STANDISH WINS INDEPENDENT TOURNAMENT

Defeat Tawas City Sharks, West Branch and Tawas City

The Independent basketball tournament held at the local gymnasium Friday and Saturday nights of last week, was won by Standish with a 31 to 22 victory over Tawas City in the final game of the contests.

The Standish lads started off with a bang, taking an early lead which they never relinquished throughout the game. At the intermission the score stood 21 to 7. The second half proved to be more interesting as Tawas City put on a scoring drive which netted them 15 points while they held Standish to 10, but the big lead the visitors had piled up in the first half was too much for the locals to overcome and at the final bell Standish was out in front 31 to 22.

Ross, of Standish, was high point man with 12 markers, Chubb, of Tawas City followed with eight.

As an award for winning the tournament, Standish was presented a trophy and individual gold basketballs were given to each member of the team and the manager. The runners-up, Tawas City, received a trophy and the members of the team each received a silver basketball.

A gold basketball for high scorer of the tournament went to Don Lixey of Tawas City, who garnered 31 points and probably would have increased this score if he hadn't been forced from the game in the third quarter with a badly injured knee. Jim Ross, of Standish, was second in scoring with 30 points, and received a silver basketball. Chubb of Tawas City followed with 29 points and Murphy and Thornton chalked up 27 points each.

To gain the tournament crown, Standish won from the Tawas Sharks on Friday evening 70 to 36, and from West Branch on Saturday evening, 28 to 22, and the final from Tawas City 31 to 22.

Tawas City won from Whittemore on Friday night 43 to 33, and Au Gres on Saturday night 42 to 15, losing the final game to Standish.

Dick Prescott was scorekeeper and Elmer Ogden timekeeper for the tournament. Neil Thornton and Neil Libka took care of the scoreboard.

Your Junk Car is Needed in Defense

"Iron and steel are vitally needed to make the weapons of war. Your junk cars can be of great assistance if made available now," said Donald M. Nelson, chairman of the War Production Board, in a communication recently sent out to the people of the nation.

Many furnaces for the production of steel, vitally needed by our country, are now closed down because of a lack of scrap steel and iron. Every citizen, every car dealer, and every scrap metal dealer is urged to make an inventory of his junk cars, and make this old metal, available at once.

Scrap metal dealers of this district were called to Bay City last week and this vital problem was placed before them by representatives of the Federal government. At this meeting Mrs. Byron Brooks, representing the Brooks Scrap Iron yard, was in attendance. This yard is licensed to handle junk cars. On her return she said "If you have a junk car in your possession notify a licensed junk car dealer at once and get it on the way. If you are a car dealer or scrap iron dealer, get your junk cars into the proper channels so that they will be available for our war industry at once."

Mrs. Brooks was appointed to make a survey of the used and junk cars in Isosco county. This will be a part of a state-wide survey which will be made to facilitate the movement of used metal to the furnaces. Work on this survey will start within a few days, Mrs. Brooks said.

"The office of Price Administration requires these autos to be so priced that the resultant prepared scrap, which includes cleaning, cutting to 18-inch pieces and transportation, will not exceed the ceiling price at the mill," said Mr. Nelson of the War Production Board.

WHO'S NEWS THIS WEEK

By LEMUEL F. PARTON
(Consolidated Features—WNU Service.)

NEW YORK.—There was a skinny boy over on Coney Island who in one day spent $100 popping off ducks and clay pipes on the shooting gallery conveyor belts. He didn't go to college and if he had he probably would have been voted the least likely to succeed.

But, with young people, you can't be too sure what is monkey business or what isn't. This boy, as above, really had his mind on his work when he was hanging away in the shooting gallery. He got himself a work bench and brought through the Garand rifle, which was increased our arm firing power. He told, and which has been to the 53-year-old Garand special command from General MacArthur.

Mr. Garand will a gunsmith at the Springfield armory, earning $100 a year. He has had special offers for his gun, and he has refused them and has waited for the army to make up its mind, during the years of controversy and many rigorous tests.

He is an erect, lean featured, mop-haired man, with alert, bespectacled blue eyes which focus sharply at about the distance of a gun-sight. He seems rather absent-minded about the medals he has won and the money he might have made and is puzzled that anyone should suggest that he ever had any thought other than handing his gun to the government. It was in 1923 that he offered the first rough model of his gun. The bureau standards backed him, grooved him into the Springfield armory, and it was in 1939 that the war department provided funds for the manufacture of the rifle.

He was born in Montreal, was a sweeper in a textile mill in a small Connecticut town at the age of 12 and was working part time in a machine shop when he found his laboratory in the Coney Island shooting galleries.

ONE defect of a non-authoritarian society is that people usually don't consult authorities before making up their minds. We have heard many expressions of alarm based on something "right out of the feed-box," about the supposed general physical unfitness of our new army. It's just a cream-puff army if you listen to these croakers.

None of them took the trouble to telephone the man who knows—Dr. C. E. A. Winslow of Yale university. He has studied the physical fitness of our recruits, after a lifetime as a specialist in such matters. He says: "Our draft army is probably the most physically and mentally competent large body of young men ever gathered together under any flag." Dr. Winslow's succinct finding is reported in the "Fitness-for-Freedom" issue of the Survey-Graphic magazine.

Since 1915, Dr. Winslow has been lauder professor of public health at the New York Museum of Natural History, as director of the division of public health education in the New York state department of public health and has been associated with the Rockefeller foundation in public health research and education. He has written a wide shelf of books on subjects in his field, conducted innumerable surveys, contributed to countless forums and conferences.

Dr. Winslow was the founder of the American Hygiene movement. A 64-year-old Bostonian, he schooled for his life-long battle against physical unfitness at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Yale and New York university.

He has furthered wider participation among college students in health-building sports and he has been a pioneer in both "positive health" and preventive medicine.

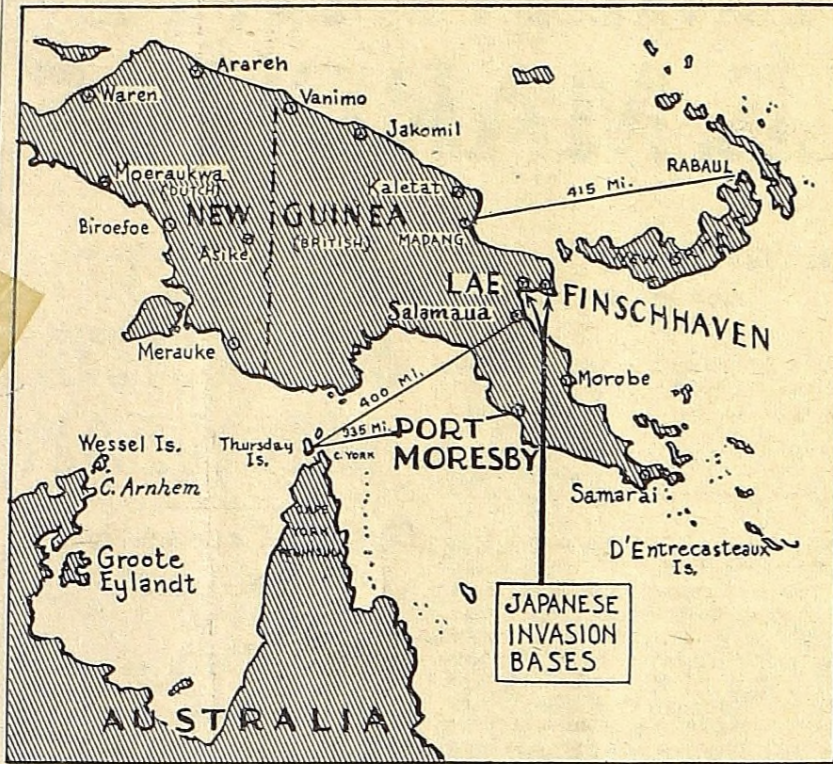

This department has noted a swelling tide of misinformation about the British stalling, the Russians getting ready for a fast double-cross, our war production a mess and our army a push-over. It is possible that somebody who doesn't like us is channeling this into dinner-table talk. It might be a good idea if every American newspaper would run a standing "get it straight" box, giving the names and addresses of trusted authorities in each field of war effort, and urging talkative citizens to hook up with headquarters, or else keep still.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

By Edward C. Wayne

Jap Invasion Bases in New Guinea Strengthen Drive Against Australia; Promised Dominion Status for India Fails to Result in Expected Harmony

(EDITOR'S NOTE—When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of the news analyst and not necessarily of this newspaper.)
(Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

Reports from Australia emphasize the importance of Allied attacks on the Japanese invasion bases of Salamaua and Lae in northeast New Guinea. From Salamaua to Thursday Island, off the northern tip of Australia, the distance is 400 miles. From Port Moresby, the nearest major harbor to the mainland, to Cape York, on the northern Australian tip, the distance is little more than 300 miles.

AUSSIIES:

On the Spot

Hardly had the battle of Java reached the mopping up stages than the battle for the approaches of Australia had started with rumblings from within the continent that the Aussies were far from pleased with the amount of preparedness they had.

The signal for the beginning of the "curtain-raiser" for the attempted invasion of Australia had closely followed the shut-down of communications with Java, and came at the same time news was received that some 3,000 Australian troops, badly needed at home, were still fighting a hopeless fight on the island of Java.

The spearhead of the projected invasion was apparently to be based on the island of New Guinea, just to the north of the continent and immediately threatening it as the shortest airline flight from the East Indies.

The Japs had landed large forces at Salamaua, Lae and at Finschhafen, and had been busily engaged in consolidating these positions as bases of supplies.

This was enough to set at rest any doubts Australians might have had that India and not they were going to be next on the Jap time table. Not only that, but the Japanese, with brutal frankness, had broadcast that Australia was going to suffer the same fate as had the Dutch East Indies.

How much American aid and reinforcement already was in Australia was dubious, and a closely guarded military secret. If we were weak, the military leaders naturally didn't want the Japs to know how weak, and if we were strong enough to defeat them, when and if they should land, these same leaders didn't want to warn them off.

The only stories concerning the amount of aid had come from McDaniel, who had written that the town of Perth was so full of American troops that it looked like an American city, and from British Correspondent Harr, whose dispatch had caused an immediate tempest which hadn't gone anywhere at all.

Harr it was who, apparently writing from the midst of an American convoy bound to Australia had said that the "sea was covered with ships" and that "hundreds of America's best fighting pilots" were aboard.

America also was sending men "from the plains states" he added, but gave no hint of their status.

It was from Australian leaders themselves that the hint came that the continent was ill-prepared. One said:

"It is the plan of the Japanese to attack us before we can get prepared, and before we can receive reinforcements."

Secrecy had muddled the picture for Americans, but certain it was that in going after Australia the Japs were really biting off a chunk which would take a bit of chewing, for they'd find no fifth-column there waiting to be taken over.

MISCELLANY:

Washington: Donald Nelson said he was frankly delighted with the way some factories were changing over to war work, citing in particular a linoleum plant now making guns.

Albuquerque, N. M.: A call went out for 200 women to tend a victory garden. They will accept one male volunteer. He must do the plowing and planting.

INDIA:

Britain's Problem

Churchill had informed Commons, which had been demanding some forthright action on the problem of Hindustan, that nothing could be done now, but repeating his promise of dominion status for India "after the war."

So far this problem was the most trying one facing the British. In Burma they had found what they were up against, with the Burmese revolutionaries joining the Japs, and many of the others turning frankly against all white men.

The British defenders of Burma, cut off by these tactics, had been forced to retreat more and more, and finally, in a daring maneuver, had struck northward, and had smashed their way close to their Chinese allies.

What Britain feared more than anything was a frank and open uprising of all of India's 350,000,000 people, and to this the best Churchill could do had been to re-offer what had been offered back in August, 1940, and which, apparently, had accomplished nothing.

But this time he went a little further. He told the Indians that the government had adopted a definite plan as to how the dominion status would be carried out, and that he was sending his own right-hand man, Sir Stafford Cripps personally to India to explain it all to them.

India's religious and caste problems were, admittedly, severe, and whether Cripps could dig his hand into India and come out with Britain's little white rabbit remained to be seen.

He was a miracle man in Russia, and a miracle man before Commons. Could he perform a third in this war? Britain hoped so.

TAXES:

Millions Pay

Millions of Americans, many of them making their first trip to Uncle Sam's tax windows, had made their income tax returns for 1942, but only a percentage of them were able to pay the full amount.

At the same time they were aware that 1943 taxes would be much higher, and there were thousands who had a different picture of their family budgets after making their returns than they did before.

In the meantime, in Washington, though some government authorities were against the sales tax as putting the burden on the weak, began serious consideration of some form of sales tax as being probably less painful and more sure of large returns than increased income levies.

The house ways and means committee had taken the bit between its teeth in demanding that treasury officials furnish them with data on the probable yield of some form of sales tax.

Secretary Morgenthau had taken the position that a sales tax would be not only inequitable, putting the heaviest burden on the poor, but that it would be inflationary.

The great question in Washington among certain congressmen was "who is now poor?" pointing out that the income tax was already taking all that most people felt they could pay, and the sales tax would, though increasing the cost of living, "come easier."

Strong support had come for these congressmen from William J. Schlefelin Jr., head of the New York State Chamber of Commerce, who suggested a graduated retail sales tax to raise about $4,000,000,000 and only a billion more to be brought with increased income taxes.

NAZIS:

Need Man Power For Spring Drive

Whether Germany was planning peace or not, London had been hearing reports that the Nazis were seriously short of manpower which was needed for the spring offensive against Russia.

The first indication of this was when the Nazis issued an estimate of losses thus far in the war which was by far the largest figure they had ever admitted, though still far short of the Reds' claims.

The Germans admitted loss of 1,500,000 men since the start of the war, and said that half of these had been lost in the winter on the Russian front.

The report had come out of London that the Nazis now were asking for 2,600,000 fresh troops from Italy, Hungary and Slovakia for the spring offensive.

Soviet authorities claimed that the Germans had lost 6,000,000 men on the Russian winter front alone, of these 1,700,000 killed, 2,000,000 seriously wounded, and the rest missing or prisoner.

Of the new troops Germany was said to be asking for 1,500,000 from Hungary, 1,000,000 from Italy and 100,000 from Slovakia. Rumania was said to have given an army of 1,000,000 last fall, but the Reds asserted that practically all of these had been wiped out.

HARA-KIRI:

On Bataan

Though there had been little action on Bataan peninsula, there had been a change in Japanese commanders with stoutish General Homma reported to have plunged a ceremonial knife into his own rotund vitals, and General Yamashita, the conqueror of Malaya, reportedly taking over in his place.

In the best tradition of the Samurai, to be replaced by another general as having failed calls for a quiet trip into a secluded room, there to take a swift trip to visit one's ancestors.

No soft berth at a desk awaits the unsuccessful commander in the field. For him comes swift dishonor, and death just as swift, at his own hand. Such is the code of the Samurai.

When General Homma met General MacArthur he met more than a superior general and superior fighting men—he met the end of the road. At the time Yamashita was organizing his forces for the purpose of wiping out MacArthur and thus wiping away his predecessor's dishonor (or of encountering some of his own) there was a huge demand sweeping the country for some definite answer as to why substantial aid could not be sent to the Philippines.

Accompanying this was some fairly sharp criticism of the administration and its conduct of the war. But in the main the response of the public to the "Send Aid to MacArthur" campaign was rather a tribute to a hero than any suggestion as to how the job might possibly be done.

The President had told his press conference:

"You tell me how to get the help there, and I'll send it."

To this poser the answer had not yet come.

MOVING DAY:

For Aliens

Pacific coast residents were told that the huge machinery necessary for moving about 100,000 enemy aliens and American citizens of Japanese extraction out of the coastal area was finally complete.

The work of moving them, the government had said, might start any day.

Where they would be sent, there had been little hint, but two sections had been mentioned, one of them in Idaho and another in Colorado.

It was to be a huge task, but with the war going as it had been in the Pacific, white residents of the Pacific coast would breathe more easily when they had gone.

RUMORS:

As the war fronts were extended, so the rumor factories kept turning out bigger and bigger stories.

Widely circulated in the United States had been two of them, first, that Churchill would be out and Cripps in as premier in three months; the other that Germany was about to seek peace with Russia.

R.A.F. Raid on Paris Reverberates in U. S.

As Java—Land of Bridges—Prepared for Japs

In the United States an ordinary railroad line would count its bridges and trestles by the scores or by the hundreds. In Java they are numbered in the thousands. Bridges are seen everywhere spanning rivers and ravines. And so, before Java fell to the invading Japs, the Netherlands East Indies mountain army became experts in demolition. At left they are seen as they mined a bridge. Right: A small pontoon bridge for infantry crossing is shown as it was destroyed by a well-placed shell.

Reds' Manager Does a Bit of Explaining

Royal Rough Rider

Reunion After Escape From Hong Kong

'Bundles for Japs'

"Hirohito's Mail Pouch" might be the name for this tin canful of destruction being loaded by a gunnery student at Harlingen, Texas. Each "message" is a .30 caliber machine gun bullet.

Abnormal Tire Wear
 If tires show abnormal wear the trouble may be caused by under-inflation or misaligned wheels, according to the California State Automobile association. Another cause of uneven tire wear is unbalanced wheels. At high speed a wheel only slightly out of balance develops a powerful centrifugal force. This force jerks the wheel up and down as it rotates. In addition to abnormal up and down motion there also may be side motion as the heavy spot moves fore and aft. Unbalanced wheels frequently cause shimmy, abnormal wear in steering mechanism, as well as cupped spots in the tire tread.

New Loading Coils Save Copper and Nickel for War

A LOADING COIL is a doughnut-shaped contrivance of copper wire wound over a ring of alloy containing nickel. Its job is to give your voice an electrical "push" as you talk over a telephone line.
 There is about one loading coil for every mile of an average Long Distance telephone circuit in cable—nearly half a million in Michigan alone, besides about 200,000 on local circuits.
 For years the Bell System's research has been making these coils progressively smaller, yet keeping them as effective as the larger coils. Now, as a further step to help meet the shortage of war materials, loading coils have been developed that use only about half as much copper and nickel as the former type. The pictures indicate the latest reduction in size.
 From this single source, in 1942, the Bell System will save an estimated 40,000 pounds of each of those needed metals.
 In spite of material shortages that make it increasingly difficult to satisfy all service requests as promptly as in the past, Michigan Bell is confidently determined that every war need will be met.

An ordinance authorizing blackouts and air raid protection orders. Rules and Regulations. Prescribing penalties for violation thereof; and declaring emergency.
Whereas, a state of war exists between the United States of America and Japan, Germany and Italy, and the defense of the United States of America in the hands of the Army and Navy; and
Whereas, in modern warfare no city, however distant from the enemy is free from attack; and
Whereas, lights at nighttime are a definite aid to the enemy in reaching military and other objectives; and
Whereas, blackouts, when ordered by the Army or Navy are essential to the preservation of life and property in this city, and it is imperative that the city of Tawas City aid the Army and Navy by all possible co-operation and assistance; and
Whereas, failure to extinguish lights when ordered to do so by duly authorized authorities may result in loss of life by hundreds of the residents of the city of Tawas City as well as the residents of other parts of the nation when lights in this city are used as a guide to other objectives; and
Whereas, failure to comply with orders, rules and regulations governing evacuations, traffic movements, congregation of persons in streets and other public places will result in confusion and unnecessary loss of life both during blackouts and during air raids in the daytime, now therefore,
Be it ordained by the city of Tawas City.

Section 1. In order to protect life and property in the city of Tawas City from enemy action the Mayor (or the designated local Civil Defense Official) is authorized and directed to carry out blackouts and air raid protection measures in said city at such times and for such periods as are ordered by the Army and Navy and to promulgate such orders, rules and regulations as may be necessary to insure the success of the blackouts and air raid protection measures and to protect life and property during said periods. Provided that said orders rules and regulations shall include traffic movements of emergency or other vehicles, evacuation of residents, congregation of persons on public streets, sidewalks in public places or buildings, but this enumeration shall not be taken as a limitation on the power to promulgate orders, rules, regulations governing any other subject, persons or property which must be regulated in order to insure the proper carrying out of any duly authorized blackout or air raid protection measure. Provided further that practice blackouts and air raid drills may be carried out with the approval of the Army or Navy and the orders, rules and regulations authorized herein may include the orders, rules and regulations necessary for the carrying out of such practice blackouts or air raid drills.
Section 2. All orders, rules and regulations authorized by this ordinance for the conduct of the general public shall be in writing and shall be available for public inspection at the place and during the hours fixed by the Mayor (or designated local Civil Defense Official).
Section 3. Any order, rule or regulation promulgated pursuant to the authority conferred by this ordinance shall be in force and effect from the time of promulgation until amended or repealed by the Mayor (or head of the local Civil Defense Council) or until repealed by the council of the city of Tawas City.
Section 4. The Mayor may appoint for a specified time as many special police, without pay, from among residents of the city of Tawas City as may be deemed advisable for service in connection with any blackout or air raid protection measure. During the term of service police, they shall possess all the powers and privileges and perform all the duties of privates in the standing police force of the city of Tawas City. Said special police must wear such identifying emblem as may be prescribed by the Mayor and it shall be unlawful for any said special policeman to attempt to carry out any order, rule or regulation promulgated under the authority conferred by this ordinance when he is not wearing said identifying emblem.
Section 5. AAA Notes

March is M month—Mobilization month. Farmers must make ready for the spring drive on "Food for Freedom Production." As we are insured a fair price for all farm commodities by our government now is the time for us to go all out for production and pay off our debts this fall.
***
Farmers who are having difficulty getting parts to repair farm machinery, should get in touch with their committeemen. The limited supply of new machinery should be saved for those farmers who absolutely need it.
***
Victory gardens are an essential part of the plan to provide better balanced diet and to relieve the demand for commercially canned vegetables thus freeing more for military needs and bolster the morale of the American people.
***
Potato growers will be encouraged to plant their full 1942 potato acreage allotments under the AAA program by a price supporting program for the 1942 crop of Irish potatoes announced by the United States Department of Agriculture.
Nine Motherhood Titles

Mrs. Pratt is a mother, mother-in-law, grand mother, stepmother, stepmother-in-law, step-grandmother, foster mother, foster mother-in-law and foster grandmother. She hopes to become a great-grandmother any day now.
Dangerous Firewood
Mrs. L. Marais of Cyferkuil, Western Transvaal, picked up a piece of firewood while lighting her kitchen fire and found to her horror that she had seized a deadly night adder. With great presence of mind, the housewife struck it against the floor and battered it to death.
Auto in 1907 $2,000
The motorist who is worrying about the rumors of advancing automobile prices should be glad this isn't 1907. Automobile prices today average about one-third what they were in 1907. In that year the average automobile cost $2,131, with top, windshield and horn extra.

Money Divorce Cause

Money, or rather the lack of it, is the most common cause of marital troubles, according to Circuit Judge Paul D. Barnes of Miami, and he should know, for last year he handled 4,000 divorce cases. "Willingness to live within income is the most important thing I can say to young married couples," Judge Barnes said. "The tendency to exceed income seems to be a fashion of the times, but it's probably the most disastrous habit married couples can fall into."

DEEP WATER ISLAND

by ALAN LEMAY

W-N-U-RELEASE

INSTALLMENT TEN
THE STORY SO FAR: Karen Waterson, convinced by her lawyer, John Colt, that she has a claim to the island estate of her grandfather, Garrett Waterson, has come to Honolulu to attempt getting the property. In an effort to find out something about the Wayne family, now in control of Alakoa, the island, she accepts a date to go sailing with Richard (Tonga Dick) Wayne. Against her wishes, James Wayne, Dick's uncle and manager of the property, is found dead from overwork. While taking Karen back to Honolulu, next day, Dick tells her he loves her but they later quarrel. Dick then sees John Colt and when a compromise offer to him falls he tells Colt that their Pacific venture will fail. He goes back to Alakoa and tells his half-brothers that he knows Garrett Waterson to be alive. They question his word. Now continue with the story.

The swift twilight of the latitude was closing sharply, but the glasses were still able to bring out every detail aboard the Diesel boat.

“Granting that an ordinary man might drop out of sight that way,” Willard said, “it still would have been impossible for Garrett Waterson. He was too big, too important—”

Dick was getting disgusted again. “No, he wasn’t—he only imagined he was. Once he was broke, he wasn’t of any importance or interest to anybody—except to you, and to you only because you thought he was a skeleton in the closet. Doubtless this will surprise you, but the fact is that Alakoa is a small, obscure, and unimportant speck on the map, suitable for supporting a few hundred people, and of no other significance whatever. The fact that Garrett Waterson once had hold of it for a while would not distinguish him in the eyes of anybody, except yourselves.”

Both brothers looked scandalized. “If all this can be proved,” Ernest began, “I mean, if his actual identity can be proved—”

“Of course it can be proved! It’s a plain, demonstrable fact—can’t you understand that?”

“If Dick is to be believed,” Willard said, “our worries are over, Ernest. They can go ahead and investigate their heads off and it won’t get ‘em a thing. And Karen Waterson’s case against us falls flat as—”

“As a bird in the hand,” Dick suggested.

Suddenly a new angle occurred to Willard Wayne. “I suppose,” he said, “since you are working for Waterson, as you say, this boat of yours isn’t yours at all, but his—is that right?”

“Then,” said Willard, “whatever business he’s in now, he must be enjoying a considerable success. That alone ought to furnish proof that he’s competent.”

“Unfortunately, there’s a catch in that, too,” said Dick, “and it’s a big one.”

“Just what business is he in?” Ernest demanded. “Where does his money come from? Or is that something else that isn’t supposed to concern us?”

“It concerns you very much,” Dick said.

“Well?”

Dick Wayne grinned sardonically, even maliciously, and stood up, preparatory to walking out. “Ask Garrett Waterson,” he suggested. “If he doesn’t feel like telling you, it won’t do you any good to know.”

John Colt, aboard a Diesel boat hardly better than the sampans the Japanese fishermen used, arrived at Alakoa at sunset.

Dick Wayne, watching the little vessel blunder and grope its way through the reefs—she was sounding frantically with no less than three lead lines—knew at once that the one-eyed Captain Ramey had managed to sell John Colt a charter at last, if only for an excursion.

Ramey’s boat dropped anchor five hundred yards from the Holokai. Evidently Dick’s brothers had sent orders to the dock that John Colt should be brought to the house immediately upon arrival for Alakoa’s shore launch put out immediately, Hokano steering, and took off John Colt. Tonga Dick watched this maneuver impassively. There was no longer any danger that his brothers would be bluffed into something by Colt. The decision would rest with Waterson himself, and no one else.

He got his binoculars now and focused them upon Ramey’s boat. The swift twilight of the latitude was closing sharply, but the glasses were still able to bring out every detail aboard the Diesel boat. The little tramp vessel sat awkwardly on the water, her snub nose tilted upward inane. She had a disorderly, faintly disreputable look, but Dick knew she concealed a surprising turn of speed.

Karen Waterson was leaning over the rail, talking to Captain Ramey. Dick could see the stitching in her narrow hat brim, and the shadow of her lashes. The movement of her lips, while he could hear no least sound of her voice, had a strange effect, making her seem immeasurably far away.

As darkness fell, Dick saw Captain Ramey leave Karen’s side, and in a moment or two a light showed in the Seal’s galley. Tonga Dick smiled a little, without much humor, as he deduced from this that Ramey had been left in the lurch by his cook.

Now the shore boat put out from the dock again, this time pointing directly to the Holokai. Tonga Dick watched it approach with a mini-

“What do they want up there now?” Dick asked wearily.

“Nothing, Mr. Dick, that I know.” Wong was nervous; there was a flutter in his long-boned hands as he produced a twisted slip of paper. “I came to you of my own thought. Up at our receiving station they keep hearing some ship calling the Holokai—they can’t tell what ship. Its call letters aren’t listed—no one ever heard them before. We think it may be some outlaw station. At any rate, the call comes in very persistently; and we didn’t hear you answer, so I came to tell you.”

“What were the call letters?”

“I have them written here.”

Tonga Dick took the paper Wong offered him and unfolded it. Even before he made out its typewritten characters in the falling light, he knew what ship it would be.

“They were still calling when you left the house?”

“Yes, sir.”

“Come here, Wong.”

Tonga Dick ran back along the deck and dived into the little kennel, abaft the galley, which served as a radio shack, and Charles Wong came pattering after him. He clamped on his earphones and carefully with micrometer delicacy, began to turn the big dial of the short wave receiver; but for minutes there was no result.

“He must have shut down,” Dick said at last. “If you catch it again at the Alakoa station, you’d better answer and take the—”

Just then the hunted signal came in, so powerfully that the effect was blasting. Somewhere, unexpectedly close at hand, Garrett Waterson was calling Dick Wayne from the sea.

Dick quieted the blocked and clattering receiver. “Good Lord He’s right on top of us! Yes, he’s calling us, all right.”

Dick’s earphones were beginning to zing with the measured letters of a message that was something more than news.

“SAR WIT WATERSON ABOARD QTP ALAKOA 2 HRS.”

Dick Wayne could not believe his own ears. Angriily he worked his key, sending out a protest—

“RPT ALL—RPT—”

The message from the sea hesitated and started over again. Abruptly it changed its pace, breaking into a racing chatter.

“WHT IN HELL IS MTR U CANT U UNDERSTAND ENGLISH QTP 10 PM STAND OUTSIDE CORAL TO PILOT THRU SHOALS—G WATERTSON QSL?”

Tonga Dick Wayne acknowledged with a curt “QSL,” and shut off his generator.

“Garrett Waterson’s power yacht Sarah will be in in two hours,” he told Wong, “and—Waterson himself is on board.”

Charles Wong, stumbling after him out of the radio shack, looked as if he had seen a ghost; obviously he had been able to hear, and to understand, the international code.

“Do—do you want your brothers to know?”

“It doesn’t make a particle of difference, either way.”

Charles Wong waited a moment, and seemed about to say something more; but changed his mind, and lowered himself over the side into the waiting boat.

The launch chattered its way back to the dock, and presently, after its voice had died, there came across the water the sound of a racing automobile engine as Charles Wong, handling his car badly, raced through the village toward the hills.

Dick stood for some minutes with his hands on the rail, staring at the darkening sea. Roughly checking known distance against the relative speeds of the Sarah and the Holokai, he estimated that Garrett Waterson must have pointed the Sarah north no more than a few hours after Dick had set sail with the Holokai.

Hurriedly Dick Wayne’s eyes swept the bay. An outrigger canoe, sailed silently in the light air by a single Hawaiian spearman, was coming in across the still water from a day’s fishing beyond the reefs. Dick sent a low whistle across the water, and the outrigger sheered in close to the side of the Holokai.

“Take me over to that stranger boat,” Tonga Dick swung over the rail and dropped into the moving canoe.

“Okay, Captain Dick.”

Karen Waterson was still standing by the rail, quiet and alone, as the silent outrigger sliced close. Tonga Dick stood up, reached the boat’s low rail, and swung aboard.

CHAPTER X

The outrigger moved off a little, drifting idly. It was the girl who spoke first, her voice hushed in the quiet.

“I thought you might come over here.”

“Dick Wayne leaned close to her so that their shoulders touched, and held his voice low, hoping that Captain Ramey would not be brought out of his galley.

“I have something to tell you,” he said. “Something’s happened—the whole situation is changed. John Colt can’t accomplish anything here. The fight is off, and if it starts again it will be on an entirely new basis.”

A Birthday Cake With Candles—Goody! (See Recipes Below)

Happy Returns

Birthdays the children have are the ones which they usually cherish most even though they may have bigger cakes and more candles in later years. So with this in mind, I’m including a few suggestions.

Cake ‘n’ ice cream are tops, and a bit of candy to sweeten the tooth dictate the party. The cake can be simple, decorated with a ten-cent pastry tube. If you don’t want to take the time to spell out the letters, you can buy these for a nominal sum, and have a professional looking cake right out of your own kitchen.

Have the children send out their own invitations, even make them up if they like—this will be grand fun for them. Twirling crepe paper for decorations and getting the chairs in place will please them no end, for these, though small, will give them a wonderful sense of “doing something.”

For the cake I’ve chosen an inexpensive but fascinatingly red Devil’s Food Cake. (Makes 2 8-inch layers)

- 1½ cups sugar
- ½ cup shortening
- 1 egg, beaten
- 4 tablespoons cocoa
- 1 teaspoon red food coloring
- 2 tablespoons strong, hot coffee
- 2 cups sifted cake flour
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon soda
- 1 cup buttermilk
- 1 teaspoon vanilla

Cream shortening and sugar until light. Blend in egg which has been beaten until foamy. Mix cocoa, coloring and hot coffee into a smooth paste, stir into mixture. Sift flour, measure, then sift again with soda and salt. Add to mixture alternately with buttermilk, folding and beating after each addition. Add vanilla. Turn into two greased, waxed paper lined tins and bake in a moderate (350-degree) oven for 25 to 30 minutes. Ice with the following:

- 2½ cups sifted powdered sugar
- ¾ cup sweetened, condensed milk
- 2½ teaspoons vanilla
- Dash of salt

Stir powdered sugar gradually into the sweetened, condensed milk. Add vanilla and salt. Beat until smooth and creamy. Spread on cold cakes. A clown’s face to glamorize the cake, as shown in the picture, can be made with melted chocolate using a water-color paint brush.

Candy, not too rich, but honeyed and fruity, spell glamour for the children’s party. Try substituting fruit and honey in candy to make it nutritious, but still good!

- Fruit Candy.
- ¼ cup dried prunes
- ¼ cup dried apricots
- ¼ cup dried figs
- ½ cup dates
- ¼ cup raisins
- ½ cup honey

Let dried prunes and apricots stand in boiling water 5 minutes. Run all fruit through a food chopper, fine knife. Add honey. Butter hands and shape candy into balls. Roll in chopped nuts, coconut or coat with confectioners’ chocolate.

Honeyed Orange Peel.
 Remove peel in quarters from 6 oranges. Cover with water and boil

This Week’s Menu:

- Tomato Juice
- *Perch Fillets with Lemon Slice
- *Cabbage Creole
- Julienne Green Beans
- Frozen Fruit Salad
- Nut Bread
- Butter
- Apricot Upside Down Cake
- Coffee
- Tea
- Milk

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

If you wish to serve your guests individual cakes, bake your cake in a loaf. When baked, cut it in squares, frost them on four sides and decorate the tops with walnuts.

Silver should always be polished following the shape of the object—flatware lengthwise and hollowware with a large circular motion.

Shabby leather upholstery may be revived by washing with a cloth wrung out in warm water, to which a little vinegar has been added. Polish can be restored after washing by rubbing with a mixture of the whites of two eggs beaten up with a dash of turpentine.

Thickening for gravies or soups may be made quickly by beating equal amounts of flour and water into a small, deep bowl with an egg-beater until a smooth mixture is formed.

Spiced beet slices or pickled carrots make piquant garnishes for the cold-meat platter. A few of each will do, along with a few sprigs of parsley.

To save frequent dusting, a dust-cloth that does a thorough job is a household necessity. Put one tablespoon of furniture polish of good quality into a quart glass fruit jar, and shake the jar until the polish coats the sides. Put a yard of clean cheesecloth into the jar and cover it. Let the cloth remain in the jar several days before using. Refill the jar with another cloth and another measure of polish after each dusting.

Avoid handling electrical apparatus with wet hands. Always turn off the main switch before trying to repair outlets or lights. Disconnect cords before working on them.

Silica gel, a processed sand with a very high moisture absorptive quality, is now being used in cupboards to keep salt, sugar and crackers dry, in drawers to preserve important papers and in cabinets to prevent the rusting of tools and instruments, says Collier's. By turning from blue to pink, the sand indicates that it has reached the moisture limit and must be dried in an oven.
