U. S. Attitude Toward Japan Changes With 'Drive to South' Viewed as Threat To Vital Supplies From East Indies; Soviet Discounts Air Raids on Moscow

(EDITOR'S NOTE-When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of the news analyst and not necessarily of this newspaper.)

Following a half-hour conference with Acting Secretary of State Sumner Welles, Japanese Ambassador Kichisaburo is pictured in Washington as he expressed to newsmen the hope that the feeling between the U.S. and Japan "will become better and better." Later, Welles had a little dif-ferent version of the conference. He said he had warned the ambassador that Japan's actions threatened sources of U.S. defense materials and had a direct relation "upon . . . our national security." (For other news of Japan see below: JAPAN: A Change.)

JAPAN:

A Change

Japan, following the establish-ment of a new government under the same premier, still rather puzzled observers as to what the new regime might have in store for Ja-pan and the world.

Summed up by "the man in the street" in Tokyo, who commenta-tors felt was as good a barometer of the mysterious future as any, the new government promised something like this:

1. A sterner prosecution of the war with China.

2. Outwardly, at least, no change in the tripartite pact with Germany and Italy

3. A generally more placatory at-titude toward the United States provided this were possible if Japan's aims were carried out.

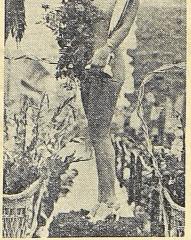

4. A strengthening of Japan's position in Manchukuo and on the Siberian border, but no provocation or forward move against Russia unless the Germans were shown to be positively winning a decisive victory

5. A definite "grab" in the south-ern portion of the Pacific front, probably in Indo-China.

This last possibility, believed definitely promised since Japan was accusing the British of a similar attempted "grab" and hence follow-ing the old Axis technique of ac-cusing the other fellow of doing what you intend yourself to do, would, it was feared, definitely involve the United States.

The inclusion of a noted Japanese

R.A.F.:

Pounding Away There was some sentiment in Moscow, British reports stated, that the Russians, used to enormous land army maneuvers, were wondering why it was that the British didn't land troops on the continent now that the Russians had the Nazis busy up to their necks in the east. The British were very frank in saying "No" to this whole proposition. In the first place, said the war office, there was still considerable doubt whether the Russians were able to put up a really successful fight against the Germans.

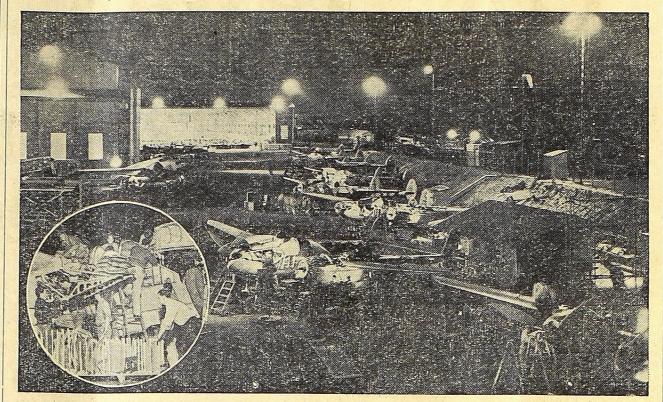

In the second place, war office authorities went on, the best that England could do short of landing troops on the continent would be so to slash away at the Reich by air that numbers of German fighter planes would be kept busy on the west front, thus taking them away from the eastern theater of war. These air raids by the R.A.F

were increasing in scope daily, with the bombers taking advantage of each minute of darkness that was added as the nights grew longer, to stretch their raids further and further into Germany.

Already, it was pointed out, they were hitting at the suburbs of Berlin, and the capital itself would come in for a strong blitzing before long, the British promised.

RUSSIA: And Nazi Claims Since the move of the British commission into Moscow, also since the establishment there of a short-wave radio station, which would permit observers like Erskine Caldwell to make broadcasts direct to American homes, it was possible for the Russian sources to make more definite denials of German claims than had been possible heretofore. For instance, the first large blitz raid by planes on Moscow was described by the Germans as having ruined the city, particularly the Kremlin.

Announcers came on the air the following morning and declared that the raid was much less effective than similar raids the speakers had gone through in England, and that their trips about the city had showed no signs of panic or disaster.

The British commission, which earlier had said that the Russian air force had far from been knocked out of the air, told of German planes shot down, and said that air battles they had witnessed showed that the Nazi pilots, in fact the British pilots, did not have as good technique as the Russians in clipping off rudders and tail surfaces with machine gun bursts of fire. It also was apparent that Nazi claims on land, that their forces had completely disintegrated that NAZIS: Blast FDR Russian defense, that Smolensk had been taken and that the invaders were past Kiev and had Leningrad banker in the cabinet was said to mean a promise that Japan's internal house would be put in order, as far as possible, and hence a move toward Indo-China would be along that line.

The main upshot of the attempted

U. S. Attitude

Japan's drive met some real opposition in the attitude of the U.S. government. Acting Secretary of State Sumner Welles came out with a statement declaring the occupation of French Indo China was primarily in preparation for "more obvious movements of conquest in adjacent areas."

He was of the opinion that such moves have a direct bearing on the national security of the United States because they threatened supplies of strategic defense materials. He was referring here to supplies of rubber and tin now being obtained from the Netherlands East Indies.

President Roosevelt added weight to the changing U. S. attitude toward Japan. He told a civilian defense group that the United States "had" (he used the past tense) been allowing oil shipments to Japan to make it unnecessary for that nation to go to the East Indies for this supply. He indicated that the policy had worked for two years, thus keeping war out of the Pacific region.

VICHY:

Still Sinking

The Vichy government, helpless against Germany and Italy, and equally helpless against Britain, as seen in the Syrian debacle, was seen as sinking more into a position of powerlessness by the announcement that if Japan moves on Indo-China that Vichy will have no course but to submit.

This far-eastern menace of the war, threatening as it would the Burma road, found Anthony Eden warning Japan that severe steps would be taken rather than yield Indo-China to the Japanese, and this was the ever-present closest threat of the entry of the U.S. actively into the war.

The Japanese newspapers, as noted above, have been accusing the British, Free French and Chinese of being about to invade Indo-China. This was taken in London as a veiled threat that Japan plans to do just that.

These maneuvers and triumphs might possibly be carried out, but they were some time in the future, those on the ground in Moscow reported, and the reports were not entirely the Russian communiques, but the reports, censored, it is true, but nevertheless made by Americans and British on the scene.

SERVICE: And House

Chief of Staff General Marshall went before the senate and evidently made a deep impression. President Roosevelt followed this with a request for the passage of legislation declaring a national emergency, and the sum of these two appearances before the upper house was evident in two ways: First, an effort by administration leaders to hustle the legislation to a vote.

Second, a general upturn of sentiment in favor of the bill. This was one of the oddest controversies since the World war start-The first feeling evidenced ed. when it was hinted that the guardsmen and draftees might be kept in service longer than the statutory year was that the selective service people themselves felt it a breach of faith with the drafted men. The next phase came from the selectees themselves, also from the guardsmen. The officers and noncoms of the latter seemed willing to stay in, but many of the private soldiers among the guardsmen expressed voluble desires to be let out.

In the midst of this came the announcement that all selectees of 28 and over would be deferred automatically, and the bill to this effect passed the senate by a terrific margin.

FOURTEEN: New Points

Reminiscent of the "Fourteen Points" of the last war settlement, Undersecretary of State Welles had issued the most definite statement so far promulgated intending to give America's post-war objectives.

The statement by Welles came at the laying of a cornerstone for a new wing of the Norwegian legation in Washington. He prefaced his remarks with the assertion that there could be no peace until Hitler had finally and surely been destroyed.

He referred to the League of Nations, and said he did not believe that the peoples of good will will not once more strive to realize the great ideal of an association of nations through which the freedom, the happiness and the security of all nations may be achieved.

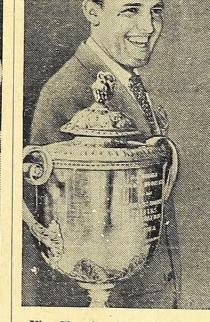

Welles particularly brought in the German people by saying that millions (naming the Germans) now are asking what the future will hold for them when the war ends. He mentioned England, China, Norway, and said "yes, millions in Italy and Germany."

PAUL PREACHES FAITH IN CHRIST

LESSON TEXT—Romans 3:21-31; 5:1, 2. GOLDEN TEXT—As it is written, The just shall live by faith.—Romans 1:17.

Justification by faith is a doctrine which lies at the very heart of the gospel. It provides the answer to man's age-old question, "What must I do to be saved?" (Acts 16:30).

"This was a question with which Paul had himself grappled, and for years he had sought salvation in the traditional Jewish way. Then one day he met Christ and he underwent a spiritual transformation through faith in Him, apart from the works of the law. Because of that experience, and because of the divine revelations made to him, he was able to show others how to be saved and how to live a life of victory. Among the writers of the New Testament it is Paul who most clearly sets forth the doctrine of justification by faith, a doctrine which has brought comfort of soul to multitudes, and the conscious-ness of sins forgiven." 2. Christ paid the penalty for man's sin by His own blood. How clearly verse 25 declares the sacri-ficial death of Christ to provide a covering of blood (the real meaning of "propitiation") which will enable a just God to forgive the sinner that believes in Christ (v. 22). Why not receive it in all its grace and power, not trying to explain it away or to evade its requirements? Why attempt to provide some other means of salvation when we know that "without the shedding of blood is no remission" of sin (Heb. 9:22)?

3. Man receives salvation by grace through faith, apart from works. Man can only be "justified freely by his grace (v. 24)

Only Firestone TIRES GIVE YOU THESE EXCLUSIVE ADVANTAGES and SAVE YOU MONEY

T'S just good judgment to BUY THE BEST right now — and that means Firestone tires for tractor, truck or car. You'll get longer mileage and greater dependability through Firestone's patented construction features of a Safety-Lock Gum-Dipped cord body and a wearresisting Vitamic tread rubber compound - extra features that cost you no more. It's smart to buy now and have the tires when

All tractor tires are not alike. Only Firestone Ground Grip Tractor Tires have the patented Triple-braced traction bars which provide up to 215 extra inches of traction bar length per tractor. This means a stronger backbone in the "traction zone" where the pulling job is actually done. Continuous traction is assured because the Triple-braced bars cannot bend, slip or tear off and they automatically clean themselves. To get more work out of your tractor, to decrease your gasoline and tire cost, equip now with Firestone a film. The widow of a Texas flour manufacturer, she built the Texas Children's Home and Aid society, which has now provided happy homes for several thousand waifs. Her effort began before the death of her husband, a sublimation of her yearning for children who never came. The 1929 crash wrecked her husband's prosperous business. He got work in a flour mill. She rang door bells to get money to build her home for children. He developed a new process of flour-milling which was restoring their fortune, when he died. She kept on recruiting and mothering stray children, until one day a Hollywood writer knocked on her door in Fort Worth.

"What on earth could anybody write about me?" she asked. The movies ranged clear back into her girlhood, as Edna Kahly in Milwaukee.

N IKOLA TESLA'S eighty-fifth birthday finds his death ray still in the blueprint stage. The great inventor says he could build a few plants, at a cost of $2,000,000 each, within three months, and melt the engine of any approaching plane at a distance of hundreds of miles.

The immigrant youth from Jugoslavia already had discovered the rotary magnetic field, which made possible alternating current motors, before he arrived here in 1884. He helped harness Niagara, turned in numerous inventions which became historic contributions to power transmission, was an associate of Edison, won the 1915 Nobel physics prize and now holds 700 patents.

When he grows too old to dream, he'll have this and many other things to remember. Among other things he may remember that many of his earlier dreams caused amusement-as when he made the declaration that it would soon be possible to telephone around the world.

Alone in his room in the Hotel New Yorker, he still delves deep in the hidden chambers of electromechanics, his deep-set eyes eager and intense under their bushy brows. Wireless transmission of power is still one of his many deep preoccupations.

LYNN SAYS:

Did you know that: Ice creams should stand several hours to blend or ripen the many flavors combined in them? Each flavor will stand out separately if the mixture is not properly ripened. Texture is affected by the method of freezing? Ice cream will be coarse and rough if frozen too quickly, whereas slower freezing improves texture. Before putting the cream in the freezer it should be properly whipped or it will be icy. Richer mixtures give smoother textured ice creams? The amount of fat in the cream also affects the flavor. Richer ice creams have full bodied flavor. Ice cream expands? If the ice cream is well made, it expands to at least one-third more than its original size, and that this has an important bearing on flavor. If frozen too rapidly, ice cream is prevented from increasing size. Flavors should be lightly suggested, not pronounced? Amount and quality of extracts used are very apparent in the finished product.

Among the pleasant surprises appearance and in flavor among ice creams is this one called Tutti-Frutti. If you're longing for a change nice smelling cakes with their swirls of frosting piled high to tempt. One cake which will really give you a new high in reputation is this Walnut Torte, an old-fashioned favorite with new found fame.

> *Walnut Torte. 1 cup zweiback crumbs 1 teaspoon baking powder 1 cup chopped walnuts 4 eggs separated

1/2 cup sugar 1/2 pint cream, whipped

Crush the zweiback crumbs, mix with baking powder and nuts. Beat egg yolks thick and lemon color, beat in sugar, and then gradually, the crumb nut mixture. Fold in stiffly beaten egg whites. Turn into two greased and floured tins and bake in a moderate (375 degrees) oven 10 to 15 minutes. When mixture is light to touch and pulls from sides of pan it's done. Cool thoroughly. Put layers together with whipped cream and garnish with whole walnuts. (Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

for "them that believe" (v. 22), it is "through faith" (vv. 25, 26) and, note with care, "man is justified by faith apart from the works of the law" (v. 28). Thus God establishes the law (v. 31) and yet becomes the righteous justifier of a repentant believing sinner.

II. What Happens When a Man Is Justified? (Rom. 5:1, 2).

These verses sound like the uplifting music of a mighty organ, with the celestial choirs joining in to sing. "Therefore being justified by faith, we have" - What? Oh many precious possessions, three of which are here mentioned.

1. "Peace With God."

"Through our Lord Jesus Christ" the barrier of sin with all its malicious enmity has been broken down and the believer is at peace with God. What could be more wonderful than thus to be really "in tune with the Infinite"? That is something, by the way, which can only be true of the believer, one who has both peace with God and the peace of God flooding his soul. Every sinner who covets that experience may have it-now-by faith in Christ.

2. Standing in Grace.

"To stand in grace is to occupy the position wherein love is able to carry out its desires. To stand in grace is to come into such relationship with the Lord that He may do that thing that is in His heart, the thing which His love prompts. To stand in favor is to be unafraid. It is to be able to pass into the presence of One of whom we are unafraid, and know that there will be welcome. It is to know that to come into the presence of this One is to receive, not necessarily a gift, but love, and of Himself, in a communion which is unbroken and perfect" (G. Campbell Morgan). 3. Rejoicing in Hope.

The world is sorrowful for it has lost hope, but the believer rejoices "in hope of the glory of God" (v. 2). The Christian has the forward look. His future is as bright as the promises of God. He knows that he will one day see the glory of God revealed in all His holiness, power, love and grace. Even now the believer has that hope in his heart, and lives a rejoicing life (or should do so!). It's a great thing to be saved!

Bugler Loses His Job

In the modern, streamlined army which the United States is assembling for national defense the oldfashioned bugler is rapidly losing his standing. Over at Scott Field, St. Louis, he has been completely re-placed by a public address system and a set of wax records. No longer do buglers stand in line to blow the shrill notes of reveille at 6:25 a. m., or to intone taps at 11 p. m. Instead, a corporal merely puts a record on a phonograph and the calls emanate from loudspeakers placed about the entire field.

Machine Breaks-Free Drinks

The Albuquerque, N. M., courthouse employees hit the jackpot on a soft drink vending machine and many of them got free drinks when something went wrong and bottled drinks cascaded out on the floor. Employees from nearby offices poured out to take advantage of the opportunity until County Purchas-ing Agent Joseph B. Velasquez turned off the machine. The county, he explained, would have to pay for the drinks out of its share of the receipts.

"Thanks," I said.

"I ain't got nothin' against you, girlie," he said. "I've been strong for you from the first crack out o' the box. I savvied, from that snowy day I spotted you on the trail, you was good leather. And later on I savvied you was mixed up with a bunch o' snakes here. That's why I kind o' hate t' mush on and leave you sittin' out on a limb."

"I've always managed to take care of myself," I assured him.

"That's what you think," said Sock-Eye. "But it's time some plainspoken hombre put a bee or two in your bonnet. For I savvy a heap more'n you imagine, girlie. You think Big John Trumbull'll give you a square deal on your claim trial. But he won't. He ain't built that way. And there's a glib-talkin' tarantula right over in that transientcamp who's figgerin' on bustin' you up in this colony, when the chance comes around. And he's got Trumbull behind him."

"Is that Eric the Red?" I demanded, my thoughts suddenly back to more imminent things.

"That's the bird," acknowledged Sock-Eye as a leathery old claw stroked his six-gun holster. "And in the good old days when us sourdoughs cleaned up a camp as she ought to be cleaned up that windjammer'd have swung from a tamarack bough afore he'd passed out his second mess o' pizen-talk. I don't like what he's sayin' about you and Sid Lander. I don't like anything he says."

"What's he got against Lander?" I asked.

"One item worth mentionin'," Sock-Eye said with his not unkindly smile, "is the fact that Lander's ridin' range for you."

"Why should he ride range, as you put it, for me?" I inquired with purely defensive obtuseness. Sock-Eye took another chew before deigning to answer. "Why, that long-legged giloot's so crazy about you, girlie, he can't see

I had no clear suspicion of Sock-Eye's intentions until I saw him stroll down the steps and pick up an empty salmon tin lying in the road dust. There he eyed it with solemn approval.

His steps were distressingly unsteady as he returned to the porch and placed the tin on Ericson's head. A laugh went up from the crowd when Ericson shook the can from its resting place.

Sock-Eye solemnly replaced it. "Do that again," he croaked, "and I'll sure fan the bump o' veneration off'n your skull." He backed slowly away, the full length of the porch. "That gun-fanning old fool's go-ing to pull the William Tell trick," cried someone at the edge of the crowd.

"Better get an apple," cried another guttural voice.

But I couldn't see any excuse for mirth in the situation. I could feel my heart come up in my mouth as I saw Sock-Eye's long arm swing about in an airy half-circle, with the heavy six-gun in the tremulous old hand.

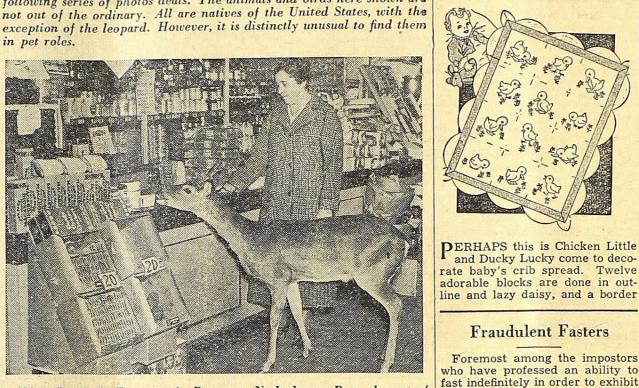

My impulse was to stop such madness. I even called out and started forward. But I was too late.

The shot rang out before I could reach the porch. And at the same time the empty salmon tin went spinning through the evening air.

Sock-Eye, ignoring the shouts of the crowd, went solemnly after it. His intention, apparently, was to repeat that foolish and perilous performance. But it was cut short when a military-looking car swung in from the highway and Colonel Hart flung out of the seat beside his driver.

"Arrest that man," he called to the Anchorage marshal who stood on the running board.

But with an altogether unexpected nimbleness Sock-Eye rounded the Commissary, dodged out past the

"He's a straight-shooter all right. But that's jus' where the hitch is. He's too straight. And considerin' what he's facin' it ain't gittin' him far.'

Sock-Eye's gaze wavered away and regarded the design I'd embroidered on a gunny sack for a floor mat.

"Mebbe she has. But when a maverick in petticoats like that gits an idee in her head, when she's set on somethin' she ain't no special right to, she's a-goin' after it like a wildcat after a rabbit."

I began to discern the threatening bush about which my old friend was so artfully beating.

"Lander seems able to take care of himself," I ventured.

"Mebbe he is," retorted Sock-Eye. "And mebbe he ain't. But book learnin' and shadow-boxin' with the Ten Commandments ain't goin' t' help you much when you're competin' against a she-wolf." "I haven't," I ventured, "seen signs of any conflict."

"You wouldn't," acceded Sock-Eye. "But as I told you once afore, gold's where you find it. And so is a hombre's consolation for livin' alone. But it's mebbe worth rememberin' that both the man and the metal is usually corraled by the forager who's first t' hightail it in t' where the strike is."

I sat, deep in thought, after he had gone. I picked up two letters which had to go to the post office at Palmer and at the same time gave me a ponderable excuse for invading that forbidden territory.

As I approached the Commissary I realized that crowd was doing more than loiter. A few of the men had pitchforks in their hands; a few had pick handles and axes. Still others, I noticed, carried heavy clubs of spruce wood. And a broken cheer went up from them as Eric the Red pushed through their ranks and mounted the porch end. "Are we cattle," he demanded,

"or are we freeborn Americans? Instead of coming to a colony of homes you were brought like driven sheep to a hobo city of lousy tents. You | ful second or two, that the old fire-

Nine enrollees from Silver Creek are on detailed service at Dodge Bloomer camp, near Pontiac assist-ing with a recreation building for use of the army personnel from Selfridge field.

Ex-enrollee Lyle Healy, formerly of Glennie, now in the Merchant Marines, wrote Supt. Frank J. Wil-kuski, of Silver Creek camp, that he had just completed his first year in the Merchant Marines. He stated his enrollee training gave him the advantage over other recruits, and that his salary was now $97.50 per month.

The Lumbermen's monument, the Au Sable river, continues to be a major attraction on the Huron National forest. Over 10,000 tourists have visited the area during the month of July, according to a check made by Attendant King from the Silver Creek camp. Cars from all adjoining states were noted, as well as from Louisiana, Texas, California, Massachusetts, Permsylvania, Florida, Hawaii, and Oanada.
