CHAPTER XIII-Continued -14-

Allegra's silence bothered me. Her profile was clear and sharp as the head on a coin in the uneven pulsing of lights beyond the taxi window. She said, looking straight ahead:

"I lied to Agatha today. I don't usually do that. I told her, when Grove dropped out, that I couldn't get anyone to take me to the opera tonight. I never tried. I only said that I was disappointed and she did what I hoped she'd do."

Once or twice in a lifetime, fortune offers you the thing you want most and, remembering the way she has treated you, you don't believe it. I did not now. I thought I was reading wild meaning into her words. She turned toward me with an odd little smile and hurried on:

"I've been lonely and frightened and I-needed you, I guess. I needed to be alone with you and Tell All. I thought we could be-friends. And instead, you behave as though you were-well, a millionaire that a low-down gal was trying to compromise."

"If I have," I told her, "I beg your pardon, my dear. I think, though, that you've got the parts mixed up. You're the millionaire. Wait a minute-" I saw she was trying to break in and I hurried on: "It galls you to have-misled your aunt. All right. What about me? She's lifted me out of a hallman's uniform; she's given me a job and her confidence. I have little integ-rity, maybe, but I'm not a complete so-and-so. It mightn't do you a bit of harm to consider the problems of someone else now and then."

The girl did not answer. She had turned her head and was looking out of the window. I did not wonder that so few persons in this world were ever nobly renunciatory. There was no pleasure in it. I said:

"And now that that is all cleared up to our mutual dissatisfaction, how about changing the subject?' "It's not necessary," she answered and turning as though she had decided something, looked squarely at me. "We're almost home."

"And maybe that's just as well, too," I answered. "Thank you, Miss Paget-for a great many things."

Her laugh was like a breaking stick. Then she caught hold of herself.

"If you don't stop patting me on the head," she warned, "I'll take a poke at you. Will you answer one question for me-honestly? Just one?"

I could see the marquee of the Morello, just ahead, and a group of men who lingered on the curb beneath the street light.

"Will you?" Allegra asked again, and I wondered why her voice was so tense.

"I promise," I told her and belatedly wondered if I were pledging myself to disloyalty to Cochrane. "Unless," I added, "it concerns someone else." For a few minutes I had forgotten the murder and on's almost certain part in it. It came back to me now and made me a little sick. The cab slowed down. Allegra asked in a low, clear voice

The recently issued annual report of the missing persons bureau shows that last year 9,913 New Yorkers disappeared, or at least were gone long enough for a report to be made to the police department. In addition, the bureau sought for 1,788 residents of other cities who had dropped out of sight in their home towns and were supposed to have come to New York for some reason or other. That the missing persons bureau usually gets its man or woman or youngster is proved by the fact that there are only 264 "open" cases on the books. That is, that number of persons have not been accounted for as yet. That the bureau is persistent is disclosed by the dates on the "open" cases, some going back 30 years. The total number of cases during the year was 33,666, that including establishing identity of persons accidentally killed or injured.

Wanderlust hits youth hardest at the age of 15, the records of the bureau indicate. Last year, 906 children, 534 of whom were boys, left their homes. Reasons as learned by investigating officers included hatred of school, unhappy homes, evil associates, the lure of stage and screen, cheap novels and parental greed. The parental greed cases occurred mostly among foreign-born parents who exploited their children in various ways, principally by making them work and taking their earnings. May is the favorite month for those who set out in the world on their own. Last May, 369 boys and 215 girls fled. Looking for runaways is merely a part of the routine of the Missing Person bureau and the runaways are almost always found or come back.

"You're in love with me, aren't you?"

The taxi had stopped and Walters was opening the door. I might have kept silent, but her hand clung to mine as I helped her out. I heard myself say:

'You'll never know how much." She hurried on into the foyer while I paid the fare. As I turned to follow, someone said:

"The society bellhop, himself." Larry Duke was of the group that gathered around me. I knew the faces of others and the malease within me quickened into nausea. Why were reporters hanging, like vultures, about the Morello again?

"Any statement," Duke asked nastily, "on the most recent-unpleasantness, Count?"

The foretaste of disaster was bitter in my mouth. Its savor made it easier to hold my temper.

"I'll leave the issue," I told Duke, "to the good sense of the American people.

I started away but someone else caught me by the sleeve.

"Listen, fella," he begged. "They've just found this Everett Ferriter's body at the bottom of the area. What's it all about?"

When I could speak, I said as steadily as I might:

"You tell me. Suicide?" "Suicide, hell," Duke said with relish. "They caught your girl friend's brother in the Ferriter flat, right after Everett went out the window. And they're dusting off the hot seat for him, right now.'

CHAPTER XIV

A reporter asked another question. The words made no sense. As I broke away, I stepped on someone's foot and he swore. I ran into the foyer.

It was not flight. Duke's tidings had rubbed out thought of self. My purpose was to reach Allegra as quickly as I might. I must get be-tween her and the blow's full force.

There was a cop in the Morello's hall once more. I wondered if Allegra had read the portent of his presence. He scowled at me and said something I did not catch. My evening clothes must have daunted him, for he backed up and let me out of bed." Annie, in a rumpled wrapper, opened the door. Her eyes were red and her breath came in small explosions.

"Where is Miss Paget?" Allegra asked crisply.

"In the livin' room," the woman faltered and closed the door behind us.

"And Mr. Paget?" the girl went

Annie wept. "Yonder," she wailed. "Them cops-" She jerked her head toward the Ferriter apartment and could say no more. I followed Allegra down the hall.

Miss Agatha Paget, her body folded precisely in a black silk dressing gown, sat in her wheel chair and smoked. The lids of her keen eyes were unreddened by tears. Her hair was drawn back by a thin braid from the face that had the bold calm of the hawk. For an instant, as her niece ran to her and the old woman looked up for her kiss, I saw the hard features soften. The girl bent over her a long instant and then, with one hand locked in her aunt's, turned to me. "He didn't want to come up," she defended. "I made him. Agatha, what is it? What's really happened?"

Miss Agatha drew on her cigarette and blew smoke through her beaked nose. I thought, as she looked at me, of the figurehead of a ship, worn and immune to storm. She asked dryly:

"Material for another chapter in the book, David?"

"No," I said. "I had no business barging in. Only if there is any-thing I can do-" aloud:

"Name something," she broke in. I stammered: "Have you thought of a lawyer?

I mean-"Long ago," she told me. "I think I got Tertius Groesbeck out of bed. If he doesn't take too long dressing, he should be here before Shannon finishes with Grove, across the hall."

She had lighted another cigarette while she spoke. I saw her hand twitch as she uttered her nephew's name. Allegra asked:

"Agatha, what happened? Everett is dead and-"

The old head jerked agreement. The old voice said without a falter: "Very dead. In the area, with a broken neck, I believe."

ave to take him in, repeated, "for obstructing justice, if nothing else. Implicated himself! The facts implicate him, Miss Paget. We can get nothing out of him. He'll not say a word, beyond that he tried to stop this Ferriter from jumping."

Tiny lines about Miss Agatha' eyes deepened with satisfaction. "My own explanation," she said. Shannon shook his head like & worrving terrier.

"Unfortunately," he told her, 'that's not all of it. Why was he in that flat? He won't say. How came he to have a latchkey? He won't say. Why, having one, didn't he admit it when the first murder was committed? Same answer, Where was he the afternoon this Blackbeard was stabbed? He was walking uptown.' His grunt was thick with disgust,

I stuck my oar in. "Mr. Paget came in a full hour after that killing. I saw him." They all looked at me. There was no friendliness in Shannon's regard "Sure," he snorted. "Didi.': everybody? Nobody could have killed Blackbeard, but his corpse is still in the morgue, isn't it? I'm thinking this second murder-or whatever-is going to solve the first." Anger pushed him beyond discre tion. He fished in his pocket and drew forth a folded sheat of type writer paper.

"Among the things that your nephew won't tell," he said to Miss Agatha, "is why he wrote this note we found in his pocket.'

I could have choked him for the pleased voice in which he read

" 'My dear: I have failed as usual and can stand no more. When another death may settle everything I do not hesitate.' "

He seemed disappointed at the woman's lack of expression and thrust the paper back into his pocket, muttering. I had peered over his shoulder as he read and now J said to Miss Agatha:

"Typewritten and unsigned It proves nothing." Shannon wheeled and glared Knowledge of his own incaution made him still angrier.

We are apt to regard the answer of Jesus to their question as a skillful evasion of a difficult situation, but it was far more than that. If they had replied honestly to His question regarding John, and admitted that His authority was from heaven, Jesus would probably have said, "Then what did he say of me?" He would have reminded them of the statement of John that he was not worthy to loose the latchet of His shoes, of his prophecy of the judgment to come, of the baptism of fire (see Luke 3:16-17), of the day when John called Him "the Lamb of God, which taketh away the sin of the world" (John 1:29).

Here was proof concerning His authority, but they did not dare to ask for it because they did not want it. You too, reader, if you have ques-tions regarding the claim of Christ to authority over your life may have a satisfying answer, but only if you honestly want it and will receive it with open mind and heart.

Here we've reversed the trend-just to prove that an honest-to-golly BIG car can be built without going overboard on bumper-to-bumper distance.

Nazi Troops Are Massed in Balkans For Thrust at Greece to Aid Italians; Major Far East Crisis Approaches As Japanese-British Tension Grows

(EDITOR'S NOTE-When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of the news analyst and not necessarily of this newspaper.) (Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

IDES OF MARCH:

Hitler Again

In March, 1933, Adolf Hitler in-corporated the rich Saar Valley into the Reich. In March, 1936, he occu-pied the Rhineland. In March, 1938, German troops moved southward and annexed Austria. In March, 1939,—breaking the pledge of Munich —der fuehrer moved into Moravia and Bohemia and made the Czechoslovakia provinces German protectorates. In March, 1940, he got set for his moves into Norway and Denmark.

March, 1941, arrives.

If Hitler wins any success this year, he will thank his lucky stars. For Hitler is a believer in astrology and is declared to consult astrologers before he makes any major moves.

The Balkans

Even before the first of March, Hitler had gained the success he planned in the Balkans. The final moves may come in March, but the path of the army was paved by earlier diplomatic moves. Rumania was the highway and Josef Stalin fired the starting gun.

Deserted by its protectors, Bulgaria gave way to the Germans who had placed 600,000 soldiers on her border with Rumania. Bulgaria had been promised the help of Turkey, pro-British ally. And Turkey based its security on the promises of help from Russia. But Russia collapsed again. It notified Bulgaria to expect no help from Soviet troops and it influenced Turkey also to withdraw its promises to Bulgaria. Jugoslavia, surrounded on all sides, saw its ministers called to Munich and receive orders.

All this to get to plucky Greece. Greece, despite its army's victories over the Italians, saw its neighbors fall before the Nazi threat. It had a choice of making a futile effort to fight Germany alone, or to capit-ulate like all the rest.

Greece was given little time to decide. A German ultimatum was drafted. Resistance means that the nation would be the battleground of German and British armies-provided the British could, in sufficient time, extract troops from the African front and convoy them to the Balkans.

The Far East

Meanwhile in Asia the other Axis partner, Japan, was growing more and more belligerent. Troops and naval concentrations were moved into Thailand (Siam) and close to French Indo-China. Threatened principally was the British naval base at Singapore. But threatened as well were the Malay peninsula,

MORE SOLDIERS: U.S. Defense

Surveys have begun in the war department with a view of expanding the army to more than 3,000,000 men in case of emergency. It is hoped to be able to be accomplished the next year if necessary.

By Edward C. Wayne

Sites for additional camps are now being quietly surveyed all over the country. Production plans are being revised to reach this end and congress has been asked for some of the preliminary funds.

What the army hopes to realize is the ability to put 55 divisions into the field instead of the 27 which will be in camps on June 1 of this year. To reach this it is possible that the present National Guard units will be held in the federal army for another year and that many of the selectees now going to camps also will be retained. The latter go on reserve immediately upon completion of their training and can be recalled as needed to fill the requirements of the standing armed forces. In the near future President Roosevelt likely will present to con-gress a $3,000,000,000 program toward this end.

Equipment

Meanwhile the first flow of supplies are beginning to reach the armed forces. The army air corps

'Bugs' at Capitol

The U. S. army, while demonstrating the latest type of one-ton reconnaissance car to a committee of Senators and Congressmen, permitted Sen. James Mead of New York to drive "the Bug" up the U. S. Capitol steps. The vehicle is capable of 75 miles per hour and its 80-inch wheelbase permits bombers to transport three of the units at a time.

TRAVELERS: Home Again

Wendell L. Willkie and Harry Hopkins, former secretary of commerce, came home from war-torn Britain to make reports to the President and congress. Hopkins data were secret, Willkie spoke to congress

But Willkie's suggestion that the United States make available to Britain 5 to 10 destroyers a month met with opposition. First objection came from Naval Secretary Knox who said the United States could not spare any more ships without unbalancing the fleet. There was indication, however, that Willkie's proposal would be given more than casual consideration once the provisions of the lend-lease bill are under way.

Meanwhile Willkie revealed he may make another journey of inspection. This time he may go to the war front in Asia, visiting Gen. Chiang Kai-shek in China.

Two other American representa-tives were waiting for the opportune moment to fly to Britain. They are John C. Winant, the newly appointed ambassador, and C. Avrell Harriman, who was named by the President to the task of co-ordinating the British aid-program. Harriman is the son of E. H. Harriman, one of the nation's greatest railroad builders.

MIGRATION: Men at Work

For the first time in more than a decade unemployment in the United States has virtually been wiped out. William T. Livingston, economist of the Alexander Hamilton institute, reported after a nation-wide survey.

Here Come the Marines-Out of the Sky!

Uncle Sam believes that parachute troops may come in handy some day. These pictures, taken at the U. S. naval air station at Lakehurst, N. J., show how U. S. marine parachutists are being trained to meet the threat from abroad. Shown in oval are men waiting to go aloft for a jump. The other pictures show what happens later. In six plane trips aloft 52 marines jumped.

Army Engineers 'Jacks of All Trades'

These photos, taken at Fort Belvoir, Va., one of the largest engineer corps training posts in the country, show army engineers in their diversified occupations. Left: A chemist checks the amount of chlorine being used in a portable purification unit. Center: Camouflaging a dummy gun. If correctly done this will fool even the all-seeing aerial camera. Right: Officers operate a machine which determines ground contours from an aerial photograph.

Magnesite Stucco. QUESTION: Somé 17 years ago I stuccoed my house with magnesite stucco. The metal lath has started to show through and some cracks are appearing. I am trying to find a finish which will be nearly like the present gray to contrast with the red tile roof.

Answer: Once magnesite stucco has begun to disintegrate, there is no permanent method of stopping this condition. The only remedy is to remove the present stucco and refinish with a good portland cement stucco. You can get the desired color from one of the makers of colored stucco.

Renovating. Question: In doing over an old farmhouse, I intend to strip walls and ceilings of all lath and plaster, and to run necessary pipes and con-duits before replastering. Would it the plaster is off. Would you prefer steam or hot water? Why?

Answer: For a house that is to be occupied only occasionally, I should prefer some form of circulat-ing warm air. With both steam and hot water, all water would have to be drained off on leaving and or be drained off on leaving, and on opening up the house, it would be many hours before the system could be filled and the radiators heated. With warm air, all of this would be avoided. Do not overlook the need for putting good metal weatherstrips on all windows and outside doors.

Vegetable Storeroom.

Question: Please give me the re-quirements for building a cold room for the storage of fruit, vegetables, etc.

Answer: Enclose the area to be used for the storage room with a rigid insulating board. Use fourinch studding, and cover both sides of the walls with the insulating board. A small window in the par-tition will help ventilate the storage room. The window should not be opened so wide as to permit the warm air of the cellar to get into the cold room. The walls and boards could be painted with aluminum paint to keep any possible dampness from damaging the insulating board, as well as provide additional insulation. The door must fit snugly in the wall.

products. And between these two spots stood two other potentially valuable colonies that long have been the apple of Japan's eyes-Australia and the Philippines.

The question was what would Britain and the United States do in the face of this hostile action. The question was not long in being answered. Britain sent convoy after convoy of tough, hardened Australian troops to Singapore-men who were ready and anxious to fight for their homeland.

The United States' reply was less spectacular but just as defiant. It sent home the wives and children of all army and navy men in the Far East. Other U. S. citizens were told to get out as quickly as possible. The U. S. Pacific fleet sailed off, no one knew where.

To a Japanese declaration that it was the most misunderstood nation imaginable, and was willing to negotiate for peace anywhere at anytime, undersecretary of state made an answer. "We are more interested," he said, "in deeds than in words."

through the propeller. Also scheduled for early delivery are medium and light bombers, which, like fighting planes, are equipped with leakproof fuel tanks, armor protection and heavier fire power. Many will go to the Panama Canal Zone and others to Puerto Rico.

SPIES AND OIL: In Latin America

Usually informed circles in Mexico City discussed a sensational re-port of a Nazi Fifth Column ring which was said to be operating from the Canadian border to the Cape of Good Hope. The ring was declared to be directed from Philadelphia.

Mexican circles, describing the alleged conspiracy, said it was a preliminary step in Nazi efforts to gain economic control of the Western hemisphere. The plot was said also to engage Communists and Spanish Falangistas as well as Japanese agents, and the objective to be sabotaging of U.S. aid to Britain, blocking the American defense plans and antagonism against the United States in some of the Latin American countries.

For weeks there has been evidence of increased pro-Axis activity in Mexico. Several pro-Nazi publications have appeared. Ships arriving from Japan have unloaded numerous Germans. Propaganda has been aimed at creating suspicion on the United States' good neighbor policy, and at a whispering campaign that the U.S. would drag Mexico into war.

President Manuel Avila Camacho often has expressed his friendship for the United States and his dislike for totalitarian policies. Just a few days before news of the alleged ring was made public he submitted to a special session of the Mexican congress a bill which would reopen the rich Mexican oil resources to private exploitation. The bill ap-parently would clear the way for resumption of operations by U. S., British and Dutch companies expro-priated in 1938. The government, however, would participate in the control.

Livingston estimated the total employment now nears 50,000,000, a record high, more than 4,000,000 above the 1929 peak.

By comparing census figures, social security records and relief totals, he estimated that there are now but 1,669,000 men without jobs. He pointed out, however, there always is a number of persons who are temporarily out of work as the result of changing jobs, and seasonal factors.

New Problem

High officials of the American Federation of Labor, however, expressed concern over another problem-the thousands of men who have been shifted around the country to meet defense needs. They feared many of these might soon again find themselves unemployed and far away from home.

More than 300,000 of these men are engaged in the building trades, erecting cantonments. Much of this work may be finished by early March.

Concentrations of men in many of these communities has also increased the health hazard, since the small communities around camps and defense industries are unable to furnish homes and adequate food supplies.

MISCELLANY:

Arrested-Harry R. Bridges, West coast C. I. O. leader, was arrested again on an order to deport him to his native Australia. The warrant was issued by Attorney General Jackson who said Bridges was a Communist. Similar proceedings by Secretary Perkins last year brought about an acquittal report from Dean James M. Landis of the Harvard law school, the trial examiner.

Romance-Mr. and Mrs. George I. Searle, of Des Moines, Iowa, who were divorced 33 years ago, have changed their minds. They remarried.

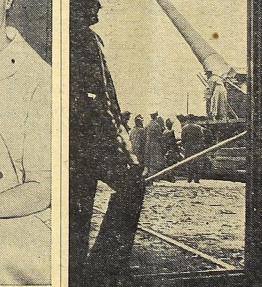

Family Busy-The entire family of former Gov. John G. Winant of New Hampshire got into the newspapers within a week. First the governor was named U. S. ambassador to London; then Constance, his 20-year-old daughter, eloped with a Peruvian. Finally Mrs. Winant scored. One of her pets won a blue ribbon at the New York dog show.

Mrs. Grace Armstrong, 35, in her hospital bed at Park Falls, Wis. where she was taken by Dr. H. A. Smith after the automobile in which he was taking her to the hospital for confinement skidded into a ditch. A passing motorist took both to the hospital, where it was discovered the baby had already been born. Hurrying back to his stalled auto, Dr. Smith found a farmer with the baby-an eight-pound boy whom he had found in the snow-wrapped in a blanket. Birth took place while the half-conscious mother was being transferred into the second automobile. Hospital attendants nick-named the baby "Snowball."

Boy Returns to U. S. After Siberian Exile

Safe at home after a long exile in Siberia, Leonard Pluto, 15, shown above, is greeted by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Pluto, after he stepped off a plane in Cleveland, Ohio. Studying at school in Poland when the nation was divided, Leonard was captured by Russians and sent to a Siberian prison camp. The U. S. consulate finally secured his release.

A sentry stands framed in the doorway as workmen at Baldwin Locomotive Works, Eddystone, Pa., put finishing touches on new eightinch railway gun for U. S. army. The gun, which fires a 65-pound shell 18 miles, is the first built in a pri-vate plant since 1916.

Ex-Red Found Dead

Walter Krivitsky, foreign head of the Soviet foreign spy system, who was found shot to death in a Washington, D. C., hotel. Authorities inclined to the belief of suicide; others that it was the work of the Russian OGPU.

Soundproof Doors.

Question: After I have insulated a wall to keep in the noise, how can I make the door soundproof?

Answer: Reasonable sound resistance may be obtained by applying a felt stripping on the door frame, the felt strips to fit closely around the door when closed. The space between the door sill and the bottom of the door is closed up by installing a special type of felt strip, which automatically closes down on the door saddle. Panel doors should have the panels taken out, and the spaces filled with a rigid insulating board. The entire door is then covered with insulating board on both sides.

Plastic Paint.

Question: Is lime ever used for plastic paint walls? What is a good medium rough finish? Can plastic paint be put on over old plaster? Are ceilings given the same texture as the walls?

Answer: Plastic paint contains glue or some other adhesive, and will stick to any surface, including old plaster. Gypsum plastic paint is inexpensive, and you will get better results through buying it, than in attempting to mix your own. The dealer from whom you buy it should have instruction sheets describing the different plastic finishes. Ceilings are usually finished smooth.

Fireplace Hearth.

Question: The specifications call for a fire brick floor in a fireplace. Instead, the builder has laid a concrete floor, claiming this is more heat resisting than the fire brick We have our doubts about this and would like your opinion.

Answer: Fire brick might be more satisfactory for the purpose. However, if the concrete was laid in sufficient thickness and proper proportions it should prove serviceable

Painting a House.

Question: In painting a frame house, is it advisable to put on a coat of aluminum paint first? If so, why? Is it more costly than ordinary paint?

Answer: Aluminum paint is most widely used for a priming coat on new wood surfaces. It makes an excellent base for the following coats of paint. In repainting it is not necessary. Aluminum paint does not cost more than ordinary paints.

WON'T YOU COME FOR TEA?

Alaska Enjoys New Boom

Since 1867 when the U. S. paid Russia $7,200,000 for Alaska, America has taken the territory for granted, taking from her soil $500,000,000 worth of gold and enjoying a profitable "export" market. But last sum-mer, with Europe aflame and with both Japan and Russia looming menacingly on the far eastern horizon, the U. S. appropriated $50,-000,000 for her defense.

Huge airfields are springing up, roads are penetrating the forests, and workmen such as those shown above are building bridges over the rushing streams. Soon 10,000 troops like the soldier at the right will disembark in Alaska.

In the first 10 months of 1940 exports to the territory totaled $41,-600,000 against $36,400,000 in the same period of 1938. Above (left), is Theo. C. Wiehe, president of the Schenley International Co., pointing to Alaska's place on the map, after predicting an unprecedented boom for the territory which he toured extensively recently.
