EUROPE'S LITTLE PEOPLE-1946

Prices High and Goods Scarce, But Belgium Is Forging Ahead

By PAULINE FREDERICK

BRUSSELS.—It was not a typical Belgian home, but it symbolized Belgium in relation to the rest of Europe. This little conutry, though it has known the invader more than once, has made an amazing economic recovery and is in a class beyond any of its neighbors in this part of the world.

No, the Van de Vens do not live @ in an average Belgian home, because greater material advantages than many of their countrymen know have provided them with a modernistic house, in the Hollywood sense, with expanses of glass and chrome, salons, a breakfast room on the second floor, a library, the decor and furnishings bespeaking a trend toward the ultra-smart.

As I sat talking to Madame Van de Ven, I could look across the coffee table with its bowl of narcissi in the center, to the salon with chairs and divan covered in clipped wool, a bowl of scarlet tulips on the table, to the dining room with its full-wall landscape in oils. It was in this setting that Madame Van de Ven talked about living conditions in Belgium as she knew them during the war and now.
"You can get anything you want in Belgium, if you pay for it," she told me. "That was true during the occupation as well as now-although every week prices are dropping astonishingly.

"During the war, it took ten times as much money to run my house and take care of my family as be-fore the war," Madame told me. "It is now down to five times as much, and I think when it gets to three times that will be about what is expected to be normal.

'Of course, the prices have been very hard on the poor people. You had to buy things on the black market because they were not available otherwise. You still have to buy on the black market, if you want things," she went on.

For example, butter on the black market is roughly $2 a pound while it has been as high as $3 a pound. The official price is around 60 cents. Real silk hose bring around $8 on the marche noir whereas the official price is about $1. There has been only one shoe ration during and since the war, so that it is almost necessary to buy shoes on the black market. For an ordinary pair of women's shoes, the black market price would be between $35 and $40, whereas if you wanted a pair of stout walking shoes that would last for some time, you probably would have to give the equivalent of $60. Cigarettes command the usual fantastic price that they do in all countries of Europe today. There is a black market street in Brussels where anything may be had from American uniforms to potatoes. And clothing coupons can be bought on the streets. "The black market has been helping to bring prices down," Madame Van de Ven said, and then went on to explain: "The Belgians are individualists. They must be active even outside the law. When it was said no goods could be produced, people buying on the black market created such prices that the government was forced to do some-thing to increase the supply so as to bring prices down. Because goods are coming on the market, the price of textiles has come down 60 per cent since New Year's and the government is taking steps to close up places that are selling above the official price."

In the food line, the scarcest item is potatoes, with meat running second. Just before the elections, a new list came out which slightly inand coffee and, of course, there was a suspicion on the part of many peo- ishing." * * *

ple that this step had a direct connection with the elections. If you don't deal on the black market and stay within the ration-here are some of the allotments:

As in other European countries, bread and potatoes are an important part of the Belgian diet. Just under a pound of bread a day per person and twenty pounds of potatoes a month are the ration. Three-fourths of a pound of coffee a month per person is the coffee ration and about two pounds of fet which must about two pounds of fat which must include margarine, a butter-spread which contains cheese and butter. Oranges are rationed to two and one-fifth pounds a month and dried fruits and raisins less than onefourth pound. The cheese ration is less than a quarter pound per person per month. Miners, who are so essential to Belgium's economic recovery, are given extra points, of

As for clothing, 100 tickets are allowed for a period. A woman's tailored suit would take 80 points, and an ordinary slip would use up 9 points. However, it is possible to obtain lingerie in certain stores without coupons if you pay extra francs, or you can buy clothing on the streets of Brussels.

"But Belgium is doing very well,"

Madame Van de Ven's husband is an inporter of regrigeration and wood products from the United States. They have a 15-year-old daughter, Jacki, and a nine-yearold son, Johnny. A lordly camache poodle, named Jeep, completes the family. Jeep, born on the day of liberation, has brown hair clipped to leave ruffs about his feet and head and wears a German iron cross. Yes, the Van de Vens think Belgium is doing very well.

And that is the impression you get everywhere. One business man predicted to me that if conditions continue to improve, this little country will be back to normal by the end of the year. Already coal production is up to 75 per cent, and steel 60 per cent. The textile mills are getting under way.

But Belgium must have imports—especially from the United States. And in order to buy American goods, she must have dollars. Belgium's greatest resources are labor and coal with which she makes imported raw materials into goods for sale abroad. She has plenty of goods for internal consumption, because the outbreak of the war found her plentifully stocked, and the Belgians were able to hide much of their supplies from the Germans which they are now putting on the market. But Belgium must have export business.

Before the war, Belgium was a land of low prices and low wages. When the cost of living began to advance 10 times above normal, wages were raised 80 per cent in order to make existence possible. But at that point the government decided that only a vicious spiral of inflation was in progress, so it put a halt to wage advances and started working on price decreases. As a result, Belgians themselves tell creased the ration for fat, meat, you that the price drops in as short a time as two weeks are "aston-

In several respects, children will fare better with "realistic" toys than adults with the real thing, it was said. Of doll houses there will be planty all contacts. be plenty-all sorts of construction sets will be featured. Toy housekeeping appliances, such as model kitchen stoves, will be back.

Tiny street scenes, filling stations will be made of metal or plasticnot of wood! And dolls will again move their eyes and "talk."

Science will be well represented in new play equipment. There will be chemistry sets, utilizing many harmless compounds that were hard to get during the war, and kits on such themes as "fun with electri-city." There was no indication, it was said, that any toys will involve puttering with atoms.

New games, particularly some that require a good deal of paper stage money, are being planned, and, despite the fabric shortage, costumes for dolls and for children may be somewhat extrava-

NUBBINS HAS CHECKUP

CHEYENNE, WYO. - Forrest ("Nubbins") Hoffman, who was recently taken to Denver for an internal checkup, was found to be suffering from nothing more than a cold. Hospital physicians who examined him found "Nubbins" within one-half inch of normal height and less than one-half pound underweight. The lad attracted nationwide sympathy two years ago when he celebrated his fourth Christmas several weeks early because it was believed he could not survive a bladder ail-

DAY FOR ARCHERS

At Trenton, N. J., a special hunting season for archers who want to hunt deer with bows and arrows may be granted by the New Jersey state legislature. The archers may be permitted to hunt deer November 5 to 9, while others would wait for the regular season, December 17 to 21.

Lloyd Beebe, Sequim cougar hunter, killed a big cougar with two arrows from his 60-pound bow after his three hounds had treed the cat, says a report from Port Angeles, Wash.

VET'S HOME A BARREL

DEVIL'S LAKE, N. D.-Ardell Hagen, his wife and small daughter have set up housekeeping in a barrel. The barrel, however, is a huge one formerly used as a hamburger stand. The family will live in the upper half of the barrel, in which Hagen has installed an electric cooking stove, running water, cupboards and sink. An oil furnace in the lower half will do the heating.

STRING IN STOMACH

SIOUX FALLS, S. D.-A local doctor had to pull strings recently when he operated on Clarence Kimball. Nearly 1,000 yards of fine string were found in Kimball's stomach. The patient previously had been treated for a narrowing esophagus and in this treatment the first step was to swallow string which introduced steel balls into the gullet to stretch the food channel.

TWO TIMES TWO

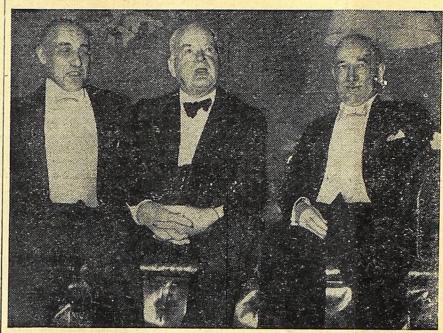

CORAPEAKE, N. C.-The most prolific cow in Gates county is owned by George Kittrell of Corapeake, who points out this record as proof:

On December 24, 1944, the cow a registered Guernsey, gave birth to purebred twin calves, a male and a female.

Less than a year later, on December 11, 1945, another blessed event occurred at the Kittrells', this time it was twins again-two lively bull calves.

WARSAW, CITY OF RUINS . . . Life goes on in a city of complete ruins. Children in Warsaw, Poland, are playing games in front of the ruins of Marien Kircher, the oldest church in the Polish capital. Charred wreckage forms a cross in the background. The population, once over a million, has dwindled to a few thousand of under-nourished and ill-clad population. Warsaw is the "ghost city of Europe." The mystery is why the few remain in Warsaw.

HOOVER DISCUSSES FOOD . . . Herbert Hoover, center, former president of the United States, who is currently making a tour of Europe to study the food problem, is shown following his arrival in Czechoslovakia with Lawrence Steinhardt, left, U. S. ambassador, and President Benes, right, of Czechoslovakia. Hoover has reported an urgent need for food in most countries of Europe if open revolt and starvation is to be averted.

PINING UNDER THE PINES . . . 'Tis said that in the spring a young man's fancy turns to thoughts of love, so Jimmy Murray, Johnson City, N. Y., not wanting to be an exception to the rule, whispers sweet nothings to his lady fair, Kathy Callahan. They're all wrapped up in the mysteries of puppy love as they hold a tryst under the pines. Many an oldster could take a lesson from this young fair couple.

PARIS CELEBRATES AGAIN . . . For the first time since the war Paris burst forth with all its pent up gaiety in a colorful carnival that brought forth its brightest costumes and floats. The holiday spirit penetrated downward into the younger brackets, too, and here we see three children of the many who marched through the streets of Paris in masquerade, the hardships of war a thing of the past.

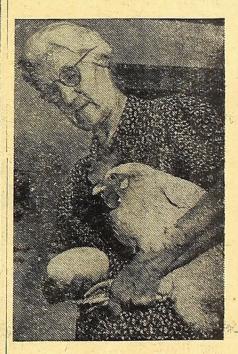

AIR COMMANDER . . . Lt. Gen. George Stratemeyer, former commander of the U. S. air forces in China, has been appointed commander of the newly formed air defense command. He will be responsible for defense of the United States.

result of the recent Greece election, King George II, now in exile in England, may be returned. He first reigned in 1922, but fled the country the next year due to an uprising. He was restored to his throne again in 1935 but forced into exile in 1941 when the Germans overran his country.

CONTENDER WORKS OUT . . Billy Conn, who meets world's champion heavyweight Joe Louis at Yankee stadium on June 19, punches the bag at his camp at Greenwood Lake, New Jersey. A $3,500,000 gate is expected.

EGGS GETTING LARGER This S. C. White Leghorn hen is certainly in a class by herself. Held by owner, Mrs. William Burnham, Albany, N. Y., she looks over her 14-ounce egg, 5 inches long, 9 inches in circumference.

COMPTON HONORED . . . Dr. Karl T. Compton, president of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Boston, who was awarded the highest award the war department can bestow on a civilian.

Washington, D. C.

RUSSIA IS LIKE U. S.

WASHINGTON. - Reminiscences of a Reporter-It's been a long time since the sixth Pan-American conference in Havana, 1928; but that conference has certain similarities with what's brewing in New York today. Calvin Coolidge made a special trip to Cuba, the first time in years a President set foot on foreign soil. Charles Evans Hughes, ex-secretary of state, dominated the U. S. delegation. Frank B. Kellogg. his successor as secretary of state, also fretted and fumed in the background.

Reason for the desire to im-press the brethren: Worry . . . Worry over American troops on Nicaraguan soil. . . . Worry over American troops on Haitian soil. Worry about the right of American troops to intervene in various countries such as Mexico to protect U. S. oil.

Memory Flashes: Charles Evans Hughes, sedate, bewhiskered, impressive, buttonholing Latin delegates. He made a great picture, did a beautiful job of organizing a bloc of pro-U. S. A. nations. . Panama were to us as Poland and Yugoslavia are to Russia today. . Hughes' objective: To prevent any discussion of intervention. In other words, the U.S.A. reserved the right to land troops on foreign soil without being hauled before the public court of Pan Americanism. Hughes won out. Our interventions in Haiti, Nicaragua, were successfully barred from the agenda. We didn't have to stage a walkout as the Russians did at New Biggest Test: Whether the U. S. A. would consent to arbitrate disputes with its Latin neighbors. . . . Hughes had instructions to duck even this. The state department didn't even want to discuss the matter. It was a tough fight to bar all debate of arbitration, but Hughes won out even on this.

TROOPS IN NICARAGUA PAN-AMERICAN ARBITRATION CONFERENCE, Washington, 1929-U. S. public opinion, usually ahead of the government, by this time had . There had begun to change. . always been resentment against landing troops in Nicaragua. The Pulitzers plus other liberal newspapers poured a terrent of abuse on the state department. Even conservative papers were skeptical. Charles Evans Hughes was raked over the coals for opposing even the discussion of arbitration at Ha-. Like Russia, we still demanded the veto, but unlike Russia, the American people didn't support their government. They were 'way

ahead of it RUSSIA AND IRAN

NEW YORK, 1946-Today, Russia, fuming against the United Nations, is in the same boat as the U. S. A. before the Pan-American union. Instead of Nicaragua, it's Iran... But there is one essential difference. . . . In 20 years, the U. S. A. moved far ahead in international morality-due to the power of public opinion. The American people, its press and pulpit, were continually pushing their government. . . . The opposite is true of Russia. The Russian people know little about Iran, little about the UNO conference, have to take what their government gives them. A Stars and Stripes quiz of Red army soldiers showed that most of them thought Churchill was an American.

We have to make allowances for Russia because in a sense she is a new nation-sensitive and suspicious.

COLUMNIST ICKES

Probably it was pure accident, but Harold Ickes begins his new career as newspaper columnist on the same day he is needed most in his old job as coal administrator. And, good columnist that he is bound to be, probably most people would prefer Ickes at the helm in this coal dispute rather than wielding a pen three times a week.

As a columnist, Ickes should tell the inside story of how he outsmartted John L. Lewis during the last coal strike and made him call it

During Lewis' illegal walkout over organizing foremen last fall, Ickes pulled his trump card. The government-owned big inch and little inch pipelines no longer were needed to carry oil to the East coast; so Ickes threatened to convert them to natural gas.

With this trump card, plus the fact that the miners themselves didn't want to strike, Ickes bulldozed Lewis into calling the strike off.

UNRRA MERKY-GO-ROUND

After Mayor LaGuardia was appointed to take Governor Lehman's place, delegates of hungry nations at the Atlantic City UNRRA conference wisecracked: "We asked for 500,000 tons of wheat and you gave us a 'little flower'." . . Without disparaging the many fine qualities of Fiorello, some felt that food problems would not be solved by an of the Missouri mule. The Little tons Flower is now at work.

room with another member of the family or enjoy its privacy, you want to make it the most attractive and cozy room in the house. Bedrooms and dressing rooms can truly reflect their owner's personality, and in fact, they offer more opportunity to show your skill with the needle than the other rooms.

Pink and blue are the old standbys in color schemes for the bedroom, but the trend now is to introduce just a little bit of sophistication even when these colors are Instead of pink, you may want to use a melon shade and add touches of chartreuse or lime as a color complement. If your choice is blue, then perhaps a deep blue with touches of deep, bright red would make the most of the room.

After your color scheme is decided, then is the time to look into available materials to see what can be made or remodeled to make the room as pretty or smart as your heart desires. If no new materials are available, then take a trip to the attic to see what you can discover. The chances are ten to one there will be a discarded set of frothy curtains or a faded pair of drapes or an old tablecloth that can readily be converted into something extremely practical.

If you are fortunate enough to have a dressing table in your room, then bear in mind that it is the focal point of the room. In making the skirt for it, remember that good draping and a full skirt are the keys to its being truly success-

The style of the dressing table skirt depends upon your own individual taste. If you go in for tailored things, then you will dispense with that fluffy, frosted look and concentrate on draping and detail, smart color and accessories. If you like the room to be as feminine as possible, plan a skirt that is made fluffy with a sheer or starchy material and use wide ribbon for bows and draping at the top.

But what can be converted into a dressing table skirt, you ask? If the skirt is a two-piece affair-a sheer fabric on top, and an opaque material for the under skirt, your choice would naturally be discarded curtains of some sheer material. The under skirt can be almost anything you happen to have-an old damask tablecloth, cotton sheeting, bedspread or drapery. Even the full skirt of an old sheer evening gown can successfully be reconverted into a frilly overskirt.

Your best choice for a tailored dressing table skirt is any old drapery material which you will probably dye to suit the color scheme of the room. Some of the old tablecloths or old formals have a lovely heavy material which also might be utilized. For this type of skirt you will not need as much material as for the very feminine, but you do have enough for deep plaits or tucks so the finished skirt does not look skimpy.

Fit Material to Table Before Cutting

Before you begin working on the material, see that it is carefully laundered and pressed or dry cleaned. Patterns are not a great deal of help since the sizes of the tables vary a great deal. It will be best for you to actually fit the material to the table itself. The Nice but Neat material should go all the way around and open in front, with enough overlapping in front, of course, to prevent the skirt from gaping.

The ever popular bolero suit appears in a Nettie Rosenstein version with a double-breasted box bolero over a brown crepe top dress of light blue wool. The straw hat with the perky veil is in keeping with the neatness of the suit.

As you pin the material to the table, allow for tucks and pin them in, using a rule or measuring tape to see that they are evenly spaced. For the feminine dressing table skirt, allow generously for the flounce at the bottom. This, of course, may be done after the skirt is cut, but do see to it that you have enough material to go all the way around.

For ease in making the skirt, and also as a help in laundering or cleaning, the two-piece skirt is made in four parts. Both skirts will fit around half the table coming together in the middle at the front. If the table is placed solidly against a wall, the skirt need not go all the way around the back.

Probably your only purchase for the skirt will be ribbon for the trim. Don't dash out to the store as soon as you get the idea for making it. Take your measurements first, and use strips of paper for fitting and tying in bows if you want to be perfectly accurate.

In the tailored type of skirt, may want to do some dyeing. Sturdy cotton or cotton and rayon draperies will dye fairly easily. This should be done before cutting. Sheer curtains are best left their original white, but the under skirt which is of opaque material will be pretty in a light pastel tint, if you want to introduce just a little color.

Patching Pointers

Every woman has her share of mending to do whether she likes it or hates to approach the task. Doing it on a regular routine will take some of the drudgery out of and assure the family of their clothes always being ready to wear.

A darning basket or kit is a necessity and should be kept separate from sewing materials. All different types of thread are essential and also a quantity of buttons. Make a habit of putting loose buttons directly in the mending kit so as to have the right ones on hand.

Snaps and hooks and eyes are also essential. Other "musts" are a pair of small, sharp-pointed scissors, a darning egg, darning and sewing needles; darning thread, tape and a small razor.

A darning stitch which is most often used for mending is like a weaving stitch. It substitutes for the material and therefore the thread should be as much like the material as possible.

In mending dainty, fragile garments, use fine thread and small stitches. Lace should always be mended by dainty overhand stitches.

Spring Fashion Notes

Shoulders in both suits and coats are very wide and full but soft. Sleeves, too, carry out the fullness. In many of the coats you will find wrist length sleeves with buttons just as on dresses or blouses.

Your favorite choice of materials for this season are first, thin atomic bombshell. . . The La-rayon crepes; second, soft satins; Guardia appointment was right out third, sheer and not so sheer cot-

Greatcoats are more feminine and graceful than in years before. They boast a soft quality, but frou frou is absent.

Radiant colors in stripes, polka dots and solids are all first choice for the younger fashions now. Graceful skirts play up the youthful figure, giving it a sense of free movement and grace and minimizing the waist.

Sweet Round-House

Those designs for living in the world of tomorrow keep coming. Every day some fellow who must have studied architecture while riding in Mardi Gras parades springs something newer and screwier in housing.

The brass ring in this month's Caroussel Ride with Blueprints goes to a Kansas man who has produced a round bungalow.

It looks like a butter dish with ventilation arrangements, a super mousetrap with roof, a derby hat with windows.

It is made of aluminum and is suspended on cables from a steel shaft. The rooms, six of 'em, are cut in like slices in a pie. It is the ideal home for a six day bicycle racer who has married the winner of a marathon waltz and who is raising a family of hysterical roller

It takes a heap of living to make a place seem home, as Edgar Guest said. And Edgar never lived in a home where the tenants had to steal three laps on themselves to determine where the front door was.

A window runs all around the house. No matter where you sit you get a choice of views. Life in a house like this must make you feel like a cross between a roulette ball, the needle in a compass and breast of chicken under glass.

In such a home you are really a chocolate eclair with ears and a cream puff with plumbing troubles.

Viewed from a distance the place looks like half a watermelon with curtains over the wormholes.

In it there is the spirit of a Salvadore Dali dream sequence, a night-club designer's nightmare and a pinwheel maker's lost week-

We are ordering one for summer occupancy. But we will shoot the first neighbor who sticks his head into our living room and yells "Fifty dollars for a sprint!"

Spring Signs Gentle spring is here I know-The thrush sings in the tree, The turtle dove is singing low, (We'll soon bomb Bikini) The frogs are croaking on the pond, The kids play mumble-peg, Lambs gambol in the fields beyond . . . (Will peace now lay an egg!).

The vernal season, yes, is here, And I have ample proof: Much gayer is the chanticleer, The squirrels romp my roof; I saw an oriole today, The buds burst near my door-And everywhere the people say, 'Looks like another war!"

The bluebird soon will be along, The dew is on the grass, The woodland now is full of song And congress full of gas; The hurdy-gurdies grind it out . . (The little states get knocked about As ultimatums fly!).

The waterfall is foaming white, The trout are seen to break, I heard a nightingale last night . . (Joe Stalin's on the make); Along the wall, the chipmunks run, We soon will have bock beer, (Our army has a rocket gun To pierce the stratosphere!).

Have you heard about the UNO delegate who was disturbed in a New York hotel and phoned down, "I demand a little peace here!"? . . .

There may be some good reason why no nation ever lends any money to Uncle Sam, but there can't be any why none ever offers him a cigar.

Use for Old Street Cars

The papers are devoting much space to the "discovery that old street cars can be converted into pretty comfortable dwellings." Discovery my eye! Years ago we were a surface-car tenant, a two-surfacecar dweller to be exact. Two were hauled down to the beach of a Connecticut shore resort and a small living room built between them. with a porch added front and rear. Each car was used as a bedroom. We occupied a set-up with a bunch of boys back home. There was only one drawback. Jim Finnegan used to get in after midnight and enjoy ringing up fares.

SHORT STORY I matched my ready wit with men And now I'm all alone again,

THE STORY THUS FAR: Lt. Andy Blake and his wife Arab, believed that a German spy ring was working out of her boarding house. Andy had searched Jones' house, nearby, and found some evidence, which he turned over to FBI. Later, Arab had told the girls that she had given evidence of loose talk to Andy and that he was keeping it in his home to deliver to Intelligence. Knowing they would be followed they went to Andy's home, where they read and sorted out the notes. They heard the window open and saw Renee climb in. She was overpowered and tied and taken down to the cellar for safekeeping. Both Andy and Arab were certain that Jones would soon

"Not at all. If you have any little errands to do, feel free to go ahead with them." I watched her flounce around the cellar unfastening a clothesline. She dug into a tool chest, found a knife, and cut the clothesline into lengths. She came back and began packaging Renee's wrists with a not-to-beopened-until-Christmas skill.

She had finished with the wrists, and started to pass the free end of the rope around Renee's waist. "And kindly move back," she said, jabbing her finger into my ribs. "You needn't think I'm going to tie her to you. Will it make you less playful if I remark that she probably has a few friends waiting outside for her?'

"I was trying not to think of that." "Well, somebody better." She bent down, tied Renee's ankles, and said, "Bring her over to this straight chair.

I lifted Renee, still keeping my hand over her mouth, and carried her to the chair. Arab used another length of rope to tie her to the chair, and it began to look as if Renee would be staying with us for a while.

"Now," Arab said to our package, "will you be good if we don't gag you?" Renee nodded. "All right, Andy. You may have your hand back. Mrs. Fielding, if you scream I'll probably hit you with some-

I took away my hand, and Renee said huskily, "Why should I scream? When I do not come out, they will know something has happened. They will come after me. What does a half-hour more or less matter?"

That burned me. "I used to know a swell song," I said. "It was called the Marseillaise. It's funny, I never used to think it sounded like the Horst Wessel song. Are they both the same now?"

She looked at me with old, sleepless eyes. "I have forgotten the tune. We of the New Europe have no songs."

"I used to know a swell guy, too. A big kid from Dartmouth, named Bob Fielding. He married the prettiest girl who ever walked into Zelli's. He was killed in Spain. I thought he was killed fighting Ger-

"This might be a good time to see how the Germans like being killed." For the moment there was a bite In her voice, "What good is a dead with her about it. Look, Jack, are German to me? Why should I help you gonna-" American planes? Where were they?"

'On the drawing boards," I muttered. "But they're coming now." "Now is too late for me. I made my choice two years ago.'

'And you chose the Germans." "How would you like to starve for four months? How would you like your parents threatened with the obey orders? How would you like to have lost all hope? They wanted me to work for them. I held out for almost five months. How long would you have held out?'

She shivered. "The Germans can-not be beaten. They would kill me. They would kill my people in Brit-tany."
"You know what all this excitement is about, don't you?"

"Yes. Landings in North Africa." "It's the first step toward bringing France back to life."

"The Germans will kill your troops."

"Has your gang got word out yet?"

"Not yet. We did not see the pattern until today. It takes time to arrange to send a message. Either there must be a U-boat contact, or the message must be sent by short wave direct to Germany."

Arab picked up the Smith & Wesson. "I want to make sure," she said. She crept up the steps and crouched at the locked cellar door. Then she turned and whispered down to me, "Get the derringer from my pocketbook."

I went to the ping-pong table, dumped the sawed-off howitzer from | don't forget that bullets don't ask her handbag, and picked it up between thumb and forefinger. I went back to the bottom of the cellar stairs to see what Arab wanted with the second gun.

Renee had done an artistic job on me in the dark. Over my heart was a ragged tear. The cloth was darkened and wet and sticky. The button over the pocket wasn't bright gold. It was red. My fingers were red, too, and back where I had been lying the floor was splashed with blood. It looked as if I ought to find a spade and save somebody the trouble of burying me. Last Plane Out

By K. W. BROOKS McClure Syndicate. WNU Features.

HANK GIBSON fingered the weather report of the meteorologist. He ordered another cup of coffee and drummed on the counter.

The coffee shop of the Hortonville Airport Terminal was not crowded, though there were obviously more passengers than the antiquated DC 3 could accommodate. It was the last scheduled flight of the day, and a lot of disappointed customers would have to drive back to Hortonville Center by automobile, cursing the snow and slush an airplane could

A frigid blast enveloped the room and condensed in whirls of vapor over the steam table. A large redfaced man put a tentative hand on the counter at Hank's left. "This seat taken?" he asked. Hank shook his head and wondered why every civilian from Dakar to Diamond Head picked him for company. "You counting on the Pittsburgh plane tonight too?" the man asked.

Hank looked out at the rough weather and shrugged. "Maybe," he said.

"I got to make it," the man said importantly. "Promised my daughter I'd be back sure. You know how kids are. Think their old man can make good on anything."
"Yeah," Hank said.

"If you're from Pittsburgh you must have heard of me," the man went on. "Lawrence L. Grainton." Hank shook his head. "Afraid not.

I've been away a good bit." Grainton grinned. "Well, you get your share of the girls, I bet," he said. "Take my advice, son, and have your fling while you can. These little business trips are like a vacation. I could have done everything by telephone but it breaks up the monotony, a plane trip.'

"What line are you in, Mr. Grainton?" Hank asked.

"Greeting cards. Finest in the country. Manufacture 'em. Don't mind admitting I've done pretty well, too." "Guess homes being split up hasn't hurt your business any, has it?" Hank suggested. Mr. Grainton winked broadly.

'Over fourteen thousand last year. Clear.'

Outside the glass brick walls the landscape was winter's frosty desolation. The pilot came in with the passenger list. "Attention, please!" he called. "As our regular passengers know, we have our own system of priorities and our judgment is final. The weather's making up, but we plan the Pittsburgh flight so far. The following persons are checked for passage.'

Near the beginning Grainton heard his name called. Then he watched Hank's face. It did not change expression, "I guess you didn't make it," Grainton observed, and boomed sympathy. "Say, now, that's too bad. I'm real sorry!"

"Now, folks," the pilot said, "if our meteorologist gets an O.K. in the next ten minutes, we'll sail. Passengers kindly take their places in the plane without delay."

"Too bad, soldier," Grainton said. "I guess the businessman has top priority now. Those meteorologist fellows sure take an awful responsibility. Betting on weather. Gambling with human lives."

"You don't have to ride the plane, Mr. Grainton." "I got to get back. I promised my daughter, remember. You'll know how those things are when you 'I am," Hank answered soberly.

"That so? Well, wait'll you get a girl like my Sue. 'Thirteen. You'll understand then.' "My daughter, Carol, is twelve."

"You don't say! In Pittsburgh, is she?" "Yeah." "Say, I'm real sorry. I'd gladly give you my place, only I promised I'd be home sure. You know

"Yeah, I know. I promised too." The motors idled, the big props turning over with the peculiar jerky sively. I could see vague forms motion they have before the motor rising up to giant heights beside me revs up. The pilot came out, accompanied by Hank now muffled in ther to show nothing but the whites an army greatcoat. When Hank took the co-pilot's seat, Grainton protested. "Look here," he said. "That boy's got no priority!"

"Technical Sergeant Gibson is acting co-pilot, sir," the pilot explained. "He's better qualified to fly this ship than I am. Don't you recognize the insignia-A. T. C.?"

They were ready to take off when the meteorologist ran out. After a hurried consultation with Hank the pilot announced apologetically, 'Sorry, folks. Storm making over the mountains. Can't endanger human life."

Grainton complained, "I promised my Sue! What am I going to "Send her a greeting card!" Hank said. "Air mail!"

"How can I?" Grainton demand-

ed. "What do you mean, air mail?"

"Oh, we're taking the ship through," Hank explained. "Neither snow, nor rain, nor sleet, nor gloom of night-don't you remember? And where would the greeting card business be if the mail didn't get through? I'd gladly give you my place, Mr. Grainton, only I promised I'd be home sure. You know how

The way to have a burning heart is to read God's Word, or to have it expounded by a Spirit-filled teacher or preacher.

When the heart has been warmed by the written Word and by fellowship with the living Word, our Lord Himself, the opened eye of renewed faith follows as day follows night. Now they knew the Stranger who was with them-and He was gone.

How did they know Him? We read that they knew Him in the breaking of the bread (v. 32).

Paul declared that same truth when he said, "The natural man receiveth not the things of the Spirit of God: for they are foolishness unto him: neither can he know them, because they are spiritually discerned" (I. Cor. 2:14).

in time. Wood began spraying from door and stairs. Sound blasted into the cellar: tremendous stutters of sound that seemed to make the foundations sway. One bullet smashed the concentration camp if you didn't electric-light bulb. In the darkened cellar the air became a live vicious thing scorching my lungs and jabbing knives into my ears. Joey had turned loose a tommy gun. I started to dive into a corner . . . and Renee screamed. I had forgotten her. She was out in the middle of that traffic jam of bullets, tied in the chair. I made a drunken lunge across the black cellar. The timing was right. My shoulder hit her chair at seat level. I kept on driving low and hard at the chair until the opposite wall smacked me flat. For a moment I lay there, unable to think of anything except that Roper would never have thrown me off the squad if I'd played defensive end he said. I waited quietly and listened. Feet were pounding through the house. He wasn't really giving me five minutes, because it would take that long for his gang to search the place. When I was sure that nobody was trying to sneak down the cellar stairs, I whispered to Renee, "Remember what I said about bullets not asking whose side you're on. I'm going to fix your arm now. It's a splinter, a pretty big one. But I think it'll come out cleanly." She choked back a cry. The splinter came out easily. It seemed to have nicked a vein, because her arm was getting wet and sticky. I whipped the handkerchief around the spot and began tying it.

"I don't know why you did all this for me," she murmured. "You made too much noise. I kept losing count of the slugs go-

When Your Back Hurts

And Your Strength and Energy Is Below Par

It may be caused by disorder of kid-ney function that permits poisonous waste to accumulate. For truly many people feel tired, weak and miserable when the kidneys fall to remove excess acids and other waste matter from the blood.

You may suffer nagging backache, Facumatic pains, headaches, dizziness, getting up nights, leg pains, swelling. Sometimes frequent and scanty urination with smarting and burning is another sign that something is wrong with the kidneys or bladder.
There should be no doubt that prompt treatment is wiser than neglect. Use Doan's Pills. It is better to rely on a medicine that has won countrywide approval than on something less favorably known. Doan's have been tried and tested many years. Are at all drug stores, many years. Are at all drug stores. et Doan's today.

YOU probably know, it isn't an easy job to get baseball managers to give out personal interviews concerning the comparative strength of certain stars or certain positions. It so happens that one of the m o s t important sectors in baseball, especially winning baseball, is that spot of the diamond guarded by the shortstop and the second baseman.

Joe Gordon

While no direct quotes were available we have run across seven managers and scouts quite willing to give out their private opinions. Here is the way the concensus came out-

No. 1. Rizzuto and Gordon,

Yankees. No. 2. Pesky and Doerr, Red Sox.

No. 3. Reese and Rojek, Dodgers.

Boudreau and Mack, Indians. No. 5. Marion and Verban,

Cardinals. This ranking or rating included all-around quality, hitting, fielding and double-play results. There was a close finish between the Rizzuto-Gordon and the Pesky-Doerr combinations. It was generally agreed that the Red Sox pair carried the higher-hitting average, but the defensive play of Rizzuto and Gordon gave the Yankees a slight lead. In the work they have shown before and what they have turned out this spring, it would be difficult to find a more brilliant pair of infield workmen than Rizzuto and Gordon. Both are all over the lot. And both can get the ball away quicker than you can discard a burning package of paper matches. They keep you dizzy attempting to follow their double-play actions or their work on some slow grounder that has to be handled in split-second time.

Pesky and Doerr are good and they are likely to rate higher on the hitting side. But certainly on defense the Yankees have the edge over any other combination in either league.

The Dodger Ranking

I was surprised to see Pewee Reese and Stan Rojek rated over some of the others. But these votes came from scouts who had talked with National League managers. They figured that Reese would be good enough to give either Marion or Miller a stretch run at shortstop and that Rojek would be a big surprise. Oddly enough they figured that while Marion and Boudreau were two of baseball's best shortstops, their second-base support couldn't match Gordon or Doerr. And Rojek, with all his bright possibilties, is still something of a guess when planted in this able company.

This shortstop-second base combination means a lot to any winning club. Suppose we look back a few years-there were the old Cubs, winner of four championships in five years-and their entry was Tinker and Evers. How about the Athletics from 1910 through 1914 when they also won four pennants? Their answer is Jack Barry and Eddie Collins. Cleveland once had Tuck Turner and Larry Lajoie. One of Mc-Graw's greatest teams had Dave Bancroft and Frank Frisch. They were factors in winning four pennants in a row.

It might be noted that the clubs more favorably mentioned in the two pennant races are strong at this essential fortress. They are the Yankees, the Red Sox and the Cardinals.

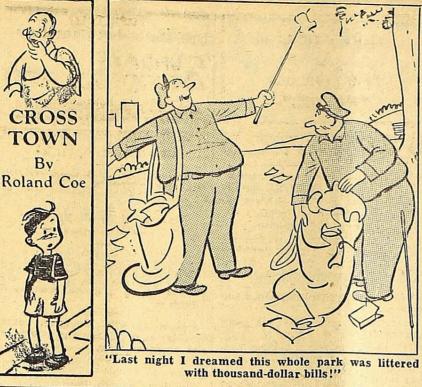

Two-Sport Stars

A while ago we attempted a rating of the best baseball-football combinations such as Frank Frisch, Snuffy Stirnweiss, Lou Gehrig, Mathewson, Overall, etc. Ray Farnham from Philadelphia writes that we have left out the star bet of the lot.

"His name is Mickey Cochrane," says Ray. "Cochrane is still remembered as one of the great catchers of all time-one of the best hitters-a winning manager. But few remember that at Boston university in the early twenties, Mickey was also one of the best backs of many seasons. He was a star triple threater-one who could pass, run and kick with any All-America named that season. He was also a magnificent tackler and blocker. Cochrane was also the strongest part of the offense used by the Providence Steam Rollers."

In addition to this baseball-football argument we have already loeated the best combined tennis and golf player known to sport. His name is Ellsworth Vines. In his day tennis never knew a harder hitter. He was one of the best. Vines is now to be listed among the better pros, good enough to break 70 here and there, and usually in the low 70s.

The tall and willowy Ellsworth can belt the ball a long way, is a first class iron player and a pretty good putter. His long game is good all the way. Vines has always been fine competitor.

Emanuel Lutheran Church New Opportunity for A Cash Crop in Iosco

A new opportunity for a cash crop for farmers has presented itself in this area. The Gerber Products Company of Fremont is contracting for string beans in this community.

Gerber Products Company is nationally known as a manufacturer of baby food, in fact it is the largest producer of baby food in the world. In view of the increase in its business it has been necessary for the company to enlarge its growing area.

Because of the type of soil in this area, and the good roads, the company has selected this vicinity for contracting string beans. Gerber's will contract about 3,000 tons this year and this will require about 2,000 acres of land. Officials of the company have been in the area the past few weeks selecting receiving stations and arranging for people to iness it has been necessary for the stations and arranging for people to be in charge of them. William Smith, Field Representative of Gerber Prod-ucts Company, is in charge of the program here.

Mr. Smith says that the company will furnish wooden hampers to pick in and they will also be used for delivery of beans to the receiving stations. They will hold between 45 to 50 pounds. Gerber trucks will pick up beans at the receiving station daily during the picking season. See advertisement on another page for list of receiving stations.
