That Nagging Backache May Warn of Disordered Kidney Action Modern life with its hurry and worry, irregular habits, improper eating and drinking—its risk of exposure and infection—throws heavy strain on the work of the kidneys. They are apt to become over-taxed and fail to filter excess acid and other impurities from the life-giving blood. You may suffer nagging backache, headache, dizziness, getting up nights, leg pains, swelling—feel constantly tired, nervous, all worn out. Other signs of kidney or bladder disorder are sometimes burning, scanty or too frequent urination. Try Doan's Pills. Doan's help the kidneys to pass off harmful excess body waste. They have had more than half a century of public approval. Are recommended by grateful users everywhere. Ask your neighbor! DOAN'S PILLS

THE NEW Golden Age of sport, following the latest world war, has had only a few months in which to get underway. So far it has begun to outclass the so-called Golden Age that followed the First World war in the way of attendance, gate receipts and increasing public interest that in 1946 will crack all former marks if we can settle a few problems, and someone doesn't get careless with an atomic bomb.

But looking through the mists and fogs on ahead we still fail to see any sign that the performers can compare in crowd appeal with Babe Ruth, Jack Dempsey, Bobby Jones, Bill Tilden, Red Grange, Rogers Hornsby, Tommy Hitchcock, Man o' War, Walter Hagen and a few others of that former period who happened to be blessed with that indefinable flair known as "color."

Most of the star actors we have left to open or carry on the 1946 program go back well before the last war started. In this list you will find Joe Louis, Billy Conn, Byron Nelson, Ben Hogan, Joe DiMaggio, Hank Greenberg and others who had reached, or at least had come to their peak before Pearl Harbor.

It is faintly possible, but highly improbable, that you and I will see another Ruth, Dempsey, Jones, Hitchcock or Tilden in action with as much combined skill and crowd appeal.

Still Great Fighters No one can say yet just how much fighting ability Joe Louis and Billy Conn can bring to the ring next June. Louis has almost certainly taken a number of steps over the hill. The odds are that Conn won't be as good as he was in his last attempt to reach the top. Both may have enough left to give a record-paying crowd an interesting show. We'll know about this later on when the two get in better fighting shape.

There is no other heavyweight in sight who compares with either, at his best. Someone may come along later on, but he is still some distance away. High-class heavyweights arrive at wide intervals. The 4-Fs produced little and neither army nor navy has any sensations showing along the horizon.

It might be suggested here that Army's football team has taken the lead in the new Golden Age. It is better than any football team that followed the first war. Blanchard and Davis have been mentioned more than any two football players one can recall off hand. And both will be around next fall, with another fine Army team that might easily set a three-year record.

What about baseball? Most of the stars will be found among such former stars as Joe DiMaggio, Hank Greenberg, Joe Gordon, Bobby Doerr, Marty Marion, Terry Moore, many members of the old Yankee and Cardinal casts.

But there is still hope for such young entries as Dave Ferriss of the Red Sox, Wakefield of the Tigers, Stirweiss of the Yankees, Schoendienst of the Cardinals and a few more who may develop rapidly.

Old Stars Returning The majority of baseball eyes will be focused on former stars who should, in the main, be ready for baseball again next spring. Al Newhouser will again rate high up after a brilliant two-year record. After the First World war, the ill-fated White-Black Sox of 1919 and the Giants and Yankees of the early '20s were unusually strong.

What about golf? So far, among the professionals, the top men are still Nelson, Hogan, Snead and McSpaden, who have been around quite a spell. We have no record of any young new pros crashing the spotlight at this moment. But the amateur side with Haas, Stranahan, Middlecoff, Doering and Givan will be above the 1919-1920 average. This list will hardly include a Bobby Jones, but in medal play against the pick of the pros they have been outscoring any set of amateurs we can now recall.

Professional golf may have to wait a while before giving the game a young star as good as the veterans still left. Tennis? Not yet. Amateur tennis has no chance to match the Big Bill Tilden and the Little Bill Johnston of 1919 and 1920, on through 1925. Some of the kids may start moving up, but hardly in time for any 1946 or 1947 championships.

Revival of Polo Polo will be in for an even tougher touch. Most of the better polo ponies are now missing. Polo went almost 100 per cent to war and little competitive polo has been played in the last four years. Polo will need a longer day for its comeback to the days of Hitchcock, Milburn and others who were around in 1920 or 1921. But in spite of a lapse in form and class from 25 years ago there will be far more competitors in the field and a greater kid crop coming on.

A MEAT tin or a tomato can may be turned into a gay tea caddy with a wooden lid and a Dutch design on the front. An easy-to-follow pattern with actual-size painting patterns for 12 different designs shows you how. Every step from lid making to antique finish is clearly described. Designs may be adapted for trays and boxes of different sizes.

A few of the hand-decorated articles made with this pattern are shown here. The cigarette box at the lower left is made from the smallest size fruit can, the trinket box at the right from a salmon can. The ivy design fits a flat cigarette box. The strawberry is for the top of a mayonnaise jar. There is also a Swedish design for a button box and another style of tray for the bird design.

 Coast Guard Cutter
 Has Strenuous Day
 Answering a rapid series of distress calls from vessels caught in the first big freeze on the Great Lakes, the Coast Guard Cutter Mackinaw went to the assistance of seven ships the first three days of the season's ice-breaking.
 The broad beamed 10,000 horsepower icebreaker, which was commissioned last year and put to the maiden test breaking out new warships built on the lakes and sent to salt water in mid-winter, once more proved herself.
 From her berth in Cheboygan, Michigan, the Mackinaw pushed down through Lake Huron when the calls started coming in the District Coast Guard Office in Cleveland from ships icebound in zero weather on their final trips of the navigation season.
 From Port Huron, the Mackinaw lead the Steamers Fred L. Hewitt and Sonoma, down through the St. Clair River, across Lake St. Clair, which was encrusted with about eight inches of ice, down into the Detroit River, where most of the channel was covered with six to eight inch ice. The two ships were bound for Erie with cargoes of grain.
 Near Bar Point, in the Lower Detroit River, a third vessel, the Lagonda, caught in the ice, was freed by the Mackinaw and added to the convoy.
 At the mouth of the Detroit River, in Lake Erie, an icebound Canadian coal boat, the Alexander Leslie, carrying 5,000 tons of coal from Toledo to Erie, Ontario, was broken out. At 6 a. m. approximately 24 hours after the beginning of the operation, the Mackinaw reported all four ships were in open water in Lake Erie, proceeding to their original destinations.
 That accomplished the big white cutter next went to the assistance of two sand ships, the Kelly Island and the John M. McKercher, which were frozen fast outside Sandusky Harbor. These two vessels had no radio sending equipment, so in order to communicate with them, to determine the depth of the water and whether help other than icebreaking was needed, the Mackinaw sent four men over the ice. For safety they were tied together with a line and dragged a skiff. Each man carried an oar.
 By night, after careful maneuvering in shallow water, the Mackinaw had freed the two vessels and cut a channel into Sandusky Harbor to their docks.
 The next afternoon, at Southeast Shoal in the western end of Lake Erie, the icebreaker met the Steamer Venus, bound from Buffalo to Detroit with a load of scrap iron. The Mackinaw broke a channel up through the Detroit River and de-

LESSON TEXT—Exodus 1:8-14; 2:23-25.
GOLDEN TEXT—And He said, "Certainly I will be with thee."—Exodus 3:12.

God never forgets His people. We can be assured of that even though at times we must wait for His coming to bring us deliverance.

The history of Israel repeatedly demonstrates the faithfulness of God; hence the lessons of this next quarter concerning them will be a source of real blessing to all who need and seek God's help.

The family of Jacob—or, as the Bible calls them, the children of Israel—prospered in Egypt particularly as long as Joseph and the rulers who remembered him were alive. But they soon learned one of life's bitter lessons, namely, that:

I. Prosperity Is Not Always a Blessing (1:8-11).

The Hebrews were a peaceful, law-abiding people. They were God's chosen people, and as He blessed them they prospered, and thus innocently they brought upon themselves the hatred of the suspicious Egyptians.

Prosperity is never an unmixed blessing. We as a nation know that to be true. Not only does it lead to a certain softening of the sinews, but all too often it results in a weakening of the moral fiber, which makes man easy prey to the attack of the enemy of our souls.

We have just passed through a great war which has demonstrated to the world that in a time of crisis America can be strong, but now that it is over we are ready to fight one another to gain advantage. Many who have profited by war are not content to have less gold in peacetime, and so the old delusion, the love of riches, is about to ruin many lives.

It should be said that the Egyptians had reason, humanly speaking, to fear this great nation which was growing up in their midst. The new rulers did not know Joseph and had forgotten the spirit in which he had brought his family into the land. The leaders of the Egyptians therefore made plans which appealed to their brilliant leaders as politic and wise. But they reckoned without God, and the burdens and the afflictions they placed on the Israelites only served to bring further blessing.

So Israel learned a lesson which our present sorry world can profit by, that:

II. Persecution Is Not Always a Burden (vv. 12-14).

The people of Israel did not appreciate it, but the bitterness of their bondage was a blessing in disguise.

1. It Kept Them Separate as a People. Affliction often serves to keep God's people separated from the world. It is doing so today.

2. It Disciplined Them and Prepared Them for the Hardships of Their Wilderness Journey. We, too, do well to remember that "whom the Lord loveth he chasteneth," and that if we are properly "exercised" thereby, our sorrows may yield rich fruit in our lives.

3. It Threw Them Back upon God. Many are the saints of God who have found that the fiery trial, the burden so hard to understand, or some affliction of body, has caused them to bring their burdens to the Lord. We have traveled far on the road of faith when we have reached the place where we learn that "man's extremity is God's opportunity."

III. Prayer Always Brings Deliverance (2:23-25).

Does God really know when His people suffer? Does He really care? Yes, He does. "They cried," and "God heard" and "remembered." That's all we need to know. The groaning of His people had already stirred God's gracious and tender heart. But He waited to hear their cry before He answered. Such is the law of prayer. May we not forget it. Far too often we turn to everyone and everything else, and finally, in desperation, to God. Why not turn to him first?

Does God hear and answer prayer? Yes, but remember that real prayer is the cry of faith coming from the heart of an obedient child. God may answer other prayers, but He always answers the prayer of faith.

His answer may not be in accord with our opinion of what it should be, for His wisdom is infinite. He knows better than we what the answer should be. Let us trust the Judge of all the earth to do right (Gen. 18:25).

A world thrown into unspeakable fear by the development of the atomic bomb is now recognizing that the only hope for the future is a spiritual revival. Many who scoffed at the idea of prayer to God are ready now to hear the witness of a church that really knows how to pray and to bring deliverance from the hand of God.

The tank is a huge T-shaped affair as shown in this picture. It is fitted with a harness and headrest which permits the patient to lie in it, relaxed, and receive muscle re-education treatment. Filled with warm water, it encourages muscular relaxation. T/4 Leo Schlitten, Engadine, Mich., in tank at Vaughan hospital, Maywood, Ill.

BLUE BABY RECOVERING . . . Michael Schirmer, five, who used to be so weak that he couldn't walk, is now full of play. Here he poses with his mother, Mrs. Jessie Schirmer, beside a photograph of his daddy, CWO Joseph E. Schirmer, who served in the Pacific. Little Michael was the 28th blue baby to have the famous Blalock operation at Johns Hopkins hospital, Baltimore. Most of the operations have proven successful. Dr. Blalock has reported 80 per cent cures.

Farm Topics

Nitrogen Lack Shows In Farm Crop Colors

Pale Green Often Means Low Protein Content

The culprit responsible for the pale green color and spindly growth of many pastures and fields of small grains last spring was lack of nitrogen, according to W. H. Pierre, head of the agronomy department of Iowa State college.

Corn shows nitrogen application.

And nitrogen deficiency was also to blame for the "firing" or drying up of the lower leaves of corn in many other midwestern fields, Dr. Pierre asserted.

"Nitrogen is the plant food element that gives crops their normal, dark-green color and their fresh appearance," he declared. "Without enough nitrogen, plants become pale green and spindly. In corn when nitrogen hunger develops about mid-summer, the older or lower leaves of the plant turn yellow near the midrib and may gradually die.

"Farmers sometimes mistake nitrogen-hunger signs in corn for drought injury. Where small grains and grasses are concerned, a lack of nitrogen not only results in pale-green color but later maturity and lower yields.

"One of the other serious effects of nitrogen deficiency is a low protein content in crops, for proteins cannot be formed without nitrogen. This has an adverse effect in meat and dairy cattle raising, for low protein crops have a low feeding value."

Dr. Pierre pointed out that there are three ways in which nitrogen can be added to the soils so that crop needs can be met. One is through the growth of legumes, another is through the use of manures and crop residues and the third is through the use of fertilizers containing nitrogen.

Humidity for Storage

Apples Is Important

The successful storage of apples depends on the ability of the individual to read the danger signs. When apples show signs of wilting or shriveling, it is an indication that the surrounding atmosphere or humidity is low, according to Purdue university. The dry air is absorbing the moisture from the produce, thus the apple shrinks.

Sprouting and rotting results from warm and moist temperatures and lack of proper ventilation. Containers should be open and kept off the floor and away from the wall. Apples should be stored at 34 to 38 degrees and 75 to 80 per cent humidity. Ventilation, sound produce, proper temperature and humidity are essential.

New in Machinery Hole Digger

Jeep serves as post hole digger.

The new improved Jeep, adapted for peacetime work, combines the four basic functions of tractor, light truck, mobile power unit and passenger conveyance.

Among the many and various farm applications is its use as a post-hole digger as shown in illustration above.

Aluminum on Farms

Aluminum paint, which because of its high radial heat reflectivity gives dual service as a long wearing surface preserver and a temperature reducer, has long been used widely on farm property. Among the newer developments are portable aluminum chicken coops, non-rusting aluminum fencing and screen wire.

For the dairy, such aluminum items as milk pails, separator parts, waterers, milk vats, ice trays and milk tanks are now being made.

just thinkin'-thinkin' back fifty-two years. You was payin' attention to me and kind o' jealous like. I couldn't turn 'round but what you was kissin' me. You was jealous o' Jed Hafey—jealouser than anything."
Pop snorted disdainfully. "What'd
I have to be jealous o' Jed Hafey fer? Tell me that."
"Plenty," Maw said, "I was going to marry him."
Pop dropped his fork. "You was a-goin' to marry Jed?"
"Sure. Only his folks wanted him to marry Edda Stout. She owned all the bottom land nearly in Clarke county. He couldn't marry me until he was of age, on account o' his folks wantin' him to marry Edda.
In a year he figures he can get all her money and then divorce her and marry me. Meanwhile he said I might as well marry you, then when he got all Edda's money I could divorce you and marry him. Said you was about the most harmless male bein' in all Clarke county and no harm would come to me marryin'
you. He said if I married anybody else I might fall in love with him and then he'd lose out."
"So that was the way o' things!
I remember. Jed did divorce Edda a year or so later. How come you never told me this before, Lil? And how come you not to divorce me and marry Jed after he got his divorce?"
"How come?" Maw said. "Well, Pop, I guess maybe you was kind o' responsible for that. Ain't no tellin' how a woman looks at things until she's hogtied to a man. I just kind o' forgot about Jed. Money didn't matter so much, after all. I found out it was the man that mattered. You kind o' had good ways about you, Pop. Different kind o' ways, only they was the right kind.
Made a girl think twice afore jump-
in' from the fryin' pan into the fire.
You was good enough for me, I found. If there was any better men'n you, I wouldn't have no way
o' knowin', o' course. Everything was so nice I didn't think it could be any nicer, so I just decided to hang onto you and let Jed root for himself."
"By gum!" Pop exclaimed after a moment's reflection. "Now I am a-goin' to that keg openin' tonight
if it kills me. And you're a-goin' with me, Lil. I won't have Jed thinkin' he didn't get cheated in the deal, consarn his danged hide! If I go without you he'll think I don't care none about you, and I want to make him feel right good and jealous."
"Jed jealous after fifty - two years?" Maw said incredulously.
"Well, if he ain't he ought to be!
Happy New Year, Maw!"
"I'll go," Maw said, "but remember, Pop Levis, if you get drunk tonight I'll break the mop handle over your head when we get home—that is, if I'm still able to tell a mop handle from a crowbar."
