CAR COLLIDES; ALABASTER BOY VICTIM

James Oates Succumbs to Injuries Received At Tecumseh

James Oates, son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Oates, of Alabaster township, and a companion, last Saturday succumbed to injuries received in an automobile collision. Oates died 12 hours after the accident.

The two young men were driving to Indiana to attend the Wilkie acceptance address. For some unknown reason while near Tecumseh the car sideswiped a truck. Both men were taken to the Tecumseh hospital. Neither regained consciousness.

James Oates was born June 24, 1920, in Alabaster township. He attended the Alabaster schools from which he graduated in 1938. Since that time he has been employed by the Ford Motor company at Detroit.

He leaves to mourn his death, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Michael Oates; five brothers, Henry, Herbert, Robert, Clarence and Fred; two sisters, Lillian and Rea, and a number of other relatives and friends.

Funeral services were held at ten o'clock Tuesday morning from the Jacques Funeral Home, Tawas City. Rev. Frank Metcalf of the Tawas City Baptist church officiated. Interment was in the Tawas City cemetery.

2 Sherman Men Plead Guilty to Larceny

Harry Pierson and Carl Norris, both of Sherman township, pleaded guilty before Circuit Judge Herinan Dehnke last Saturday afternoon to stealing three heifers valued at $150 from Clarence Jordan. The theft occurred during July. The two men, out under bond, are now awaiting sentence.

Harvey Sessler and Omer McKee, of Arenac county, are charged with knowingly purchasing stolen property. They are alleged to have purchased the young cattle from Pierson and Norris. An examination was held before Justice W. C. Davidson, of this city.

50TH ANNIVERSARY ENJOYABLE EVENT

An all day rain did not interfere with the pleasure at the Home Coming and 50th Anniversary Celebration at Zion Lutheran church last Sunday. All available space in the church was filled during the three services and it is estimated that more than 500 men, women and children enjoyed the fine dinner served by the ladies aid in the dining hall. A large number of those present were from distant points—Bay City, Saginaw, Flint, Detroit, Upper Peninsula, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois and Wisconsin. Many unable to be present, wrote letters of congratulations and expressed their regrets at being absent.

Rev. F. A. Sievert, of Bay City, delivered the address in the German services in the morning and Rev. H. J. Rietheimer, of Detroit, the English. Mrs. O. Westcott and Arthur Wendt sang a Song of Welcome at the beginning of the English service. Rev. Theodore Wuggazer, of Fraser, delivered the sermon in the evening. Special singing and music was given by Immanuel Lutheran Choir of Bay City, Mrs. O. Westcott, of Zion congregation, and M. C. Grueber of East Detroit, organist.

A. L. Anschuetz of East Tawas was master of ceremonies at the Auditorium in the afternoon. All enjoyed the short talks given by Pastor Ross, Rev. Sievert and Rev. Rietheimer, former Zion pastors. M. C. Grueber, former Zion teacher. Rev. Theodore Wuggazer, member of the first confirmation class, and those given by other members of confirmation classes in response to the roll call. The first confirmation class in the new church in 1891 consisted of Herman Kerbitz, August Fiedler, William Musolf, Otto Kasischke, Theodore Wuggazer, Alvina Gaul, Arthur Miller, Clara Anschuetz, Johanna Anschuetz, Selma Anschuetz and Alma Bischoff. The first baby baptized was Victor Katterman, now of River Rouge.

One of the pleasures of the Home-Coming was greeting old friends. In some instances friends met again who had not seen each other for forty years. When the day's activities were over many present expressed the wish that a similar reunion be held every year.

In the change of locations there will be no change of personnel in the local sales organization, it was announced.

The second story of the building will be occupied by the East Tawas Club. The home of the club has been over the Old Family Theatre.

Heavy Seas Delays Races Until This Week-End

Heavy seas, shifting wind, and rain caused postponement of the racing program started last week by the Tawas Bay Yacht Club.

Officials of the Regatta, after having the word of all the skippers that they would return, called for the delay.

Racing will be resumed Saturday afternoon at 1:30, when all classes will sail their regular scheduled races. Again at 10:00 a. m. Sunday the small boats will compete and in the afternoon, the entire fleet will have tie point race.

Twenty-two sails were counted on Friday last week when the races started. Two more boats are expected Saturday from Saginaw.

Will Play Postponed Game Next Sunday

Rain and wet grounds caused the postponement of the Tawas City East Tawas game last Sunday. The contest was scheduled to be played at the East Tawas Athletic field. The Tawas City team now has four postponed games to make up. Two with East Tawas, and one each with Harrisville and Oscoda.

Sunday, August 25, the first of the postponed games will be played. East Tawas will furnish the opposition at the local ground. This contest was postponed from June 23. This should be an interesting game as both teams are in the running for the league leadership and the outcome of Sunday's battle will be an important factor in the league race. Tawas City needs this game to stay in the running, so let's all turn out and help the boys win this game. The game is scheduled for 2:30 p. m. and will be played at the Tawas City Athletic field.

SAGINAW BOY DROWNS HERE

At the time of the accident the parents were fishing on the river and when they returned they found the little fellow missing. The body was found in the river. Coroner E. D. #### New Fire Engine Arrives Tuesday

John Lansky, chief of the Tawas City fire department, and George Myles, superintendent of public works returned Tuesday evening from Chicago with the new fire truck purchased by the council a few weeks ago.

This new piece of apparatus is a Champion pumper, custom built, on a new International chassis furnished by the city. The pumper has a capacity of 500 gallons per minute, and is of centrifugal type. It has an auxiliary 200 gallon booster tank with spray nozzles to replace the old chemical engine, and furnish protection where there are no hydrants or water available.

The new Champion pumper replaces the old American LaFrance pumper which gave the city efficient fire protection for about 20 years. The old engine now requires many costly repairs and has just about completed a very useful life. Up-to-date, lighter and on pneumatic tires, the new Champion will provide Tawas City with the very best in fire protection.

1,000 Nazi Bombing Planes Launch 'History's Greatest Mass Air Raid'; Aliens in U. S. Start Registration; Aircraft 'Bottleneck' Slows Defense

EDITOR'S NOTE—When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of the news analyst and not necessarily of this newspaper.

Released by Western Newspaper Union

A French soldier and sailor are pictured here reading the poster written by General De Gaulle, head of the French military forces in England. It reads: "To all Frenchmen: France has lost a battle—but France has not lost the war."

THE WAR: 'Greatest in History'

From Wales to Scotland, German bombers attacked the island of Great Britain in what was being called the "greatest mass air attack in history." Always before as the Nazi planes attacked, their numbers could be reported in fives and tens but this time dispatches from both Berlin and London indicated that there were hundreds of planes in the air.

One official British source estimated that in a single day a Nazi air armada of more than 1,000 planes had rained bombs on all of England—from Scotland's border right through the midlands to Wales. Even London itself was bombed for the first time during the war as the German pilots dropped tons of high explosives up and down the river Thames, concentrating on a terrific attack upon famed Croydon airport, one of Europe's largest and best equipped landing fields.

As usual both Germany and England claimed that the enemy came out second best. England said that her famous fighter planes had driven off the Nazis in time to prevent "great damage." But Berlin, while not at first admitting that London had been bombed, did claim that "the entire Thames valley witnessed methodical, irresistible German air attacks which threaten all military establishments with destruction."

Southern Exposure

Mussolini has chosen to attempt the Italian version of a blitzkrieg in Africa. He sent 250,000 soldiers streaking across British Somaliland with control of the Suez canal and the British lifeline to India as stakes in the gamble.

The campaign will be hot in more ways than one. This is the time of the year when intense heat of more than 120 degrees grips Somaliland and the monsoon blows from mid-night to mid-afternoon. Clouds give little relief from the enervating sun and there is little rainfall. The British hold all the best oases, where men must drink or die.

ALIENS:

I (have, have not) . . .

Five million questionnaires in six key languages are being distributed to aliens living within the United States. All must answer 15 searching questions asked by the government before December 26. Before that time also all residents not native born or naturalized must be fingerprinted.

Most pertinent query reads: "Within the past five years I have, have not) been affiliated with or active in (a member of, official of, a worker for) organizations devoted in whole or in part to influencing or

DISMISSAL—WPA Commissioner F. C. Harrington announced 429 work relievers who refused to sign affidavits that they were not members of the Nazi Bund or Communist party have been discharged.

CHRISTENING—For the new navy aircraft carrier, soon to be launched, President Roosevelt has selected Bon Homme Richard, name of the flagship of John Paul Jones, father of the United States navy.

NEW JOB—James A. Farley, resigned as postmaster general, will become head of the Coca Cola Export company. The former Democratic national chairman will not devote his full time to the New York Yankees, although he still may head a syndicate to purchase the ball team.

IDEA—When Sen. Burton K. Wheeler (D., Mont.) suggested a national referendum on the matter of conscription, he had all of Washington stumped. Experts agreed there was no way to carry out such an idea.

NAMES

. . . in the news

George Bernard Shaw, British playwright and vegetarian, is laughing at meatless rations. "I cannot hope that we will become a nation of Bernard Shaws," he said "that would be too much to hope for."

Herbert Hoover is backing the movement to feed Belgium and France, if the English will lift the embargo.

Rear Admiral Robert L. Ghormley expects to have a reserved seat for the British invasion. On special orders of the President, he was sent to London as an observer, the highest ranking officer ever to hold this position in peacetime.

Manuel Quezon, president of the Philippines, was voted virtual dictator powers by the national assembly. He has control over wages, farming, industry, profits, transportation, rents and prices.

Lady Byng, widow of the one-time British field marshal, arrived in the United States as a refugee. Of the value of German bombing she said: "It was a bit wearying."

Fugitive

Patricia Wynn-Williams, little refugee from London—a fugitive from an aerial blitzkrieg—is pictured as she arrived in New York, en route for Chicago, where she and her sister will stay with friends until the war is over. She seemed a bit bashful as the cameraman pleads for a "big smile."

BUILDING PLANES: Speed Up

U. S. arsenals and navy yards went on 24-hour schedule as contracts for arms, ammunitions and ships began to pour out of the office of the national defense commission. Many industrial plants, bidding on thousands of articles needed to equip and train an army, also were given orders amounting to billions of dollars.

Bottleneck

Production of vitally needed airplanes still is the headache of all concerned. William Knudsen, production chief of the NDC, said American factories now are prepared to turn out planes at the rate of 10,800 a year and by next January will have speeded up to the rate of 18,000 a year.

But immediately following this announcement came the depressing news from War Secretary Stimson that although congress had appropriated money for 4,000 fighting planes, contracts had been let for only 33 of them.

And national guardsmen on mannequins at the Canadian border are without equipment. Trucks are used as make-believe heavy tanks, station wagons simulate light tanks, logs are passed off as cannon, and gas pipes have signs informing those to whom it may concern that "this is an anti-tank gun."

Stimson said businessmen wanted to know, before they undertook contracts, how they would be taxed, as well as assurance of tax credits for the cost of plant expansion. Stimson said a company which undertook building of new factories for defense orders was taking an abnormal risk because the plants might turn out useless in case of "a sudden cessation of the emergency."

On the QT

Inside dope is that some airplane companies are not waiting for congress to make up its mind about taxes. Planes are being produced and put on the shelf. When congress passes the tax legislation, planes will be available at once.

MISCELLANY: Touring

Mrs. Alice Cornelius of Glen Head, N. Y., parked her car on a hill and went shopping. The car was missing when she returned. So she walked down to the police station at the foot of the street to report it. She found: A wall of the police station smashed in, furniture wrecked, a stove overturned, and, halfway up to the chief's desk, her automobile.

Eliminating Blemishing Birthmarks

By DR. JAMES W. BARTON (Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

BIRTHMARKS occur more frequently in girls than in boys, about three to one, so that it was not surprising perhaps that one of the Dionne quintuplets should have a birthmark or haemangioma, as it is called. By means of radium, Dr. Howard Kelly of Baltimore successfully removed this blemish. A haemangioma is a growth of tissue containing small blood vessels.

The first thought many mothers have when they discover a birthmark—strawberry mark, port wine stain, blood tumor—is that radium must be used. It will be gratifying to mothers to know that unless the mark is large or is very thick and raised above the skin, a simple method of removing these marks or stains is available.

Dr. Norman M. Wrong, Toronto, in the Canadian Medical Association, reports a series of 156 patients with angioma treated by carbon dioxide snow at the Hospital for Sick Children, Toronto.

"The technique of the treatment of skin diseases by carbon dioxide snow is both simple and inexpensive. A chamois bag is placed over the nozzle of a tank of carbon dioxide and when the gas escapes the temperature is lowered to such an extent that some of it is converted into snow. This is then made into a suitably sized pencil in a wooden mold and the pencil is applied to the tumor with firm pressure."

While this is simple enough, Dr. Wrong states that experience is required in determining the length of time to keep snow applied to the tumor, amount of pressure to use and the type of tumor which is best treated by this freezing with carbon dioxide snow.

Early Treatment Advisable.

The usual types are (a) the port wine stain with no increase in tissue, (b) the strawberry mark with large vessels immediately beneath the skin and (c) the enlarged lump or growth of blood vessels and tissue raised above the skin.

Experience with these marks and growths makes it advisable that, instead of waiting for them to disappear treatment should be given as early as possible if the child is well. It is in the thin small marks that the carbon dioxide snow is most effective.

Sunstroke and Heat Exhaustion

SUNSTROKE and heat exhaustion are two different ailments and require somewhat different treatment.

In sunstroke you may feel tired and dizzy before the regular symptoms occur. These are headache, feeling of oppression, sometimes a tightness in the chest, great thirst, restlessness, frequent desire to pass urine, hot skin, a "sicky" feeling, flushed face and high temperature, finally unconsciousness.

Treatment in sunstroke is to lay the patient in a cool, shady place, off the ground if possible or on the ground on newspapers or clothing if no bench or table is available. Cold cloths are then applied to back of neck, face and chest, clothing removed, body sprinkled with water. The head should be kept high and patient fanned with a towel or piece of clothing. When patient is able to swallow, some cool water containing a pinch of salt should be given.

In heat exhaustion due to working in a hot, ill ventilated room, there is at first usually faintness, headache, dizziness and a staggering gait. The face is pale instead of flushed and skin is cold and damp, and low temperature (not high) is present. Unconsciousness may or may not occur.

In the treatment of heat exhaustion, patient is laid in a cool spot, cold applications made to the head and heat (by hot water bags or other methods) applied to the body. If patient is conscious he is given as much water as he can drink containing a quarter teaspoonful of salt to each glass of water. If he is unconscious, the salt solution is used as an emema.

QUESTION BOX

Q.—What would cause the veins in my hands and arms to be especially prominent? I am only 22 years old.

A.—Your veins may be very near the surface or you have not much fat under the skin. Exercise of any kind would be helpful, giving the heart more driving power.

Q.—What causes gas pains?

A.—Gas pains may be due to a sluggish liver and gall bladder, or to foods that cause gas such as cabbage, onions, lettuce and others.

Training Winged Gladiators At U. S. 'West Point of the Air'

Now that the government has launched its huge preparedness campaign, the classes at Randolph Field, Texas, Uncle Sam's "West Point of the Air," will be bigger than ever. The course consists of about 70 hours of flying, of which 30 hours are dual instruction and 40 hours solo. Civilian candidates must be unmarried male citizens of the United States, between 20 and 27, in excellent health and of spotless character.

One of the classrooms at Randolph Field. The students are receiving instructions in radio code work. Messages are tapped from the rostrum on a "buzzer." The students receive them through their headsets and write them down. Three classes enter the school each year.

The eyes of this cadet are undergoing a rigid test. Ears, heart and muscular action also come in for rigid inspection.

Parachute instruction. The cadets are dropping the "skyhooks" with 200-pound dummies in a special room at Randolph Field.

This U. S. training plane is about to go into a slow roll, with a student pilot at one of the dual controls. Right: Model planes are used to demonstrate proper air technique.

Almost 500 pilots-to-be are now in training at Randolph Field, which at present has 200 training planes. Photo shows student pilots and planes just before the daily program gets under way. FIRST-AID to the AILING HOUSE

By ROGER B. WHITMAN

(© Roger B. Whitman—WNU Service.)

QUESTION: I intend digging a cellar under the kitchen. The bungalow is supported by eight concrete piers. The plot is near a lake and composed entirely of sand. Would you suggest concrete block or poured concrete? Would the caving in of the sand be too much of a hazard? Do you think the cellar would be too damp to use? Would like information on the easiest and cheapest way of doing this.

Answer: My preference is for a poured concrete cellar. If there is any danger of the sand "caving in," the sides should be shored up with boards. As to dampness in the cellar, much will depend on the quality of the concrete and the drainage qualities of the soil. The Portland Cement association, Chicago, Ill., can furnish you with printed matter on this subject.

QUESTION: I should like to have your formula for removing old wallpaper.

Answer: Old wallpaper can be removed by a thorough soaking with warm water to soften and free the paste. A handful of washing soda to the gallon of warm water may quicken the action. Be careful not to splash the solution on painted or finished woodwork, as it will destroy the finish. Do not let it run down on the floor. When the paper loosens, tear it off, starting from the top. With the paper off, while the wall is still damp, sponge it with clear, warm water. After drying, sandpaper the wall lightly to remove bits of paper and hardened paste.

Cracked Plasterboard Joints.

QUESTION: The ceilings of my six-room, one-story house are plasterboard. The paper on them cracks at every joint between the boards. How can this be avoided?

Answer: One side of the ceiling is exposed to the warmth of the house and the other to the chill of the attic, which results in swelling and shrinking. Also, with the ceilings chilled by the low temperature in the attic, there will be condensation against them from moisture in the house air. Under this condition no kind of filling in the joints will be permanent. Your best move will be to cover the joints with thin strips of wood, nailed through to the supporting beams and papered to the ceilings.

Fireplace Tile.

QUESTION: My fireplace is faced with brick-colored tiles that are not handsome. Could I cover them with marbled linoleum and blacken the tiles of the floor?

Answer: Wall linoleum can be applied to tile, but I do not think that the effect would be particularly good. It would be better to bear with the tiles for a while until you are able to replace them with tiles that are more attractive, or with slabs of real marble. If the floor tiles are glossy, the color cannot be changed. If they are dull, you can blacken them with nigrosine dye, to be had at a paint store, or with black ink.

Leaking Terraces.

QUESTION: How can I take care of flagstone terraces that are leaking? Is there any such thing as a waterproof transparent paint that can be used by applying three or four coats, and doing it each year?

Answer: All cracked mortar joints should be raked out and repointed. A porous stone or mortar joint can be treated with two or more coats of a transparent waterproofing. A poorly mixed mortar, however, might be difficult to waterproof. It may even be necessary to repoint all the joints.

Bungalow Plans.

QUESTION: I understand you send out blue prints, at a small cost, to readers of your papers. I have in mind a bungalow 31 feet by 33 feet; four rooms, bath and front porch. Will appreciate any information you can send me.

Answer: I am sorry, but I do not furnish this kind of service. The Superintendent of Documents at Washington has a booklet of "Farmhouse Plans" which may be helpful to you. Write for Farmers' Bulletin 1738. The price of the booklet is 10 cents in coin.

Water Heater Piping.

QUESTION: I would like to move the hot water storage tank from the kitchen to the cellar; to be connected with the tank water heater and the furnace. Is there a book I can buy, which will tell me how to make these connections?

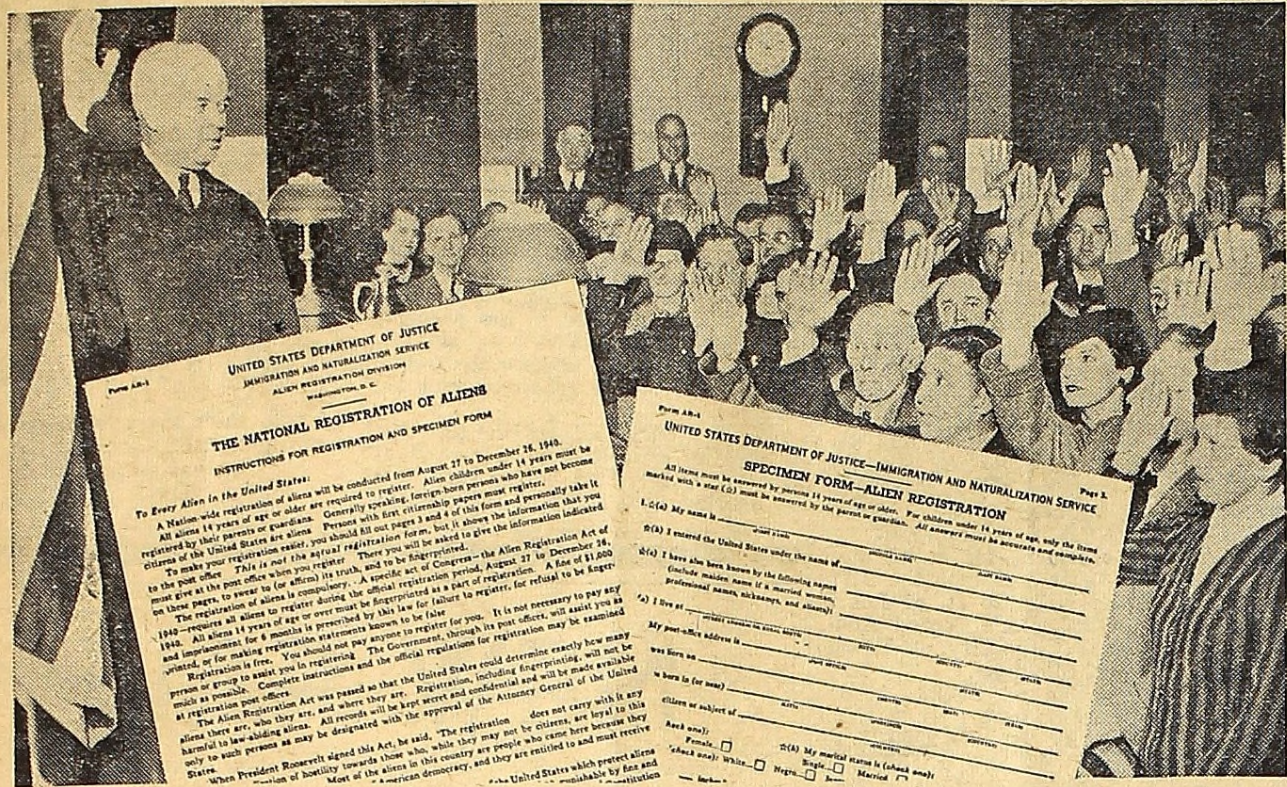

Answer: Manufacturers of water heaters publish data on the proper way of making connections between the storage tank and the heater. I am sure the firm whose heater you are using will furnish the necessary data.

Sweating Tank.

QUESTION: In the bathroom of my country home there is water on the floor most of the time, due to the flush tank sweating. The water coming out of the well is usually about 50 degrees. Can I insulate the tank to stop this dripping?

Answer: A wooden box lined with some form of insulation, made to enclose the tank on all exposed sides, is one way of overcoming this condition. Warm moist air must be kept from coming in contact with the cold surface of the tank.

CONFESSION AND FORGIVENESS

LESSON TEXT—II Samuel 12:13, 14; Psalm 51:1-3, 9-13; 32:5.
GOLDEN TEXT—Confess your faults one to another, and pray one for another, that ye may be healed.—James 5:16.

If the Bible told us only of perfect people, we would recognize it as being not true to life and assuredly of no help to us who know our own sinful natures. The Bible, however, tells us in all truthfulness of the bad as well as the good, the weak as well as the strong, the humble as well as the mighty.

It honestly portrays the sins of its greatest characters, revealing the heart of man as "deceitful above all things, and desperately wicked" (Jer. 17:9). It tells us of a gracious God (when man repents and forsakes his sin) who invites the sinner to come and be delivered from his sin.

The lesson centers around David, the humble shepherd boy who became king; and in the height of his glory, being tempted by his own evil desires, fell into the lowest of sin, which he then sought to cover by a well-planned murder. He finds no peace until he repents and returns to God. Three words summarize the lesson.

I. Sin (II Sam. 12:13, 14).
That little three lettered word seems to have the hiss of the serpent in it—sin—the cause of all man's woes and the heartache of a loving God.

David had tried to hide his sin and he said, "My bones waxed old through my roaring all the day long. For day and night thy hand was heavy upon me" (Ps. 32: 3, 4). "Be sure your sin will find you out" (Num. 32:23) is just as true today as it was in David's time.

The nature of sin is described in Psalm 51, and if we may anticipate a bit, we note that it is described by three words: "transgression," meaning a rebellious "stepping over" God's boundaries; "iniquity," from the same root as our word "unequal," meaning crookedness of heart and life; and "sin," which means missing the mark, a life going the wrong way.

Note that sin, while it may bring sorrow and trouble to us and those round about us, is "against the Lord" (v. 13 and Ps. 51:4). The sinner must face and answer to God for his sin.

Nathan's straightforward dealing with David brought him to

II. Repentance (Ps. 51:1-3, 9-13).
What David expressed to Nathan—"I have sinned against the Lord"—is more fully expressed in the great psalm of penitence which we know as Psalm 51. Dr. Wilbur M. Smith well says that "probably these verses have brought more comfort, and assurance of forgiveness, and hope for a renewed life after some terrible transgression, to a greater number of God's children down through the ages than any other single passage in the pages of the Old Testament."

To acknowledge one's transgression before God is to open the floodgates of His mercy, to receive His grace in forgiveness, cleansing, restoration, new joy, and (note it well) renewed usefulness (v. 13). God does not cast His people off because of their sin, nor cut off their usefulness when they repent.

Observe, however, that God did not permit David's sin to go unpunished. God is forgiving, but even repentance cannot wipe out the results of sin (II Sam. 12:14). God chastised David to declare before the people all of His divine hatred of sin. To sin against God is no light and casual thing. It cuts deeply into life, and only the grace of God is sufficient to bring a man up out of that pit. But there is

III. Forgiveness (Ps. 32:5).
How tender and sweet is that word—forgiveness. It speaks of the removal of guilt, the breaking down of the barrier which sin has created, and the restoration of fellowship. Where all had been wrong and troubled, all has become right and at peace.

These things are true even in the forgiveness of one man toward another who has offended, but infinitely greater when the heart of God meets the repentant sinner. He is so ready to meet such a man that even while he is thinking of confessing, God sees the attitude of his heart and forgives. "At this moment, without sight or sound that mortal ear can detect, or attitude that the eye of man can observe, even before the thing is said, when I make up my mind to confess, 'thou forgavest the iniquity of my sin!' Do you wonder that when this man was going to write a psalm about this matter, he had to begin, 'O the blessings of transgression forgiven, and sin covered?'" (G. Campbell Morgan).

Fidelity
It is only by fidelity in little things that a true and constant love to God can be distinguished from a passing fervor of spirit.

CHAPTER XVII—Continued

Inside the Senator's house, telephones rang, glasses clicked, and in the library, the radio blared returns.

"Lehman and Dewey running neck and neck!" "Willis has a slight edge in Indiana." "Gillette of Iowa is trailing." "Wagner forges ahead." "Barbour is out in front." "It's a landslide in Maryland." "The Solid South—still solid." "Murphy lags in Michigan." "Slophshire far in the lead." "McCarran holding his own in Nevada."

"You're wanted on the 'phone," said Hilda to Limpy, in a diplomatic whisper. "They've been trying to get you thirty minutes but couldn't worm through them congrats."

Limpy ran up to the telephone once more.

"Limpy!" It was Adele's voice. "Darling—Limpy—Len feels terribly, darling. I haven't cheered him up as much as I expected. The Governor is furious at him—though very polite in public. And he's out of a job, as I expected. And after all, I'm entitled to part of the insurance, don't you think so? And I think it's really my duty to use it, my share of it, I mean, to keep the wolf of Len till he gets a job. . . . Are you listening, Limpy?"

"Am I listening? . . . Are you nuts? . . . You sound nuts! . . . Listen, Adele, this racket's too tough for us. We haven't got the alligator hides to take it. Now you take an aspirin and call the doctor and—"

"We've already called a clerk to rig up a marriage license, and we've arranged for Brother Wilkie to perform the ceremony and we think we'd better just get married, darling, and settle down," finished Adele.

Limpy swallowed hard. This was worse than she had expected. "It sounds like something Len Hardesty would cock up, the worm!" she said, with tears in her eyes. "Where do you plan to do this—dastardly deed?"

"Here, Limpy, At the Governor's mansion. There's not much going on here."

"Adele, now you listen to me for a change. I'm coming to the wedding . . . Oh, yes, I am . . . I've got some family rights, haven't I? I've been cheated here—and cheated there—but this time I'm coming. I want to be the bridesmaid."

"Limpy, please think of Auntie's nerves!"

"Think of fiddlesticks!" quoted Limpy fiercely. "If you do anything before I get there, I'll file papers of annulment. I'll get Aunt Olympia to sue somebody. Good-by."

Limpy raced downstairs. The first thing she caught was Cecil's eye. She gave him an inviting lift of her small head.

"Cece," she whispered. "I've got to disappear for a few minutes. . . . Well I'll disappear with you." "No, you can't. If we both disappear, Aunt Olympia'll get out a search warrant. I'm in a—very tight place. I—I've got nobody but you, Cece, to depend on. . . . Aw, Cece?" "What do you want me to do?" he demanded.

"I want you to keep yourself right in front of Aunt Olympia till I get back, so she can see you every minute and know you're not off some place looking at me. I feel terrible—left alone—and lonesome, Cece. I don't know what I'd do if I hadn't you to depend on."

"Okay," he said. "Don't be gone long or I'll get out a search warrant myself. Can I get you started or anything?"

"How good are you to me, Cece," she said gratefully. "No. Just get in front of Aunt Olympia."

Suddenly remembering that although the day had been mild, it was a fall night and the papers had predicted a cold snap with hurries of snow, she caught the first wrap she could lay hand on. It was a very nice squirrel jacket. It belonged to Mrs. Mabel Shane-Tompkins, Chairman of the Ladies' Division of the State Committee.

As she was struggling to get her arms into it, she was disconcerted to find Hilda helping her.

"Oh . . . It's you," she said. "Then, 'If Aunt Olympia asks about me, you can just say I've gone to—snatch a little rest—and I'll be back pretty soon; and I'm quite all right now and I've taken an aspirin and tomorrow will be plenty of time to call the doctor.'"

Hilda gave her a very ugly look. "It doesn't seem as if to me you're exactly dressed for no rest," she said. "I do my best resting in furs," said Limpy, firmly. "It's a habit. Tell her I'll be back—I mean down—very soon."

They're—both gone . . . You're all I have left."

Hilda squared her very square shoulders. "I'll stand guard on your door over my dead body," she said. "You got a car?"

"No. I'll find a taxi running around somewhere."

"You better get out through my kitchen. They got a hired doorman in front."

Hilda went with her. Rushed as she was, and for all her fury of indignation, Hilda realized that Limpy was the big job around that house. She called a policeman and had him pick up a car, and waited with Limpy till it came. Hilda gave the driver his orders.

"You take her wherever she's going and wait for her and bring her back. I got your number and I got influence with the Senator and you take her and bring her back with no back-talk from anybody or I speak to the Senator about it."

Hilda was no coward. She went straight to Aunt Olympia.

"I just put Miss Limpy where she seems as if to me maybe she can get a little rest for a while and God knows she needs it and I'll have her on hand for when they get through giving all them dumb states nobody ever heard of and we cut the Victory Cake and here's another plate of sandwiches."

"That was very nice of you, Hilda," said Olympia gratefully. "Very nice. Did you give her an aspirin?" "I gave her everything she needed," said Hilda with surprising diplomacy. "And nobody's to bother her in no way till I say so or I speak to the Senator."

"That's fine! You keep watch over Limpy and I'll keep an eye on Cece—and the other guests," she added quickly.

"Slophshire wins in a walk!" announced the radio. "Murphy lost in the shuffle." "Van Nuys and Willis neck and neck." "Gillette, after trailing a while, pulls slowly ahead." "Case, of South Dakota, wins by the largest majority ever given a candidate in that state." "Lehman increases his lead." "It's all over with Wilkie; he can never overtake the Senator."

CHAPTER XVIII

When it was evident that the Senator had indisputably won, when Brother Wilkie had conceded his defeat, they had a fresh bowl of punch and cut the Victory Cake. Aunt Olympia wouldn't allow the girls to be disturbed. It was Cecil Dodd who first suggested it, and that alone was enough to stiffen her determination.

"Hilda put them to bed and they're staying in bed," she said decisively. "We'll save them a piece of cake. Tomorrow, I'll buy them a whole cake if they want it. They're not to be disturbed any more tonight."

Presently the guests began drifting away. They had worked hard during the campaign. They were worn to the ragged edge. Now, well dined, well wined, they were ready for bed. Mrs. Mabel Shane-Tompkins was a good deal disconcerted not to lay immediate hand on her squirrel jacket, and muttered a few disagreeable remarks about what you could expect among politicians, drunk with the spoils of victory. But Hilda was sardonically diplomatic about it.

"I'll give you a receipt for the coat and see you get it and here I got Mis' Slophshire's mink coat for you which cost the Senator plenty dough and as good as new. I been sort of removing things around and putting 'em away in safety including Miss Limpy and I probably put your squirrel away in safety but I got no time right now to get into the—storage for it. I'll see you get it tomorrow and you needn't give me a receipt for Mis' Slophshire's mink 'cause I know you got it so you take the mink and if you don't get your squirrel tomorrow you can keep the mink and Mis' Slophshire can fight it out with the Senator."

Not more than a dozen remained, clustered in the library, avidly drinking in the late returns, when Hilda, who had been a good deal upset over the whole matter in her cold, Scandinavian way, saw a cab turn into the drive and pull up to the western veranda. She had the door open for Limpy.

"You forgot your aspirin and Mis' Slophshire's a good deal upset about it and kindly give me that squirrel 'cause Mis' Slophshire's going to be as mad as a wet hen if she doesn't get back her mink that cost the Senator two thousand dollars and wasn't worth it in my opinion," was her surly greeting. "And they're all in the Library now and asleep on their feet and me the same."

Limpy gave her the coat. "Oh, Hilda," she said. "If I feel very lonesome tonight—and can't sleep—may I come and get in bed with you? I feel—very lonesome."

"I'll change the sheets," said Hilda. "I'll bring you a turkey sandwich."

Limpy opened the door of the library. She looked very small and pale.

"Oh, Aunt Olympia, I've got bad news for you," she said timidly. "Bad news! There is no bad news! Why, he won in a walk!"

"Oh, how terrible!" said Limpy. "Are you sure? . . . Then probably he'll never get a job and it will take all the insurance money to support them and I'm no better than a pauper."

Uncle Lancy straightened his glasses for a better look at her. Cecil Dodd turned off the radio. Every eye was on Limpy.

"My dear," said the Senator reproachfully, "she's feverish! Haven't you been keeping an eye on her?"

Hilda came to the door. "Well, here's two sandwiches and a glass of cider and you're wanted on the 'phone and it's Iowa again."

Limpy didn't bother to go upstairs. She leaped lithely to the 'phone on the Senator's big table.

"Darling!" she said. And after a long pause: "Darling! . . . Oh, darling! . . . Good-by."

"Three dollars for three darlings," said Aunt Olympia.

"And cheap at the price," said Cecil Dodd.

Hilda had waited dourly with the sandwiches and cider.

"You'd better eat a bite," she said. "You look pretty washed out to me."

Limpy took the plate, with a melting smile into Hilda's resentful blue eyes. "Oh, thank you! How good you are to me! Oh, Auntie, I forgot to tell you the bad news!"

"There isn't any bad news," said Aunt Olympia. "Brother Wilkie's already conceded." And then, in a panicky voice she added, "Unless you've got a chill! Hilda, where's that aspirin?"

"I haven't. But Auntie—you—you remember Helen, don't you?" Aunt Olympia's lips parted but she had nothing to say. Uncle Lancy coughed deprecatingly. "Well, she voted all right. And her vote counted, too. Her congressman won. But that isn't the worst of it. You know Helen! She wasn't satisfied with just voting for a candidate, so she went right ahead and—married him. She wore her wind-up costume to do it in. A swell chap, Uncle Lancy, though Republican. The Republicans are quite good class, in Iowa."

"She married a—congressman-elect!" ejaculated Aunt Olympia. "What's she going to do about that grocery store?"

"Oh, that's so, too! Well, you know Iowa, Auntie—Such a state! The grocery store turns out to be the congressman-elect and now he's my brother-in-law."

Aunt Olympia was surprised but she rallied. After all, she had known from the beginning that Helen was lost to her.

"Well," she said cheerfully, "that backs up my grocery bill no end. 'Oh, I'll charge from this on.'"

"Oh, but darling, that isn't all!" said Limpy warningly. "What a day it has been!"

"You mean there's more? Don't tell me she's suing for a divorce already!"

"No. It's . . . Adele."

The sudden silence rather frightened Limpy. Uncle Lancy took off and put on his glasses several times. Aunt Olympia sat motionless.

"You see, Auntie, darling Auntie—Adele—she's so tender-hearted! She felt so sorry for Len, the poor dumb cluck; with the Governor mad at him, and no job, and Adele not speaking to him for six weeks. So she went over for a minute—"

"She went over where?"

"Oh, just over to the Governor's mansion! To see Len a minute and cheer him up. And so they decided they'd better get married and I went over and Brother Wilkie married them. I was sad about it, of course, but it was rather amusing. It wasn't at all political, Uncle Lancy. Brother Wilkie performed the ceremony and they used the defunct victory cake for a wedding cake. And the brats and I were the bridesmaids but the beldame got mixed up and thought it was another speech and right in the middle of the ceremony she banged with her trumpet and shouted, 'Tell em, Nevvy!' But you certainly can't blame Adele, for what could she do about it? She's always been tender-hearted! . . . Aw, Uncle Lancy!"

The Senator wiped his glasses. "He's a nice boy," he said. "I always liked Len."

Aunt Olympia rallied to this more slowly. "You mean—she's already married him?" she asked in a strangled voice.

"Yes. And perfectly legal too. And quite impressive—except for the beldame and the brats. It was almost elegant. She had lovely flowers—but no ring; they hadn't time for that; and probably no money for it, either. They're going to live on our insurance until he lands a job."

"Well, there's one thing, Del," said Olympia, "if you run for the presidency, you've got a publicity man. I'm not afraid of Len Hardesty. It just takes a firm hand to hold him down and I've got a firm hand. Sit down, Limpy. Hilda, bring her an aspirin. I mean a sandwich."

"Oh, but Auntie—darling!" wailed Limpy. "You haven't heard the bad news yet!"

"The—bad—news? There can't be more! There couldn't be more, Del!" she said, in a voice suddenly accusing.

"About me," said Limpy humbly. Aunt Olympia went weak then. She looked dully in the direction of Cecil Dodd. She couldn't even find voice to express her intention of strangling him.

Limpy broke in quickly, with diplomatic acumen. "Oh, no, darling, not that!" she said. "I mean—you're stuck!"

"Stuck! We're stuck? You mean the election? Have things gone wrong? Turn up that radio!"

"Oh, no, Auntie, not the election. Just me. You're stuck with me from this on," said Limpy pathetically. "Here I am, one poor lone orphan—no home—no Helen—no Adele—no insurance money! Of course, Helen and Brick say I can live with them, and Adele and Len say I must live with them, but I don't approve of outsiders going to live with young married couples, do you, Aunt Olympia? So—you're—just—stuck!"

"What'll you take for your option, Senator?" said Cecil Dodd, briskly.

Aunt Olympia broke into happy tears. She held out her arms to Limpy. "My child!" she said.

Limpy started, but the Senator, being closer, caught her first.

"We won't let you be lonesome, Limpy," he assured her. "You can go around with me as much as you like. I'll go down town first thing tomorrow and buy you something. What do you want, Limpy? I'll buy you anything."

"Del Slophshire!" boomed Aunt Olympia indignantly. "You give me that child! You may be a United States Senator but you needn't go setting yourself up as that child's mother! You hand her right here."

"Anything you want," repeated the Senator, speaking to Limpy, still holding her. "Anything."

"Ask for an assistant publicity man, Limpy, quick!" suggested Cecil Dodd.

"Del, you silly dunce!" cried Aunt Olympia happily. "It's not presents that child wants. It's folks! And you've got them, Limpy! You've got them! . . . Hilda! Where's Hilda? Hilda, bring back that Victory Cake!"

WHEN YOU PLAN A PICNIC FOR A CROWD

Community picnics are fun! They offer an opportunity for a carefree day under the open sky—carefree even for the chairman in charge of affairs, if she's planned her program well and chosen her helpers wisely.

If the crowd to be served is a really large one, it's a good idea to have one committee member responsible for each main dish such as meat, potatoes, salad, dessert, and beverage, and one responsible for extras such as buns, butter, relishes, etc. There'll be a serving committee and a clean-up committee, as well.

Picnics for four or five families are usually co-operative affairs. Each family may supply its own lunch, but more often each one provides one item in large enough quantities to serve the crowd. One family might provide the salad, one the meat, and still another family the dessert, which might be watermelon, a luscious chocolate cake, or a freezer full of old fashioned ice cream. With a little planning, the cost can be fairly equally distributed.

When an outing is in the offing and it's up to you to plan the menu for a crowd, you'll find these picnic pointers helpful.

1. If lunch is being prepared at home, choose foods that permit beforehand preparation, and that are not too difficult to carry or to serve.

2. Provide a fairly simple meal, with plenty of everything but not so much variety that it will cause confusion and lots of extra work.

3. Unless you are sure of a good water supply, it's better to carry the water from home.

4. Carry fruit juices, tomato juice or milk in thermos bottles.

5. The main dish for the picnic—which might be chili, baked beans, or escalloped potatoes, can be cooked the day before, then in the morning brought to the boiling point, and the dutch oven or casserole wrapped in several thicknesses of newspaper to retain the heat.

6. Don't overlook the possibilities in frozen foods for picnic use. Quick-frozen meats can be carried, without ice, even on a warm day. They thaw out on the way to the picnic ground and will be ready to use.

You'll find other picnic pointers in my cook book, "Easy Entertaining." There are menus and tested recipes for beach parties, hikes and a "Colorado beefsteak fry."

When you write to me, won't you tell me something about the "community meals" your group has served? Do you serve dinners for the church, for business men's organizations or for the farm bureau, perhaps?

How many people do you serve at meals like this, and what are your favorite menus? I'll be waiting to hear from you!

Eleanor Howe is going to give you, next week, some of her favorite recipes for cool, refreshing summer beverages, and dainty cookies to serve with them. Watch for this column next week.

HOUSEHOLD QUESTIONS

Delicate colors in washing materials will not fade if before being washed they are soaked in tepid water to which a few drops of turpentine have been added.

Grass stains can easily be removed from linens, cottons or white stockings by rubbing the stains with molasses before washing.

Make cuts in marshmallows, insert bits of butter and jelly. Arrange on crackers and broil or bake until the marshmallows are puffy and brown.

Mustard and baking powder settle in cans and should be stirred lightly before using.

The backs of pictures should be inspected from time to time. If there are any holes in the paper, fresh pieces should be pasted over them, or dust will get in.

When stewing fruit, add the sugar just before taking the fruit off the stove. In this way far less sugar is needed than if it is put in at the beginning.

Clean paint brushes used for enameling with turpentine. When used to shellac, clean with denatured alcohol.

All vegetables should be put on to cook in boiling water. This holds the major portion of the mineral matter and starch within.

REMEMBER how nice you used to look and feel when you tripped off to school in a fresh white blouse with a sailor collar? Well, if you're in the junior size range, you can take upon yourself that same naive, engaging charm, by making this frock with sailor collar and rows and rows of braid. Design No. 8738 has very soft and feminine lines, however sailorified its spirit, because the skirt has smart unpressed front fullness and the blouse is gathered to round out your bustline. It's a good style for checked gingham and sharkskin, too. Send for the pattern right now. Be among the first to wear it!

A BIG HELP TO HEALTH!

Nation needs more vitamins and minerals — says U.S. Department of Agriculture

See how you're helped by delicious oranges!

Hardly one family in two now gets enough vitamins and minerals to permit radiant good health. So enjoy oranges liberally—daily! Eat them for healthful refreshment. Or keep ready a big pitcher of fresh orangeade.

An 8-ounce glass of fresh orange juice gives you all the vitamin C you normally need each day—and one-third of the vitamin B<sub>1</sub>. It also supplies vitamins A and C, and the minerals calcium, phosphorus and iron.

Sunkist brings you the pick of California's finest-ever crop of summer oranges. Buy a supply next time you buy groceries.

For State Senator

28th District

Experienced and Qualified

Keenly interested in the matters pertaining to the welfare of our northern counties, conservation of our natural resources and full share of state aid.

—Political Advertisement.

Banking Functions Change

Between 1929 and 1939, loans of all American banks decreased nearly one-half, from 42 billion dollars to 22 billions, while investments of banks have nearly doubled from 15 billion dollars to 28 billions, government statistics reveal.

Announcement

The 28th Senatorial District has many interests, but chiefly the interests are Agriculture and Tourists and Resort interests, and only recently one of the great farm leaders of Michigan said, "If the farmers of the 28th Senatorial District knew of the valuable services rendered to them by Senator Miles M. Callaghan, he would not lose a farmers vote or the vote of any farm folks for reelection as State Senator."

He has been a great friend of the Future Farmers of America and has been made an honorary member of that organization and his valuable services to the extension work and the 4-H Club are outstanding. He introduced the Bill that took these 4-H boys and girls out of the Fair Ground buildings at Gaylord and comfortably housed them in clean, sanitary buildings where the fathers and mothers of these boys and girls know they are safe.

One of the outstanding advocates of the tourist and resort interests of Northern Michigan said recently, "Senator Callaghan is our outstanding friend. As a member of the Finance and Appropriations Committee, he has been especially helpful and nobody interested in this great industry should forget him on Primary Day, September 10."

Senator Callaghan has a record as a great Conservationist, the protection of our natural resources, establishment and development of our great State Park system and laws for the protection and propagation of our fish, game and wild life have had his special interests. Let us not forget him and the great work he has done for the great North country at the Primary September 10.
