Pioneer Burleigh Township Woman Dead

Mary Hattois, Sr., a pioneer of Burleigh township, passed away last week Wednesday evening at the home of her niece, Mrs. Mary A. Kelley, at Whittemore. Mrs. Hattois was 86 years of age at death.

Mary Murry was born December 23, 1854, in Waterford county, Ireland. She came to the United States at sixteen years of age in company with a number of young girls who were seeking adventure and better living conditions. After being here for some time she was married to Patrick O'Neal who died in 1889 at East Tawas.

On September 13, 1892, she was married to John Hattois at East Tawas and they at once made their home on his farm in Burleigh township. This part of the county was new and wild, with plenty of woods at that time. Mrs. Hattois often spoke of getting lost in the woods while seeking the cows, and also of meeting a bear on one occasion.

Due to the ill health of Mr. Hattois they moved to Whittemore in 1924 where he passed away on December 4, 1925. On December 25, 1934, Mrs. Hattois came to live with her niece, Mrs. Mary Kelly, of Whittemore, where she passed away last Wednesday.

Funeral services were held from St. James Catholic church, Saturday morning. Burial was in the St. James cemetery. Left to mourn her passing are her nieces and nephews, one brother-in-law and two sisters-in-law and a host of friends.

Mrs. Hattois was highly esteemed by all who knew her.

3 INJURED AT OSSINEKE COLLISION

D. & M. Freight Plows Into Derailed Motor Coach

When the south bound freight Monday morning piled into the derailed gas-electric passenger train of the Detroit & Mackinac railway at Ossineke three women were injured. The accident occurred at 8:35 o'clock. Other passengers had left the train. The three injured women, passengers in the gas-electric train, were Mrs. Olga Matsoukas, of Alpena, Mrs. Paul Lee, of Detroit, and Miss Maud Keeran, of Byron. All were taken to the General Hospital at Alpena. Mrs. Matsoukas suffered a back injury, Mrs. Lee a bruised knee, and Miss Keeran sustained lacerations on her leg.

The passenger train had been derailed by an ice-filled switch while attempting to enter the siding at Ossineke. It went off the track and came to rest across the main line and siding. The freight, approaching at about ten miles per hour crashed into the derailed car. An attempt had been made to slow the freight down but the icy condition of the rails prevented it from coming to a stop.

The gas-electric coach was badly damaged. One end was crushed. The pilot of the freight engine was smashed, but no rails were torn up and the train remained on the tracks. The passenger train crew—Chester Allen, engineer; Eugene Tamerleau, conductor. The freight train crew—Clyde Fleeger, engineer; Amos Galbraith, fireman; George Dane, conductor; William Barry, brakeman.

The two trains were canceled Monday, but during the day the wreckage was cleaned away and regular schedules were resumed.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

64 Killed in Rumanian 'Blood Purge'; Hitler Forms New League of Nations Until Soviet Russia Scowls at Bulgaria; U. S. Food Industry Faces Investigation

(EDITOR'S NOTE—When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of the news analyst and not necessarily of this newspaper.) (Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

LEAGUE OF NATIONS: New Memberships

Adolf Hitler was lining up states for what Berlin termed a modern League of Nations when he met up with Bulgaria.

He had signed three nations to the Axis alliance, although it must be admitted all of these long had been in the Axis sphere of influence and their formal initiation could not be expected to occasion any great surprise.

First came Japan, which for more than four years was allied by treaty with Germany and Italy. Japan enrolled anew. Then came Rumania, which two months before was taken over by Iron Guard Gen. Ion Antonescu. Antonescu signed up formally, but the signature gave Germany no more oil than it had been getting since the war began.

Then came King Boris of Bulgaria. He listened, went home and said he would send a delegation to carry

RUMANIA: Blood Purge

Anarchy stalked the Balkan nation of Rumania, as members of the fascist Iron Guard party executed at least 64 political enemies. Without benefit of official sanction from their leader, Premier Gen. Ion Antonescu, self-appointed execution squads raided a jail where political prisoners were held and led them before the tomb of the founder of their party, Corneliu Codreanu, and there put them to death.

A Rumanian communique admitted the killings and stated that the government "disapproves." It is understood that the section of the Iron Guard party which has taken over the law into its own hands, believes their founder, Codreanu, to be a martyr, and their action has been taken to avenge his killing during King Carol's regime.

Admittedly they are paying off their chief political score by this method, now that they have driven the king from his country.

STRIKE: In Defense Plants

At opposite ends of the nation, strikes in two factories engaged in airplane manufacture for the army attracted national attention. At Downey, Calif., production was halted for 12 days in the Vultee Aircraft factory when the aircraft division of the C. I. O. automobile workers demanded higher pay.

Chief trouble seemed not to be over the higher wages, which were granted, but to an insistence on the part of the corporation that an agreement be reached guaranteeing there would be no strike for two years and that in the meantime all disputes be settled by arbitration.

The strike came in for debate in congress when demands were heard in the house that a law be enacted forbidding labor to strike in any plants where defense contracts were being filled. Attorney General Jackson also referred to the strike in a dispute with Representative Dies (D., Texas) over methods of procedure in handling subversive influences. The attorney general said the FBI was aware that the Vultee strike was "being prolonged" due to Communistic influence.

The strike was finally settled after Dr. John R. Steelman, chief of the department of labor's conciliation service, and R. J. Thomas, national

AID TO BRITAIN: Money Needed

AMBASSADOR LOTHIAN He had a frank statement.

Lord Lothian, British ambassador to Washington, returned from London with a frank statement that his government has spent almost all the American money it can lay its hands on. He intimated that if the United States is to continue to give aid in the form of supplies, some method soon must be found to finance further orders. He said virtually all the gold and American securities of British ownership had been sold in the U. S. markets to obtain the American dollars already used.

The Johnson act forbids American credits to any nation which defaulted on its 1918 war debts. Pro-British groups here have urged the act be repealed but Lord Lothian refused to comment on this.

President Roosevelt also made it known that no administration source had advocated the Johnson act be abolished. In reply to some criticism that the United States was not giving sufficient aid to Britain, the President declared that such assistance had about reached the maximum possible under present industrial capacity. He told reporters in any way to make airplanes faster could be found, he would like to know it. "You can't give orders one day and have planes the next," he said.

In London there was talk in semi-official circles that eventually it might be well to offer the United States possessions of British crown colonies in the Caribbean in exchange for munitions.

INVESTIGATION: Food Prices

Following up the inquiry into home building several months ago, the department of justice has decided to inquire into what it believes is monopolistic tendencies in the nation's food markets.

The home-building investigation ended in 99 indictments against 1,538 contractors, manufacturer's association and labor union executives. The objectives of the food-price inquiry will be two-fold, said the department: To lower the price of living and to protect the farmer who buys retail and sells wholesale.

Processors and distributors, the department says, receive about 50 to 60 per cent of the consumers' dollar. In the fish, cheese, poultry and retail grocery markets, it is charged, prices are fixed by fictitious auctions. The canning and bread industry are declared to engage in price-fixing.

CONGRESS MOVES: No Adjournment

When house and senate refused to quit and go home, architects of the Capitol served notice to get out before the roof came down on their heads. The architects were not thinking in the terms of heated wrath. Rather they were concerned with cold snow.

The roof of the Capitol long has been regarded as too weak for safety. Plans had been made to strengthen it during the recess of the seventy-sixth congress. But congress refused to recess. It did move, however, to give workmen a chance to get struts in place before snows arrived in Washington.

MISCELLANY:

The Pan-American Airways Clipper plane set out for Honolulu on the Pacific crossing the other day, the 442nd such trip. There was no special ceremony, but that trip was an anniversary flight—the fifth year that passenger air service has been in existence on the largest ocean route.

England and Germany continued to swap air raids. The British paid nightly visits to ports along the coast from Trondheim to Lorient and smashed at electrical power plants, munitions factories, airplane fields and rail lines in Germany, Holland, Belgium and France. The Germans invented a new word, "Coventrated," for towns given concentrated assaults like was given Coventry, Southampton, Bristol and Birmingham, they said, were "Coventrated."

Gov. Payne H. Ratner, when he was a Kansas state senator, introduced a bill which permitted absentee voting. It became law. At the election this year the law stood Ratner in good stead. Seeking reelection over William H. Burke, Democrat, he apparently lost the state. But when the absentee ballots were counted 16 days later, they gave him sufficient strength to win by 427 votes.

Oscar Strauss, Vienna composer, left his beautiful, blue Danube. He arrived in America, which he intends to make his home.

King Ananda Mahidol of Thailand (Siam) is shown here with his mother when he was at school in Lausanne, Switzerland. Today the country ruled by the young king is at war with France, according to an announcement issued in Vichy. Thailand had made territorial demands on the government of the French colony. King Ananda succeeded King Prajadhipok when the latter abdicated in 1935. Thailand is ruled by a regency until the young man comes of age.

Plastering. QUESTION: Our dining room, bedroom, and kitchen walls are plasterboard, with two thicknesses of wallpaper. We want to put on plaster with a hard, smooth finish. Must the wallpaper first be entirely removed? Could we use plastic paint?

Answer: Before plastering, the wallpaper must be removed, which can be done by soaking it with water. Be careful in doing the job, so that in taking off the paper that is part of the plasterboard. With the paper off, you can apply wall plaster, of the ordinary kind; but I should prefer plastic paint of a kind that is made with gypsum. This contains an adhesive that will make a good bond with your plasterboard. It can be applied with a broad brush and smoothed down with a trowel or a plasterer's float.

Damp Cellar. Question: In an old farmhouse that we recently purchased, the cellar is very damp, even though it is cemented. The stone walls sweat, and in wet weather water comes in at the side. Can we do anything ourselves at no great expense to make the cellar dry?

Answer: You can check or even stop the leakage through the walls by repointing the inside stonework. Using a cold chisel and a hammer, dig out the mortar to a depth of an inch or more, and replace it with a mortar made of 1 part portland cement, 1/2 part of hydrated lime, 3 parts of clean building sand, and only enough water to make a workable mixture. Wet the joints with water, and pack them tightly with this mortar. If your rainwater leaders discharge into the ground 10 feet or less from the house, change their positions so that the discharge will be at least 15 feet away. For condensation, run a low fire in your heating plant for a day or two; air the cellar only on dry and hot days, keeping it closed on days that are humid and at night.

Damp Odor. Question: Last year's rains brought a strong, damp odor in our basement, and much mold appeared. With two rains in June the smell reappeared. How can the cellar walls be waterproofed?

Answer: The moldy odor indicates rotting wood, or other vegetable or animal material. To get rid of the odor you must locate and get rid of the cause. If the dampness is from condensation on the cellar walls, which is likely, no coating on the walls will prevent it. You must line the walls with something that will keep the warm and damp air from being chilled by the cool masonry.

Floor Finish. Question: My floors have just been scraped by machine and two coats of wax put on. Dirt is beginning to show where there is constant walking. How can I keep the floors clean and fresh looking?

Answer: Wax should not be applied directly to the floor boards, for dirt will go through and into the wood. The floor should be given a coat of varnish or shellac before waxing. To take up the dirt, wipe with liquid wax—not water wax. This will loosen the dirt, which can then be wiped up with a clean cloth. Follow by re waxing. If you decide to put on a preliminary coat of varnish, you must first remove the wax, which can be done by several wipings with turpentine.

Rusty Refrigerator. Question: In my refrigerator the unit burned out, and the escaping gas corroded the wire shelves and the metal in the ice cube compartment. These parts are all very rusty. How can I remove the rust?

Answer: All of those metal parts were originally plated or coated with some metal intended to prevent rusting; possibly zinc. Rusting shows that this preventive coating has disappeared. Cleaning off the rust will be only temporary. You should either get new parts, or send the rusty parts to a plating shop to be cleaned and plated with chromium. A garage can give you the name of a nearby plating shop.

Repainting a Porch Floor. Question: Our porch needs repainting. In some places the old paint is chipped and peeling. Before repainting, we plan to rub these spots with sandpaper. Do you know of any product which can be used as a base to cover these spots, before the new paint is applied?

Answer: Sandpaper the edges of the chipped and peeled spots. Exposed knotty or resinous areas should be wiped with turpentine. All spots where the wood is exposed should be given a prime coat of paint. To prevent peeling, seal all cracks and crevices between the floor boards with putty.

KING BORIS OF BULGARIA His 'Red Brother' scowled.

out the arduous duties of treaty signing. But no delegation arrived in Berlin. It was intimated in Sofia that Bulgaria had received covert advice from Russia that the Big Red Brother wouldn't be pleased at all to have German troops in Bulgaria, 250 miles from the Dardanelles. The German ministry of propaganda and public enlightenment said Germany hadn't wanted Bulgaria anyhow.

There was some whispering that all the fuss and feathers on the diplomatic front was just a means of covering up Hitler's lack of activity on the military front. Experts guessed that perhaps Hitler had heard some segments of the German people were not at all impressed with his failure to invade England and the spanking being taken by Mussolini in Albania. Diplomatic "victories" might fill the bill for a time and cover up the situation until spring, when a more determined attack on England is generally expected.

Blitzkrieg

"Have you heard of Mussolini's new secret weapon?" one diplomat in Switzerland asks another.

"No," said the man addressed. Then leaning forward and cupping his ear, "What is it?"

The first diplomat places a hand at the side of his mouth to simulate a whisper, and replies, "It's the German army."

At the end of the third week of Benito Mussolini's invasion of Greece, the Italians found themselves halfway back through Albania on their way home. The progress being made by the Fascist legions produced more humor in neutral sources than respect.

Outnumbered and outequipped, the Greeks fought a type of war that seemed to have the Italian version of the blitzkrieg dazzled. The Greeks refused to come out in the open and give battle in force. Instead they maneuvered through the Macedonian peaks catching the Fascists on their flanks and from the rear.

Losses were not high on either side, but the Fascists were forced to retreat from Koritzza to Pogradez to Argioacastro, surrendering base after base and leaving behind tanks, combat cars, automobiles, motorcycles and even bicycles.

British troops, airmen and ground combat soldiers, arrived on the mainland of Greece, thereby placing British soldiers again on the European continent, the first time since Dunkerque.

Should the Italians be unable to take up a defensive line before retreating to the plains of western Albania nearer the Adriatic coast, they might not be able to maintain their position anywhere in Albania. The Greeks were sure they could chase Mussolini entirely out of Albania. Neutral observers were not that sanguine.

SANTA Goes Modern

Santa Claus often steps out of his reindeer sleigh these days to make faster time, or to go where the sleigh cannot go. Here he is in the person of Capt. William Winecap, veteran New England pilot, ready to take off from the East Boston airport with another load of Christmas gifts for the lonely lighthouse keepers and isolated islanders.

This is how Santa Claus comes to Sun Valley—on skis. Here is the gay St. Nick speeding down the snowy slopes and right into the chimneys of the residents and visitors.

In lands of no snow Santa can be expected to use this novel method of bringing Yuletide joy to those who celebrate on the beaches. This warm-weather Santa who skips so nonchalantly over the deep blue sea happens to be Phil Daubens-Peck, famous Olympic games swimming champion.

Mistletoe Has Known Long, Eventful History

Of all the Christmas greens, the best-loved, probably, is the mistletoe, which likewise has experienced the most eventful history of all plants.

In the days of pagan worship in England the mistletoe was chosen for great honors, being cut from its host, the oak tree, with golden axes. It was gathered for the people and a bit given to each person to ward off illness.

But the plant paid dear for these honors for when the Christian church was established it was not allowed in any church because of its pagan association, and it is told that preachers even would stop in their sermons if a tiny bit were spied and the service waited until the offending bit of green was removed.

In later centuries it became again the symbol of peace and friendship and has since been tacked on the doorway as a token of friendly greeting.

Yule Log Cake

This year you may want to make a "Yule Log Cake." It's quite simple. Spread over a jelly roll a jelly fruit nut mixture. Roll quickly and wrap in waxed paper. Then chill until set. Cover with chocolate French pastry icing. The "bark" can be made by making grooves with a fork or pastry tube. You'll want some "knot holes" in your Yule Log Cake. Small white and green candles will do the trick. The "log" should be kept chilled until time to serve.

Motorists Warned to Drive With Care As Winter Ice Raises Traffic Hazards

CHICAGO. — Remembering last winter's fall down the front steps, the average person probably will tell you that ice is ice, and that it's always slippery.

He'll be right, but there's more to it than that. Ice is much more slippery when it's wet than when it's dry, at least so far as automobile tires are concerned.

This was the most striking fact brought out by Ralph A. Moyer, associate professor of highway engineering at Iowa State college and chairman of the National Safety Council's special committee on winter driving hazards. The committee's annual report was presented before 10,000 persons at the National Safety Congress last fall. All phases of accident prevention were studied at the Congress.

The committee's report is based on the most exhaustive skidding tests ever conducted. For two weeks last February, automobiles were sent spinning over the frozen surface of Lake Cadillac, Michigan, in an effort to gather information which would protect motorists from the hazards of winter driving. Cars were driven over the lake's smooth ice under many different conditions to determine the weather's effect on driving safety.

Thawing Ice Slipperier.
It was found that ice is somewhat sticky at near-zero temperatures. But above 20 degrees and when the sun comes out—beware! Brakes are only half as effective on thawing ice, acceleration is reduced 70 per cent and the maximum speed on curves is 50 per cent lower.

Winter presents a tough problem for traffic safety experts. Traffic death rates go up in all sections of the country as the mercury goes down. Traffic death rates in winter are about 40 per cent higher than summer rates in the northern half of the country, and about 20 per cent in the southern half.

The chief reason, of course, is skidding on snow or ice covered roads. Skidding is involved in only 1 per cent of the accidents on dry roads, but on wet roads the figure is as high as 27 per cent and on snowy or icy roads, up to 50 per cent.

50,000 Deep Sea Fish, 26 Voters Live in Tiny Marineland, Florida

Marine Studios, world's only oceanarium, contains two huge tanks containing 850,000 gallons of sea water. It is the only one of its kind in the world. Cornelius Vanderbilt Whitney, founder of Marineland, is shown in the inset.

MARINELAND, FLA.—A spectacular idea, a million dollars, and two huge sea-water tanks housing nearly 50,000 deep sea denizens—these three crystallized officially recently into the ambitious municipality of Marineland, Fla.

With a "population" in which humans are outnumbered, 2,000 to 1, by fish, the settlement was incorporated as a town in the fall of this year. As such Marineland began its census-recognized existence with many advantages over other American villages and with several distinctions unmatched by any city in the world. Here are some:

1. It is the smallest incorporated municipality in Florida, having only 26 qualified registered voters (it takes 25 registered voters to incorporate a municipality).

2. It is believed to be the smallest incorporated municipality in the entire United States.

3. The whole town is built within 300 acres around Marine studios, containing two huge tanks constructed at a cost of nearly a million dollars—raised chiefly through the efforts of C. V. Whitney, New York

Christmas Parades Held On 'Santa Claus Lane'

HOLLYWOOD.—Leading personalities of motion pictures, stage and radio will again participate this year in the nightly "Santa Claus Lane" festivities and parade.

Each Christmas season the world-famous Hollywood boulevard is renamed "Santa Claus Lane" and becomes one of the show places of the country. Lack of snow and ice does not dampen the festivities which take place during spring-like son is poorer visibility, resulting from more hours of darkness, snow and sleet storms, and fog.

"Oscar," the Michigan State Highway department's dummy, meets a pedestrian's fate in front of a skidding automobile, but the real yawalker hops to safety. Michigan highway officials and the National Safety Council co-operated in conducting winter driving tests on frozen Lake Cadillac, Michigan.

These hazards can be largely overcome, the committee says, by correct driving practices, adequate equipment, and proper maintenance of the roadway.

Tire Chains Effective.

Use of tire chains is the most practical means of self-help for increasing traction on snow and ice. On rear wheels only, chains cut braking distance and increase acceleration an average of 40 per cent as compared with tires alone. On all wheels chains further decrease braking distance 30 per cent as compared with chains on rear wheels.

Performance of chains is fairly uniform on ice at all temperatures—a big advantage over the variable performance of tires on ice. Speeds should not be much higher with chains than without, however, and on icy curves speeds with chains should be no higher than without them.

Safe driving requires more skill and caution in winter. Mechanical safeguards cannot be relied upon to take the place of ordinary common sense. The important thing is to greatly reduce speed, and keep the car under control at all times.

Wise motorists will investigate weather and road conditions before starting a trip, and if possible postpone or interrupt it when weather conditions are hazardous.

Everything possible should be done to maintain adequate vision. Windshield and windows must be clear of frost and snow. Heaters, windshield wipers and defrosters should be in good condition. Lights should be properly focused and aimed.

'Think Ahead.'

The report does not recommend letting air out of tires on slippery roads, since the added traction for stopping is slight and the tendency to skid on curves is increased. Also, tires with good treads, while safer on dry and wet roads, give no better performance on snow and ice than smooth tires.

Thinking ahead—anticipating emergencies—is more important in winter, because sudden stops and turns are impossible on slippery roads.

Watch out for varying conditions of the road surface. Don't take it for granted that because part of the pavement is clear, all of it is free of ice. Anticipate ice around curves and over hills, in shady spots and on bridges. Remember that ice is more slippery when it is thawing. Watch out for the sudden freeze in late afternoon which may convert a wet pavement into an icy one.

Keep a steady foot on the accelerator. Too fast acceleration may spin the wheels, causing a side skid. Slow down gradually. Once a skid starts turn the front wheels in the direction the car is skidding, leave the car in gear, and don't apply the brakes.

Highway departments can do much to reduce winter traffic hazards, the committee reported. Highway officials should strive to keep roads clear by prompt and complete snow removal; establish uniform and effective systems of road condition reporting, and adequately warn the motorist of the presence of snow plows and other equipment, or culvert headwalls, guard rails and other low obstructions covered by drifted snow. They should improve traction on ice by spreading abrasives treated with calcium or sodium chloride.

U. S. Blind Workers Aid National Defense

NEW YORK.—Although they will never be called upon to fight, blind men and women of the country are taking an active part in the nation's preparations for defense.

Hard at work in 43 workshops across the land, they are preparing certain supplies necessary for the government's defense plans, according to Robert W. Irwin, sightless executive director of the American Foundation for the Blind.

Under provisions of the Wagner-O'Day act, federal government departments purchase blind-made products whenever possible and for the past two years blind workers have been supplying these departments with brooms, mops, deck swabs, mattresses and the like at a fair market price, according to Irwin.

In recent weeks the government's order for pillowcases to serve the men in training has kept blind men and women working overtime, and has brought into the wage-earning group more than 400 additional sightless men and women who, up to now, have lacked the chance of employment.

The American Foundation for the Blind acts for the sightless across the country as a national agency. Connected with it is a non-profit marketing agency called National Industries for the Blind. This agency receives orders for blind-made goods, and allocates these orders to those institutions and sheltered shops best equipped to handle them. It is the foundation's aim to give blind men and women the opportunity to earn money for their own support. Work on national defense brings many blind persons opportunity to earn money of their own.

A GOOD NEIGHBOR

LESSON TEXT.—Luke 10:25-37.
GOLDEN TEXT.—Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy mind; and thy neighbor as thyself.—Luke 10:27.

What shall I do? These words fall from the lips or pass through the minds of millions of men and women each day.

Never does the question go more deeply than when it concerns man's eternal welfare, as it does in our lesson. Always the question indicates that man is not able to decide for himself, and needs the guidance of someone greater and wiser than he. It should lead us back to God, for only He can fully answer it. The good neighbor story of our Lord tells us

I. What to Do to Have Eternal Life (vv. 25-28).

The lawyer (a student of the law of Moses and hence a theologian rather than an attorney) was posing a question to try to entrap Jesus. He was apparently not much concerned about eternal life and assumed that it could be obtained by doing something. We know that eternal life is a gift (John 1:12; Rom. 6:23), but if the man wanted to have it by doing, Jesus was ready to meet him. In response to Jesus' question (v. 26) the lawyer gave Him what the Jews regarded as the summary of the whole law.

The man who can perfectly keep that law will have eternal life, declares Jesus. But note that you must do it, not just talk about it. And you must keep the whole law, "for whosoever shall keep the whole law, and yet stumble in one point, he is become guilty of all" (James 2:10, R. V.; see also Gal. 3:10). We see then

II. Why It Cannot Be Done by Man (v. 29).

The lawyer's effort to justify himself by diverting attention to the word "neighbor," which he felt needed definition, showed that he could not do the thing expected of him. The reason for man's failure lies primarily in his own weakness and inability to do what God requires, but is also revealed in his pitiable and futile efforts to justify himself.

The one who seeing his sinfulness and his utter inability to keep God's law casts himself on the Lord and is ready to receive the gift of eternal life; but the one who tries to defend his position and justify himself has shut the door on God's grace and mercy (see Luke 18:9-14). Let us see

III. How Christ Does It for and in Man (vv. 30-37).

The parable of the Good Samaritan answers fully and finally the question, "Who is my neighbor?" by making it clear that anyone who is in need, regardless of race, social position, condition or religion, is our neighbor. The priest and the Levite doubtless had plenty of excuses for not helping the wounded man, but let us remember that excuses, while they may count with men, mean only our condemnation in the presence of God.

It was the spirit of Christ that made the Samaritan show a compassionate and sacrificial interest in the needy man. Only Christ can make you and me like that; His love in the heart is the only "good neighbor program" that will ever work.

But Christ not only enables man to be a good neighbor, He is in fact the true Good Neighbor Himself; He is the Good Samaritan. "Jerusalem is the city of God; Jericho represents the world. The traveler is the type of humanity. Man has fallen in the awful road which leads down; fallen among thieves and is naked, wounded, helpless and hopeless. The failure of the priest and the scribe to help illustrates the inability of the law and the ordinances to save man out of his deplorable condition. The Good Samaritan is the Lord Jesus Christ. He came to the place where the lost are and He alone could have compassion on them. The wine typifies His precious blood He shed to save us. The oil is the type of the Holy Spirit, who applies the blood. He takes care of fallen man found by Christ. The inn is typical of the church, where the Lord through His Spirit cares for His own. The two pence are not typical of two sacraments, but speak of the reward which those receive who under the Holy Spirit care for souls. The promised coming again with a greater reward offered is the second coming of our Lord" (A. C. Gaebelein).

Two truths stand out in our lesson. There is such a thing as being a good neighbor by the grace and blessing of God, and if we are followers of Christ we should be real neighbors. Then there is the One who is Himself our Friend and Brother, the One of whom we sing: "He washed the bleeding sin wounds And poured in oil and wine; He whispered to assure me, 'I've found thee, thou art Mine.'" —(A. J. Gordon)

Auctioneer Had No Trouble Obtaining a Higher Bid

At an auction sale, the business was interrupted by a whispered conversation between the auctioneer and one of the prospective bidders. At the conclusion the master of ceremonies announced:

"A gentleman present tells me that since proceedings started in this room he has lost a wallet containing the sum of five hundred dollars. He hereby offers a reward of fifty dollars to anyone for its return."

There was a short period of silence, then one of the members of the crowd nodded his head to the auctioneer and announced: "I bid sixty."

SUPERVISORS' PROCEEDINGS

Supervisor Burgeson read the following report of the Agricultural Committee: Tawas City, Mich., Oct. 23, 1940 To the Honorable Board of Supervisors of Iosco County.

Be it resolved by the Iosco County Board of Supervisors that the office space in the new Federal Building for the County Agricultural Agent be accepted and that the Agricultural Agent be given permission to move to the new offices, if and when they are completed and fully furnished.

Be it further resolved that the cooperation between the Extension Department of Michigan State College, East Lansing, the United States Department of Agriculture and the County Board of Supervisors shall remain as it now exists, so far as furnishing clerk hire, office supplies, transportation and other local expenses incidental to maintaining an efficient agricultural program in Iosco county.

Respectfully submitted: Ed. Burgeson, Victor Anderson, Ferdinand Schmalz.

Upon motion by Burgeson, supported by Anderson, the report of the Agricultural Committee was accepted and adopted, upon the following roll call: Yes—Anderson, Bellville, Black, Sheldon, Brabant, Brayman, Burgeson, Cross, Laidlaw, McAuliff, Nunn, Powell, Seifert, Schmalz, Schneider, Van Patten, McCuaig—17. Absent—1.

Thursday, October 24, 1940 The Board of Supervisors for the county of Iosco met at the Court house in the city of Tawas City, on Thursday, the twenty-fourth day of October, A. D. 1940 in continued October session.

The Board was called to order at 9:30 a. m. by the Chairman, who ordered roll call. Present: Supervisors Anderson, Bellville, Black, Sheldon, Brabant, Brayman, Burgeson, Cross, Hatton, Laidlaw, McAuliff, Nunn, Powell, Seifert, Schmalz, Schneider, Van Patten, McCuaig. Quorum present.

The minutes of the preceding sessions (10-22-40; 10-23-40) were read by the clerk. Moved by Van Patten, supported by McCuaig that the election of a member of the Iosco County Welfare Board to succeed Edgar Louks, deceased, (held Tuesday afternoon, 10-22-40) be rescinded and struck out of the record and that the Board proceed to elect a member of the Iosco County Welfare Board.

The Clerk read the following report of the Drain Commissioner: ANNUAL REPORT OF COUNTY DRAIN COMMISSIONER To the Board of Supervisors of the County of Iosco:

Gentlemen:—In compliance with the provisions of Sec. XI of Chap. II, of Act No. 316, of the Public Acts of 1923, I have the honor to submit my Annual report as County Drain Commissioner of said county of Iosco covering the period from the first day of October A. D. 1939, to the 1st day of October A. D. 1940.

I. The following named drains were left unfinished at the date of my last report. The Pink Extension drain. This drain is an inter-county drain affecting the counties of Ansonia, Iosco and Ogemaw. The contractors on this drain reported on Sept. 17th, that they had completed same, but the engineer, R. D. McNutt, checked up on same and found that contractors had not constructed to depth required in contract and has ordered contractors to complete same from Sta. 98 to Sta. 251 as required by contract.

Total computed cost of this drain is $3800.00 of which Iosco county pays 31% or $1178.00. Orders were issued on this amount for publishing, maps, profiles, surveying, inspecting, Special Commissioner, and contractors to date is $488.27 leaving a balance of computed costs for which orders at this time have not been issued of $689.73.

II. The following named drains have been begun, constructed and completed by me during the year, to-wit: None.

III. The following named drains have been begun by me, during the year and are only partly completed, to-wit: None.

IV. The following named drains have been applied for, but not established, during the year, for the reasons given in each instance, to-wit: The Sullivan Drain: This drain will be an inter-county drain, affecting parts of Ogemaw and Iosco counties. There was a meeting of the Drainage Board held at the residence of Ernest Sullivan in the Twp. of Logan, Ogemaw county on the 18th day of June 1940 to determine the practicability of said drain, and the Board did then and there determine that said drain was practicable. The Comrs. of this Board were appointed by the Chairman of the Board of Supervisors of Iosco and Ogemaw counties.

The regular Drainage Board then took the following action: We, the members of the Drainage Board for the Sullivan Drainage District, by a majority vote taken do hereby order that M. T. McKenney, a registered civil engineer or surveyor is hereby authorized to make a survey of said drain and lay out a drainage district, and to file his report with the Chairman of said Drainage Board. Given under our hands this 18th day of June 1940.

Members of the Drainage Board: John Hudson, Geo. W. Schroeder, Elmer Scott.

I have had no further report on what has been done if anything in regard to the survey of this drain.

And I do hereby certify, that the above embraces a full and true report of all the drains constructed, finished, or begun under my supervision, or applied for during the year now ending, and that the financial statement of each drain, submitted herewith is true and correct. Working Toward a New Day A NEW note of understanding has come into the American Public's thoughts concerning the railroads. It is now recognized that the coming of new forms of transportation has brought about disruption of the normal transportation situation. These new agencies must be properly fitted into the nation's distribution system if the best interests of the public are to be served. Armed with this new sympathy, the public in recent years has sought to rectify this injustice. Congress, in 1935, and the various states have passed laws to this end. This year Congress enacted the so-called Transportation Act of 1940. But much additional progress along this line must be made before the railroads are on a parity with their competitors. Our members of the Michigan legislature and our representatives in Congress are urged to exercise justice, fairness and common sense in considering any legislation intended to bring equality into our transportation industry. Hidden Ways

By FREDERIC F. VAN DE WATER

SYNOPSIS David Mallory, in search of newspaper work in New York, is forced to accept a job as switchboard operator in a swank apartment house, managed by officious Timothy Higgins. There David meets Miss Agatha Paget, a crippled old lady, and her charming niece, Allegra.

"One minute," Miss Agatha commanded. "I should really like to know how you ran across Kenneth Grahame."

"Oh ho, what?" I asked. He shrugged. "Just on ho. You called at the Sphere again, Dave?"

"I thought of my job and of the odd expression on the face of the girl, Allegra, when I had talked back to Miss Agatha and, though common sense muttered unheeded warning, I said: 'Shoot.'"

"The trouble with you, me lad, is that you think you're too bloody good for your job. I'm—"

CHAPTER II

Higgins' rush thrust me aside. He slammed the door in my face as I reached the elevator. I ran for the stairs and took them three at a time toward the screeching that tore the pious silence of the Morello to tatters.

Before the closed door of the Ferriter apartment, Allegra seemed to wrestle with Miss Ferriter. Nearer me, in the hall, someone in a maid's uniform hopped about, making silly sounds, and on the threshold of the Paget flat, a stout, older woman wrung her hands and gaped. I heard Allegra gasp as she tried to control the wrenching body:

ceased. She made a feeble gesture toward the door. "In there," her whisper rasped. "He's—"

Her body gave way. It grew so inertly heavy that Allegra and Hoyt and I had trouble holding it. Over the sagging head, I asked Higgins: "Can you get a key?"

He nodded but still stood, gaping and uncertain, till a competent voice spoke from the Paget doorway.

"Allegra, Bertha, Edward," it ordered. "Pick her up. Lay her on my bed, Allegra. Keep her head down. Annie, take some cognac to Miss Allegra."

Miss Paget sat on her threshold in a wheel chair. She trundled herself into the hall to make way for those who bore the senseless woman and looked from Higgins to me. The elevator bell shrilled frantically and frightened voices called in the air shaft.

"Just what," Miss Paget asked calmly, "was all this about?"

Higgins answered in a husky voice, "Something's wrong in there," and nodded to the reticent door. There was an instant of silence. Then the old lady asked politely:

"What are you waiting for, Timothy? Or perhaps you two men would rather have me look."

The superintendent fumbled in his uniform with a sickly grin. He looked at me with less dislike than he had shown all day.

"C'm on, Mallory," he ordered, and moved toward the door. He unlocked it but stood aside for me to enter.

"May I ask what you intend to do now?"

The furniture sat in self-conscious, orderly rectitude. There was a trophy of arms above the fireplace—rapiers, claymores, sabers and less familiar blades, which shone coldly in the wintry light, and there was a long couch beside the hearth.

"Everything's o.k.," Higgins said more to himself than to me. "Maybe she's gone daffy; maybe she got bad news or something. She could of been stewed. Let's look around the rest of the place."

"Hold on," I told him. "What?" he jerked.

"The phone," I said. It stood on a table between the couch and the wall. The receiver hook was empty. Something else was out of place.

A fringed lampshade lay on the floor beyond the couch. I peered over the sofa's back into the space beyond and saw the lamp's overturned standard and beside it—

I heard Higgins' low moan. I felt his breath come and go upon my neck. I said:

"Who?" Higgins asked in a whisper.

A man lay on his back beside the fallen lamp. His head was tilted so that his black beard pointed upward like a charred stump at the telephone receiver hanging from the table. His hands were drawn up as though he had tried to clutch the lapels of his coat and the left side of his vest was glistening and sodden.

I answered, slowly, for my mouth was sticky.

"I never saw him before."

A low but steady sound came toward us. Higgins held his breath. I tiptoed toward the door as Miss Paget propelled herself into the room. She looked at us with a parental severity.

"Well?" she prompted. In relief we babble our discovery. I began, but Higgins' heavy speech beat mine down and took command.

"Right over there, Miss Paget," he rattled. "Behind the couch where nobody'd be likely to see him. If you'll roll forward just a little—"

The old lady's calm voice sheared through his babbling. "No doubt," she replied. "May I ask what you intend to do now?"

Higgins stared. "In such cases," she told him, "it is usually customary to notify the police, I believe."

The superintendent blundered toward the telephone, shrank back from the presence of the concealed body and, reaching across the couch back, picked up the instrument.

He wailed, impatiently rattling the hook and then, with a grunt, set down the telephone.

"Nobody on the switchboard," he stuttered. "I'll go down myself," and rushed from the room. Miss Agatha called after him:

"Timothy. Be sure the door is locked behind you."

"Yes'm," he replied and we heard it slam. The old lady looked hard at me as I moved toward the hall. "It might be well," I explained, "to look through the rest of the apartment."

She shook her head. I have seen few murders, even at my age, but I understand it is best to do nothing till the police come. Usually, thereafter, they follow your example."

She sat quite still in her chair by the door and her eyes searched slowly through all the room.

After a moment she asked, nodding toward the concealing couch: "When did he come in?"

"I don't know," I replied. "I never saw him."

She leaned back in her chair, her hands folded in her angular lap, her eyes narrow with thought. She asked at length:

"When did Ione—Miss Ferriter—come in?"

"I think it was she who rang the bell while I was in your apartment. She had to walk up."

She appeared to turn this over in her mind. The clock ticked loudly. Miss Agatha emerged from whatever inner communion she had held and looked at me again.

"You heard her screaming. What did you think of it?"

I did not answer for so long that she shrugged at last and said: "That was a silly question. Forget it."

"No, it wasn't," I replied slowly. "It's just that I hadn't thought of it before. You mean there was something more than fright in the sound?"

"Do I?" she retorted. "I went on, 'Well, I mean it then. She was frightened by finding a man dead on her floor. There was something else. A deeper terror perhaps.'"

Her gaze abashed me a little. I grinned and shrugged.

"That's probably all imagination," I told her. "Anyway, Miss Ferriter is a gifted screamer. She sounded like the Eumenides on the wing."

Her thin eyebrows arched. Again I felt that she regarded me as a curiosity and once more it irked me.

"They were surprised"—I grinned at that patrician, puzzled face—"when I spoke to the waiter in Greek."

She started to reply and turned her head sharply as the outer door opened. Higgins and a hard-breathing patrolman entered the room.

"Over beyond the couch he lays," the superintendent informed the policeman with a discoverer's pride. The fear that had been a bond between us was gone now. He stared at me and growled:

"Go downstairs, Mallory. Miss Paget, there'll be nobody let in here now till the Homicide Squad comes."

Hoyt brought the car down and came to lean against the switchboard with a shaky grin.

"Whew!" he said. "That girl do it?"

I said "No," prompted more by a vestige of chivalry than knowledge. Hoyt glanced over his shoulder at the loiterers in the foyer, and strove to keep the secret that for a few minutes made him their superior. He mumbled:

"He had a black beard, eh? When did he come in? We'd 'a' spotted him, wouldn't we? A guy with a beard, hey? When did he get in? Tell me that."

"I can't," I said. I was shaky and I ached for another cigarette. "Maybe he came in September and hid till he grew it."

"Aw," said Hoyt and stared toward the front door. The policeman on duty there had admitted a half-dozen men in civilian clothes and then had barred the way to others who strove to follow.

The intruders tramped down the hall toward us, satchel-laden, indifferent and unspectacular as the first half-dozen men off a suburban train. A man with reddish gray hair like embers and a stubborn freckled face, paused and said to Hoyt:

"Homicide Squad, Mac. Take us up."

Eddie obeyed. Lingering tenants, when I evaded their questions, wandered back to their apartments.

Higgins emerged from his basement apartment. He had doffed Wilson's regalia, evidently on the theory that one uniform at the door was all the house required. He squinted about the foyer and then ambled over to the switchboard. His breath was heavy with the fumes of a recent drink. I envied him.

Alcohol had softened him and something less apparent worried him. He bent confidentially toward me.

"Listen, Mallory," he said with the glibness of rehearsal. "Maybe I was a mite hasty a while ago. We'll let bygones be bygones. Listen: They'll be questionin' all of us. See? There's none of us to be leavin' the buildin' till they're through. You do me a good turn, now. I was upstairs when Miss Paget came in. Sure I was. But I was on the roof, lookin' at the water tank. It's been leakin'. Will ye—"

THE SMOKE'S THE THING!

Sclerotherapy And Its Field Of Usefulness

By DR. JAMES W. BARTON
(Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

AS YOU read new words in medicine, and particularly of the new kinds of specialists, you may wonder whether dividing the medical profession into so many different specialists is really of help to patients.

TODAY'S HEALTH COLUMN

As a matter of fact, there is so much that is new being discovered and tested in medicine, that no one man could be proficient in all this new knowledge and how to apply it. The family or general practitioner in these days can usually look after the majority of ailments, but because he keeps up to date he knows, for his patients' sake, there are times when a specialist should be consulted.

Perhaps the latest specialty is that of Sclerotherapy. "Sclero" means hardening and "therapy" means treatment, so sclerotherapy is treating various ailments by using hardening substances which harden or destroy the unwanted or imperfect tissues. This method of treatment was discredited years ago principally because of the fact that the hardening substances were at fault.

Conditions Which Can Be Helped.
Dr. H. I. Biegeleisen, in Clinical Medicine and Surgery, gives an outline of the various conditions of the body which can now be helped by the skillful surgeon or physician who has given sclerotherapy close study.

- These conditions are:
1. Disorders of the veins: varicose veins, varicocele, piles or hemorrhoids, vein tumors.
 2. Disorders of the arteries: Enlarged arteries such as aneurysms.
 3. Cystic (bladder) enlargements: hydrocele, bursitis—bag of water at the joint—knee, elbow, shoulder.
 4. Ruptures or hernias.
 5. Growth—warts.
 6. Miscellaneous: fissures or little cuts, goiter, enlarged turbinates in nose, joints with too much motion.

Shock Needs Prompt And Efficient Care

ONE of the sayings of years ago, "The operation was a success but the patient died," is not used often now because it is so definitely known that the shock of operation, shock of any kind in fact, can bring one very close to death.

In my student days we did not know much about shock but the treatment was to get the patient's head low, body warm, and give a stimulant of some kind.

As time passed and more and more was learned of the damage done to the body by shock and its danger to life itself, new methods of treatment were gradually applied until today shock gets prompt and efficient treatment.

One of the first of the newer treatments was the injection of fluids into the body to add pressure to the blood circulation so that it could be carried to all parts of the body in increased amounts. This tightening-up of the blood vessels causing shock, a condition found in Asiatic cholera for which sodium salts is used, led physicians to use these salts in shock cases with good results.

Transfusions Beneficial.

Dr. John Scudder, department of surgery, Presbyterian hospital, New York, states in Digest of Treatment that even sodium salts and the use of oxygen to increase the amount of oxygen in the blood did not give complete results, as the rate at which the body processes worked still needed to be increased, the storage of sugar in the liver and muscles was still low, and the blood and tissues were still too near an acid condition for safety.

It was then discovered that these three needs could be supplied by the juice or extract of the adrenal and pancreatic gland. Despite all these helps another step in fighting shock was found when transfusions of whole blood or the liquid part of the blood (plasma) were given. Blood transfusion, in addition to supplying plasma proteins (a food) and red blood cells, supplies certain other substances whose beneficial effects can be measured.

Q.—Recently I had a metabolism test made which revealed a basal metabolism of plus 13.35 oxygen utilized minus 15.8 litres per hour. Does this mean I have a goitre? Kindly suggest a diet for me.

A.—A metabolism test of plus 13.5 is considered within normal limits which are plus 15, down to minus 85. However, as you are near the borderline, you should ask your physician about rest and diet.

AROUND THE HOUSE

When placing serving dishes directly on the table have them within easy reach. Also put the silver needed for serving on the table at the right of the dish.

Chilling whipping cream thoroughly, and having the bowl and beater cold as well, will make your cream more likely to whip.

An ice cream carton makes an excellent mold for ice-box cookies. Press the mixture in firmly and put on the cover. Then, when wanted, just tear away the cardboard and you have a perfectly shaped cylinder all ready to be sliced.

If a teaspoon of molasses or brown sugar is added to griddle cake batter, the cakes will brown more easily.

Wild rice expands about twice its bulk. Over-cooking will darken it as well as decrease the flavor. Wild rice combines nicely with creamed mushrooms, served plain or escalloped.

There's a Good Reason You're Constipated!

When there's something wrong with you, the first rule is: get at the cause. If you are constipated, don't endure it first and "cure" it afterward. Find out what's giving you the trouble.
Chances are it's simple if you eat the super-refined foods most people do: meat, white bread, potatoes. It's likely you don't get enough "bulk." And "bulk" doesn't mean a lot of food. It's a kind of food that isn't consumed in the body, but leaves a soft "bulky" mass in the intestines and helps a bowel movement.
If this is your trouble, you should eat a natural "bulk" producing food—such as one of the crunchy, toasted, ready-to-eat cereals, Kellogg's All-Bran. Eat it often, drink plenty of water, and "Join the Regulars." All-Bran is made by Kellogg's in Battle Creek. If your condition is chronic, it is wise to consult a physician.

Charity by Knowledge
A man's charity to those who differ from him upon great and difficult questions will be in the ratio of his own knowledge of them, the more knowledge, the more charity.
—Norman McLeod.

Is your child a NAIL BITER?

It isn't always "nerves" that makes a child bite his nails. Often it's because of a reason few mothers suspect—WORMS!
It, along with nail biting, there are signs of uneasy stomach, finicky appetite, fidgeting, restless sleep... Take heed! These may be the symptoms of round worms; a nasty infection that can cause real distress.
JAYNE'S VERMIFUGE is the best known remedy in America for expelling round worms. It has been used by millions of mothers, for over a century, and is backed by the most modern scientific study.
JAYNE'S VERMIFUGE has great ability to drive out large round worms, yet it tastes good and acts gently. JAYNE'S does not contain santonin. If there are no worms it works merely as a mild laxative. Ask for JAYNE'S VERMIFUGE at any drug store.

That Nagging Backache

May Warn of Disordered Kidney Action
Modern life with its hurry and worry, irregular habits, improper eating and drinking—its lack of exposure to fresh air—throws heavy strain on the work of the kidneys. They are apt to become over-taxed and fail to filter excess acid and other impurities from the life-giving blood.
You may suffer nagging backache, headache, dizziness, getting up nights, leg pains, swelling—feel constantly tired, nervous, all worn out. Other signs of kidney or bladder disorder are sometimes burning, scanty or too frequent urination.
Try Doan's Pills. Doan's help the kidneys to pass off harmful excess body waste. They have had more than half a century of public approval. Are recommended by grateful users everywhere. Ask your neighbor!

sixty national forests in the United States for the purposes of recreation, lumbering, and for the preservation of wild game and soil. He indicated that in Oklahoma the land was once good for pasture and very good grass grew there. During the World War there was a great demand for wheat and the land was turned over to the purpose of growing wheat. After the war this demand ceased. Grass would not grow on this soil and the result was the Great American Desert.

We are directly or indirectly very dependent on trees and the forestry department is at work planting new trees and finding new and better ways to preserve our forests and also the soil as soil supports life.

World Champion Typist
Demonstrates

George Hossfield, ten times the World Champion Typist and holding a speed record of 139 words per minute spoke and gave a demonstration of the proper method of typing.

Mr. Hossfield said that there are four necessities which enable one to be a good typist, namely, correct posture, rhythm, concentration, and the elimination of useless motions. The average person types about 40 words per minute while the professional types approximately four times that much. Mr. Hossfield demonstrated his typing skill at a rate of 140 five-letter words per minute and 248 actual words per minute.

Mr. Hossfield is traveling for the Underwood Typewriter company.

This demonstration was very interesting, especially to the members of the typing classes. Many of them obtained some good points which will help their own typing progress.

Students See Films

On Friday morning, November 29, the high school students witnessed two films, both of them on tuberculosis.

The first film showed how tuberculosis could be spread from the mouth. For instance, mouth contact is a very good way to promote that disease. The germs grow and multiply in the lungs, causing a cavity. Some of the first stages are loss of appetite and coughing. Most people when beginning to cough think they have nothing more serious than bronchitis.

Then comes the skin test, injecting a fluid. If the test shows red after a few days it means that the germ is in the body. Next comes the x-ray. If a person has the disease a cavity in the lungs can be seen. The person is then taken to a sanatorium for rest and cure. Children who have a positive sign should not be too strenuous in their play, work, or whatever they may do. After the person has been completely cured he is tested to see what work he is best fitted for.

Band Concert

The band held a free concert for the public Friday evening (November 29). It was the first concert to be held under the direction of our new instructor, Mr. Polycutt. He was very pleased with the results of the band concert.

The added attractions were two newly organized band units. Namely the German and Old Time Bands. They were a fine success and made a hit with the audience. The Old Time Band was called upon to play many extra numbers.

The Old Time Band was composed of Hugh Prescott, Dean Tree, Julius Musolf, Jr., Arthur and Clifford Anschuetz, and Mr. Polycutt.

The German Band consisted of Elna Herman, Hugh Prescott, Irene Cunniff, Janet McLean and Mr. Polycutt.

The Junior Class also sold candy.

The parents and patrons of the Tawas City High school are cordially invited to attend the "Old Fashioned" dance to be held at the gymnasium on Friday, December 13. The dance will be sponsored by the Seniors.

Seventh and Eighth Grades

We have started to decorate our room for Christmas. Jim Prescott brought some Christmas pictures.

Raymond Westcott was in B. City on Wednesday.

The fifth and sixth grades invited us to see the movie on tuberculosis in their room on Wednesday.

Lucille Malcolm and Peter Cunniff went to the dentist and Jack Rollin, Dale Landon and Lewis Mark went to the eye clinic Friday.

Wayne Hughes has been absent this week because of illness.

The eighth grade arithmetic class is studying problems on the use of time. They are finding that time is money. Do not squander time. For time is the stuff life is made of. Money has an advantage over time. It may be regained, but time once gone can never be replaced.

Fifth and Sixth Grades

Martin Musolf, Ida Koepke and Phyllis LaRau visited the optometrist at the court house, Friday.

We enjoyed the movie shown in our room on Wednesday. We wish to thank Mr. Knowlton and Mr. Forsten for giving us the opportunity of seeing these films on Tuberculosis.

Richard Berube has drawn "The Sistine Madonna" and "The Three Wise Men" on the blackboard. These pictures are very well done and we are proud to have an artist like Richard.

The sixth grade history class has been studying about the early men. Several people have given some interesting reports.

Third and Fourth Grades

The Christmas spirit is invading the third and fourth grade room early this year. We have already colored Christmas faces and learned some Christmas songs. The last song to be learned is "Hark! The Herald Angels Sing."

New committees have been appointed to take care of things in the room during December. Everyone in the room belongs on one of the committees.

Four pupils have had their eyes examined and three others have visited the dentist during the past week.

Primary Room

We were glad when two children from our room came back from the eye clinic and said they did not have to wear glasses.

It looks as though "Old Man Winter" has put in his appearance as we had a very heavy snow storm Friday and Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Beardslee, of Tawas City, and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur White, of Prescott, were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Edw. Robinson, Sunday.

Mrs. May Westerwelt left for Standish on Wednesday to spend the winter with her son, Cecil, and family.

Edw. Robinson is strutting around with his chest out these days. The reason? He shot an eight-point buck the last day of hunting season.
