AUTO-TRAIN CRASH FATAL TO DETROIT MAN

Speeding Automobile Hits E. & M. Engine Near Alabaster

Injuries received Friday evening when his automobile struck an Erie & Michigan locomotive at the crossing near Alabaster, were fatal to John D. Dagarui, of Detroit. He died early Saturday morning at Omer hospital. Dagarui was an official of the Wolverine Packing company.

Sheriff John Moran and Troopers Nick Reecho and Donald Marion investigated the accident. Dagarui, who apparently had been driving at a high rate of speed when approaching the crossing, tried to cut around the approaching train. His car struck the front of the engine. The car was hurled through the air and struck a telephone post at a point about 12 feet above the ground. Dagarui's injuries included a fractured spine and a crushed chest.

Walter H. Moeller, train engineer, told Trooper Reecho that he blew the locomotive whistle three times when he saw the car approaching the crossing but it failed to stop. Moeller said that he saw the car hurtle through the air for some distance before striking the telephone post and coming to rest in the ditch beside the highway. Wreckage was strewn for 100 feet from the crossing. A step on the pilot was torn from the front of the locomotive and carried away on the front bumper of Dagarui's car. Besides Engineer Moeller, the train crew included Allie Bigelow, conductor, and Fred Swartz, fireman, all of Tawas City.

Mrs. Emily Thompson, age 85 years, died of a heart attack and complications, at the home of her young daughter, Mrs. Grace Pittsworth, of Goodrich Michigan, September 20. Emily Baker was born at Port Austin June 15, 1856, where she lived until 1873 when she came to Tawas City with two brothers, William and Ike, in a sail boat.

In 1876 she was united in marriage to John T. Thompson. To this union fifteen children were born, eleven of whom are living. She had made Iosco county her home most of these years, until 1928 when she went to reside with her daughters, until her death. Mrs. Thompson was a woman of sterling character, a good christian and a loving mother to her children. She was always ready to give a helping hand where it was needed and would toil late at night to do a good deed to help someone in need.

Prayer services were held at the home of her daughter, Goodrich, officiating. The remains were then removed to Whittemore where funeral services were held at the Methodist church with Rev. Dohring, of Owosso, in charge. Interment was in the family lot in the Reno cemetery beside her husband, who preceded her in death in 1917.

She leaves to mourn eleven children, Henry, William, Frank, Elizabeth, Hatty, Anna, James, Minnie, George, Grace and Andrew. Also two half-brothers, Rufus Edmond and John Edmond. And a host of other relatives and friends.

Plainfield Votes Bond Issue for New School

The new $40,000.00 unit for the Hale schools was started last spring. Hugh Slosser, contractor, and his crew of men are constructing a building that will be a credit to the township. A large amount of the work has been completed, and with the successful outcome of the bond election, the six-room building will soon be ready for use. Plainfield township should be congratulated for its progressive spirit.

East Tawas Entertains Road Official Caravan

FISH DINNER SERVED TO 170 GUESTS FRIDAY

State Highway Officials of America Tour State

One hundred seventy members of the American Association of State Highway Officials making a three-day tour of Michigan highways, enjoyed an old fashioned fish fry during their stop at East Tawas Friday afternoon. The dinner was served in the Community building. About 350 pounds of fish were required for the occasion.

In the trip through Michigan the caravan left Detroit Friday morning, stopping at Flint and Bay City. Governor Murray D. Van Wagener and G. Donald Kennedy, state highway commissioner, were hosts to the tour, and together with Mrs. Van Wagener and Mrs. Kennedy accompanied the caravan of road officials.

Proceeding north, the caravan traveled over the scenic Huron Shore route of U. S.-23 to Alpena where the road men visited the Huron Cement plant and witnessed blasting operations in the quarry before continuing on to Cheboygan where they attended ceremonies opening a new stretch of pavement on U. S.-23.

Following an overnight stop at Topinabee, the touring highway officials crossed the Straits of Mackinac Saturday morning for a short drive to Breveport on the new scenic route of U. S.-2 in the Upper Peninsula before recrossing the straits to continue on to Petoskey, Charlevoix and Traverse City, where an overnight stop was made Saturday night. Sunday, the caravan split into two groups—one returning to Detroit by way of Clare, Frankenmuth and Pontiac, and the other continued down the west coast of the state through Frankfort and Ludington to Muskegon.

Francis Weaver, operator of gasoline service stations at Standish and East Tawas, has been arrested for larceny of upwards of 30,000 gallons of gasoline during the past 18 months from the Producers Refinery company of West Branch. Weaver pleaded guilty.

Disclosure of the theft came through an investigation by E. S. Ferrand, state sales tax auditor, who found that Weaver was selling more gasoline than he had purchased. He was arraigned before Circuit Judge John C. Shaffer, of Gladwin. He pleaded guilty and was released on bail of $2,000.00. Following an investigation by the probation officer Weaver will be sentenced.

DIST. CATTLE GROWERS HOLD FINE MEETING

Group Study Grading and Improvement of Herds

The Second Annual meeting of the Northeastern Michigan Hereford Calf association proved most successful. Tuesday of this week, when 125 interested cattlemen and Smith-Hughes high school boys attended the afternoon session at the Prescott ranch, five miles west of the Whittemore school.

Professor G. A. Brown, head of the College of Animal Husbandry Department, and Extension Specialist E. L. Benton from the same institution, were in charge of the afternoon session at which market values and market classes of feeder calves were emphasized. The group sorted some 70 high quality Hereford calves into their respective market grades, following which price ranges were explained.

Other features of the afternoon meeting which proved of interest to those in attendance included a discussion of the breeding herd which produced the 70 Hereford calves used in the demonstration, an exhibit of shorthorn feeder calves, an exhibit of two year old bred heifers that will be members of the breeding herd a year from now, and a discussion of purebred sires that will improve the feeder calves produced in this section of Michigan.

Following the afternoon meeting the group assembled at the Barnes Hotel in Tawas City for a 6:30 dinner. Following the dinner C. T. Prescott, Sr., president of the organization, called the meeting to order and served as chairman of a well planned program. Prof. G. A. Brown discussed "The present cattle situation," pointing out the many ways in which white faced Hereford cattle fit so well into Iosco County agriculture. Ralph Bruber, representing the State Agricultural Conservation Committee, gave a most interesting summary of how "The Beef Cattle Business fits into the AAA Program of Michigan."

James P. Mielock, prominent farmer in Alabaster, gave the association secretary report. E. L. Benton summarized previous discussions and pointed out that much work must be done within the near future in the marketing of this important farm crop. He suggested bringing the calves to a central location where small numbers of calves could be sorted into more uniform groups as to size, grade and quality. Plans were discussed regarding a large winter meeting which will be announced at a later date.

Christian Science War Relief Work

One war relief activity which has been little publicized is The Christian Science War Relief Committee with offices at 237 Huntington avenue, Boston, Massachusetts. Two thousand nine hundred and ninety-nine cases—half a million garments—valued at $489,368.23, in the nine months of the Committee's existence, is their record to date. The work is an activity of The Mother church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, and branch Christian Science churches throughout America. Only new garments or those comparable to new are accepted by the committee. These are furnished almost entirely by members of the Christian Science organization. They are shipped to a central Christian Science committee, in London, where they are allocated to different almoners in England and Scotland. The work is in the hands of members of the Christian Science denomination until the garments are distributed. They are gladly given to any person in need, regardless of denomination.

Reorganize Sunday School in Wilber

During the hour of service last Sunday afternoon the Wilber Sunday school was reorganized. This branch of the church services was organized even before there was a church building in the community, and at one time was held in the barn on the "Old Wilber Farm," now owned by Stanley Alda. But not until within the last six months was there ever a vacation in Sunday school. So the parents and children, who are interested in the church, are asked to come out and "boost" the Sunday school.

The Maguires are giving a dinner for the Newsiums. Shirley Maguire and Jaidr Newsium are engaged. But Kathleen Maguire is peevish. Mrs. Newsium is too patronizing. In fact she wants Jaidr to marry Connie Mays, the banker's daughter. Tom Maguire, her brother, is hit by the depression and his wife, Mary Etta, a secretary, is practically his support. There is talk of Reno. Another brother, Alec, with no work, is taking up with a blonde some years older than he. Her father, Mike, happy-go-lucky editor and mayor of Covington, brings Ritchie Graham to the party. He's the stranger who kissed Kathleen after he fixed a flat tire for her. He is a newspaper man too.

anyone's reputation was worth to leave the floor during intermissions. "But tempus certainly fugit," she reflected.

The best young folks in Covington avoided formality whenever possible. They much preferred to collect a small gang of their own for an evening at one of the pay-as-you-dance places to what they called "a solemn-as-God" function at the Country Club. They rebelled if their elders threw too many cut-and-dried parties in their honor. They hooted at the mention of chaperones and they piled into each other's cars between dances and went off in search of hot dogs or a spot of moonlight whenever they felt so disposed. A number of Laura's contemporaries prophesied that the younger generation was headed straight for the devil. But she held onto her sense of humor with both hands and remembered that her father had said precisely the same thing when she was seventeen.

And so on this occasion she swallowed hard as she often had to, and said only, "Have a jolly time, darling."

Shirley stooped and kissed her mother's cheek. "Thanks for everything," she whispered.

Laura squeezed her hand. Shirley was so sweet, Kathleen would have gone into a nose dive trying to express her gratitude for the trying day Laura had just put in. Shirley said three words. But she was just as grateful.

"Have a jolly time, darling."

Ritchie Graham and Mike were deep in a discussion concerning a recent editorial in one of the new iconoclastic weeklies. Ritchie wanted to do stuff like that. He had a lot of radical ideas which he itched to set off like bombs. Ideas more conventional periodicals conspicuously avoided. Mike agreed with enthusiasm that many of the things Ritchie burned to say needed to be said to the American people. He even became as wildly excited as the younger man at the prospect although they both admitted that Ritchie might starve for lack of a publisher who would dare print the unpalatable truth.

Kathleen, watching the crusader's flame in Ritchie's gray eyes, felt suddenly cheap and trivial. She wished she hadn't asked Hot Shot Mays to call for her. She had had some obscure notion that she was spiting Ritchie who apparently intended to spend the evening. But her announcement fell depressingly flat. If Ritchie was piqued he concealed his chagrin admirably. Kathleen had a forlorn feeling that Mike really was more of an attraction to Ritchie's way of thinking. Laura was the only one who reacted noticeably. And Kathleen was sorry about that. Her mother was the one person she hadn't wanted to jolt.

"You're going out with Gene Mays!" Kathleen gulped a little at Laura's tone. "I won't be late," she said. An ache settled in Laura's heart. But she had never wrapped her children in cotton wool. She had tried to instill in them the tenets of her own code. She hoped she had succeeded. But years ago she had determined to let them stand on their own feet if it killed her.

So, "Happy landing," she told Kathleen with a grin that for pure heroism deserved a Carnegie medal. For Laura did not approve of Gene Mays. She did not approve of anything about him. Especially for Kathleen. Laura was ready to admit that he might be the town's matrimonial prize—for some other woman's daughter. He stood to have

PIE PERFECTION—A WINNER EVERY TIME (See Recipes Below)

AMERICA'S FAVORITE DESSERT

Confess now, how often would you turn down a tart lemon pie, a deep-dish apple pie, or a juicy cranberry one with the bright berries peeking out of the lattice crust? Not often, I imagine, or pie wouldn't be our country's favorite dessert. So here's to pie, favorite at dessert time or at a bakery sale, made in big tins or as individual servings:

Lemon Angel Pie.
(Makes one 8-inch pie)
4 egg yolks
3/4 cup sugar
1/4 cup lemon juice
1 tablespoon butter
2 egg whites, stiffly beaten

Cream egg yolks and sugar together. Add lemon juice and cook in double boiler until thickened, stirring often. Add butter. Remove from heat and fold in beaten egg whites. Pour into a baked pie shell. Top with meringue and brown in moderate (325 degrees) oven for 15 minutes.

Meringue.
2 egg whites, beaten until frothy
4 tablespoons sugar
1 teaspoon lemon juice

Add sugar gradually to egg whites and continue beating until egg holds up in peaks. Fold in lemon juice.

Any pie is as good as its crust, and if you've mastered the art, your pies will always be something to come back for. A good crust is tender, short, flaky, well flavored and smart enough to stand by itself. If you make a crust to be filled, cool the filling before it comes in contact with the crust so you won't have soggy pie.

Flaky Pie Crust.
2 cups flour
3/4 cup shortening
3/4 teaspoon salt
About 1/2 cup ice water

Mix and sift flour with salt. Work in shortening using pastry blender, fork, knives, or fingertips, until mixture appears crumbled. Moisten with water until dough just holds together. Roll out on floured board and cut to fit pie tins. This makes enough for a double crust for a 9-inch pie tin. For a one-crust pie, use: 1 cup flour, 1/2 cup shortening, 1/2 teaspoon salt, and 2 1/2 to 3 tablespoons water.

Delicious Rhubarb Pie.
1 1/2 tablespoons quick-cooking tapioca
1 1/4 cups sugar
1/4 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon grated orange rind
1 tablespoon melted butter
4 cups cut rhubarb
1 pie crust

Combine ingredients and let stand about 15 minutes. Line a 9-inch pie plate with pastry rolled one-eighth inch thick, allowing pastry to extend 1 inch beyond edge. Fold edge back to form standing rim. Fill with rhubarb mixture. Moisten edge of pastry with cold water; arrange lattice

LYNN SAYS:

To keep your pie crust short, have the shortening and water ice cold. If possible, have your bowl cold, too, and when handling the crust, use your fingers as little as you can, to keep the heat from the hands from getting into the dough.

Avoid rolling extra flour into the dough for this makes tough pastry. Fold the pastry over several times while rolling to help make flaky pastry. Never stretch the pastry into the pan. Make it large enough before fitting into pan.

Pie crust should be baked quickly on the lower shelf of the oven to prevent sogginess. The intense heat of the oven expands the cold liquid in pastry into steam, making the crust rise in flaky layers.

of pastry strips across top. Flute rim with fingers. Bake in hot oven (450 degrees) for 15 minutes; then decrease heat to 350 degrees and bake 30 minutes longer.

Apple Pie.
1 recipe flaky pie crust
2 pounds cooking apples
1 1/2 cups sugar
2 teaspoons cinnamon
2 tablespoons butter
1/2 tablespoons cornstarch

Pare, core, and slice apples. Mix with sugar, cinnamon, and cornstarch. Fill pie tin which has been covered with crust and dot fruit with butter. Lay on top crust which has been pricked with a fork, and flute edges. Bake 45 to 50 minutes in a moderate (350-375 degrees) oven.

Tang and color are this cranberry pie's delectable recommendations, so make enough to have seconds. You can have your vitamins, too, for cranberries are an excellent source of vitamin C, necessary for teeth and bones, and also a fair source of vitamin A which promotes appetite, stimulates growth, and makes for general well-being. Make it with a criss-cross crust and you'll come in with top honors:

Spicy Cranberry Pie.
(Makes one 9-inch pie)
1 recipe pie crust
4 cups cranberries
2 1/2 cups sugar
2 tablespoons lemon juice
Grated rind of 1 lemon
1/4 teaspoon cinnamon
1/4 teaspoon ground cloves
1 1/2 tablespoons cornstarch
1/2 cup water

Wash and pick over berries. Bring to a boil with the water, add sugar, boil gently, being careful not to break berries. Boil 5 minutes, remove from fire, cool, and add lemon juice, rind, and spices. Fill unbaked pie crust, cover top with strips, and bake 30 minutes in a hot (400 degrees) oven.

There are pies in which you bake just the crust, pies in which you bake crust and filling, and other pies which you don't bake at all. In this latter class are those pies whose crust is placed in the icebox to cool, then filled with filling and cooled until set. Here's a pie with crust, rich and crumbly, a filling that really melts in your mouth:

Coconut Custard Pie.
(Makes one 9-inch pie)
2 egg yolks
1 1/2 cups milk
1/2 cup sugar
1/4 teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons gelatin
1/4 cup cold water

Soak gelatin in cold water. Cook egg yolks, milk and sugar in double boiler until thick and pour over gelatin. Cool, add vanilla, and pour over a crust made of:

3 cups oven-popped rice cereal, rolled fine
1/2 cup butter melted
1/4 cup sugar

Combine cereal crumbs, sugar and butter and press evenly around the sides and bottom of a pie pan. Chill before filling. Pile meringue on top of filling. Use 2 egg whites stiffly beaten, to which add 1/2 cup sugar slowly, and 1/4 cup of coconut. Brown lightly in broiler.

In making a successful meringue, beat the egg whites until stiff and glossy, then blend in sugar completely to prevent beads of syrup from forming on top of the meringue. Leave the pie on the top of the oven after it is baked. Cold air striking the meringue will cause it to fall.

The Nation's No. 1 Potato Patch

Digging a big crop of potatoes. The average yield per acre in Michigan is about 100 bushels, and on some farms it has reached 500 bushels per acre.

What state of all the forty-eight has the biggest acreage in white potatoes? It's not Idaho, or Maine, but our own Michigan, with a yearly average of about a quarter-million acres planted to this staple crop. Three other states have a larger total yield. But fried, baked, mashed or boiled, Michigan's annual 22,000,000-bushel crop is a lot of potatoes!

The potato grower usually has to decide whether to sell his potatoes as soon as they are dug, or to hold them in storage, to sell in winter or spring. Weather conditions, the size of the nation's crop and other factors must be followed closely, and the telephone helps many potato farmers keep informed. By telephone, too, the wholesaler sells to retail stores, and the housewife places her weekly order of potatoes. What about some of those new, tender-skinned Michigan spuds for dinner?

Smooth, plump Michigan potatoes by telephone? Surely! Call your grocer.

Wondering about the 1942 cars?

Here is Buick's superb solution to the problems posed by making our national defense, as it should be, industrial America's No. 1 job

BUICK BUILDS
FOR DEFENSE

Our assignment: Building Pratt & Whitney valve-in-head aircraft engines for defense use.

IT WAS no time to duck or dodge the facts. So we didn't try.

Instead we said—these being the materials critical in the defense program, we'll do our planning for 1942 with that foremost in mind.

Not merely for an "acceptable" car—certainly not for any "ersatz" number.

We had to have a real and representative Buick. One we could be proud of. One able enough, active enough, durable enough to serve till annual new models are the rule again.

We resolved on a 1942 automobile of such merit as could carry the Buick reputation without fault until other new Buicks, however far off, could come along to refresh it.

Now we're announcing those 1942 cars.

Why waste words telling you how good they are! You can't put language in the gas tank and learn either how many or how enjoyable are the miles you'll get per gallon.

There's a better answer—you drive these cars themselves. Come on, do that! Put your own yardstick on their quality.

It would be a shame, for you and for us, to have you miss the dreadnaught Buick we've built to stand up successfully to the toughest job in years.

No other car has ALL THIS FOR YOU IN 'FORTY-TWO

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS By Edward C. Wayne

Nazis Launch Repressive Campaign In Answer to Anti-German Revolts And Widespread Acts of Sabotage; England Claims Mastery in Air War

(EDITOR'S NOTE—When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of the news analyst and not necessarily of this newspaper.)
(Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

Scene of U. S. army war maneuvers has shifted from Louisiana to South Carolina and this picture shows a bit of action as the "fighting" got under way. Here one side had established a bridgehead and a pontoon bridge was built for trucks and artillery. But before they could cross completely, enemy planes appeared and "bombs" exploded to "demolish" the rear units.

NAZIS: More Trouble

According to reports from Europe, German officials were busy with a repressive campaign throughout their conquered and occupied territory to prevent the spread of a vast behind-the-front anti-German movement. Acts of sabotage were reported from Belgium, France, Denmark and Czechoslovakia and the Nazis were doing everything to put down what to some observers looked like a general revolt.

The slaughter of Czechs in Bohemia and Moravia through "drumhead" court-martial instituted by the new regime had continued to keep pace with, even to surpass the killings in occupied France.

Eighty-eight were reported killed in three days, 58 in one day. Reinhard Heydrich, former chief of Berlin's secret police, who had been made "protector" of Czechoslovakia, or what was left of it, was using the mailed fist to stamp out a persistent rebellion.

The same story was coming out of Bulgaria, with reports from Sofia of 543 persons arrested in one day in one Black Sea port.

The Bulgars, blood brothers and friends of the Russians, were revolting at any efforts the Germans might make to use their country as a by-pass to get eventually at Caucasian Russian oil fields.

AIR MASTERS: Churchill

The first victory of the war of any real import to Britain had been announced in most positive terms by Winston Churchill when he told the house of commons that the Royal Air force had attained mastery of the air.

The information was given to parliament just as London celebrated its second month without an air raid alarm. The prime minister asserted that the R.A.F. was in a position to bomb Rome at any time that it seemed convenient or advisable, and reported that Cairo definitely had not been bombed, denying previous reports that this had occurred.

The reaction was swift in coming—from Berlin and from Rome. In the latter city the pope was reported to be sending a message via Myron C. Taylor to President Roosevelt asking him to use his influence with Britain to pass up the bombing of Rome.

The President, on the other hand, was said to have sent a message to His Holiness suggesting politely that he might take up his residence at a safer spot.

The Berlin answer was a quintuple bombing raid, not on London, but on five northeastern cities, with heavy casualties reported. The defense of these cities was presumably not as good as that of London.

At the same time the R.A.F. was conducting continuous and heavy raids with squadrons running as high as several hundred planes. One raid on the port city of Stettin was conducted for five solid hours by waves of bombers.

Italy made a strong attack by air on a British ported convoy in the Mediterranean, but eyewitness reports were that terrific casualties in men and planes were suffered, and the battleship Nelson, while damaged by a torpedo, "suffered only a slight diminution of her speed."

SEA POWER: Viewed by Knox

Sea power of Britain and the United States—both present and to come—will spell the end of the triple Axis, said Secretary of the Navy Knox in an address.

He also declared that once the Rome-Berlin-Tokyo alliance had been defeated it would be up to the United States and Britain permanently to pool their forces "to stop new aggression."

Many wondered if he left Russia out of the picture deliberately.

ICKES: On Oil

Secretary Ickes as he appeared before the senate oil committee, testifying on the oil transportation shortage. He is examining a cartoon relating to his actions in the matter.

Secretary of the Interior Ickes, petroleum administrator, who had been making gigantic efforts to get Easterners to save gasoline, appeared before a senate committee, and blamed the senate for seriously hampering its efforts.

The committee had surveyed the field, and had found that "no serious shortage of gasoline existed on the Eastern seaboard." This was despite the fact that Ickes said there was, and had put curfew regulations into effect to try to save the fuel.

Ickes declared that the senate committee had been told that there were 20,000 railroad tank cars available to haul oil and gasoline to centers of need, but that he had made a subsequent inquiry and could find only 5,000 cars.

Ickes attacked the testimony which, he said, had done "incalculable harm" to his effort to conserve the East's oil and gas.

FREE PRESS: Vital—FDR

The President plainly showed that he considered freedom of the press vital to the United States as well as other freedoms when he spoke of this subject in detail before a group in New York. He said:

"Newspaper Week should awaken in the hearts and souls of all Americans a renewed determination to defend and maintain and perpetuate the priceless heritage of a free press.

"The maintenance of an unfettered press, informed by truth and guided by a courage and conscience and wholehearted devotion to the public welfare is a fundamental obligation of patriotism.

"I trust as a result of the observance that Americans will have a renewed sense of the incalculable blessing which a free press confers. It must be maintained against all assaults."

To this Secretary Hull added: "A free and informed press is essential to a successful program for national defense."

In this connection it was recalled that the navy department, having refused to permit the use of facts about British naval vessels being refitted in the United States, changed its attitude recently, and now was giving this news out whenever it occurred.

WORLD SERIES: 'Dem Bums'

World war or no world war Americans must have their World series of baseball, so at the Yankee Stadium, despite cloudy weather, a world record crowd had stepped into the huge stadium to watch the Brooklyn Dodgers do battle with the Yanks.

There was not the slightest indication of a lessened interest in the great series—the public having, by press and radio, followed the advent of the "Beloved Bums" into the series.

Some estimates of the numbers of Dodger fans throughout the nation ran as high as 35,000,000—an unbelievably large following for a baseball team. And the Dodgers had done their best to give their fans what they wanted for "Dem Bums"—a world championship pennant.

BRIEFS:

Washington: President Roosevelt, wishing to explain what ship sinkings mean, listed the whole cargo of the Pink Star, lately torpedoed, item by item—giving the amounts in terms of production.

London: War expenditures by Britain had reached $44,000,000 daily as against about $35,000,000 daily during the last war.

Milwaukee, Wis.: The first woman ever to use a typewriter professionally died at the age of 84.

Berlin: The German high command had claimed finally that their armies were penetrating into the Crimea—counting the advance like World war figures—so many yards daily.

Rome: Attacking the President's foreign policy, one Rome newspaper declared Roosevelt was planning to recognize the Free French De Gaulle regime in order to get a free reign for the U. S. in Martinique and Dakar.

Today's popularity of Doan's Pills, after many years of worldwide use, surely must be accepted as evidence of scientific use. And favorable public opinion supports that of the able physicians who test the value of Doan's under exacting laboratory conditions. These physicians, too, approve every word of advertising you read, the objective of which is only to recommend Doan's Pills as a good diuretic treatment for disorder of the kidney function and for relief of the pain and worry it causes. If more people were aware of how the kidneys must constantly remove waste that cannot stay in the blood without injury to health, there would be better understanding of why the whole body suffers when kidneys lag, and diuretic medication would be more often employed. Burning, scanty or too frequent urination sometimes warn of disturbed kidney function. You may suffer nagging backache, persistent headache, attacks of dizziness, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes—feel weak, nervous, all played out. Use Doan's Pills. It is better to rely on a medicine that has won world-wide acclaim than on something less favorably known. Ask your neighbor!

United States Is Expanding New Merchant Marine

Will Launch Two Ships Every Week Day In 1942.

(Released by Western Newspaper Union.) WASHINGTON. — America, cradle of democracy, is busy these days with new cradles being built for her growing fleet of merchant vessels. From Washington to California, from Florida to Maine and all along the Gulf Coast, the "rocks and rills" resound to the beat of riveters' hammers on steel, giant cranes whine while dark hulls form shapes on ways cuddling in a forest of scaffolding.

With a goal of 1,383 freighters, tankers and passenger-cargo by the end of 1943, the ship-building program, under the direction of the United States maritime commission, is now in full swing. It will bear a cost well over $3,000,000,000. Officials say in a matter of a few months, ships will be launched at the rate of two each day.

Creation of this new ship armada will, they point out, accomplish three major objectives. It will bring vital defense cargoes to the U. S. from far flung sources, carry sorely needed war material to nations fighting the enemies of democracy and, when peace returns, present this country with the maritime supremacy of the days when the proud clipper ships of the U. S. ploughed the waves of all important sea lanes.

New Liberty Fleet.

First of the new Liberty Fleet ships, the S. S. Patrick Henry, slid down the ways recently, followed on the same day by 13 other vessels in a mass launching, from 11 ports on two oceans. Built under the auspices of the U. S. maritime commission, a day was set aside for the launching of these 14 ocean liners, preceded by an address by President Roosevelt in celebration of America's ship-building program. A few days before this event the 35,000-ton $75,000,000 battleship Massachusetts was launched at Quincy, Mass.

Symbolic of the speed with which the U. S. is increasing her naval forces was the action of the shipyard in laying the keel of the new 10,000-ton light cruiser, Flint, one minute and 23 seconds after the huge warship had left her ways free for another vessel. The Massachusetts was completed seven months ahead of schedule. At present 93 merchant ships are scheduled for the maritime commission and other owners.

While in the last war the output of merchantmen was even more prodigious, it came too late to be of much use. Twenty-three hundred ships, from the great yard of Hog Island, near Philadelphia with 50 ways, and from scores of other yards, never saw war-time service. They became tied up in a "ghost fleet" after the war, because most of them were too slow to compete with the fast merchantmen launched by Old World neighbors fighting for trade.

Old Ship Valuable.

As the present conflict spread, these U. S. ships literally became worth their weight in gold. In this mechanized war, planes and ships are most in demand. For nearly two decades, American seafaring traditions rotted with the hulks moored in New World waters. In one five-year period, between 1922 and '27 only two ocean-going freighters were launched in this country.

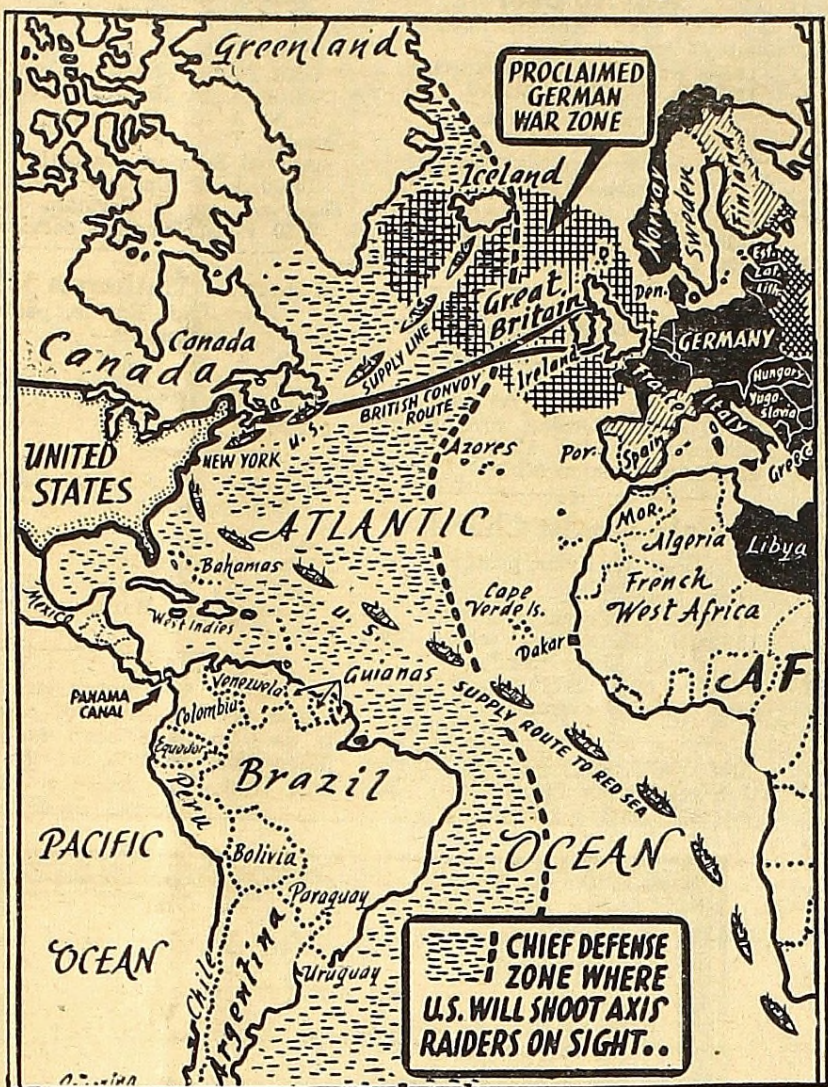

Above is shown the S. S. Sea Arrow, the first major merchant ship launched on the west coast since the first World War. It slid down the greased way on September 15, 1939, at Oakland, Calif.

N. Y. Man Creates $1,000 American Legion Award

INDIANAPOLIS.—American Legionnaires from several thousand cities, towns and villages throughout the nation are expected to compete during the coming year for the first annual community service award created recently by Lewis S. Rosenstiel, New York business man, according to Homer Chaillaux, head of the Legion's Americanism committee.

The award, consisting of $1,000 annually, will go to the Legionnaire

Warships to Protect Ocean Shipping

In a recent radio address President Roosevelt failed to specifically define the limits of America's defense waters. The dotted line on the chart shown above is generally regarded as the chief defense zone of the U. S. and, in accordance with the Chief Executive's utterance, constitutes the main danger section for the Axis powers. In reporting his orders to the navy to "shoot on sight," he emphasized that he meant the Pacific as well as the Atlantic, in fact all oceans and seas were included in his command.

Money could not be borrowed to build ships as it seemed impossible to operate them at a profit. Foreign owned bottoms carried two-thirds of our commerce.

With U-boats and planes now sinking between 5,000,000 and 6,000,000 tons of shipping each 12 months, enough boats cannot be built, on short notice, to fulfill requirements of the U. S. to say nothing about requests from England, Russia and China for more and more boats.

The one bright light in this situation is the merchant marine act of 1936, passed by congress under stimulation of President Roosevelt. Then the United States maritime commission was created and charged with the job of re-establishing the once strong American merchant marine, and building efficient auxiliary ships, without which, the expanding navy would be nearly useless. Recruiting and training the proper personnel also came within their jurisdiction.

The Ten-Year Program.

Abolished by this same 1936 act, was mail subsidies. Instead, they substituted a policy of making grants to cover the difference between building and operating the boats under the flag of the U. S. as between this same procedure under other flags with low cost labor and material.

Today one of our fastest growing defense agencies, the maritime commission began with a staff of less than 100 men. Its first task was to survey the country's need in ships and to plan and carry out the stupendous program now in force. The foundation for the present large-scale operations was a 10-year program of building 50 ships per year or a total of 500. This was known as the long range program and 110 vessels had been delivered by September 19. Then in line with its second duty, the commission had turned over to the navy, in August, 107 ships, totaling nearly 2,000,000 tons. Among the craft was the United States liner America, a 27,000-ton vessel which is now the naval transport, West Point. It was the largest built under their program and the largest ever built in an American yard. The war caused two 35,000-ton vessels, planned for the Pacific trade, to be held up until the present war ends.

Navy Takes Over Ship.

It was in the fall of 1937 that the commission awarded the contract for the America. Later they contracted with the Standard Oil company and shipyards for a dozen speedy tankers that could be quickly changed over to navy auxiliaries in case of need. The vessels were paid for by the oil company but the commission provided $880,000 for each vessel to equip them with secret defense devices and additional speed. The navy has since taken over all of the ships.

The commission's own technical personnel was meanwhile designing fast freighters and passenger-carrying liners for the long range program. With an average speed of 15 knots, from 6,000 to 12,000 tons, who, in the award committee's opinion, makes the greatest contribution to the welfare of his community, Mr. Chaillaux said. The donor, Mr. Rosenstiel, is chairman of the board of Schenley Distillers corporation. Mr. Chaillaux pointed out that political office holders would be barred from the competition because of Mr. Rosenstiel's desire to "stimulate new leadership" within individual communities. The first award will be made next year in New Orleans.

they were of three types, the C-1, C-2 and C-3. With low fuel consumption they were economically operated. Twenty additional ones, of pattern C-2, were ordered early in 1938. Other contracts followed and by November, 1939, over 400 craft had been ordered, due, of course, to the outbreak of the war.

In January, President Roosevelt put out a call for "more and more" ships and "more and more" speed. Within 30 days the commission had planned and put into operation an emergency program for 200 ships of a special design, from a British model, who ordered an additional 60 for themselves. The American vessels were dubbed by the President "ugly ducklings" as in comparison with other graceful long-range craft, these appeared to be not much more than "floating boxes with pointed ends." But veteran boat builders insist these cargo carriers will do the job and recent events seem to prove their worth.

The Liberty ships have "shear" the decks slope from bow to amidships and rise again to the stern. They have camber—the decks curve a little between sides. The stern falls away with as much grace as almost any other craft on the seas.

F. D. R. Asks More Ships.

Soon after the Liberty ship program had been started, the Chief Executive, under the lend-lease program, asked for 222 ships, 112 of the Liberty type, 110 of the standard type first conceived by the maritime commission. Then in July, congress, at the request of the President, passed a bill authorizing 541 more vessels, of which 25 were to be sea-going tugs. No one can predict how far America will go with her ship building plans, but the original 500 ships in 10 years has expanded into almost 1,400 for 1943 delivery and shows no signs of slackening. The outcome of the present conflict will probably be the deciding factor in the continuance or discontinuance of the program.

Scientific Study Reveals Rules for Relaxing Slumber

ST. LOUIS.—Why is insomnia on the increase today, with millions of people ready to throw in the sheet for a wholesome eight hours of sleep? It's because of a cultural lag, say some of the most noted scientists in the country, whose researches have uncovered the fact that although this country boasts the finest springs, mattresses and bedlinens in the world today, most people do not take advantage of them. Like well-meaning but blundering children, they buy beds that are too short, set mattresses on improper springs, and do not utilize to the full the new improvements in sheets. This, added to the fact that modern living is a drain on nervous energy, explains why the arms of Morpheus are more coveted today than riches or power.

For more relaxing and restful nights, a study has shown that your mattress should measure at least six inches longer than you do and be at the very least 39 inches wide. To secure perfect muscular relaxation, vertically coiled springs topped by an inner spring mattress are best. To avoid lumping and uneven wear to the mattress, turn it end for end and top for bottom at least once a week. To prevent feet from rubbing against worn-out frayed spots, sheets with reversible hems allow you to shift them top for bottom every day.

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL Lesson

CHRIST OUR SAVIOUR

LESSON TEXT—Matthew 20:25-28; Luke 19:1-10.

GOLDEN TEXT—For God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life.—John 3:16.

"I believe in God, the Father Almighty, . . . and in Jesus Christ His only Son, our Lord . . . I believe in the Holy Ghost." How often we have solemnly repeated these words in the Apostles' Creed, and how appropriate it is that our present three month series of lessons on great Christian teachings should begin last Sunday with a study of God, the Creator and heavenly Father, and continue today with Christ the Saviour, and present next Sunday the Holy Spirit, the Comforter.

These are profound Christian truths, but at the same time they are so simple as to be grasped by the youngest child. Today we have the great privilege of presenting in our classes our Saviour, the Lord Jesus Christ. He was

I. The Self-Denying Servant (Matt. 20:25-28).

Scripture clearly teaches that God's standards are not the same as the world's standards, and that His methods of operation are just the opposite of those of the world. All too often Christians and churches imitate the world both in principle and practice, with disastrous results. Consider

1. The False Greatness of the World (v. 25). "Rulers"—"greatness"—"exercise authority"—"how altogether up-to-date these words sound. They are the big and swelling words of the small hearts and minds which rule after the manner of this world. They epitomize the ambitions of the great majority of mankind, but they are definitely non-Christian. We see that as we go on to consider

2. The Humility of True Greatness (vv. 26, 27). Service in the spirit of humility and self-sacrifice—this is the standard of Christ. Yes, and it is His command to His followers. To be great for Christ one must become the servant of others. This teaching appears all through Scripture (for example, see Luke 4:11; John 13:13-17; 1 Pet. 5:5, 6).

II. The Seeking Saviour (Luke 19:1-10).

There is much that is precious and beautiful to be said about our Lord, but perhaps nothing which brings Him so close to needy humanity as the fact that He had "come to seek and to save that which was lost" (v. 10). He was

1. Ever Interested in Sinners (vv. 1-7). Jesus was on this occasion coming up to Jerusalem for the last time. The cross was ahead. He was much taken up with His coming death and greatly straitened in spirit (see Mark 10:32 and Luke 12:50). He was passing through the great and wicked city of Jericho, yet in the midst of His deep sorrow and out of the vast multitude of that city He reached out to touch one sinner.

Zacchaeus was a man despised for his calling of tax collector, and hated for his dishonesty. He was an outcast from his own people and a stranger to God's grace, but Jesus was interested in him. Are we ready this to go to seek and save the lost? Are we better (or busier) than our Lord?

2. Always Able to Save Sinners (vv. 8-10). Zacchaeus was a rich man, but he was a sinner. It is not easy for a rich man to be saved, but it can be done (see Matt. 19:23-26). Read the preceding verses of that chapter (vv. 16-22) and you learn of another rich man who was not saved, the rich young ruler. He was a far better man than Zacchaeus—honest, upright, honored in his community. How was it that the wicked and despised rich man was saved and the good and respected rich man was lost?

The answer is that the former admitted that he was a sinner and thus made it possible for Christ to save him, while the latter loved himself and his gold more than Christ and shut the door against His redeeming love.

Irrepressible Small Boy Has Ready Explanation

"Now, children," said the school teacher, after a nature lesson, "I have told you how the new little birds learn to fly. I am going to play the piano and I want you to imitate the little birds' movements with your arms in time to the music."

She sat down at the piano and as the music went on, all the children waved their arms energetically, with one exception, little Johnny.

"Come along, Johnny," said the teacher coaxingly; "why did you not imitate the newly hatched birds as I told you?"

"Please, miss," replied the small boy, "I'm a bad egg!"
