Knox Makes Blunt Report on Hawaii: Army and Navy Losses Set at 2,897 In Surprise Attack on Pearl Harbor; Battleship Arizona Among Craft Sunk

HAWAII:

A Report From Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox, just back from a flying inspection trip to Hawaii came a report the nation had anxiously awaited-the extent of damage done by the Japanese in their first blast at Pearl Harbor and Honolulu. Army and navy casualties were set at 2,897 dead, 879 wounded and 26 missing. Six warships, including one battleship, the Arizona, went

The secretary of the navy went on to point out that after the battle began the defense by both army and navy was "conducted skillfully and bravely." He pointed out many incidents of individual heroism, though the report did not mention the heroes by name.

Equally blunt was his statement of material and personnel losses. The navy lost the battleship Arizona, three destroyers, a mine layer and the old target ship Utah. In addition damage was inflicted to other vessels and Knox said some of these would take weeks and others months to repair. He said that the entire rest of the fleet was now out on the Pacific seeking action with the enemy. Morale on the islands was high, said

Main army losses consisted of planes caught on the ground. Hangars were also damaged.

Enemy losses were declared to be three submarines and 41 aircraft.

PLAN: Of Japanese

As the war with Japan progressed, and as Germany and Italy walked into the picture unbidden, Americans began to get a slightly clearer vision of just what the campaign of Nippon aimed at, and what it was likely to accomplish before the United States got its war machine moving in high gear.

It soon became evident that the disastrous raid on Hawaii had probably succeeded far beyond Japan's wildest hopes, but that it had been simply a "nuisance raid" in the first place, and not made with any faintest hope of occupying the islands.

The attacks on Guam, Midway, Wake islands were, on the other hand, apparent efforts to take those Pacific outposts, and were made with forces that the Japanese deemed sufficient to do the job.

The effort against the Philippines, however, was just as evidently the sole serious attempt against U. S.

The chief Japanese objective unquestionably was Malaya and Bur-ma, with Singapore as a necessary battle before the Japs could consider any permanent success had been theirs.

The cutting of the Burma road was another, but this, it could be realized, would only relieve the pressure from the Chinese army, and would enable the Japanese to remove forces from China only after a long period.

The vital need of Japan was oil, oil and more oil, without which it would be impossible for her to keep her fleet moving, her planes in the air, or to prosecute any sort of war

And this oil was in the Dutch East Indies. Against successful occupation of any of these oil-bearing islands two great obstacles stand. The Philippines stand astride the China sea at a point where it is only about 500 miles wide, and the huge Singapore base closes the neck of hoped-for Japanese operations at the east. Hence the most serious invasion effort was made by the Japs via Indo-China and Thailand, with the landings at Malaya an effort to make the British tenure of the long neck ending in Singapore untenable. The secondary attack was on the Philippines, chiefly to obtain naval and air bases far enough outside the circle of the island defenses to permit a serious effort at capture.

Army watchers saw little chance that the Japs would spread them-selves out thin enough to attempt a strong attack on Hawaii or on the West coast.

RUSSIANS:

Refuse Peace

An effort by the Nazis to make peace with Russia in order that their armies might hibernate in their present positions and re-new the war in the spring was in-dignantly turned aside by the Soviet, which had the victory taste in its mouth and was not to be denied.

Daily dispatches from Red army headquarters continued to develop the victory not only on the southern front, where it all started, but in front of Moscow as well, where the Russians said the German retreat

War cannot be fought at 17 degrees below zero, Hitler had told his people in announcing that "no further effort at advance would be made in Russia during the winter."

"Yes it can," shouted the Russians, as, dressed, in their warm clothing and with the enthusiasm given them by one success after another they continued to move the Germans back.

The Reds' figures were so large as to be almost unbelievable. They claimed 75,000 Germans killed in front of Moscow.

While 99 per cent of the "air raids" reported on American continental cities had been rumors or tests, home defense was bustling

Blackouts were being practiced busily from one coast to the other, and the rules during air raids were being read and re-read in American homes, while men, women and children repeated to themselves the magic words "keep calm, stay at home, lie down"—and all the rest of the litany.

From it all was coming a strong-er realization that home defense was needed chiefly to bind the morale of the nation, and as an ever-present safeguard against fifth-column activities, of which there was more than a little.

The sabotage-fifth-column activities in the United States were not, of course, a fraction of what they were in Manila nor in Hawaii, but they were serious and the widespread calling out of the home guards had a much more important effect than did the same move in the last war when territorial United States was safer from attack.

First evidences of the dangers of Pacific shipping were the mandatory halting of rubber tire sales pending a permanent rationing plan, and the freezing of all stocks of sugar.

From these the nation learned it was at war and the man in the street began slowly to get the idea that it was not play.

CHINESE:

Fight Jap Rear

Though the troops necessarily were of the guerrilla type, there were reports that the Chinese were make ing a serious and important attack on the Japanese rear in the Canton neighborhood, a most welcome diversion as the British sought to hang onto Hongkong.

Hongkong was reported completely surrounded by Japanese troops, and the British did admit that their troops had been withdrawn from Kowloon, its stronghold on the mainland, about 20 miles north of Hong-

The British, however, had said it was part of their plan to abandon Kowloon and to concentrate on a defense of hilly Hongkong itself.
The Chinese attack, they said, tended to divert the Japanese from attempting to attack Hongkong from the Kowloon side. Messages of cheer following the

The frightful loss suffered by the British fleet in the first days of the Malaya campaign, in which two capital ships, the Prince of Wales and the Repulse, totaling practically 70,000 tons, had gone to the bottom either the victims of Jap submarines or planes or both, had been somewhat offset by the steady resistance of the troops to Japanese advancing efforts.

By the time the war was in its second week the British were able to report that the "Malayan advance of the Japanese was at a

The British commanders seemed to have been able to fathom the general Jap plan of attack, and to meet it step by step with the loss of as little ground as possible until something like a plain battle line could be developed.

Day after day the report had been "the situation in Malaya continues to be confused."

Finally the British stated that they were "holding the invaders to a standstill," and that the battle was being "confined to the northern

THE CHRISTIAN'S HOPE

LESSON TEXT-John 14:1-6; Revelation GOLDEN TEXT-In my Father's house are many mansions.-John 14:2.

Hope is something this world desperately needs, and which it has all but abandoned. Little wonder when one recalls that the usual meaning of hope is hardly more than "wishful thinking" without any real confidence-and that such hope as men have, has been only in their fellowmen, who have so often grievously failed them.

The Christian's hope—ah, that is something quite different. To him hope is certain expectation resting on the assured Word of God. Such a light only shines brighter as the darkness deepens. As the lights of men's promises and purposes flicker and die out, the hope of God's people shines like a beacon in a dark and stormy night.

How appropriate that we should use the last Sunday of this year to remind one another of that hope, to trim the lamp, as it were, for even brighter shining, as we cast its beams out into the unknown year just ahead. There are three great and helpful things in this lesson.

I. A Sure Promise of Heaven (John 14:1-3).

We are not forgetting that for us who love the Lord there is the blessed hope of His return. He is coming again (v. 3). But whether we have the joy of being caught up to be with Him ,or go by way of death, we have a sure promise of the eternal dwelling place which He has prepared for us.

"Let not your heart be troubled" the very words come like the balm of Gilead upon our restless, troubled lives. Faith in God and in Christthere we have the sure anchor of the soul. He has promised. We may count on His fulfillment. We show our faith in our fellowmen by trusting their word, even though they often fail us. Shall we not then fully trust the omnipotent, never-failing God?

II. A Safe Way to Heaven (John

Our Saviour has not just gone before us and bade us follow as best we may, but He is Himself the Way. Having Christ, we have the way. Observe that He does not say that He is the "way-shower," as one re-ligious system names Him. He is not just an example, or the masterteacher, or a martyr to a holy cause. He is "the way, the truth, and the life.'

Note, too, that no man comes to the Father but by Christ. Dr. Wilbur M. Smith points out that "the apostle Paul in his epistles constantly emphasizes the truth that we have access to the Father only through the Lord Jesus Christ (Rom. 5:2; Eph. 2:13, 18; 3:15; Heb. 7:25; 10: 19-21). Jesus is not one way to God, He is the only way to God. Men cannot come to God through any-one, but only through Christ."

Someone may say, "That's very true, and wonderful. I am a Christian, and I have Christ who is the way. But what is heaven like?

III. A Symbolic Picture of Heaven

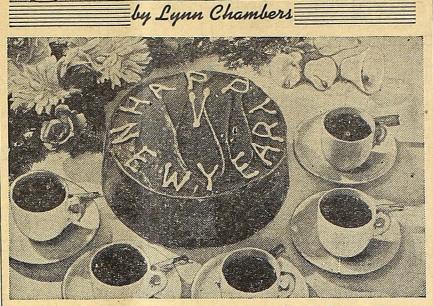

(Rev. 22:1-5). First of all there is "life"-the river of life, the water of life. In heaven there is no death, but only eternal life, blessing, peace, and joy. In this world man lives under the constant shadow of death as the enemy which hurts, destroys, and reminds him of sin. But in heaven all is life through eternity.

all is life through eternity.

"When we've been there ten thousand years
Bright shining as the sun,
We've no less days to sing God's praise
Than when we first begun."

Then we have what Dr. A. C. Gaebelein calls "the seven glories of the redeemed" (vv. 3-5). Let us enumerate them. (1) "No curse"perfect sinlessness. (2) "The throne of God and of the Lamb shall be therein"—giving perfect and bless-ed government forever. (3) "His servants shall serve him"-in perfect, unhindered, untiring service. Heaven will not be idleness (perish the thought!), but blessed and happy service for God. (4) "They shall see his face"—an eternal, undimmed vision of God. (5) "His name shall be on their foreheads"-speaking of eternal ownership and possession. (6) "There shall be night no more" -God is the light throughout eternity. No more darkness to fear. (7) "They shall reign forever and ever." Few of us would care to reign in this world, for that brings only sorrow and trouble, but to reign with Him, that indeed will be eternal blessedness.

So then we have—a sure promsie of a heaven to which we have a safe way, and concerning which we have such blessed knowledge. But what good is the promise if we do not accept it? What good is the way if we do not receive Him? What good is there in knowing about heaven unless we are going there? "Everybody talks about heaven, am't going there" sings the folk song. Are you? Or are you only going to talk about it?

Ring in the New Year - Buffet Style (See Recipes Below)

New Year Patterns

Brand new ideas for a brand New Year! What better way to usher in the year than a table laden with something really new, provocative and colorful? So here's the menu and here are the recipes each with a new slant that will put you as a hostess in the higher brackets for smart entertaining.

Whether the buffet is planned for the eve before or the day itself, this menu is designed to give you as little last-minute bustling as possible. Just see that your table's set properly and the food cooked beforehand. The combination will do its stuff.

Two meats that lend themselves especially for good-looking platters are tongue and corned beef. Because of their color, flavor and texture they can't be too highly recommended for a platter such as I've suggested. Here's how you prepare them:

*Beef Tongue. 1 smoked tongue

- Cold water to cover
- 4 bay leaves
- 4 peppercorns 1 teaspoon whole cloves
- 1 onion

Wash tongue and if salty let stand in cold water overnight. Place in kettle with seasonings and let simmer slowly until tender, from 3 to 5 hours. Remove brine, pull off outer skin, cut off root. Let cool in brine. Serve thinly sliced, either hot or

*Corned Beef. 4 pounds corned beef Clove of garlic

Paprika Wash the meat in cold water. Soak an hour in cold water if salty, then drain. Place in a kettle and cover with water. Cook slowly 3 to 5 hours. When thoroughly cooked, cool, rub with garlic and paprika. Heat thoroughly in oven before serving. Slice thin and serve on platter with beef tongue.

Crisp and chewy cabbage done up as a cole slaw is a good accompaniment for the tongue and corned beef platter. To make your table really attractive, serve in a red cabbage scooped out and filled with the creamy mixture of cole slaw.

*Cole Slaw. (Serves 8)

4 cups finely shredded cabbage 1/4 cup finely chopped green pepper 1/4 cup finely chopped celery

1 teaspoon salt 2 tablespoons sugar

2 tablespoons vinegar

½ cup sour cream or mayonnaise Combine vegetables, seasonings and sour cream or mayonnaise. Fill

LYNN SAYS:

If you're in the mood for resolutions here are some pointers that will help you make this New Year a year for more delectable food, better meals, and more attractive platters: Season food carefully to bring out its hidden possibilities. Rub roasts with garlic or onion, and salt before roasting. Melt butter for vegetables and stir it throughout before serving. Hot foods should be served as hot as possible and cold foods as cold as possible. Foods should be good to look at because the eye takes them in first, so arrange platters neatly and use parsley or fruit or vegetables in garnishing their respective platters. Heavy meals call for light des-desserts. Make use of contrast in texture, color and flavor when planning menus. You can stretch that food dollar by planning two or three days' meals in advance and thus save duplication of foods too scooped out red cabbage and serve at once.

Fruit molds lend tone to a buffet table besides giving the guests a sweeter type salad and thus satisfying their appetite for fruit. Here's a truly delectable combination: *Apricot-Strawberry Gelatin Mold.

(Serves 8) 2 packages strawberry-flavored gelatin 1 No. 2 can apricot halves

1 No. 2 can pineapple pieces 4 cups water (juice from fruit to make up part of this amount) Heat 2 cups water and pour over gelatin. Stir thoroughly, then add remaining water. Pour part of gelatin mixture over apricots laid at the bottom of a mold. Let jell. Mix pineapple with remaining gelatin mixture and pour over first layer in mold. Let jell until firm. Unmold and serve on crisp lettuce with sweet french dressing or mayonnaise combined with whipped cream sweetened with honey. The dessert problem for this type of buffet is easily solved by a light, delicate cake frosted with chocolate and decorated with numerals to carry out the theme of the New Year:

*Fortune Cake.

- ½ cup shortening 1 cup sugar
- 2 cups cake flour 3 teaspoons baking powder

4 egg yolks

½ cup milk

1 teaspoon vanilla Cream shortening, add sugar, then beaten egg yolks. Whip until that, sir. It's a Plymouth Rock. light and fluffy with Dover egg beater. Add flavoring, then flour sifted with baking powder, alternating the adding of the flour with the milk. Beat well, place in greased and floured layer-cake pans. Bake in a minutes. Surprise item in this cake is its custard filling:

moderate (350-degree) oven 35 to 40

21/2 tablespoons flour 1/4 cup sugar Pinch of salt

1 cup milk, scalded 1 slightly beaten egg ½ teaspoon vanilla Mix flour, sugar and salt. Stir in milk. Cook in double boiler until thick (about 15 minutes). Add hot mixture to egg slowly, then cook about 2 minutes longer. Cool, add vanilla and spread between layers

You'll need a whizz of an icing to do justice to Fortune cake. Take 2 cups of confec-tioners' sugar and blend in 4 tablespoons butter. Add 2 ounces unsweetened chocolate which have been melted over hot water. Then mix enough hot milk into the icing to smooth it out, flavor with 1 teaspoon vanilla and spread cake.

Team up the Fortune cake with a really good cup of coffee and you'll have a perfect close to the buffet supper. Use one well-rounded tablespoon of drip grind decaffeinated coffee for each cup of boiling water. Pre-heat drip coffee pot. Put coffee in upper compartment of pot. Pour fresh, briskly boiling water over it. Cover and let stand in a warm place until all the water has dripped through once. Remove up-per compartment and cover pot.

Setting the Table. The table is the high note of any buffet, so if you want yours to be the topic of conversation do it this way: Set the two largest platters (your nicest and most important, the meat platter and the salad molds) at either end. Have plates, silverware and napkins off to one side and rolls, butter, and relishes on the other side. Plates of nuts and mints may be near a centerpiece of two candelabra with evergreen and silver bells at their base. (Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

Money Divorce Cause

Money, or rather the lack of it, is the most common cause of marital troubles, according to Circuit Judge Paul D. Barnes of Miami, and he should know, for last year he handled 4,000 divorce cases. "Willingness to live within income is the most important thing I can say to young married couples," Judge Barnes said. "The tendency to exceed income seems to be a fashion of the times, but it's probably the most disastrous habit married couples can fall into."

A Happy New Year

MRS. LYDIA BING, Postmistress

Laura Maguire is wife of happy-go Ington, whom banker Mays is trying to ruin for criticizing his banking methods She is the mother of four children, hit by the depression:

Tom, who has separated from Mary Etta when she had a job and he earned no money. She starts divorce action Alec, who takes a job as grocery clerk

CHAPTER XXVI

Down at the curb Tom stood at the door of Mary Etta's car. They stared at each other, unable to speak. And then suddenly he picked her up in his arms.

"I love you! I love you!"

His voice was ragged and broken. His lips quivered. She lifted her mouth to his. For the first time she gave him all of herself in a kiss that was as raw as their hearts.

Laura did not mention Alec to Mike either that night or the next morning. With all his tolerance, Mike was himself fanatically honorable. Above everything he loathed treachery. To learn that a son of his was engaged in something that would not stand the light of day was certain to hit Mike where he

It was just nine when she put on her hat, backed the old sedan out of the garage and set out. Her face in graven lines. She did not mean to return without the truth if it killed her. She went first to the drug store where Alec's old gang hung out, and inquired. No one had seen Alec. Not that day nor for a month

She spent a nickel in the telephone booth at the hotel to call Myra Boone, and Laura's heart hammered so she could scarcely speak when she heard the other woman's shrill nasal voice. But Alec was not there. Indeed the blonde widow went on tartly to explain that she hadn't seen him in weeks and hoped she never would

As a last resort Laura visited the grocery store where Alec had found employment for one day. The grocer sourly informed her that he had not seen her son since his flash in the pan at taking on a regular job. Laura suddenly remembered that Alec had obtained a five-dollar advance on his week's salary. But when she apologetically offered to make up the difference, she learned that Alec himself had done so. Where had he found the money?

She was walking blindly out the door toward her car when a hand plucked at her sleeve. She glanced down. It was Joey, Bess Wilkins' little crippled boy. The child looked up at Laura curiously.

"Lou says you'd be furious if you knew," he whispered. "And when Alec isn't there she cries. I don't like to see Lou cry. She's awfully happy. Except when she remembers about you. That's when she cries. Why do you do that to Lou?"

The sidewalk seemed to rise up and hit Laura in the face. All at once she knew.

"Where are they, sonny?" she asked.

The child hesitated. Laura's clear brown eyes met his squarely. The child whispered an address.

The house, when she finally located it, was a small weather-beaten shanty at the far end of an empty block which dwindled into open woods beyond. It had a tiny yard neatly mown, and a broken-down fence to separate it from the cotton fields. Somebody had planted morning glories and trained them on strings along the narrow front porch.

Someone was singing at the back of the house in a low, breathlessly sweet voice like the faint twittering of young birds in a nest. At Laura's knock, the song ceased. She could almost hear the singer holding her breath. It seemed an age before the girl came to the door. Silently she held it open. Laura en-tered, feeling exactly like an exe-

There were only three rooms. A small square parlor, a little bedroom glimpsed through an open door a kitchen and a back porch on which stood a painted breakfast table set with a blue and white cloth. There was a milk bottle in the center which held a spray of wild roses. Wild roses! Laura gazed at the girl before her who did not speak, who only stood there, small hands quivering with nervousness. And Laura paid tribute to the alchemy of love.

"I knew you'd find out some day," said Lou in a quivering voice. "I shouldn't have done it. I deserve to be sorry the rest of my life. But I've always loved Alec. I always will. I know you could kill me. But when Alec asked me to marry him it was like all the dreams I ever dreamed come true." Lou's small tormented hands twisted a cheap gold band on her

'We took the bus and went over to Lincoln so no one would know. We had to lie about our ages before they'd sell us a license. When we came back we rented this little house. We hadn't any furniture. Just a cot and a cook stove that someone had left behind because they were all to pieces. But Alec mended them. Everything was awful dirty. But I scrubbed and scrubbed. And the first radio Alec sold, we

Laura regarded the small downcast face. "Why are you so afraid of me, Lou?"

"Because you'll take Alec away from me," said the girl simply. "What makes you think I can?" "We aren't of age, either of us. We lied about the license. You can have the marriage annulled."

CHAPTER XXVII

"That's why you haven't wanted me to know?" asked Laura. "Yes."

"You said something about a ra-dio which Alec sold. I don't be-lieve I understand."

"Lou's blue eyes opened wide.
"But didn't you know? He buys parts from old radios and fixes them up so they work better than they did at first. And then he peddles them out in the country to anyone who'll buy. And he's done awfully well because he's worked so hard and he's so clever." Her small face flooded with color. "Alec can do anything. Just yesterday a man at the big electrical store down town was so interested in Alec's new selector he asked him to come down today and demonstrate it. He says he believes Alec has stumbled onto something that may be worth money. But you see," said Lou, her eyes starry, "I couldn't be surprised because I've

"That's why," went on Lou, the muscles of her throat tightening, "I knew you must hate me for marrying him. Alec deserves someone so much better than I am."

"Oh, my dear," cried Laura huski-

But Lou hadn't heard.

Alec burst into the room. He didn't see his mother. He didn't see anything except the small girl with the adoring blue eyes and the shy yet passionate lips lifted to his.

"Swearingen's going to finance my selector. He'll apply for a patent and help me put the thing across. He believes it will be worth important coin to one of the big radio companies. And in the meanwhile he's giving me a job in his store. At forty a week! Think of that, Lou. I can buy us a whole new bedroom suite, not just a cracked-up bed. And you can have all kinds of pretty clothes. And maybe later we can have a little car. Would you like your own car, Mrs. Maguire?"

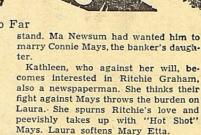

Lou shivered in his arms and drew slowly away. "Your mother's here, Alec," she said huskily.

Alec whirled. "Laura!" he whispered. He went quite white and instinctively his right arm tightened about his little wife's small tremulous body. "Lou seems to think I will do everything in my power to break up the happiness you two have found together," said Laura with a throb of pain in her voice. "Do you think

"I wasn't worth a hoot in hell until I met Lou," he cried passionately. "I don't know if you can ever forgive us. But it's just because Lou expects so much of me that I've quit being a rotter and learned to be something I'm not ashamed to face in a mirror. Maybe she's not society. But I'd cut myself to pieces before I'd let her down. We weren't of age when we married. But we will be soon. And our marriage sticks if we have to run off a couple of times more and do it all over

They stared at her with defiant hunted eyes. They reminded her of mocking birds wildly excited by the glimpse of a cat near their nest.

"Will it make you two any happier," asked Laura softly, "to know that I thank God Lou happened to you, Alec?"

"Gee, Mother," whispered Alec, and slipped his arm about her.

But it was Lou's shy grateful kiss which made Laura's heart sing. "Alec always said you'd understand," whispered the girl, "but I was afraid, so dreadfully afraid."

"You needn't ever be afraid again, Lou," said Laura.

Lou's eyes searched hers and with a sigh she laid her hand in Laura's. "I won't-Mother."

"You must bring Lou to dinner tonight, Alec," said Laura. "I want to show off my new daughter."

All the way down to the office, Kathleen fumed inwardly. Her nerves had been in a highly irritated state for weeks.

She discovered the Clarion's staff, which had unconsciously absorbed Ritchie Graham, gathered in an agitated huddle in one corner of the "What's the newest bad room. news?" she inquired, almost without a sneer.

Roger Whyte's palsied finger shakily pointed to the editorial prominently displayed on the first page of the current issue. Kathleen skimmed through it hurriedly. Mike had released all brakes. He informed those interested that he had indisputable proof that Banker Eugene Mays was becoming heavily involved with the Donahue interests. According to Mike, the Donahue Investments were a gigantic bubble, doomed to burst. He admitted the concern had floated a number of handsome deals and paid swollen dividends. But that was merely to pull in the suckers, Mike insisted. He declared that if Eugene Mays was not stopped from playing with matches over an open gasoline tank, everybody in Covington would live to curse the day he ever heard the word Donahue.

From behind the closed door of Mike's private office came a bellow like the roar of an infuriated croco-

"Did you never hear of libel?" shouted the irate gentleman in the inner room. "Yes," came Mike's cool delighted voice. "But you'll never sue me for libel on the strength of this article, Mays. You see, I warned you that I had the dope. And I have. In the shape of photostatic copies of letters with your signature on them. I know you are on the point of closing a deal with Donahue. A deal you think will double your fortune. Maybe it will. But Donahue is going to collapse. You may get out before the crack-up. You may not. If you don't, your bank's done for. Ruined. You haven't any right to take a chance like that with other people's money. And I'm here to tell

The wind had blown the dividing door open a tiny crack, but neither man noticed.

"Haven't we played at cross pur-poses long enough, Maguire?" demanded Mays in a curiously altered voice, a voice which had become almost benign. "What are you driving at?"

"I realize you haven't had it too easy all these years, and of course we all know you've done a lot for the old town."

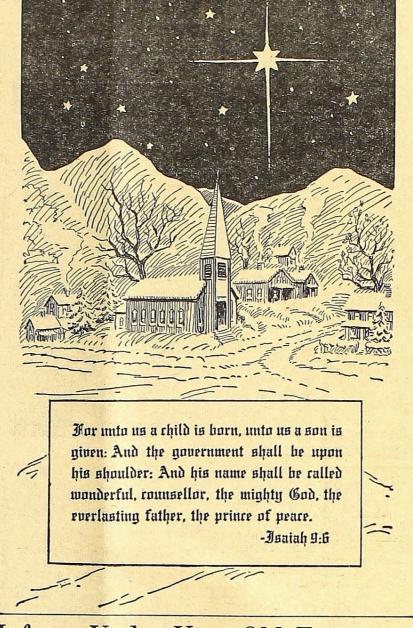

"I'm afraid I trust your insults more than your compliments, "I've been thinking for a long time that I ought to do something toward the debt we owe you." "What's this thing?"

"It looks to me like a cashier's check for ten thousand dollars." "You're offering me this to keep my mouth shut about the Donahue

"My dear fellow, of course not! It's merely a small token of my esteem."

"You'll never learn, will you?" asked Mike. "You've tried to buy me before. Remember the block of street railway stock you offered me if I'd get the Town Council to ratify your franchise? And the nice bundle of securities you waved under my nose the time you wanted the mayor to purchase your acreage for the City Hospital? I told you then I couldn't be bought. I still can't. Infants Under Year Old Enjoy Christmas Gifts, Baby Claims

"Of course we babies can enjoy Christmas gifts."

Dear World:

Of course, I'm disgusted. You'd feel this way too if folks said you were too dumb to enjoy Christmas. They say that we babies less than a year old don't need presents because we can't appreciate them anyway. The idea!

A lot of other babies are also complaining about this attitude. Why, we can talk better English than most grown-ups.

"Dud iddy biddy baby want pretty rattle-wattle? Daddikens will pick it up from the floorsie-worsie for

00. Phoey! If I couldn't talk better than this I'd keep still. And then they have the audacity to assume that babies under one year are too young to enjoy Christmas.

Last month we conducted a poll among babies 12 months of age or younger, asking them if they considered themselves capable of enjoying Christmas. Exactly 987 of the 1,000 babies questioned replied emphatically in the affirmative. The 13 who voted "no" are going to be a year old before Christmas and felt they would have a better chance of getting presents from relatives if their younger cousins were left out. But that's a purely selfish motive and doesn't affect the unanimity of the

Now that you have had indisputable proof that babies enjoy Christmas, don't rush out to buy us an electric train or bicycle. After all, we act our age even though we know better.

There are several points you should keep in mind while looking through the toy department: We want toys that will attract our attention, and they must be cleaned easily. We babies have a bad habit of putting things in our mouths, so if the toy is too small, we might swallow it. Don't worry, though. We'll get over the habit.

Colored bakelite disks on a chain make one of the nicest and least expensive gifts for babies. We can have a lot of fun playing with those white, yellow, red and green disks. And they're real easy to keep clean,

Other children want only toys they can play with, but we babies can appreciate the more practical gifts such as cribs, playpens and jumper-swings. They are virtual necessities to us and make our lives much more pleasant.

Clothing also makes excellent gifts. A few of the many articles we would be glad to receive include shirts, night gowns, dresses, rompers, shoes, stockings and bonnets.

One of the most practical and welcome gifts for any baby would be an automobile seat. These can be attached to the seat of any automobile and permit babies to see out, but prevent them from falling out. Babies must be able to sit up before using them, but all babies learn to sit up before they are very old. And we enjoy looking out of the window of the car as much as you do. It's no fun just looking at the inside of the car when we're going some place. How would you

Another practical gift would be a life-insurance policy that will mature in about 18 years and provide funds for a college education. Or, savings account can be opened in baby's name for as little as $1-but you don't have to make it that small.

We babies can't get Christmas presents for our parents and other grownups, but we certainly would if we could. Just wait a couple of years and see if we don't.

Signed, Disgusted "Youth."

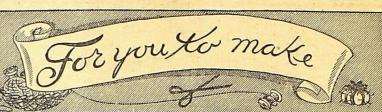

Early Puritans Forbid 'Crime' of Celebrating Christmas Celebrating Christmas was a crime to the early Puritans in Massachusetts. The practice was looked down upon with so much disfavor that anyone observing the date was passed a law against Christmas cel-

"It is therefore ordered by this court and the authority thereof that whomsoever shall be found observing any such day as Christmas or the like, either by forebearing labor, feasting, or any other way, upon such account as aforesaid, every such person so offending shall pay for every such offense five shillings as a fine to the county."

of Harmful Body Waste
Your kidneys are constantly filtering waste matter from the blood stream. But kidneys sometimes lag in their work—do

Benefits to Our Readers

THE PUBLIC nature of advertising benefits everyone it touches. It benefits the public by describing exactly the products that are offered. It benefits employees, because the advertiser must be more fair and just than the employer who has no obligation to the public. These benefits of advertising are quite apart from the obvious benefits which advertising confers—the lower prices, the higher quality, the better service that go with advertised goods and firms.

Lately there have been numerous reports of British sailors, here on matters vital to the defense of their country, being defrauded because they do not understand the value of our money. A recent instance was that of a young officer who came into Olney inn with 79 cents, the change a cab driver had given him for a $10 bill after hauling him less than a mile. As that was all the money he had, Clara May Downey not only provided him with a meal, but also with transportation back to where he was stationed.

Rats in Tests Eager Workers

Joy of Learning Seems to Be Adequate Pay for Their Efforts.

NEW ORLEANS.-The better nature of a white rat has been disclosed. It will work for nothing.

Dr. S. Rains Wallace of Tulane university revealed that not only is the profit motive of secondary concern to a rat, but it will learn quickly if not rewarded, has a good memory and probably enjoys continuous labor. It appeared, however, that a rat has little use except in chasing through mazes-a wholly noncommercial endeavor-and outside of that is just a rat.

"Most previous experiments have been based on the assumption that an animal learns much faster when he is rewarded for his success,' holding a chow in his arms, the dog's putting rats in mazes for three

Rats Enjoy Learning.

He found that the pure joy of learning itself tended to furnish ample compensation. The rat also probably finds added reward in long periods of running instead of pausing now and then to rest.

"Such an idea," Dr. Wallace said, "has not been seriously re-garded before."

Removal from the maze is considered as a form of punishment by the rat and he tends to slow down a bit and make mistakes when he realizes he is about to be forced to knock off work awhile. Dr. Wallace plans to make more investigations along this line.

If not rewarded at the start of experiments, rats may learn more quickly. This, Dr. Wallace said, may be "because the reward makes the rat too emotional to concentrate."

The ability of rats to remember the intricate maze was considered remarkable. Many rats kept out of the maze for three months made only one error when they were returned. Practically, it was possible to make seven errors. Dr. Wallace thought this retention of memory was due to the "restricted social life" of the rats in the laboratory.

No Human Link Seen.

He didn't care to discuss the possible application of his findings to human beings.

"All I can say is that we have found a number of things about learning in rats which are not in accord with most modern theories," glare . . . Five Points, notorious he said. "If they are applicable to many years ago because of its human behaviors, they should upset he said. "If they are applicable to many of the notions upon which our thinking is based."

Regardless of the application, it was conceded that no human would find pleasure in working for nothing as does a rat.

Two weeks before the test the rats become acquainted with laboratory technicians through handling. Despite all precautions, however, some rats can't take it and have to be discarded. Dr. Wallace recalled the case of a female rat, known only as B-10, who insisted on jumping out of the maze and otherwise getting off

"We couldn't get her to follow the maze," he said with a note of re-"She had to be retired."

Another job that may be done the second day that it snows is treat the entire herd for external parasites. Use any good commercial louse powder or you may mix one pound of powdered pyrithrum with three pounds of cheap flour. Dust this powder well into the hair and most important of all, be very sure to repeat the job in thirteen days, by so doing most every louse egg is hatched and the young pests are killed before they start laying a new crop of eggs.

Attention to bedding will pay good dividends. Clean bedding means less danger of disease. Use lots of straw, alfalfa chaff, bean straw, or shreded corn stover. In case none of these are available perhaps shavings or sawdust can b found at practically Patch any holes that are showing up in the floor, they are dangerous and makes the barn hard to keep clean. Be sure not to trust a broken stanchion. A loose cow may injure others or may make herself sick by over eating from the feed storage box. Give the entire herd exercise every day, it prevents stiffness and will stimulate appetites.

Feed as best you can. Give all cows bone meal—light milkers need about one tablespoonful each day while heavy milkers should have three. It pays well to feed grain, especially to the high producers. a little shopping around if you have to buy grain, use whichever cereal grain can be bought the cheapest. Cows like cooked cull beans, they are a splendid buy right now so be sure not to overlook that possibility. A few of these precautions may assist Iosco county farmers in their contribution to the National Program of more and better food for the defense of our nation.

Victory and Peace

Let us turn our every effort toward aiding our valiant Army and Navy in destroying that dark, sinister force which has gripped the whole world. May the gift to humanity in 1942 be peace, with an end to hatred, fear and misunderstanding.

It Gives Us Great Pleasure to Extend to You Our Best Wish for a New Year Filled With Blessings
