CRETE:

The big island of Crete, which Prime Minister Churchill said would be defended "to the death" by an army composed of General Freyberg and New Zealand, British and Greek troops under his command guidenly became the content of the suddenly became the center of the war when a dramatic and unexpected invasion of the island was made by air-borne Nazi troops.

There were some early reports that the Germans were coming also in normal transports, but there was little doubt that the air test was preeminent, and that the world was witnessing the first large-scale such endeavor since the days of the inva-sion of Norway, and of the Low Countries, particularly Holland. Britain reported that the first 1,500 soldiers who landed in chutes were wearing the New Zealand uniform, and coldly announced that "they could expect to be shot." All of them, it was quickly reported, were either killed or rounded up rapidly.

Germany as promptly retorted that if any of the parachutists were treated as spies and shot, Germany would reply "ten to one" in kind. But the British and Greeks didn't have long to wait or long to con-template what to do with the first

By the second morning of the invasion the British radio was reporting that the Nazi invasion force was 7,000, and on the second afternoon hiked this figure to 11,500.

This brought the German force to at least one full division, and a good way into the second division. And the British quickly estimated that these polls before acting, promptly this figure meant that the Germans announced that the convoy question of 18,000 young men in the draft. had from 2,000 to 3,000 airplanes on duty in southern Greece.

The usual silence and mystery as to what actually was transpiring immediately was clamped down by the British ministry of information, which contented itself with issuing such generalities as "the situation is in hand," leaving it up to the Germans to give the world what information could be gleaned.

The German claims, as usual, were broad, the Nazis asserting that many important points had been captured, and that many British planes had been destroyed "on the ground."

British sources seemed willing to admit that the Germans had utter mastery of the air, but General Freyberg said that every hilltop had its sentinel in Crete, that an elaborate method of signaling had been worked out, and that even those parachutists who arrived at night were promptly spotted, reported and given action from the ground forces.

Neutral observers, however, pointed out that in order to effect largescale landing of troops who were not parachutists, the Germans must have obtained at least temporary control of landing fields, or must be using emergency fields.

British reports told of many transport planes shot down with their cargoes of men, both on the island and into the waters surrounding it. However, they also told of huge, unwieldy transport planes towing numbers of gliders loaded with men and munitions, a mode of transportation not reported in wide-scale use

How large the force on Crete was remained a military secret of the Greeks and the British, though there was considerable figuring done by

And Months

Statistical proof that thousands of planes, like Rome, can't be built in a day was given by Admiral Towers, who reported to Secretary of Navy Knox that in the past 10 months the navy has gained 1,304 planes of all types.

The navy now has 3,476 planes of all types, including trainers, and this compared with the British estitions of one of its armies, the quanmate that Germany was operating about 2,000 to 3,000 planes in the Battle of Crete alone, not counting those in use in other theaters of the

> It also was significant that Admiral Towers' report to Mr. Knox was that the navy already is experiencing a shortage of pilots, which compared with Germany's reported 100,000 pilots trained before the war started. In fact, it was this pilot training program which first called the attention of the world to Germany's rebirth as a military power in spite of the restrictive efforts of the Treaty of Versailles.

Of the 1,304 planes which the navy has added to her forces, only about ists could do when well-supported from aloft. 600 of them are combat types, Admiral Towers revealed.

The goal of 50,000 fighting planes for the American army and navy combined was, therefore, envisioned as far in the future, Admiral Towers revealing that not until January, 1942, will the existing shortage of pilots be relieved. Not until then will the number of pilots begin to catch up with the number of planes.

of 18,000 young men in the draft, trying out what was called a "new plan" aimed to "give the selectee a break.'

The plan was this. The 18,000 were to be called out, and immediately given a searching examination along all lines, including their final medical examination by the army doctors.

Then they were to be returned to their homes and jobs, those who were eligible to army life being placed on call in from 10 to 30 days, and the rest of them to return to their normal jobs, secure in the knowledge that they would not be voying and 41 per cent opposed and called.

> This was aimed to remove much of the uncertainty which grew out of the previous method of selective service picking. Dr. William Mather Lewis, selective service director of Pennsylvania, said he was advised that if the experiment proved a success there, it would be applied to the entire nation.

> At the same time President Roose velt put into being the OCD, or Office of Civilian Defense, with Mayor Fiorello LaGuardia of New York its head, working without salary, as will all of his intermediaries.

Also plans for the home guard were worked out at Washington, this group to function entirely separately from the OCD, which would ostensibly have a membership of millions of American men, women disquiet over the report that these and even children.

FIRST-AID AILING HOUSE

Torn Painting

QUESTION: An oil painting has a tear about an inch and a half long. What do you advise on re-pairing it? Can I do it myself, and thus avoid the expense of professional restoration?

Answer: The method is to cement a piece of canvas on the back. But before doing this, the fuzzy edges of the tear must be clipped off or pushed through to the back with a needle or other instrument. With the fuzz disposed of, the edges are brought together as neatly as possible, and secured by the patch on the back. The painting is then touched up with the necessary colors. On a painting of any value, however, the job should be done by a professional; for without experience, the re-sult is likely to be a botch.

Repainting a House

Question: Eight years ago I had my house painted. Wooden shingles all around. The mixture was composed of white lead, linseed oil, turpentine and color in oil, also dryers. I expect to have it painted again. The painter wants to use oil, turpentine, color, dryers and very little white lead. What would you sug-

Answer: Paint for exterior use Answer: Paint for exterior use should contain a large portion of a metallic pigment, to give it body. Paint containing a large proportion of color will have no substance, and the paint should have a large percentage of white lead.

It should be remembered that exterior painting should not be at-tempted in cold weather. The temperature should be at least 50 degrees, and after a stretch of at least four dry days.

Condensation on Floor

Question: The floor of a diningroom is about four feet below the ground level; the floor is tile laid over concrete. The problem is that on humid days in warm weather the base of the walls and floor are wet with condensation. Advice is asked on the possibility of preventing the condensation.

Answer: A wood floor stuck down over a damp-proofed floor should prevent condensation. Mop the floor with a liquid tar or asphalt; then put down a layer of heavy asphalt saturated felt, overlapping the sheets half their width, and cementing the overlaps with liquid tar or asphalt. The wood floor is then stuck down with an asphalt mastic cement. Reliable flooring contractors are familiar with this method of laying wood floors.

Gurgling Water Pipes

Question: In our four-year-old bungalow we installed a washstand in the upstairs closet. The pipes are in line with the kitchen sink. Every time water is used upstairs or down there is a horrible gurgling sound that can be heard all over the house. Plumbers have not been able to correct it. Can you give me a remedy?

Answer: If you get the gurgling while water is draining out of a fixture, it is because air in the pipe ahead of the water can escape only by bubbling up. This could be prevented by putting in a vent-pipe to give the air another way to escape. If the noise occurs when a faucet is being opened, it is because the faucet washer is loose or worn.

Care of Venetian Blinds

A reader sends in the following suggestion: "The original finish of Venetian blinds can be preserved by an application of paste wax rubbed on and then polished. This preserves the finish against stains from rain in the summer and provides a smoother surface, which can be dusted more easily.'

Caution: Do not let any of the wax get on the tapes, as it will leave a stain that will be difficult to remove

Water Heater

Question: An oil burning heating unit has a tankless instantaneous water heating coil. Do you think this is preferable to a heater using a tank?

Answer: A built-in heating coil is surrounded by boiler water and should be more efficient than an outside heater. Heating is so fast that water is heated as quickly as it is drawn. The idea is working out

Room Heater

Question: Can you tell me where a stove of the following description may be bought? It looks like a phonograph cabinet, burns coal, and is supposed to heat several rooms. This stove can be placed in a living-room.

Answer: You can get it at a store of one of the large mail order companies. This type of stove is called a circulating room heater.

CROP ROTATION GOOD ECONOMY

Increasing Yields Repay the Extra Cost, Labor.

By GUY W. MILLER (Specialist in Rural Economics, Ohio State University)

Farmers who follow crop rotations which maintain or improve the fertility of their soil consistently obtain higher incomes than farmers who follow cropping practices which reduce their soil productivity.

Some farm operators may find it more difficult than others to change their cropping plans to a system that improves soil instead of depleting it, but in the long run, the change will pay. Immediate need of money to pay debts usually is given as the reason for following old crop rotations, but taking the money out of the soil is bad economy in the end.

Farms which have been badly depleted respond slowly to soil improvement practices and it may be possible that the adoption of these practices will reduce farm income temporarily. However, the farmer who expects his land to support himself and family must make up his mind sometime to protect the soil, and the decision should be made early enough to avoid long and costly soil improvement practices.

No rural economist advises farmers to go heavily into debt to buy soil improving materials for a whole farm at once. Applications of lime or of fertilizer can be made on a few acres at a time, and the increased yields from the first acres treated will help pay for materials used in later years on other acres.

In some cases, better use of farm manure or the adoption of cultural practices which stop soil erosion will improve the farm without the expenditure of any money. It also is possible in many cases to feed more of the crops to livestock on the farm and thereby obtain more materials for soil improvement.

Appearance Is Deceiving

When Evaluating Farms Contrary to popular opinion, the appearance of a farm may not be a good indication of its value.

It's true that the condition of productivity of that area, says H. C. M. Case, head of the economics department of the University of Illinois college of agriculture. But, he explains, a particular farm may show the effects of conditions under which it has been owned and operated.

For example, previous management may add to or detract from the farm's real value. A good soil may show to a disadvantage if poorly farmed. In fact, the difference in the way adjoining farms or 50 years may greatly affect their present value. Also, a particular one kind of season than another. Fresh paint on buildings may cause one to overlook poor foundations or frames.

Case says it should be considered whether a farm to be purchased is of proper size and adapted to the flame until cheese begins to melt). type of production the farmer wants to follow. He needs to consider whether the farm is located in a good community which will provide the proper opportunity for his family in educational, religious and social aspects. Soil types, control of obnoxious weeds, available water supplies, and the condition of buildings also require consideration.

Grasshopper Threat Smaller This Year

Grasshoppers are less threatening to crops this year than in 1938, 1939, and 1940, Dr. Lee A. Strong, chief of the U.S. bureau of entomology and plant quarantine, predicts. A grasshopper egg survey, on which federal entomologists forecast infestations of these pests, indicates that in 1941 the 'hoppers will be fewer in numbers and less widespread in area. However, large numbers of grasshoppers are expected in North and South Dakota and western Minnesota.

The grasshoppers will appear also throughout western Kansas and immediately adjoining areas of other states, but not in such large numbers as in the northern part of the Great Plains, Doctor Strong says. Large numbers are expected in parts of California and Nevada, though in limited widely scattered areas.

Horse's Teeth Need Care

At least once during each year a competent veterinarian should examine the teeth of all horses, according to the department of agriculture. Generally all that will be required will be the floating or filing off of the long, sharp corners which are due to uneven wearing. This roughness first causes sore tongues or cheeks, followed by a lack of proper mastication together with digestive troubles. Older horses particularly, need proper attention.

'A PICNICKING WE WILL GO . . .' (See Recipes Below)

IT'S PICNIC TIME!

The soft, sunny days of late May and early June tempt even the most conscientious to turn their backs on work, and, since "the only way to get rid of a temptation is to yield to a picnic is the answer!

One reason for the nation-wide popularity of picnics is that they're easy on the lady of the house . sliced tomatoes and green onions for salad corn - on - the cob, if a vegetais wanted ble ("roasting ears" may be cooked in hot coals, allowing 20 minutes to a half hour for the best flavor) . . taste-tempting cheeseburgers . . lemonade, milk or coffee, or all . . . and dessert-it's as simple as that!

No dishes to wash afterward . . no table linen for the laundry bag . . in fact, it's almost a case of "no work and all play!

For that "something hot" which is a picnic "must," I suggest plump, juicy cheeseburgers. If you're picnicking in the woods, your array of burgers probably won't look like the above picture, but they'll no doubt taste the same. If you are entertaining the family or guests at a "back yard" supper, you can serve farms and buildings in a community a large tray of cheeseburgers with may be taken as an indication of the assorted relishes, shoe-string potatoes, and tall glasses of milk or iced tea-they'll love the combination!

*Cheeseburgers With Piquant Sauce.

2 pounds ground beef 1/3 cup milk 1 teaspoon salt

Dash pepper 3/4 pound American cheese

1/4 pound butter 8 buttered buns

Mix ground beef with milk, salt and pepper. Form 8 patties of meat have been operated over the past 25 about 3 inches in diameter. Cut 8 slices of cheese slightly smaller than size of meat patties. type of soil may respond better to skillet and fry patties slowly for about 10 to 15 minutes, turning several times during the cooking period. Place on buttered toasted buns, spread with piquant sauce and top with a slice of cheese. (If pre-

Piquant Sauce.

½ cup chili sauce 1/4 cup pickle relish

1 tablespoon prepared mustard, or 1 tablespoon horseradish

Mix all ingredients together well. If a more highly seasoned sauce is preferred, a teaspoon of Worcestershire sauce may be added.

Or you may want to try fried eggs and hamburger, sandwich style. Cook hamburgers, set aside to keep hot. Fry eggs in same skillet, and serve eggs atop the hamburgers.

LYNN SAYS:

When hamburgers are included in the picnic menu, form the patties of ground meat, mixed with minced onion and seasoning, before you leave home. Place between waxed paper, and they're ready to cook when the fire is ready

Hash goes upstage when it is used as a bun filler. Scoop out rolls, (leftover or fresh) butter insides and pile full of savory cooked hash. Brush top with melted butter or gravy and bake 15 minutes in moderate oven. Ideal for out-of-door suppers.

To "dress-up" your picnic bill-of-fare, there are colorful oilcloth and/or paper tablecloths and napkins. You can find them designed to carry out nearly any theme you so desire. And, as an added tip, in case you're planning to spread an oilcloth covering on the ground, attach it to a pair of old curtain rollers. They'll prevent even the strongest wind from blowing it away!

Good news for picnic lovers are the new "lunch" kits. In them you'll find two one-quart vacuum bottles, plus a metal lunch box. The bottles carry their own cups, nested within their screw tops. The nicest thing, however, is the leg which converts the inside lid into a table.

THIS WEEK'S MENU

Bonfire Banquet *Cheeseburgers With Piquant Sauce Sliced Tomatoes and Green Onions Raw Carrots

Potatoes or Green Corn, Roasted over Hot Coals Cup Cakes, Pie (not juicy, please) or Fruit Coffee or Milk in a Thermos, or

Lemonade

Here are more let's-have-a-picnic suggestions:

*Recipe given.

Cole Slaw. (To Make "On Location") 3 cups finely shredded cabbage ½ cup mayonnaise 3 tablespoons french dressing

2 tablespoons thick cream Mix the mayonnaise, french dressing and cream together and mix into the cabbage just before serving. Add more salt if necessary.

Old-Fashioned Potato Salad. cups diced, boiled potatoes

3 hard-cooked eggs, chopped 1/4 cup finely minced sweet pickle 2 to 4 tablespoons minced onion 1/4 cup pimiento, chopped

Salt, pepper and celery salt 1 cup cooked salad dressing 2 tablespoons mayonnaise

Mix all ingredients together lightly. Let stand, chilling, for at least 1 hour. If desired, the onion and potato may be marinated over night in french dressing before being mixed with other ingredients.

Variations: Meats, such as diced tongue, ham or frankfurters may be added to the standard recipe, and seasonings of chives and green pepper may be included.

Marshmallow-Graham Cracker Dessert Sandwich.

each person, allow 1/2 chocolate candy bar, 2 graham crackers and 2 marshmallows. Toast marshmallows, then place them on the chocolate candy that is on one graham cracker. Put the second graham cracker on top and it is ready to eat. The marshmallows should be hot and soft.

While your picnic group may be addicted to frankfurters in their own sweet, natural style, you might like to try a new trick. Split the large frankfurters down their middles, spread with rich, brown prepared mustard, fill with chopped sweet pickle and turn them over to the "cooking department" to broil. They'll prove ever so popular!

Here's a good one to cook in a kettle: put in one potato for each person, and cover with water. When potatoes are almost tender, add frankfurters (enough for everybody) and heat thoroughly. With buttered buns, ketchup, and perhaps some fresh fruit for dessert, you have a simple and extremely tasty picnic meal.

If it's ice cream you're planning for dessert, I'd suggest you use an ice cream freezer (little son can do the grinding before "starting" time), or pack refrigerator - made ice cream in dry ice. Here's a recipe for a favorite that should please everyone. Chocolate Ice Cream. 1 square unsweetened chocolate

3/3 cup sweetened condensed milk 3/3 cup water 1/2 teaspoon powdered mace 1/2 cup whipping cream

Melt chocolate in top of double boiler. Add sweetened condensed milk and stir over boiling water for five minutes until mixture thickens. Add water and mix well. Chill thoroughly. Add mace. Whip cream to custard-like consistency and fold into chilled mixture. Pour into freezing pan. Place in freezing unit of refrigerator. After mixture is about half frozen, remove from refrigerator. Scrape mixture from sides and bottom of pan. Beat until smooth, but not until melted. Smooth out and replace in freezing unit until frozen for serving.

BROADENING CHRISTIAN HORIZONS: THE ANTIOCH MOVEMENT

LESSON TEXT—Acts 11:19-30.

GOLDEN TEXT—For I am not ashamed of the gospel of Christ: for it is the power of God unto salvation to everyone that believeth; to the Jew first, and also to the Greek—Romans 1:16 Greek.-Romans 1:16.

Scattered abroad! As the flying sparks and embers from a fire which is wildly beaten will light many new fires, just so persecution of the early Christians sent them abroad and established new centers for the preaching of the gospel. Verse 19 of our lesson connects with Acts 8:4. The ministry of Philip in Samaria was paralleled by that of others in Phenice, Cyprus, and now in Antioch. That great city was not far It's such easy handiwork. from Jerusalem, but it was far from God. A mighty city, rich in trade, it was also deep in all kinds of sin; but there it pleased God to establish a great center of Christian testimony. God loves to do new things (see, for example, II Cor. 5:17; Isa. 43:19; Ps. 33:3; Rev. 21:5).

I. A New Church (vv. 19-21).

What a splendid church it was! Here in the midst of the most evil surroundings the sweet flower of Christian faith grew, as it so often

It was a church built upon a faithful testimony by God's chosen witnesses "preaching the Lord Jesus" (v. 20). Their names are not noted, but their message is, and its blessed results. It was a gathering place for all people—Jews and Gentiles. The disciples from Jerusalem preached at first only to the Jews, but God sent others (v. 20), who preached His grace to the Gentiles.

Note also that the Antioch church was a living witness. "The hand of the Lord was with them"-little wonder then that "a great number believed and were turned to the Lord." Your church-and minemight learn much by studying the church at Antioch.

II. A New Fellowship (vv. 22-26). The genius of Christianity is fellowship. Those who have a religious belief which makes them exclusive -not willing to fellowship with other Christians-do not truly represent their Lord.

When the church at Jerusalem heard the good news, they sent Barnabas to help the new converts and establish fellowship. He was the ideal man to send, for "he was a good man.' It is far more important that a man be good than that he be brilliant if he is to edify young converts. He was 'full of the Holy Ghost.' He was also 'full of faith,' and no man that is not, need undertake the work of instructing and developing young converts, especially converts from heathenism so dark as that in Antioch. He was free from the love of gold (4:36, 37). He was free from personal ambition and jealousy in his work (vv. 25, 26). He was very sharp-eyed to see the sincerity and promise of a young convert (9:27). 'When he was come, and had seen the grace of God, (he) was glad' " (John W. Bradbury).

Into this new fellowship of life and service the gracious and generous Barnabas brought a new evangelist -Saul, God's prepared man for this

But we have another new thing in our lesson, one of great impor-

III. A New Name (vv. 26-30).

Christian, the beautiful name of those who follow Christ was first used at Antioch. It may have held a measure of contempt (see Acts 26:28; I Pet. 4:16), but it was a remarkably suitable name for those who had come out of paganism now to live, in their old surroundings, a new life, a separated life, the Christ

This name "combines Jewish thought with Greek and Latin language, and thus, like the inscription on the cross, bears witness to the universality of Christianity as a religion for the whole world. The idea of 'Christ' (Messiah) is Jewish; the substantive 'Christ' (Christos) is Greek, and the adjectival termination 'ian' (-ianus) is Latin . This new name was intended to introduce and mark the difference between Jews and Gentiles on the one hand, and those who, whether Jews or Gentiles, were followers of Jesus The term 'Christian' Christ . evidently points to the Person of Christ, and to those who are associated with Him as His followers. It implies and involves union and close association with Christ" (W. H. Griffith Thomas).

Those believers at Antioch not only bore the name, they practiced the life of Christ. Next Sunday we shall study their activity for Christ, for in that city began the great missionary movement which goes on to our day. In our lesson today we have another practical expression of their faith. They gave of their means, "every man according to his abilities," to meet the need of their new-found Jewish brethren in Judea.

Temperate Beds

Dr. F. K. Kirsten of the University of Washington has invented an air-cooled bed for luxurious slumber. It uses a compressed air system in the mattress and an air-filled blanket. Air from a tank in the basement determines the heat or coolness of the bed, adjustable by a dial at the bed's head.

NEIGHBORS AND GOOD CITIZENS

Few Michigan citizens stop to think how much the railroads mean to Michigan today. In this era of commercial and industrial development the railroads are vitally essential to Michigan's progress. For Example: In the average year the railroads spent more than 75 millions in Michigan-- $55,007,715 in payrolls to 47,000 men; $5,759,621 in taxes; and, in 1939, $15,473,292 for supplies purchased in 248 communities in 69 counties in our state. The railroads are our neighbors. They operate in all but two counties in Michigan. Their employes live in nearly every community in the state. The railroads are good citizens. They furnish us with an indispensable service. They are the state's largest taxpayers. Railroad taxes help make possible the schooling of hundreds of children in this county. Railroad taxes last year in Iosco County amounted to $9,881.22, all of which went into the Primary School Fund. The prosperity of the railroads and of their employes helps make the business of all of us prosperous. Railroad employes in Iosco County were paid last year the sum of $187,419.35 most of which was spent with local merchants.

We urge our Legislature and Congress to be just and fair in considering any legislation intended to remove the inequality under which our railroads are forced to operate,

10,000 Miles of Pleasure . . . IN MICHIGAN

THERE'S more fun in Michigan - more to see and more to do - than in almost any state you could choose for a vacation. Ten thousand miles of fine State highways beckon you, leading away to woodland, lakes and hills.

Michigan has developed its natural resources for the use and pleasure of its people. Its State highways, forests and parks serve more than 11,000,000 visitors each year. There you can find streams for fishing, hunting grounds, dunes and beaches, places of scenic beauty and historic interest - all within easy driving distance. Camps and roadside parks with all conveniences are maintained for tourists by the State.

The telephone will help you plan your trip, map out a route, arrange for accommodations. And on the road, it will give you a constant link with home.

was too much to be done. I didn't want to seem a slacker when everybody was so busy. And in looking after the others I could pretty well forget the pain of my own flameblistered face.

Where the rambling old schoolhouse had been was a stretch of smoldering ashes with the skeletonlike iron bed frames and a stove or two standing there as melancholy as tombstones. And everything I owned lay consumed in those ashes. All I had left were the few scorched clothes that hung about my tired

But I hadn't time to feel sorry for myself. A special train, I was told, was already on its way from Anchorage, to pick up our homeless school waifs and carry them on to the Indian orphanage at Fairbanks. From the pile of emergency clothing Katie commandeered for me an oversized pair of corduroy trousers, a patched plaid Mackinaw, and a caribou parka that had seen better days. To these Doctor Ruddock (who'd given up his little wooden-fronted office as sleeping-quarters for Katie and me) added socks and pacs and an old bearskin cap that made me look like a lady-huzzar in a busby.

"What are we going to do?" I asked the ever-hurrying Doctor Ruddock when he dropped in, next day, to anoint my scorched epidermis with ambersine.

"Toklutna's off the map," he proclaimed. "Katie will stay on here, probably until the breakup, to look after the old folks."

"Then where do I fit in?" I questioned with a sudden feeling of homelessness.

'You fit in very neatly," he said as he listened to my heart action. "I'd the Commissioner on the wire this morning and he agrees with me that this country owes you a berth. So you get the school job at Matanuska.

It took some time for this to sink

"When?" I asked.

"As soon as you get sense enough to take care of yourself," he said with a barricading sort of curtness.
"I told you to rest up, after your fire shock, and you didn't do it. So roll up in that bunk and stay there until you get a release from me." He stopped in the doorway, with his dog-eared old medicine case in his hand, as I none too willingly shook out the blankets of my floor

"And there's a long-legged engineer waiting outside to see you," he added as he watched me dutifully crawl into my bunk. "But ten minutes is his limit, remember."

I had my second shock to digest. For the waiting visitor was Sidney

"Just a little scorched around the edges," I said with an effort at levi-But my heart was beating a trifle faster than it should have been.

"I flew over, as soon as I heard," he rather clumsily explained. He looked out the window and then back at me. "That was good work, saving those children.'

"But I lost my eyebrows," I reminded him. Lander walked to the window and back.

"We've at least saved those citizenship papers," he announced. I've shown them to John Trumbull," he explained, "and Trumbull claims they're not backed up by the records. That led to an argument that ended in a split-up. The Chakitana Development Company has lost its field engineer."

asked.

His laugh was curt.

"I was tying up with the Happy Day outfit," he explained. "But Trumbull's just trumped my ace by buying up the Happy Day.

"Does that mean you're going outside?" I asked, trying to make the question a casual one.

"Not on your life," was his prompt reply. "We've got to wait until the records show who's right in this.' "But that's my problem," I ob-

"I happen to have made it mine," he retorted with an unexpected light of battle in his eyes.

CHAPTER VII

I began to understand the meaning of what they call "the deep cold" before I set out for Matanuska. For the snows of midwinter soon buried the ruins of our lost school. The storms along Alaska's one stretch of railway also brought slides and broken snowsheds enough to block the line and keep trains from moving for over a week. That cloud had the silver lining of giving me a chance to make over my nondescript wardrobe, to which big-hearted Katie added a sweater THE STORY SO FAR

INSTALLMENT VI

So when traffic moved again and I mounted my day coach I found it crowded to the doors with leatherfaced old sourdoughs and cud-chewing trappers and Mackinaw-clad-loggers, along with a homesteader's wife who carried an undersized pig in a slatted crate.

I wasn't sorry when the conductor, pushing his way through that overcrowded day coach, blinked down at my still heat-blistered face and said: "Next stop Matanuska, lady.'

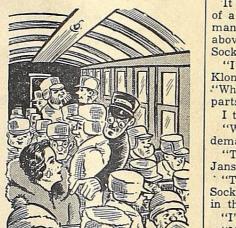

"Could you tell me," I asked one of the men at the station, "where I'd find Mr. Bryson, Mr. Sam Bry-

His face, when he peered up at me, impressed me as both sour and sardonic.

"I'm Sam Bryson," he said. "The school superintendent for this district?" I persisted. "I be," he retorted, plainly resenting my incredulous stare. "And ain't it fit and proper, seein' I happen to own that doggoned school-house over there?"

I meekly acknowledged that it was. And with equal meekness I

"But you wasn't to turn up here till Easter," he said testily. ain't got nothin' ready for you."

I showed him the Territorial Commissioner's letter, which he held close to his seamed old face, his lips moving as he labored through the undisputable message therein contained.

"Well, you should've got off at Wasilla," he complained, "where you could've found lodgin' until things was ready."

"But I'm here," I said with a smile that was entirely forced. And as he pushed back his wolfskin cap and stood scratching an attenuated forelock I quietly inquired: "Just where is my school?'

He studied me with a lack-luster

"You ain't got no school," he proclaimed.

"But I was sent here to teach," I contended, trying to keep my tem-

"I guess you'll just have to siwash it," he said, "the same as us oldtimers did when we hit this valley.' "Just how will I siwash it?" I demanded.

"By froggin' through as best you can, the same as our circuit-ridin' sky-pilot does, without a meetin's place. We was figgerin' on you circulatin' round the valley homesteads and ladlin' out the book-larnin' where it was most needed. Instead o' them comin' to you, you'll have to go to them.'

"Why can't that old schoolhouse be used?"

"She needs a noo roof and noo floor sills," was the listless answer. 'And I'm danged if I'm goin' to dig down for 'em.

"Are you trying to tell me," I quavered, "that I'll have to go from farm to farm, like a mail carrier, and give my lessons in a kitchen?" But I refused to stay put. There | skin gauntlets, a trifle over-sized. | polished up a spell on her readin' and writin'. And if you ain't willin' to do your teachin' on the wing thataway, until this valley gits a real schoolhouse rastled together, I guess, lady, you're mushin' up the wrong trail.

There was no mistaking the finality of that statement.

"But where am I to live?" I asked as I stared at the snow that stood so white between the gloomy green of the sprucelands.

"We was figgerin'," he explained, "on settin' you up in the old Jansen shack. That's just over the hill there behind that tangle o' spruce. But you'd sure have some tidyin' up to do afore you got set there." He looked with a frown of disapproval at my sprawl of luggage. "Bout the best thing for you to do, lady, is to leg it over to the Eckstrom farm and see if they'd take you in for a day or two."

I had, however, no desire to go wandering about that snowy world asking strangers to take me in. I wanted my own roof over my head. And I so informed the morose Mr.

Just then I became conscious of a strange figure making its way down the opposing hillside.

It was a man carrying the carcass of a deer, a ragged and shambling man with a rifle and a tined head above his stooping shoulders. It was Sock-Eye Schlupp.

"I'll be hornswizzled if it ain't Klondike Coburn's gal," he said. "What're you doin' back in these

I told him why I was there. "Where you goin' to bunk?" he

"They tell me I'm to live in the Jansen shack," I explained. "They're plumb locoed," said Sock-Eye. "You sure can't den up in that pigsty."

"I'm north born," I reminded him.
"Mebbe you are," he retorted. 'But this is a plumb lonesome valley for a chalk-wrangler t' take root in. I reckon you'd better come along t' my wickyup until things is ready for you."

That, I told him, would be out of the question.

"I s'pose you know young Lander's swingin' in with me?" he said with the air of an angler adjusting a gaudier fly.

That, I knew, made it more than ever impossible. "And if that Jansen shack's not ready, I'll have to make it ready."

"Quite a fighter, ain't you?" he observed.

After a moment's silence, he added: "I'll give you a hand over t' that lordly abode o' yours."

He left me standing there, to return, a few minutes later, with a hand sleigh borrowed from the station agent. On this, with altogether unexpected dispatch, he piled my belongings. Over them he draped the deer carcass, thonging the load together with a strand of buckskin.

"Let's mush," he said.

I took a hand at the towing line, and, side by side, we made our way along the trodden snow, as crisp as charcoal under our feet. The valley seemed strangely silent. But I felt less alone in the world with that morose old figure beside me. "Why is Lander swinging in with you?" I asked. "Seein' this valley ain't bristlin' with hotels," answered Sock-Eye,

"he deemed my wickyup good enough for a college dood until they could build him up-to-date livin' quarters at the Happy Day.'

"But I thought outsiders bought up the Happy Day," I ventured. Sock-Eye stopped to gnaw a corner from his chewing plug.

"They sure did," he admitted. "And left young Lander out on the limb. But, as far as I kin make out, that hombre ain't no squealer. And I reckon Big John Trumbull'll find him as full o' fight as a bunch o' matin' copperheads.'

We went on until we came to a solitary small figure standing kneedeep in the roadside snow. It proved to be a Swede boy in an incredibly ragged Mackinaw, with a blue woolen scarf wrapped around his waist as high as his armpits. His eyes, I noticed as Sock-Eye asked him about a short cut to the Jansen shack, were even bluer than his encircling sash. "But ol' Yansen ban dead," he announced. "He ban dead of the flu over three months ago."

"Which same makes room for you. little cheeckako," snorted my grineyed trail breaker. But I stopped to ask the sash-wrapped youth his name. I liked Within the Same Hour the feeling of warmth he carried under that cocoon of wool and "Ah ban Olie Eckstrom," he said with the friendliest of smiles. It wasn't until we came to the edge of a clearing that Sock-Eye stopped for breath. "There be your wickyup," said Sock-Eye, with a wave of his mit

California Isle Shipping Center

Immense Shipbuilding Yards Under Way in Harbor Of Los Angeles.

SAN PEDRO, CALIF.-Terminal island, wedged in the center of the man-made Los Angeles harbor, has suddenly been transformed from a strip of land serving as a base for fishermen and seagulls to a vital point in the nation's defense program.

In a few months, building of destroyers and freighters for the navy and merchant marine will begin on this amazing island as private companies and government agencies start work on almost $2,000,000,000 in shipbuilding contracts. By the spring of 1942 these contracts will be more than doubled as the shipyards move into their full stride.

Today more than 3,000 men are working double shifts constructing the shipyards, building new roads and blasting harbor channels clear of all debris.

The newest industry to be developed on Terminal island is the huge California Shipbuilding corporation. A thousand men are working on a $4,760,000 shipyard for the firm. Here 31 new 10,000-ton freighters will be constructed at a cost of $52,000,000.

Yachts to Be Ousted.

Eight ships at a time will go down the ways of the new company and 7,500 men will work on the freighters. The ships will be 425 feet long, have a 57-foot beam and will have a cruising speed of 11 knots.

The company has a five-year lease on the area it will use under the U.S. Maritime commission's supervision and virtually all one end of the island will have to be remodeled. A large private yacht harbor must be enlarged and the spick-and-span pleasure boats will have to find new berths.

The navy figuratively is getting behind each pile-driver and steamroller as work progresses on a gigantic new $20,000,000 naval base on another section of the island. The big base will be ready for use early in 1942, according to unofficial announcements. A large $18,000,000 graving dock also is to be built on the navy's site and that will be completed toward the end of next year.

Not to be outdone, the army is reported casting covetous glances toward this future insular beehive and is said to be interested in developing a transport terminal there. Plans for the project are already being worked out and army officials recently opened negotiations with Los Angeles harbor officials in a move to take over several of the private docks on the island.

To Build Destroyers.

The Bethlehem Steel corporation's shipbuilding division has its hat in the ring. The big steel company will build 10 destroyers for the navy at yards to be constructed on Terminal island.

The destroyers will cost $8,100,000 each and the navy has made $2,500,with button displays still interest me . . . Hard to believe there could work preliminary to actual shipbuilding. More than 7,500 men will be employed at the Bethlehem yards when construction of the new-type warships gets under way.

Food Shortage Dulls Zip In Spanish Bullfighting

MADRID.-The food problem dealt a blow to the Spanish national sport of bullfighting today, but the corridas will go on, albeit with weaker bulls, fewer horses and; presumably, weaker matadors.

The strict regulations of the sport long have required fighting bulls to meet certain standards of weight, strength and all-around ferocity Fodder is so scarce that the bulls now have to be fed almost entirely on grass.

Abandonment of the sport was considered for a time, but the rules were relaxed to permit use of the calory-lacking toros, and the 1941 season is now getting under way throughout Spain.

HIGH PRICES

Do Not Go WITH ADVERTISING

Advertising and high prices do not go together at all. They are extremely incompatible to each other. It is only the product which is unadvertised, which has no established market, that costs more than you can afford to pay.

Whenever you go into a store and buy an item of advertised merchandise, it doesn't make any difference what, you are getting more for your money-more in quality and service—than you would get if you spent the same amount for something which was not advertised.

Exercise That Is of Benefit To Weak Heart

By DR. JAMES W. BARTON

YEARS ago what was known as the Nauheim Bath and Schott System of Exercise was the treatment for a weak muscular heart. The patient raised his arm, leg, hand or foot against the resistance of the COLUMN hand or hands of the physician or nurse who could thus regulate the amount of work or exercise the patient was allowed to do.

During the last few years there has been a tendency among physicians, including lar heart, no exercise whatever, believing that as men and women grow older it is rest the heart needs, not more work. That the heart needs rest after illness of any kind and needs four to six weeks absolute bed rest after a heart attack is admitted. That a weak heart should not be given any exercise is considered unwise by many physicians who point out that certain kinds of exercise can "aid" the heart without causing too much heart activity. It might be well, therefore, to recall the suggestions of Dr. Josef B. Nylin, Philadelphia, in Medical Record, who points out the exercises that aid the heart.

1. Massage, which presses the blood out of the veins and causes the little blood vessels carrying blood from veins to arteries to open more widely and let more blood move to and from the part being massaged.

2. Passive movements (where the nurse moves the arms and legs and thus exercises the muscles), which cause the heart to send more blood to the parts. This "sucks" the blood from the part exercised and sends it back to the heart.

3. Breathing exercises which increase the flow of used blood on the right side of heart to the left side, from whence it goes to lungs to be purified and to all parts of the body.

Now there is a great difference between the amount of work the heart must do when the patient takes exercise such as walking or games, and the amount done when the muscles are massaged or given 'passive' movements, and the simple breathing exercises. But the heart does get exercise by these

How Allergy Affects Stuttering

I WAS a member of a group of students whose object was the acquiring of scholarships and medals in competition with groups from other schools. We remained for an hour every afternoon after school.

When the results were announced a member of our group stood first in the entire city yet she had never answered a question in class nor had she ever been asked to read. This was because she stammered.

We were all proud of her and yet felt sorry because we thought that she had something wrong with her tongue or her throat and would never be able to teach.

It is now known that stammering is not due to any defect of the tongue or throat but is due to nervousness or self consciousness.

Drs. A. M. Kennedy and D. A. Williams, Cardiff, Wales, state that this tendency to nervousness and self-consciousness appears to be a factor in allergy also. These physicians investigated 100 stuttering children. In all cases except one, positive evidence of allergy was found in the personal or family history, 52 had a personal history and 48 of these also had a family history. Forty-eight had no personal history of allergy, but all but one gave a family history.

In a group of 1,000 school children who did not stutter, only about 2 per cent had a personal history of stuttering and a family history of only 9 per cent.

The thought is that in some individuals a portion of the nervous system can be so influenced that the blood vessel walls can be distended and allow swelling containing water to form and cause allergic symptoms-hives, head colds, hay fever. The blood vessel system, because it is under the control of the nervous system, may be influenced by fear, anxiety, anger and other emotions.

A nuisance to commercial fishersea lamprey has been extending its range in the upper Great Lakes each year since it first got into Lake Erie by the way of the Welland canal in 1921. Fartherest north reached in 1940 was the Pine river near St. Ignace.

Sea lamprey scars on commercial fish decrease their market value, and when lampreys are abundant they do extensive damage to fish populations. The eel-like creatures are parasites which feed on the blood of other fish to which they cling by means of a sharp-toothed, sucking mouth. They are distinguished from the compar-Tawas City scored their final runs atively harmless native lamprey by in the sixth. The same is the stream of the streams. Organized control of the pests—by netting, trapping or spearing as they enter the stream to spawn—may follow trapping or spearing as they enter the stream to spawn—may follow if runs are found extensive and ex-perimental control measures prove practical.

'Michigan," New Book Now at Bookstores

"Michigan—A Guide to the Wolverine State," written by the Michigan WPA Writers' Project, will be released June 1, according to an announcement by Abner E. Larned, State WPA Administrator.

'This book," Larned said, "is one of the most important and interesting lever published about Michigan. It contains more comprehensive and upto-date information about our state than has ever before appeared between covers, compiled according to the general pattern of the WPA American Guide Series so that it makes instructive and enjoyable

Four sections make up the book: Historical and Physical Background; Activities in Michigan; Cities and Points of Interest; and Automobile

Every phase of the state is covered, according to Larned, such as history and government, geology, geography, archaelogy, climate, flora and fauna, Indian lore, transportation, agriculture, lumbering, fishing, industry, labor, automobiles, conservation, recreation, arts and crafts, literature, the theatre and architecture. Chapters on these subjects give as much information as possible, he said, and have been checked by authorities on each subject.

Harold Titus, Michigan author and a member of the Michigan State Conservation Commission, is state super-visor of the Michigan WPA Writers'

Project. The book will be available to the public in most Michigan libraries. It will be on sale by book stores at $3.00

Family Harvest

"Successor to the binder"

You can sail into a field of stalk-ripened grain with the ALL-CROP HARVESTER and get more bushels than twenty men could from the same field shocked ... nearly enough more to pay the cost of harvesting! You touch a lever and the header skims under flattened grain. Air-Blast separation whisks out every kernel. The wide bar cylinder and over-size threshing rear wolf down heavy straw and green weeds, while big, narrow-cylinder outfits chew and choke on bites they can't swallow. A few simple adjustments and you are ready for any of 100 different grains, legumes, sorghums.

MODEL 40 (ABOVE)
For 1-Plow Power like Model 60, No auxiliary motor needed!
Your costs average 10 cents less per bushel!
Straw unbroken, save with hay tools.

MODEL 60 (BELOW) For 2-Plow Power NEW LOW PRICE! Rub-berized drapers. Like Model 40, has V-Belt Variable Speed Drives. Pick-up attachment for windrowed crops. New 6-foot swather available.
