This Sugar Business

During this canning season, the rush at the court house has been such that County Clerk Russell McKenzie has shortened up his greeting to something like this, "What can I do for you? Sugar?" This is an efficient greeting and brings up the important subject without undue conversation, but we feel that this brevity has its danger With all the fair sex of the county applying for rationing certificates, an accidental emphasis on the wrong word might cause a misunderstanding.

CHURCHILL: Third Meeting

For the third time within a year Prime Minister Churchill and President Roosevelt met face to face to discuss war problems, when the British statesman arrived unheralded in Washington for a series of conferences. Their first meeting occurred last August aboard ship and resulted in the Atlantic charter. The second was Mr. Churchill's visit to Washington last December after America's entry into the war. It resulted in the declaration by the United Nations.

This third meeting, following closely on Russian Foreign Minister Molotov's historic conferences in Washington recently, promised momentous consequences in the prosecution of the war. Two matters of pressing need-the opening of a second European front and further steps to curb dangerously rising Allied ship losses by Axis submarines -faced the two leaders.

Another leader of the United Nations to reach American shores was Queen Wilhelmina of Holland.

AIRCRAFT CARRIERS:

Lessons Learned

Lessons learned in the battles of the Coral sea, Midway island and the struggle for the Aleutian islands were applied by the house naval affairs committee when it approved an *8,500,000,000 expansion bill projecting a "five-ocean navy." For a definite swing to sea airpower was discernible in the bill's provisions calling for immediate construction of 500,000 tons of aircraft carriers, while postponing the construction of five 60,000-ton super-battleships.

This trend was the immediate result of the smashing blows dealt Japanese seapower, in recent weeks by American airplane carriers and their accompanying forces. It was tacit recognition that a revolution in naval tactics has occurred as a result of the battles in the Pacific.

In place of the postponed battleships, the navy will rush construction of more than a score of aircraft carriers with escort vessels and submarines. Scheduled to be completed within a year, they will be distributed among naval forces in all areas in which Axis fleets are

CHINA: Japs Push On

As Jap armies drove deeper into China and two pincer columns were converging on the strategic 450-mile Chekiang-Kiangsi railroad, the China high command appealed again for an Allied blow that would divert the steadily mounting power of the enemy's invasion.

Discouraging news was made public in the announcement that Shangjao, an important station on the line and capital of Kiangsi province, had fallen.

With all highway sources cut off by the Japanese, China had to de-pend on giant American cargo planes to deliver supplies for her embattled armies. William Mitchell, "He who holds Alaska holds the world," and, a man of peace and a foe of imperialism, the governor thereafter never missed a chance to urge the strategic importance of Alaska, and to insist that "It has the greatest possibilities for an offensive of any land under the American flag." Congress was not, at first, responsive. Just how effective the governor's pleas have been is still shrouded in the mists of that frozen domain.

The least insular of men, Dr. Gruening has long been concerned with insular affairs, and was chief of the division of territories of the department of the interior from 1934 to 1939, receiving the Alaskan appointment on December 5 of the latter year. He is a doctor of medicine, with a degree from Harvard university, diverted to newspaper work early in his career. His studious bent has been such that he might have been put down for bookworm, had it not been for his success in practical affairs, notably running big town newspapers and making them pay.

The son of a famous New York eye and ear specialist, Dr. Gruening also had intended to treat eyes and ears, but began his career as an alert reporter for the Boston American. That led him to the successive managing editorships of the Boston Herald, the Traveler and the Journal, the New York Tribune and the New York Nation, with time out for his service as a private in the World

A liberal and reformer, he began back-trailing our tentative adventures in imperialism, in the Philippines and in establishing our hegemony over the Caribbean. Entering the department of the interior he became the administration torchbearer for a territorial New Deal. He was born in New York city in

"Who says it?" is the wary onlooker's natural query about wartime news like that. The first answer, as to Mr. Mingos, and it is reassuring, is that he is cautious and never has gone off half-cocked in reporting aviation news, good or bad. In 1937. he did not pull his punch in reporting the swift ascendancy of the German Luftwaffe over the British RAF.

He has long sustained a reputation as a good reporter, on the New York Sun for quite a spell. He is the author of more than 1,000 articles on aviation in newspapers and magazines, and several books. "The Air Is Our Concern" was the subject of a book on which he collaborated in 1935. He now gets long over-due agreement on that.

After his graduation from his home town high school in Athens, Pa., young Mr. Mingos studied two years at the Philadelphia School of Industrial Art, then switched to a long stretch of newspaper work, with the Philadelphia Telegraph, the Scranton Republic, the New York Times and Sun. From 1922 to 1930, he was special contributor of aviation articles to the Times. With the volunteer air service of the U.S. army, overseas, in the first World war, he became a special representative of the aeronautical chamber of commerce in 1920. Washington, D. C. CUTTING NAVY TAPE

Behind Admiral King's forthright order slashing navy red tape 50 per cent and ordering more navy officers out of Washington, was an interesting comparison with the Japanese navy, conducted back-stage by some of the President's Americans, recently familiar with Japan, have reported that the Japanese navy is staffed by only about 1,000 personnel in Tokyo. In contrast, the navy department in Washington has more than 30,000—not including the navy yard.

The Japanese navy also is reported to have cut red tape and government reports to the bone and it gives widest latitude to commanders at sea. The U.S. navy also gives wide latitude to commanders in distant posts, such as Admiral Leary in New Zealand, Admiral Nimitz at Pearl Harbor. But in home waters, especially in antisubmarine warfare along the East coast, insiders say the navy has suffered from a constant stream of reports and orders to and from Washington requiring a tremendous staff for the paper work alone.

Now Admiral King offers promotions to officers who will decrease their Washington bureaus rather than increase them.

Jamming" radio programs is one of the recognized weapons of modern warfare. But it is a two-edged sword, and the war department radio branch is ready to swing on the Axis if the prize Army Hour, on Sundays, is jammed again.

Jamming by manufactured static or other interference is feasible in the United States only on short-wave broadcasts. The Army Hour features short-wave talks from all over the world, made by such noted personages as Mme. Chiang Kai-shek, General MacArthur, General Wavell, and others. The most recent case of jamming was during a talk by a high ranking army officer from the Dutch island of Curacao. A piano banged loudly all the time he

It May Be 90 Degrees in the Shade— But Your Coal Bin Rates a Check-Up

Unnecessary Delay May Bring Hardships This Coming Winter

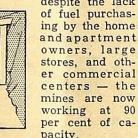

You can't say that you haven't been warned.

You can't say, when the leaves begin to fall, that you didn't have enough time to order your

In another two months-at the most-it is going to be almost too late to get your coal supply. Then you won't be ready when the temperature begins to drop.

During the summer months, when homeowners formerly paid but little attention to their coal bins, there had always been a definite slump in coal production. The producers called the months the normal "off season"

This year, though, because of the high rate of war-time productiondespite the lack pacity.

What lies ahead for those who have not purchased their coal during the off-season is easy to see. At the present time American industry has not, as yet, reached its full war-time capacity of production for Victory. Fall and early winter will see the nation at this peak period.

They'll Be Out of Luck.

Then, when industry is humming its song of death for Hitler and his stooges, if Mr. Jones, or Mr. Slopolk, or Mrs. Andy Tardie have not ordered their coal to keep the home fires burning, it is very probable that they are going to be out of luck. They'll probably have to spend some very miserable days until the coal they order LATE arrives.

Why so? Here's why: Increased production to peak records in U. S. factories is going to require more coal. It stands to reason that if the mines are now working at 90 per cent of capacity (and industry has not yet reached its peak of production nor coal consumption), when the peak does arrive Uncle Sam is going to see to it that those industries get all the coal they want, as often as they want it, and no questions

It is true that all will have to forego some former necessities and comforts until this universal war is won. But there is little reason to take on a hardship which is doing no one -even the nation's offensive for victory-any good.

By waiting until it is practically too late to order coal, most of which is then going to the factories, the home owner is deliberately harnessing himself with hardship-besides getting in the way of the nation's wartime progress.

Like a Slow Freight.

Those who delay ordering coal now for this coming winter may be compared to a slow freight train heading towards its terminal with a fast freight right behind it. The latter is delayed from reaching its destination on schedule. Your nation's victory efforts are all being carried on that fast freight train. The dillydallying, late-ordering home owner is the slow freight.

But don't forget: Uncle Sam is the dispatcher on that railroad. He's man or fuel dealer.

1. To conserve heat and fuel.

These three miners are typically representative of those thousands responsible for the continuous flow of coal for the nation. There has been practically no "slack" season for them this year. The usual off-season period (summer months) for them was omitted because of industry's need for coal to carry on for the coming victory.

a good one, too. What he's going to do is shove the slow freight on to a siding and let the fast freight come on through.

In other words, those home owners and other consumers who haven't as yet ordered their coal supplies, may have to be sidetracked later this year in favor of Uncle Sam's more important business of winning the war. Cold feet now may result in even colder pedal extremities this winter.

The fact that peak production of American industry will be reached during the coming winter months isn't the only reason why you should be now getting your coal.

Even today the railroad yards, the river shipping docks and terminals

Oil Burner Conversion

The War Production board has acted to speed the conversion of oil-burning equipment to coal by permitting the assembly of small stokers from materials which were in manufacturers' hands on May 31.

At the same time, W. W. Timmis, chief of the plumbing and heating branch, announced the creation of an operations section which will continue an over-all study. This study of the various problems involved in the conversion of oil burners to other fuels has been under way for some are jammed to capacity. Railroaders will tell you, with a touch of the Paul Bunyan spirit, that the rails just can't cool off. Rivermen will tell you that no sooner do the waves from one river vessel ease off on the beach, before another swell starts rolling in. When the peak is reached in production you can imagine what the thousands of home owners who wait "until later" to order their coal are doing to add to the groaning weight of traffic on the railroads, rivers and highways.

You owe it to your own comfort this coming winter, but especially to your nation out to win the gigantic struggle with Hitler and his partners, to make necessary provisions in advance.

Get It Now.

Despite the fact that bituminous coal production is now running over 11,000,000 tons a week, there is plenty of coal for all. The idea is to get it when it is now readily available.

During 1942. from 550 million tons to 570 million tons of bituminous coal. and 60 million tons of anthracite heating apparatus more than a winter season of hard activity. Lack of ventilation in the basement, high humidity, condensation, or corrosion can soon play havoc with a heating plant. More than often it does, as shown by the short life of most smoke pipes which last only two or three years. Improper operation, lack of maintenance, excessive stack losses, faulty distribution or circulation, overheating, infiltration. and needless heat losses waste 20 per cent of the fuel used in the average home. With the country at war, with extraordinary demands on transportation facilities, such waste is intolerable. Coupled with the effect on health, lost time due to colds, absenteeism, etc., such neglect of proper maintenance and operation of the heating system becomes almost Just as you check over your automobile periodically, or have some one do it, so too is it a good idea to have a competent heating man inspect your furnace or boiler. If the average household gave its heating plant half the care it bestows upon the family car, the national fuel bill would be reduced many millions a year.

Coal mining is one of the nation's major industries.

The last available reports on the amount of coal mined show that over 51,887,885 tons of coal were prepared for consumption.

Chief soft coal producing states are Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Illinois, and Kentucky. Anthracite (hard) coal is produced principally in Pennsylvania, around Wilkes-Barre and Scranton.

Coal Exports.

Coal exports amount to a sizeable figure, too. In 1940 (latest data available) over 16,456,928 tons were exported. The majority of the anthracite exported went to Canada.

Coke production, a coal by-product, also assumed gigantic proportions. Data shows that over 273,-832,410 tons were produced in 1940. The gas from coke production is also used for fuel purposes.

Employment in the coal mining industry has declined ever since 1920. That year there were 784,621 persons employed. Ten years later (1930) there were 644,006 at work. In 1940 the number had further decreased to 543,200.

Crude Oil Production Increase. Crude oil production in the United States, also, has steadily increased according to statistics. In 1920 there were 442,929,000 barrels (42 gallons to a barrel) of oil drawn from the earth. Its value was $1,360,745,000. But the figures in 1940 were 1,351,847,000 barrels, valued at $1,352,000,000-a decrease in price. The United States produced—in 1940—over half of the oil marketed. Russia was next in line with just slightly more than one-fifth of the United States total.

ALCOHOL FACTS VERSUS DRINKING PROPAGANDA

LESSON TEXT—Proverbs 21:17; 23:32; Isaiah 5:20-23; Hosea 4:11; Joel 3:2, 3; Ephesians 5:18. GOLDEN TEXT—If sinners entice thee, consent thou not.—Proverbs 1:10.

The facts are on the side of the one who opposes the liquor traffic, and they are so plentiful and so devastating that the industry does not care to face them. Their "best bet" is to use propaganda so skillfully prepared as to disarm the reader. If the propaganda is truthful, it is only because it has to be, and only in that measure.

Our lesson suggests several points in the liquor propaganda, each of which we can prove to be untrue. I. They Say, "Enjoy Life, That's

What We Are Here For" (Prov. 21:

Consider the ads of the liquor trade. They carry the beautiful lady, the brilliant young man, the socially correct surroundings, riches, ease, etc. They suggest that even the grandmother in the home approves the use of intoxicants to bring comfort and pleasure to the breadwinner in the home. What is the truth? Man is not here for pleasure; he is here to serve God. History demonstrates that the nation that lives for pleasure, especially in connection with the use of intoxicants, is doomed to extinction.

II. They Say, "Liquor Is Not Dangerous" (Prov. 23:32).

It is presented as a pleasant and harmless stimulant, when in fact it is known to science, to police and social welfare workers as a narcotic which not only upsets digestion and deranges physical processes but, most vicious of all, "affects personality by its action upon the certain specific brain area. It disturbs, confuses, slows down, and removes the restraints, the checks and balthe restraints, the checks and balances which make a well-rounded personality. It is the highest functional level of the brain, the personality level, which is first put into eclipse by the action of alcohol" (Carson Taylor).

III. They Say, "Those Who Oppose Liquor Are Fanatics" (Isa. 5: 20-21, 23).

The prophet answers that claim by pointing out that those who favor the use of alcohol are the ones who call evil good and good evil, etc. A ittle study of liquor propaganda as it appears in the advertising of the industry soon demonstrates that fact. Of late they have been trying to convince us that beer is just a soft drink for the home. Any policeman who has seen a man drunk on beer, and any social or religious worker who has seen the destruction it has wrought in the home and n society, knows that is not true.

IV. They Say, "Strong Men and Leaders Are Drinkers" (Isa. 5:22). Sadly enough, many of our leading men do indulge in liquor, but if the truth were out, it would be known that they are less capable as leaders and weaker men for their use of it. And who has not seen a leader become a poor derelict by the alcohol route, or a strong man become a jittery mental, moral, and physical wreck in the same

The work of a nation in both war and peace is done by sober, steady, trustworthy men who have a "clear head," not because they use a certain whisky but because they do not use it.

V. They Say, "The Pleasure Is Worth Price" (Hosea 4:11; Joel 3:2, 3).

The wicked ones who captured Israel felt they made a good trade when they gave a boy for a harlot, or exchanged a girl for wine. The modern system of making merchandise of boys and girls is not as openly crass as that, but when you figure the cost of alcohol to our land, be sure to add in the girls who have gone into iniquity by the way of tavern hostesses and the boys who have lost everything sacred because of "booze."

Remember too that the beer makers are deliberately using this war to cultivate a taste for beer in millions of young men-their future customers-and we are letting them get away with it, right in the army camps.

VI. They Say, "Drinking and Religion Go Well Together" (Eph. 5:18). The contrast of Paul gives that claim the direct brand of falsehood. Being drunk with wine is the exact opposite of spirituality.

Liquor interests know that if church members can be led to believe that wine at dinner, beer as a soft drink-and an occasional social cocktail-is not incompatible with religious life, they will have effectually shut the mouth of the opposition they fear the most-the church.

Let pastors and church boards deal plainly and drastically with drinking church members, and the church will profit spiritually, and and again become an effective means of stemming the tide of social iniquity which is engulfing our

What You Buy With

Aside from the sixty-mile an hour Mosquito Torpedo Boats, the Sub Chasers are the speedsters of our Navy. Light and fast, they are the eyes of the Fleet on the water. They displace approximately 1,500 tons and cost about $2,400,000 each.

We need many of these powerful, fast little boats to cope with the treacherous submarine type of naval warfare fostered by our enemies. Everybody can help pay for more Sub Chasers by putting at least ten percent of his income into War Bonds. Buy Bonds or Stamps every pay day. Buy them from your bank, your post office, or from your office or factory through the Payroll Savings Plan.

THE STORY SO FAR: Although he suspects him of being up to something, Alan Slade has agreed to fly "Doctor" Frayne to the Anawotto country to find the breeding ground of the trumpeter swan. Slade and his partner, Cruger, have had a hard time keeping Norland Airways going in the face of stiff competition from the larger and better equipped companies, and Frayne has paid them enough to buy another plane, a Lock-heed. While in town on an errand, Slade meets Lynn Morlock, daughter of the "flying Padre," and goes with her to help a flyer named Slim Tumstead, who has been wounded in a fight. Tumstead has already lost his license for drink-ing, and is little better than an outlaw, so Alan is not pleased to discover that he knows about Frayne's expedition and about the new Lockheed. When he leaves Lynn, Alan goes down to the dock to watch Frayne and his assistant, Karnell, load their supplies on the plane. His suspicions are again aroused by their equipment. Now, that night, a prowler has just approached Cassidy, watchman for Norland Airways. Now continue with the story.

CHAPTER V

Cassidy's pipe fell to the boards as that shadow confronted him.

"Stick 'em up," was the curt and altogether unexpected command.

Cassidy, instead of obeying, reached for his fallen pipe and fell back a step or two. He noticed, for the first time, how the lower part of the stranger's face was covered by a handkerchief.

"What is this, anyway?" he demanded, doing his best to decipher the face above the masking handkerchief. But a second band of white that showed under the stranger's lowered hat brim kept him from seeing much of the face.

"Don't talk," said the stranger. "Turn around. Now walk ahead of me into that shed."

Cassidy's hesitation was brief. It seemed foolish to argue against that little round "O" of black metal which at the twitch of a finger could spit death into his body.

"Stop there," was the next com-"Now put your hands bemand. hind you."

He could feel the sudden bite of copper wire being twisted about his crossed wrists.

"Stand closer to that upright."

He saw the blink of a flashlight as the stranger caught up a strand of mooring line. Before he quite realized the meaning of that movement Cassidy felt the rope swing about his body. He could feel the coils grow tighter as the rope ends were quickly knotted together.

Cassidy's first impulse was to shout aloud to all the world, to shout with the full strength of his bound and abused body. But he re-membered the black-metalled automatic, and shut his teeth on that passing temptation.

He stood silent, watching the stranger, who hurried toward the hangar. He could see the flashlight flicker interrogatively about the dismantled Grumman and then go out. He could see the shadowy figure drift down to the dock edge and climb aboard the Postcraft that floated there, fueled and ready for its sunup take-off to Winnipeg and the East. Cassidy twisted about a little, under the rope coils that constricted his body, chilled by the thought that a plane was being stolen from right under the Company's nose. He even waited for the expected engine-spit and flash of awakened propeller blades. But the Postcraft remained motionless. The watching man concluded, from the brief waver of light about its interior, that the intruder was searching its cabin. The next moment, from the sounds that came to his straining ears, he suspected that the stranger was tearing out the ignition wires. He could hear the splash of something in the harbor water, as though a piece of metal had been thrown overboard.

That violence to machinery so artfully tooled and so beautifully fitted together for service prompted the indignant captive to writhe and strain against the rope ends encircling him. But his struggles, he soon saw, were useless. His attention went to the shadowy figure that dropped down from the Postcraft and crossed to the Lockheed that glinted insubstantial and ghostlike in the starlight softened by the distant Aurora.

The darkness, he saw, was thinning a little. The stranger no longer needed the flashlight as he threw off the mooring lines and clambered aboard. It wasn't until Cassidy heard the bark and sputter of the starting engine that he gave vent to a repeated shout of protest.

But that shout was lost in the mounting roar of the motor as the blades bit into the air and the silver-white Lockheed moved away. Cassidy could see it as it taxied down the shadowy water of the He could see it veer and face the wind and finally rise in the air.

He could see it as it floated up, phantom-like, above the serrated black line of the spruce ridges and then swing about so as to head more directly into the North.

The gray light of morning was breaking over Alberta by the time Cassidy had worked himself free and stumbled up to the administration building telephone. His call brought a ruffled and half-dressed Cruger to the airport, on the run.

Cassidy's pipe fell to the boards as that shadow confronted him.

Cassidy did the best he could. That brief and indignant recountal, however, left much to be desired.

But Cruger was thinking of other things. He was thinking of his lost Lockheed and the setback it meant for Norland Airways.

'It doesn't make sense,'' he cried. Faith, and he was sensible, all right," persisted Cassidy. "A heap more sensible-lookin' than them two swan-hunters young Lindy Slade flew out o' here yesterday mornin'."

Cruger, instead of answering, climbed aboard the Postcraft. His face, when he returned from his investigations there, remained perplexed.

"He knew his onions, all right.
That high-jacker fixed this ship so it couldn't follow him." Cruger's eye scanned the brightening skyline.
"You say he flew north?" he questioned. "You're sure of that?"
"I am," averred Cassidy.

"Then it's time to get busy," cried Cruger, "or this outfit goes broke."

"Then what'd we best be doin'?" asked Cassidy.

Cruger's accruing sense of frustration flowered in a shout made sharp with exasperation.

"If we don't get that Lockheed back, you'd best cut your cowardly

Slade, flying north with his two self - immured passengers, found something consoling in the quietness which his engine hum merely seemed to accentuate. It was pretty lonely-looking country they were traversing. Yet there was, he felt, consolation in loneliness like that. It gave you time to think things out and explore your own mind. And it made you less dependent on out-

After refueling at Frenchman Forks the Viking-eyed pilot saw a thoughts, at the moment, were on torn drift of clouds lower his ceiling | Barrett Walden, the Barrett Walden and a freshing wind sweep down who could hunt big game and cruise out of the northeast. If his passengers understood that lowered ceiling they ventured no comment on it.

Slade was lightly casual as he gunned the motor and taxied out to clear water. His eyes steadied as he nosed into the wind, slapped a run of wave tops with his floats, and rose above the stunted spruce ridges.

Yet one segment of his circling attention still went to his passengers. He noticed that Frayne had unrolled a chart, over which Karnell and the birdman bent, from time to time, as they quietly talked together. They seemed to be having difficulty in linking up their chart lines with the terrain beneath them.

It was dreary country, Slade admitted, and the low-sweeping clouds made it look drearier. But it had its grandeur. Even Lynn Morlock, he remembered, had caught the spirit of its immensity. "These Barrens," she had said on one of his happier flights from Coronation, "can be so empty and ugly they're able to turn into something beautiful.'

He was still thinking of Lynn as he battled his head wind, steadily growing stronger. He noticed, for the second time, the powerful German binoculars with which Frayne was studying a chain of lakes that grew wider as they droned over them. Then he awakened to the fact that Frayne was calling out to him.

"Your plane is not modern," his passenger was complaining. Slade nettled a little at that

To confirm that claim he clear.' opened the throttle and zoomed defi-"Then my enterprise fails to interest you?" antly up over a mountain of shredded gray wool. He took it like a hunter taking a hurdle.

"Why," asked Frayne, "do you fly without two-way radio?" Slade laughed.

"I'm a bush pilot," he proclaimed. 'And two-way radio weighs exactly sixty-five pounds. That'd chip just about sixty-five dollars off my pay "We're bucking a head wind," Slade retorted, "a head wind we load."

"I also observe," said Frayne, "that you are without a directionfinder. Is that not like refusing to accept what science has placed in your hands?"

The caustic note seemed lost on Frayne, who was busy looking down Slade's glance flickered down to at the world flowing past them. his meager instrument board.

Magic for Your Meals-Berry Jams (See Recipes Below.)

Time for Jam

With the arrival of the fruit and jelly season, you homemakers will want to make the most of these garden products for winter use. This year it is doubly important for you to can fruits and jellies wisely, as this will help you not only in conserving the nation's resources, but also assure you of delicious accompaniments to your meals during cooler

Since sugar is used in canning not only as a sweetener, but as a preservative, the government will allot five pounds of sugar per person, in addition to what you receive in your ration, so that you will have sugar for canning.

*Ripe Raspberry Jam. (Makes 10 6-ounce glasses) 41/2 cups prepared fruit 6 cups sugar 1 box powdered fruit pectin

To prepare fruit, crush thoroughly or grind about 2 quarts fully ripe raspberries. Remove some of seeds by sieving part of pulp, if desired.

Measure sugar into dry dish and set aside until needed. Measure prepared fruit into a 5- to 6-quart kettle, filling up last cup or fraction of cup with water if necessary.

Place over hottest fire. Add powdered fruit pectin, mix well, and continue stirring until mixture comes to a hard boil. At once pour in sugar, stirring constantly. (To reduce foaming, 1/4 teaspoon butter may be added.) Continue stirring, bring to a full rolling boil, and boil hard 1 minute. Remove from fire, skim, pour quickly. Paraffin hot jam at once. Jam takes slightly less sugar than jelly, and you will work an economy by making use of the fruit in addition to the saving on sugar:

*Ripe Blackberry Jam. (Makes 11 6-ounce glasses) 41/2 cups prepared fruit 61/2 cups sugar

1 box powdered fruit pectin To prepare fruit, grind or crush thoroughly about 2 quarts fully ripe blackberries (not black caps). Sieve about 1/2 of ground or crushed pulp. (For Spiced Blackberry Jam. add 1/8 to 1/2 teaspoon each cloves, cinnamon, and allspice, or any desired combination of spices.)

Measure sugar into dry dish and set aside until needed. Measure prepared fruit into a 5- to 6-quart kettle, filling up last cup or fraction of cup with water if necessary.

Place over hottest fire, adding powdered fruit pectin, mix well, and continue stirring until mixture comes to a hard boil. At once pour in sugar, stirring constantly. (To reduce foaming, ¼ teaspoon butter may be added.) Continue stirring, bring to a full rolling boil, and boil hard 1 minute.

Lynn Says:

The Score Card: The status of tin available for commercial canning has at last been clarified, and now we know exactly what will be available to use by way of canned goods. The "Big Four" in canned vegetables, peas, tomatoes, string beans and corn, plus asparagus, pears, peaches, evaporated milk and fish will be allowed unlimited amounts of tin for canning pur-

"Secondary" products such as spinach, beets, cherries, berries, applesauce, grapefruit, sausage, luncheon meats, beef and others will continue to be canned, but they will be allowed only the same amount of tin as used in 1940, with some exceptions having more or less.

Foods packed last year will last until fall at least, and the goods packed this year will be available even before last year's are gone. There's no need to hoard.

Relishes are excellent to serve with meats of any kind for they give the meal added zest. Here's a recipe for a real sugar-saver:

*Cherry Relish.

2 cups pitted cherries 1 cup seedless raisins

1 teaspoon cinnamon ½ cup brown sugar 1/4 teaspoon cloves

½ cup honey ½ cup vinegar 34 cup pecan nutmeats

Mix all the ingredients except pe cans and cook 1 hour, slowly. Add pecans and cook 3 minutes longer. Pour into hot sterilized jars and seal at once.

Sugar Substitutes.

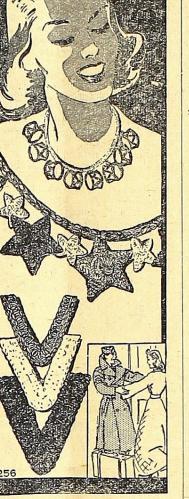

If you feel that you cannot use sugar in all of the canning recipes given here, even with your extra canning ration, here are the rules for substitutions:

If you are using a bottled fruit pectin recipe, you may substitute 2 cups light corn syrup for 2 cups of the sugar. Do not use more than 2 cups of corn syrup in any recipe, however, as this will give unsatisfactory results.

In a powdered fruit pectin recipe, you may use 1 cup light corn syrup for each cup of sugar omitted. But, do not try to use all corn syrup in the recipe instead of sugar. You may substitute corn syrup for only 1/2 the sugar required. If, for example, the recipe calls for 6 cups of sugar altogether, you may use 3 cups of light corn syrup, but you must also use 3 cups of sugar.

Fortunately Hole in Barrel Was Discovered in Time

The particular unit in question had taken on a large number of new recruits and some of them were a little raw. During the first rifle inspection, the officer ap-proached one of the men, had a look at his rifle, and then called to the N.C.O. in charge.

"Look at this man's rifle!" he announced.

The sergeant looked down the barrel, swung the rifle around to the recruit, and barked: "Take a look at that rifle, you!" The recruit peered carefully down the barrel, then muttered in a surprised tone: "Well, what do you know. Got a hole clean through it!"

A CAUSE OF GOITER

For years physicians have always looked for the "cause" of the severe form of goiter. Infection of teeth, gums, sinuses, and other parts were blamed, and if no cause could be found, it was said to be due to some cause unknown. In a recent book, Dr. Leonardo C. Perrusi, Buenos Aires, points out that careful study of 24 selected cases of hyperthyroid goiter, he finds in each case some emotional disturbance to be the cause. In one chapter he reports a case brought about by sudden fright. In another case, the cause was an inferiority complex and exaggerated ambitions. Another was due to a domestic or family problem that could not be solved. Intense or unbearable pruritis (itching) was the cause in another case. Watching an unusually sentimental play in a theater was the cause of one case. The fear of venereal disease caused the thyroid condition in another case. Cases were due to (a) death of a relative and a situation of desperation and (b) prolonged sickness of the husband.

After analyzing the above and 15 other cases, Dr. Perrusi concludes that in almost all cases of severe goiter, the disease is produced by emotional disturbances which excite the thyroid gland to intense activity by way of the sympathetic nervous system. He does not think that infection or other factors cause many of the cases, as the majority of the cases that he has seen have occurred "in predisposed individuals as a result of emotional disturb-

What are the predisposing factors in thyroid disease?

Among the predisposing factors are inferiority complexes, lack of harmony or co-ordination of the various glands of the body, emotional disturbances, the geographic position of the country, the activity of the patient's life.

What is the treatment suggested by Dr. Perrusi? The usual treat-ment should be given, that is, rest, iodine. X-rays, or surgery, and in addition all patients should be psychoanalyzed to find out and remove the emotional factors responsible for the development of the disease.

Ulcerative Colitis Subject to Emotions

Some years ago it was found that many nervous and emotional individuals suffered with diarrhea for a time, followed by a period of constipation and then by diarrhea again. There was a constant "uneasiness" in the abdomen. The stools were often covered with mucous and the ailment was and is called mucous colitis.

With this mucous colitis some patients also had ulcer of the stomach and of the small intestine, which is often within an inch or fraction of an inch of the stomach. This is called peptic ulcer, and it is now known that both peptic ulcer and mucous colitis are due to the same conditions-nervousness and emotional disturbances. The treatment in both ailments is the same-eating bland non-irritating foods and trying to keep as calm as possible.

There is, however, a severe form of colitis called ulcerative colitis where the colon-large intestineis greatly inflamed with severe or dangerous bleeding.

That even this severe form of colitis is also due to emotional disturbances, particularly anxietyprolonged fear-has been the opinion of many physicians and a statement of two Mayo Clinic physicians, Drs. Charles J. Donald and Philip W. Brown, recently substantiates

In the American Journal of Digestive Diseases, these physicians state: "There is no question that the mental attitude of the patient may contribute to the onset of an attack of ulcerative colitis just as anxiety can aggravate the condition of patients who suffer from duodenal ulcer. Fear of food, fear of getting too far away from the toilet, and what is referred to as 'just fear' seem to add greatly to the problem in the case of these patients. Their chances for recovery depend upon good food. Protein is the most important article; chiefly red meats, liver, kidneys, sweetbreads, and lean pork in those that can tolerate pork as it is very rich in vitamin Strawberries are ripe, which means shortcake and woe to the sugar bowl. To get the best sweet flavor of strawberries, select those that are fully ripe, then serve with just enough sugar--not too much and let it dissolve Many have found that corn syrup gives fresh fruit sweetness without masking the true flavor of the fruit. For shortcake, crush the berries, add syrup, and let stand for a couple of hours to blend them thoroughly. A very small amout of sugar may be needed just before serving.

Strawberries will be plenty sweet enough done this way: Allow from About conserving the surplus. 5½ to 6 cups of hulled whole berries for each quart, and sprinkle over them the ½ cup of sugar permitted by the ration. The sugar will draw juice from the berries. This is hastened by heating them over hot water with the juice scores to be enough ter, until the juice seems to be enough to fill a jar. Pack hot into sterile jars, adjust the seal. and process 10 minutes in the hot water bath. Seal. The berries stay down quite well done this way. Another method is to heat the berry-sugar mixture quickly to the boiling point and allow it to stand overnight. Then heat again to boiling, pack and process as stated above.

Your jam supply can be stretched by using ½ corn syrup or honey in place of ½ the sugar called for.

Strawberry juice will save on sugarit may be canned in green bottles or jars to retain the vitamin C, with or without sugar, and 1/2 to 1 cup of sugar per gallon is as much as you need

Notes: Have you counted the tomato plants in your garden? You should have at least 15 plants for each member of your family to provide enough for use, fresh and canned.

Government Controls

CHARGE ACCOUNTS

The New Government Regulation has placed new restrictions on all Charge Accounts and Installment Buying, effective May 6, 1942. It is necessary that all retail dealers comply with this regulation.

Under these New Regulations All Accounts on Our Books up to June 1, 1942, Must be Paid in Full by July 10, 1942, and thereafter Bills Are Due and Payable in Full by the 10th of Each Month. If any portion remains unpaid 30 days beyond the due date merchants are not permitted to extend additional credit.

All Open Accounts on the books previous to May 5, 1942, are due and payable July 10, 1942, or must be handled on contracts and full payment be made within a six months period.

> The Retail Merchants of Tawas City wish to continue credit service to all their charge customers as usual; co-operation in paying bills as required by law will enable them to do this.

You Can Protect Your Credit by Paying In Full Each Month

We feel sure that the public will cheerfully and patriotically co-operate in these new government requirements.
