?"

"No, I won't!" said the young lady. "Leave me alone. Boo-hoo-hoo."

So Carter posed with an unprotesting harp.

And the three-year-old blonde nestled in her mother's arms.

Ole Man River Keeps Tentacles on Trumpeter

NEW ORLEANS.—Old Man River has Tony Catalano in his grip.

Tony, who has directed dance bands on the Mississippi river excursion boats every season since 1908, has turned down offer after offer to play his trumpet in "name" bands.

"There's just something about the river—" is his only comment every time Catalano turns down a proposal that he leave his excursion boat and go with some traveling band.

Every Year Mrs. Adam Takes a 42-Mile Hike

TUJUNGA, CALIF.—Once every year Mrs. George Adam, 66 years old, walks from her home here to Los Angeles Exposition park to see the flowers. The round trip is about 42 miles and she does it in one day. What delights Mrs. Adam is that 20 years ago doctors considered her seriously crippled with arthritis and other ailments. "I fooled 'em," she says.

MUDDLE

A doctor at a deaf and dumb institution invited a friend to its annual dance. He explained that when the guest wished to dance with one of the inmates he should smile and make a circle with his hand. The guest picked out a pretty girl, and went through the necessary formula. She responded, and they had several dances. Then the doctor arrived, and, to the guest's surprise, asked his partner whether she would give him a dance. She said, "Yes, when I can get rid of this deaf and dumb fellow!"

Common Sense About Constipation

A doctor would tell you that the best thing to do with constipation is get at its cause. That way you don't have to endure it first and try to "cure" it afterward—you can avoid having it. Chances are you won't have to look far for the cause if you eat the super-refined foods most people do. Most likely you don't get enough "bulk"! And "bulk" doesn't mean a lot of food. It means a kind of food that isn't consumed in the body, but leaves a soft "bulky" mass in the intestines. If this is what you lack, try crisp crunchy Kellogg's All-Bran for breakfast. It contains just the "bulk" you need. Eat All-Bran often, drink plenty of water, and "Join the Regulars." Made by Kellogg's in Battle Creek. If your condition is chronic, it is wise to consult a physician.

hit. After two were out, Quick was hit by a pitched ball, he stole second and took third on a passed ball. W. Mallon walked and stole second. Quick scored on a passed ball and W. Mallon ran to third. M. Mallon walked and stole second. McPheerson grounded out second to first.

The final run was scored in the ninth. With one away Myles, who replaced Davis at first base in the seventh, hit a low line drive to right, center for three bags. On an attempted squeeze play, Mark missed the wide pitch at the plate the ball rolling away from the catcher and Myles scored on the passed ball.

Next Sunday Tawas City will journey to Harrisville to take on the league leaders. The locals need this game to stay in the fight and with the boys playing heads-up ball, you can be assured of seeing a snappy game. Tawas City has one of the best defense combinations in the league.

gue. With Bob Rollin burning things up at third. Bob is one of the best hot corner prospects to be seen in this section for a long time and should develop into a first rate third sacker. Marv. Mallon is having one of his best fielding seasons of his career. Johnny Katterman is playing his same steady game at the keystone, while the initial sack is being taken care of by Earl Davis and Gordon Myles. The infield utility job is being held down by Freddie Luedtke, who has been doing a good chore of defense playing.

With "Lefty Quick in left, "Ki" Zollweg in center, and Bill Mallon, Bob McPheerson and Bob Scholtz alternating in right, they have an outfield who can haul them in with the best of them. The pitching is taken care of with Bill Mallon and Bob McPheerson doing the right handed hurling and Gordon Myles the wrong-handed throwing. At present Frank Mark is doing the catching, Laidlaw being laid up, and is turning in a fine job. Lloyd Osborne, a newly acquired catcher who hasn't seen service with the team in a game to date looked good at practice and is ready to step in whenever needed.

So let's accompany this snappy team to Harrisville next Sunday and help them win this important game and go into a tie for first place in the league standings.

Better buy NOW- and Make Your Money Work!

JUST figure it out for yourself—what better use can you make of your money right now than to put it into something new, sturdy, big, useful and of known and unchallengeable value? In other words, why not take this moment to say good-bye to a car beginning to show signs of wear — and say hello to a brand-new 1940 Buick?

You know it's plenty good—had to be, to smash all previous Buick production records. You know you can make good use of it — not only now but for years to come. And at the moment, prices★ begin at only $895 for the business coupe, delivered at Flint, Mich.; transportation, based on rail rates, state and local taxes (if any), optional equipment and accessories — extra.

How about it? Your Buick dealer is the one to see about a deal that will make your money do a real job of work! ★Prices subject to change without notice.
