IOSCO 4-H'ERS EXHIBIT AT STATE FAIR

Make Excellent Showing During State-Wide Competition

Nine different Isosco County 4-H club members and two other club groups made exhibits at the Michigan State Fair last week and brought a creditable showing of high quality lambs, hot lunch posters and deer yard study panels into competition with club members from all parts of Michigan.

Three pens of fat lambs were shown in a strongly contested class of more than a dozen entries. Irving Youngberg, of Whittemore, successfully showed his pen of three lambs into fourth position, while Jack Crego, also of Whittemore, and Vera Youngberg, Irving's sister, showed their lambs into sixth and seventh places respectively. In the individual fat lamb class Irving placed his best grade Hampshire wether in fifth position which, according to L. H. Rhodes, was very good considering the finish and quality of the lambs in this class.

All other exhibits were judged upon merit basis with those winning white ribbons being considered as very satisfactory and above average. Red ribbons indicated that the workmanship was a bit more carefully done than those of the white classification, and blue ribbons indicated superior work or the best in the exhibit.

Five Oscoda Deer Yard Study club members made exhibits of their panels which were emblematic of the deer situation in their own locality and showed samples of food that is available for winter sustenance in this section of Michigan. The Oscoda 4-H club was led by R. K. Mead, agricultural instructor at that school. Those winning recognition in the blue class were Alvin Ford and Carl Turn to No. 4 Back Page

LOCALS BOW TO HARRISVILLE IN 8-1 SCORE

Marv Mallon Clouts Homer For Tawas City's Only Run

The weatherman finally held up the rain long enough for the Tawas City baseball team to play one of their postponed games. They journeyed to Harrisville last Sunday and crossed bats with the league leaders, coming out of the conflict on the short end of an eight to one score. Tawas City's lone run was scored in the ninth inning, when with two out, Marv Mallon clouted on of Herbie Holmes' slants over the left field fence for the circuit.

This was the first game the Tawas City team has played since July 28. The long lay-off appeared to have effected the batting of the local team more than the fielding as only two errors were committed, one on a ground ball and the other on a dropped third strike, while but four safe hits were made off the delivery of Herbie Holmes.

Tawas City used three hurlers in an attempt to check the Harrisville scoring. Bob Rollin started on the mound for the locals and hurled one and two-thirds innings. He allowed four hits and walked three, five runs were scored during his stay on the mound. Gordon Myles took over the pitching rubber in the second with two out. He forced Green to ground to Katterman for the final out of the inning. He pitched the third and gave up but one hit, but his wildness caused him to walk three and two runs were scored before the inning was over. W. Mallon went to the box in the fourth and finished the game, giving up three hits, and walking three, one run was scored off him in five innings.

Harrisville also won from Alabaster last Sunday by the score of 9 to 2. The Oscoda-Harrisville game of Sunday, September 1, which was won by Oscoda, was protested by Harrisville on the grounds that Oscoda used ineligible players and the game was forfeited to Harrisville 9 to 0 which gives Harrisville a league standing of 11 games won and one loss.

Next Sunday, September 15, Tawas City and East Tawas will make another attempt to play their double header. The first game is scheduled to start at 1:00 p. m. Let's plan to attend and witness these games between these old rivals. Two good games are assured. The contests will take place at the East Tawas athletic field.

LOCALS BOW TO HARRISVILLE IN 8-1 SCORE

The weatherman finally held up the rain long enough for the Tawas City baseball team to play one of their postponed games. They journeyed to Harrisville last Sunday and crossed bats with the league leaders, coming out of the conflict on the short end of an eight to one score. Tawas City's lone run was scored in the ninth inning, when with two out, Marv Mallon clouted on of Herbie Holmes' slants over the left field fence for the circuit.

This was the first game the Tawas City team has played since July 28. The long lay-off appeared to have effected the batting of the local team more than the fielding as only two errors were committed, one on a ground ball and the other on a dropped third strike, while but four safe hits were made off the delivery of Herbie Holmes.

Tawas City used three hurlers in an attempt to check the Harrisville scoring. Bob Rollin started on the mound for the locals and hurled one and two-thirds innings. He allowed four hits and walked three, five runs were scored during his stay on the mound. Gordon Myles took over the pitching rubber in the second with two out. He forced Green to ground to Katterman for the final out of the inning. He pitched the third and gave up but one hit, but his wildness caused him to walk three and two runs were scored before the inning was over. W. Mallon went to the box in the fourth and finished the game, giving up three hits, and walking three, one run was scored off him in five innings.

Harrisville also won from Alabaster last Sunday by the score of 9 to 2. The Oscoda-Harrisville game of Sunday, September 1, which was won by Oscoda, was protested by Harrisville on the grounds that Oscoda used ineligible players and the game was forfeited to Harrisville 9 to 0 which gives Harrisville a league standing of 11 games won and one loss.

Next Sunday, September 15, Tawas City and East Tawas will make another attempt to play their double header. The first game is scheduled to start at 1:00 p. m. Let's plan to attend and witness these games between these old rivals. Two good games are assured. The contests will take place at the East Tawas athletic field.

King Carol II of Rumania Abdicates As Fascist Iron Guard Effects Coup; House Votes 60-Day Volunteer Plan Before Launching of Peacetime Draft

BALKANS:

Coup

Shots fired at the palace of King Carol of Rumania followed anxious days in the Balkans, during which Rumania accepted a Berlin-Rome dictated agreement transferring part of Transylvania to Hungary. Included in the agreement was a guarantee to Rumania by Germany that its shrunken borders would be guaranteed against further demands by anyone. With a "Who, me?" expression, Soviet Russia looked over the fence from Bessarabia and Northern Bukovina, which it earlier had seized from Rumania.

Even this did not satisfy the king's enemies. Two days later King Carol II announced the appointment of Gen. Ion Antonescu as the new military dictator of the country. Carol retained only a few unimportant governmental tasks.

But still crowds of angry rioters shouted in the public square around the Rumanian palace and the political "outs" clamored for more changes. Finally it was announced that King Carol had abdicated. Stepping down from the throne he was succeeded by his son Michael, 18 years of age, who once before ruled his nation as "the boy king" when his father renounced the right to the throne in 1925.

The coup against Carol was by Fascists who sought to take over Rumania at once and liquidate the entire situation.

M-DAY:

Men

Effects of the war will be brought to hundreds of thousands of American homes this month. For the first time in U. S. peace time history young men will be called from their jobs and schools to serve at least one year in the nation's military forces.

First is the National Guard, 60,500 officers and men from 26 states being the initial cadre going on active service beginning September 16. Later more will be called until 250,000 are in the field.

Meanwhile 11,000,000 will have registered under the conscription measure. Once set up, the draft machinery will turn fast. First call will be for a gradual enlistment of 400,000. An additional 500,000 will follow before spring.

A few days after the senate had approved the Burke-Wadsworth bill which would call up these first U. S. peacetime conscripts, the house of representatives tacked an amend-

If the same sites are selected, new barracks will be built at Camp Devens at Ayer, Mass.; Camp Upton, Yaphank, L. I.; Camp Dix, Wrightson, N. In some lines of equipment, where sufficient material cannot be constructed by existing industry, the government will build its own factories or lend money to private firms to expand.

With an eye to safety, however, none of these new facilities will be erected within 250 miles of an ocean or foreign border. This may develop a shift in the nation's industrial life.

Wendell L. Willkie, G. O. P. presidential nominee, denounced the Russell amendment less than 24 hours after its enactment. He said it was a move to "socialize and sovietize" industry. "If our enterprises and assets are to be taken over by the government," he asked, "what are we to defend?"

He also called upon the President to name a co-ordinator of national defense with full executive power to handle the nation's $11,000,000 arms program. Such a move, he said, was advocated in the 1939 report of the national resources board.

Answer came quickly in the senate, where it was pointed out that 10 Republicans were among the 69 senators who favored "industrial draft." Senator Russell said Willkie was willing to conscript lives and careers of young men but not wealth.

The bureau of agricultural economics said indications are that about the same wheat acreage will be planted for 1941 harvest as was seeded for the 1940 harvest. There were 62,000,000 acres allotted for seeding for the 1941 crop under the Agricultural Adjustment act, the same as for the 1940 crop.

The bureau estimated that 1941 production will total about 750,000,000 bushels and leave about 50,000,000 bushels for export or addition to carry over. The total carryover would accordingly be about 300,000,000 bushels at the close of the 1941-42 season.

World acreage, exclusive of Soviet Russia and China, the bureau said, is expected to remain approximately the 275,000,000 acres harvested in 1939. The bureau said that world wheat supplies, exclusive of Soviet Russia and China, for the year beginning July 1, 1940, may be about 100,000,000 to 150,000,000 bushels smaller than a year ago when they totaled 5,445,000,000 bushels, the largest stock on record.

STAGE SCREEN RADIO

By VIRGINIA VALE
(Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

IF YOU plan to be driving in Tucson, Ariz., early in October make sure in advance whether you'll be allowed to or not. For there'll be three days when it will be the only city in the United States without an automobile, truck, motorcycle or even a gasoline scooter on its streets.

And it's all because of the movies. "Arizona" will have what's known in the trade as its world premier in Tucson, and the city is planning quite a celebration—a governor's state ball, a three-day 1860 fiesta in the adobe city of Tucson, built for the picture, a rodeo with national roping and riding stars, and Indian pow-wows. Jean Arthur, William Holden, Warren William and all other members of the cast will be specially honored.

Some of the best stories about a movie are not heard until it is finished and the principals have gone on to other pictures. Here's one. Arriving at the set for "He Stood for Breakfast," Columbia's new comedy starring Loretta Young and Melvyn Douglas, visitors found the set barred to outsiders. They were told that the players were working in an extremely small space where it would be impossible to watch. The real reason, disclosed later, was that Douglas was working in a woman's dressing gown. "I'll look silly enough on the screen," he explained, "when asking that the set be closed."

When you see Hedy Lamarr and Clark Gable in "Comrade X" don't be puzzled if the story seems familiar. It's "Clear All Wires," which Spencer Tracy made seven years ago. The story of an American newspaper man's adventures in Russia, it's been rewritten to include incidents in the recent Soviet military ventures. Gable draws it as an assignment instead of "Osborne of Sing Sing," which he didn't like anyway.

June McCloy may win a bet with her husband if you like her well enough in "Glamour for Sale," in which she has the second feminine lead. Nine years ago she left Hollywood to make a name for herself as a night club singer, and succeeded. In 1936 she married and retired. Now she wants to return to the screen; she's bet her husband that she can make good within six months; if she can't, she'll go back to being just a wife. So she's working now in the picture starring Anita Louise and Roger Pryor. She has a chance at her specialty—she sings a torch song. But so does Anita Louise.

Denis Day became singing star of the Jack Benny show because an inflamed appendix kept him out of law school. An honor graduate of Manhattan college in New York, Eugene Denis McNulty won a scholarship that entitled him to try city government work for several months. He chose radio, and was doing production work at the city's broadcasting station, pending his entry to law school, when the appendix interfered just as his law classes were about to begin.

When he got out of the hospital it was to enter law school that year. He turned again to radio, got onto a sustaining program, and made a recording which Jack Benny's agent heard.

He was summoned to Hollywood; Benny was looking for a tenor to replace Kenny Baker, you'll remember, and they were auditioning literally by the hundreds. At the last minute young McNulty got the job, became Denis Day, and began carving out a nice career for himself.

'Fading' Water Supply. QUESTION: Please explain the remedy for hot water "fading." It had something to do with the adjusting of the valves. You may be interested to know that we have been able to overcome this somewhat by changing the type of washer in the hot water shower faucet.

ANSWER: See that all of the shut-off valves in the line, between the storage tank and the fixtures, are opened wide. Clogging at the horizontal pipe joints as well as rust in the pipes may also cause this trouble. Some types of fiber washers have a tendency to soften and expand in hot water. This expansion of the washer naturally cuts down the flow of water. Try replacing the washers in the other faucets.

Finish for Stucco.

A correspondent sends me a circular descriptive of a water-proofing finish for stucco, and asks whether it would be satisfactory over magnesite stucco, 11 years old. "There are a few small cracks in the stucco, but otherwise it seems in good condition."

ANSWER: Magnesite stucco has a corrosive effect that destroys metal lath in some 10 to 15 years. No surface treatment will give protection. This type of stucco came into use some years ago, but has since been abandoned because of this difficulty. The only real remedy is to take off the old stucco and what is left of the lath, and to replace with new.

Knotty Pine Finish.

QUESTION: A new room is lined with knotty pine. How shall I proceed to give same a light maple stain?

ANSWER: Your local paint dealer will have a color card from which you can select the desired color of stain. The stain is brushed on freely, and time is allowed for its penetration; about two minutes for pine. Wipe the surface clean with cheesecloth. If the color is not dark enough apply a second coat. Over this apply a coat of shellac thinned half-and-half with denatured alcohol. Finish by waxing or varnishing. Before applying the stain try it out on some left-over pieces of pine.

Aluminum Paint.

QUESTION: Please give me information on heat-proof aluminum paint for a steel furnace and air-conditioning plant.

ANSWER: All makers of aluminum paint have varieties intended for high temperatures, which can be had at paint stores. The liquid part is a high quality varnish. When heated, the varnish disappears and the aluminum flakes seem to weld themselves to the metal. In application, the metal must be thoroughly clean and free from paint. It should be gone over with steel wool.

Painting a House.

QUESTION: I am thinking of repainting my house, myself. Would you advise a coat of top quality house paint, or a mixture of paint and varnish? I have been told such a finish would stay clean longer and last longer.

ANSWER: In repainting a house use a top quality house paint throughout. Thin down the first coat according to the manufacturer's directions. A good quality house paint needs no varnish for reinforcing.

Old Brick.

QUESTION: In replacing two chimneys 35 years old, should we use new bricks, or can the old ones be used again? The difference in cost will be about $12 to $15. Will new brick be worth it?

ANSWER: If the old bricks are not crumbling, and are in good condition, there is no reason why they should not be used again. You will probably need some new brick to replace those that are chipped or broken.

Waterproofing a Wall.

QUESTION: I am told that the only way to waterproof the outside of a cellar wall is to apply hot tar, then a layer of tar paper, and another coat of tar. Will liquid asphalt do the job just as well?

ANSWER: Liquid asphalt can be used in that way, with roofing felt instead of tar paper. Another material that is coming into wide use is very thin copper sheet backed by felt. A third method is a heavy coat of dense concrete combined with a waterproofer.

Faded Awnings.

QUESTION: My awnings are three years old and in good condition, but badly faded. Is there some kind of paint that can be used to improve the appearance?

ANSWER: They can be painted with a good brand of house paint thinned with one-fourth as much turpentine. Apply the paint in a thin coat and brush into the fibers; a thick coat will cause sticking. Paint should be thoroughly dry before folding the awning.

Here is a scene typical of armories throughout the nation as the national guard prepares for mobilization. ## Hemorrhoids Are Curable By Injection

By DR. JAMES W. BARTON
(Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

WHILE examining recruits for overseas service, cases of severe varicose veins in the legs were rejected. Some were so anxious to go overseas that they underwent operation and were later accepted. Cases of varicose veins in lower end of large intestine — hemorrhoids or piles — were likewise rejected unless they underwent operation.

TODAY'S HEALTH COLUMN

Today in the great majority of cases operation is unnecessary as the injection of these varicose veins in the leg or bowel usually brings about a cure in a few weeks. The injection method, while known at the time, had been discredited to a considerable extent because of the failure of the sclerosing or hardening materials to work properly.

Hemorrhoids or piles are particularly distressing due to their pain, bleeding, and itching, yet many suffer for years with them rather than undergo the expense, danger and loss of time made necessary by operation. However, operation is not necessary now in a large number of cases due to the skill of the surgeon and the effectiveness of the sclerosing or hardening solution which "dries up" the hemorrhoid.

Dr. Lynn Grouse of St. Louis, in the Journal of the Missouri State Medical Association, says:

"There are three methods of procedure used in treating hemorrhoids; first, surgery, which is invaluable in certain types of cases; second, injection, which has merited use in a large group of cases, and, third, palliation—giving relief with ointments and suppositories.

Tests Show Up Favorably.

From a group of 100 cases, 75 were selected for the injection treatment, ranging in ages from 16 to 86 years. The interval between treatments was from 5 to 10 days. Pain, bleeding and the protrusion improved following the first and second injections. All cases showed the general effect upon the individuals, such as nervousness, lack of endurance, and emotional disturbances. The hemorrhoids returned in less than 10 per cent of the cases, which is not as large a percentage as by operation.

Strengthen Lungs Through Exercise

DURING the war I watched two squads being put through their physical training. Both squads were following the same schedule. Toward the end of the exercise period what is called the breathing exercises were given. One instructor had his squad raise their arms well up over their heads as they drew in a deep breath and let the air out of their lungs again as the arms came down to the sides. The other instructor pointed to a tent about 100 yards distant and instructed his squad to "double march" (slow run) to this tent, go around by the right and return.

Now which was the best exercise for the purpose of strengthening the lungs?

Exercise Makes Lungs 'Need' Blood.

The simple, deep breathing by sending the diaphragm (floor of chest) down against the liver squeezed the liver and helped to increase the bile flow. This is of help, of course, as bile is nature's purgative. However, the simple breathing in and out, even if the men breathed in and out as hard as they could, did not really call for much work from the lungs or heart because such a small amount of work or exercise was done. The running of two or more hundred yards, which meant raising the 150 or more pounds of the ground and driving it forward 120 times a minute meant that the huge muscles of the legs raised many tons of weight, which meant extra blood driven by the heart, and extra blood had to be made fresh by the lungs.

The thought then is that if you are well enough to take exercise, doing some work—walking, running, playing games—makes the muscles "need" more pure blood and so develops the lungs.

'TEA IS SERVED AT FOUR O'CLOCK'
(Recipes Below)

Household News
By Eleanor Howe

Is the tea party the thing of the past? I sincerely hope not because there is nothing quite so comfy and relaxing as a good cup of tea. And you can make it even more delightful by sharing it with a few of your friends.

The tea hour may be the time to become utterly feminine, with lazy discussions on the fashions of the day, the latest movie, and even tales of cute sayings of Johnnie and Mary Jane. Or it may be enlarged with masculinity, with the trend of the conversation leaning more toward current events, politics, books and even the arts.

A tea party is one of the simplest methods of entertaining, because even though your resources may be limited, you can ask a few friends to drop in for tea.

I have a friend who quite often gives teas on Sunday afternoons. They are highly successful, not because of her lovely silverware or china, (because here I must confess that most of her china does not even match); they are successful rather, because her friends gather for the pleasure of chatting with one another. Conversation flies fast and furiously—but the group is held together by one common bond, the tea cup.

The most meager necessities would include a tea tray, on which the tea set and napkins are placed, a glistening china, and well-polished silver.

If the party is small you may, as hostess, pour the tea, asking the guests to help themselves to cream or lemon and sugar. If it is a larger party and it is necessary for you to constantly greet your guests as they arrive, ask one of your friends to preside at the tea table for you.

The tea that is served must be good. It not only must be fresh, but must be hot to be palatable and soothing. If the weather is warm you may like to serve both hot and iced tea. Serve the iced tea in tall glasses which have been chilled prior to serving. Sliced lemon and powdered sugar are necessary accessories for iced tea. Place the ice cubes in an attractive ice bucket with the ice tongs near by. As an added bit of color and flavor, garnish the completed beverage with sprigs of fresh, cool mint.

Dainty sandwiches, hot buttered toast, thin slivers of cinnamon toast and small English muffins are appropriate to serve with tea. Popular accompaniments to tea are sandwiches made from nut bread, sliced very thin, and buttered.

You may like to use some of the suggested accompaniments for your next tea party, to give you that much sought-after distinction as a discriminating hostess.

Hot Tea.

Rinse teapot with boiling water. Allow 1 teaspoon of tea for each cup and "one for the pot." Place tea in teapot, and pour freshly boiling water over tea leaves. Cover and allow tea to steep 3 to 5 minutes, as desired. Remove ball or bag containing the leaves, and serve at once.

Chicken Sandwiches With Cranberry Sauce.

Right here and now we put in our plea for revolt against chicken sandwiches that are bone dry! Have you tried putting a thin slice of canned cranberry sauce in with the chicken? We eat cranberry sauce with chicken when it's served on a plate. Why not in a sandwich? Try a slice of canned cranberry sauce in your chicken sandwiches the very next time you make them and see if you don't agree there's a vast improvement.

Cream Cheese Sandwiches.

1 green pepper (chopped fine)
3 ounces cream cheese
½ cup walnut meats (cut fine)
½ teaspoon lemon juice
Dash of Worcestershire sauce
Salt and pepper
Remove seeds from green pepper and chop fine. Add cheese, walnut meats and lemon juice. Cream well together. Add a dash of Worcestershire sauce and salt and pepper to taste. Spread between slices of thinly sliced white bread.

Maids of Honor.

(Serves 12)

- 1 recipe of plain pastry
- ½ cup sugar
- ¾ cup almonds (ground)
- 2 egg yolks
- 2 tablespoons heavy cream
- 1 tablespoon flour
- ½ teaspoon almond extract

Line 12 very small tea cake tins or muffin tins with the pastry. Combine remaining ingredients in order given and fill pastry shells with this mixture. Bake in a hot oven (425 degrees) for 10 minutes, then reduce temperature to 350 degrees and bake for 20 minutes longer. Cool, and remove from the pans.

Butterfly Tea Cakes.

(Makes 8-10 tea cakes)

- 1 cup cake flour
- 1 cup sugar
- 1 teaspoon baking powder
- ¾ teaspoon salt
- 1 egg
- ¾ cup coffee cream
- 1 teaspoon vanilla extract
- ½ pint whipping cream

Mix and sift all dry ingredients. Place unbeaten egg and coffee cream in a bowl and beat thoroughly. Add vanilla extract and pour liquid ingredients into the dry ingredients and beat until smooth. Bake in well-greased cupcake or muffin tins in a moderately hot oven (375 degrees) for 30-35 minutes. Cool. Then cut tops from cakes, and cut each top in half. Scoop a spoonful of cake from each one. Whip the cream and fill cavity with whipped cream. Arrange tops to form butterfly and serve at once.

Date Nut Squares.

(Makes 3 dozen 1½-inch squares)

- 3 eggs
- 3 tablespoons water
- 1 cup sugar
- 1 cup flour
- 1 teaspoon baking powder
- ½ teaspoon salt
- 1 cup walnut meats (cut fine)
- 2 cups dates (cut fine)

Beat the eggs. Add water and gradually beat in the sugar. Sift together the flour, baking powder and salt and blend with the first mixture. Fold in the nuts and dates. Spread in a shallow greased pan (about 10 by 12 inches). Bake in a moderately hot oven (375 degrees) for about 20 minutes. Cool, cut in squares and roll in confectioner's sugar.

Danish Vanilla Fingers.

(Makes about 5 dozen)

- ¾ cup shortening
- ½ cup sugar
- 1 egg
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- 2 cups flour
- ½ teaspoon salt
- ¼ pound almonds (1 cup blanched and ground fine)

Cream shortening and add sugar gradually. Beat in the egg and vanilla. Blend well. Sift flour and salt together, and add to the first mixture. Stir in the ground almonds. Turn dough onto a lightly floured board and knead until the mixture is smooth and no longer clings to the hands. Cut off small pieces of dough and shape in rolls about 2¼ inches long and a scant half inch thick. Place on greased cookie sheet and bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees) for about 15 minutes.

Easy Entertaining.

Doesn't ham loaf with hot cheese biscuits sound inviting to you? It is so simple you can plan and serve the meal yourself, giving mother a day off to visit her friends or to do that much-needed shopping that she hasn't had time to do before. The menu and recipes for this deliciously simple and simply delicious lunch are given in Eleanor Howe's book, "Easy Entertaining," which you may obtain by sending 10 cents, in coin, to Eleanor Howe, 919 North Michigan avenue, Chicago, Illinois. ONE mischievous Scotty is certainly enough—but two, well, that's just twice as much fun. Delightful new tea towel motifs are formed, however, as these Scotties disastrously inquire into every phase of household work. Perky cross stitch bows and the cross stitched day names done in gay colors will add a cheerful note to these kitchen towels.

Pattern Z9193, 15c, brings you seven Scotty designs for tea towels and the extra matching panholder motif. Send order to:

Our Deepest Chasm

The deepest chasm in the United States and in continental North America is Hells canyon on the Snake river, directly along the border between Oregon and Idaho. This abyss, formed by the Wallowa mountains of Oregon and the Seven Devils range in Idaho, is about 75 miles long. For over 40 miles it averages 5,510 feet in depth.

At one point it is 7,900 feet deep, almost a mile and a half from rim to river, which exceeds by some 1,800 feet the 6,100-foot maximum for Grand canyon in Arizona.—Pathfinder.

When your child BITES HIS NAILS

It may be a Danger Sign!

It isn't always "nerves" that makes a child bite his nails. Often it's because of a reason few mothers suspect—WORMS!

If, along with nail-biting, there are signs of uneasy stomach, finicky appetite, itching, restless sleep, take heed! These may be the symptoms of round worms; a nasty infection that can cause real distress. JAYNE'S VERMIFUGE is the best known remedy in America for expelling round worms. It has been used by millions of mothers, for over a century, and is backed by the most modern scientific study. JAYNE'S VERMIFUGE has great ability to drive out large round worms, yet it tastes good and acts gently. JAYNE'S does not contain saltpeter. If there are no worms it works merely as a mild laxative. Ask for JAYNE'S VER-MI-FUGE at any drug store.

We Can All Be
EXPERT BUYERS

● In bringing us buying information, as to prices that are being asked for what we intend to buy, and as to the quality we can expect, the advertising columns of this newspaper perform a worth while service which saves us many dollars a year.

● It is a good habit to form, the habit of consulting the advertisements every time we make a purchase, though we have already decided just what we want and where we are going to buy it. It gives us the most priceless feeling in the world: the feeling of being adequately prepared.

● When we go into a store, prepared beforehand with knowledge of what is offered and at what price, we go as an expert buyer, filled with self-confidence. It is a pleasant feeling to have, the feeling of adequacy. Most of the unhappiness in the world can be traced to a lack of this feeling. Thus advertising shows another of its manifold facets—shows itself as an aid toward making all our business relationships more secure and pleasant.

HOUSEHOLD QUESTIONS

Light colored painted furniture must be carefully washed to retain its luster. Wash it well first with warm water and mild soap suds to which a few drops of ammonia have been added (one teaspoon of ammonia for each gallon of water). Quickly rinse well with cold water. Wipe dry. Then polish with cloth into which a little furniture polish is rubbed.

The flavor of apple pie is greatly improved by sprinkling a little lemon juice over the layers of sliced apples as they are placed in the pan.

Add chopped parsley, minced sweet pickles or finely cut olives to mayonnaise used in summer salads.

When preparing gelatin desserts, if left-over fruit juice is used instead of water, the desserts will be much richer.

Bake apples with only a small amount of sugar so that the characteristic flavor is not disturbed.

To remove a slight iron scorch mark from white clothes rub the scorched area lightly with peroxide. Then rinse it thoroughly in cold water. Peroxide removes the color from colored clothes, however.

THE STORY THUS FAR

Summoned to the C C ranch in central Nevada, desert-wise Walt Gandy is on his way to help his old range partner, Bill Hollister. Riding through unfamiliar country, Walt is stopped short by a girl—who holds a rifle in firing position. She knows him, tells him that they will meet again. Walt is allowed to ride on. Within a quarter of a mile from his destination, Walt is stopped again. This time by a grotesque, mis-shapen man who tells him the C C crew is in Emigrant, the closest town, for an inquest. Someone has been murdered. Riding to the inquest in Emigrant, Walt leaves his horse at the livery stable. Before attending the inquest he asks a few questions. Cash Cameron, owner of the C C ranch, is in trouble. A red but honest man, Cash has many enemies. Gandy's eye is caught by a roan horse tied near the doorway. It belongs to the girl who stopped him earlier in the day. Chino Drake, former cook at the C C ranch, has been murdered and Sheriff Ed Battle is trying to pin the blame on Cash Cameron. The girl is called to the stand. She is Helen Cameron, Cash's daughter.

Facing the girl from his station farther along the table, Battle said: "This inquest meeting was called for one o'clock today. Seems funny that all the C C people got here on time, and you didn't show up for more than an hour, and then alone. Mind explaining why, and where you were?"

The handkerchief came away from the girl's lips. Distinctly she said, "I was not feeling well. I stayed home until the last minute."

"On the C C ranch?" Battle persisted.

"I was home. I can prove that." She coughed. Her head turned.

With an effort Walt Gandy remained motionless, as for the second time that pulling look of Helen Cameron's dark eyes reached out to him. She was asking him to stand by her! Perhaps he alone knew the truth of where she was today. Was she going to call on him to . . .

His leap was automatic. It had started in the split second that he saw the handkerchief drop from her fingers. Helen was going limp, falling. She caught herself on the table momentarily, and with the release of spring steel that had hurled him forward, Walt Gandy was the first to grab her as she collapsed.

Instantly other arms reached for her. He saw the stern face of Cash Cameron, and behind Cash, Bill Hollister.

It was Hollister who shoved through savagely, brushing aside all others as he swept the small limp body close to him. He looked into Walt Gandy's eyes, flickered recognition, yet gave no sign of that knowledge audibly. . . . and Walt knew then that he and the C C foreman must not be connected here.

He started to back away. One arm still touched the girl, and it was then that he felt her fingers slip swiftly to his hand, grip it, press something wadded into his palm. He closed upon it and continued to back away.

Walt Gandy worked his way from the filled aisle. He stepped across unoccupied benches and had reached the jam at the entrance, when behind him he heard the bull voice of Sheriff Battle:

"Close those doors! Lock 'em!"

Deputies struggled to obey, but the double doors, hinged to swing inward could not be readily closed against the thrust of men. Angry Battle's two guards failed into the pack. In time enough of the curious crowd was beaten backward to allow the doors to be swung and locked.

Walt Gandy had taken a blow on the head, one on the side of his neck, another in the ribs. . . . but when the entrance to Gospel Hall had been blocked at last, he was among the overflow showed outside.

He put his hand into his blue jeans pocket and felt the wadded thing. Without looking, he knew it was Helen Camerons handkerchief, dropped upon the table, recovered. In the wad was a lump; and then Walt Gandy needed to feel no further to know that he was carrying away the inquest's key piece of evidence—a bullet from the body of a murdered man.

With a queer cold sensation the truth came to him short-cutting across all other theories and puzzlements of this day. Bill Hollister! They were in love. And Hollister had murdered a man.

Walt gained the open street and looked around. Men had been shot for knowing less than he knew this minute!

CHAPTER V

WALT moved in a moment, going back along the street until he found the Emigrant post office. He went in and asked for a box.

"Forty cents," said the clerk, and gave him a number and a key.

Leaning upon a desk that sloped from the end partition, left arm holding his weight, he addressed an envelope to himself, then bought stamps and mailed it. When he turned from the mail slot, a man was eyeing him from the post office door.

Apparently the man had stopped short in passing and stood now but half turned, balanced in a pivoting movement on cow-country boots.

The ramrod form and hard black eyes were vaguely familiar. Walt Gandy knew he had looked into that snarl and swarthy face before. It was a kind he ought to remember. "Let's have the makings, brother." The ramrod figure had come beside him.

Their eyes met. "Brush-popper, are you?" the dark one asked.

"So, so," said Gandy. "Down my way we work cattle in cover that rattlesnakes crawl into and get broken backs trying to crawl out of. Yeah, I guess I'm a brush-popper all right." He took a drag on his cigarette.

The other grinned faintly. The unceasing study of his gaze shifted downward.

No gun belt nor holster sagged at Walt Gandy's right thigh, but a worn and faded patch along the seam of his blue jeans was a plain mark to any interested observer. A revolver carried on border duty had rubbed that spot. Some men might guess at another purpose.

Abruptly this one said, "I'd like to talk to you."

"Sure," said Gandy. "Fire away."

"Not here. Over there." The black head nodded across the street.

Walt tossed away his cigarette, saying nothing; they moved together.

"I was home, I can prove that."

er across to the wide maw of the livery barn.

They had reached long covered grain bins beside the runway. He backed against one and propped himself, half sitting.

The ramrod figure faced him, "I've been ordered to hire some help," the man said openly. "That's what I'm in town for. With every-some drifting in to the hearing, it looked like a good chance to take my pick. You want work?"

"Cows?" Gandy asked.

"Moving about two thousand head," said the man.

Walt glanced past him. "Short-time job, huh?"

"Pay'll make up for it."

"I don't know," said Walt slowly, shaking his head. "I don't like this country so much. Was traveling for Utah, maybe to quit this cow business and do me some prospecting. I don't know," he mused. "More money in that."

"See here," said the stranger, short tempered, "you don't need to stall me up for higher pay! It'll be enough."

"Oh, sure," Gandy agreed. "But I don't know your country. Why don't you pick yourself some men that already have the lay of things here?"

"Good men," came the prompt answer, "are hard to find, even these days. You wouldn't think it, but they are."

Lazily Walt Gandy leaned upon the grain bin, indifferent. "How many men you looking for?" His brown eyes poked into various corners about the barn.

"Ten, twelve. We won't be short-handed."

"Huh?" Abruptly Gandy's non-committal gaze returned from an inspection of the stables and narrowed into the black face before him.

"Ten, twelve men to shift a herd of two thousand cows? Where I come from we'd do that with a couple of boys and a dog!"

Hands on the grain bin cover, he pushed himself upright onto his feet. The other man moved back a step. "No one's prodding you into the job," he said. "Guess you haven't got what I thought you had, brother."

Walt smiled dryly. "Suppose," he suggested, "we quit boosting each other and see what's in the pot. I've got plenty of what you thought I had, and I'm looking for work. But I don't figure to make this my last job."

"Meaning?"

"That you are going to move two thousand head of cattle. . . . and what else? Somebody's boundary line?"

"Boundary line's already moved. Only we aim to keep it so. All this is going to take place on public domain where we want to winter on a certain low sink."

"Good place to winter, too," Walt nodded. "If someone else isn't already located there. Who is?"

Again through a minute of silence he felt himself being measured. Apparently he qualified for what this stranger wanted, and he did not know whether that fact was a compliment or discredit.

"Cash Cameron," the man answered. "But the C C is done for, everyone knows that. Cameron's tangled up with the law right now, over a killing on his ranch. That's what this inquest is about. He's in a hole and before he gets himself out of it, those money bags of his will be too fat to carry much stock on this range." And then as a conclusive amendment: "If he gets out at all."

"Cameron caught that bad?"

"Will be. Sunk, sure as taxes! That's what, and the Emigrant ranchmen know it. There's going to be one smashing scramble for public range that the C C controls. But the man I'm boss for is getting the jump. Satisfied now?"

Gandy's brown gaze hardened. "Friend," he said, "that kind of rubs me the wrong way, heaving rocks in on a man when he's at the bottom of a hole."

The focus of his eyes sharpened. "Any chance that someone reached out and shoved him in?"

"What do you care!" The easy voice turned suddenly surly. "How about the job?"

Walt measured the distance between himself and the ramrod body. He looked into the black eyes. "I wouldn't handle it," he said, "with a pitchfork and rubber gloves!"

It took a second for that to penetrate. "Why you skunk! You draw me out, then turn me down? A hammerhead fist lashed upward.

Walt Gandy had measured the distance well. He drew his chin back only a little. The fist shaved past. At waist level his own hooked in—a short left jab and a longer drive with the right. The ramrod figure doubled. Walt slammed it upward again with an open-handed shove in the face.

And then he cut loose savagely from sheer reaction after the inquest's high pressure and from the treacherous talk he had listened to just now. His hard body leaned in behind two punches that sent the other man teetering backward.

These first exchanges had come in a moment's rush. The black one had had no time to gather himself. But now, even as Gandy followed his advantage, the man dug to a stop in the dirt floor of the runway, stiffened, and his frame seemed all spring steel. He launched from boot toes sunk into the earth. His arm had a yard-long reach and came with the explosive drive of a piston.

Gandy was rocked to the roots. He spun half around and the next blow slid from his turning body. Footwork carried him aside, gave a second's recuperation. Experience told him not to take his eyes from the other's quickly shifting fists. But with that knocked off, the long sharp features of this man's face were fully exposed for the first time.

Walt Gandy looked, and in a glimpse of twitching jaw muscles, and of cold slitted eyes he read more than a passing flare of anger. This was going to reach far. He had no doubt that he faced an opponent who would kill.

In the second that his eyes shifted from the fists to the man's face, a treacherous move was begun. A right jab to his heart was in the open. He saw that. It was only from his eye corners that he caught sight of a boot toe kicked out to trip him. He half blocked the heart blow. Then all of his strength went into a sudden hooking of his leg around the other's shin.

What happened next was short. They tripped, stumbled, legs locked. Walt Gandy felt an arm around him like a steel band. The steel crushed inward. Wind went out of him. It was no longer a fight but a savage brush for survival. With abrupt relaxation of every muscle he let himself fall backward. As the man came over, off-balance, Walt stiffened again and rolled in the air.

His one hundred- and seventy-pound weight was on top when they hit the earth. Breath gushed from the form beneath him. He leaped up. The other lay still, his black hair stringing on the ground.

The blood was hot in Gandy's veins, boiling. He reached down and twisted hard fingers in the shirt collar, dragged the man to the nearest grain bin, raised the cover, lifted him in both arms and rolled him onto a bed of oats. The cover had a padlock. Walt snapped it.

Then he turned. The gaunt attendant stood gaping in the runway. His bony jaw worked up and down, wordless.

Gandy leaned winded and dizzy against a post. He said, "I'll take my horse now." When the attendant only stared, he rocked along closer. "What's the matter?"

"He'll kill you!" the old fellow gasped.

"Maybe," Walt said. He took his chaps from the side bench and struggled into them, fumbling the buckles.

The gaunt man stood rooted. "But that was Pete Kelso! Of the 77!"

Straightening, Walt Gandy felt in his pockets for money. "Here." He tossed a silver dollar. "Can you forget Pete for a little, while? He likes it there in the box."

"But that was Kelso!"

"Sure. Will you get my bronc?"

THE inquest was over, and Walt Gandy put his Sunspot palomino into a thinning crowd along the street. Already knots of men had formed to rehash again this thing that had descended upon the Emigrant Bench, and it seemed to Walt as he passed among them, that each group represented an individual war-camp.

Helen Cameron's roan horse was not where Walt had seen it at a post near Gospel Hall. He passed the windowed store building, now empty. A man stepped suddenly from a street corner and stopped him with an upraised left hand.

Walt Gandy looked down from his saddle. The man flipped back the lapel of his coat to let the silvered surface of a deputy's badge gleam momentarily.

"Sheriff wants to see you," he said. "Office is down there." The deputy pointed into a cross-street. He followed afoot as Gandy turned his palomino in that direction.

Sheriff Battle sat behind an ancient, flat-topped desk, slouched in a swivel chair with a back high enough to support his large head. A second man, seated on a wall bench running from the desk end, was Hollister.

The C C foreman uncrossed long legs and stood up, his weathered, studious face lighting with a grin.

"This the man you mean, Battle? I know this fellow. You don't need to search him." He turned to Walt and held out his hand. "How are you?"

Bill Hollister knew nothing about the stolen bullet. Walt Gandy was certain of that as he gave back the handclasp and the grin. He looked into the face of this partner who had urged him up from the border, across two weeks of hard desert travel, and in that silent second he was aware of something. Bill Hollister had changed. How, he could not say, had no time to consider, for even as the thought flashed to him, he heard Battle snap:

"You don't need to tell me what I need to do, Hollister! Al?"

"Yeah," said the deputy at Gandy's back.

"Go through him!"

Walt jerked around. "Not so fast, you!" He looked into the bore of the deputy's gun. "Aw, put that bean shooter away. What's the charge, Sheriff? Got a search warrant, have you?"

Battle had risen, drawing his huge weight upward and propping it stiffly on the desk top. "You, Al! What's the matter with you? I said go through him!"

Walt laughed. He raised his arms and felt the hands move thoroughly through his pockets. Matches, money, tobacco, his watch, his knife, a horseshoe nail and his handkerchief; nothing more. He saw Ed Battle sink down like the gas going out of a big balloon.

The sheriff glared at his deputy. He seemed to feel it was the man's fault that nothing had been found.

He hesitated, cigar in his teeth, frowning with mental effort. Here away from the eyes of his voters, Sheriff Battle became less a thunderous bull, roaring for results, and seemed a human being of not too much will, easily swayed, and at this moment, baffled.

"Hollister," he launched out bluntly, "I'm giving you a chance. I want you to come in with the law!"

Hollister grinned. "You," he emphasized, "want me to come in with the law. Where do you figure I am, Ed?"

"Up a flagpole and no ladders," said Battle promptly. "It'll be for the good of the C C and the whole Emigrant Bench," he went on, solemn-faced, "if you and me can get down on the same footing. Look out there on the street. Look at those women. They and the kids are the ones who are going to suffer if our ranchmen get to gun-fighting with each other. I'm older than you—I've seen bloody times, and they didn't start from no more than what has happened here right now!"

"But here in present majesty, As in His courts on high."

The man who would hide from God and flee from the Holy Spirit finds no comfort in these verses. He may attempt to hide in heaven or in the abode of the dead, but God is there. If he could ride with the speed of morning light (v. 9) to the uttermost parts of the earth, God is there before him. Darkness, which men think will hide their evil deeds, is like daylight to "Him with whom we have to do" (Heb. 4:13).

But why flee from a loving God? Why not come to Him in loving obedience, and then with the psalmist rejoice that we "cannot get beyond the circle of His love"? What a blessed truth it is that wherever these lines are read—in the home, the church, in a hospital, in a jail, in an airplane, in the depths of a mine, in darkness or in light, in the great city, or by one living alone in the wilderness—God, the infinite, all-knowing, eternal, loving God, is there. He is right at your side, reader. Turn to Him, count on Him, love Him, serve Him.

III. God Searches Man's Heart (vv. 23, 24).

Verse 3 of our psalm teaches that God searches the hearts of all men, but here we find the psalmist wisely inviting God to search his own heart. It is one thing to know a universal truth; it is another matter to make it personal. It is one thing to know that God, against my will, is pointing out to me the sin and rebellion of my heart; it is quite another thing to open my heart voluntarily to His searching scrutiny.

Why did the Psalmist ask God to search him? That in trying his thoughts any wickedness might be revealed and put away. That is the important point. It is not enough to know that sin is there. We must ask God to give us grace to put it out, that He may then lead us in the "way everlasting."

The Word of God points the way of righteousness in both heart and life. Who will decide this day to walk in that way—in fellowship with the all-knowing, ever-present Lord?

THE EVER-PRESENT GOD

LESSON TEXT—Psalm 139:1-12, 23, 24. GOLDEN TEXT—If a man love me, he will keep my words; and my Father will love him, and we will come unto him, and make our abode with him.—John 14:23.

"The Psalm of the Unavoidable God"—so Abingdon characterizes Psalm 139, but goes on to say, "It's main theme is 'God Cares.' He cares personally and individually." The omniscience and omnipresence of God, in the trying of the hearts of men, rightly brings fear to the ungodly, but to those who love and serve Him it can bring only assurance and joy.

The sublime concept of God here presented is an evidence of the divine inspiration of the Bible, for no human philosopher could ever have attained to or expressed such an understanding of the true nature of God. Only the infinite, all-knowing God, speaking through man, could give us this magnificent Psalm. It reveals that

I. God Knows Everything (vv. 1-6)

He is entirely unlimited in His true and eternal knowledge of things. Man is always limited in his knowledge of himself, of the world in which he lives, and of God, except as He reveals Himself. Our knowledge is not only partial, but progressive, going from one fact to another; but God knows all things perfectly and entirely from the beginning, yes, from all eternity.

One might well suppose that such a Being would be concerned only with the great and mighty forces of the universe, but we are told that He has an exact and intelligent understanding of and interest in even such simple details of life as our "downsitting and . . . uprising."

God is not so foolish as man. He does not put things and power above personality. He is interested in you and in me—is vitally, personally and blessedly concerned about each one of us. Knowing all about us, He builds a garrison of understanding love around us (v. 5; see Phil. 4:7 R. V.), and keeps His eternally powerful but tender hand upon us, if we permit Him so to do. Reader, have you submitted your life to His control through Jesus Christ our Lord?

II. God Is Everywhere (vv. 7-12).

In our humanity we are limited, not only in knowledge, but also in our ability to be in more than one place at a time. The Bible tells us what our reason would expect; that God, the infinite One, is everywhere at all times. This does not mean (as the pantheist would have us believe) that God is lost in nature, bound up in the rocks and trees, but that He is everywhere immanent in majestic power and love, sustaining all things, controlling and directing the destinies of His universe. He is not afar off, letting the world care for itself (as the deist would say),

"But here in present majesty, As in His courts on high."

The man who would hide from God and flee from the Holy Spirit finds no comfort in these verses. He may attempt to hide in heaven or in the abode of the dead, but God is there. If he could ride with the speed of morning light (v. 9) to the uttermost parts of the earth, God is there before him. Darkness, which men think will hide their evil deeds, is like daylight to "Him with whom we have to do" (Heb. 4:13).

But why flee from a loving God? Why not come to Him in loving obedience, and then with the psalmist rejoice that we "cannot get beyond the circle of His love"? What a blessed truth it is that wherever these lines are read—in the home, the church, in a hospital, in a jail, in an airplane, in the depths of a mine, in darkness or in light, in the great city, or by one living alone in the wilderness—God, the infinite, all-knowing, eternal, loving God, is there. He is right at your side, reader. Turn to Him, count on Him, love Him, serve Him.

III. God Searches Man's Heart (vv. 23, 24).

Verse 3 of our psalm teaches that God searches the hearts of all men, but here we find the psalmist wisely inviting God to search his own heart. It is one thing to know a universal truth; it is another matter to make it personal. It is one thing to know that God, against my will, is pointing out to me the sin and rebellion of my heart; it is quite another thing to open my heart voluntarily to His searching scrutiny.

Why did the Psalmist ask God to search him? That in trying his thoughts any wickedness might be revealed and put away. That is the important point. It is not enough to know that sin is there. We must ask God to give us grace to put it out, that He may then lead us in the "way everlasting."

The Word of God points the way of righteousness in both heart and life. Who will decide this day to walk in that way—in fellowship with the all-knowing, ever-present Lord?

Casual Dress That Flatters the Figure

NOTHING is more important during the summer—and every season for that matter—than this type of casual frock, softly tailored and classically simple. This version (Design No. 1962-B) is ideal for women's figures, because it has a high-busted, narrow-hipped line. And that perfection of line is achieved so simply—merely by means of long darts that narrow the waistline and break into soft fullness above and below. Gathers on the shoulders are the only other detailing. The rest is just long, straight seams. You can judge, therefore, how easy this dress is to make.

But you can't really tell what a distinctive, comfortable, charming fashion it is until you have it on. Then you'll repeat it many times, in silk-print, rayon sheers, and street cottons like linen and batiste.

Barbara Bell Pattern No. 1962-B is designed for sizes 32, 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44 and 46. Size 34 requires, with long sleeves many pieces than to fold them. The best napkins may be banded in blue and white, luncheon mats may be rolled on a red stick with a red band and green may be used for the bridge table cloth. Linen holders like these would make attractive gifts, too. And speaking of shelves and drawers; girls adore the stocking case in Book 3, and the drawer pads in Book 4; and they make dainty gifts for any one. The table cloth case in Book 2 is another good linen closet idea.

MODERN linen closets are tucked in spare corners all over the house, always as close as possible to the place that the linens will be needed. Towels may be found in the bathroom, napkins in the pantry or kitchen and bed linens near the bed rooms.

Brain Surgery Pictures
 Japan's first medical sound moving picture was released recently in Tokyo. The film, which shows a delicate piece of surgery on the brain of an epileptic, is the work of Dr. Makoto Saito of Nagoya medical university. The picture was planned and directed by Dr. Saito, who has 50 reels of silent medical films to his credit, and the operation was performed by him. High spot is the removal of an affected area of the brain about as big as a man's thumb, from the head of a 28-year-old male patient. The man recovered rapidly. Music is played on the sound track so that the actual scenes of the operation, which are gruesome, may not have a bad effect on the audience.

German Speaking Swiss
 The German language is spoken by a majority of the people in 16 of the 22 cantons in Switzerland.

Book Wear and Tear
 V. J. McHenry, who annually supervises the renewing of the 3,000 library books at the University of California, reports that it is always the first 20 pages of a book that suffer the greatest damage due to the efforts of students to concentrate on them. The middle and the end rarely ever have to be renewed.

Election Forgotten
 The mayor and aldermen of Ardmore, Ala., can't get rid of their jobs. It's all because everyone forgot to announce candidacies for office at the recent election, so that no election was possible. Therefore, the present officeholders have to serve four more years, until the next election.
