4-H'ERS HOLD ACHIEVEMENT DAY IN RENO

100 Parents and Friends
Attend Evening
Program

The Isosco County 4-H Summer Program was completed last Friday, September 19, when the Annual Achievement Day was held at the Reno Township hall.

The 47 club members from Alabaster, East Tawas, and Reno township assembled their exhibits during the early part of the afternoon and were later judged by State Leaders Miss Beatrice Boyle and P. G. Lundin.

Nearly 100 4-H'ers, parents, and friends attended the evening program which was held in honor of those who had successfully completed projects in Gardening, Potatoes, Dairy, Poultry, Canning, Food Preparation, Forestry, Forest Fire Study and General Conservation. The evening program at which County Agent W. L. Finley served as chairman included short talks by District Home Extension Agent Miss Dorothy Scott, and 4-H Leader L. H. Rhodes.

The Taft Junior Farmer Club presented an interesting two act 4-H play. Miss Beatrice Boyle gave a Summary of 4-H Club Work in Isosco County as a Judge sees it. She complimented the 4-H members for the progress which they have already made in the establishment of a better nutrition program through their food preparation, canning and garden club activities, emphasizing the part that these young people are playing in a well balanced National Defense Program. P. G. Lundin summarized the activities of the boys' projects and complimented the group for their carefully prepared exhibits. He was especially well pleased with the complete and well balanced exhibit which the Taft 4-H'ers had prepared.

The Honor members who were selected and from which two delegates to the 1942 State Club camp at Gaylord will be selected are: Annie Bently and Ella Bueschen, canning; Charles Colby, Waldo Gesdon, Alice Small, Norman Anschuetz, Blair Perkins and Noa Smith, gardening; Dale Thompson and Lillian Smith, poultry; Roy Hutchison, Rupert Bently, Jr., and Eddie Robinson, forestry; Fred Oates, Edward Wellna Tom Fry and Esther Smith, dairy.

The three 4-H clubs were led this summer by N. O. Sibley, of Taft; E. A. Mathias, of East Tawas; and John Young, of Alabaster.

When the jury in circuit court last July brought out a verdict which made Hubert Brayman supervisor of Au Sable township it upset the township assessment roll as made by Frederic Lockhart. Leo F. Haley and Harold Kigar, state tax examiners, are at Au Sable this week making a reassessment so that the township will have a legal assessment roll at the October term of the Board of Supervisors.

Lockhart and Brayman ran for Supervisor of Au Sable township last spring. The vote was close, and after throwing out a number of ballots which they thought were improperly voted, the election board determined the election in favor of Lockhart. Brayman called for a recount, but the election board was equally divided in opinion on the questioned ballots. Lockhart took his place on the board of supervisors. Brayman took the case to circuit court where after some litigation he won a verdict and his place as supervisor.

A fire loss of several thousand dollars was sustained by Edward Mathews, Au Sable commercial fisherman, when his net-house, located on the Au Sable river (just north of the Mathews packing house) and contents was destroyed by fire of undetermined origin, about 9:30 Wednesday evening.

In the net house, which was a small building, were stored a considerable amount of twine, a new net-lifting machine and other valuable materials.—Oscoda Press.

The Tawas City Twentieth Century club will begin its work for the year on Wednesday, October 8, with their meeting at the Horton cottage at Sand Lake.

The district convention will be held at Grayling next week Thursday and Friday, October 2 and 3. Several members from here plan to attend.

Misses Helen and Gertrude Moss, of Mayville, spent the week end visiting Miss Ethelyn Gilroy at the Osborne-Gilroy home.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Hatton, Eugene Bing, Mrs. Bert Taylor and Mrs. Emil Byden spent Tuesday at Owosso with Dr. and Mrs. R. C. Pochert.

Mr. and Mrs. Grant Parker, of Howard City, and Mr. and Mrs. Edson Russell, of Geenville, were week end guests of their cousins, Mr. and Mrs. A. Frank.

Mrs. Jos. Bureau, of Detroit, is visiting her mother, Mrs. Collie Johnson, this week.

G. Emil Hermann

G. Emil Hermann, well known Sherman township farmer and former resident of this community, died Saturday, September 13, at the age of 74 years following a stroke.

Gustav Emil Hermann was born October 27, 1867, in Germany and came to America with his parents at the age of two and one-half years. His boyhood days were spent at Port Hope, Michigan. As a young man he came to Tawas and found employment in the saw mills. He was united in marriage July 2, 1890, to Miss Augusta Schroeder. Two sons were born to this union, one of them preceding him in death five years ago.

In 1913 he moved to Sherman township where he spent the remainder of his life.

He leaves to mourn his death, his wife; one son, William, of Lima, Ohio; a daughter-in-law; one granddaughter; three brothers, George, of Port Huron, Julius, of Seattle, Washington, and Alex, of Oscoda; and one sister, Mrs. Jennie Damreau, of Oscoda, besides many friends.

Funeral services were held Monday, September 15, from Emanuel Lutheran church. Rev. J. J. Rookle officiated. Burial was made in Emanuel Lutheran cemetery.

More Than 100 Enjoy Teacher's Reception

The reception for the Tawas City school teaching staff was considered a real success last Friday evening, with 100 people present to enjoy the evening together. Whoopie was played with prizes for high scores. Doughnuts and coffee were served. Whitney, Vine, Greenwood and Watts School Districts were well represented.

Modern and old time dancing, Hale Community Hall, Saturday, September 27. Admission 25c per person.

SUPERVISORS' COMMITTEE TO REPORT TODAY

Chairman H. Black Calls
Special Session of County Board

Harold F. Black, chairman of the Isosco County Board of Supervisors, announced Wednesday of this week that a meeting of the board will be called for Friday (today) to receive the report of the committee on the Isosco county labor dispute. The committee of five men, headed by S. J. McDonnell, chairman, finished their work Tuesday.

County road men and members of the road commission have been called before the committee and questioned. An investigation has been made of wages paid in other counties. The facts gathered have been used as a basis for the report which will be made to the supervisors.

The investigation committee consists of S. J. McDonnell, of Au Sable, chairman; Frank Dorsey, of Hale; Rev. Robert McCleary, of Whittemore; George Waters, of Reno; Thomas Oliver, of East Tawas. Ben Cover, of East Tawas, was stenographer.

Mrs. John Hamilton

Mrs. John Hamilton, former East Tawas resident, died Saturday at Port Huron and the remains were brought Tuesday afternoon to East Tawas for burial. Rev. Cliff, of Port Huron, officiated at the services at the cemetery.

Mrs. Hamilton is survived by the husband, John Hamilton; two daughters, Mrs. Vina Stoor, of Port Huron and Mrs. Arthur Kinnee, of Blaine, Washington; one son, George Hamilton, of Lansing; and six grandchildren.

Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton at on time operated the East Tawas Laundry. They removed to Port Huron about 20 years ago.

Selective Service

The following men have been selected to fill Isosco county's next call: William E. Zavitz, James W. Solomon (volunteer), Charles H. DeRemer, Lawrence C. Fortune, Leonard B. Barnes, James Ori, Jr.

They will leave by train from Tawas City, October 9, reporting to the Detroit induction station October 10, at 7:30 a. m.

There will be a special election in Plainfield Township Unit School District at the Library building in Hale, from 10:00 a. m. until 5:00 p. m., Wednesday, October 1, for the purpose of raising money to be used for the new school building.

A. E. GREVE, Secretary.

Mrs. Mary Turrell and Mr. and Mrs. Albert Buch and daughter, spent Monday at Bay City.

A Peaceful Invasion

MICHIGAN will be subjected to a peaceful blitzkrieg during the month of October when about a half million small game hunters invade the brush, swamps, and forestland. The grizzled partridge hunter depicted above in friendly conversation with his dog is Charles Orwick of Lewiston, Michigan. He has hunted in every state in the union during the last 56 years. The Michigan partridge (ruffed grouse) may be hunted October 15 to November 5 in the lower peninsula and October 1 to October 20 in the upper peninsula.

Bowling . . . AGED TAWAS TOWNSHIP FARMER DIES

Rudolph Rempert Rites
Will Be Held This Afternoon

Rudolph F. J. Rempert, highly esteemed Tawas township resident and pioneer farmer, died Tuesday afternoon at his residence. He had been ill only a few days. The deceased was 83 years old.

Rudolph F. J. Rempert was born February 3, 1858, in Germany. In 1884 he was married to Miss Amelia Krueger and came to America, going to Chicago where he resided for 12 years. In 1896 the family settled on a farm in Tawas township where he has since resided. Mrs. Rempert preceded him in death in 1919.

The deceased is survived by five sons, Otto Rempert, of Baldwin township; Fred Rempert, of Tawas City; Paul Rempert, of Saginaw; Edward Rempert, of Detroit; and Albert Rempert, of Tawas township; four daughters, Mrs. Fred Fiedler, Mrs. Arthur Bates, Mrs. Elmer Thiede and Mrs. Thomas Jones, all of Detroit; 23 grandchildren and five great grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held Friday afternoon (today), 1:30 from the home of Otto Rempert and at 2:00 from Emanuel Lutheran church. Rev. J. J. Rookle will officiate. Burial will be in the Emanuel Lutheran cemetery.

Leave for New Trial
Granted Mrs. Moshier

Leave to petition for a new trial has been granted by the state supreme court to Mrs. Winnifred Moshier according to an announcement made this week by her attorney, Bernard S. Frasier, of Bay City. Mrs. Moshier is now serving a 15 year sentence at the Detroit House of Correction, convicted of manslaughter in the death of 10-year old Robert Kenyon.

The merits of the petition for a new trial will be heard by the higher court some time this winter, according to Attorney Frasier. Last June Judge Herman Dehnke denied Mrs. Moshier a new trial. The verdict arrived at by the jury was necessarily based nearly entire on the conclusions arrived at relative to the confessions and acknowledgements attributed to Mrs. Moshier. Judge Dehnke pointed out at the time that no new evidence that touched on the confessions had been presented in Mrs. Moshier's petition for a new trial.

Degrees Conferred
On Isosco Teachers

University of Michigan degrees have been awarded to 665 students who completed their work during the 1941 Summer Session. Included in the summer graduation list are Eber C. Carlson, Master of Arts, Tawas City, and Miss Marion L. Jennings, Master of Science, of Hale.

ROAD MEN ELECT BRITT PRESIDENT

Northern Michigan Road
Convention Held at Cheboygan

Elmer Britt, member of the Isosco County Road Commission, was elected president of the Northern Michigan Road commission association at its 17th annual meeting held Thursday and Friday of last week at Cheboygan. This association comprises 33 Northern Michigan counties. Britt held the post of vice president last year. Commissioners Ernest Crego and John Mielock and Engineer J. N. Sloan were also in attendance.

More than 150 persons attended the two-day conference that ended Friday night. Three hundred and fifty attended the banquet held Thursday with salesmen, engineers and other highway employees meeting with the commissioners.

Other officers named were Duncan Morrison, of Traverse City, vice-president; Ben Jeffs, of Lake City, secretary; and N. E. Wicks, of Irons, treasurer.

The association went on record to ask the legislature for $100 per mile a year for the snow removal program on McNitt highways. The $59 a mile, as now provided, was claimed to be inadequate to take care of the ever increasing demands by the public.

Harry F. Kelly, secretary of state, was the principal speaker at the Thursday evening banquet which had as its toastmaster, past president of the Cheboygan Chamber of Commerce, John A. Garrow. State Highway Commissioner G. Donald Kennedy was represented by Harry Coons his deputy commissioner, who spoke on the department's defense roads program. Lieut. Harold Mulbar, chief of detectives of the Michigan State police, also spoke as did Sheldon P. Steers, director of state board of aeronautics.

Government Seeks Increased Production

County goals for 1942 farm production in Isosco county will be worked out in the next few weeks by the United States Department of Agricultural County Defense Board as part of the national farm program for 1942 which sets up national and state production goals for all essential farm commodities and calls for the largest agricultural production during any one year in the history of the Nation.

Harry A. Goodale, chairman of the Isosco County Agricultural Defense Board, said that every farmer in the county, as well as every farmer in the United States, will be contacted this fall by Triple-A community committees, under the supervision of the county defense board, to determine the extent to which each farm can contribute toward reaching the county production goals.

Increased production in 1942 is expected in just about all farm commodities with the exception of wheat, cotton and tobacco, with the most urgent need for more milk to use in the processing of cheese, dried skimmilk, and evaporated milk.

Mr. Goodale said that the 1942 national farm program is designed to assure plenty of the commodities for which there is increased need while continuing to hold in check the production of commodities of which we already have large reserves.

Secretary of Agriculture Wickert has emphasized the importance of avoiding the mistakes of the first World War which brought a long series of difficulties to farmers. He pointed out that while the goals for 1942 call for the largest production in the history of American agriculture, farmers will not have to plow up the hills and plains to accomplish these goals. Adequate reserves of feed grains for increased production of livestock products are available, he said, and it will not be necessary to increase materially total crop acreage for next year.

The principal farm commodities included under the plan are milk, eggs, hogs, chickens, beef and veal, soybeans for beans, flaxseed, sugar, dry beans (same as 1941 production), commercial vegetables, some increase in potatoes, fruit and lumber.

The call for increased production by the Secretary of Agriculture is authorized under the Steagall amendment of July 1, 1941, extending the life of the Commodity Credit Corporation. Under the terms of that act, whenever the Secretary of Agriculture finds it necessary during the existing emergency to encourage the expansion of production of any non-basic agricultural commodity, the Department of Agriculture is required, within the limits of the funds available, to support a price for the producers at not less than 85 per cent of parity. Non-basic commodities are those other than cotton, corn, tobacco, rice and wheat.

Mrs. Earl Bartlett and son, of Brooklyn, are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Burley Wilson this week.

Dr. and Mrs. John Bunting, of Alpena, spent Wednesday with Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Sommerfield.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

Nazi Gains at Kiev and Leningrad Are Reported as Russians Continue To Claim Success in Smolensk Area; Cairo, Moslem Holy City, Is Bombed

(EDITOR'S NOTE—When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of the news analyst and not necessarily of this newspaper.)
(Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

WORLD: Doubting Nazis

New analysts and those who speak in guarded tones of information received through diplomatic channels in Washington were letting it be known that for the first time since the start of the war there was beginning to be a general opinion that Germany would not be the winner in the present war.

Discounting the Nazis' spectacular victories, which had had many diplomats of conquered or menaced countries shaking their heads over the feeling of the "man in the street" of their countries as to the eventual outcome, the people, they had stated now, had changed, or were changing their minds about the situation.

ADOLF HITLER
Diplomats Were Doubting.

Three main factors emerged as the reasons:

1. The unexpectedly strong resistance of Russia.

(However, reports from the front indicate that the Nazis' gains were continuing.)

2. The growing importance of American aid to Britain and the belief that this nation was drawing closer to actual participation.

3. Britain's growing mastery over the German air force, plus the ability of England to "take" the worst of the Nazi planes had to offer and to carry the fight back across the channel.

The fall of France, the low countries; German victories in the Balkans and Greece, had combined to spread the conviction through more distant points in Europe, Asia, Africa and South America, to say nothing of the United States, that nothing could stop Hitler.

Talk with diplomats in Washington had revealed that this conviction had gone—replacing itself with doubt.

GERMANS: Their Claims

On the basis of German claims, the Russians faced a certainty of the loss of Leningrad; also the certainty that the Russian oil fields in the Caucasus would be reached and made a theater of war on the south.

The battle of the North Atlantic, they claimed, also was progressing favorably, with half a dozen sinkings reported since the President's speech and action sending the navy in pursuit of Nazi raiders.

Washington announced no further losses after the Montana, but it was hinted at the capital that such reports might be withheld until a considerable time after their occurrence as "military secrets."

The Nazis based their assertion on Leningrad on the fact that they had reached the city's outer defenses, that Leningraders were dynamiting buildings, and that the city was being subjected to steady air bombing and artillery fire.

On the south, the Germans asserted two crossings had been made of the lower Dnieper, either cutting Crimea off from the north or threatening to do so, and that though the river was 1,000 to 2,000 yards wide, considerable numbers of troops were passing over, with nothing before them in the way of natural hazards until the Don river should be attained.

The menace to the Caucasus was deemed imminent, and some saw in this an explanation of Russian pressure on and criticism of Bulgaria, seeing in the latter country a hop-off point for the sending of water-borne troops to the Caucasus region.

RUSSIANS:

Painting a vastly different picture of the battle, the Russians claimed continued victories in the center over determined opposition, plus reports that the Nazis, through losses, had been forced to withdraw half a million men from France alone.

Far from accepting the loss of Leningrad as a matter of cost, the Russians told of retaking an island in Lake Ladoga from the Finns, and of the repulse of a German air and water assault on the island of Oesel off the coast of Estonia.

CAIRO: Holy City

The bombing of Cairo, a holy city to the Moslems, which Britain had said, early in the war, would result in the reprisal bombing of Rome. Italy's holy city, finally had taken place, with the death of 39 persons and wounding of 93.

Immediately the British press had started the outcry "Bomb Rome Now!"

Though Alexandria, the port of Cairo, had been bombed repeatedly, the enemy planes had never bombed the city itself, and this event, the first, was not immediately repeated.

Nor was there an immediate bombing of Rome. However, the silencing of the Cairo radio, and the failure of the daily communique to arrive had caused many to believe that the British answer to the Cairo incident might be the launching of the long-awaited drive into Libya.

MINERS: Hit at Lewis

Trouble within the fold of the United Mine Workers of America, John L. Lewis' personal labor union, and the basis on which he founded the C.I.O., was the latest labor difficulty to claim attention.

It resulted when a committee charged with discussing a possible strike ballot instead returned a 50 cent assessment against each member each month.

Union members immediately set up a new committee, which met at Shenandoah City, Pa., in the heart of the Allegheny hard coal area, and made an odd demand.

They ordered Mr. Lewis himself to come before them personally and without delay and satisfactorily explain the assessment, or that they would go on strike forthwith.

An explanation was demanded.

The monthly dues of the union members now had been boosted from $1 a month to $1.50, and the miners were up in arms and the union trouble within the union was said to be spreading.

NAVY: Building Cruisers

A new type of cruiser to chase Nazi raiders is under construction for the navy, it had been revealed, a report disclosing that work had started on six ships, each 27,000 tons, of a type never before built.

They are to be 17,000 tons heavier than any other cruisers now in the navy's possession, and only 8,000 tons lighter than our heaviest battleships.

They were being built at Camden, N. J., by the N. Y. Shipbuilding Corp.

They will bear the names of Alaska, Hawaii, Guam, Philippines, Samoa and Puerto Rico. The navy withheld all details concerning their speed or armament.

ALUMINUM: A Critique

Newspapers directed sharp criticism at part of the OPM when it was learned that of huge allocations made for the purpose of building plants to manufacture 600,000,000 tons of aluminum a year, only one site had been selected and not one plant had been placed even in construction.

The original plan, outlined by OPM itself, had been to have the plants in actual operation next April or May, when the shortage of the metal will become acute.

Instead, even if the work gets under way now (which it is not) the plants cannot be in production until next fall at the earliest.

Records of the senate defense-investigating committee revealed that there had been a rift between Jesse Jones, RFC head, and Harold Ickes, fellow cabinet member over the sole contract which has been signed—which gives the Aluminum Company of America the right to build plants that would produce about half the estimated yield.

Power clauses in this contract are said to be the quarrel's basis.

HOOVER: Looks at War

HERBERT HOOVER
"When Hitler collapses..."

Some criticism of President Roosevelt's foreign policy, especially his latest steps, had been voiced by Herbert Hoover, former President, who still was inclined to "go along with the administration" in the chief issues.

His own position on the war issues was this:

1. Build an impregnable defense.
2. Give material aid to democracies.
3. Bulwark our freedom at home and conserve our strength for the stabilization of peace "when Hitler collapses because of his own overreaching."

His criticism of the President's policy was confined to the alleged violations of the Neutrality act, which Capitol Hill had said would be the next target of the administration. He said:

"President Roosevelt was right in protesting against the firing on U. S. warships and the sinking of merchantmen. But the policy of edging our warships into danger zones, of sending American merchant ships with contraband raises the most critical of all questions."

NEW YORK: Traffic Jam

With all the biggest ships in the merchant trade either on the bottom of the sea or tied up at their docks, afraid to venture out, it was hard to believe that New York could be having a harbor traffic jam.

But such was the case when 104 ships of all nationalities except Italian and German paraded into port within 36 hours, leaving scores of them with nothing to do but to lie at anchor in the harbor, awaiting a vacant dock.

When one considered that an estimated 100 ships carried all the lease-lend aid to Britain since the plan was inaugurated, it gave an idea of the immensity of the cargo space represented in this merchant flotilla arriving in one American port on practically one business day.

PARIS: Reprisals

Typifying stories of unrest from occupied Europe had been the tales coming out of Paris of sniping of citizens at Nazis, and of the executions of "hostages," military prisoners held by the German forces of occupation.

The box score at one point stood: Nazis, two dead and several wounded; "hostages," 13 shot by firing squads—none wounded.

The second Nazi was shot to death after the 13 had been executed, and it had been expected that the shooting of hostages would continue. At that point not one of the alleged actual assailants had been apprehended.

The forces of unrest also had their hostage, 20-year-old son of Lieut. Col. Alfred Herteaux, vice president of the Vichy party.

Paris newspapers asked a woman who saw the second Nazi fatally wounded to come forward and help the Germans with their investigation.

She is reported to have told a subway ticket-taker she saw the assassination. But she then disappeared and could not be found.

The man was shot the same day that the 10 hostages were executed.

VERMONT: Goes to War

That rugged individualist, Vermont, of all the states in the Union, came to the conclusion that following the President's address she is now at war.

Both branches of the legislature adopted a resolution declaring that the United States had been in armed conflict since the speech on the subject of naval action in the Atlantic.

The approval of the resolution had this immediate effect: it put into operation a $10 monthly bonus for all Vermonters in the U. S. army, navy or marine corps.

A fund of $500,000 was set up for this purpose.

MISCELLANY:

Sofia: Russian diplomatic families had left the city, and the possibility of a Russo-Bulgarian declaration of war had been considered imminent.

Washington: Senator Gillette, Iowa, frequent Roosevelt critic, caused sensation by coming out for changes in the neutrality act to conform to the White House policy.

Three New Rear Admirals for U. S. Navy

President Roosevelt has approved the recommendations of the line selection board, which selected 12 officers of the grade of captain for promotion to the grade of rear admiral. Among the navy officers to step into the charmed circle are, left to right, J. R. Beardall, J. F. Shafroth and O. M. Hustvedt. The promotion was made necessary by the expansion of the U. S. navy to meet threat of war.

America Strengthens Sea and Air Arm

Pictured at left is a view of the keel laying for the new 10,000-ton cruiser, Wilkes-Barre, at the recently re-opened century-old Cramps shipyards, near Philadelphia. Upper right: Widely heralded new flying fortress, probably world's deadliest instrument of destruction, emerges from the Boeing plant in Seattle for first test flight. Lower right: The U. S. cruiser San Juan, after being launched at the Fore River yard of the Bethlehem Steel company, Quincy, Mass.

But This 'V' Is for Sieg

Attempting to steal the thunder of "Col. V. Britton," who is the sparkplug of the British "V for Victory" crusade, the Germans release this photo to a skeptical world. It shows a great "V" inscribed in a public square in Prague, Czechoslovakia. The V stands for Victoria, an ancient German word for victory, long superseded by the familiar "sieg" of modern Germany.

For Civilian Defense

Rescued Yankee Fliers Land in British Port

Five American fliers who were en route to England to fly for the R.A.F. and who were rescued when their ship was torpedoed. Four British port, are, left to right: Norman Echord of Kansas City, Tom Griffin of Mississippi, Jack Gilliland of Kansas, James Jordan of San Francisco and Rivers Grove of Georgia.

Vest Pocket Rations

Lieut. Col. Paul Logan shown with the army's new "vest pocket" ration for parachute troops, now being tested by the quartermaster corps. Three complete meals will be contained in these tiny boxes, each weighing but a few ounces.

In a Minority

A well-known British dramatic agent, Golding Bright, who died recently, handled Shaw's plays among others. But on their first encounter Bright was in the gallery on a Shaw first night. It seems he was the only member of the audience who didn't like the play. Anyway, when Shaw came forward to take the "author" call, Bright greeted him with a full-lunged "Boo!" "Quite, my dear sir," said Shaw. "But what are you and I among so many?"

Watch Your Kidneys!
Help Them Cleanse the Blood of Harmful Body Waste
Your kidneys are constantly filtering waste matter from the blood stream. But kidneys sometimes lag in their work—do not act as Nature intended—fail to remove impurities that, if retained, may poison the system and upset the whole body machinery.
Symptoms may be nagging backache, persistent headache, attacks of dizziness, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes—a feeling of nervous anxiety and loss of pep and strength.
Other signs of kidney or bladder disorder are sometimes burning, scanty or too frequent urination.
There should be no doubt that prompt treatment is wiser than neglect. Use Doan's Pills. Doan's have been winning new friends for more than forty years. They have a nation-wide reputation. Are recommended by grateful people the country over. Ask your neighbor!

WHO'S NEWS THIS WEEK

By LEMUEL F. PARTON
(Consolidated Features—WNU Service.)

Miracle-Man Sans
Sleight-of-Hand,
Is Don M. Nelson

NEW YORK.—In the newspapers and on the street there is more and more talk of Donald M. Nelson for the one-man head of the national defense effort. A Washington friend informs this writer that powerful New Dealers, as well as important members of the opposition are working to the above end.

There has been much favorable comment on his showing in a recent radio debate on prices. Processed through several alphabetical scrambles at Washington during the last year, he has been appointed executive director of the President's new Supply, Priorities and Allocations board. There seems to be a growing belief that if anybody can perform a miracle, he can.

Mr. Nelson probably would concede no more than a deprecatory wave of the hand to this miracle business. Tall, bulky, bespectacled, slow-moving, and deliberate in speech, he would resolve the bewildering complications of plane and tank production in orderly and methodical processes instead of sleight-of-hand. The former and never the latter is his unflinching procedure.

Mr. Nelson's business career of 29 years has been given entirely to Sears Roebuck & Co., of which firm he became chairman of the executive committee in 1939. He became a defense aide at Washington a year ago. He joined Sears Roebuck as a chemical engineer, for which he had been trained at the University of Missouri. His friends have noted that thus he would bring a technical equipment to the job, as well as long experience in organization and co-ordination, if he should be assigned a one-man seat in the defense wheel-house.

He's slightly red-headed but isn't that way temperamentally. In this connection, he is an inveterate pipe-smoker, the same being the classical deterrent to going off half-cocked. He was shoved around considerably in the more or less broken field of the earlier defense drive, but has shown a capacity to get on with his workmates and is credited with ability to clear log-jams and get things done. He is 53 years old, a native of Hannibal, Mo.

THE life of Artemus L. Gates has been one continuous anti-climax. From the day of his 90-yard run in the Yale-Harvard game of 1917, he has been slipping steadily. In the 'Down-and-Down' war the best he could do was to become Yale's most decorated war hero. He didn't even become a bank president until he was 33 and was probably near 30 before he gathered his first million.

And now he has dragged along to 46 before being named by the President as assistant secretary of the navy for air. His final slump from that golden November afternoon of 24 years ago probably will be when they make him president of the new League of Nations, after the war.

He entered Yale from Cedar Rapids, Iowa, his home town, guessed right on our entering the World war, joined an apprentice flying group and was ready when the call came, volunteering in the naval air service. He was a tackle in the air, as he had been on the ground, dropping many German planes. The British awarded him the Distinguished Flying Cross, the French the Croix de Guerre, and his own country the Navy Congressional Medal of Honor. His most sensational exploit was the rescue of two British fliers whose bomber had been downed in the channel.

All this got passing mention in the public prints, as did his appointment to the presidency of the Liberty National bank, in New York, in 1929, at the age of 33, but it was just a whisper compared to the uproar touched off by that 90-yard run.

At this writing Mr. Gates is president of the New York Trust company.

Others engaged in Wall Street activities who are on the up-and-up at Washington include Robert Lovett, (he not so long ago served as one of Mr. Gates' directors) who now has a war department post corresponding with Mr. Gates' new navy secretarial job; James C. Forrestal, who is deep in production-management, and then there is Averill Harriman, who is swing-man diplomat in England and Russia.

R. A. F. Fledglings Train Here

This is John Staples of London. He is one of a hundred British boys being fashioned into pilots for the Royal Air Force at the Lakeland school of aeronautics. There are some 550 such students in the U. S. altogether, all of whom are getting expert training far from the bomb-rocked airdromes of the homeland.

Staples is typical of these sky fighters to be. Their average age is 23, and they are drawn from all walks of life. Air cadet Staples was given this Uncle Sam bunny mascot by Florida admirers.

Young Britons who came to America because they wanted wings to fly and fight with the Royal Air Force are shown marching back to the hangars after an instruction flight.

Over in the bomb-cratered homeland they call it "tonic," but they like the pop they get in the canteen at the Lakeland school better than the home product.

Above: This is the cadets' first introduction to watermelon. Billie Jones, an expert, suh, is showing the Britons the proper technique in disposing of Florida watermelon.

Left: All work and no play makes even the most enthusiastic of students weary of lessons, so the students who are being fashioned into sky fighters for the R.A.F. take time out for play. Cricket is tops with them.

Marching to the mess hall for breakfast.

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By HAROLD L. LUNDQUIST, D. D.
Dean of The Moody Bible Institute of Chicago.
(Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

Lesson for September 28

Lesson subjects and Scripture texts selected and copyrighted by International Council of Religious Education; used by permission.

THE FULFILLMENT OF HIS-TORY: THE NEW JERUSALEM

LESSON TEXT—Revelation 21:1-7, 10-12, 22-24.
GOLDEN TEXT—He that overcometh shall inherit all things; and I will be his God, and he shall be my son.—Revelation 21:7.

A happy ending may not suit the fancy of modern writers of fiction, but it does suit God. He "who worketh all things after the counsel of his own will" (Eph. 1:11) will see to it that redeemed man shall "be to the praise of his glory" (Eph. 1:12). The eternal, omnipotent God will bring the history of His dealings with mankind to a glorious ending. The last book of the Bible comes to its last pages where, after dealing with the final struggle of man with his enemy Satan (which has gone on since the entrance of sin into the world in the Garden of Eden), we find the glorious, God-given revelation of the "divine, final restoration of the universe, a picture of the home where we who love the Lord Jesus will forever dwell."

I. "The Tabernacle of God Is with Men" (vv. 1-7).

Our God is always with His people, but there is a promise of the time when He shall "pitch His tent" (for thus we might translate the word "tabernacle") in their very midst and "be with them" in full and unhindered fellowship. This He once did for a time when "the Word was made flesh and dwelt among us" (John 1:14), or literally "tabernacled among us." In the day of which our lesson speaks He will come to live permanently with His people.

The blessings of His divine presence are beautifully described in verses 4 to 6. There will be no more tears, because every occasion for them is gone. There will be no death, pain or sorrow, for the one who sits upon the throne will have made everything new.

Christianity does not evade the question of sorrow and suffering, but it does point to a glorious day when they will be done forever. What a precious promise!

II. "The Holy City . . . Having the Glory of God" (vv. 10-12).

The description of the holy city is differently interpreted, but perhaps the best one is that it will be in the form of a pyramid on a square base 1,500 miles in width and length (12,000 furlongs—v. 16), rising in terraces, and 1,500 miles high at the top.

The description of the city is glorious beyond words (read 21:1 through 22:7), but the crowning fact of all is that it has "the glory of God." His presence means more than all the glories of precious stones and of "pure gold, like unto clear glass." He is more than His gifts, and His presence is more glorious than all His mighty works.

III. God the Almighty and the Lamb Are the Temple (vv. 22).

As long as we live under the present conditions of life, we cannot do without a place to meet to worship God and to receive spiritual help and strength—a temple. But when the redeemed are gathered in the Holy City they will have no need for a temple. The place of meeting with God "which now has to be delimited from the world, and set apart for God—yes, and held with determination and force of will against invading hosts—has there expanded to cover the whole area of human experience and activity. God's presence has no longer to be sought; it is known; it is felt, universal and all-pervading as the light of day" (C. Anderson Scott).

IV. No Need of the Sun—the Glory of God Did Light It (vv. 23, 24).

The great need of man in this world is light. He rejoices in the sun as it sheds its life-giving rays upon the earth. He does his work and finds his healthful recreation in the day. When darkness comes, he must have illumination, that he may read, study, work, or fellowship with others. From the flickering pine knot man went on to the candle, to the lamp; and now in most places he floods his city and its homes with the light of electricity. But even so there is too much darkness in the world, and the men who love darkness rather than light (see John 3:19) are able to practice their evil deeds.

In the New Jerusalem all will be light, for the One who is light (I John 1:5) and the source of all light, permits His glory to shine forth and "lighten it." Jesus, the Lamb, who is the light of the world (John 8:12), is the never failing lamp of the city.

In such light not only the nations of the earth, but their kings as well, will want to walk, doing honor with all their glory to the One who is all-glorious. The verses which follow our lesson tell us that the gates of the city shall never be closed, but only that which is good and honorable shall enter in. Nothing sinful, vile, or false shall come within its blessed portals.

Made Most of Opportunity To Illustrate His Point

MISCELLANEOUS cutout designs are here to tempt hammer and saw into use. At top, left, is a very practical item—the "Leave a Note" bungalow. Inch wood makes this, and it is to be placed beside the front door. Pad and pencil inside the hinged door invites friends to leave word if they call when you are away. Practical, too, are the doorknockers—the red-headed woodpecker and the horse. And kitchen or dining room will welcome this clever cottage flower holder and the matching shade pulls.

Jig, coping or keyhole saw may be used in cutting these articles from wood—bright

The prisoner charged with assault had been severely examined by the prosecuting attorney, but still maintained he had just pushed his victim "a little bit."

"Now," said the prosecutor, "for the benefit of the jury, will you please step down here and, with me as a subject, illustrate just what you mean by 'a little bit'?" The prisoner descended and the spectators were astonished to see him slap the lawyer in the face, seize him bodily, lift him from the floor and hurl him prostrate across a table.

Turning to the jury, he explained mildly, "Gentlemen, about one-tenth that hard."

Mortgage Sale

Default having been made in the conditions of a certain mortgage and note accompanying same dated December 10, 1931, made by Charles McKenzie and Emma E. McKenzie, his wife, of Whittemore, Michigan, to George Whitford, and recorded in the office of Register of Deeds for Iosco county, Michigan on December 12, 1931, in Liber 23 of mortgages on page 124, and more than one year having elapsed since the default has been made in the payment of installments of principal and interest, and taxes assessed on the mortgaged premises, and the said default continuing and the whole sum unpaid and claimed to be due at the date of this notice for principal and interest, being the sum of one thousand three hundred thirty-six and 62/100 ($1336.62) dollars. And no suit or proceedings at law or in equity having been instituted for the recovery of the debt now remaining secured by said mortgage or any part thereof.

NOW THEREFORE, by virtue of the power of sale in said mortgage contained, notice is hereby given that said mortgage will be foreclosed by the sale of the premises therein described, at public auction, to the highest bidder, at the front door of the Iosco County Court House in the city of Tawas City, Michigan (said building being the building where the circuit court for the county of Iosco is held) on the 11th day of October 1941 at 10 o'clock in the forenoon, to satisfy the amount due and all legal costs.

The said mortgaged premises are situated in the city of Whittemore, Iosco county, Michigan, and are described as follows: Lot one (1), block two (2), Hurford's Addition to the city of Whittemore, Michigan, according to the recorded plat thereof.

George Whitford, Mortgagee.
Roy J. Crandell,
Attorney for Mortgagee,
Standish, Michigan.

Table Screen

In extra large living rooms, made to serve as a dining room as well, it is frequently desirable to have a decorative screen to conceal the dinner table while it is being set or cleared.

Hale P.-T. A.

The September meeting of Hale P.-T. A. was held at the school house Thursday, September 18, with the President Mrs. Rose Lake in charge. Group singing was led by Miss Carter, entertainment chairman, and Robert Buck offered prayer. The secretary's report of the May meeting was read and accepted, and Mrs. R. D. Brown gave a report on hot lunches for the school.

E. O. Putnam, chairman of the school board, gave a talk on the new school house and suggested that the P.-T. A. sponsor a petition to the school board to levy a 3-mill tax to finish the building.

George Underwood, Brooklyn Dodge scout, who has been visiting for the past two weeks at the home his protegee, Stanley Shellenbarger, returned to his home in Cleveland, Ohio, Thursday.

Harvey Shellenbarger, who is employed in Detroit, spent the week end at his home here.

Mr. and Mrs. Ervin Shellenbarger were business callers at East Tawas last Thursday.

Rev. John Pearson, of Bay City, will speak at the Baptist church next Sunday evening at eight o'clock. Come to the Sunday school at 10:30 a. m. and hear Dr. Kelker for the last time this year.

Mr. and Mrs. Steve Swanson and daughter, of East Tawas, visited at the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Buck over the week end. Mrs. Buck, who has been ill, is able to be around again.

Little Lawrence Thayer has been in the West Branch hospital this week as a result of a sharp pencil piercing the roof of his mouth at school.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Humphrey are spending a short vacation on a motor trip through the middle west.

Mr. and Mrs. Dale Johnson drove to South Bend, Indiana, Thursday night with Mrs. Wm. Allen and Mrs. Lyman McGirr and daughter. Mrs. McGirr remained with her husband who was taken ill while working there, the others returned home Friday leaving Lyman somewhat improved.

Mr. and Mrs. Callie Johnson and family, of Flint, visited her parents, the A. E. Greves, over the week end. Mrs. Rose Kelley had 16 stitches taken in her right hand when she suffered a dizzy spell and in attempting to save herself from falling caught her hand in the wringer tearing the flesh from the palm of her hand. In spite of the terrible injury and her failing health due to her advanced years, she is still cheerful.

Mrs. Wilbur Taylor entertained 11 ladies at a Stanley Brush demonstration Tuesday evening. Mrs. Pearsall was the fortunate lady who drew the silver sandwich plate.

Mr. and Mrs. Ross Bernard left Sunday for a two weeks' visit with relatives at Ulrichsville, Ohio.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Garden have purchased the Schofield property and will remodel it for their home.

LOWER HEMLOCK

On Sunday, September 23, Rev. John Pierson, of Bay City, will preach at the Hemlock Road Baptist church at the regular hour of service. Mr. Pierson preached in this church a good many years ago and was loved and respected by all in the community and we welcome the opportunity of hearing his message next Sunday morning. Everybody welcome.

Kenneth Herriman, of Detroit, visited with Mr. and Mrs. Sam Bradford on Saturday.

Mrs. Helen Van Patten visited her parents on Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Bradford visited at the home of Jack Grey on Tuesday evening.

Phyllis Michalski arrived home Saturday from a week's visit with her brother, Corp. Clarence Michalski, at Camp Davis, North Carolina. She says Michigan is good enough for her.

On Sunday Mrs. Louise McArdle entertained at a one o'clock dinner Mr. and Mrs. John Katterman, Mr. and Mrs. James Chambers, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Wendt and Mrs. Roland Brown and daughter, Sally Mae. The occasion being Mrs. Delbert Albertson's birthday.

Mrs. Mildred Annidon, of Granton, Wisconsin, Mrs. Walker Hill, of Chicago, Illinois, Mr. and Mrs. George Cargill, of Port Huron, and Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Laidlaw were dinner guests at the F. J. Long home Tuesday.

Mrs. Lucy Allen is having her house and garage painted. The work is being done by Mr. and Mrs. Mose Braun, who are spending a week at her home.

Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Klenow and son, Larry, spent the week end at their home here.

Mrs. August Lorenz spent Saturday and Sunday with her mother at Sebawaing.

A large number of the parents of rural students attended the get-together of parents and teachers Friday evening at Tawas City. An enjoyable evening was spent.

The Stanley Brush man is among us again. On Wednesday, September 24, he held two demonstrations. One in the afternoon at the home of Mrs. John Rapp, and in the evening at Mrs. John Miller's.

Proud To Be Doing Our Part

Pontiac is doing its part for National Defense by building a new type of rapid-fire cannon for the United States Navy. Two plants, covering 426,123 square feet of floor space, have been devoted to the manufacture of these cannon. Thousands of craftsmen have been trained for the highly technical machines. This means building fewer cars—but Pontiac places defense work ahead of everything else.

Coupe in the lower-priced series. New features are many. And in every instance, they represent actual improvement resulting from progress in design. We invite you to come in now to give these new Pontiacs your most thorough and critical inspection. You will find Pontiac today, more than ever, the Fine Car with the Low Price!

INSTALLMENT FOUR—The Story So Far

CHAPTER V

Mary Etta was already moving into the living room. Laura put her hand on Tom's arm. She did not mean to detain him more than a minute. Mary Etta was suspicious of private conversations between her husband and his mother. She had been determined when she married not to be "mother-in-lawed."

"Isn't business any better, Tom?" asked Laura.

"Better I haven't made enough this week to resole the shoes I've worn out."

"I'm sorry."

"But Mary Etta's raking it in, so I should worry."

Again Laura winced. But she said nothing. Because there was absolutely nothing to say. And Mary Etta was already glancing toward them with narrowed eyes. According to her philosophy, a man's mother made trouble between him and his wife if she could. Mary Etta was exactly like a prickly cactus. Ready to stab at the least excuse. She was determined to have from life exactly what she demanded of it. And yet in spite of her clipped efficiency, Laura had occasionally glimpsed something in Mary Etta's defiant black eyes that resembled panic, absurd as that seemed in connection with her.

She was private secretary to Harvey Cobb Leigh, one of the most powerful cogs in state politics. He was also a contractor in a big way. And he accumulated money with very few scruples about honesty. Mary Etta had gone straight from a business course in high school into his office. She had brains and she could keep her mouth shut. When she married Tom she was already handling most of her employer's private correspondence.

Tom had not wanted her to go on working. Mary Etta had pointed out the folly of doing anything else. She was earning almost as much as Tom in the big real estate agency where he was learning the business. He planned to start for himself eventually. But, as Mary Etta said, he lacked capital. She saw no reason why they should skimp along on next to nothing when she could drag down a monthly salary check. So she didn't resign. And she announced that she did not intend to until Tom's earnings took a decided turn for the better.

Unfortunately they traveled in the opposite direction. The depression knocked the bottom out of the real estate game early. From being on a fairly decent salary, Tom was reduced to a strict commission basis. This during the past year had all but dwindled to a thin mist. There was no longer any question of Mary Etta's resigning her position. For months Tom had been coming to the point where he could contribute nothing to their common expenses while Mary Etta's salary continued to increase. Laura knew the situation was blistering Tom's sensitive male pride.

"Oh, hello, Shirley," murmured Mary Etta as her husband's older sister appeared in the doorway.

Mary Etta did not care for Shirley. She bluntly said that she thought Shirley belonged in the lavender and old lace school. But Kathleen got on better with her sister-in-law. Mary Etta held Kathleen at arm's length as she did all her in-laws. But she did not take it as a personal insult if Tom asked Kathleen to look them up when she was in town. Mary Etta herself never proffered such an invitation. Of course she worked and she and Tom had only a one-room efficiency in an apartment hotel and took most of their meals out. But, as she bluntly explained, it wasn't that. Mary Etta just did not propose to be used as a convenience by her husband's family.

Kathleen, eyeing her brother's wife, wondered as she had before how Tom ever came to fall in love with anyone who made such an art of being thoroughly unpleasant. Privately Kathleen thought Tom was getting fed up. And she didn't blame him. He looked as if he had been on a steady diet of cockleburrs.

"Hello, Kits. Gunning for big game?" he asked with a grin.

Kathleen made a face at him. "It all depends on how you feel toward Mamma Newsum," she said, then squeezed his arm. "Sh! Here they come. My sainted cow, doesn't she look like Mrs. Astor's pet horse?"

The Newsums were just emerging from their handsome closed car. Jaid gave his mother his arm. Shirley, looking out the window, felt the little wayward jerk which the sight of him always gave her senses. He was probably in no way extraordinary, but he always seemed so to her. Just Jaid with his clean-cut profile and steady blue eyes, yet he represented all of heaven and hell to Shirley Maguire.

His mother was mincing along in evening slippers that were a size too small. Her gray chiffon gown was expensive, but she could be depended on to spoil the effect of any costume by adding a jarring note. In this case it was the huge pink ington's wealthiest citizen. Mike Maguire is a happy-go-lucky editor and mayor of the town. Kathleen, younger daughter, is furious at Mrs. Newsum's patronizing airs. A stranger had helped fix a flat tire for her and kisses her. He tells her he is a newspaper man out of a job. The first to arrive for the dinner are Laura's son, Tom, and his wife, Mary Etta.

Kathleen slid out the door. At breakfast Laura had been impressive about the solemn significance of the occasion. But Mike was just as likely as not to forget to come to dinner when there were guests. But to her relief as she came down the hall Kathleen heard his voice at the rear. He usually came in the side door because there was a short cut across a vacant lot that saved time from his office.

"Dad!" she called imperiously. "Don't you realize you've only ten minutes to make yourself presentable?"

She jerked open the screen door as she spoke. She meant to chase Mike up the rear stairs as quickly as possible. Only it wasn't Mike into whose arms she catapulted.

"Oh!" cried Kathleen. "Exactly," grinned the black-headed man in faultless white flannels.

"Kathleen," beamed Mike Maguire, "this is Ritchie Graham, a gentleman and a scholar after my own heart."

Kathleen stared into the sardonic gray eyes of the irritating young man who had rescued her from the ditch and kissed her and laughed about it. The man she had most ardently desired not to see again.

"I've brought him to dinner," announced her father with triumph.

"I hope it is all right, Miss Maguire," murmured Ritchie Graham.

He was grinning. He knew she was furious. So did Mike. And they both laughed. They were undoubtedly soulmates, thought Kathleen with helpless rage. Even though they did not look a lot alike. Mike was almost as tall and lank as his guest. Only he was fair. He had a thin, clever, boyish face, blue eyes that were irresistibly gay, and a droll mouth. His crisp russet hair was lightly grizzled at the temples. He was forty-five, but he carried off his years as innocently as he did everything else.

"I suppose both of you would go into a decline if I said it isn't all right. Like Ned you would," growled Kathleen. "Do come in and stop clattering up the door sill."

Mike sniggered. "Don't mind the kitten's claws," he admonished his companion. "She only scratches those she loves. Come up to my room, my boy, while I slick down these old gray locks."

Kathleen stood at the foot of the stairs and glared after them. How on earth was she going to tell Laura that, as usual, Mike had spoiled everything by one of his preposterous gestures in behalf of a perfectly strange man who had no earthly business to have precipitated himself into an already overstrained situation.

CHAPTER VI

As a matter of fact, the crisis resolved itself without fatalities. It was exactly like Mike to sow dragons' teeth and reap love apples. Just as Kathleen was turning back to the living room the telephone rang.

"Kathleen?" Alex was speaking and his voice was a trifle thick, a bit inclined to run up the scale at the end of words. "Tell Mother I can't make it for dinner."

"Alec! How could you?"

"Sure. I'm a rat to do the run-out when she's staging a family shindig. But that's how it is. And you can't do anything about it. So take the air."

"I'm not talking about that. You know what I mean."

"Do I? What of it? You don't need to tattle to Mother, do you?"

"Don't worry. I shan't. She still thinks you are worth getting all hot and bothered about." Kathleen soberly replaced the receiver. She and Alec had fought from the time they were both in rompers. There were less than two years between their ages. To the casual observer they seemed always at the point of mayhem. Actually they were tremendously fond of each other. And Kathleen, although she had no intention of telling Laura so, was heartsick about Alec. He had been drinking. That was why he was not showing up for dinner. That meant he had been somewhere with Myra Boone.

"Darn cradlesnatchers with blond hair and motheaten morals!" muttered Kathleen under her breath.

She couldn't see how Alec could go that sort of thing. It was such a pity he had to finish school the year brand new electrical engineers were a drug on the industrial market. Alec was a bundle of nervous energy. He was better suited for anything on earth than idleness. Mike had tried to find him something to do on the newspaper. But Alec hated it. He was created to make things happen, not to write up the exploits of others. With no outlet for his dynamic desire to make the wheels go faster Alec was, or so it seemed to Kathleen, cooking up a merry little hell all his own, aided and abetted by the worldly Mrs. Boone, a wealthy divorcee thirteen years his senior.

WAFFLES AT NIGHT—GUESTS' DELIGHT!

(See Recipes Below)

OUT OF THE WAFFLE IRON

Waffles! Um'm! Crisp and browned to suit the taste—a queeny dish, whether you're a homemaker who delights in calling in your friends—a "home body" who caters only to the family—or a lone eater who simply likes nice foods.

It's fun to make 'em... it's fun to bake 'em. And waffle baking has made so many homemakers—young and old—waffle-party conscious, that we've included in this week's column games especially suitable for waffle parties.

So why not be a hostess who is different! Invite the "gang" in for a neighborhood "waffle feed." Your new deal in entertaining—whether your guests be club-women, daughter's pals, the high school basketball team, or hubby's cronies—will go down in social history. Mark our words!

Waffle recipes can be divided into two parts—the "ordinary" or "regular" waffle—good enough for anybody; and the waffles with frills and furbelows—gingerbread waffles, chocolate waffles, etc. So we give you some of each.

Waffles.
(Makes 5 waffles)

2 cups sifted flour
1 1/2 cups milk
3 teaspoons baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
3 eggs
4 to 6 tablespoons melted shortening

Separate the eggs and beat the yolks with the milk. Add the sifted dry ingredients, then the melted shortening, and last, the stiffly beaten egg whites. Pour into hot waffle iron and bake until iron stops steaming.

Variations for Standard Recipe.
Pineapple Waffles—Reduce milk in plain waffle recipe to 1 cup and add 3/4 cup well-drained crushed pineapple.

Date Waffles—Add 1 cup chopped dates mixed with part of flour from recipe.

Ham Waffles—Add 6 tablespoons minced cooked ham to plain waffles.

Huckleberry Waffles—Add 1 cup well-drained, canned or fresh huckleberries mixed with 1/4 cup sugar.

Nut Waffles—Add 1 cup finely chopped nuts to standard waffle recipe.

2 eggs

Dissolve yeast in warm water. Add salt and melted fat, then milk and flour. Stir until smooth. Let

LYNN SAYS:

Care of the Waffle Iron. Most modern electric waffle irons should not be greased, but extra richness must be put into the waffle batter. This should be poured on the pre-heated iron from a pitcher or with a large spoon.

With continued use, the cooking surface is apt to become brown, and it is a mistake to remove this unless it becomes burned or too thick. During the occasional scourgings, great care must be taken not to get water into the connection plug or heating element. A damp cloth or a soft brush should be used to free the iron from excess batter or crumbs.

stand over night, or 1 1/2 hours. When ready to use, beat egg yolks, add to mixture and then add beaten whites. Bake 4 minutes on a very hot iron.

Fruit Sauce for Waffles.
1/2 cup butter
2 cups powdered sugar
1 cup crushed berries
1 egg white
1 teaspoon vanilla

Cream butter, add powdered sugar and when well creamed, stir in white of egg and vanilla. Mix thoroughly and add berries. Chill. Makes a delicious topping for waffles when served for supper, dessert, or even late-at-night as a "snack."

Gingerbread Waffles.
(Makes 6 waffles)

1 1/2 cups pastry flour
1/4 cup sugar
1/2 cup molasses
2 eggs
1 cup sour milk
1 teaspoon ginger
1/4 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon soda
1 teaspoon baking powder
6 tablespoons melted shortening

Beat eggs until light. Add sugar, molasses and sour milk. Sift dry ingredients together and add. Beat until smooth. Add shortening and bake 3 or 4 minutes. Serve with ice cream.

Chocolate Waffles.
(Makes 4 waffles)

1 3/4 cups flour
3 teaspoons baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
6 tablespoons sugar
2 eggs
1 cup milk
2 squares chocolate
4 tablespoons butter

Mix and sift dry ingredients. Add milk, beaten eggs, fat and chocolate which has been melted over hot water. Preheat iron 8 minutes and bake waffle for three minutes.

Apple Waffles.
(Makes 6 waffles)

1 1/2 cups flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
1 egg
2 tablespoons butter
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup milk
1/2 cup chopped apples
2 tablespoons lemon juice
Dash of nutmeg

Chop apples, add lemon juice and nutmeg. Let stand for 15 minutes. Sift flour, measure, add dry ingredients and add apples and butter. Heat waffle iron 6 to 8 minutes, pour on batter and bake two to three minutes. Serve with butter and brown syrup.

Here's a good game for your next waffle party. It's called CONSEQUENCES and is played as the old familiar Consequences. Paper and pencil are needed. Each person draws the head of a beast, bird or man, folds the paper over and passes it to the neighbor on his left. Each person then draws a body of beast, bird or man, according to his fancy, and again folds the paper over. The last item to be added is the legs and feet. The paper is to be folded again and passed to the neighbor on the left, then all are opened. The results may be astonishing. (Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

Utmost Isolation

Half way between Cape Horn and New Zealand a ship will find itself 1,200 miles from the nearest land and in the center of the greatest space of open water on the face of our planet. Another almost equally great space of open sea is to be found in the North Pacific between the Aleutian islands and the Sandwich islands. This is even more open than the first named, for in it there is not even an islet. The most remote island is Kerguelen in the southern Indian ocean. It is roughly 3,000 miles from the Cape of Good Hope and nearly the same from Cape Leeuwin in Australia. St. Paul's island, 600 miles north of Kerguelen, is almost equally isolated.

The band received several new marches which they are now practicing. They intend to play these marches at the basketball games.
 A Junior band has been started and is composed of twenty members. These members hope to enter the Senior band in the spring or next fall.

Home Economics Department
 The new home economics department started its fall work with a cleaning campaign to get all the new equipment ready for use. The seventh graders then started hemming dish towels to be used in the home economics department, and the eighth, ninth, tenth, eleventh and twelfth grade classes began a study of food preservation. The eighth grade girls canned tomatoes by the hot water bath and open-kettle methods, and the advanced classes canned peaches and tomatoes, and finished their work by making grape and crab apple jelly.

General Shop
 This year a new and very interesting work has been introduced to this school. It is Manual Training.
 There are 77 students taking up shop in different shifts, each shift with their own task to do.

The seventh and eighth grades are being introduced with elementary drafting which consists of printing and some problems. These classes also are learning the use of hand tools. They are the chisel, plane and block saw.

The eleventh and twelfth grades are building up the new shop room. All fixtures have been painted silver. They have built cupboards for aprons and overalls. Some other projects are drafting cabinets, wood racks, chair racks and ruler racks.

Florescent lighting has been installed. This lighting system is a fine improvement over the old system. These two classes also have the privilege of using the new machinery. These new machines are as follows: Jig saw, lathe, circular saw 10", and jointer.

The other projects finished in the few weeks that school has been in session are as follows: Electric bench, plumbing bench, finishing benches, and double benches for wood-work. These have been built by the students.

Mr. Kreiger, who is the shop instructor, has announced that there will be seven projects to complete this year. Woodwork, cold metal drafting, electricity, plumbing, soldering, finishing.
