3,800 VOTES CAST TUESDAY IN COUNTY

Republicans Have Two to One Victory Here

More than 3,800 votes were polled at Tuesday's election in Iosco county and the county continued to remain firmly entrenched in the Republican lines. The first ward of Whittemore was the only bright spot for the Democrats. There all Democrats received majorities. At East Tawas and Alabaster, Dr. Charles F. Klump, democratic candidate for state senator, received majorities.

While Roosevelt will receive a large electoral vote throughout the nation, in Iosco county Willkie fared very well. The vote was 2504 to 1302, the largest ever cast in the county for a president. Van Wagoner received 1484 in the race for governor. Dickenson received 2238.

Ben Carpenter was elected state senator by a substantial majority. In Iosco county, Carpenter received 2037; Dr. Charles F. Klump, 1597. Klump led his ticket in the county.

Iosco county's candidate for state representative, Robert Dahne, Democrat, was defeated in the district by Sandy MacKay by a substantial majority. The vote follows: Iosco county—MacKay, 2377; Dahne, 1219; Ogemaw—MacKay, 2487; Dahne, 1061; Arenac—MacKay, 2306; Dahne, 1231.

County candidates fared as follows:

Finley Gives Timely Advice on Orchards

An old time pest, the common apple maggot or "railroad worm" is trying to stage a comeback in Michigan and has succeeded to the extent of completely destroying the fruit in many of the small home orchards throughout Iosco county.

According to County Agricultural Agent W. L. Finley the apple maggot damage is wide spread and fruit has been presented to him for identification of the disorder from all sections of the county.

The very small maggot tunnels through the fruit in such a way that the apples become deformed and obviously are not marketable, thus keeping the wormy apple from the market. The flesh of the infested apple may have numerous discolored areas which appear to be dry rot lesions but in reality are tunnels made by the small maggot.

The maggots leave the apples after they fall to the ground therefore necessitating a careful cleanup if the pest is to be controlled. Farmers are warned to pick up all dropped apples and destroy them at once. Feeding the apples to livestock, burying them at least two feet deep or pouring used crankcase oil over the infested apples at the rate of one gallon to ten square feet of pile surface will prevent the adults from emerging to lay a new crop of eggs about June first of next summer.

Another step in the maggot control is possible during the growing season. For this control the College Entomology Department recommends two arsenical sprays to be used early in July. The exact time that these applications should be applied may be determined during the early summer of 1941.

If these home apple orchards are to be maintained for years to come it will be necessary, according to agent Finley, to follow some, if not all, of the above recommendations.

Contract Let for New Post Office Building

A contract has been let for construction of a combined postoffice and forestry building at East Tawas, the Public Buildings Administration announced this week. The structure will be constructed by the Ring Construction Co., of Minneapolis.

The amount of contract is $97,500. The contractor will be permitted 330 calendar days from the date of the "notice to proceed" in which to complete the project.

The new building was designed in the office of the supervising architect of the Public Buildings Administration for the postoffice department.

The new building will be a two story structure and will be erected on the southeast corner of Newman feet across the front and extending to a depth of 91 feet, the building will contain almost 230,000 cubic feet of space.

Cost of the project will be covered by the allotment of $145,000.00 made under the Federal Buildings Appropriation act of 1938, and includes funds for site purchase, building costs and administrative expenses incurred.

The simplified colonial design for the building is characterized by unornamented brick walls, symmetrical disposition of the small paneled windows and entrance doorway, and pitched metal roof. The two entrances one leading directly to the postal lobby from Newman street, and the other on Lincoln street opening into a vestibule containing a staircase to second floor offices, will be marked with granite steps and platforms, and metal railings.

Interior arrangements for the first floor include a 14-foot wide public lobby for the postoffice with five service windows and more than 340 lock boxes. The door to the postmaster's office will be found at the south end. Work space for the handling and sorting of mail will occupy the balance of the floor.

A special mezzanine floor above the workroom at the rear of the building will provide offices for the department of agriculture extension service and the bureau of internal revenue of the treasury department.

The entire second floor will be given over to offices for the forest service.

TWO IOSCO MEN VOLUNTEER FOR MILITARY DUTY

Draft Board Will Send Out Questionnaire Soon

Two Iosco county men made application this week for enlistment under the new military service act. The two men are Arthur A. Bigelow, of Tawas City, and B. Russ Shaffer, of Oscoda.

Men between 18 and 35 years of age are eligible for one-year term of enlistment in the army under the selective service act. Application blanks are on hand at the draft board office in the city hall, Tawas City.

All men who registered for military service will be sent questionnaires were drawn at Washington numbers were drawn at Washington. When the questionnaire is returned the draft board will classify you either as

1. Available for immediate service, or

2. In one of the deferred groups, because of dependants or occupation.

If you are classified in the group available for immediate service, then you will be called in for physical examination.

Col. Samuel Pepper, deputy director of the state selective service, announced this week that the following advisers had been appointed for Iosco county to assist registrants in all matters pertaining to selective service: Scott Schuman and Earl McElheron, of East Tawas; N. Red Cross Shipments Go To France and Belgium

Red Cross shipments have been going regularly to Great Britain for the French and Belgian refugees and English evacuees in that country, additional shipments to Finland and stricken areas.

There is no question as to the overwhelming need among hundreds of thousands of destitute refugees who have been driven from their homes and we are anxious to have available for immediate shipment an adequate stock of all the various garments so from our commissions aboard can be met promptly and advantage taken of any transportation space that becomes available. No one can foresee the future but no one questions that the need will continue to be far beyond our ability to meet, and there is no doubt in our minds but that eventually we will be able to send to these unfortunate people all the garments that our volunteers can produce.

The quota assigned to the Iosco County Chapter stresses more strongly than in the past the children's garments. More and more it seems probable that our future program will be confined to aiding this group and to the sick and injured.

Our quota is as follows: ten women's dresses; 25 girls' dresses; ten layettes; 20 boys' shirts; ten men's sweaters; ten women's sweaters; 20 children's sweaters.

Any groups or individuals desiring to participate in this production program contact Mrs. D. A. Evans, production chairman, East Tawas, so that when the material arrives after quota has been properly referred by the Red Cross office to the U. S. Treasury Department, she will know exactly what groups or individuals wish to handle each article of the work of these groups and individuals that America will be able to give further expression and tangible evidence of its sympathy to the millions of men women and children who are victims of one of the greatest catastrophes our age has ever witnessed.

Capt. Ellsworth Dies Last Week at Bay City

In fishing ports all up and down the Lake Huron coast the death of "Captain" Robert E. Ellsworth, 76, of Alpena, in Bay City last week, is recalling stories of the days when "Captain Bob" kept watch over fisheries here. He was the captain of the state's first fisheries patrol boat.

Ellsworth began his service in the conservation field in 1908, as a forestry warden. From 1912 to 1927 as game and fish warden and captain of the state's patrol boat became a familiar Great Lakes figure. From 1927 until a stroke last year forced him to give up active work, he was employed by the conservation department's fish division, supervising spawn-taking in Saginaw Bay and Lake Huron, and at Silver Creek trout rearing station in Iosco county.

Axis Powers Continue Balkan Drive, Attempting to Cut Britain's 'Lifeline'; Turbulent Labor Convention Forecast; Selective Service Lottery Completed

(EDITOR'S NOTE—When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of the news analyst and not necessarily of this newspaper.)
(Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

BATTLE FOR EMPIRE: Balkan Adventure

Reinforced by an "understanding" with Gen. Francisco Franco, dictator of Spain, and Vice Premier Pierre Laval, acknowledged leader of France, the Axis powers rode off on a new highway of conquest. Benito Mussolini served a six-hour ultimatum on Greece to surrender its strategic airports and harbors "to guarantee peace." Then without waiting for an answer, Fascist legions drove across the border toward Athens from their bases in already-conquered Albania.

Meanwhile Adolf Hitler, established in Rumania, made ready to attack Turkey, swinging through the lone remaining independent countries of Bulgaria and Yugoslavia. Hitler predicted that by December 1 he would hold Istanbul and the Dardanelles.

Meanwhile there were indications that German troops would find free passage through Spain to attack Gibraltar. France's role was to turn over air and naval bases in Africa and the Near East for the battle on Britain's life line in the Mediterranean.

What seemed to be happening was the result of Hitler's failure to make England capitulate on schedule. London was still taking a severe beating from the air but still holding out and apparently giving Germany as good as it received.

So, unable to conquer Britain, Hitler swung his force on conquest of the British empire with a pincer movement on both ends of the Mediterranean.

Outposts

In this movement, Greece and Turkey were the last outposts linked to England in the fight against totalitarian domination. Outside of the Western hemisphere no independent nations lived, with the exception of parts of the British empire, virtually cut off from their mother country if the Nazi conquest succeeded.

There seemed little in the way of that success. Greece with an army of but 200,000 regulars, 400,000 reserves, and 175 warplanes was hardly more than a wooden barrier across the road in the path of a juggernaut. Turkey boasted of 2,000,000 warriors, outflanked on all sides.

Appeals to Britain were answered immediately, but Britain could ill afford to assemble its scattered naval power for a definite issue in the Near East. Its Mediterranean fleet went into immediate action, occupying the fortified Greek island of Crete, which bars the way to Suez, and landing in Crete, which gives them a base near Italy.

AS TO WAR: Call for Service

President Roosevelt stood at a microphone. Near him was War Secretary Henry Stimson, blindfolded. The cabinet member reached into a glass bowl with his left hand, pulled out a capsule and extracted a slip of paper. He handed it to the President. "The first number," the President said, "is 158." A woman screamed. It was the number assigned by a draft board to her son. It meant he was first on the list in his district to answer the nation's selective service call.

The woman was Mrs. Henry E. Bell, wife of a World war veteran who was on duty outside the building in a legion guard of honor. As a memento she was given the capsule which contained her son's number. Later her husband, a District of Columbia fireman, also was permitted to draw a number from the bowl.

Earlier, dignitaries of the federal government drew numbers, and later Boy Scouts, veterans, newsmen, radio announcers and volunteers from the audience were given the honor. The pulling of numbers, begun at noon, went on all night and continued hours after the sun had struck the Capitol's dome. Nine thousand in all were listed serially.

In that order, providing the young men pass physical tests and have no dependents, they will be sent to army camps for a year's training. The first, a mere trickle, will leave home November 15. Before spring 800,000 in all will be in khaki. Army officials estimated only those men whose serial numbers were among the first 1,500 selected will be examined for service this year, and half of them will not be accepted.

This fellow typifies the expression of many "158s" as they learned that their numbers were the first drawn in the selective service lottery. He is Eugene Kolb Jr., of San Francisco.

President Roosevelt ruled that no man may be taken unless he has been given five days' notice by his draft board, in order to settle personal affairs.

Mexico Weakens

The republic just south of the Rio has decided to lift an embargo on supplies of war to Japan. The embargo had been decreed five days earlier by President Cardenas. It was indicated there still may be some restrictions on oil and scrap, which are government monopolies. Otherwise exporters may engage in free trade, including much needed mercury.

One diplomatic source said a change may be made in the order after President-elect Manuel Camacho takes office in December. This spokesman said Mexico was anxious to co-operate with the United States and would recall the embargo if Washington indicated the international situation made it necessary.

The four days' trial, however, cost Mexican exporters hundreds of thousands of dollars, since the war has shut off all other shipments.

REVOLT IN C. I. O.: Lewis Is Target

What is forecast as likely to be one of the most turbulent conventions in American labor history is due when the Congress of Industrial Organizations meets at Atlantic City. John L. Lewis' endorsement of Wendell L. Willkie in the just closed presidential campaign was coupled with the announcement that he would resign if Roosevelt were elected.

Lewis already faced growing opposition in the C. I. O. Sidney Hillman, president of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers, split with Lewis on national defense. Hillman was named to the defense commission. Backing Hillman was the powerful Textile union. Lewis' endorsement of Willkie split away from him heavy factions of the automobile, steel, rubber and electrical workers.

If Lewis fails of re-election, many look upon Philip Murray, quiet-voiced steel chieftain, as the possible successor, rather than Hillman.

THE GLEANERS: Championship

Irving Bauman—1940 Champion, National Cornhusking Contest.

In a field of 21 expert rubbin tossers, Irving Bauman, Eureka, Illinois, tossed 46.71 bushels of corn against the bangboard to win the National Cornhusking Championship at Davenport, Iowa. He barely nudged out Marion Link, of Ames, Iowa, who husked 46.36 bushels in the 80 minute contest. Bauman, a renter, married and with a three-year-old son, gets the gold cup and $100 prize.

NO REST: Carol Pursued

The turbulent road to exile traveled by former King Carol of Rumania struck a new detour. One month on his way from Bucharest to Portugal and still not at his goal, the king learned that the Spanish government had ordered his consort, Mme. Lupescu, and his palace minister, Ernest Urdareanu, returned to Rumania. There they likely will stand trial before an Iron Guard court for crimes against the state.

Carol was informed of the order by Spanish police. "Pray, who gave those orders?" he asked. "My superiors," said the officers. "Who are your superiors?" asked the king. There was no answer.

LOST COLONY: New Clues

In 1591, when George White, governor of the colony of Virginia, returned from a two-year trip to England, he could find not a trace of the settlement he had left on Roanoke island, N. C. The only clue was the word "Croatan" carved on a tree. It was the name of a local Indian tribe.

Until recently historians were mystified at the disappearance of the pioneer men and women. Three years ago a 21-pound quartz stone was found on the bank of the Chowan river, near Edenton, N. C. In Elizabethan English it told of the death of the colonists from "misery and war." Included in the dead was Virginia Dare, first white child born in America.

Now 46 other stones have been unearthed along a trail which showed the colonists plodded through North Carolina, South Carolina and Georgia. Twenty of the nation's foremost experts on pre-Colonial folklore, led by Dr. Samuel E. Morison, have declared the stones authentic. Most recently discovered stone told of the marriage in 1599 of Virginia Dare's mother to an Indian chief.

ASIA:

U. S. Interests

In Asia, the current situation had important complications. Japan, now linked to Italy and Germany by the new triple alliance, said it would fulfill its obligations. These may be interpreted by Tokyo to call for seizure of Hongkong and Singapore. The British base at Singapore always has been considered to prop up one end of the American lifeline.

The United States took action in another direction. Premier General Petain of France was notified in a personal note from President Roosevelt that if France surrendered bases to the Axis powers, the United States would feel duty bound to occupy French colonies in the Caribbean.

Auto Sales—Retail sale of automobile trucks this season is running 20 per cent higher than in 1939. For the full year the manufacturers expect to pass the record of 1937, which was 947,000 units.

Entertainer—The duchess of Windsor soon may enter the radio field as a featured program. Radio circles announced they were hunting for a sponsor. The duchess will broadcast from Nassau and give her earnings to the British war relief fund.

Air Mail—A route through New England is being planned as the next step in extension of the non-stop air mail service. All American Aviation, Inc., "flies the circuit" in several eastern routes now, dropping pouches and picking up outgoing mail without making a landing.

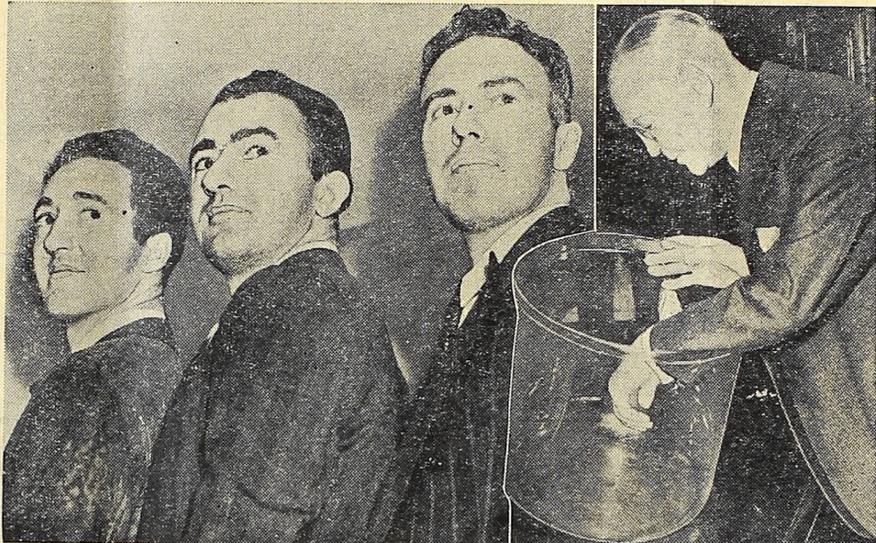

Crime—Proof that the female of the species is deadlier than the male comes from the Federal Bureau of Investigation. A homicide survey showed that 14 out of every 1,000 women arrested are charged with murder, to 10 out of every 1,000 men.

Japanese School Children Salute Our Flag

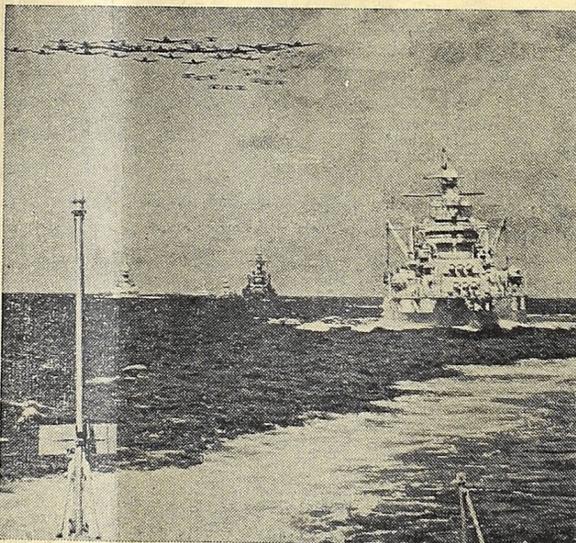

Here is a morning scene in one of the classrooms of the Moiliili Japanese language school in Honolulu, where the ceremony of saluting the flag as it is performed in American mainland schools was introduced recently. The Japanese children bow in the style to which they are accustomed. There are 26 Japanese language schools in Honolulu.

FIRST-AID to the AILING HOUSE
by Roger B. Whitman

Worn and Soiled Floor.
QUESTION: About 10 years ago we put down a hardwood floor and stained it dark. It has been waxed a number of times each year. It has worn in spots. Can I use anything on these spots, or must I scrape the whole floor? The floor looks soiled and I can't seem to get it clean.

ANSWER: As a first step in doing over your floor, you should wipe well with turpentine to remove all of the wax. It is very probable that much of the dirt is in the wax, and this treatment will go far to restoring the appearance. With the wax removed, you can touch up the light spots with oil stain. Apply a coat and wipe off immediately, and continue until with successive applications, the color matches the surrounding floor. You should then finish with two coats of good floor varnish before rewaxing. Without varnish, dirt going into the wax will work through to the wood. With varnish this cannot happen.

Warped Bedroom Door.
QUESTION: I built my house last fall, and now find that the door to one of the bedrooms is badly warped. The top corner does not come within an inch of closing when the door is shut. Can I do anything about this?

ANSWER: A door with any claim to quality should be built so that it is proof against warping, and warping is something that would justify a complaint to the dealer. In the long run it will be better to replace your warped door with one that is warp-proof, because even after it has been straightened, it may not stay so. A cabinet maker could do the job for you, by putting the door in a press, after which he would run heavy dowels into it to hold it straight. But a new door of well-seasoned wood is the best answer.

Soapstone Tub Troubles.
QUESTION: My soapstone tub leaks at one of the joints, and in one place it is rough. What can be done about this?

ANSWER: Widen the crack with a cold chisel, so that it is wider at the lower, or inside, part of the crack than on the surface. Fill the space with litharge, to be had at a paint store, mixed to a stiff paste with glycerine. Mix this up only a little at a time, for it hardens quickly. Pack this into the crack.

Another method is to pack the crack with soft cotton string or lamp wicking, smeared with white lead. Allow several days for drying before using the tub.

To smooth the rough place, rub with a block of carborundum, which you can get at a hardware or paint store.

Stained Floor.
QUESTION: In the case of a much stained flooring, we have been advised that the stain, due to general neglect, can be removed by washing with water containing soda. Is this correct?

ANSWER: A strong solution of washing soda or trisodium phosphate will remove the finish, but if the stains are in the wood, only a saturated solution of oxalic acid will bleach it out, after the finish has been removed. A floor finish that is in poor condition and badly stained should be scraped with a floor sanding machine, then refinished.

Sidewalk Shingles.
QUESTION: A certain company is suggesting asphalt shingles for the upper half of my house and asbestos cement shingles for the lower half. Also, something is said about asphalt sheeting under the shingles. Would an all asbestos job be preferable to the above arrangement?

ANSWER: My preference would be for an all asbestos shingle finish, from the standpoint of appearance and durability. Asphalt saturated felt is always used under asbestos shingle siding.

Food Moths.
QUESTION: I find moths in my packages of cereals and crackers, which I keep in my kitchen closet. What should I do to get rid of them?

ANSWER: Those moths thrive in dried food of all kinds. Boxes of food that have been opened or broken should be thrown out. Clear off the shelves and scrub thoroughly with hot soapsuds. All cereals, nuts, crackers, spaghetti, etc., should be kept in tight containers; tin boxes or tightly capped glass jars.

Gold Leaf Frame.
QUESTION: The gold leaf on an old-fashioned mirror frame has been rubbed off in spots. I should like to know if there is some liquid preparation that I could use to cover the whole frame.

ANSWER: At your local art store you can get what is generally called a bronzing liquid. It comes in a variety of gold finishes and can be easily brushed on.

AFTER THE FOOTBALL GAME
See Recipes Below.

If you are entertaining the crowd after the game, you'll find substantial refreshments in favor; for the same crisp air that puts football players on their toes breeds keen appetites.

It's good social strategy to arrange everything buffet style and let the guests help themselves. You'll want a table that is festive, easy to handle, and yet casual. You may even want to set up card tables in the living room to make your guests comfortable after they have helped themselves from the buffet.

Natural colored linen, or rough homespun cloth will make a smart background for your serving table. Candles are often used very effectively, when serving buffet style, for they add both atmosphere and light. If you double as hostess and chief cook, you'll enjoy the game twice as much if you plan a menu that can be prepared beforehand. Sandwich makings and a hot steaming beverage are a wise choice. Then wind up the feast with ice cream and chocolate cake.

Frankfurter Sandwich.

Boil or steam large frankfurters until tender and juicy. Slice thin on white or rye bread and serve with mustard sauce and hot potato salad. Garnish with pickle.

Hot Potato Salad.
(Serves 6)

6 medium-sized potatoes
4 slices bacon (minced)
1 medium-sized onion (sliced)
2 tablespoons bacon drippings
1/4 cup water
1/2 cup vinegar
1 teaspoon sugar
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper

Cook potatoes in jackets. Cool, skin, and slice. Pan broil minced bacon, then saute onion in bacon drippings until brown. Combine and heat water, vinegar, sugar, salt, and pepper. Add to mixture in frying pan, and mix with potatoes. Place in baking dish and heat in moderate oven (350 degrees) before serving.

Egg Meringue Surprise Sandwich.
(Serves 6)

6 slices bread
1/4 cup butter (melted)
1/4 pound sharp cheese
6 eggs
Salt and pepper
6 slices bacon

Trim slices of bread and brush one side with melted butter. Place buttered side down on a cookie sheet. Cut cheese into strips about 1/4 inch in thickness. Arrange them, side by side, or fence-like on the bread. Separate eggs and drop one egg yolk in the center of each slice of bread. Sprinkle with salt and pepper. Whip egg whites until stiff and dry, and pile high on top, completely covering the egg and cheese. Cut the slices of bacon into halves and place two halves on each sandwich right across the egg white. Place in moderate oven (350 degrees) and bake for 10 to 15 minutes, or until the egg white is brown and the bacon is crisp.

Silver Cake.
(Makes 1 loaf cake)

1/4 cup butter
1 1/2 cups granulated sugar
2 3/4 cups cake flour (sifted)
3 teaspoons baking powder
1/4 teaspoon salt
1 cup milk
1 teaspoon vanilla extract
4 egg whites (stiffly beaten)

Cream butter, add sugar and beat well. Sift the flour, baking powder and salt together, and add to sugar and butter mixture. Mix well, and place in refrigerator. When desired for use, remove mixture from refrigerator. Break up lumps with fork. Add milk and vanilla, and beat until mixture is smooth and creamy. Then fold in the stiffly beaten egg whites. Pour into greased loaf cake tin, and bake in a moderately slow oven (325 degrees) for about 50 minutes.

erately slow oven (325 degrees) for about 50 minutes.

Chocolate Peppermint Frosting.

2 squares unsweetened chocolate
1 1/2 cups (1 can) sweetened condensed milk
8 marshmallows (cut in quarters)
Few drops oil of peppermint

Melt chocolate in top of double boiler. Add sweetened condensed milk, stir over rapidly boiling water 5 minutes, or until the mixture thickens. Add marshmallows, and stir until they begin to melt. Remove from heat and add peppermint. Cool. Spread on cold cake. This frosting covers tops of 2 9-inch layers or top and sides of loaf cake generously, or about 24 cup cakes.

Vanilla Ice Cream.
(Makes 1 quart)

2 cups milk
1 cup sugar
2 tablespoons flour
1/4 teaspoon salt
2 egg yolks (well beaten)
2 teaspoons vanilla extract
1 cup whipping cream

Scald milk, reserving 1/2 cup. Mix and blend the sugar, flour, and salt, and mix to a smooth paste with the cold milk which was reserved. Add this mixture to the scalded milk and cook, stirring constantly until thick, in a double boiler for 15 minutes. Add egg yolks which have been well beaten and cook, stirring constantly, 3 minutes longer. Add vanilla and chill. Fold in the whipping cream which has been whipped, place in ice cream freezer and freeze, using 3 parts ice to 1 part rock salt.

Sausages in Pastry Blankets.
(Makes 8 sausage rolls)

1 1/2 cups flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon baking powder
1/2 cup shortening
3 tablespoons cold water (approximately)

8 pork sausages

Sift together the flour, salt and baking powder. Blend in the shortening. Then add just enough water to form a dough, mixing lightly. Roll out and cut into 8 oblong pieces, each sufficiently large to wrap around one link of sausage. Place individual sausages (well pricked) on individual pieces of pastry; fold ends over and roll up. Place folded side down on a baking sheet. Prick crust with a fork. Bake in a hot oven (425 degrees) for about 30 minutes. Serve very hot.

America's Land 'Warships'

During the German blitzkrieg the tank took its place as the most deadly of military weapons in land fighting. While America has the best tanks in the world, we haven't enough of them, although we are industrially equipped to turn them out in gross lots. So let us give our army tanks—so many tanks that not even all the armies of the rest of the world combined would dare attack us. These photos, taken at Fort Meade, Maryland, show you some of the tanks we have.

SINISTER SHADOW . . . Yes, it may be sinister, but we could use a lot more of these shadows on our side of the fence. This medium-size tank is climbing a steep grade.

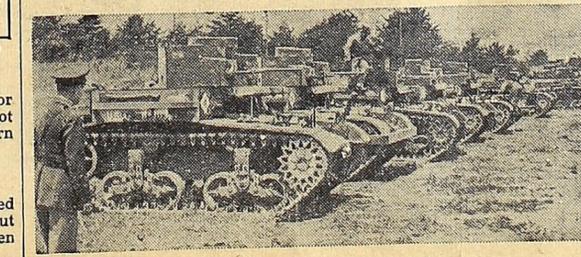

Left: Medium tank in action in wooded terrain. Small trees are no obstacles to these juggernauts. They mow them down like grass. This one has a machine gun and a small cannon. Right: This U. S. tank soldier received the gash on his face during a practice run. Tankers wear special helmets to prevent head injuries when tossed about in the steel juggernaut.

Top: This tank, armed with machine guns and small cannon, spot a "scouting plane" during maneuvers. Tanks have been found vulnerable to airplane fire in the European war.

Center: Turning at high speed, this tank tossed the real estate sky-high. This tank can hit better than 30 miles per hour in the rough.

Left: Just as the cavalryman had to look after his horse, the tank soldier must care for his steed of steel. This is washday for the tank after a run through the rough at Fort George Meade.

It Must Be Admitted That Clerk Had No Snap of Job

The theatrical agent's new clerk entered the private room and said, "There's a lady waiting to see you, sir."
"Is she good-looking?"
"Yes, sir."
"Show her in."
Ten minutes later the clerk was summoned.
"Well," said the agent, gruffly, "you're a nice judge of beauty, I must say."
"Ah, but I had to be careful, sir. I've got to look after my job. For all I knew, she might have been your wife."
"Yes," said the agent, acidly, "she was."

Band Makes First Public Appearance
(Marion Musolf)
The band made its first public appearance on Monday afternoon, when it played for the Eastern Star Association at the Masonic Temple. The entire band did not participate, due to lack of room, however a group of twenty-two members were selected to represent the band.
The following numbers were played: Okay-March, David Coates; Gypsy Festival, Overture, Al Hayes; and The Star Spangled Banner, Francis Scott Key.
Help the Seniors to Washington
(Marjorie Musolf)
Father drew his chair a mite closer to the fire, perched his glasses quite close to the end of his nose, fumbled around for his old black pipe, and was soon puffing contentedly. In a rocker nearby, mother, whose hands were ever busy, was darning a pair of father's old gray socks. Father picked up the Herald, read briefly, and finally said, "Those youngsters in school are right busy this year, Mother; says here that they had a card party. Seems as though I heard that they went to Washington next spring, pretty big job for a bunch of kids."
"What about the card party, Father, what did they play?"
"Paper says auction bridge and pedro. The prizes were won in bridge by Mrs. James Mark and Mr. Dalzell, and by Eleanor Cholger and Mr. Wendt in pedro."
"Well that's real nice. Father, do you remember how eager our Johnny was when he was in school, a body would think those children would never get tired. A trip to Washington would be a fine experience for those Seniors. Does it say when they will have another party? I think we had better help them out."
"Well, not until the fifth and sixth of December; they're going to give a play then. 'Toby Helps Out' is the name of it. They have their cast all picked. Yes, Mother, we'll go to that play."
"What do you think about them earning money to go to Washington, do you suppose it is possible, Father?"
"I don't know, Mother, quite a sum of money; but they're going at it hard enough. Says here that the Tawas City Senior Class would like to do odd jobs after school on Saturdays. Maybe we can let them wash the car and clean the basement."
"You're right, Father, probably most of them would never get to Washington otherwise, and certainly not as cheaply as the entire group can go. If the Seniors are willing to work and sacrifice to go, I believe that we should all co-operate with them and help them find odd jobs."
Father laid down his paper, thrust another chunk of wood into the fire, took a rosy apple from a dish, and said, "Yes, Mother, I believe they can do it."
High School Goes Republican
(Harold Ross)
The Tawas City High school held an election in the auditorium on Tuesday, November 5, 1940. The pupils registered on the previous day and the polls were opened at eight-thirty Tuesday morning. Voting continued until all the pupils had cast their votes and then the election board tabulated the results. The election was definitely pro-Republican. The results for president and governor being as follows: Willkie-68; Roosevelt-24; Dickenson-56; VanWagoner-35.
The election board consisted of Dorothy Buch, Nelson Thornton, Helen D. Galliker, Harold Ross, Russell Rollin, Norma Burtzloff and Betty Rapp.
The election was conducted in the regular manner and should prove good experience for the pupils when they become able to vote.
More Work, Less Play
(Helen Deanne Galliker)
Which school would you rather attend a noisy boisterous one whose students throw rules to the winds, or a quiet orderly one where each student respects the others' wishes? Not so long ago a certain teacher in the school asked that question. Her class unanimously said they preferred the orderly school, which is what we want our school to be. Every great corporation or company or country is founded on primarily two things, the trust and respect of individuals involved and obedience to the rules set down. Where would our great democracy of today be without these things?
Let's all try to develop this feeling of respect and order in our school. Our motto might be "More work, less play."

Arnold C. McLean, graduate of Tawas City high school, Tawas City, Mich., is among the students admitted to Northwestern University this fall. A total of more than 6,300 full-time students are attending classes in the twelve schools of the university.
Because Northwestern University is a private institution, it has been able to maintain a selective process as a result of which only those students are admitted who seem most able to profit from what the university has to offer. Today more than half the students admitted are from the upper quarter of their high school classes.—Northwestern University News Service.

Murder In The Gym
(Marjorie Musolf)
Last Thursday afternoon about 3:30 the entire high school was startled by the announcement that someone was going to be murdered. Mr. Knowlton calmly announced that tomorrow someone of the student body would have disappeared. All of the students drew slips, on one was written MURDERER, and on another MURDERED. A District Attorney was appointed and everyone retired to the gym where the murder was to be committed. It soon happened, with a scream Dorothy Herriman sank to the floor. Immediately the D. A., Harold Ross, was on the job, questioning several people unsuccessfully. He resigned and Julius Musolf became the new D. A. At last the murderer was found. Who was it? Why Art Biggins of course. Why did he murder her? Well, the only reason Art would give was that she was a Republican.

After the murder had been solved the high school was treated to doughnuts and cider. Everyone had a grand time and the students extend their appreciation to the teachers for making it possible.

ACTIVITIES IN OUR SCHOOL
(L. V. Knowlton)
Politically Tawas City High school is in reverse. In balloting last Tuesday Willie out distanced "The Champ" by a vote of 68 to 24. However today we are thinking of other matters and hoping that Hamiltonian statesmanship will dominate the life structure of our democracy.
A group of students in government class are making a survey of traffic safety in our community. The results of their findings will be recorded and submitted for publication.
Another group in this class are making a survey of health and sanitation conditions in our school. Their findings will be a matter of observation and publication.
Then a third group within the class in government conducted an election poll last Tuesday. Registration of students was prerequisite to voting. Learning by doing suggests the purpose of these activities.
The student body extend their appreciation to the Barkmans for furnishing these school ballots.
The Junior Class have chosen candy sales as their project for the year. They are selling homemade candies. On Saturday, the Juniors will begin taking orders. You may place your order anytime within the year. These boxes make excellent Christmas or birthday gifts.

1940 Call for Red Cross Recruits

The 1940 Poster of The American Red Cross sounds the call to the nation to serve humanity within the ranks of this army of mercy.

KEEPING step with the boys called to the colors in America's new defense army and navy, will be the American Red Cross, fulfilling its mission of service to the men in the line and to their loved ones at home, Chairman Norman H. Davis announced in Washington.

"Several thousand Red Cross nurses already have been called to the colors," Mr. Davis said, "and Red Cross field directors, and thousands of Red Cross workers in Chapters throughout the nation, are ready to help America's soldiers and sailors with personal problems, just as in the 1917-18 World War period.

"Every patriotic man and woman in the United States, who wants to do his or her share in upholding the national defense of our nation, can do so by sharing in the vitally important work of the Red Cross. Join as a member of the local Chapter during the roll call, November 11 to 30, and through your support you will strengthen the Red Cross army of mercy.

"Recruits are needed not alone as members, but also as volunteer workers in the Red Cross Chapters."

Red Cross work will continue undiminished in its usual domestic program of relief in disaster; community public health nursing; safety education and promotion of the Junior Red Cross. An individual membership supports all of this work, not only in Red Cross Chapters, but in the nation. Relief to war victims in Europe is financed by the $20,000,000 war relief fund contributed by the public during the summer of 1940.

Transforming a Box Into Smart Ottoman

By RUTH WYETH SPEARS

PAD the top of a box and slip-cover it; then add a separate cushion three inches thick. The result will be a smart ottoman that either may match or contrast with the cover of your favorite chair. The little feet made of drawer pulls keep the ottoman from looking like a box. A corded seam where the skirt of the slip cover joins the top, and an inverted pleat at each corner of the skirt also give a professional touch. I suggest tacking the slip cover firmly in place as shown in the sketch.

If down or feathers are used to fill the separate cushion, make an inner cushion of ticking with a top and a bottom piece the size of the box top; and a straight three-inch piece around the sides. If kapok is used for filling, this inner cushion may be made of muslin. The cover of the separate cushion has corded seams to match the box slip cover.

NOTE: These directions should be clipped from the paper as they are not available in booklet form. However, complete directions for making slip covers and for making corded seams are in SEWING-Book No. 1. No. 3 also contains valuable slip cover suggestions. These 32-page booklets are 10c each. CHAPTER XIX—Continued.

Away westward, twenty miles perhaps, there came a momentary rift in the overcast sky, and a peak of the Barricade Mountains, thrust up like a blunt thumb, threw back an opalescent glow. Sunrise; and Gandy set his watch. He rode on after that into a thickening gloom, until the mist came down about him and turned to fine drizzle.

He stopped and shrugged into his black slicker. Steam rose from the palomino. The little beast shifted uneasily and tried to wheel back. "Cut it out!" said Gandy. "I don't like this either!"

They moved on, angling into the southwest. There was no turning back from this trail, he knew that; but this minute he would like to turn back. His life had never seemed so much worth holding onto; because that moment, there in his arms Helen Cameron had answered his kiss.

He pushed on. And then an abrupt converging of many cowtrails told him that a water-hole was not far off. They came in fanwise from across the bench top, merging together until they were one deep rut, and following, he struck unexpectedly down the course of a ravine. Within twenty minutes after that he was swinging off at the cabin of Outpost Camp.

It had only the one small building, of weathered boards and an iron roof, set where the ravine emptied into the sink. The water-hole with a single tall mountain cedar, out of place here, was behind the cabin. A steer hide from an animal butchered in the last round-up hung stiff and dry from the tree's lowest branch.

Hollister had been here. The large sharp prints of his black showed at the water-hole. Then inside the cabin Gandy at once sniffed cigarette smoke. The coffee pot, a quarter full of grounds, was cold. But the cast iron stove was faintly warm. Hollister had left not more than an hour ago.

Again in the saddle Gandy put spurs to the palomino, relieved for a little while by a feeling that Hollister might not be too far ahead. There was a chance of catching up before Bill encountered any of the 77.

Yet cattle prowling the sink bottom had left their maze of tracks, across which the pock-marks of a single horse could not be followed. Herds of the uncomfortable animals were crowded close against the sink cliff, trying to find shelter from a needled wind. The drizzle had ceased. Back at the cabin Gandy had peeled out of his slicker and tied it again behind his seat.

From this distance he saw a choice of three ways up. Along the sheer rock face three deep notches showed within a mile of one another. The first seemed to bear too far southward. Either the second or third appeared more in his course due west. There was no way to tell into which one Hollister had gone, and staring hard as he approached the silent cuts, Walt Gandy felt for the first time a cold dread. Then, nearer, he saw something that jerked him to instant wariness.

A low rock wall had been built across the first ravine mouth to prevent C C cattle from drifting west out of the sink. That wall now lay scattered. It was the same in the second cut. By the time he had charged on to the third, the sign was plain; 77 men had thrown these barriers down to let their cattle through. The drive of two thousand head was coming—even now some of the 77 guards might be watching the rims above him. Still, Kelso and Stoddard had not expected fight from the C C.

Gandy wheeled suddenly up the third cut.

He shoved around the next bends at a faster pace, all at once wanting to be out of this. No wind reached him down here, and no sound saved the rapid pad of his palomino's hoofs. He felt the oppression of being caged in, and riding blind. Then when he least expected it, the cut struck sharply upward; there was a short scramble on loose rock, a funneling away of the walls, and he rose abruptly upon the open prairie.

An immediate sweeping glance took in a circle of flat empty land. He was alone. But then far westward where this top began a long lift, a dark smudge showed against gray earth. The 77 drive. Seven miles off, Gandy judged, though maybe more. They'd not reach the watch. Three o'clock; dark in another two hours. Hollister? He rocked up onto his feet, hands on the saddle horn and stood searching that sector of prairie west and southwest.

He reined his pony south, seeking the heads of those other two ravines, for surely into one of them Hollister had started. There was no other way west. Again as he rode on, bowed into a cold wind, there settled upon him a dull constant dread, the sense of an inevitable ending here which Hollister himself had predicted.

He had covered less than a quarter of a mile when a rider seemed to leap from the very earth. His horse was in a tight run, the man bent forward, and he had shot out like that, Gandy knew, from one of the other west cuts. He was headed for the 77 drive and through the first minute after his sudden appearance it was plain that he did not know there was another on the prairie top.

Gandy clapped spurs to the palomino, loosening the thirty-eight in its belt holster as he quartered toward the fleeing man. This party was getting away from something; no doubt about that. His head turned, and then in a jerk upon shortened reins, he set his horse back with all hoofs sliding. In the same move his right hand had crossed over to the left of his saddle; smoothly a rifle ran from the scabbard there and whipped up to his shoulder.

Things happened then. Distance was too far for the thirty-eight. Wheeling his own mount Walt Gandy made a vain try with two rapid shots. He saw dust kick up in front of the other's horse. Wind snatched a white wisp from the rifle barrel leveled toward him and a hornet zinged close to his ear. Again he saw the white wisp and his palomino jumped straight up. He heard that second report, a third and the earth rose and slammed him from the saddle.

Breath went out of him and he fought a black fog that thickened before his eyes. It could have lasted only a few seconds. He came out of it crouched behind the body of his horse, gun trained across the bulging side. The other man was streaking away once more in a head-long run.

Walt Gandy stood up and was not aware until then that he was shot in the left leg. It felt as if a red-hot rod was suddenly stabbed into his flesh near the knee. His knee was stiff; his blue jeans already beginning to stain. But again that went momentarily out of his mind as he stared down at the unmoving palomino. The little beast was dead.

The fact registered now only in a numbing way; too much impended for him to feel the full sense of his loss. Rapidly he stripped off the saddle, blanket, and bridle, shouldered them and turned toward the ravine out of which the unknown rider had appeared. On the rim he looked back. He would never want to own another pale gold horse.

Now it was a matter of getting back to Outpost Camp with no time lost, and searching the ravine on the way. The rider might have left him for dead. Still it would be no good if others came ahead and found him on 77 ground afoot.

The cut slanted in a sharp descent at first, then leveled out in a winding sand bottom much like the one up which he had ridden. High-heeled boots were never made for rapid walking. He limped on, shifting the saddle from shoulder to shoulder. He was perhaps halfway to the sink when two brass shells glittered against the sand. Gandy scooped them up, put them to his nose. Next he had let the saddle gear fall and was stumbling ahead, for the shells still had in them the rancid smoke of freshly burned powder.

Within fifty paces the sand showed that Hollister's horse had come to a sudden stop, had wheeled, plunged sideways. All the marks of ambush were here in a tangle of tracks—and then a spot where a man had fallen, bleeding.

Gandy ran on, reading signs where the horse had come to a halt, and where Hollister had remounted. Relief swept him. Bill was not dead. But farther on he was following a trail of blood stains dropped evenly every two paces.

CHAPTER XX

BILL HOLLISTER had clung to his saddle until within twenty feet of the cabin at Outpost Camp. Stumbling up, Gandy saw where he had pitched to the ground, then dragged himself on a short distance. He was lying now on his back, left arm folded under his head, inert, but conscious. His eyes opened at the thud of boots and in them a knowing smile kindled. He started to speak.

"Save it," said Gandy. "Think you're a swell prophet, don't you!" He bent over. "How are you, Bill? Where are you hit?"

Not until he had moved the man a little to lift him, did he see the right arm almost shot away, and a widening spot of blood from another wound somewhere in Hollister's back. His own injury was nothing compared to this; a continued stiffening of the left knee, but the stain on his blue jeans was drying. He picked Bill Hollister up bodily, carried him to the cabin and booted the door inward.

Outpost Camp was the usual range shack, an overnight stopping-place for a man riding circle, or the center of a more lively scene for a week during fall or spring round-up. Inside was a rough table, half a dozen boxes for chairs, four double-bunks and a stove. It was no more barren nor isolated than most, yet entering with the wounded man, Walt Gandy felt that a place had never been so desolate.

He laid Hollister on the straw tick of a lower bunk near the stove, pushed back the stove lids and crammed brush stems in onto ash that was still warm. There was no wood here in the bottoms. The brush flared. Methodically he went out to the spring for water, brought in a full bucket, poured some in a basin to heat, some in the coffee pot, went out for more fuel—and all the time he was telling himself that a tough fellow like that one in there couldn't die, knowing that he could.

Hollister lay face down, saying nothing during the minutes Walt worked over him, cleaning sand from the shattered right arm, then putting on a tight bandage to stop the blood. The back wound was only a small neat hole; but what the bullet had done internally was beyond Gandy's help, save for the ease of coffee and soothing warmth from the red-hot stove. In time someone would come. He could only wait.

Finished with his first-aid, he brought the coffee pot, two tin cups and sat down on a box beside the bunk. Hollister was over on his back now, his head propped upon a folded coat, and that quiet, knowing smile had never left his eyes. He managed the cup with his left hand. They sat there drinking, silent.

Not much talk had ever been needed between these two. For a time now they did not talk at all.

Hollister opened his mouth and took a cigarette held out for him. Then he lay silently smoking. But there was something he wanted to talk about and seemed waiting until enough strength was stored. His eyes sobered to their deep-set, studying look.

Walt Gandy saw, and felt instinctively that he did not want to listen. He did not want a confession, if that was what Hollister had on his mind. What did it matter?

Twice he shook his head to stave off talk, until with effort the lank man burst out: "Turn around here! I've got things to tell you. And I haven't got much time."

"They'll keep," said Gandy. "You're going to pull out of this all right. The ranch knows where we are and someone will come trailing us if we don't show up. You keep quiet." But he drew his eyes from the pain-ridden face. If they were coming, they'd better hurry!

"No," Hollister managed doggedly. "I want you to understand something."

Gandy's head lifted and he looked across the flickering light to where Hollister lay in shadow. "Maybe I do already, Bill. Never mind."

"What do you mean by that?"

"Let it go, Bill."

"Well, I don't think you do," Hollister said. "It's Helen I want to talk about."

"Walt? Have you fallen in love with that girl?"

The question came so pointedly that Walt Gandy stared. Then he countered: "What difference does that make one way or the other?"

"All the difference, in what I say to you," Hollister answered, and the grave tone of his voice showed this deeply important to him. "Have you?"

Walt Gandy admitted only, "I've never met anyone like her."

"Good," said Hollister. "That's enough." Though his lean face was in half dark, he seemed to be smiling to himself, pleased with something, and Gandy wondered.

Hollister waited to regain breath. Unexpectedly he asked: "You must have an idea by this time, haven't you, who killed Chino Drake?"

Walt Gandy's gaze slid to the floor. He said nothing. What did it matter now?

Hollister persisted. "And Ranger Powell, too. But maybe you haven't figured the reason . . ."

"Bill! Shut up!"

Gandy was up onto his feet. Outside, Hollister's horse had nickered.

crunched and someone rapped on the door.

Gandy waited, thirty-eight aimed at hip level.

The sharp rap came again, and a voice, saying, "Bill! Bill Hollister?"

He jerked the door inward, sheathing the gun. "Helen! Helen, where are you?"

"Here," she answered out of the dark, invisible at only a little more than arm's length. Then she gasped, "Walt! Has something happened? What are you doing?"

He stepped back. "Are you alone?"

"No. Paul is out there with the horses." Gandy had groped for the candle in its beer bottle holder, found it and struck a match. "Come in, Helen. Bill is over there, on the bunk."

The girl darted past him, and he did not turn to look. He heard the light thud as she flung herself down beside the wounded man, and a single fluttering cry of her voice. Her words came softly after that, flowing on in tones as soothing as a caress. He closed the door behind him and stood outside in the dark.

Time ceased; a long blank age in which a girl's words turned from caressing to pleading, followed by silence. At last the door opened, and Helen groped out with the candlelight flickering at her back.

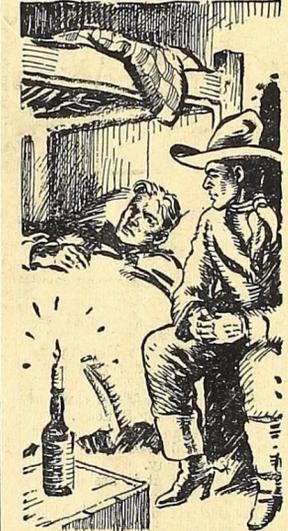

"I'm here." He caught her outstretched hands.

Her voice broke. "I knew it! I knew something like this had happened and started early in the afternoon. Oh, why didn't I come sooner! Is it too late? Wait, if he dies, I don't know what I'll do!"

"He's tough," said Gandy. "You've got to go right back, Helen. I'd go but the 77 has gunmen loose out here. Phone for a doctor. Tell Horsethief Fisher to bring on Bailey and his bunch. We can't move Hollister now." Her face was close to him and he saw that she was crying. Her hands gripped his, hard. "Hurry," he told her. "Ride like the devil!"

He heard her at the spring talking to Paul Champion. There burst a rattle of running hoofs as they plunged off across the sink, and he went back inside to Bill Hollister.

At once it seemed as if the girl's being here, and what had passed

"So you lied at the inquest to shield Cash Cameron!"

between them was all the man had wanted. The fight against pain was gradually distorting his face, yet deep under that look his expression was unbelievably peaceful. He looked up: "God never made another one like her, Walt. I've thought that every minute for two years, and still do. Now you sit down here and listen. Don't you butt in."

Gandy hitched his box in close.

"Bill," he said, "there's not a darn thing you need to tell me."

"Plenty I've got to tell you!" Hollister answered. "You think I killed Drake and Ranger Powell. I know. But I didn't, Walt."

"Then for . . . !"

"Wait. I knew that day before the Drake inquest that my rifle had vanished from the rack. Understand? Before the inquest. It wasn't taken by one of Battle's deputies while we were in town. I've known that all along."

Walt Gandy jerked forward, hands on his knees. "Then you mean Cash?"

Hollister nodded. "Only two days earlier Cameron lost his temper over the forest argument and threatened Powell. I heard it. Then the only thing I could see afterwards was that he had carried out his threat, and Chino Drake was unlucky enough to be a witness."

"So you lied at the inquest to shield Cash Cameron!"

"No. The day Drake and Powell were killed I was some place that a girl like Helen would never understand. But you—you know times we had on the border. Mexican fiesta, dances . . . There's a place here called Mexican Hole. That's where I was, trying to forget I could never make Helen Cameron marry me."

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Lesson for November 10

THE GOLDEN RULE

LESSON TEXT—Luke 6:27-38. GOLDEN TEXT—As ye would that men should do unto you, do ye also to them likewise.—Luke 6:31.

Hiding in a dark cellar will not stop the sun from shining; it will only deprive us of its warmth and life-giving power. Likewise the failure of mankind to receive and practice the great principles of Christian faith does not alter nor weaken them, even though it does deprive humanity of their blessing.

It may seem foolish to some to observe an Armistice Sunday in the midst of a world at war, to talk about the golden rule in a selfish world where men hate one another, but the fact is that now is the time to really proclaim the solution of God for man's problems. Then too, let us remember that the failure of mankind as a whole to receive the truth of God does not hinder us from receiving it as individuals. Our relationship to God is an individual matter, even though we also belong to a race or nation. Our lesson presents

I. A Great Christian Principle (vv. 27-31).

The magnificent breadth of this principle of Christian consideration has often been lost sight of in argument over the detailed interpretation of verses 29 and 30. Surely there is not in mind here any casting to the winds of an intelligent appraisal of the needs of those to whom we give; nor is there any thought of a self-glorifying turning of another cheek in physical combat. It does not teach that our nation may not defend itself against those who attack us. At the same time we must note that it means much more than most of us are willing to read into its words.

What does it mean? It means that in the spirit of Christian love we will give of ourselves and our substance in "large handed but thoughtful charity." It means love for our enemies—no small withholding even from unreasonable people. It means doing unto others what we would have them do unto us. It "requires that we should sell to others as we desire that others sell to us . . . that we buy of others as we desire others to buy of us . . . that we talk about others behind their backs as we desire that others should talk about us . . . Are we doing it?" (Dr. John W. Bradbury).

The Golden Rule is not the Gospel. No one is saved by living according to it; in fact, that is quite impossible apart from faith in Christ.

II. Its Divine Foundation (vv. 32-35).

The so-called golden rules of men lack the divine element of grace and are all in the negative. Confucius said, "Do not do to others what you would not want them to do to you." Others spoke similarly, but Jesus, building on the divine love which does good to even the evil and the unthankful (v. 35), gives a positive admonition of gracious consideration of others.

We are the children of the Most High God (v. 35) and are to live in accordance with His standards and, what is of equal importance, by His grace and strength. Even Christians are prone to live as their neighbors live (vv. 32-34) until they see how much better God's way is, and realize that He gives enabling grace for a daily walk in that better way.

III. Its Practice and Reward (vv. 36-38).

Jesus has already admonished His followers to love and serve both friend and foe. The manner in which that is to be put into practice is further developed by urging them to be merciful, not setting themselves up to judge the conduct of others, but rather giving liberally to them in a spirit of love. This does not forbid judging on the part of those whose official duty it is to judge, nor does it set aside the exercise of sound judgment (Isa. 56:1 and I John 4:1), but it does forbid unauthorized and unkind judgment.

"But will all this pay?" asks Dr. Bradbury (in "The Gist of the Lesson") and answers: "Indeed it will . . . The measure that we use in measuring out to others is the very measure God will use in measuring in to us. The reason many of us get so small a blessing from God is that we use such a small measure in our beneficences and blessings to others" (see Phil. 4:19, noting vv. 15-19; II Cor. 9:8, noting vv. 6, 7; and I John 3:22, noting vv. 16-21). "One of the most fundamental conditions of prevailing prayer is generosity in giving. A stingy man cannot be a mighty man of prayer (Prov. 21:13)." Read these verses with care, and they will bring a real blessing to your life.

Giving and Receiving

Give, and it shall be given unto you good measure, pressed down, and shaken together, and running over, shall men give into your bosom. For with the same measure that ye mete withal it shall be measured to you again.—Luke 6:38.

Epinephrine Injections For Asthma

By DR. JAMES W. BARTON
(Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

NOW that the cause of many cases of asthma has been found—sensitiveness or allergy to some food or other substances, and also nose and throat defects—there is less written about treatment of the asthmatic attacks. True, there is much being written about the treatment of severe attacks by breathing in pure oxygen, and the use of ether enemata.

TODAY'S HEALTH COLUMN

What about the ordinary attacks that last from minutes to hours and make life miserable for patient and family?

There is nothing so quickly effective in relieving asthmatic attacks as epinephrine, extract of the adrenal gland. Within 5 to 15 minutes after an injection of epinephrine under the skin, the attack gradually subsides and the patient is perfectly well again.

Dosage Prescribed.
Dr. M. B. Cohen, in Ohio State Medical Journal, points out that it is now necessary to use the large doses of epinephrine usually prescribed, that is 10 to 15 minims (drops). This dose sometimes causes reactions that are more alarming to the patient than the attack itself. He therefore suggests that but three to six minutes of the usual 1 to 1,000 solution be injected under the skin. "The attack will subside in most cases in a few minutes; if it does not, the dose should be repeated in 20 minutes."

What can be done to prevent attacks of asthma while the cause is being sought?

Dr. Cohen states that in many cases injecting four or five minims of epinephrine under the skin every three or four hours, day and night, will prevent asthmatic attacks and less of the epinephrine will be needed than if the physician waits for the coming of the attack before giving it.

Facts Regarding Angina Pectoris

YOU may wonder as to just what difference exists between coronary thrombosis and angina pectoris.

In coronary thrombosis there is an actual blocking of the vessels supplying the walls of the heart. The blocking may be due to a blood clot, a small piece of tissue from some vegetable-like growths at valves of the heart, or to thickened lining of the blood vessel itself. As this condition may last for hours or days, the pain in coronary thrombosis (under breast bone and up into left breast) may last for hours or days. There is some real damage present.

In angina pectoris there may be some of the same kind of damage present, but often there is no damage or alteration present in the heart itself or nearby vessels, but nevertheless, something is interfering with the blood getting to the heart muscle. As the heart muscle is not getting enough blood (enough nourishment), it cannot do its work and there is a tight, viselike pain present. By standing still, thus not asking the heart to pump as much blood, the pain usually passes away in a few minutes.

This pain is under the breast bone and is exactly the same—and caused in the same way—as the pain we got as youngsters when we were running or taking exercise, before we got our "second wind."

Cause of the Attacks.
It was formerly thought that all attacks of angina pectoris were due to effort or exercise, but it is now known that excitement, anger, walking into the cold air, or a heavy meal may bring on the attacks.

Sir Thomas Lewis in his book, "Diseases of the Heart," has encouraging words for those afflicted with these attacks following effort. He states that the expectation of life in these does not differ very greatly from those who do not have these attacks.

In other words, in the majority of cases, if these individuals will exercise, eat, and have control of their emotions within reasonable limits, their life line will be as long as the average for their age.

A.—Kaolin is a clay in powder form. It is used in dusting powders and for intestinal disturbances.

Q.—Does insulin cure diabetes?

A.—No. But insulin enables the blood to hold and use more sugar which otherwise would be thrown out of the body in the urine. By the use of this sugar the patient is enabled to live on as long as he takes the insulin.

THE TRUTH SIMPLY TOLD
Today's popularity of Doan's Pills, after many years of world-wide use, surely must be accepted as evidence of satisfactory use. And favorable public opinion supports that of the able physicians who test the value of Doan's under exacting laboratory conditions.

These physicians, too, approve every word of advertising you read, the objective of which is only to recommend Doan's Pills as a good diuretic treatment for disorder of the kidney function and for relief of the pain and worry it causes.

If more people were aware of how the kidneys must constantly remove waste that cannot stay in the blood without injury to health, there would be better understanding of why the whole body suffers when kidneys lag, and diuretic medication would be more often employed. Burning, scanty or too frequent urination sometimes warn of disturbed kidney function. You may suffer nagging backache, persistent headache, attacks of dizziness, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes—feel weak, nervous, allayed out.

Use Doan's Pills. It is better to rely on a medicine that has won world-wide acclaim than on something less favorably known. Ask your neighbor!

Roundabout Transfer

A transfer company went to great length—2,300 miles—to move a piano three blocks for A. M. Shearer, of Minneapolis. When Shearer's stored furniture was moved, the piano was missing. Investigation revealed it had been sent by mistake to Dallas, Texas.

Hot Weather Affects Fish

Fish are affected by hot weather just as we are. Many mountain trout are often killed by excessive heat. River banks that have been denuded of trees and vegetation are sometimes responsible for warming up water to 75 or 80 degrees, at which temperatures the fish cannot survive.

Nova Scotia Caribou

Herds of caribou once more may roam through the forests of Nova Scotia if an experiment being carried out by provincial authorities is successful. Nine of the animals, with young, have been brought in from Newfoundland and released in the game preserve here.

Pennsylvania's Varied Foods

It is said that Pennsylvania has more varied food dishes than any other state because of the food customs brought there by the English, Quakers, Swedes, Germans, Hollanders, Swiss, French and Russians.

Sugarcane by Yard

Sugarcane is bought by the children of Nassau by either the foot or yard. A penny a foot is the usual rate. Equally cheap are mangoes, tamarinds, sea grapes, soursops, paw-paws, sapodillas and avocado pears.

Child Food Training

Children learn to like new foods if they eat small amounts of them often enough under pleasant circumstances, child guidance specialists say.

New Type Sheep

A dual purpose sheep, producing both good wool and good mutton, has been bred for small farm operators.

Counting the Miles

One of the forerunners of the cyclometer on the dashboard of every auto was a contraption known as the "roadmeter." It consisted of a device that counted the revolutions of a wagon wheel and was invented by one of the Mormon leaders on the long trek of his sect to Utah. One of the duties of the inventor was to multiply the number of revolutions by the circumference of the wheel to estimate the distance traveled each day.
