Tawas City Plays Sterling in Opener Here Sunday

TAWAS CITY

MAYOR WILL PITCH FIRST BALL TO JUDGE

Locals Lose to Camp Skeel In Last Sunday's Warm-Up Game

Next Sunday afternoon the Northeastern Michigan league will officially open with 14 clubs swinging into action. The league has been divided into two divisions again this year. The Southern division with Pinconning at Rhodes, Roadside Zoo at Fisherville, St. Valentine at Orchard Inn, and Pine River at Beaverton, will be Sunday's games.

The Northern division is made up of the following towns: Alcona Beach, Harrisville, last year's champs, Tawas City, Alabaster, Turner, Sterling and Gladwin.

Tawas City will be hosts to Sterling at the local diamond. The game is scheduled for 3:00 sharp at which time Mayor Ernest Burtzloff will throw the first ball and Probate Judge H. Read Smith will make an attempt to catch it. We've been told that Mr. Burtzloff is planning on disappointing the fans, that he has been getting Bud, his son, up early every morning to play catch with him in the alley, in hopes that what the fans will look for to be the customary wild pitch, will be a perfect strike, the old meany.

The Sterling-Tawas City game should be an evenly matched contest as it is to be remembered that these two teams met for the Northeastern Michigan league championship in 1939.

So come on fans, let's get behind the team and help them take this first game of the season and jump off to an early start. A good attendance will inspire the boys to play harder. The admission price is the same as last season, 25 cents.

Other games in the Northern division Sunday will be Harrisville at (Turn to No. 2 Back Page)

Judge Smith Names New Members of Tax Board

Last Monday morning Probate Judge H. Read Smith appointed Duell Pearsall, of Hale, Wm. A. Davison, of Tawas City, and Glen Hughes, of East Tawas, as members of the Iosco County Tax Allocation commission. Pearsall was a member of the board last year. Davison and Hughes succeed Joseph G. Dimmick, of East Tawas, and J. M. Amley, of Oscoda, the retiring members.

A meeting of the commission will be held next Monday for the purpose of organizing.

4-H Clubs of 5 Counties Banquet at Prescott

One Hale boy and three Oscoda boys were selected Tuesday evening at the Annual District 4-H Conservation Club Achievement banquet held in the High School auditorium at Prescott to represent Iosco county at the State 4-H Conservation camp which will be held this year at Higgins Lake Conservation Department Headquarters early in September. Clayton Johnson, of Hale, Robert Fullerton, Bud Bissonette and Gleason Hines, all of Oscoda, are the boys selected for this free trip and outing. These four boys as well as Jack Winters, of Oscoda, prepared posters sufficiently fine, depicting the deer situation within their own localities that they will be exhibited this fall at Michigan State Fair in competition with other 4-H posters from all parts of the state.

The Annual banquet attracted some 100 4-H club members and their parents from Alcona, Iosco, Ogemaw, Arenac and Oscoda counties, and marked the competition of one more year in the popular conservation project called "Deer Yard Study."

Sixty-six members from this county completed their required work and made poster exhibits of deer condition concentration and deer conditions as they have existed during the past few months. The members came from four different clubs, namely, Oscoda—led by Russell K. Mead; Whittemore—led by Orville Jagger; Hale—led by Norman O. Sibley; and East Tawas—led by E. N. Mathias.

Distinguished Guests

The past week end this city entertained a famous orchestra leader—Helen and Joe LaFond had as their guest none other than the celebrated Del Drabridge, his charming frau, and strapping offspring. Come back soon Del.

Operetta

Will be presented by the Hale school in the new Community Building, Friday evening, May 16, at eight o'clock. The proceeds will be used to purchase seats for the new building. Admission 15 cents and 25 cents. adv

Local Showers

Tawas City Schools to Present Carnival Tonight

Tawas City High school will present its most gale affair of the year on Friday, May 9. The events will take place in the school house and in the gymnasium.

The admission to the building will be ten cents and each ten cent ticket entitles you to a free chance on the door prizes. One of the door prizes will be a large maroon and white quilt with 383 names of local citizens embroidered upon it. Along with this fine prize will be several other prizes donated by the merchants of Tawas City.

For a small nominal fee you may see "Here Save My Daughter," a one act play which is comedy, tragedy, and a farce all in itself. The Midget show will present a troupe of small children who will sing, dance and perform like season showmen.

Located on the first floor of the school will be the picture gallery, which will include pictures of old and new, comic pictures, baby pictures, and a variety of old fashioned pictures.

For those who have curiosity, there has been a curiosity shop established. There you will see relics, curios, and oddities of every description. One interesting feature of the curiosity shop will be an old spinning wheel that will be operated by a resident of the county. Among the oddities will be the greatest collection of liquors ever seen, the world's greatest sweaters, a collection of unusual glowers, and the one-eyed monster.

For those individuals who love the unusual and the exciting, a trip into the House of Terrors, from which no one has ever escaped, will guarantee adventure and chills.

Pugilists who love a good fight should see Joe Lewis fight Max Bare in a thrilling World Championship match.

Any Isaac Waintons in the crowd may find their heart's desire at the Fish Pond. Parcel post from all over the United States may be secured at the Parcel Post sale.

When you feel in the need of food, stop at Food's Inn for a dish of home-made ice cream and apple pie or have a sandwich and a cup of coffee. Then when your appetite has been appeased, try your skill at the various games of skill.

Open House Will be Held at Silver Creek

The public is cordially invited to attend the Open House to be held at CCC Camp Silver Creek, Saturday and Sunday, May 10 and 11, in connection with the eighth anniversary of its establishment. A baseball game will be played at the camp between a team from Camp Skeel and one composed of CCC enrollees. Dinner will be served to all visitors at two o'clock on Sunday.

PIONEER TAWAS BUSINESSMAN PASSES AWAY

Funeral Rites For Abram Barkman Held Thursday

Abram Barkman, prominent Iosco county businessman, died Wednesday of this week at his residence in East Tawas following a long illness. Mr. Barkman had been engaged in business in this community for more than 60 years, and his activities had included merchandising, lumbering, banking and extensive operations in the development of resort property.

Abram Barkman was born in Poland in 1862. He came to Detroit with his parents when he was 13 years of age. At the age of 16 years he became a clerk in T. Simon's store at Tawas City and continued in the employment of Mr. Simon for seven years. He then started in the dry goods business for himself in the Meyers block at East Tawas. Several years later he purchased the Urquhart building, now occupied by the Mooney restaurant. He was in business in this building until his retirement from the dry goods and banking business.

In 1912 Mr. Barkman started the manufacture of box shooks and crating in a plant located in Tawas City along with the retail sales of lumber and builders' supplies. The manufacturing business was discontinued a few years ago. He was also interested with the late W. M. Gardner at the Hardwood Mill in the cutting and sawing of second growth timber. For a few years he was interested in the private Bank of Beckman & Barkman at Lewiston. This was later sold to Herman Lunden. He was the owner of the Barkman Lumber company and retained an interest in the Barkman Outfitting company which is operated by his three sons.

He was married twice, his first wife passing away in 1901. To mourn his death are left his wife, Mrs. Clara Barkman; six sons, Joseph, Nathan, Harris, Milton, all of East Tawas; Julius, of New York City, and Aaron of Chicago; two daughters, Helen and

Needed Improvement Sought for Road M-65

State Highway Commissioner G. Donald Kennedy Tuesday received a combined delegation from Hale and Whittemore, requesting that the State make a much needed improvement to highway M-65.

Senator Ben Carpenter of Harrison introduced Duell Pearsall who was spokesman for the Hale delegation which requested that M-65 from US-23 to Hale, a distance of 25 miles, be hard surfaced.

Pointing to the need for improvement of roads on Michigan's military network as determined by the War Department, Commissioner Kennedy told the delegation that the possibility of work on this road depended largely on the actions of Congress.

"We cannot determine our 1941 road program until Congress makes its highway appropriations which should be within three or four weeks. At that time I shall inform Senator Carpenter about the department's decision relative to your request. We shall try to pave at least a section of the road requested," Kennedy told the Hale delegation.

Spokesman for the Turner group, Sheriff John Johannes and Dennis O'Keefe, were introduced by Representative Alexander M. McKay of West Branch. The delegation requested that the county road from M-76 just north of Alger and due east through Turner to US-23 be determined a state trunkline so that it would be eligible for improvement and state maintenance.

Commissioner Kennedy recommended that inasmuch as this county road was eligible for federal aid secondary road funds now available, the delegation request the Arenac County Road Commission to make it a Federal Aid Secondary road project.

Home Economics

The Iosco County Home Economics Extension held their achievement day last Friday with 60 women present. A noon luncheon was served at the Methodist church at East Tawas. A splendid program was presented with Mrs. A. W. Colby serving as chairman, followed the luncheon.

Regina, of New York City, and three grandchildren.

Funeral services were held Thursday afternoon at Bay City. All of the family were present.

St. James Electric, Inter-City; Silver Valley, Ladies; Champs

Alma Moeller's 188 actual pins in the third game of the Ladies league championship match wasn't enough to win for the Recreation team. In this match Silver Valley was declared the new champions. Their scores of 986, 964, 935, for a total of 2897 was 12 pins better than the Recreation team who hit 989, 876 and 1012 for a total score of 2885. These scores include handicaps.

In the Inter City championship match on Tuesday evening between St. James Electric, winners of the first half, and Harrisville, second half

2 PROMINENT IOSCO COUNTY CITIZENS DIE

John Fraser of East Tawas And William Phelps of Wilber

William H. Phelps

William H. Phelps, prominent Wilber township farmer, died last Thursday following a heart attack. Mr. Phelps was 75 years of age and had been a resident of the county for 60 years.

William H. Phelps was born May 13, 1866, and lived in Sanilac and Oakland counties until about 16 years of age. In the spring of 1882 came to Wilber township, and was employed in the lumber woods and as a farm hand, later purchasing a farm in Wilber.

He married Mary Syme in May, 1888. To this union seven children were born—Flossie Britton, of Flint; Agnes Clute, of Detroit; Clarence Phelps, of Detroit; Anna Webster, of Detroit; Herbert Phelps, of Wilber; Dorothy DeGrow, of Detroit; and Winnifred Guttenaar, of Detroit.

Mrs. Phelps died in 1920, and in April, 1921, Mr. Phelps married Mrs. Clara Otis Dorey, of Wilber.

The surviving relatives are the widow and seven children, ten grandchildren and six great-grandchildren. Four step-children also survive.

Out of town attendants at the funeral included, Mrs. Flossie Britton, Mrs. Agnes Clute, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Phelps, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Webster and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. DeGrow and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Guttenaar and son, Mr. and Mrs. Abe Nickels, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Clute, John Syme and sons, Earl and William, of Detroit; Mr. and Mrs. William Sugden and Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Dorey, of Birmingham; Mr. and Mrs. Henry Dorey and daughter, of Lansing; and Joseph Christian, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Conklin and Mrs. John Johnson, all of Muskegon.

Funeral services were held Monday afternoon in the Wilber Methodist church, where Mr. Phelps has been affiliated for a third of a century. He served as member of the official board the major portion of that time. Rev. S. A. Carey officiated at the funeral.

In civic life he served the township for many years as justice of peace and also as a member of the board of review, and for nearly 25 years was identified with school boards in Wilber. The school house flag in Dist. 1 was flown at half-mast as a mark of respect on Monday.

John L. Fraser

John L. Fraser, highly esteemed citizen of Iosco county and one of the county's pioneer farmers, passed away at his residence in East Tawas. The funeral services were held Tuesday from the residence. Rev. S. A. Carey officiated and burial was in the East Tawas cemetery.

John Leslie Fraser, the son of James and Rosena Fraser, was born January 27, 1861, at Hull, Quebec. At the age of six years, he with his mother and step-father, S. M. Dillabough, came to Michigan, settling in Lapeer county. In 1878 the family again moved, this time to Tawas City. They later located on a farm in Reno township, where they were one of the first three families.

On September 26, 1893, he was to marry Margaret Hamilton, who survives him.

Until October, 1918, Mr. Fraser was occupied with farming in Grant township. That month he was stricken with infantile paralysis. Since then, though an occupant of the wheelchair, he was township clerk for many years, and his leisure time was filled with reading and a keen interest in political conditions. During his active years he had been interested in county and township affairs, serving for many years on the Board of Supervisors.

In 1918 Mr. and Mrs. Fraser took over the grocery store at Fraser's corners, which they ran until 1938 when they moved to East Tawas.

Besides the widow, he is survived by four children, Rozena, Mrs. F. F. Frank, of Port Huron; Blossom, Mrs. Ed. C. Groesbeck, of Flagstaff, Arizona; Miss Lois Fraser and Leslie Fraser; and eight grandchildren, Leslie, Lyle, Lucille and Lois Frank; Dorothy, Jean and Floren Fraser; and Barbara Lois Groesbeck.

The deceased was a member of the Ancient Order of Glaniers, Hemlock Arbor, and the Latter Day Saints. For many years he was an active member of the Grange. Mr. Fraser will be long remembered by his many friends because of his keen interest in young and old.

Funeral services were held Wednesday morning from St. Joseph Catholic church. Rev. Robert Neumann officiated. Interment was in the Catholic cemetery.

Rumor

Don't tell anyone but it has reached Ye Old Ed's ears that very shortly a native will return and give the town a jolt.

Card of Thanks

We wish to express our appreciation to our friends and neighbors for their kindness in our bereavement. The Barkman Family.

Twin-City Garden Club

On Monday afternoon, May 5, the Garden club held its regular meeting at the County garage. One noteworthy feature of the meeting was the naming of the club, which will in the future be known as the Twin City Garden club.

Mrs. John Barrington, of Whittemore, guest speaker, gave a very inspirational talk about the tours and projects which the Whittemore club has enjoyed. Of special interest, inasmuch as iris is to be studied at the next meeting, was the account of a trip to visit a garden in Rose City in which iris are grown. Mrs. Barrington also showed movies of a flower show and garden scenes.

Mrs. Frank Wilkusi, in a fifteen minute talk, gave interesting information on the growing of dahlias, which will prove of great benefit to her listeners, for now they will no longer search for the largest bulb or sit idly by while insects destroy the dahlia plants.

At the close of the meeting the Whittemore club ladies presented the local club ladies with a beautiful bouquet of tulips.

In The Service

Clarence Fowler gives an interesting account of his first months' experience in the army in a letter written to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Fowler of this city. Clarence enlisted in the Air Corps and is now stationed at Chanute Field, Illinois. Air Corps Technical School, Chanute Field, Illinois

Dear Folks:

It seems like only yesterday that I left Camp Silver Creek. Really it was December 6—five months ago. From Silver Creek we went to St. Louis and passed the physical examination with flying colors. At about midnight we left for Detroit where we, Alphonse Mercure and I, were sworn in and from that minute on we were in the U. S. Air Corps. At 8:30 that evening we headed for St. Louis, Missouri, on the Washab "Cannonball," arriving there the next morning. We then went to Jefferson Barracks which is only a few miles south of St. Louis.

We spent a hard and trying three months at Jefferson Barracks doing guard duty, K. P. cutting wood, etc. It was at Jefferson Barracks that we received recruit training which lasted for about three weeks. We didn't have to carry a rifle or pack, for in the Air Corps a rifle isn't used. We are armed with a 45 cal. revolver and nothing more.

On February 23 we left Jefferson Barracks, and a lot of new made friends, for Chanute Field, Illinois. This is an Air Corps technical school and is located 130 miles south of Chicago. Chanute Field is a paradise when compared with Jefferson Barracks. At least we are inside and not out in that "Missouri Mud." It is a special mud used in trapping the enemy, I guess. But that is all gone and forgotten.

Alphonse Mercure and I are both working in the 32nd School Squadron office, doing almost the same work as at Silver Creek. We expect to be up in Tawas City around the 30th, if we can get away. Tell all my friends "Hello," especially Fred Rempert, Arnold Kuerbitz and Bill Keopke.

Your son,
Clarence Fowler.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

U. S. 'Aid-to-Britain' Shipping Losses Brings Convoy Issue Into Open Debate; 45,000 British Soldiers Are Saved As Nazis Complete Balkan Campaign

(EDITOR'S NOTE—When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of the news analyst and not necessarily of this newspaper.) (Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

CONVOY: Argument

The anti-convoy and pro-convoy fight in the senate picked up when the Tobey and Nye resolutions were given formal consideration in committee.

Both resolutions were defeated in committee, but only by a vote of 13-10, and this showed what strength the non-interventionists had gained. The resolution would have tied the President's hands most effectively, in the question of using the American navy to protect shipments to Britain and other defending democracies.

Both would have demanded that the President get congressional approval for any conveying that might be done, and pledged congress to give or withhold it within 14 days.

This would have slowed the pace of the naval commander-in-chief to a walk. There was little repetition, however, of the charges that conveying already was being done.

Senator Nye, in some of his speeches, began to give figures of U. S. losses of equipment en route

GREEK: Bill Presented

The debacle in Greece seemed to be "small potatoes" as far as men and munitions were concerned, as compared with Dunquerque, but the pattern turned out to be almost identical.

There was little question but that the fighting had been as hard at one place as at the other, with probably more successful work done by the British in Greece than they did in France. It seemed that the Greeks were better co-operators than the French, whose morale was utterly shot long before the British began to fall back, and had to contend with clogged roads and fleeing millions.

But Churchill let the commons have the "Greek bill" of expenses as soon as he knew what it was, and announced he would permit a full debate on this motion:

A vote of confidence in the conduct of the war by the British government—and a vote of approval on the giving of aid to the Greeks.

Churchill said the British had put 60,000 soldiers into Greece, including

Mother of '41

Mrs. Dena Shelby Diehl of Danville, Ky., by marriage a great-great granddaughter of Isaac Shelby, Revolutionary war hero and first governor of Kentucky, is the American Mother of 1941. She was extended this honor by the American Mothers' committee of the Golden Rule foundation, which annually sponsors the American Mother. Cited as being "representative of the best there is in motherhood," Mrs. Diehl is the mother of four grown children—all girls.

'COPPERHEADS': And FDR

The "Lone Eagle," Charles Augustus Lindbergh, once more landed on Page One as the first American news story.

Lindbergh, who had first associated himself with the non-interventionists and later with advocates of the theory that British victory was impossible and German victory certain, carried his views to the American public until finally President Roosevelt took cognizance of them in a press conference, mentioning Lindbergh by name and in no complimentary terms.

Lindbergh countered by resigning his commission in the air corps reserve, and accompanied it with a personal letter to the President which he released to the press as soon as it was written, and long before the President received it.

The war department accepted the resignation. The President received the letter. Lindbergh received from Presidential Secretary Early the hint that perhaps he would like also to return to Hitler a decoration he had received from Der Fuehrer some years back.

The open controversy had its backers on both sides, both public and private. The non-interventionists immediately made of Lindbergh a martyr, and at a subsequent public meeting, Senator Nye, leader of the "keep out of war" bloc in the senate, along with Senator Wheeler, made capital of the incident by addressing his hearers as "fellow-Copperheads."

The copperhead reference was President Roosevelt's, used in the press conference and in Lindbergh's letter. Lindbergh's name was cheered to the echo at each of these meetings, and the leaders of the movement were quick to seize on him as a martyr.

Opponents of Lindbergh's attitude were glad he resigned his commission but took the stand that he ought to be silenced and deported, in fact there were few limits in the suggestions that emanated from various sources backing up the President in his questioning of the flier's patriotism.

Along came the Hugh Johnson incident to fan the flames and to give the anti-administration movement more stature. General Johnson, holding, like Lindbergh, a reserve army commission, was denied a re-appointment by the President. Johnson had been authoring an anti-administration column which had been widely distributed in the press.

He, a former New Dealer and a former head of the NRA in the early Roosevelt days, had been busy in anti-administration circles, mostly in magazines, prior to the last election, and had continued with a newspaper column.

The army had certified Johnson for reappointment, so in refusing to allow the commission to go out, the President went against his army chiefs' advice, and further stated that as there was no likelihood of Johnson's actively serving, he wanted to spare the commission for somebody that would.

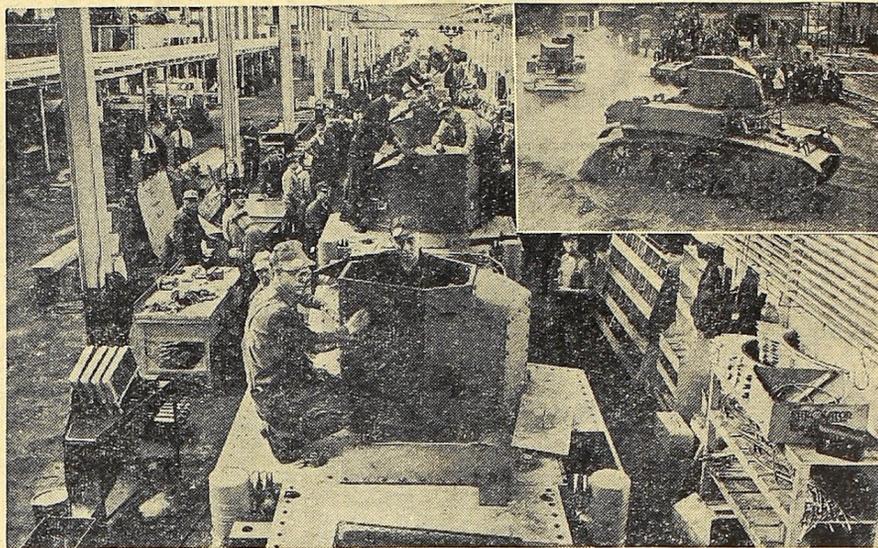

Lindbergh, in his letter to the President resigning, had made quite a point of the fact that as an inactive army officer, he had felt permitted to use the freedom of speech in attacking the administration's foreign policy, but that if the President was going to impugn his patriotism—why then he was going to resign.

INVASION: 'Bugbear'

The end of the Greek campaign and the slowing down of the North African fight, if it was not at the stalemate point, brought the old British bugbear of an invasion at the fore again.

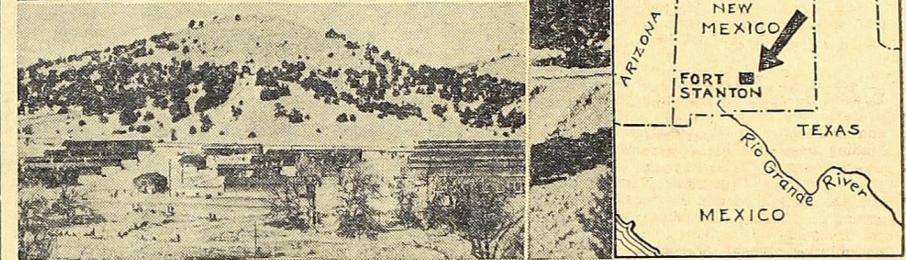

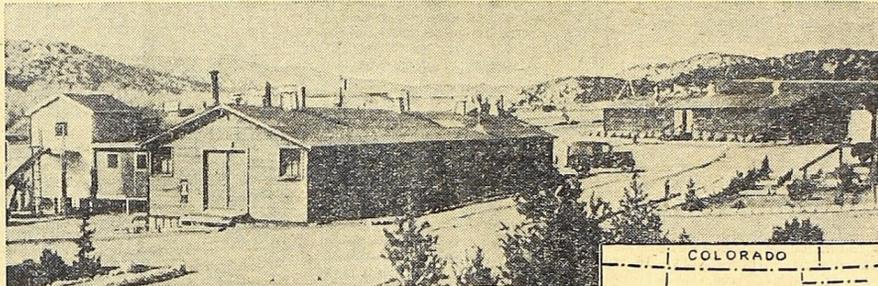

It was a bugbear but a bugbear with a silver lining, if that was possible, for most of Britain dreaded the days of waiting more than the actual attempt, so sure were the people that it would be smashed.

WHO'S NEWS THIS WEEK

By LEMUEL F. PARTON (Consolidated Features—WNU Service.)

NEW YORK.—Back in the calm, untroubled days of February, 1939, with one more spring not far behind, a famous economist, returning from Europe, told the ship news men that this war scare was all paper talk. Responsible statesmen of Europe had things well in hand.

On this same day, there was a little item, back in the dustbin of the newspaper, reporting that, in certain minor changes in the army, the President was putting the "accent on youth." One Brig. Gen. Delos C. Emmons, a youth of 51, was upped to the post of chief of the army's mobile general headquarters air force. Five or six other youngsters were similarly elevated.

The other day, the quietly effective General Emmons was given direction of a new organization of possibly 500,000 or 600,000 civilian air raid spotters. Four brigadier generals will assist him in recruiting and training his volunteer observers.

Back in 1916, we thought of airplanes as primarily useful for observation, and it was the signal corps, our only flying service, that the then Captain Emmons entered. He adapted himself quickly to the fighting as well as observing uses of planes, became a keen technician in the art of plane development and flying, and, in 1920 and 1921 taught flying at Harvard university. He is a native of Huntington, W. Va., and graduated from West Point in 1909.

MISS MABEL BOARDMAN, tall, regal, tireless and alert, is a born co-operator and commander. Her 40 years with the Red Cross is a timely citation, not only in the aftermath of the tragedy of London, but in her current Washington announcement that the Red Cross is geared for swift emergency action. In this connection, she mentions the fact that it sent more than $23,000,000 to Europe last year, and gives other details of its expanding and intensifying organization.

Miss Boardman is secretary of the American Red Cross. During her service, its membership has grown from 300 to 15,000,000, with much of the credit for this increase assigned to her. Born and reared in Cleveland, with abundant means and distinguished family antecedents, she was a Washington society bud. In 1900, a friend made an unauthorized use of her name as one of the incorporators of the new Red Cross.

Miss Boardman accepted the call and has helped guide and build the vast organization with unflagging energy and administrative and organizing ability. She is straight as a ramrod, serene and at ease, but with a touch of military alertness,—an ever watchful evangel against all the plagues of the litany.

LAST October, Major Edward Bowes, of radio fame, gave his Westchester estate to the Lutheran church. Then, in November, he gave his 62-ton yacht and his 29-foot speed-boat to the navy. Previously he had given to St. Patrick's cathedral four huge English elms and eight Schwedleri maples. And now he is giving to St. Patrick's an Andrea del Sarto painting, masterpiece of the Florentine painter, done in 1515. It is "The Holy Family With St. John and Ste. Elizabeth."

The major started on a grand garrison finish, along in his fifties. This writer remembers him as a genial evangel of real estate, and a crusader against crime in San Francisco, many years ago. Even in that day he had imposed on a grammar school education the smoothest diction in those parts.

It was in San Francisco, a most theatrical town, that he moved into the theater. It was in 1917 that he built the Capitol theater in New York and thereafter his career was a pleasant upbound ride on a gold-plated escalator.

Off and on, he has been radio's best magnet for fan-mail and his "take" has been put down at around $25,000 a week. He started his amateur hour in 1934 and it quickly blazed into a four-eleven conflagration. He lives abstemiously, as to food and drink, but sports a $38,000 car, with venetian blinds, a refrigerator and gold-rimmed dishes, and he provides plenty of Lucullan trimmings for the entertainment of his guests. He gives things away on the slightest provocation and couldn't possibly have come from anywhere but San Francisco.

SENATOR NYE His bill: 40% loss, at sea.

to Britain by sea, and said that these ranged from 40 per cent to more than half. He then quoted a high defense official as saying, "they were nowhere near 40 per cent and were getting less constantly."

However, it was still apparent that Britain preferred to send American aircraft across the ocean by air rather than on the water, and the President backed up this effort by announcing he was asking for a survey to get all the commercial air transports possible, presumably to ferry the pilots back and forth who were in the transatlantic shipping of warplanes to Britain.

That this was a big industry and getting bigger was seen by the new revelations of the prices being paid to American pilots for doing the ferrying. Some of these salaries were quoted at $1,500 a trip, which didn't seem so much, but it was a good deal for a day's flying, and some of the bombers were making it in 12 hours.

Of course, there was the wait before you got back to earn another $1,500, but the pilots were getting astronomical "waiting salaries" as well. But there were signs that as American production was stepped up, this business was beginning to get out of hand, and that there was a woeful shortage of planes capable of bringing the pilots back to America.

There also was revealed another British immediate request for a quantity of mosquito torpedo boats, and also the fact that American supply was short, for Secretary Knox said, "We'll let them have some, and more as we finish them up."

Highlights

... in the news

Washington: President Roosevelt himself opened the government's multi-billion dollar defense savings campaign by buying the first bond himself. The ceremony was broadcast from coast to coast.

New York: Jesse Jones announced that the government debt would go to 90 billions, and that America, which had no sacrifices as yet, would be making them "and plenty of them."

London: Belgian circles reported that Germany is holding 128,000 Belgians prisoners of war.

London: British bombers claimed sinking or damaging 42,000 tons of Axis coastwise ships in a week. The British announcement said "evidently the Nazi rail strain is being relieved by the use of coastwise shipping in more favorable weather."

Chungking, China: Capt. James Roosevelt of the marines bobbed up in Chungking, watched the Japanese carry out an air raid on the city, praised the public's morale, and announced that he was going to fly to northern Africa to observe the war there. He said to Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek, "I'm here to learn."

WINSTON CHURCHILL His bill: 3,000 killed in Greece.

one division each (about half of the total force) of Australians and New Zealanders.

He said that of this number there were about 3,000 casualties (killed and wounded and missing), about 45,000 "got away to fight on other fronts," and 12,000 were still unaccounted for. This, presumably, included those left to screen the retreat (suicide battalions); and those lost at sea in sunken transports.

The prime minister said "British losses were small compared to the losses inflicted on the Germans, who on some occasions for two days a time were brought to a complete standstill by forces one-fifth their number."

He said, further, that the conduct of the troops, especially the rear guard, merited the highest praise, and that the British demonstrated that prolonged air bombing by day and night had no power to shake their discipline or their morale.

Some members of the house wanted to know if the 45,000 had fled to Crete or had reached their own bases. Churchill said he believed the latter to be the case. He admitted that the army in Greece had been forced to abandon or destroy all of its heavy equipment, which could, of course, not be removed.

He was highly positive, however, not only of the escape of 45,000 men, but hinted that the other 12,000 "unaccounted for" probably would die or be taken prisoners—but might, possibly, escape somewhere else temporarily.

The Nazi communiques announced the Greek war over, the formation of a "new government" similar to that of occupied France, and the affair officially at an end.

RUSSIA:

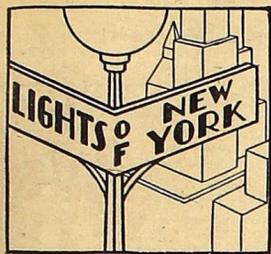

At Crossroads

Indication that Soviet Russia is facing a situation that is becoming less and less healthy for the Soviet's peace of mind came when it was officially announced by Moscow that 12,000 German troops, well equipped with tanks and heavy artillery, had moved into Finland with water with the evident intention of staying there.

The official announcement coupled with this move by the Nazis, at least former allies of Russia, with the decision by Russia not long ago not to permit further shipments of arms and munitions over her railroads, or through her country by air or land.

Just what the German objective was in Finland was not immediately apparent, but it was evident that if the Germans intend to go on southward through Turkey and Syria into Iraq and Iran, the Germans will certainly bottle up the Black Sea for Russia, and few believed the Soviet would stand for that without fighting, perhaps on the side of the Turks, perhaps alone.

This is the eventuality that most friends of an eventual defeat for Hitler and Mussolini and Japan have looked forward to, and Churchill hinted at it not long ago.

... JUST LIKE MOTHER USED TO MAKE!
 (See Recipes Below)

IT WAS WONDERFUL FOOD!

Remember flying home, pigtailed thumping, to smell supper, and guess? Remember being saucer-eyed as mother's marble cake took a blue ribbon at the fair? And remember licking the last bit of sweetness from the frosting platter? I know you must remember. How could you forget? It was wonderful food!

And it's to the best cooks in the world — our mothers — that this week's column is dedicated. When you pay them homage on Mother's day, 1941, perhaps you'll enjoy using some of the following recipes, favorites of the long ago.

In those days, to be caught without plenty of food, and good food, too, for all comers was to show oneself a poor housekeeper, a bad hand in the kitchen. But times have changed. A large "crook" of butter, a "basket" of eggs, and a "wedge" of cheese are no longer a part of the regular supplies on the shelf in the vegetable cellar. Nor are recipes penciled on the fly-leaf of the family ledger. But the basic goodness is still the same.

So, whether it be crusty brown doughnuts, chicken pie and jelly roll, huge, fluffy cakes, or rich chocolate pie, let's take mother back, down memory lane!

Lovely to look at and utterly delightful to eat is the Sour Cream Devil's Food Cake, which I'm sure was a favorite of grandmother's.

Sour Cream Devil's Food Cake.
 2 cups sifted cake flour
 1 teaspoon soda
 1/2 teaspoon salt
 1/2 cup butter or other shortening
 1/4 cup sugar
 1 egg, unbeaten
 3 squares unsweetened chocolate, melted
 1 teaspoon vanilla
 1/2 cup thick sour cream
 3/4 cup sweet milk

Sift flour once, measure, add soda and salt, and sift together three times. Cream butter thoroughly, add sugar gradually, and cream together well. Add egg and beat very thoroughly; then chocolate and vanilla, and blend. Add about one-fourth of the flour and beat well; then add sour cream and beat thoroughly. Add remaining flour, alternately with milk, a small amount at a time, beating after each addition until smooth. Turn into two greased 9-inch layer pans and bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 30 minutes, or until done.

Spread Felicity Frosting on top and sides of cake. Top with glossy

LYNN SAYS:

In an old book of household advice, written in 1879, are some words of wisdom "to help homemakers." I'm passing them on to you "for what they're worth" in the modern, up-to-date home.

"Use a clam shell to scrape skillets or saucepans; to scour your iron pots and griddles, use wood ashes.

"Sweeping a carpet with new fallen snow will make it look very bright and fresh. Also, it is a good plan to save tea leaves, and with them not too moist, sweep a dark carpet. This is not advised for light colors.

"Woodwork may be dusted with a long-feathered wing, preferably that of a turkey.

"For washing fine clothes, use a pounder—not a large, old-fashioned affair, but one about twice as large as a potato masher, and pound your clothes as they soak in salsoda water. The rubbing on a board will then be very easy. Use a clothes wringer if you can possibly get one.

"Never buy ground coffee. Take whole berries and heat; grind while hot.

"All housewives should be well advised in cookery, and should know how to make good dishes, such as 'Jenny Lind Cake,' 'Parsnip Pie,' 'Marrow Dumplings' and 'Flannel Pancakes.'" chocolate coating, made by combining 1 square unsweetened chocolate, melted, 1/4 cup sugar, and 1/4 cup water. Cook over low flame until smooth and thick. Cool slightly. Double the recipe for three 10-inch layers.

Felicity Frosting.
 2 egg whites, unbeaten
 2 cups brown sugar, firmly packed
 Dash of salt
 7 tablespoons water

Combine egg whites, sugar, salt and water in top of double boiler, beating with rotary egg beater until thoroughly mixed. Place over rapidly boiling water, beat constantly with rotary egg beater, and cook 7 minutes, or until frosting will stand in peaks. Remove from fire, but allow to remain over hot water, and beat 2 minutes longer. Place over cold water and continue beating 3 minutes. Makes enough frosting to cover top and sides of two 9-inch layers.

Just like mother used to make. That's what you'll say when you taste the delicious cookies, made by the directions given below. When mother baked cookies she made them rich with butter and usually full of fruit, like:

Fig Oaties.
 Boil 5 minutes in water to cover:
 1 1/2 cups dried figs
 Drain, clip stems and cut figs into thin strips (scissors are handy). Cream together:

1 cup butter
 2 cups beet or cane sugar
 Add:
 3 eggs, beaten
 Blend well, then add liquids:
 1/4 cup milk
 1 teaspoon vanilla
 Sift together and add:
 1 1/2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
 3/4 teaspoon salt
 2 teaspoons baking powder
 Add:
 Figs
 5 cups quick-cooking oats

Stir until well blended, then drop by small spoonfuls onto greased cookie sheet and flatten slightly. Bake in moderately hot oven, 400 degrees F., for 13 to 15 minutes. Press a nut meat, strips of fig or cherry into tops before baking if desired. For a glazed top, brush with hot honey after baking and place under broiler for a minute or two. Makes 5 1/2 dozen medium-sized cookies.

Do you recall the old cracker barrel? It was a necessity in days gone by when homemakers often made their own crackers, and even their own baking powder and bread starter. Thinking that perhaps in your spare moments you might like to try your hand at cracker making, I'm including a recipe.

Crackers Made With Yeast.
 1/2 package granular yeast
 1 pint warm water
 1 1/2 quarts flour
 1 tablespoon salt
 1/4 cup sour milk
 1/2 cup shortening
 1 teaspoon soda
 Set sponge of yeast, water and flour at night. In the morning add the other ingredients and flour to stiffen very stiff. Pound with rolling pin. Fold over and pound again. Continue until the dough is smooth. Place on a lightly floured board and roll in a thin sheet. Cut in squares and punch holes on top with a fork. Place in ungreased pans and bake in a 400-degree F. oven. These are inexpensive and very good!

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL Lesson

 of Chicago.

S. S. Lesson for May 11

Lesson subjects and Scripture texts selected and copyrighted by International Council of Religious Education; used by permission.

THE RESPONSIBILITY OF THE HOME REGARDING BEVERAGE ALCOHOL

LESSON TEXT—Deuteronomy 6:4-7; Jeremiah 35:5-10.
 GOLDEN TEXT—Train up a child in the way he should go; and when he is old, he will not depart from it.—Proverbs 22:6.

The responsibility of the home regarding liquor is primarily that of providing a place for children to grow up under proper principles and practice. That means that the home should be a Christian home, where both parents follow Christ in life as well as profession. Young people about to establish a new home should give themselves without reservation to Christ. Those who began their home as a Christian home, but who have drifted through carelessness or unbelief, should renew their devotion to Christ. America needs many things, but first and foremost stands its need of real Christian homes.

I. Preparing to Meet Temptation (Deut. 6:4-7).

Temptations will come, and when they do it will be too late to prepare a defense against them. We are all "defense conscious" these days. We have seen in the sad events of the last year that there must be adequate preparation in advance if we are to withstand the enemy. That is doubly true in the realm of the moral and spiritual. We must build moral fiber and appreciation of spiritual things into the lives of our boys and girls from their infancy. How?

1. By a Consistent Example (vv. 5-6). Only the father (or mother) who loves the Lord with all his being and who has permitted God's Word to enter into his heart will set the right example. It is well to know something about child psychology, about the principles of rearing children, etc., but these, without a right relationship to God, are cold and powerless. But let the parents walk before their children in earnest Christian living, let them honor God's Word in their lives and in the home, and they will lay the finest foundation for Christian character in their children.

2. By Correct Teaching (v. 7). The parent should make the teaching of God's Word to children a matter of first importance. It is to be expected that the children will be in church and Sunday school with their parents (notice the word "with"—it's not enough to send them), but that is not sufficient. Blessed and fruitful is that home life in which the Word of God is a normal and easy topic of conversation, where spiritual things are discussed intelligently and without restraint. Every home can be that kind of a home, if the parents will do what they know they should do about it.

II. Standing in the Hour of Temptation (Jer. 35:5-10).

As a protest against the heathendom, the intemperance, and corruption of the city life of his day, Jonahab instructed his house or tribe to live an itinerant life and, above all, not to touch wine.

We are not called to imitate in detail their way of living, but rather to learn from them the principles of consistent temperance.

1. Remembrance (vv. 6, 7). Jeremiah was sent to test the Rechabites (not to tempt them to fall) by offering them wine, but to them it was a real temptation. They met it promptly and without fear, because they had in their hearts and minds the teaching of their "father" Jonahab.

Blessed is the boy or girl who in the lone and trying hour of temptation is not confused by the negative or unchristian example of parents, but who at once has a vision of a God-fearing father and mother, and a remembrance of their faithful teaching of God's standards of life.

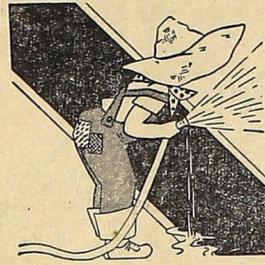

2. Obedience (vv. 8-10). Here again is a lesson which must be learned from the tender years of babyhood, but which bears glorious fruit in the days of young manhood and womanhood. The parent who does not tactfully, kindly, but withal, firmly, teach children to obey has undermined their life in advance.

The Rechabites loyally obeyed the word of their founder, and passed their hour of testing with flying colors. They had his example, they knew his teaching, and life itself had proved to them that they were in the right way.

A closing word. The liquor interests are concerned because the consumption of beer is rapidly falling off and because most of their customers are "elderly or middle-aged." They are spending tremendous sums in advertising to "get the beer drinking habit instilled in thousands, almost millions, of young men who do not at present know the taste of beer."

That is their avowed aim. Shall they be permitted to put it across? Not if Christian people will put the influence of the American home squarely where it ought to be—against the liquor traffic.

The Questions

1. What is a solecism?
2. Where is the measurement parsec used?
3. What is the lee side of a ship?
4. May one sound be produced so as to neutralize another sound, the result being silence?
5. Who was the Spanish conqueror of Mexico?
6. In the famous poem, named after the hero, what "boy stood on the burning deck"?
7. What country is noted for its consanguineous marriages?
8. How fast do the stalks of the yucca flower grow?
9. Are any famous piano compositions written to be played with one hand only?
10. What are the tea wagons of the London fire department?

The Answers

1. A grammatical error.
2. In astronomy (used for measuring space between the stars).
3. The side opposite to that from which the wind is blowing.
4. Scientists say that two sounds may be produced in such a manner that they neutralize each other and the result is silence.
5. Cortez.
6. Casabianca.
7. Egypt. Consanguineous marriages are those between half-brothers and half-sisters.
8. Yucca flower stalks in California grow from 7 to 11 inches in 24 hours.
9. There are more than 60 famous piano compositions that are played with one hand only, among them being Zichy's "Valse Adele" and Ravel's "Concerto for Left Hand." Ravel wrote this work for a friend who had lost his right arm.
10. A typically English feature of London's fire department is the Y. M. C. A.'s mobile tea cars. Tea cars are light trucks equipped with stoves to boil water for tea, cook eggs, sausages, etc. On major alarms they clatter through the streets along with the fire engines and often remain on 24-hour duty to serve the weary fire fighters.

'Land of Big Feet'

Patagonia is a little-known region with a familiar name. The so-called Patagonian area constitutes the tail of the South American continent. Long contested between Chile and Argentina, this area was finally divided between those countries in 1881, and its permanent boundaries were set in 1902. The Argentine section lies roughly east of the Andes and south of the great central plains. It includes the three continental territories of Rio Negro, Chubut, and Santa Cruz, and is some 259,000 square miles in area.

According to some authorities, the name Patagonia, which means "Land of the Big Feet," was given the area by early explorers who were amazed at the size of footprints (of aboriginal Indians) found there.

Unlimited Debate

In the United States senate the members have the right to hold the floor for an unlimited time in debate. Unless otherwise agreed on in advance, a senator once recognized may hold the floor as long as he continues to speak, or until the session ends.

Debating time in the more numerous house is strictly parcelled out.

1923 Peak for Cars

Although more than 80,000,000 passenger cars and trucks have been produced in the United States since the turn of the century, the industry did not reach an annual output of 1,000,000 vehicles until 1916. In 1929 and again in 1937 production exceeded 5,000,000 motor vehicles, more than were produced from 1900 to 1916.

Town Remains Without Jail

The town of Baden, Pa., whose main claim to fame for the past 15 years has been that it has no jail, recently dedicated a new $45,000 municipal building—without a jail cell. George Ehrhart, assistant chief of police of this community of about 2,000 population, says: "Crime in Baden is so negligible we don't need a jail. We can install a cell block in the shower room in the basement if the need arises. If we had a jail it would just be turned into a haven for transients."

Cubism in Painting

Cubism in painting was gradually evolved by Picasso and George Braque, between 1906 and 1910, while studying the composition of still life groups consisting mainly of bowls with fruit, bottles, glasses and musical instruments. It was Braque who first introduced into his designs nails and bits of printed paper. Picasso then added pieces of wood and other tangible objects, which led to a form of art where sculpture and painting were combined.

Mrs. Ada Hall, Mrs. Lottie Pringle and Mrs. Irwin Wood was called here by the death of their uncle, John Fraser.

Mrs. Pringle and Mrs. Wood called on Mrs. Russell Binder on Tuesday and spent Tuesday night with Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Brown, returning to their home in Flint Wednesday.

Uses Ball Bearings

A new compressed air gun which emits only a hissing noise, was demonstrated by its inventors in Los Angeles recently, piercing airplane armor plate and cutting a three-inch oak plank in two. The gun shot 10,000 a minute, the missiles leaving the gun so rapidly that they struck each other as they hit the target. The inventors, William B. Hale and Durand Beam, conducted the tests at a range of 100 feet and a pressure of 150 pounds. They said a pressure of 2,000 pounds was feasible. The bullets are ball bearings, a half inch in diameter.

48-Gun Salute

A 48-gun salute is the salute to the Union, commemorating the Declaration of Independence, which consists of one gun for each state. This salute is fired at noon on July 4, at every army post provided with suitable artillery.

JOHN DEERE-VAN BRUNT MODEL "CC" CULTIVATOR
takes over your important tillage jobs

You can make short work of cleaning your fields of weeds when you let a John Deere-Van Brunt Model "CC" Field Cultivator take over your important tillage jobs. Every time across the field, the Model "CC" tears out all weed growth and stirs the soil—preserves the moisture and saves those "profits" for you.

Whether it's roughing stubble fields, summer fallowing, making seedbeds, killing bindweed or other weeds, cultivating alfalfa, or breaking up land, you can do a better job with a John Deere-Van Brunt Model "CC" Cultivator. See this all-round tilling machine at our store the next time you're in town.

Bugler Loses His Job

In the modern, streamlined army which the United States is assembling for national defense the old-fashioned bugler is rapidly losing his standing. Over at Scott Field, St. Louis, he has been completely replaced by a public address system and a set of wax records. No longer do buglers stand in line to blow the shrill notes of reveille at 6:25 a. m., or to intone taps at 11 p. m. Instead, a corporal merely puts a record on a phonograph and the calls emanate from loudspeakers placed about the entire field.

Presiding Officer Called Chairman

Council Proceedings

Regular meeting of the common council April 21, 1941.

Present: Mayor Burtzloff, Aldermen Boudler, Brugger, Frank, LeClair, Leslie, Murray.
Moved by Boudler and seconded by Leslie that the motion granting Byron Brackenbury a full year's license be re-considered. Roll call: Yeas—Boudler, Brugger, Frank, LeClair, Leslie, Murray.

Moved by Boudler and seconded by Leslie that the application of Byron Brackenbury for a resort license, six months, be approved and the transfer of the same to Laura Bauer be also approved. Roll call: Yeas—Boudler, Brugger, Frank, LeClair, Leslie, Murray. Nays—None. Carried.

Communication from Bessie McGuire received and read. Moved by Brugger and supported by Frank that the same be referred to the City Attorney. Carried.

Moved by Leslie and seconded by Brugger that the following resolution be adopted. Whereas, Certain parcels of property within the city of Tawas City has reverted to the State of Michigan for non-payment of taxes, and Whereas, Title to such property has vested absolute in the State of Michigan under Act 206 of the Public Acts of 1893 as amended and such properties are now administered by the Department of Conservation under Act 155 of the Public Acts of 1937 as amended and Whereas, The Department of Conservation, through the Lands Division has requested the City of Tawas City to make recommendations, subject to review by the Department of Conservation, relative to the dispositions of these properties, which recommendations will be in the best interests of this community and the State of Michigan, now therefore Be It Resolved, by the council of the city of Tawas City on the 21st day of April 1941 that the suggestions and recommendations, except those pertaining to the minimum cash value, made on attached sheets are the result of careful and thorough study by this council, that such recommendations and suggestions are deemed to be in the best interests of the State of Michigan and the city of Tawas City, and that the city of Tawas City requests the Department of Conservation to follow these recommendations to the fullest extent possible, thereby serving best the State of Michigan and the city of Tawas City. Roll call: Yeas—Boudler, Brugger, Frank, LeClair, Leslie, Murray. Nays—None. Carried.

Moved and seconded that meeting adjourn. Carried.

Dry-fly or wet-fly, trolling, bait-casting or still-fishing—whatever kind of fishing you favor, there's sport for you in the streams and lakes of Michigan.

THERE'S A BIG ONE CALLING YOU!

The fighting fish of Michigan are waiting hungrily for their annual tussle at the other end of your line. With five thousand miles of rivers and streams where brook trout, browns and rainbows are jumping—five thousand inland lakes, teeming with bass, lake trout, pike, walleyes and "muskie"—is it any wonder that Michigan tops every other state in the number of fishing licenses?

In the past year, millions of fish, many of them of legal size, have been placed in Michigan waters by the state hatcheries and feeding ponds. A splendid system of state highways leads to the lakes and rivers and the deep-water fishing grounds, offshore. And all Michigan is dotted with hotels and camps for the comfort of anglers. Telephone ahead for reservations, boats, guides or information. Then pack up your tackle and go where the fish are calling!

Do you know the flavor of fresh-caught Michigan trout, crisped and browned over a camp-fire? These are browns and rainbows, taken in Boardman River.

TIPS to Gardeners

GARDENS OF QUALITY

THERE have been changes in recent years in garden practices that are worth reporting. Gardeners formerly allowed vegetables to grow as large as possible. This procedure gave a higher yield in pounds, but very often it lowered the quality of vegetables.

Some vegetables, of course, like tomato, must be mature to be palatable; but carrots, cucumbers, beets, summer squash, turnips, radishes, and others are more tender and tasty when not much more than half grown.

Gardeners are finding that it is wise to plant often than once or twice a year, to maintain a regular supply of proper-sized vegetables. Gardens prove more enjoyable, and more profitable when successive plantings of favorite crops are made every two or three weeks, providing garden-fresh vegetables for the table over a long season.

It is also true that few gardeners today save flower seeds. Fine flowers growing in the home garden often are cross-pollinated by others of the same species, making flowers grown from their seed inferior, and untrue.

Costly Toys

The yacht Rainbow, built at a cost of $400,000 only six years ago to defend the America's cup against Mr. Sopwith's Endeavour, has been sold as scrap for one-third of her original cost. These modern racing yachts are nothing but speed machines. They cannot be turned to any other use when their racing days are over.

Of Lipton's four first Shamrocks the only relic is a mast now used as a flagstaff at an American university. Every one of the modern cup racers has gone to the scrap yard. These ships were not fit for anything but racing, and their average life has not been more than three years.

We Can All Be EXPERT BUYERS

● In bringing us buying information, as to prices that are being asked for what we intend to buy, and as to the quality we can expect, the advertising columns of this newspaper perform a worth while service which saves us many dollars a year.

● It is a good habit to form, the habit of consulting the advertisements every time we make a purchase, though we have already decided just what we want and where we are going to buy it. It gives us the most precise feeling in the world: the feeling of being adequately prepared.

● When we go into a store, prepared beforehand with knowledge of what is offered and at what price, we go as an expert buyer, filled with self-confidence. It is a pleasant feeling to have, the feeling of adequacy. Most of the unhappiness in the world can be traced to a lack of this feeling. This advertising shows another of its manifold facets—shows itself as an aid toward making all our business relationships more secure and pleasant.

THE STORY SO FAR

Carol Coburn, Alaska born, is returning north to teach in an Indian school. Aboard ship she is annoyed by Eric (the Red) Ericson, an agitator. She is rescued by a young engineer. She is disappointed that he is Sidney

Lander and he is surprised in turn to learn her name. He is working for the Trumbull company which is contesting her father's claim. He is engaged to Trumbull's daughter. Carol had seen Lander and Barbara in fond farewell at the Seattle dock. Miss Teetzel, head of the Indian school, resents Carol's youth. Carol gets a letter from Lander asking for her father's documents and declaring "The Trumbull outfit and I are parting company."

INSTALLMENT III

CHAPTER III

I couldn't send documents which I didn't possess on to Sidney Lander. And I couldn't get any response to my repeated letters to the high-and-mighty Record Office officials at Juneau. I had to wait, as women so often have to do in this world.

Summer, up here under the shadow of the pole, seemed a very short season. I'd been twice to Anchorage, to explore the wooden-fronted shops and buy things to cover my nakedness and bring home an armful of month-old magazines. And through it all, as the voice over our tinny radio announced, "Time marches on."

For the sun was swinging lower and lower and the birch leaves were turning and the wild fowl heading south. The fireweed was red on the hillsides and I once more faced the familiar old task of stoking a drum stove with spruce logs. There was a sheeting of ice on the trail pools in the morning and we breakfasted by lamplight. Doctor Ruddock brought Katie O'Connell seven wild ducks which he'd shot on the Inlet, explaining that the six mallards were for the staff, and the spoonbill for the principal. With the coming of the first untimely snowfall, in fact, I'd taken to whipcord riding breeches and invested in a pair of pacs, high boots made of rubber, with generous enough foot room to allow for at least two pairs of woolen socks. Katie, when she saw me thus attired, proclaimed that I once more looked like an old-timer. Then she went over her combination rifle and shotgun, which she called a "game-getter," and asked if I'd swing in with her on a moose hunt across the Inlet.

But instead of a moose hunt we went on a baby hunt. For Katie had been right about her vanished paopoe. Word came that our poor little redskinned Oedipus had been found abandoned in a poplar grove east of Wasilla. Doctor Ruddock, who brought the news to Toklutna, said there was a passable trail through the hills and delegated Katie and me to motor over to Matuska Valley and bring the outcast back.

Katie, who would have started out for Timbuctoo at a word from that doctor of hers, lost no time. It wasn't an entirely dignified departure, for it took place in the school's old wood-toting motor truck.

By noon the next day we won through to the Matuska River, where we were told to push on eastward along the valley toward what was called the Butte. High up in the hills, as we went, I could see mountain sheep, looking like little clouds anchored to the rock ledges.

Then Katie snorted aloud. For at a turn in the road we came face to face with a bewhiskered old-timer with a holstered hunting knife and a six-gun swinging at his hip, to say nothing of a long-barreled rifle in the crook of his arm. He looked, for some reason, like a picture out of the past. The light in his saturnine old eye was none too kindly as he studied us and then inspected our mud-covered truck.

"Them contraptions," he mumbledly announced, "weren't built for North Country mushin', no more'n women were."

Katie, after agreeing with him, made an effort to explain our mission there. The rugged and defiant old figure assailed the trail ruts with a barrage of tobacco-juice shrapnel.

"Injuns like that ought t' be shot. And in the good old days," he said as he slapped his six-gun, "I'd a done it on sight." He spat again. "That's what's the matter with this whole gol-darned country. She's gone soft on us. And 'stead o' spoon feedin' them copper-bellied sons o' she-dogs she should be puttin' a bounty on their scalps." And still again he spat. "That's what's still in this ol' territory. Too much government. I've trapped her and prospected her from Keewalki down t' Wrangel. And in the ol' days—"

"We're from the Toklutna Mission," interrupted Katie, "on an emergency case."

"So I savvied," was the unhurried response. "But in the ol' days, as I was sayin', we could run our own camp. But now it's your Uncle Sam who steps in and runs us same as he runs the Injins. He makes a raft o' fool minin' laws, slaps a closed season on beaver, and gits a game warden after us if we shoot a lady-caribou t' keep body and soul together. He tells us t' settle down and grow turnips. But once we clear an acre or two he claims we ain't provin' her up right and puts her back in the public domain."

The old-timer, when he spat again, was able to convert the movement into a sweeping gesture of repudiation.

"And right now a thievin' lot o' politicians is set on turnin' this valley into a truck garden for a bunch o' broken-down corn-rustlers on relief. They've got their survey men over there, markin' out road lines and drivin' stakes and claimin' they're pavin' the way for the resurrection of Alaska. And next spring they're countin' on plantin' an army o' pie-eaters on the valley tundra and watchin' 'em git rich growin' spinach for themselves."

He shifted his cud and brushed aside the mittened hand with which Katie was semaphoring for silence.

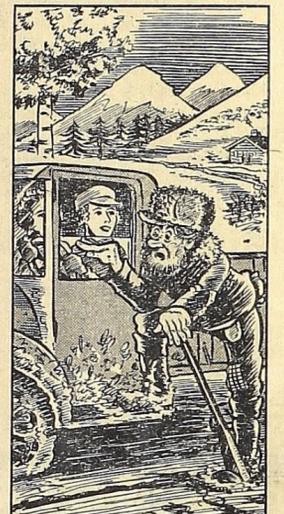

"This ain't no place for college doods," he doggedly pursued. "I got one o' them know-it-all engineers over t' my shack right now. He kin talk big about g'ology and machine-minin', but he could no more take a tom-rock back in the hills and wash out a poke o' dust than I could pilot one o' them air-tiny brand o' husky-dogs off the trails of Alaska."

Katie, very plainly, could stand for no more.

"That's all very interesting," she bellowed. "But we're here to find an Indian baby. And if you can help us in our search I'd rather like to know it."

The challenge in Katie's voice brought a keener look of animosity from the bewhiskered old face.

"I was a-comin' to that, lady, if you'll only keep your shirt on." And still again he spat with delibera-

"I was a-comin' to that, lady, if you'll only keep your shirt on."

tion. "Your Injin baby's over there in my wickyup."

"It's where?" cried Katie, reminding me of a coiled cobra. The old stranger seemed to relish her bewilderment.

"It's over yonder in my wickyup, with that dood engineer tryin' to wet-nurse a little life into it. And I'll be doggoned if he ain't got it squallin' again like a two-year-old."

"Take me to it," commanded Katie. Her lips were grim as she motioned for the old-timer to climb up on the truck. She was, apparently, too exasperated to talk to him. So I did the conversing.

"Where," I asked as we rocked along the rough trail, "was the baby found?"

"Why, this long-legged quartz-cracker came mushin' down through the hills with a sheep dog at his heels, a right smart dog with a nose like a weasel's. Fact is, that hound smelt out something in a poplar grove jus' over the knoll beyond my clearin'. Kept whimperin' and whinin' and circlin' back there until his owner jus' had t' investigate. And there he finds an Injin baby wrapped up in a ragged blanket. And then comes stampeidin' t' my shack door sayin' 'we sure got t' save that little Injin's life. It looked plumb dead t' me. But I'll be gol-darned if that dood didn't get some signs o' life out o' the little varmint, after workin' over her half the night and my last bottle o' hootch."

"What's your name?" I asked, primarily to cover Katie's open groan of indignation.

"You can call me Sock-Eye," he answered, "Sock-Eye Schlupp. What's yourn?"

"It's Coburn," I told him. And the deep-set old eyes studied me with a livelier interest.

"You ain't Alaska born?" he ventured.

"I was born," I proudly explained, "on the Koyukuk."

The man who called himself Sock-Eye stared at me.

"A Coburn from the Koyukuk? You ain't meanin' to tell me you're ol' Klondike Coburn's girl?"

I announced that I was.

"Why, I mushed many a trail with that leather-necked ol' panswizzler," was his slightly retarded rejoinder. "And I seen you when you was a squallin' little brat no bigger 'n a minute, over back o' Pickle Crick Camp. Why, it was me helped tote you down t' the sky-pilot at Elk Crossin', when you was christened. And consoomed my share o' the moose-milk after that sky-pilot 'd mushed on t' his next mission post. They called you Carol in them days."

"Carol Koyukuk Coburn," I said, feeling a little closer to him.

"Sure it was, girlie," said my new-found friend. "Your pappy 'd been pannin' pay dirt along the Koyukuk and held he was handin' luck on t' you with that name." Sock-Eye spat luxuriously, indicated the right-trail fork for Katie to take, and turned back to me. "But his own luck didn't hold out. It sure didn't." Still again Sock-Eye spat. "That was a dirty deal they gave him over on the Chakitana."

"He died there," I said, with reproving quietness in my tone.

"And died fightin' for his rights, tryin' to push through t' the Record Office to git his patent from bein' canceled on him. But he was buck-in' something too big for him. Seems like you got t' be a college g'ologist and a law sharp before you can stake a claim in this country nowadays."

"Then somebody else should be keepin' up the fight," I said with a sort of she-wolf fierceness that brought the deep-set old eyes back to a study of my face.

"Tain't a fight where a pinfather cluck like you'd have a look-in," observed Sock-Eye Schlupp. He spat wide into the fringing spruce. "And nothin' much is gained by bellyachin' over water that's gone down the flume, girlie. You should be satisfied Klondike sent you outside t' git eddicated proper."

"Perhaps I'm not," I said, embittered by a sense of relapse in the face of some old loyalty.

"Then what're you set on doin' with yourself?" my companion coolly inquired.

I told him, briefly, about my work at Toklutna. But it didn't impress him much.

"You're sure wastin' your time on them no-account Nitchies," he averred. His morose eye ranged along the far-off mountain peaks. "Same as I'm wastin' my time in this valley, batchin' it in a ten-by-twelve wickyup and bakin' my own sourdough. I've got me a minin' claim up between the Little Squaw and the Goldstream where the mother lode runs as thick as your leg and once I get back there and open her up she's sure goin' t' be a second El Dorado."

I could feel Katie's elbow prod my ribs.

"They all say that," she muttered. I remembered that she was right. I'd seen them broken and wasted from bad diet, and arthritic from bad teeth and burnt out with bad whisky, but still nursing their dream of some lucky strike that was going to make them millionaires overnight. And in it, I felt, lay both the curse and the glory of all Alaska.

"Here we be," cried Sock-Eye as we rounded a trail bend and rolled up in front of a log shack with a pair of weather-bleached moose horns over the door.

The light wasn't strong in the shadowy warm room. But I could make out a dog, lying beside the stove, and a man in his shirt-sleeves, stooping over a blanket-lined basket without a handle.

I stared at that man, rather stupidly. Then I looked back at the dog, in an effort to verify the incredible. The man stooping over the blanket-lined basket was Sidney Lander.

I could feel my heart beating a little faster as I stood staring at him. I could see Katie O'Connell's eyes widen as she inspected the nursing flask he'd made out of what looked suspiciously like a beer bottle with a glove finger tied over its end. It wasn't working right, apparently, from the thin walls of protest that came from the basket.

"Leave this to me," said the nurse as she reached for her hand-bag. Sidney Lander, thus elbowed aside, stood watching the expeditious hands that betrayed none of the hesitations marking his own clumsy movements. When the dog lifted his pointed nose and rubbed it in a friendly way against my knee his owner raised his eyes and stared straight into my face.

He saw, for the first time, just who it was under that worn old parka. But he didn't speak and he didn't smile. He merely stood there, with wonder in his eyes.

"I didn't expect this," he said as Sock-Eye Schlupp busied himself stoking the stove. "I was on my way down to Toklutna to find out why you hadn't much faith in me."

"In what did I fail you?" I questioned, a little resentful of his power to dampen or quicken my spirits.

"I asked for the data and documents to back up your Chakitana claim," he reminded me.

"I don't happen to have any documents, as yet," I told him. "But even if I had, why should they be to you?"

"I wanted to lay them before John Trumbull," replied Lander, puzzling me by the grimness of his jaw-line. "He's the big smoke in the Chakitana Development Company."

"But also your boss," I said.

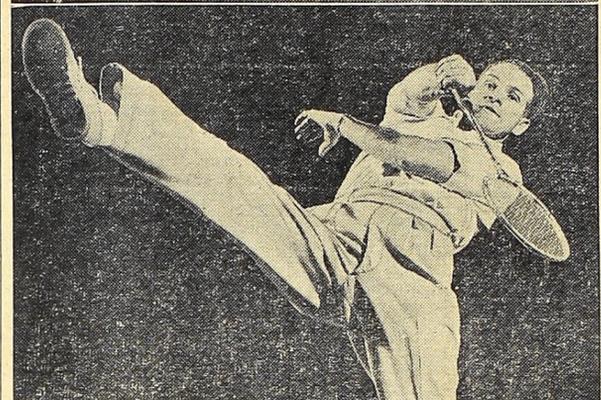

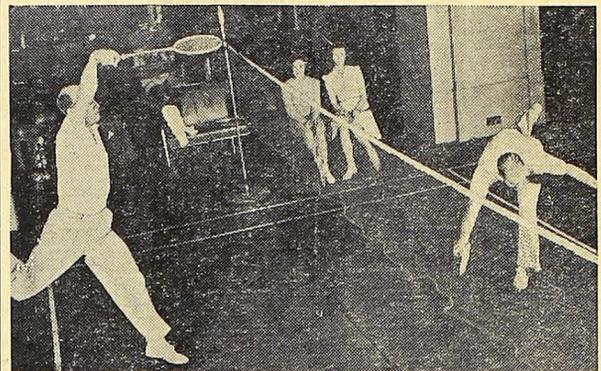

"I'm afraid he won't be for long," was Lander's unexpectedly embittered reply.

"Why not?" I inquired.

It Used to Be 'Sissy'

There was a time when the man who played badminton was regarded as something less than a he-man. But those days are gone. In these action photos made by the Speedray technique, two topnotchers, Ken Davidson and Hugh Forgie, show you some of the strokes.

Top: The shuttlecock, or "Bird," is in flight across the net here, and Ken Davidson (left) also looks as if he is soaring, after smashing it over to his opponent, Hugh Forgie, who is recovering after going off balance.

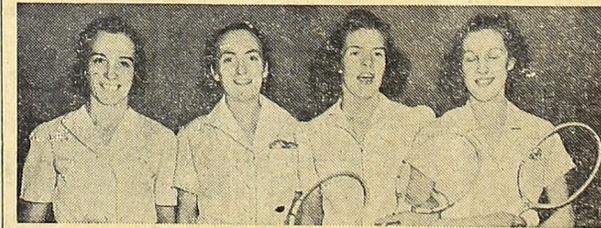

Right: Zowie! Hugh Forgie completing an around-the-head smash. This shot is used by the better players rather than a back-hand stroke.

Below: Ken goes up into the air to meet the bird. He is about to execute a high, back hand lob, smash or drop shot.

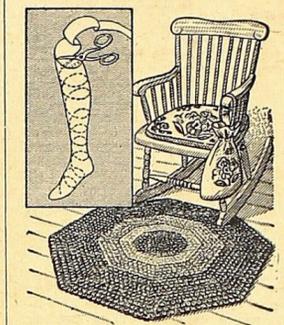

Hugh Forgie is caught by the Speedray here in a graceful leap. Forgie playing a defensive shot back to his opponent's baseline.

Women, too, are enthusiastic badminton players.

Not So Dusty, but Oh, What an Excavation!

Willie was on the hunt for information. He had been set to entertain a portly visitor, who, having no inquisitive children of his own, had answered all his questions with unusual patience.

"And what," was Willie's 198th question, "are houses made of?"

"Houses," replied the stout man, "are made of bricks."

"And what are engines made of?"

"Engines are made of iron."

"And what is bread made of?"

"Flour."

After a pause, Willie asked: "Well, what are we made of?"

"Dust and earth, my son."

"My," said Willie, "they must have made a whacking big hole when they took you out!"

THE TRUTH SIMPLY TOLD

Today's popularity of Doan's Pills, after many years of world-wide use, surely must be accepted as evidence of satisfactory use. And favorable public opinion, supported that of the able physicians who test the value of Doan's under exacting laboratory conditions. These physicians, too, approve every word of advertising you read, the objective of which is only to recommend Doan's Pills as a good diuretic treatment for disorder of the kidney function and for relief of the pain and worry it causes. If more people were aware of how the kidneys must constantly remove waste that cannot stay in the blood without injury to health, there would be better understanding of why the whole body suffers when kidneys lag, and diuretic medication would be more often employed. Burning, scanty or too frequent urination sometimes warn of disturbed kidney function. You may suffer nagging backache, persistent headache, attacks of dizziness, getting up at night, swelling, puffiness under the eyes—feel weak, nervous, all played out. Use Doan's Pills. It is better to rely on a medicine that has won world-wide acclaim than on something less favorably known. Ask your neighbor!

GOOD PASTURE REQUIRES 'REST'

Planned Control Increases Profits on Livestock.

By F. V. BURCALOW
(Extension Agronomist, University of Wisconsin)

Good pastures that provide an abundance of nutritious and succulent forage throughout the grazing season also help the farmer who has them to produce livestock and dairy products at a profit.

Present pasture grasses and legumes will not remain productive under continuous close grazing during the entire season. In most areas a planned series of pastures is needed to provide an abundance of succulent forage throughout the entire grazing period.

Available permanent pasture should be used as the basis of a planned pasture program. Permanent pastures need to be improved and most of them will respond to an improvement program.

Many have been taken too much for granted and are now weed infested and unproductive. Depleted soil fertility and continuous over grazing are two important factors causing this condition. Most of these pastures are hungry for nitrogen and need to be fed. Soil and climatic conditions determine whether the nitrogen should be fed in forms of commercial nitrogen fertilizers or through the use of legumes which can make atmospheric nitrogen available for use by the grasses. For pastures in which the grasses normally used are subject to periods of drouth dormancy, nitrogen is most economically provided by use of drouth resistant legumes.

The old adage "Take care of the legumes and the grasses will take care of themselves" could well be used as a rule for the improvement of permanent pastures, especially those which periodically suffer from drouth. A good program would consist of replenishing the soil with adequate supplies of lime, phosphate, and potash for the growth of legumes, working these minerals into the soil and preparing a seed bed so that legumes could be established.

The improved area should then be fenced so that grazing can be regulated to aid in establishing and maintaining the stand of legumes.

Protein Supplement Helps Beef Cattle Gain Finish

Sam L. Williams, assistant extension animal husbandman of N. C. State college, has an answer to the question: "Can beef be produced without a protein supplement?"

This is what he has been telling beef cattle breeders and feeders who have asked the question in recent weeks: "In my opinion it can be done, but it is neither practical nor profitable."

Then he goes on to explain that the important thing to the cattle producer is how much weight and finish he can put on his cattle and how long it will require. Efficient production is essential to greatest profit in any business, and this is especially true in the cattle business.

Some of the more common protein supplements are cottonseed meal, soybean meal, linseed meal, and corn gluten meal. All of these are about equal in feeding value.

Williams explained that the economy of feeding a protein supplement lies in the fact that such feeds are responsible for more efficient utilization of feed, larger gains, higher finish, and a greater selling price.

Insurance on Wheat Reaches New High

A record number of crop insurance contracts—420,077—has been written as protection on the 1941 wheat crop in 36 states, according to Leroy K. Smith, manager of the Federal Crop Insurance corporation.

This number exceeded by 41,917 the 378,160 contracts written on both winter and spring wheat last year. The 1941 contracts guarantee growers a total production of 110,591,202 bushels of wheat from 10,946,284 insured acres.

"This is the third successive year that the federal crop insurance program has shown consistent gains in the number of contracts guaranteeing wheat growers protection from all unavoidable hazards," the manager said.

Care for Parasites

A drug called phenothiazine will aid the farmer in ridding horses, cattle, swine and other domestic animals of internal parasites, according to Carrol E. Howell, manager of the University of California's W. K. Kellogg institute of animal husbandry.

It was found that the treatment completely eliminated stomach worms in 37 of the animals and was from 78 to 95 per cent effective in the other eight.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Fahselt Married Fifty Years

On Tuesday, April 22, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Fahselt, old timers of this district, celebrated their Golden Wedding Anniversary. Mr. and Mrs. Fahselt were married on April 22, 1891, in Tawas City, Michigan, U. S. A., where they remained until 1920 when they came to Canada and settled on the Hagen farm in this district. They lived on this farm for seven years and then moved to the farm now owned by Mr. Fahselt.

On Tuesday evening about 250 relatives and friends gathered at the Rex Theatre to extend their congratulations and wishes for many more years of wedded life to Mr. and Mrs. Fahselt. The evening commenced with a mock wedding of the one which took place fifty years ago, with Elmer Fahselt and Alan Culham acting as bride and groom, Leo Culham as ring bearer, Jack and Keith Culham as witnesses, and Helen and Audrey Fahselt as the flower girls with the minister being played by Lloyd Culham.

Following the mock wedding Rev. C. R. Parry, who acted as chairman during the evening, spoke a few words and called upon Wm. Sullivan to lead some community singing with Mrs. H. Nightingale at the piano. This was followed by a solo by Mrs. Melvin Korven.

Those present then marched around and personally offered their congratulations and good wishes to Mr. and Mrs. Fahselt. Following this, Rev. Parry, who throughout the entire evening kept everyone in laughter with his usual wit and humor, read a number of telegrams and congratulatory messages which had been received by the guests of honor. Rev. E. S. Leaker then offered congratulations and spoke of the high esteem in which Mr. and Mrs. Fahselt were held throughout the community and spoke of their great work in the church, of how throughout the past twenty both Mr. and Mrs. Fahselt had always done their share in supporting this worthy organization.

The group then had the pleasure of listening to the Cabri Male Quartette with Mrs. Nightingale accompanying them in a song. More community singing was followed by Wesley Lyster who offered the congratulations of the community and also told of Mr. and Mrs. Fahselt striving to make it a better community. He also told of the fine family they had raised. Mrs. J. Culham then played a piano solo. Dr. Caldwell then spoke of the family and told of experiences with them during the sixteen years he had the pleasure of knowing them. Chas. Haydon then rendered a solo.

Mr. and Mrs. Fahselt were presented with a booklet containing good wishes and the names of those present for the social evening. They then in a few words, assisted by Leo Culham, expressed their sincere thanks for the kindness shown them and for the good wishes and congratulations. All joined in singing "They Are Jolly Good Fellows." A lunch was then served by the nephews and nieces of Mr. and Mrs. Fahselt. The floor was cleared and dancing was enjoyed until 2:00 a. m. with voluntary music being supplied by Mrs. B. Hallam and Messrs. Halam, Oscar Aos and J. Moffatt.—Cabri Enterprise

Alabaster; Turner at Gladwin, and Alcona Beach an open date. Locals Lose to Camp Skeel 11 to 6

Last Sunday the local team played a warmup game with Camp Skeel and came out on the short end of a 11 to 6 score. The Flyers flew off to an early lead which they held all through the game.

Tawas City used three pitchers in the game with the veteran southpaw Ferris Brown the starter. Bob McPhearson, the battle scared veteran of many games taking his turn on the rubber, who in turn was followed by Ham Kussro, the youthful fireballer. The three pitchers allowed ten hits for eleven runs. Douvel of the Flyers was found for eight hits and six runs.

4-H Club Summer Program

It is time that our summer 4-H club program was underway so I wish to call the attention of the boys and girls and parents who may be interested in 4-H club work for the summer of 1941. It is time to get started.

There are a few facts on club work which I would like to point out.

All boys and girls as a rule have a pig, calf, or perhaps a garden spot that they call their own. This is the same thing that we would like to do in 4-H club work. The boys and girls are to own his or her own animals or have a plot of ground to raise produce of their own. They are then asked to keep a record of all costs and work spent on the project.

Some of the different projects which may be carried are: food preparation and canning for the girls. We have garden, corn, beans, potatoes, and sugar beets as crop projects; with poultry, pig, sheep and calf projects listed as livestock; also forestry, forest fire study, soil conservation listed as conservation projects. Anyone interested in any of these projects is urged to get in touch with the local 4-H club leader, their school teacher, County Agricultural Agent, or District 4-H Club Agent.

Perhaps some of the boys and girls have been wondering about 4-H club camp. If anyone who has carried and completed a winter 4-H project or is in good standing with a summer 4-H project wishes to attend camp they may send in an application to go to the County Camp which is to be held at Higgins lake June 9 to 12. All those interested are urged to send in applications at once so plans can be completed for the camp.

District Club Agent,
West Branch, Michigan.

WHY IS HYDRA-MATIC DIFFERENT?

AS SIMPLE AS—
2+2=4

Fluid coupling is just one part of Hydra-Matic Drive. Hydra-Matic includes also a fully automatic four-speed transmission. It's the combination of the two that permits elimination of the clutch pedal and all manual shifting of gears. Both are necessary to give you the stepped-up performance and the completely automatic operation that you get only in Hydra-Matic Drive. Come in and try the one drive that goes all the way to make driving simpler, easier and safer!
