Funds for New Forest Road Frozen by War

In a communication this week G. Donald Kennedy, state highway commissioner, said "The State Highway Department had planned to continue our highway development this year in the Huron National Forest by hard surfacing M-65 from the Five Channels Dam to Hale.

"For this purpose an allocation of $53,988.64 was programmed and approved by the U. S. Forest Service and the Public Roads Administration, and the State Highway Department was prepared to match this allocation, and plans had been ordered prepared for the project.

"Unfortunately, however, we have just been advised that because of the war program these funds have been frozen and it will be necessary to temporarily cancel our plans. Under present regulations set up by the Federal government, all Federal Aid projects must now be approved by the War Department, and to gain such approval they must be deemed essential to the war program by the Army or Navy."

Charles Bonine, state committee man, stressed the importance of educational work, and the part that the rural women should play in getting this educational work across. He pointed out the fact that the agricultural program was set up to guard against the thing that happened during the last war, namely price inflation, depression and unemployment. He also pointed out that we should do all we can to entertain the men in our armed forces.

Berkley Smith, secretary of the East Tawas Chamber of Commerce, welcomed the farm guests to East Tawas and pledged all co-operation possible to help the AAA program and County War Board.

Ladies' and men's discussion groups occupied the balance of the afternoon. The main question brought up in the ladies group was "How Can Women do Their Part in Taking Care of the Evacuees Assigned to This County?" It was suggested that this could be accomplished by planting larger gardens, canning more vegetables and fruit, taking better care of the poultry, thus increasing egg production. It was also pointed out that hot lunches served in the schools would help build up the undernourished, and in helping to care for evacuees, community kitchens could be established.

The men's discussion group brought out the question "Are We Going to Meet the Goals Set Up for the Country?" It was stated that in a recent survey it was found that farmers would exceed this goal. They also discussed labor deficiency, the egg market, and prices on beans, potatoes and other commodities.

Members of the Tawas City Parent-Teachers association are planning an open house meeting at the school next Thursday evening for their regular meeting, states Supt. Carlson. Thursday afternoon classes will be dismissed to meet in the evening, so that parents may attend any desired class. Classes will be 15-minute sessions. The hot lunch will also be a feature of the open house just as it is used every noon by the children. Every parent is urged to attend this very instructive meeting and enjoy the complete program.

Mrs. E. Ross and Mrs. O. Westcott are in charge of the program, with Mrs. Clyde Montgomery and Mrs. Wm. Rapp in charge of the lunch.

LAST RITES FOR ANSON GOUPIL HELD MONDAY

Burleigh Township Farmer Succumbs to Long Illness

Anson J. Goupil, highly esteemed Burleigh township farmer, passed away last week Thursday. He deceased was 55 years of age.

Anson Joseph Goupil was born May 7, 1886, at Whittemore. He was united in marriage April 15, 1912, to Mary Fortune. To this union were born five daughters and one son.

Mr. Goupil had lived his entire life on the farm where he was born. He was a highly respected citizen, good neighbor, and a loving husband and father, and will be greatly missed in the community.

Mr. Goupil's health had been failing for the past year. He had undergone a serious operation in December at Ann Arbor for brain tumor from which he never regained his strength. All that medical care and loving hands could do was done to relieve him of his suffering until the end.

He is survived by the wife, Mary; five daughters, Mrs. Walter Kay, of Bay City, Mrs. Ed Urban and Evelyn, of Bay City, and Mrs. Ed Underwood, of Flint; Mrs. Ludwig Carlson, of Detroit; Mrs. Oscar Hoffman, of Monroe, and Mrs. Harold Donaldson, of Lansing, besides a host of relatives and friends. ### The Smelt Run

Smelt are exploring the possibilities of making the grand run up Tawas river, according to sportsmen watching the stream. A few were caught Wednesday night, and with this warm weather, the rush will be on within the next few days.

Smelt dippers need no photograph-and-fingerprint identification cards so long as they stay out of boats, the conservation department reports, but at practically all smelt dipping locations they will need a state fishing license.

DEEP WATER ISLAND

by ALAN LEMAY

W-N-U-RELEASE

INSTALLMENT TWELVE
THE STORY SO FAR: Karen Waterson, convinced by her lawyer, John Colt, that she has a claim to the island estate of her grandfather, Garrett Waterson, Tonga Dick or Richard Wayne, a member of the Wayne family which has been in control of the property since her grandfather's disappearance. Dick's uncle, James Wayne, manager of this island, Alakoa, dies from overwork and Dick attempts to work out a compromise settlement of Karen's claim. This is refused. Meantime Karen has learned that both Colt and Dick are in love with her. Dick reveals that Karen is not an heiress at all, as Garrett Waterson is alive and on his way to Alakoa. Dick and Karen leave the island together and some distance out find that Liliu, a native house-girl, has stowed away in the boat. Dick questions her regarding her actions. Now continue with the story.

The girl let the sway of the ship take her then. She swayed against the doorway's stanchion, and stayed there.

thin-bodied, thin-faced San Francisco stenographer, sharp-edged in mind and manner because any girl needs to be, making her own way. He could see her in the light of the reason that she was here—a short-cutting little adventuress, willingly lending herself to the predacious brain of John Colt in the hunt for unearned fortune. A girl proud without background, arrogant without attainment...

But still behind that, like a mist-figure seen beyond steel cogs and wheels, hovered persistently his own conception of what this girl might have been—perhaps still could be. He was obsessed by the haunting belief that if what he had hunted for always was not in this girl, then it was somehow lost out of the world. "And now," Karen said, "I think you might put back to Alakoa—don't you? Because you said—"

"No," Dick answered. "I ask you to turn back." "I'm not going to put back. At least not yet. Not until you come to your senses, Karen." He didn't know why he told her that. The impulse was jerking at him to do as she said, and take himself well out of this thing forever; to turn back to John Colt, and be rid of her once and for all. He could see Liliu's steady eyes—and no man could ever forget what she had said. He honestly supposed that it would have been better for him to relax into the world of Liliu—to lose himself by day in the casual adventures of the warm sea, and by night in the arms of an island woman who doubted nothing, asked nothing—could be well-content with food and a man. But—something stubborn within him held on.

Karen said incisively, "You promised you'd turn back if I asked." "Not yet. Later, if you want. Not yet." He had given up ever hearing any expression from her again, before she spoke. "I guess—" she said—"I guess, Dick, I don't blame you." Of all things on earth, he had least expected to hear that. Inanelly he said, "Again, please?" "Men are what they are," Karen said, her voice somehow distant, yet not unfriendly—and women are what they are. People who hunt for the absolute are fools.

"Always?" "Oh, yes; always. But maybe I'm a fool, too. I think—" Her tone wavered, but steadied again. "I think—maybe you'd better go on. Go on to Hilo—and give me a little time. We'll still come out, Dick, I think." "Listen," Dick said, "I want you to have this decently straight. I give you my word—and I wouldn't offer proof if I could;—I never made love to this girl in my life, nor so much as laid a hand on her." "No?"

He didn't even bother to answer that; he knew what to expect from this girl by now. He held on still because to him only one adventure was conceivable, and that adventure was Karen—literally, for she was more than an epitome: she was the adventure itself. "I don't see why—" Karen began. The rushing sound of the Holokai through the uneven sea seemed to come between them again, so that he never knew what she had started to say. Suddenly he turned, and shouted for Inyashi; the little Japanese came running along the deck. "Get—get ready to put about." "Yes, Captain."

Almost at once the voice of the ship altered, slacking off and quieting. "So," Karen said, "it was you who changed your mind, after all!" Dick said thickly, "You're going to have to believe the truth when I tell it to you." "Either," she said, "I'll take you as you really are, or I'll never take you at all." "You'll never take me, or I you," Dick said harshly, "on the basis of any such lie as is in your mind." "The Polynesians are known everywhere as a mild, easygoing race. Am I supposed to think that this Kanaka woman, without any encouragement or any past relationship with you, suddenly runs wild, and goes to passionate, extreme lengths—"

"Liliu is not all Polynesian, Karen." "I have no doubt she's a little of everything." "I don't think you're so very charitable, either to her or to me. Not even to yourself." "To myself?" He was silent.

"She's beautiful, Dick," Karen said. "I can see that. But I hate her, Dick. When I look at the dark, coppery color of her skin, and think of you touching her—it seems to me that I can never look at a brown skin again without—" "Stop it! You don't know what you're saying." "Well, she is of a different color." "Karen—that girl is your cousin."

A few seconds passed while she comprehended that; then she whirled sharply toward him. "You mean to tell me—" "You wondered why Liliu has charge of the whole house on Alakoa? You wondered if there wasn't a special answer to that? Well, now you know the right answer. Liliu is Garrett Waterson's granddaughter—just the same as you."

He faced her squarely. Her whole body seemed to have gone tense, but for the moment she was unable to speak; and he never found out what she would have asked him first. From within the ship issued a thin, small, and somehow distant sound—unrecognizable and inarticulate, but so thoroughly unaccountable in the ordinary world of reality that every figure upon the deck of the Holokai was instantly struck motionless. Even the perpetually trotting Inyashi stopped, and stood frozen on the swaying deck. They were waiting to hear if that sound should come again, once more cutting through the laboring of the little ship, and the great, persistent rush and wallop of the sea.

It did not come again; but after a moment Dick knew that what he had heard was a woman's terrified scream. It was Dick himself who burst into action. He raced aft, sprang into the ladder well, and in a second more was in the main cabin, where he, and Karen, and Liliu had faced each other such a little while ago; and here he stood, for a moment balancing to the sea...

He didn't see her at first. That cabin, deep, but narrow as the little ship, seemed strangely empty; he had paced alone here a thousand times, without ever sensing the utter vacancy that was here now. The door of his little cabin, wedged into against its latch—swinging half open, then banging shut again without catching, with the perversity of all doors. He sprang the length of the cabin with a furious activity; and booted that door into its wall-catch, once and for all; but there was no one in the cramped stall where he usually slept.

Then, turning, he saw her; and was instantly by her side. Liliu lay in a little crumpled heap at the end of the table, and half under it. He had seen death many times; but it seemed to him now that he had never seen anyone so utterly lifeless, so completely slumped into an unutterable oblivion, as Liliu's form seemed there, dropped like seaweed left on the beach.

He picked her up in his arms—gently as he could, but so hand-capped by the Holokai's roll that he cursed the helmsman for not holding the vessel steadier into the seas. He got her down onto his own bunk at last. He kissed her mouth as he laid her down, then sought the source of the blood that was staining his shirt, and the bunk upon which he had placed her. There was a knife wound under Liliu's left breast—how deep he could not tell. He snatched cotton from an emergency cabinet nailed to the wall, and crammed it deep into the wound. She stiffened convulsively when he did that. It was his first intimation that she was alive.

He tucked a blanket over her tightly, so that she would not be rolled by the Holokai's pitch, and stepped to the door. The Chinese mess boy had appeared uncertainly from the pantry; Dick seized him, and pulled him into the bunk room.

Toasted Bunnies Parade for This Easter Dinner! (See Recipes Below)

Easter Time

As gay as red tulips with food as fresh and appealing as spring itself is the Easter dinner menu I have planned for you today. It's simple and economical as is in keeping with the times, but with spring-like accents that lurk in the fragrant mint leaves, spring lamb, green peas, crisp, bright salad and in the distinctive ice cream.

With Easter on the wing, winter is definitely on the way out, and our thoughts naturally turn to lighter foods and delicate, pastel table settings. For Easter brings out your loveliest white cloths or pastel yellows. As flowers jonquils make an inexpensive but effective centerpiece. Or, for something more dramatic, try red tulips in the center of the bowl banked on all sides by white snapdragons.

*Leg of Lamb Roast.
 The paper thin covering or "fell" on your leg of lamb does not affect the flavoring of the cut and need not be removed until just before serving. In fact, when left on, it keeps the roast in better shape, cooks more quickly and keeps the juices well within the meat.

Mix ½ teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper, 1 tablespoon dry mustard, 3 tablespoons flour with ½ cup cold water. Spread this over the leg of lamb. Roast uncovered in a moderately slow (325-degree) oven 30 to 35 minutes to the pound. Spread with currant jelly the last 20 minutes. Baste meat every 15 minutes.

*Apricot Garnish.
 Use canned halves of apricots or stewed halves, well chilled. Place a nugget of mint jelly in the center and serve around the leg of lamb roast.

A touch of red is a hard color to resist especially if it's in a crispy, zesty salad as this one:
*Cranberry Apple Salad.
 (Serves 6)
 1 package lemon gelatin
 1 cup boiling water
 ½ of a pound can of cranberry sauce
 1 apple
 ½ orange
 1 teaspoon lemon juice

Dissolve the gelatin in boiling water and chill until thickened. Crush cranberry sauce.

Lynn Says:

The Easter dinner I planned for you is economical but doubly so because you can make good use of the leftovers.

Cut the remainder of the roast off the bone, grind it with a fine grinder, ½ onion, the potatoes and green peas. Place in a buttered dish, bake until heated. During the last seven minutes of baking break eggs whole on top of lamb mixture and serve as soon as eggs have cooked.

If you have just a little of the cranberry apple salad left, cut it into small cubes and serve as a relish. For salad, use leftover apricots from the roast garnish and fill the center with cream cheese and nuts and serve in lettuce cups with your favorite dressing.

If you have a few leftover green peas from dinner toss them together with a few carrots, shredded for a change. You can cream these, or mix them with a few bits of crumbled bacon. Far variation you might try a few tiny boiled onions with the leftover peas to make enough for a vegetable dish.

Rolls though leftover go over well even the next day. You can slice, toast and butter them. If you like them whole, simply put in a covered casserole with a few drops of water and allow a few minutes to heat through.

Dessert? This is easy. Spoon the ice cream on vanilla wafers, top with another wafer, more ice cream until all is used. Chill for an hour or so and serve sliced with a dab of whipped cream if desired.

Easter Dinner

- Fruit Cup with Mint Leaves
- *Leg of Lamb Roast with Apricot Garnish
- *Creamed Potatoes Green Peas
- *Cranberry Apple Salad
- *Honey Rolls
- *Almond Ice Cream with Easter Bunnies
- *Recipes Given

Grind apple and orange, leaving skins on. Combine cranberry sauce with fruits and lemon juice. Add to gelatin. Pour into molds and chill until firm, or pour into a refrigerator tray and cut in squares when ready to serve. Serve on crisp lettuce with creamy mayonnaise.

Crusty, fragrant honey rolls are a gracious addition to your Easter dinner. No need to worry about food shortages when excellent rolls such as this are minus sugar and only a small amount of fat and one egg. Rolled and cut to look like a swirl, these Honey rolls may be baked in buttered muffin tins, or may be shaped into cloverleaves. Have them hot or cold as you prefer, they're good both ways.

*Honey Rolls.
 1 cup milk
 ½ cup honey
 ¼ cup fat
 1 cake compressed yeast softened in ¼ cup lukewarm water
 1½ teaspoons salt
 1 egg
 4 cups flour

Scald milk, add fat and honey. Add yeast, salt and 2 cups flour. Then add beaten egg and remainder of flour to form a soft dough. Knead lightly until smooth. Let rise twice, then form into rolls. Let rise until light. Bake in a hot (400-degree) oven about 20 minutes.

*Creamed Potatoes.
 Method I. Peel new potatoes and wash thoroughly. Cook them in boiling water for 10 minutes. Add enough rich milk not quite enough to cover, and finish cooking potatoes. Be careful not to burn potatoes, stirring often, or cook in double boiler. Add salt, pepper and butter to taste.

Method II. Boil new potatoes in their jackets. Cool and peel. Melt 2 tablespoons butter, blend in 2 tablespoons flour, and add 1 cup of milk. Cook slowly, stirring constantly, until thick. Add potatoes to this, season, and heat through.

Easter dinner with the traditional leg of lamb, peas and mint jelly touches demands a distinctive and at the same time a harmoniously flavored dessert. Almond flavoring is perfect foil, guaranteed to please, in this creamy, quickly prepared ice cream. No sugar required!

*Almond Ice Cream.
 (Serves 6)
 ¾ cup sweetened condensed milk
 ½ cup water
 1½ teaspoons almond extract
 1 cup whipping cream
 ½ cup finely shredded almonds

Mix sweetened condensed milk, water and almond flavoring. Chill. Whip cream to custard-like consistency and fold into chilled mixture. Freeze in a freezing unit until half frozen. Scrape from tray and beat until smooth but not melted. Add almonds. Replace in freezing unit until frozen.

For the Easter bunnies you may use day-old sliced white bread. Cut the bread with a bunny-shaped cookie cutter. Spread all sides of the cutouts with sweetened condensed milk, then roll in dry, shredded coconut, broken fine. Brown under broiler at low heat, watching very carefully, or toast over coals if you prefer by placing the bunnies on a fork. These taste like coconut frosted angel food.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

By Edward C. Wayne

U. S. Heartened by Naval Offensive Against Jap Bases in South Pacific; Air Attacks on Port Darwin Continue As Allies Strike Back in New Guinea

(EDITOR'S NOTE—When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of the news analyst and not necessarily of this newspaper.)
(Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

Dr. Herbert Vere Evatt, left, Australian minister for external affairs, being greeted by Acting Secretary of State Sumner Welles and Richard G. Casey, British minister of state in the Middle East, at the Washington airport. The selection of Casey, former Australian minister to Washington, to serve in the British cabinet, raised a controversy between Australian Prime Minister John Curtin and Winston Churchill. The Australian government disavowed Casey as Australian representative.

ATTACK: Navy Strikes Twice

A double-barreled attack by a navy task force, the same which had struck with devastating force on the Marshall and Gilbert islands, had been delivered on Wake island and Marcus island, the latter only 950 miles from Tokyo.

The latter attack scared Tokyo so badly that the city ordered blackouts for several days afterward, it was announced.

The delay in announcing these attacks apparently occurred because, in the first instance, the navy force was on the way from Wake to Marcus, and didn't want to "telegraph its punch" on the latter island.

As to the second attack, the need for delay was probably one of two factors, either that the navy force was moving on elsewhere, or else it was on its way back to Pearl Harbor for refueling and resupplying, probably the latter, as the dispatches came from there.

Considerable credit for the four attacks, as the latter two must be considered part of the general onslaught which included the Marshall and Gilbert islands, was given to the commander of the force, Vice Admiral W. F. Halsey.

In the first two the navy had lost a number of planes, but in the latter two battles, the only losses were two planes, both shot down by anti-aircraft fire.

Surprise had been an important factor in both attacks, because at Wake Island three four-motored seaplanes had been found and destroyed before they got into the air, and at Marcus island no air strength of any kind was found.

It began to explain the need for censorship—for the Japs had a nearly completed airfield on the island, and certainly would have had planes there if they'd known our forces were on the way.

Ringside View

One reporter, riding on an aircraft carrier, reported that its planes dumped 12 tons of high explosives on Marcus island alone.

His ringside view of the significance of the battle was that it had shattered an important link in Japan's chain of island bases connecting the country with its southwest Pacific theater of war.

Marcus also had been referred to in dispatches as "Japanese Hawaii," being a base not only potentially great for planes, but for ships as well.

The Wake island attack was not completely a surprise, as the navy surface ships encountered a Jap gunboat seven miles off the island, and before she was sunk with one broadside, she was able to flash word to the shore that the "Yanks were coming!"

The Marcus island attack was in the darkness, but the Wake island battle was in full daylight, the shelling starting at 7:05 a. m.

Just how little good a blackout does was shown at Marcus island, where a flight of bombing planes was sent over the island with flares, lighting their objectives, and the first few hits started such huge fires that the other bombing flights needed no flares.

Shortly after the attack on Marcus started the radio station went off the air abruptly. It had been struck by a demolition bomb and shot into the sky.

NYA:

Senators Argue

The press, plus Senators McKellar and Byrd, continued its attacks on the NYA and the CCC, though President Roosevelt said that they both had their places in the war scheme and that he favored their retention.

The senators argued that the primary reason for the creation of the two agencies was to do something for youth during the depression and unemployment years. They are not needed now, they said.

AUSSIES:

See Turning Point

Whether the Japs were going to turn aside from Australia and concentrate on India had remained considerable of a mystery, but certainly their attack on Australia's outposts had been slowed to a point where the Aussies began to see the "turning point right around the corner."

Australian and American airmen were carrying out almost non-stop raids on New Guinea, the Solomons, New Britain and other objectives north of the continent, and their daily reports of planes destroyed showed that they were biting a considerable piece out of the Nipponese strength in the air.

The Japs continued their bombing attacks on Port Darwin, also on Katherine, but the effectiveness was showing a downward curve. Apparently the main Japanese objective was Port Moresby, on the southern end of New Guinea, a perfect hop-off point for air attacks on north-east Australia.

By land, through a big valley on the island, they were approaching the Australians' defense positions around the Port, while through the air, from Salamaua and Lae, they had been raining bombs on the town, attempting to soften it up for attack by land.

It was at these two bases, Salamaua and Lae that the Australian and American bombers had been concentrating their attack. And the results had been favorable.

LABOR:

Co-operates in War

It was felt that organized labor had made an important contribution to winning the war, also to peace in industry during the war effort, by a decision reached simultaneously by the A. F. of L. and the C.I.O. to yield their demand for extra pay for holidays.

The executive board of the C.I.O. recommended to all its unions that they forego all overtime pay for Saturdays, Sundays and holidays when such work was done within the boundaries of the 40-hour week.

William Green of the A. F. of L. at the same time issued a statement that his organization had "assured the government that it would waive the double time payment for Sunday and holiday work in all war industries for the duration of the war."

Philip Murray, however, said he wanted it clear that the unions would not relinquish their demand for overtime for work done on the sixth or seventh days of the ordinary 40-hour work week, regardless of what days they fell on.

The request, union men said, had been made by President Roosevelt and War Production Board Chief Donald M. Nelson.

VOLUNTEERS:

Get 40 Planes

The initials AVG, American Volunteer group, or the "Tiger Fliers" of the United States, still held the spotlight of attention when it came to knocking out Japanese planes.

Their latest exploit had been to fly over the main Jap airdrome in Thailand, Chiengmai, with such a perfectly timed offensive that they were able to shoot to pieces 40 enemy aircraft on the ground, before the Japs could get the motors warmed enough to get into the air.

The victory (like so many) had its tragic side, for the only plane lost to the Americans in this attack had brought death to the squadron leader, Jack Newkirk, of Scarsdale, N. Y.

The pilots returning to their base in Burma from the fray reported that most of the Japanese pilots of the grounded planes were killed, as instead of seeking cover, they ran to their ships and tried to get them started.

The Americans, diving low, machine gunned the planes at close range, destroying most of them.

INDIES:

New Losses Reported In Battle of Java

The battle of the Indies was over, but not dead, for in the daily news came dispatches, some good, some bad, telling more about it all.

One, for instance, had raised the toll of the Battle of Java Sea for the United States by admitting the loss of two more "four-stacker" destroyers.

That they had partially escaped had been learned when the announcement said that they had last been heard from in the waters south of Java.

The Battle of Java Sea had been fought almost entirely north of Java.

Favorable were the dispatches which had begun to filter through showing that Bataan was not the only point in the southwest Pacific where land resistance was continuing, for the Japs were reported being forced to retreat from some of their positions in Sumatra.

That the Aussies were cognizant of this fact had been seen in Prime Minister Curtin's message to the Dutch to hang on, that aid was coming to them in the form of an Australian and American offensive.

It was of the same tone as MacArthur's words to his men at Bataan, fighting under General Wainwright, that "I came through the Jap lines, and I'm coming back again."

CONDUCT:

Strange Union Case

One of the strangest cases in the annals of war work and organized labor had occurred in Detroit, where a girl had been accused by her fellow-workers.

This young woman, Genevieve Samp, 25, had a war job in a Detroit plant, and the charge was that she had been guilty of "conduct unbecoming a union member."

Technically she had been guilty, the union said, of causing trouble by disparaging the efforts of her fellow workers.

Members of the union had said if she was absolved, those bringing the charges would face trial.

The girl said this was what occurred: She had had the job of packing in boxes certain gadgets which came down a series of chutes from automatic inspection machines.

The other girls were handling two chutes each, she and one other girl were handling three each. Miss Samp said "One girl squawked about me being a job-killer." She said she told the girl it was easy to handle three chutes. Wise-cracks went back and forth, she said, and she was suspended.

after being organized in 1940 with $500 capital had furnished the nation's readers a brief scandal, then a silver-lined aftermath.

Testimony before a congressional investigating committee revealed that the concern distributed $650,000 to workers last Christmas, and that Jack's secretary was paid $39,356 last year and $18,295 for the first ten weeks of this year.

Some of this Washington could understand, but they questioned payment to the company's comptroller, a young man who came to work for $3,600 and 46 days later was handed a bonus of $11,000, and a few weeks later given another $1,200 bonus and a $1,200 salary raise.

The partners came back from Washington, announced a voluntary cut of their profits to 6 per cent, and that their own salaries would be cut to $15,000 a year each.

Their employees welcomed their return from Washington with loud cheers, and the banging of their tools on their benches when the partners said the bonus system to employees for heavy production would be continued.

MISCELLANY:

Chungking: The Chinese troops and British troops, battling to hold a united front in North Burma, had been at least temporarily separated by a Jap spearhead drive near Toungpoo.

New York: By radio, a station here picked up the report from Berlin by a Japanese spokesman that "Japan may now be considered on the defensive."

Everybody Lends Hand to Defense of Australia

There is no city in Australia that can quietly sit back with the assurance that it will not be bombed by Japs. In the picture at the left, Melbourne city employees are doing their Australia-day task, erecting an ARP sandbag barricade outside of their working premises. Right: Members of the anti-aircraft battery man a height and range-finder at an action station in Darwin, Australia. The men work stripped to their waists.

Mississippi Digs Out of Tornado's Wreckage

Homes were leveled and rolled together as so much paper by a tornado which swept through Mississippi and laid low farm buildings and towns in its wake. In the upper picture convicts from a nearby prison remove a great store of hay which fell upon livestock when the wind played havoc with it, at Berclair, Miss. Lower picture was taken at Grenada, Miss. The wind that caused this damage just missed a hospital which stood near by. Note the spectators, standing about in dazed wonder.

We Can All Be EXPERT BUYERS

- In bringing us buying information, as to prices that are being asked for what we intend to buy, and as to the quality we can expect, the advertising columns of this newspaper perform a worth while service which saves us many dollars a year.
- It is a good habit to form, the habit of consulting the advertisements every time we make a purchase, though we have already decided just what we want and where we are going to buy it. It gives us the most priceless feeling in the world: the feeling of being adequately prepared.
- When we go into a store, prepared beforehand with knowledge of what is offered and at what price, we go as an expert buyer, filled with self-confidence. It is a pleasant feeling to have, the feeling of adequacy. Most of the unhappiness in the world can be traced to a lack of this feeling. Thus advertising shows another of its manifold facets—shows itself as an aid toward making all our business relationships more secure and pleasant.

MacArthur's Australian Campaign Heightens Spirit of All America

General Douglas MacArthur

A fighting general for fighting mad people is he . . .

Now you are going to see some real fighting. That is what thousands of persons said, some of whom might have said it to you, when word was flashed from Australia that General Douglas MacArthur was down there to assume the supreme United Nations command in that region.

Ever since the war in the Pacific region began, the story of the ground warfare has been continually, and dishearteningly the same but with one exception.

Newspaper and radio accounts have related of continual retreats and, finally, surrenders by the Allied armies. But the brilliant exception to all this defensive warfare is and was the activity of General MacArthur, his aides, and his native and American troops fighting on the Bataan peninsula.

Not only did MacArthur stop the Japs—and thereby causing the commander, Gen. Masaharu Homma, to commit hara kiri—but he also put through two brilliant, strategical offensives which prevented further enemy advances at the time.

Reason for Australians' Respect. Such immediate background of this brilliant general, this Number One officer of the United Nations, was the cause for the increasing clamor of the Australians to have MacArthur come down there and help them, with American, British, Australian, and native soldiers, resist the Japs in the last Pacific region stand. So, after receiving orders on Washington's birthday from the President to go to Australia, MacArthur made plans with his successor, Maj. Gen. Jonathan Mayhew Wainwright, a brilliant tactician, for further defense at Bataan.

"Mac's the Man." When a "roving reporter" for one of the outstanding Midwest newspapers went out to interview pedestrians as to how they felt about the new shakeup in military control in the Pacific region whereby General MacArthur was given complete military control, the consensus of opinion was, "Mac's the Man."

One fellow said that it was the best news he heard since the U. S. entered the war. A housewife said that, "MacArthur is the man for the job." A student on his way to his class at university said that if anyone can successfully "Slap the Japs," MacArthur is the one that can do it. A not too busy auto salesman said that the general's appointment was the most important move since the United States was stabbed in the back.

Such opinions as these of Mr. and Mrs. America reflect—it is almost certain to say—the opinion of this nation, and all Allied nations as a whole. Even in London, the newspapers there, commenting on the first time that a foreign general has taken command of defense in British dominions, had nothing but encouraging, hopeful, and optimistic words.

Fame After Career Ended. Fame came to General MacArthur after his career had ended! For it was in 1935 that he retired from the army after making a "name" for himself as officer of World War I, and decorated for conspicuous courage. His decorations are reportedly more numerous than any other officer in the service.

Back in 1903 he was graduated from military academy, heading his class. Ever since then he has been showing his fellow officers and his men under him that he is "one of the men" who knows how to fight.

Son of a Civil war hero, Lieut. Gen. Arthur MacArthur, General Douglas went with his father as an aide when he went to Tokyo on a

Since General MacArthur has taken his new command in Australia to stop, and then push back, the Japanese drive, Maj. Gen. Jonathan M. Wainwright (left), shown talking with Gen. MacArthur, has been appointed to the command of the forces that outfought, despite 20 to 1 odds, the Jap forces on the Bataan peninsula in the Philippine Islands.

Like Father, Like Son

General Douglas MacArthur, and his deceased father, Lieut. Gen. Arthur MacArthur, experienced military lives exceedingly interesting because of their striking similarity as available information proves.

Lieut. Gen. Arthur MacArthur, like his son, Douglas, was advanced over the heads of many older officers to more important posts.

Both father and son, Arthur and Douglas MacArthur, showed great strategic talent. One of the father's Civil war tactics of battle eventually became a war department standard officer examination. The son's strategy in the Philippines is well known to all newspaper readers, who have been following his brilliant leadership.

Future General??

Little four-year-old Arthur MacArthur, son of General and Mrs. MacArthur, is starting early in a possible war career. Besides having a famous general as a father, Arthur's grandfather, a Civil war veteran after whom he is named, commanded a Manila brigade in 1898 when U. S. forces captured that city.

When war broke out in the Philippines little Arthur and his mother, the former Miss Jean Faircloth of Murfreesboro, Tenn., were reported safe on the island. The next word that came through as to their whereabouts was when their arrival in Australia with the general and his staff was announced.

mission in 1905-'06. On three different occasions he saw extended army service in the Philippines. In 1935 he went to Manila as the commonwealth's president, Manuel Quezon's military adviser.

That his advisory capacity to President Quezon was of a successful nature is now seen in the successful manner in which American troops, Philippine scout professionals, and Filipino reservists, under his command, fought.

So, at the age of 50, after many years of active service, it looked as though General MacArthur's military life was at an end. It seemed that he was then destined for obscurity after being chief of staff for five years. But, it has often been stated, that it is the seemingly little incidents in a person's life which eventually develop into significant, extremely important matters. What would have happened had MacArthur, upon being "retired," not been sent to the Philippines to shape up a military force there is impossible to say.

Once again, MacArthur's life is showing that fact is oftentimes more interesting than fiction. Here, in MacArthur, you see a story book soldier, cool, even tempered, poised, admired by his staff and men, preparing to do a titanic job despite heavy odds against it.

Mrs. Douglas MacArthur

Even the general's air-flight of 2,000 miles to Australia had a touch of the dramatic to it. For the zone over which he and his officers and aides flew in two planes, has been conceded as being the "hot spot" of the southwest Pacific. This is the zone where both enemy and Allied planes are continually on the alert. Fighters, bombers, and interceptors, always ready for battle. When you look at a map and see the territory you will fully realize that MacArthur has not lost any of his boldness. It is such daring, skill, and calm that has put all the confidence of the Allied nations' people directly on his shoulders. The Yanks, and Aussies, being what they are in temperament, and disposition as to being ready for a fight at all times, now have a man as their leader they know will not fail them.

Congressmen Behind Him, Too. That this attitude even goes for officials and congressmen in the nation's capital is noted in the comment of various congressmen on the day that MacArthur's safe arrival was announced in a special official war department communique. Sen. Millard E. Tydings, (D., Md.) said that Australia now has real leadership . . . that he was very happy to know that MacArthur was down there where a man such as he is needed.

Rep. Joseph J. Mansfield, (D., Texas) put in a comment which all Americans fully understand. He said that MacArthur is sure going to "raise hell" with the Japs providing we can keep him supplied with a continuous line of supplies and men.

House Minority Leader Joseph W. Martin (R., Mass.), said he was happy to hear of the famous soldier's appointment. He further added that such an appointment will add to the confidence of the American people.

The day that MacArthur's appointment, and successful flight to Australia was announced, the President in his press conference also had words of encouragement for the American people. He said that the purpose of the transfer was not to develop further defensive measures, but primarily, and definitely to "win the war." President Roosevelt said at that conference that he felt, too, that every American man and woman held the same admiration for the fighting, brilliant general that he held.

CHRIST AND LIFE AFTER DEATH (EASTER)

LESSON TEXT—Mark 12:24-27; I Corinthians 15:50-58
GOLDEN TEXT—But thanks be to God, which giveth us the victory through our Lord Jesus Christ.—I Corinthians 15:57.

V for Victory! By that sign have many peoples indicated their confidence in a victory to come. It is well to have a victorious outlook, but it is even better to be able to look back to victory already attained. That is just what we are able to do as we consider man's great and final enemy—death. That victory has been won on behalf of all who believe, by the risen Christ of whom we think in a special way on this Easter day.

He is the Lord of the living, not of the dead; those who, even though they may have left this world, have only laid aside the corruptible body for the incorruptible. They are victorious, even as we are, over death.

I. Living, Not Dead (Mark 12:24-27).

The Sadducees, a rationalistic sect of Christ's day, denied the resurrection, and so they were much distressed by His plain teaching of that truth. They therefore devised an intricate hypothetical case (see Mark 12:18-23) and sought to set a trap for Him. But they only caught themselves, for He pointed out to them and to the people that what was wrong with them was that they did not understand the Scriptures nor the power of God.

That is precisely what is wrong with the modernists of our day—they misinterpret God's Word, and they deny His power.

Then Jesus turned to them and in place of their fantastic "supposing" story He spoke of three real characters from the books of Moses which they taught. He said that God still calls Himself the God of Abraham, Isaac and Jacob, because though they had long been in their graves, they were still alive. God's fellowship with His people is not merely for the brief life span of this earth, but for eternity. That fact, of course, carries with it the truth of the resurrection.

II. Incorruptible, Not Corruptible (I Cor. 15:50-54).

Man knows that his earthly body is marked for decay and death. That fact is written in its very members. He also knows that such a body would be entirely inappropriate for heaven—for eternity. Is he then barred from God's eternal kingdom? No, indeed, for there is to be a glorious change—the corruptible shall put on incorruptibility.

Whether we shall tarry until Jesus comes and be transformed without dying, or whether we shall await His coming for a time among those who sleep, there will come that trumpet sound, and in the twinkling of an eye we shall be clothed upon with incorruptible bodies like unto His glorious resurrection body (Phil. 3:21). There we have an assurance of victory already won on our behalf, which can and does strengthen our souls against the trials and sorrows of life.

III. Victorious, Not Defeated (I Cor. 15:55-58).

When Satan after a long struggle finally had Christ's body laid away in the tomb, he thought he had the victory, but just then came his great hour of defeat.

"Up from the grave He arose,
With a mighty triumph o'er His foes."

"Death could not hold its prey," for it sought to hold one stronger than itself—the Lord of Life Himself. He had broken the bonds of sin by His sacrifice on Calvary; and since it was sin (the violation of the law) which brought death in the first place (Gen. 2:17; 3:17-19), there was now a complete victory over both sin and death.

The one who knows Christ need no longer fear death. For him it is not a leap into the dark, or going as a trembling wayfarer into an unknown land. President John Quincy Adams was right when, aged and frail, he replied to a question as to his welfare: "Quite well, thank you. The house in which I live is tottering and trembling, and I may soon have to move out, but I am quite well." He was ready for the departure into a better land and a better body.

Such a hope has a splendid practical application, which Paul stresses in verse 58. With victorious assurance the believer stands steadfast and unmovable at the center of life, while always abounding in the joys and duties which come at its circumference. Like the wheel which can be useful only as its center is established and steady, so man can serve the Lord and enjoy a satisfying life only as he has the steadfastness of which Paul here speaks.

We trust that it is your possession by faith in Christ. If not, make it so on this resurrection Sunday!

Tawas City School Notes

KINDERGARTEN—FIRST GRADE

We are glad to have a piano again. We use it every day. We have Easter pictures in our room. We have some pussy willows too.

We drew pictures of pussy willows, ducks, rabbits and little yellow chickens.

We drew pictures of trees and kites.

Miss Brosi brought us a little lamp for our doll house.

Joan Ulman was seven years old Sunday. She brought us a treat on Monday.

We have read another book. It is "We Live on 'A Farm'."

SECOND GRADE

We have 26 people in our room now because Paul Miller came here from Detroit.

This week we have been making up our own stories to read instead of reading in our readers. We made up stories about the wind, about Holland, and about spring and birds.

Miss Braddock wrote them on the board and on charts for us. We like to make up our own stories. It is fun to read them.

We are having a spelling contest. The three people who have the highest number of words right on all our Friday tests this semester will get prizes. We are all working hard on our spelling and try not to miss any words.

THIRD and FOURTH GRADES

We are sorry that many of our group are not able to be back in school. Measles and flu seem to be popular now.

We enjoyed having Elna Herman help in our room.

The fourth grade is nearly through their geography text book. They have enjoyed the interesting visits to the homes of children in other countries.

FIFTH and SIXTH GRADES

The fifth and sixth grades are selling Easter seals for crippled children. The sixth grade is in the lead.

The sixth grade has made color wheels. These are very attractive among the health posters that decorate the back bulletin board. The posters emphasize body resistance.

Richard Berube has drawn an Easter picture on the blackboard, using chalk. Richard's work does much to brighten this room.

EIGHTH GRADE

The eighth grade held a bake sale on Saturday, March 28. It was highly successful.

We had a test in Civics in which we hope we fared well.

In arithmetic, class A has been studying about square roots. Class B has been studying about mahogany.

We have the first installment of our play "Night of Terror" ready for presentation. We have written this at our class meetings.

NINTH GRADE

Donna Moore and Don Herriman, two of this year's freshmen class, have been chosen to represent our school in the declamation contest to be held at Pinconning the week of the 17th. Here's wishing them luck.

The controlling of diseases is the topic the biology class is working on. Somehow or other they don't seem to be doing so well.

The group I in Algebra is thinking out word problems. Mr. Chubb had given up hope, but they're getting them now. Group II is working on number problems, the division of polynomials.

WHAT THE CLASSES ARE DOING

The chemistry class, at the present time, is making a study of nitrogen and its compounds.

Three more beginners passed the 40 mark in ten minute speed tests given in the typing classes during the past week.

Six students went to the Forensic Festival at Mount Pleasant on Saturday, March 28. Donald Herriman and Donna Moore represented our school in the oratorical declamations; Helen Krumm and Letty Allen gave dramatic declamations, while Philip Ross and Hugh Prescott chose to give orations.

Donald and Philip were given first places. However all six students will take part in the district meet which will be held in St. Michaels school at Pinconning sometime in April.

SPORTS

Dick Prescott, Harold Fahselt, Reg Bublitz, D. C. Squire and Wade Montgomery have their eye on mound duty.

Harold Bublitz, Olen Herriman and Frank Mark are doing the receiving. All the boys are looking forward to the time when they may move over to the diamond for practice.

SHOP NEWS

Three senior boys, Dick Prescott, Bill B. Gardner and Roger Earl completed a ping-pong table for the school.

The airplanes which the shop boys are making are nearly completed as they have to be turned in by April 15. Most of the boys are doing a fine job.

Under the supervision of Dick Prescott, a built-in ironing board has been completed. It is very neat.

During the past week there has at least six boys who have made taborets.

HOME ECONOMICS

The seventh grade home economics class is busy planning a breakfast menu. The preparation of various breakfast dishes is being studied and also the proper serving of this meal.

The older home economics class, consisting of the tenth, eleventh and twelfth grades, is now organized under the state plan of vocational education. The tenth graders have been separated from the two upper grades and this is beneficial as it enables each class to have more room and more guidance from the teacher. Under this new plan, summer projects will also be carried out by the sophomores and juniors.
