NEW TRAFFIC PROBLEMS ARE DISCUSSED

Law Enforcement Officers Met Here Monday Evening

"Emergency Traffic Law Enforcement" was discussed at a meeting held Monday evening at the court house. The meeting was called by Sheriff John Moran and Acting Prosecuting Attorney T. George Sternberg. Those in attendance included deputy sheriffs, supervisors of the townships, mayors and law enforcement officers of the several cities of the county. Discussion centered on traffic problems which may arise during the present war emergency, and the old problem, which is always present, of preventing traffic accidents in general.

The law enforcing officers present decided that each community in the county should work out its own traffic problems in co-operation with the sheriff and state police. A program of education for drivers and pedestrians with the aim of reducing traffic accidents was outlined.

Acting Prosecuting Attorney Sternberg in reviewing Isoco county's traffic accidents during the past year, said "The records of the State Police, from reports of accidents for 1941, show that there were 127 traffic accidents in the county in which 69 persons were injured and five killed. This is horrible enough, but in the nation 40,000 people were killed and 1,500,000 were injured. The number injured almost equals the number of men in our army."

"Now with the rationing of automobiles and tires, the efficiency of our motor vehicles will be increasingly reduced. This makes it even more imperative that the public realize the importance of greater care in driving. Every means and care to prevent the loss of life is all important, but the car itself has taken on a new value, it cannot be replaced. It is the patriotic duty of every pedestrian and every motorist to be more careful than ever before, in this war effort."

Further meetings of traffic law enforcement officers are planned for the future.

F. J. Mayer Urges Milk Test Every Six Weeks

A new shipping case and strip cups are included among the new equipment purchased by District Health Unit No. 2 during the past month. "In order to insure a safe fresh milk supply it must be tested at regular and frequent intervals," according to Frank J. Mayer, District Sanitarian.

At present the nearest recognized milk testing laboratory whose services are available to District Health Unit No. 2 is at Lansing.

Milk must be collected, shipped and delivered to the laboratory within 24 hours after milking to insure a fair test. By means of the new shipping case it is expected that all bottled milk, both raw and pasteurized, will be tested every six weeks.

In order to make tests locally the strip cup will be used to test for mastitis on the farm. Anyone wishing to avail themselves of this service may do so by contacting the local health department.

$7,760 Worth of State Lands Sold Wednesday

Twenty-seven purchasers bought $7,760.00 worth of state owned lands in Isoco and Alcona counties at a sale held here Wednesday, according to H. S. Gibbs, of the State Lands Division at Lansing, who conducted the sale. The sale of Isoco county lands amounted to $4,800.00. The sale included lands which had reverted to the Conservation Department on account of unpaid taxes.

The largest purchase represented in dollars, was made by Altha Wiedbrauk, of Curran, who paid $1,080.00 for 80 acres of land in Alcona county. The smallest was for $10.00, but only two or three sales amounted to less than $100.00. Sixty-one Isoco descriptions were on the list.

Mr. Gibbs was assisted in conducting the sale by D. L. Mayer, of the Lansing office, and Max Davenport, of the Roscommon office of the Lands Division.

Gallagher-Fisher

The Shrine of the Little Flower, Royal Oak, was the scene last Saturday morning of the marriage of Walter Fisher and Miss Helen Gallagher, of Detroit. Their vows were spoken before an altar trimmed with palms and white baby mums.

The bride was lovely in white brocaded taffeta and fingertip veil. Her bouquet of white roses and lilies of the valley was caught with white satin bows and streamers. Frances Curran, bridesmaid, wore an ice blue gown and carried pink roses.

Norton Ulman attended his brother-in-law as best man.

The mothers of both the bride and groom wore corsages of tea roses and sweet peas.

After the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served to twenty-five at Cotter's Inn across from the Shrine. Those from Tawas who attended were Mrs. Frank Fisher, Mrs. Rose Harris, Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Ulman and Joseph Reinke, Jr.

They will make their home in Detroit where the groom is employed at the Packard Motor Co. Walter is a graduate of St. Joseph High school, Tawas City.

WOULD BRING DEFENSE PLANT TO TAWASES

Orville Leslie & Sons May Purchase Tool and Die Shop

Orville Leslie & Sons of this city are working to secure a defense industry for this community. Representatives of the firm were at Detroit yesterday (Thursday) inspecting a plant which, if satisfactory, may be purchased and installed in their Ford Sales and Garage building. This fine large building would make a very suitable location for an industrial plant.

Individual businessmen of Tawas City have given their support to the proposed enterprise. At a joint meeting held Wednesday at East Tawas, the Tawas City and East Tawas Chambers of Commerce have offered their full co-operation. A recent labor survey made by the East Tawas Chamber of Commerce indicates that the necessary experienced labor will be available.

The plant which the Leslies are negotiating to purchase is machined to produce tools and dies, and the manufacture of parts. It is now under production on a defense contract. They have been assured of contracts that would keep the plant under production here. With two shifts, about 90 men would be employed.

We wish to commend Mr. and Mrs. Leslie and sons for their enterprising efforts to secure an industry for this community.

County Postmasters Meet at Federal Bldg.

A meeting of Isoco county postmasters was held Thursday evening at the Federal Building, East Tawas. Problems arising in alien registration, sale of defense bonds and stamps, automobile stamps and regular routine service were discussed. The meeting was called by Postmaster Charles Bigelow of East Tawas, county director, Michigan Division of the National Association of Postmasters.

Warns Against Chain Letters

Local Postmaster Lydia Bing warns again that the mails are being used to send chain letters soliciting Defense Stamps. The Postal Department warns patrons that the sending of such matter through the mails is a violation of the postal fraud and lottery statutes.

Chapters Hold Joint School of Instruction

On Thursday evening of last week, Isoco Chapter, No. 71, and Tawas City Chapter, No. 303, O. E. S., joined in a school of instruction with Grand Chaplain Elva Sherwood acting as instructor.

Chapter was opened and closed by Tawas City chapter, the degrees were exemplified by the Isoco Chapter. High compliments were paid each staff for their work by the Grand Chaplain.

Honored guests present were: Grand Chaplain Elva Sherwood; Past Grand Martha Lillian Dimmick; Worthy Matron Edna Hughes, and Worthy Patron Russell McKenzie, of Isoco Chapter; Past Matrons and Patrons of both chapters, and Muriel Horton, A. I. A. president.

A pleasant social hour was enjoyed in the dining room with Mrs. Annabel Davidson, Mrs. Clarissa Bright, Mrs. Grace Mark and Mrs. Georgina Leslie acting as hostesses. A tasty lunch was served from valentine decorated tables. On behalf of both chapters, Mrs. Hughes presented Mrs. Sherman with a chromium food warmer. Mrs. Sherman was the house guest of Mrs. Campbell, worthy matron, during her stay in the city.

At the regular meeting Tuesday evening, Tawas City Chapter, O. E. S., sponsored the essay contest for high school students in this locality. The subject of the essay is to be "The Modern Challenge to Youth." Essays are limited to 1000 words. The Grand Chapter of Michigan is offering a first prize of $100, second prize $50, and a third prize of $30, to the winners in the state contest. Contestants are requested to communicate with Mrs. J. Atlee Mark, chairman, for further information.

A special feature was the presentation by Mrs. May Campbell, worthy matron, and Mrs. Lois Giddings, associate matron, of a beautiful birthday cake to Mrs. Lu Colby, who observed her birthday February 12. Mrs. Elizabeth Tuttle asked permission to be excused and to the delightful surprise of everyone, returned shortly with a pot of delicious hot coffee and all the trimmings. A jolly social time was heartily enjoyed.

Mrs. Grace Mark and Mrs. Hilder Rollin shared honors with Mrs. Colby when it was learned that they too claimed February birthdays. As an outcome of the party it was voted to observe birthdays each month in a similar fashion, with an accompanying offering, which would help to build the flower fund.

Isoco County Library

The book review of "Windswept," written by Mary Ellen Chase, will be presented by Miss Amanda Hamilton next Wednesday evening at the East Tawas Library. A cordial invitation is extended to all.

The libraries in Tawas City, East Tawas and Whittemore will be closed Monday, February 23, to observe Washington's birthday.

STATE MILLMEN NAME ENGLISH SEC'Y-TREAS.

Sawmill Operators Form New Association at Farmers Week

W. C. English, manufacturer of mine wedges and operator of a sawmill in this city, was recently named secretary-treasurer of the Michigan Sawmill Operators' association. The new association was formed during Farmer's Week at the Michigan State college. Other officers are J. H. Hawkins, Jr., of Hudson, president; W. O. Goodwin, of Coldwater, vice president; W. Ira Bull, extension forester of the college, was named temporary corresponding secretary.

The board of directors included W. C. English, Tawas City; J. H. Hawkins, Jr., Hudson; Drison Cleveland, Hillsdale; H. A. Curtis, Greenville; and William Eiler, Montague.

Operation of Michigan's sawmills in the lower peninsula, where a recent survey disclosed more than 1,100 of various sizes and types, are planning to offer new services in the present war emergency through their new organization.

Among objectives of the new group are: Circularizing the membership with information concerning legal phases of mill operation; prices, markets and other information on the several Michigan timber species; improvement of manufacture; trade promotion; and co-operation with the government in national defense by increasing production of wood products needed by defense industries, such as boxes and crates for munitions.

Membership is open to any operators of sawmills, shingle mills or other wood processing plants situated in the Lower Peninsula. Applications for membership may be submitted to W. C. English at East Tawas or to any member of the board of directors.

Economics Leaders Meet Next Thursday

Red Cross Activities

Part of the Red Cross shipment arrived Saturday after several weeks of waiting and work was resumed immediately. The workers are responding and it is hoped that the remainder of the yard goods and yarn arrived shortly.

A number of articles made by local Red Cross workers will be on display at Keiser's Drug store over the week end. Several baby quilts and shelter robes will be in the exhibit.

Six woolen blankets have been made and donated to the Red Cross by a neighborhood group. Mrs. Chris Hoshbach made three; Mrs. Edward Lemke and sister, two; and Mrs. Ernest Mueller, one; and new outing flannel material, yarn, thread and linings were given by neighbors and friends. Enough material is on hand to make at least three more.

Owing to the large number desiring lesson in First Aid work, the new class will be held at the auditorium instead of the city hall. A class of 44 men and women enrolled for the first lesson Monday evening, and several more expect to attend next week. Clyde Soper is instructor.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

By Edward C. Wayne

Navy Reveals Damage to Jap Isles; Senate Again Acts on Price Control; LaGuardia Quits OCD, Landis New Head; Normandie Creates Problem for Navy

(EDITOR'S NOTE—When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of the news analyst and not necessarily of this newspaper.) (Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

RAID: On Japs

After two weeks of censorship the Pacific fleet command allowed news men to disclose the amount of damage inflicted by the U. S. navy in their spectacular attack on the Japanese Marshall and Gilbert islands.

These reports indicated that with the loss of only 11 U. S. aircraft, plus a minor bomb hit on one cruiser, and with a small loss of life units of the American fleet accomplished the following:

- Destroyed four military air bases.
- Destroyed two military villages.
- Destroyed four radio stations.
- Sank at least 16 Jap ships, including a modern cruiser, two submarines and a 17,000-ton liner.
- Damaged at least eight other Jap ships.

In addition to an undetermined number destroyed on the ground, the Japs lost 38 aircraft, including fighters and bombers.

Described as almost perfect timing and executed with speed and daring the raid was the first big answer to the often asked question, "Where is the fleet?"

CONSUMERS: Face Living Costs

It was apparent that the price control bill, which had prevented inflation of certain farm prices, was going to be subject to changes that might bring a big rise in the cost of some items.

The senate agriculture committee had unanimously approved a bill to weed the "frills and furbelows" out of the program.

Senator Byrd, Virginia, keynoted this move by demanding that the OCD send his committee a list of all OCD employees getting over $3,000 a year, and outlining their specific duties.

LUZON: 163 Planes

Continued efforts by the Japanese to land on Bataan had been turned back by General MacArthur's highly mobile artillery forces in the general's "last ditch" fight to keep the American flag flying over the Philippines.

The anti-aircraft fire of MacArthur's men had continued good, the bag of seven planes in one day comparing favorably with other fronts where the United Nations had many more serviceable aircraft than did the defenders of Luzon.

Captured prisoners and other methods of gaining information revealed that five Japanese divisions had been identified as taking part in the battle, which would bring the estimated strength of the Japs actually on the front battle-line at close to 100,000 men.

Other divisions were on the island, keeping communications open, and it had been reported that reinforcements for the Japs were constantly arriving, thus steadily increasing the pressure on the American-Filipino army.

NORMANDIE: $80,000,000 Job

Whether carelessness, sabotage or Fate was responsible, the 83,000-ton Normandie, former luxury liner and now the naval auxiliary Lafayette, lay on her enormous beam-ends in 40 feet of water and 12 feet of mud at her dock in New York, an $80,000,000 salvage job for the U. S. navy.

Twenty-two hundred men were at work inside of her, changing her over from peacetime to wartime uses when a welder's torch started a fire. Within minutes it was out of control.

SINGAPORE: Water-Pincers

A new tactic in warfare, the "water-pincers" movement, utilized by the Japanese in Malaya, had brought Singapore to her knees, spreading gloom in Britain, and making the defense of the East Indies a nearly superhuman job.

General Yamashita, commander of the Jap forces in Malaya, had won the Order of the Golden Kite and the Order of the Rising Sun for his success in driving the defenders out of Malaya, for smashing into the island of Singapore, first time in history that the historic port had been tested in battle.

The long, narrow peninsula of Malaya, difficult terrain, had apparently presented enormous invasion problems. The Japs had solved these by using small boats, many of them commandeered or captured, and sending small, well-armed and highly mobile detachments, first down the east coast, then down the west, making landings by night, and infiltrating behind the defenders.

Each time the British were able to make a swift withdrawal, and to salvage their main forces, but each time they lost ground, until they were finally driven back across the Johore causeway onto the Singapore island.

Literally scores of "bites" had been taken out of each coastline by this Japanese technique during their advance southward. At the same time the Japs had sent another large force to drive westward from the tip of the peninsula in an effort to cut off the Burma road, but more important, to protect their own rear.

SPY RAIDS: On West Coast

TWO BUDDHIST PRIESTS TAKEN Weren't always praying . . .

More and more Japanese continued to be caught in the nets spread along the West coast by the FBI.

The spy raids were being carried out almost daily by the G-men, who in one raid got 20 alleged spies and saboteurs and a truckload of ammunition and weapons.

Chief concentration of the raids was in Pacific coast counties where there were large military establishments.

At Salinas, Calif., following the questioning of several Japs taken into custody at a large lettuce farm, one of them turned out to be a former chief of police in Tokyo. Another was formerly a high official in the same police force.

A raid on a Buddhist temple in Monterey county yielded three priests. All of them had been in this country only a few months.

In a sporting goods store, about to purchase firearms, a former Japanese bootlegger with a police record was taken into custody.

It was here that a whole truckload of ammunition, rifles, shotguns, etc., was seized, together with the proprietor, a Japanese.

In 45 places searched, the yield was, among other things, 60,845 rounds of ammunition.

TEA: Panic Buying

A new U. S. agency had been formed to handle the tea situation which developed after grocers were apalled to find customers ordering tea in five-pound lots.

The panic in buying followed similar lines to that in sugar, and which had resulted in the setting up of a sugar rationing plan.

As more or less a natural outcome of the news from the tea-growing areas, WPB began to get reports of "five-pound tea buying" from all sections of the country, and it was regarded as essential that rationing be adopted if the buying panic had not been stopped voluntarily.

In the sugar situation, cases of prosecution began to pop up, one chain store manager, trying to make a sales record for himself, having disposed of 31,000 pounds of sugar, allegedly to illicit still operators. He was fined $500.

DUTCH: Under Pressure

Complaints from the Netherlands East Indies command that too much of the naval force of the United Nations was engaged in "non-combatant work" came as the Dutch faced a pincers movement against Sourabaya and the fear of a frontal attack on Java generally.

It was evident, said the Dutch leaders, that a giant pincers move was being directed at Java when the Japs landed in force on Celebes island, which formed the tip of the right flank of the Japanese defense line.

At the same time Axis sources had reported that the Japanese were demanding the surrender by the Dutch of all the East Indies, together with their oil supplies, in return for which the islands would be technically left as Dutch possessions.

Dutch sources said, however, that no Japanese proposal would be entertained, and they continued their "scorched earth" policy of destroying all oil installations before abandoning any property to the Japs.

Despite the costly losses inflicted on the enemy in Macassar strait last month, the Japs evidently had been able to make successful landings there.

Chief hope at present of the Dutch in captured territory was the report of successful guerrilla action which had really been the answer to the loss by Japan of any real victory in the war with China. One Dutch authority had said:

"Nowhere do the Japs feel safe. Our men behind their lines are picking them off, two today, ten tomorrow, and the toll is mounting and steady. This guerrilla war is being fought in an incessant downpour of rain."

CLOSER: Draw Lines of War

Though there was little evidence of a slackening of the general Japanese advance through the island empire of the Southwest Pacific, it seemed that as the days wore on, the main battle lines were drawing closer together.

Arrival in New Zealand of the first units of Admiral Leary's naval forces heralded, according to newsmen who accompanied the fleet, the establishment of a supply line for the United States.

WHO'S NEWS THIS WEEK

By LEMUEL F. PARTON (Consolidated Features—WNU Service.)

NEW YORK.—In the years between the two world wars, Dr. Winifred V. Richmond of St. Elizabeth's hospital, Washington, D. C., devoted intensive research to the ravages of war psychosis on the mind and personality of the young. She became a leading authority in this field and, in her work today offers unique and highly informed conclusions as to how to safeguard children, particularly adolescents in the intensifying psychological war.

The problem, she finds, is largely the stabilization of parents rather than the young. She cites primitive cultures. Primitive man takes his horrors in his stride. He has a physical and emotional equipment to meet them. He doesn't crack up, and neither do his children. Young children get emotional security from their elders. Such is Dr. Richmond's drift in her many books and articles, the latest of which is her newly published book, "Making the Most of Your Personality."

Within the last few decades she has examined countless children in the twilight zone of near-emotional and psychological collapse. She has saved or helped to save many of them. Her findings are compiled in her latest book, addressed to both parents and adolescents. Safeguarding the children in the "war of nerves" is her campaign.

She is a devoted, graying abbess of science, born in Elizabeth, W. Va., in 1876, holding degrees from Ohio and Clark university. She taught 15 years, starting her career in a one-room country school, and moving on to the teaching of mental hygiene, and in wide fields of research, in many universities.

THE Yippy, Dippy, Lippy Fakir of Ipi—here he is again and somebody will write a song about him some day, like the one about the Abdul Abdulbul Ameer. The Germans are giving him another workout among the wild tribes of Afghanistan and northwestern India, having used his incendiary talents for years before the start of this war.

Kipling's "Man Who Would Be King," operating in the same territory, was just an old stick-in-the-mud, compared to the emaciated wild-eyed little man, with his hair dyed bright red and a yell that gives everybody a nervous breakdown for miles around. His dish is "scourging the Infidel British." He is the "Avenger of the Church of Islam," an ace troublemaker for the Germans and Japanese just now, with his skill in provoking murderous religious wars. The British take him seriously, as his inflammatory range is such that it might necessitate the withdrawal of troops from Burma and Bengal to guard the Khyber pass.

As a matter of fact, the British have taken him seriously for many years. They have chased him on foot and on horseback, with planes and armored cars, with an army of 40,000 soldiers, and with everything but bloodhounds. But he has always slipped just out of reach. He has been known as "The Holy Man of the Suleiman Mountains," and among the tribesmen the legend grows that he can do a clever disappearing act when the police are closing in.

Although he is now only 41 years old, he has been a practicing hell-raiser for 20 years, one of the best in the business. He grew up in the bazaars of Peshawar in northwest India, a coolie, and the son of a camel driver. He has led border tribes in several violent uprisings, notably in 1931 and 1932. His Pathian raiders have been notoriously bloodthirsty.

News reports are that Axis agents are gearing him in widely organized radio campaigns.

A FIGHTING priest, becoming an admiral, is assigned command of the French possessions in the Pacific, by the Free French National committee in London. As a priest, he is the studious and ascetic Father Louis de la Trinite of the Carmelite friars. In his naval command he is Admiral George Thierry d'Argenlieu. He was imprisoned by the Germans at Cherbourg in June, 1940, and, while being taken to prison camp, leaped from a train, escaped to London and became a member of the Free French National council.

Passage of this bill had been predicted, and it would prevent Wickard from taking action with surpluses unless the price of wheat, cotton and corn had reached 10 per cent above parity.

It had been the President's plan to hold these prices down to encourage livestock production. The bill sought to prevent this action.

OCD LANDIS: Result of Protest

The resignation of LaGuardia as head of OCD and the succession to the high command of civilian defense of James M. Landis, one-time dean of Harvard law school and former head of the Securities and Exchange commission, had closely followed nationwide criticism of "boondoggling" in the organization.

Focal point of the objections to the OCD management had been rather centered on the division headed by Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt than on LaGuardia's civilian defense activities, but the resignation of the "Little Flower" had long been expected.

LaGuardia was supposed to have plenty to do organizing the defense of New York city, let alone saddling himself with the problems of an entire nation.

He announced that he would devote his full time to these problems in the future.

Criticism, as Landis took charge of OCD, continued chiefly leveled at the health, entertainment and social uplift activities of the organization. It had crystallized into the adoption by the house of an amendment specifically forbidding the spending of government funds for "fan-dancing, street shows, theatrical performances or other public entertainment in the program of civilian defense."

Lights of New York

by L. L. STEVENSON

The war has done that which cold weather has failed to do in the past—cut down the number of New Yorkers who in winter go to sea to fish for sport. Under regulations which went into effect Christmas day, all boats leaving Atlantic coast ports must carry a flag that readily identifies them to the coast guard, the object being to prevent espionage. Also each fisherman must have a permit bearing his photograph and fingerprints—and only United States citizens can get those permits. Also the skipper of each boat is held responsible not only for his crew, but also for his passengers. Many of New York's most ardent fishermen are aliens. Then there are those who are citizens, and while they do not mind snow, ice and biting winds, they think it better to stay ashore in wartime. As a result, fishing boat skippers are not happy.

Sheepshead bay is the headquarters of New Yorkers who like to fish in salt water in winter as well as in summer. Week-ends are the busy times, and ordinarily, 50 boats go out to sea. In the past, unless the weather was unusually bad, they have had capacity cargoes of anglers. The Sheepshead bay fishing fleet consists of craft of all kinds ranging from boats built especially for fishing parties on up—or down—to old steam yachts that once were the toys of the wealthy. Most of the fishing parties are composed of men only, but there are also women devotees who do not fear cold or rough weather. Usually, the fishermen form a pool and the winner is the one with the biggest catch. Incidentally, no fisherman need go home empty-handed no matter how bad his luck. Right on the water front are places where fresh fish may be bought.

"In Dutch?"—Insurance.

Many a New Yorker who never carried automobile insurance, now does so. The law which went into effect the first of the year is the cause. A motorist does not need insurance to get a driver's permit or registration plates, but he certainly does if he is in an accident, the law being designed to end driving on the part of those who are not financially responsible. If he gets tangled up with another motorist or a pedestrian and can't show proof that he is able to pay for all damages, he won't be a licensed driver anymore and even his car will be disbarred from future registration. If he attempts to drive an unlicensed car, he may be sent to jail for six months.

When Tom Dewey left the district attorney's office New Year's day, New York lost an ace racket buster. On the other hand, the ranks of music regained one of its missing members. As a college lad, Richard Korn played in the Princeton band and though he had received legal training, his friends held he was going places in music. But he joined up as a lawyer with Dewey's staff. He kept on with his music, however, and became conductor of the Alumni Orchestra of the National Orchestral association. Now he is back on the podium—and will devote all his time to music—at least until another racket-busting campaign becomes necessary.

The old belief that beauty and brains are not companions was knocked into a cocked hat during the last week when under the supervision of Paul H. Hornbeck, president of the College Advisory center, the Otis self-administration test for mental ability was given to 20 of the most beautiful models in the Harry Conover agency. Their average score was 118 which Professor Hornbeck held "very, very good," with one girl reaching 138 and another 140. It was also discovered that one was a Vassar graduate and another a concert violinist. Beautiful but dumb, oh yeah!

Training Youth for Jobs With U. S.

Thousands of young men and women are enrolling in training courses in vocational and trade schools—courses sponsored by the U. S. Office of Education. With this experience they will secure better jobs, or be qualified to participate in civil service examinations. The U. S. Civil Service Commission allows credit in many of its examinations for training received. These photos show trainee airplane mechanics.

TO YOUR Good Health

RHEUMATIC VALVULAR HEART DISEASE

Valvular heart disease, which causes "leaky valves," is usually due to an infection of the lining of the heart and its valves (endocarditis) which develops as a complication of one of the "rheumatic diseases." Of this group, acute rheumatic fever is the one most apt to be complicated by rheumatic valvular heart disease. Other "rheumatic diseases" are St. Vitus Dance (chorea), scarlet fever, "growing pains," tonsillitis or sinusitis. The organism that causes the heart disease is a type of streptococcus.

During the active stage of the disease, the heart muscle and the covering of the heart (pericardium) are also involved in most instances. The scarring in the heart muscle may lessen its efficiency and scars in the pericardium may also limit its effectiveness. The "rheumatic diseases," with the exception of scarlet fever, do not confer an immunity and reinfections or relapses are quite common and may appear soon after or many years after the first attack. The heart is often again involved and may not be able to combat the infection as it did the first time and a very serious condition (subacute or malignant or bacterial endocarditis) may arise on the scarred valves or the heart muscle may be so weakened that it can no longer function normally, and congestive heart failure with dropsy, may develop.

On the other hand, there may be no reinfection of the valve, and the patient may get along very comfortably with little if any limitation of activity, for many years. Finally, following a severe "cold" or other acute infection which damages the heart muscle, the symptoms of heart failure may develop. By that time, usually 20 to 30 years after the simple endocarditis healed, the patient is old enough to have some hardening and narrowing of the coronary arteries (those supplying the heart muscle) and the scarring of the heart muscle that results, to complicate the picture.

Doctors in describing the murmurs that are characteristic of healed rheumatic valvular heart disease, call them "systolic" if they occur while the heart is contracting and emptying; "diastolic" if they occur while it is dilating and filling. But all murmurs are not due to valvular heart disease or to other conditions that may cause "leaky valves." Most of the murmurs that occur while the heart is filling with blood during diastole, are due to organic change in a valve; but many of those occurring during systole, while it is emptying, are functional and of no consequence. Too many people have in the past been led to believe they had heart disease when the only indication was a systolic murmur. Many in their teens and early twenties whose hearts are perfectly normal have such murmurs. Some of them may be due to congenital abnormalities which are so slight that they in no way limit the functional capacity of the heart. Yet such a functional murmur may make it difficult to get life insurance; may prevent participation in athletics or in the armed forces because they sound so much like those due to organic disease. Whichever type you may have, don't worry about it as long as you can carry on your ordinary duties without discomfort. When you find that it does interfere with such activities, see your doctor and live as he tells you to.

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Lesson for February 22

JESUS APPOINTS AND TEACHES THE TWELVE

LESSON TEXT—Luke 6:12-26. GOLDEN TEXT—Let your light so shine before men, that they may see your good works, and glorify your Father which is in heaven.—Matthew 5:16.

God is sovereign and has all power. He might, therefore, perform His works without the help of man, and on many an occasion He does just that.

That fact makes it all the more glorious that He ordinarily works through men, giving to them the privilege of companionship with Him in service. Sinful and weak though they may have been, they become strong and holy in Him, able to do valiant service in His name.

I. Appointed to Serve Christ (vv. 12-19).

It is the constant teaching of Scripture that those called to serve God are not self-appointed. They are

1. Chosen by Him (vv. 12, 13). He chooses whom He will, gives them the gifts and the grace for ministry (and both are important!), and provides them a place of service. It is vital to the servant of Christ that he know that he has been chosen and called of the Lord. Only with that assurance can he meet the problems and bear the burdens of the work.

Observe that it was after a night of prayer that Jesus appointed the twelve. How many churches give that much prayer to the choosing of its leaders? Do we not need it far more than did our Lord?

2. Called from Many Walks of Life (vv. 14-16). The apostles were men of widely differing gifts, temperaments, and personal characteristics. Some had unusual ability, others apparently were of ordinary qualifications. They were of many occupations, fishermen, a tax gatherer, etc.; but not one was by profession a preacher or priest.

Were men to choose for such offices they would look within the narrow limits of a few learned professions, with certain nationalities preferred, and with position in life an important factor. God cuts across every man-made limitation and calls His workers as He sees fit.

3. Companions in Service (vv. 17-19). At once the twelve received their introduction to service to the great multitude diseased, demon possessed, in spiritual need. It was Jesus who healed them (and notice that "he healed them all," v. 19), but verse 17 tells us that the newly appointed apostles came and stood with Him. They had fellowship with the healing and serving Christ, just as we may have it in service for Him today.

II. Prepared to Live for Christ (vv. 20-26).

Service for Christ is as much (perhaps we should say, more) by life as by ministry. The twelve needed instruction that their spiritual perspective might be right. He tells them

1. How to Meet Difficulties (vv. 20-23). Poverty, hunger, weeping, being hated for Christ's sake, these were the things that Jesus knew His servants might expect, so He prepared them. They were told that these things need not disturb them, for there is a kingdom coming; there will be a time when every hunger will be satisfied, when weeping shall turn to laughter.

Hatred for Christ's sake is declared to be the occasion for the reward which awaits in heaven. Scripture speaks much of rewards, and we do well to encourage ourselves and other Christians by the blessed prospect.

Meeting difficulties is a matter of having mental and spiritual eyes rightly focused. If we do, we can see right through them and see that on the other side there is blessing.

But there are temptations in another direction, so He tells them.

2. How to Avoid Dangers (vv. 24-26). Jesus is here speaking of those who, lacking true spiritual vision, revel in the satisfaction of worldly things without a thought of God. The passage, however, may well be applied to the worker for Christ. Often he will be tempted to covet the wealth, the prosperity, the pleasures, and popularity of those around about him.

The question which comes to him is, Why should I and my family not share these pleasant things? Therein lies a temptation to become worldly-minded, centered in the temporalities of life. Let him learn that money in itself cannot bring lasting joy; that the fullness of this world is soon exchanged for an eternal emptiness; that the shallow laughter of this world's fun rapidly gives way to weeping.

The praise of men—popularity with those who know not Christ—is a fickle thing. One day they will praise a man to the skies, and the next day no evil word or disgraceful treatment is spared to destroy and dishearten him.

Telling Mystic Fortunes Lends You New Glamour

What Secrets in the 'Crystal'?

WHAT enthralling fortunes you can read for your beau, using for your "magic crystal" just an old fish bowl! Do you see real crystal-gazing symbols in it? Well . . . that's your secret! You can entertain so cleverly, on dates or at parties, telling fortunes this way. Cards are fun, too, especially when you read them by the "Cross of Fifteen."

The 15 cards are arranged as a cross; some tell the past, others the future. Can the fortune-seeker expect happiness? The Ten of Hearts says—"Yes."

You can find more about the "Cross of Fifteen" from our 32-page booklet. Explains 85 tea-leaf fortune symbols; gives meaning of every card in the deck. Has a horoscope for each month, tells how to read fascinating fortunes in dominoes, dice, and the "crystal." Send your order to:

Household Hints

Does the kitchen stove discolor the wall behind it? Then build yourself a heat deflector—a shelf held up by angle irons, with a sheet of metal curving in from the edge of the shelf to the lower part of the angle iron. Not only will it prevent discoloration of the wall, but it provides a handy shelf for salt, pepper and other condiments during preparation of the meal.

A burnt-out unglazed electric bulb need not be sheer waste. Cut off the neck, remove the filament, and you have an attractive little globe in which to grow your ivy plant.

Buttonholes made with fine crochet thread do not tear out so quickly as those made with ordinary sewing thread.

Winter is a good time for the home owner to build that rustic lawn furniture he has long dreamed of making.

Never throw away bones left from a roast or shoulder. Put them in cold water and if cooked several hours, a very good soup may be obtained with the addition of diced vegetables.

HIGH PRICES Do Not Go WITH ADVERTISING

Advertising and high prices do not go together at all. They are extremely incompatible to each other. It is only the product which is unadvertised, which has no established market, that costs more than you can afford to pay.

Whenever you go into a store and buy an item of advertised merchandise, it doesn't make any difference what, you are getting more for your money—more in quality and service—than you would get if you spent the same amount for something which was not advertised.

Income Tax Information
Article Number seven of Income Tax Information.
In the event of failure to make an income tax return as required by law within the prescribed time, a certain percent of the amount of the tax is required to be added to the tax unless failure to file the return within the prescribed time is shown to be due to reasonable cause and not to willful neglect.
The amount to be added to the tax is 5 percent if the failure is for more than thirty days, with an additional 5 percent for each additional thirty days or fraction thereof during which failure to file a return continues, not to exceed 25 percent in the aggregate.

A taxpayer who files a tardy return and wishes to avoid the addition to the tax for delinquency must make an affirmative showing of all facts, alleged as a reasonable cause for failure to file the return on time, in the form of an affidavit which should be attached to the return. Alleged ignorance of the law does not constitute reasonable cause for delinquency.

Taxpayers should make every effort to file their returns within the time prescribed by law and thus avoid the possibility of the additions to the tax for delinquency in filing returns.
Do not forget that single persons or married persons not living with husband or wife, who earn as much as $14.43 a week for the 52 weeks of the year, and married persons living together who have aggregate earnings of as much as $28.85 a week for the year, are required to file returns.

AAA Notes
Michigan is reported to be the largest purchaser of corn, seven carloads have been purchased by farmers of Iosco county, and plan on purchasing at least two more carloads.
Our boys at the front and the women and children in the fighting areas need our help, every available minute of it, but let us not forget to save, as well as in sewing circles or knitting bees. After we have sewn or knit our day's service in any way we can to help our boys, let's get it down by stopping at the store and carrying home an armful of canned goods or cured meat to feed our families, let's take home fresh meat and fresh vegetables even though it may take a little longer to prepare, time means nothing to us, but those canned goods are very handy to send to the boys or women and children across the way.

If you plan on purchasing any more corn this season and can do so, please order now as this may be the last corn for Iosco county.
Wheat for feed will be on the market for a somewhat longer period but we are having trouble to get enough orders to make up two carloads for delivery at the two different points in the county. The last price is 90 1/2 cents per bushel for No. 2 winter wheat.

Owing to shortage of cars and great amount of corn purchased we have reasons to believe our chances of obtaining corn through AAA from Commodity Credit Corporation at Chicago are short lived, the fact that more than 200 individual farmers in Iosco county alone have benefited by this opportunity, makes us believe there may be more farmers interested but have delayed sending in their request. We need about 14 more tons to complete a 40-ton car to Tawas, and approximately 24 tons to finish a 40-ton car to Whittemore. The last price received at this office on No. 2 yellow corn is 92 1/4 cents per bushel.

Abnormal Tire Wear
If tires show abnormal wear the trouble may be caused by under-inflation or misaligned wheels, according to the California State Automobile association. Another cause of uneven tire wear is unbalanced wheels. At high speed a wheel only slightly out of balance develops a powerful centrifugal force. This force jerks the wheel up and down as it rotates. In addition to abnormal up and down motion there also may be side motion as the heavy spot moves fore and aft. Unbalanced wheels frequently cause shimmy, abnormal wear in steering mechanism, as well as cupped spots in the tire tread.

Navy Has Foot Trouble
Even the navy has its foot trouble. The United States Naval Reserve corps has decided that among the specialists eligible for appointment are chiropodists, or podiatrists. Action of the navy in appointing chiropodists follows the report of the Council of the American Medical Association that "chiropody is a department of the healing service and it has its basis in scientific and demonstrated knowledge and satisfies a gap that general medicine has failed to fill."

Pigeons Fly Coop
An Akron, Ohio, officer testified he knew his prisoner was drunk because his eyes were bloodshot, whereupon the prisoner calmly removed his glass eye and the judge said "case dismissed." The Messrs. Kurwoski and Stawdohr of Chicago, each claiming ownership of three pigeons, suggested that the judge release the birds which then would wing home to their rightful cotes. A window was opened, the doves flew forth—whither no man knoweth to this day.

Urge to Kick Cop

The Very Rev. Edmund J. Reilly of a Brooklyn church found a note on the collection plate signed "Patrick Gunn," inviting the good man to step outside after mass for a fist fight. . . . In Minneapolis a pretty woman walked up to a policeman and without ado kicked him smartly on the shin. He said "ouch," and she let him have another. Her explanation for such quaint conduct was simple. "All my life," she told the judge, "I've wanted to kick a cop."

In the Circuit Court for the County of Iosco.

Edward L. Kelley, Plaintiff, vs. Sarah T. Clark, her unknown heirs, devisees, legatees and assigns, Defendant. No. 1490

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

At a session of said court held in the courthouse at Tawas City, Michigan, county of Iosco, this 3rd day of November A. D. 1941.

Present: Honorable Herman Dehnke Circuit Judge.

On reading and filing the bill of complaint in this cause and the affidavit of Edward L. Kelley attached hereto, from which it satisfactorily appears to the Court that the defendants designated as unknown heirs, devisees, legatees and assigns of Sarah T. Clark are proper and necessary parties and,

It further appearing, that after diligent search and inquiry it cannot be ascertained and it is not known whether said defendants are living or dead or where any of them may reside if living and if dead, whether they have personal representatives or heirs living or where they, or some of them may reside.

On Motion of Thomas G. Jones, attorney for plaintiff,

It IS Herby Ordered that said defendants cause their appearance to be entered in this cause within three months from the date of this order or, in default thereof, that said bill of complaint be taken as confessed by said defendants.

It is Further Ordered that within twenty days, plaintiff cause a copy of this order to be published in The Tawas Herald, a newspaper printed and published and circulated in said county, such publication to be contained therein once each week for six weeks in succession.

HERMAN DEHNKE, Circuit Judge.

The suit in which this order is entered involves and is brought to quiet title to the following described property:

The northeast quarter of the southwest quarter of Section 16, Town 22 North Range 7 East containing forty acres more or less, Tawas township, Iosco county, Michigan.

Clarence Earl escaped with minor injuries in what might have resulted in serious injuries one day last week. While getting out wood about ten miles out on the plains, he was hitching up his team to bring his load of wood home when one of the horses slipped his bridle and made a dash for freedom. Mr. Earl was thrown about ten feet and knocked unconscious and laid in the snow for some time. On regaining consciousness the horse was gone and in the growing darkness he could not trail him. He walked the entire distance home, not being able to mount the other horse. The next day the horse was found near Parkers on the State road.

DEEP WATER ISLAND

by ALAN LEMAY

W.N.U. RELEASE

Charles Wong went straight to the desk . . . "Yes," Dick answered the unspoken question.

INSTALLMENT SIX
THE STORY SO FAR: Karen Water-son, convinced by her lawyer, John Colt, that she has a claim to the island estate of her grandfather, Garrett Water-son, has come to Honolulu to attempt to gain control of the property. Then through a strange circumstance and somewhat against her will she finds herself on the very island, Alakoa, with Richard Wayne or Tonga Dick, as he is known. He is a member of the Wayne family which has been in control of the island since the disappearance of her grandfather. They have found that Dick's uncle, James Wayne, who has been managing the property, is very sick. Dick tries to get Karen to work out a compromise settlement to her claims but she refuses. Late during the night Lilua, a native house girl, comes to Dick's room and tells him she has strange foreboding of evil. As they talk a rap is heard at the door.

Now continue with the story.

At the door when Dick opened it was the tiny figure of a kimonoed Japanese girl. Her hair, usually as neat as polished ebony, was down all about her face, and through it her eyes stared so widely that they showed the whites.

"Mister Dick—you come!"
 "What is it? What is it now?"
 "I tap on Mister Wayne door—I take Mister Wayne him milk. Mister Wayne, he not answer."
 "Well, did you go in?"
 "No, no, no!"
 "Where is he? In his office?"
 "Yes—office. Plenty light but no speak. Something moves in there—I hear something move! But nothing in there will speak!"

Dick Wayne drew a deep breath, and the air of the hall was so clammy upon his lungs it was as if he had breathed in the outer rain.

"All right."
 Once more he went striding through the house, the broad old floorboards speaking under his tread, and the tabes of the Japanese girl pattering behind him.

There was a line of light under the door of James Wayne's office; but as he reached for the latch the Japanese girl flattened herself against the wall, fearful lest she accidentally see into the room, and Tonga Dick Wayne himself hesitated. He knew what was within.

James Wayne still sat in the chair behind his vast desk, in the same place he had sat during so much of twenty hard driving years. But now his head was forward upon the desk, and by the slack emptiness of his uncle's hands Dick knew that this was the end.

All over the floor were scattered the ginger blossoms of a broken lei.

When Dick Wayne had made certain that his uncle was dead, he picked up the scattered ginger blossoms, and, opening a case, threw them out into the night.

He went to the door. The Japanese girl looked smaller than ever, standing there with her back pressed tight against the koa-wood wall, as if trying to hide herself from things unseen. "Send the Missey here," he said.

"Missey Lilua?"
 "No, no! The haole Missey."
 "Yes, Mister Dick."

"As soon as you have sent the haole Missey to me, bring me Charles Wong."

As Dick turned back into the room he spotted one more of those inescapable ginger flowers under the corner of the desk. He picked it up and put it in his pocket. Then he went and stood at the window, looking out into blackness, unmindful of the cold spit of the rain. It seemed to him a long time before Karen came.

"Is—is something wrong?" Her words were faltering. "Has anything happened?"

Dick Wayne stared, astonished. Deep in his pocket his fingers were still rolling between them the petals of that last ginger flower; but Karen's eyes were uncommunicative and he saw that she did not so much as glance at the floor to make sure that the flowers were gone. Suddenly a terrible pity for this girl got the better of him and he shut his jaws.

"Dick," Karen cried out, "what is it?"
 He was unable then, pitying her as he did, to tell her that he knew she already had the answer to that.

"James Wayne is dead," he answered.

"This—is this a terrible thing."
 "Perhaps not."
 "What do you mean?"

Dick's voice was hard and bitter. "If you are going to take this island, perhaps it is better that you take it from me and from my brothers—not from the man who made it what it is."

Karen Water-son stood staring at him blankly. Until now it had seemed to Dick Wayne that nothing he had ever said to her had reached her completely in its full meaning; but now he knew that he had hurt her as definitely as if he had struck her across the face. The silence that followed had a strange hopeless quality about it, empty, yet singularly acute. Dick was glad that Charles Wong now appeared, moving quickly into the room.

Charles Wong went straight to the desk, but his eyes were questioning on Dick's face.

"Yes," Dick answered the unspoken question.
 A wave of swift emotion crossed the Chinese secretary's face; he raised one hand and his fingers ran through his heavy hair.

"Get the doctor on the phone; get him up here at once. That is necessary for the proper reports. When that's done, get my brothers in Honolulu on the wireless phone; tell them what has happened; and that I will be in Honolulu tomorrow night, regardless of whether they will be here by then or not. Then get me John Colt; I think you already know where in Honolulu he is."

"And—what shall I tell him?"
 "I'll talk to him myself."

The Holokai did not weigh her hook until after dusk of the next day; but as she beat her way slowly out through the reefs, half an hour after sunset, Dick Wayne was glad that the day was over.

Tonga Dick had respected and admired his uncle, had understood what his uncle meant to Alakoa. Everything productive that Alakoa possessed had existed first in this one man's mind. They had all depended upon him and been guided by him; all of them except Dick himself had been controlled by him.

A careful conference had been necessary with James Wayne's physician. Being already familiar with the case, he had no trouble describing, in technical terms, the failure of James Wayne's heart.

"Could this have been caused by shock?" Dick demanded.
 "A shock," Shimazu said with an oddly humorless locution, "would not have been necessary; but it would have helped."

Dick Wayne experienced no relief at this declaration. He was certain that Karen Water-son had been with James Wayne when he died, and that she had sought to conceal this. And he knew that almost anyone else, knowing these facts, would leap at once to a dark and savage suspicion. He found, however, that for himself he did not need Dr. Shimazu's report; he was already convinced, beyond any shadow of present or future doubt, that Karen Water-son had not killed James Wayne.

When they had communicated with Dick's brothers and with John Colt, Tonga Dick Wayne threw the radio cut-off switch.

What remained was a full day with Charles Wong, repeatedly interrupted by the visits of cane field bosses, mill superintendents, cattle foremen. It was turning dark before Dick and Karen Water-son at last drove steeply down the mountain toward the anchorage of the Holokai.

Later, after the Holokai had put out from shore, Dick and Karen found themselves sitting face to face across a completely set table under the cabin's skylight. The main cabin of the Holokai was trim and well lighted, but necessarily very small; here not even the hovering of the Chinese mess boy could spare them a sense of being shut in, very close together.

Karen's eyes rested unhappily upon her plate. Her fork fiddled with broiled pakiki, but she was unable to eat. Her clear-cut poise had returned in the form of a reticent withdrawal; but behind the thin shell of that poise Dick Wayne was able to perceive that the girl was nervously distraught.

Tonga Dick Wayne ate, for no other reason than that he had not eaten in more than eighteen hours, and waited for Karen to speak. Now, surely, he thought, she would have something to say about her presence at the death of James Wayne.

Then presently he became aware, with a slow amazement, that Karen was not going to speak. She must have known who had picked up the broken ginger blossoms that would have given her away. But did she? Dick suddenly recognized that Karen perhaps did not know.

He let his eyes rest with some deliberation upon her face, and saw that she was uncommonly pale; it gave her an exceptionally fragile look. "It seems to me," he began, "that you might tell me—"

He let the question he had begun lose itself in the black race of the sea past the lee porthole.

"We're making fast time," he said. "We'll be in Honolulu before very long."
 Karen murmured, "I'm glad." A little shiver ran across her shoulders, so that her two words made

Honolulu seem a long-sought haven, for her.

"There's something I want to tell you, Karen."
 She waited, relaxed and impassive except for that sense of strain behind her pale composure.

"I'm sorry I shanghaied you. I didn't realize what I was letting you in for."

"I'm not exactly used to being pushed about," Karen said.

"After all," he reminded her, "when you came aboard you believed me to be deceived even as to your name. And though your visit to Alakoa was against your will, you yourself, and your friend, John Colt, were partly responsible, I think."

Karen was silent.
 "But I'm not all sorry," Dick said. "In spite of everything, I know you better now; and that has been worth while."

"I shouldn't have tried to fool you about who I was," Karen said. In spite of her concealed nervous tension, she seemed very tired, so that he could hardly hear her words.
 "That was a very silly mistake."
 "There have been other mistakes," Dick said.

She met his eyes for a moment, and he wondered if she was thinking about a silent room, and a broken lei. He wanted to tell her that there was no reason for her to think about that; and that he believed in her completely.

Dick said morosely, "You and I ought to be able to talk to each other more easily than we do."

"Do we have to go into all that?"
 "We can work these things out," Dick Wayne said. "You and I are the only ones who can."

Karen Water-son stiffened and sat back. "I can only say this—if there are to be any negotiations at all, they will have to be carried on with John Colt, not with me."

"If the case came to trial as it now stands," Dick Wayne said, "I have no doubt that you could win. After that would follow appeal after appeal, delay after delay; and even if you won in the end you'd be a white-haired old lady before your victory ever paid out. The Waynes won't give in because they can't give in."

"Neither," said Karen, looking at him directly, "do we intend to give in."

"What you mean is that John Colt won't give in."
 "It's the same thing."

Dick Wayne looked at her queerly. "Is it, Karen? Are you in love with Colt? Are you going to marry him?"

CHAPTER VII

Karen looked at him steadily a moment.

"There isn't any reason why I should answer that," she said at last. "But I will. I have no intention of marrying John Colt. What I mean is that I believe I have a sound claim, and I am perfectly willing that the court should decide it. If your uncle had lived—"

She stopped, and a silence fell between them, so that they noticed again the voice of the ship, and the rush and slap of the sea. Later, Tonga Dick began talking to her again, trying to tell her what his uncle had been, as Dick saw him.

He was trying to make her see a man who had lived not for personal conquest, but for a dream. He was trying to make her understand that James Wayne had been a man who did not know how to use anything, for himself, beyond the bare necessities; one who took less from life than the salary of Charles Wong commanded. He showed her his uncle breakfasting at 3:30 in the morning, so that he could be at work by a quarter of four. He was trying to make her see twenty years of labor, in which James Wayne had given every hour of his time, every resource of his mind, to making Alakoa what it had become.

She interrupted him, after a while. "Why do you tell me all this?"
 "I'm trying to make you see that there is something there that cannot be measured in dollars and cents; and that even though James Wayne is dead, the fight for the things he stood for will have to go on."

The Truth of It Is . . . This Cherry Torton Is Good!
 (See Recipes Below)

Washington Day Ideas

It took Washington to make the cherry famous by telling the truth about cutting down that famous tree, but it takes only a sampling to make us appreciate the excellence of this luscious red-ripe berry.

If you're sensitive to color, and most of you are, I am sure, then you can make the most of the possibilities which the cherry offers for pepping up winter mealtime.

With appetites riding high, but opportunities for decoration fairly low in these colder months, the Washington birthday and its synonym the cherry, come to the rescue. All of today's recipes have "Um-um" tacked onto them, so make your bids for fame by starting off with:

*Cherry Torton. (Serves 6 to 8)

Torton Layer:
 1 cup sifted flour
 1/2 teaspoon salt
 1 tablespoon sugar
 1/4 cup butter
 1 egg yolk, slightly beaten

Combine flour, salt and sugar. Cut in butter with knives or pastry blender. Add beaten egg yolk and mix thoroughly. Press this mixture into baking dish or pie tin. Cover with cherry topping and bake in a hot (425-degree) oven for 15 minutes. Reduce heat to moderate (350 degree) for about 20 minutes. Serve hot or cold, with whipped or plain cream if desired.

Cherry Topping:
 1 No. 2 can red, tart, pitted cherries
 1/2 cup sugar
 4 tablespoons cornstarch
 1 tablespoon butter

Drain juice from cherries. Heat to boiling point. Combine sugar and cornstarch. Add enough cold water to make a smooth paste. Pour this gradually into the boiling cherry juice and cook 5 minutes, stirring constantly. Remove from fire, add cherries and butter.

This upside down cake is as good as it looks because the cherries are interlaced with the delicious caramel mixture. You'll be extra clever for varying the dessert course with this newcomer to the upside down cake family for it's bound to carry off first honors:

*Cherry Upside Down Cake.

2 eggs
 3/4 cup sugar
 1/4 cup boiling water
 3/4 cup cake flour
 1/2 teaspoon salt
 1/2 teaspoon baking powder
 1 teaspoon lemon or orange extract

1 1/2 cups red, pitted cherries
 1/4 cup butter
 1/2 cup brown sugar

Beat yolks until thick; add sugar gradually. Continue beating and add water. Mix well and add sifted

Lynn Says:

The cherry family is one with many branches. In addition to the red, tart pitted cherries which are abundant in the summer and which can easily be put up well in cans, there are two other types of cherries worthy of mention.

The first of these is a white type cherry commonly called Queen Anne. This lends itself well to salads and adds distinctive flavor especially when used in combination with other fruits such as pineapple, oranges, grapefruit and bananas. A little bit of the Queen Anne cherry goes a long way.

The other type, called Bing cherries, are deep, dark red, and quite sweet. For that reason they are at home in desserts. They can be made into sauces and served over ice creams and puddings.

dry ingredients. Beat in thoroughly and fold in flavoring and stiffly beaten egg whites. Melt butter in heavy skillet and add brown sugar. Over this spread cherries, then pour over cake batter. Bake 30 to 40 minutes in a moderate (350-degree) oven.

If you ever have cherries left over, you may thicken the juice with cornstarch mixed in water and heated to the boiling point. This is especially good on rice or cottage pudding or as a sauce over ice cream.

Cherries and peaches are an inspired combination, especially in pie. You'll be enthusiastic over this one:

*Peach Cherry Pie.

1 recipe plain pastry
 3/4 cup sugar
 1/4 cup flour
 1 1/2 cups canned tart red cherries
 1 1/2 cups sliced peaches (canned)
 1/4 teaspoon almond extract
 1/4 cup juice from canned cherries
 3 tablespoons butter

Drain fruit. Mix flour and sugar and sprinkle 1/2 of the mixture in a lined pastry tin. Add fruit and cherry juice to which has been added the almond extract. Sprinkle fruit with remaining flour-sugar mixture. Dot with butter. Make lattice top for pie and flute edges. Bake in a hot (425-degree) oven 10 minutes, then in a moderate (350-degree) oven 25 minutes.

Meat balls slim the budget and still remain a good main dish for dinners this season. They're nutritious and flavorful made with egg, milk and bread, and colorful with green peas riding in the rich brownish red gravy:

*Meat Balls. (Serves 6)

2 slices bread
 3/4 cup milk
 1 beaten egg
 3/4 pound ground beef
 1/4 cup ground pork
 Salt and pepper
 2 tablespoons chili sauce
 1 small onion, grated
 2 cups strained tomatoes
 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
 1 cup peas, cooked

Soften bread in milk, add egg. Mix meats and add seasonings, salt, pepper, chili sauce and onion. Form into balls, roll in flour and brown in hot fat. Add tomato and Worcestershire sauce and simmer for 35 minutes. Add peas and cook until they heat through.

*Banana Muffins. (Makes 10 muffins)

2 tablespoons shortening
 1/4 cup sugar
 1/2 cup chopped banana
 1 egg
 1 cup vitamin-enriched wheat flakes
 3/4 cup milk
 1 cup flour
 1/2 teaspoon salt

2 1/2 teaspoons baking powder
 Blend shortening and sugar, add chopped banana and egg and beat thoroughly. Stir in wheat flakes and milk. Sift dry ingredients and add to first mixture. Stir only until flour disappears. Fill greased muffin tins until 3/4 full and bake in a moderately hot (400-degree) oven about 30 minutes.

*Creamed Spinach.

Wash spinach leaves carefully under running water, being careful to remove all dirt. Boil without water 5 to 7 minutes or until tender. Drain and chop fine. Make a medium thick cream sauce, and blend into the chopped spinach until it becomes part of the leaves. Season to taste with salt, pepper and a little dash of nutmeg. As a garnish serve wedges or slices of hard-boiled egg around the spinach platter.

Tawas City Varsity
Loses Another Game

The Tawas City High School Varsity basketball team again went down to defeat, losing to Au Gres Tuesday evening 24 to 16. Not being able to sink their "dog shots" and only scoring two of twelve free throws was one of the big reasons for the loss.

Hopaz with eight points and Manor with seven led the Au Gres attack. The Tawas City points were scored by three players, Nelkie, seven, Brown, five, and Landon four.

Tawas City Reserves
Lose 5 to 4 Game

In a rough and tumble battle (mostly tumble) the Au Gres Reserves defeated Tawas City 5 to 4.

Go on Scoring Spree

The Tawas City Girls team in a walk-away battle defeated Au Gres 21 to 7. The girls really "went to town" with their fine offense and defense.

N. Zollweg and K. Westcott were the high scorers for Tawas City with Norma accounting for eight points and Katherine seven.

Packard and Wilk shared scoring honors for Au Gres with three points each.

Independent Basketball

In a high scoring game last Saturday evening the Tawas City Independent cagers won a decisive victory over a Whittemore team, 71 to 36.

Tawas City took an early lead which they held throughout the contest. The score at the first quarter stood 15 to 1 with the Tawas sharpshooters gradually lengthening the lead. Whittemore put on a scoring spree in the final quarter but were unable to overcome the large score which the locals had piled up.

Mac Chubb took high scoring honors with 29 points. The Whittemore team just couldn't keep up to him while he sank 12 field goals and 5 foul shots. "Swede" Lixey was next in line with seven field goals and a foul shot for 15 points. Jacques and Grimm were high scorers for the visitors with ten points each.

Tomorrow evening (Saturday) the Tawas City Independents will journey to Standish to play the strong Independent team of that city. In a previous engagement Standish defeated the local team by an overwhelming margin, 50 to 27. Saturday's game should be more interesting as the local team has shown considerable improvement in the last few games and will go to Standish with a full squad.

Tawas City Defeats East Tawas Wednesday

In close, hard fought game Wednesday evening the Tawas City Independents defeated the East Tawas Independents 50 to 44. The teams battled on even terms through most of the contest. At the end of the first quarter the score was knotted up at 21 and 21, and at half time they were again all tied up with the score 33 to 33. During the second half Tawas City tallied 17 points on eight field goals and a foul shot, while holding their opponents to 11.

Tawas City School Notes

Believing that best learning comes through doing, the students have been encouraged to make their school as nearly like our democratic form of government as possible. This past week, the constitution came into being. After much time and thought it was presented to the students last Monday morning. They voted upon it and it carried by a large majority. Following is the constitution:

CONSTITUTION OF TAWAS CITY HIGH SCHOOL PREAMBLE

We, the students of Tawas City High School, desiring to educate ourselves for citizenship in a democracy; to place the responsibility of self-government upon members of the student body; to promote greater cooperation between the students and faculty; and to impress the qualities of liberty, equality, and justice upon the minds of the students; do establish this Constitution for the High School of Tawas City.

ARTICLE I Legislative Department
Section I One House

The legislative powers of the student government shall be vested in a student council of one body.

Section II Membership

1. Two representatives of the Council shall be chosen from each class of the Junior and Senior High School. A Maximum of twelve members, plus the president, shall compose the Student Council.

2. No student shall be representative unless he has attained a scholastic average of "C" or above for the preceding year.

3. One boy and one girl shall be chosen as representatives from each class unless no member of one sex has attained the necessary scholastic qualifications. Then two members shall be chosen from the opposite sex.

Section III Election

1. The representatives of the Council shall be elected every year by the members of each class.

2. The elections for representatives of the Council shall be held at the same time as the election of other class officers on the first Friday following the second Thursday of the school year.

Section IV Powers

1. The council must approve all appointments made by the President.

2. The Council shall have the power to recall a President by a unanimous vote of its members.

3. The Council will have the power to make laws regarding the punishment of disorderly behavior of students.

4. The Council shall designate between major and minor committees. The chairmen of the major committees shall be appointed from the council while those of the minor committees shall be chosen from the student body.

Section V Vacancy

When a vacancy occurs, the class to which the former representative belongs shall be reserved the power to fill the vacancy. If the vacancy occurs immediately preceding the meeting, the president of the class to which the former representative belongs will temporarily fill the vacancy. If the vacancy occurs immediately preceding the meeting, the president of the class to which the former representative belongs will temporarily fill the vacancy until the class meets and elects a representative.

In each decision of the council each class shall be guaranteed two votes.

Section VI Meetings

The Student Council shall meet once every week at a time to be designated by members of the council.

ARTICLE II Judicial Department
Section I Membership

1. There shall be two regular judges and one substitute judge appointed by the President. Only one is necessary to officiate at each trial.

2. There shall be one prosecuting attorney and three assistants to prosecute cases in behalf of the school.

Section II Qualifications

1. A person, in order to be an attorney, judge, or lawyer must take a special course in law and pass a bar examination.

Section III Jury

1. A jury composed of six members chosen from the student body at large shall make the decision in each trial.

2. The prosecuting attorney and attorney for defense shall decide as to what jurors shall be chosen from the panel.

ARTICLE III Council Officials
Section I President

Qualifications:
The President must have attended Tawas City High School at least one year, be a member of the Senior class, and have at least a "C" scholastic average for the three preceding years.

Terms:
The president is to hold office for a period of one year.

Powers:

1. The President shall preside over all meetings of the Student Council unless he is absent, in which the Vice-President shall preside.

2. The President, with the consent of the Council, will have the power to appoint any committees he may deem necessary.

3. The President, with the consent of the Council, may appoint a cabinet composed of the chairmen of the various committees.

4. The President, or three Council members, will have the power to call special meetings of the Council.

Section II Vice-President

Qualifications:
The Vice-President must have attended the Tawas City High School at least one year, be a member of the Junior class and have at least a "C" scholastic average.

Terms:
The Vice-President shall hold office for a period of one year.

Powers:

The Vice-President will have the power to act in the capacity of President at such times as the President shall be absent and shall succeed him to the Presidency if that office should become vacant.

Section III Secretary

Qualifications:
The Secretary must have attended Tawas City High School at least one year, be a member of the Council from one of the four upper classes, and have at least a "C" scholastic average.

Terms:
The Secretary shall hold office for a period of one year.

Duties:
The Secretary shall record the minutes of meetings of the Council, and shall keep a record of all measures passed by the Council.

ARTICLE IV Amendment

The Student Council, whenever two-thirds of its number shall deem it necessary, can propose an amendment. It must be ratified by three-fourths of the student body in order to be valid.

ARTICLE V Establishment of New Constitution

In order to establish a new constitution, the measure must be proposed by two-thirds of the student council and ratified by three-fourths of the student body.

Money Divorce Cause

Money, or rather the lack of it, is the most common cause of marital troubles, according to Circuit Judge Paul D. Barnes of Miami, and he should know, for last year he handled 4,000 divorce cases. "Willingness to live within income is the most important thing I can say to young married couples," Judge Barnes said. "The tendency to exceed income seems to be a fashion of the times, but it's probably the most disastrous habit married couples can fall into."

Car Knocker

A car knocker does not criticize your automobile. He's a tank car repairman in the car building industry.

WASHINGTON at VALLEY FORGE

THE NATIONAL MEMORIAL ARCH, VALLEY FORGE

In that long, bitter winter of 1777-78, General Washington and his poorly clad men displayed, at Valley Forge, the stamina and courage of Americans who are now fighting to preserve our liberties and bring to the world a just and lasting peace.

Our Service To The Living is rendered without reservation to all.

CLEAR THE LINES FOR WAR CALLS!

Telephone lines are always busiest in mid-morning and mid-afternoon. Those are the "peak" periods for business calls. Right now, with the state and nation on a schedule of all-out production for war, this peak load is far greater than ever before. It takes a lot of telephone calls to make a tank or a bomber, and it's vitally important that such messages should not be delayed.

By doing your telephoning at off-peak hours and keeping your calls as short as possible, you'll improve your own service and give real help to America's effort in the war emergency.
