The Tawas City High School base-ball team won their eighth and ninth games during the past week when they defeated Hale 15 to 2 and Os-coda 8 to 6, with only two losses during the spring season. The Ta-was City team used two Hale pitch-ers rough when they blacted 11 bits ers rough when they blasted 11 hits with seven doubles and two triples, while Landon held the Hale team to one hit, a triple by Bernard. They also collected eight hits in Oscoda and they showed some snappy field-ing when they only committed (ne error.

In the Hale game Gingerich hit a triple and a single, Thornton hit a triple and a double and Ross hit two doubles. In the Oscoda game Rollin, Landon and Ross had two hits apiece. Ross, the winning pitcher for Tawas in the Oscoda game struck out seven players while allowing four hits. ### THE NAVY'S BUREAUS

WASHINGTON .- If Secretary of the Navy James Forrestal wants to head off the army-navy merger, he might do some merging in his own department. As it is, some of his reserve officers are about ready to believe the army is right.

Perhaps because the navy is suffering from admiralitis (too many admirals), Forrestal has set up a special duplicating public relations co-ordinator. This bureau does exactly what another bureau also Chief difference between does. them is that one is on the first fluor (deck in the navy), the other on the third floor) one is commanded by a vice admiral, the other by a rear admiral; finally, the rear admiral takes a few hours to do a job while the vice admiral sometimes takes a few days.

Hitherto, navy public relations have been handled by efficient young Rear Adm. "Min" Miller, one of the up-and-coming youngsters in the navy. If you need a speaker for a naval rally, want to stage an air show, or have a ship visit your city, Miller usually has been able to arrange it in a few hours.

But now, Vice Adm. Arthur S. Carpender, newly appointed coordinator of public relations, sits in naval splendor with a staff of five senior officers, a large force of junior officers, and a small army of WAVES and enlisted men.

THE BALKY SWISS

Insiders say that Switzerland, the little nation which posed as the benign and friendly neutral, is now displaying the same tactics as the Capone gang in hanging on to Nazi loot.

The secret negotiations now going on in Washington to recover Nazi gold from Switzerland have been carefully guarded, but it has leaked out that Switzerland's policy is to keep all the gold which the Germans stole from France, Denmark, Belgium and other occupied countries and sent to Switzerland for safekeeping.

Like the Capone gang, the Swiss won't return this looted gold to France, Denmark, Bel-gium and other countries from which it was stolen.

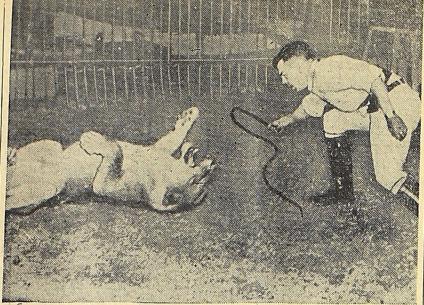

Despite all this, some treasury officials urge a lenient policy toward the Swiss. It happens that they have $1,500,000,000 of assets now frozen in this country including $500,000,000 in gold, and the French are preparing to clap a lien on these Some treasury officials, assets. however, are opposed.

Not so, however, sage Secretary of the Treasury Fred Vinson, who remembers all the Swiss collaboration with the Nazis during the war.

"Down in my state," drawled the Kentuckian, "when you bet on the wrong horse, you pay off. The Swiss bet on the wrong horse."

where he was clawed. No less than 54 wounds were inflicted up in Minneapolis, Minn., where a leopard, frightened by the collapse of a wall of the arena, leaped from its stand and mauled Jacobs around before it was driven off. On another occasion, one lion came at him in Peru, Ind., and three others joined in to clamber atop of him before one cat came to his rescue and snapped at his attackers. "No, it wasn't any case of loyal-

By studying the antics of a cat, a trainer can obtain a knowledge of his peculiarities and then strive to counteract them. For instance, when Jacobs first sought to teach a lion to roll a barrel to him, the cat would slide off the sloping end and upset it. Failing to get the animal to push the barrel ahead, Jacobs then fastened an angle iron flange around the center to cut into the dirt and hold it straight. In that way, the lion was taught to keep an even course. In training lions, Jacobs starts

In These United States June Again Set for National Dairy Week in United States

With production and distribution of milk at the highest levels in history, "Dairy Month" is celebrating its tenth anniversary through the month of June. Again the dairy industry calls attention of the public to the vital part played by milk and dairy products in America.

In the beginning, however, the observance was neither a "month" nor was it June. In 1937 the dairy industry promoted a national milk week for November 14 to 20 in an effort to sell more milk and ice cream. Everyone was urged to purchase an extra quart of milk on Friday of that week. It was not until 1939 that dairymen, fountain operators and others decided to promote dairy products one month of the June was selected because it year. is the time of year when milk production is the greatest.

Milk cows were first brought to America in 1611 for the Jamestown colony. In 1624 a few cows arrived for the Plymouth colony. The first regular shipment of milk by rail was inaugurated in 1841, from Orange county to New York City. Pasteur experiments were started in 1856, and since that time the dairy industry has made rapid progress. The milk bottle was not invented by Dr. Hervey D. Thatcher of Potsdam, N. Y., until 1884.

Fluid milk was not included in the army diet until 1933, but during World War II the use of milk and dairy products by the armed forces was a must.

Trade Idaho Spuds For Rica Bananas

BOISE, IDAHO. - The fast motorships on the Caribbean run, which bring bananas to the United States, take Idaho potatoes back to Costa Rica, says C. G. Rice, Idaho advertising commissioner, who visited Central America recently.

Idaho housewives who buy Costa Rican bananas as soon as they arrive have nothing on the women of Central America who await shipments of Idaho potatoes just as eagerly.

Rice checked several shipments of the potatoes and found that they arrived at Costa Rica in first-class condition and the trade there bought them up the minute they were put on the market.

PHILADELPHIA, JULY 2 .- Following the walkout of the home team and the Boston team here yesterday both clubs were taken over by the government today. Connie Mack was carried out by four members of the state militia. President Truman promised the fans the balance of the season would see the best games of which the Democratic party is capable.

NEW YORK, JULY 15.-Before the game could get under way here today both club owners had to submit to a demand that no pitcher could be removed from the box without six weeks' notice, subject to immediate reinstatement unless sufficient cause shall be established in hearings before joint state and federal boards.

Large crowds were on hand to see the first contest played under the new union rules which entitle the batter to five strikes.

BROOKLYN, N. Y., AUGUST 10. -Fans who arrived here early to see the teams warm up were sur-prised to find that all pre-game practice had been abolished by the National Labor Relations board following a two-months huddle on union demands. The board upheld the players' contention that batting and fielding practice constituted capitalistic exploitation of the ball players, deprived them of spare time to which they were entitled as free men and was in violation of the Wagner act.

ST. LOUIS, MO., AUGUST 4 .-The new rule, under which all the pitchers on any one ball club get full credit for any victory won by any one pitcher, went into effect, here this afternoon.

Next week will inaugurate the newly won union concession under which no errors are publicly called or published.

But when he was catapulted in the presidency by the death of h predecessor, he was untried statesman, unknown as to his abil ties and he faced the heaviest sponsibilities any man had ever been called upon to face. He didn' want the job and confessed, h shortcomings, his average Ameri canism.

The average American back i the home towns of the country like and are proud of our democracy because it gives them, as average citizens, the chance to improve and advance socially, economically and intellectually . . . it gives them a chance to grow and better their standards of living.

President Has Grown

This reporter believes that in the year the President has been in the White House, he has grown . . grown as any other average American man would have grown . . . in his proficiency to cope with the most powerful office in the world .... grown in his ability to judge men and their capabilities . . . grown under the pressure of enormous events better to make decisions . . . grown in his contacts with other vorld leaders. But in this growth of the President he has built up no halos . . . no traditions . . . no myths . . . no superman, he remains an average American who is growing up to his job about the way veterans are being "stood up" on surplus war goods when he called at the White House.

"Veterans are just not getting an even break in the present setup," he told the President.

The Pennsylvania congressman also gave Truman some inside slants on RFC purchases of abandoned property which would warrant congressional scrutiny. He re-ported that no effort is being made to sell army and navy equipment piled helter-skelter in and around a Pennsylvania glue factory purchased by the RFC in May, 1945, for use as a surplus property depot.

RED ARMY WITHDRAWS

The inscrutable Russians have a way of refusing to do something when asked, and then going ahead and doing it when not asked. For instance, Secretary of State James Byrnes has been hammering at the Russians to reduce their troops in the Balkans, Austria and Hungary. Among other things he has warned that the United States won't send food into these countries while tremendous Russian armies are living off the land, in effect taking away the food we send in.

Foreign Commissar Vyacheslav Molotov, however, has turned a deaf ear to Byrnes' plea. He has been just as stubborn on this as about most things.

But here is the payoff. U. S. representatives in Vienna have wired the state department that the Red army has started a large scale withdrawal from Austria. There is no explanation, and state department officials are mystified as to the reason. . . .

UNDER THE DOME

Democratic National Committee Chairman Bob Hannegan tried to submit his resignation to President Truman last week-end, but was turned down cold. Hannegan's wife and doctor are both urging him to resign. However, the President told Hannegan he could not be spared, at least until after the November elections. . . President Truman has asked Secretary of the Interior Cap Krug to set up an interdepartmental committee to handle oil problems.

The modern circus dates from the close of the 18th century. Traveling circuses were heard of before 1830 in both England and America, and after 1850 assumed great dimensions. Among the earlier ones were Hengler's, Sanger's, and Barnum and Bailey's. Col William F. Cody (Buffalo Bill) and his Wild West show traveled all over the world and gave performances before the crowned heads of Europe.

Now a Big Business. The construction of permanent circuses known as coliseums and hippodromes has given new life to the circus, furnishes a variant on the itinerant show of enormous dimensions which moves about the country on special railway trains. Barnum and Bailey's circus is still in existence, and along with Barnes Bros., Beatty's, and others, continues the grand tour every summer. The 1946 season is expected to be one of the biggest in history, since most circuses were unabl to travel during the war years. Wild animals, most of them

College Students Taller than GIs

BERKELEY, CALIF. - In the western part of the United States, the average young woman is 5 feet, 3¼ inches tall and weighs 127 pounds, while the average male is 5 feet, 8<sup>3</sup>/<sub>4</sub> inches in height and weighs 153<sup>1</sup>/<sub>2</sub> pounds.

These averages were gathered in a measurement survey by Dr. Theo-dore D. McCown, University of California anthropologist, for the committee on prosthetic devices of the National Research council. The study was made to obtain average arm and leg measurements, and the standard statistics obtained will be used in the improvement of artificial limbs. The 1,000 young women measured were college students and WAVES. Men measured included 800 soldiers and sailors, 700 college stu-dents, and 300 males from the general population. Greater differ-ences were found among the college students than among the sol-diers and sailors. College students were about one inch taller and two and one-quarter pounds heavier than military personnel.

'Sailors Have a Girl in Every —'

CHICAGO. - A bluejacket recently walked into a Loop candy store and bought 14 boxes of candy. He left instructions to have them sent to 14 different girls in all parts of the U.S.

When he was asked if it's true that a sailor "has a girl in every port," he grinned but was non-committal.

War Vets and Street Signs

A sergeant, now stationed at Okinawa, wrote home asking for the street signs from the corner of Church street and Flatbush avenue near his home in Brooklyn. The city promptly took them down and sent them to him. Ex-Pfc. Oscar Purkey wrote in today to state that he understood perfectly the desire of the Brooklyn man. "I felt this yen for street signs, especially when the fighting was on. In the Battle of the Bulge I asked for the signs from the corner of Riverside Drive and Shubert Alley at once. That shows you how groggy I was," he writes.

He has a wife and ten children, the kids ranging from under a year to 9 years of age. To make provision for all these, uncle Sam pays Private Triplet between $300 and $400 a month. This is not paying a man to serve his country, it is under-writing a needed rest and a little quiet.

'Innate Democracy'

Much has been made of President Truman's oft-repeated pleas for help from the people, from in dustry, from labor, from agricu-ture. He has said again and again that he cannot do his job alone This has been interpreted by som as a weakness. But in this colum opinion it is merely an express of his innate democracy, since de mocracy after all, is only a huge co-operative governed by a majority opinion.

President Truman has made mistakes . . . mistakes of the heart, rather than the head . . . in naming some advisors and in leaning upon their advice . . . he has con-fessed his mistakes . . . he has faced defeats . . . seen his administration program emasculated and beaten, even ignored by congress. Today he is less naive, less humble, grayer, more dignified, more assertive ... than when he went to the White House in April a little more than a year ago. His smile is still spontaneous and disarmingly human.

When you see Paramount's "The Imperfect Lady," look at the driver of the carriage in which Ter-esa Wright and Virginia Field ride. He's George Jenner, who was car-riage footman to Ousen Victoria for riage footman to Queen Victoria for two years, 1892 to 1894, the period in which "The Imperfect Lady" is set. He met arriving foreign potentates and conducted them to Buckingham palace. So it's practically type casting.

Italian and Japanese agents, all members of a Nazi-sponsored werewolf organization that carried on war against the United States in war against the United States in China long after the Reich had sur-rendered, have been seized, Amer-ican authorities here have revealed, according to the Associated Press. The agents included Lt. Col. Lud-wig Ehrhardt, head of all German military and naval intelligence in Asia and a close personal friend of Adolf Hitler, The German and Ital-ian agents will be charged with violation of surrender terms. Demand Action.

Additional arrests and wholesale deportations are expected shortly, since the United States state department has urgently demanded action against Nazis and Fascists known to be in China. One official said at least 1,500 persons were on the state department's "dangerous and undesirable" list in China.

The 20 men who were seized helped Japan as well as Germany. The Japanese, it was explained, were inept at breaking codes and interpreting messages monitored from foreign radio stations, and the ring helped them perform this work. The ring operated as the Ehr-hardt bureau, with offices in Shanghai, Canton and Peiping. Officials believed they were responsible for the sinking of a number of American ships, including at least one aircraft carrier, and heavy losses in the early phases of the Okinawa and other Pacific campaigns.

The four Nazi principals arrested in Shanghai had all been interned at one time by the Chinese government and released later on a variety of pretexts. At least one was employed by the Chinese govern-ment after the end of the war.

Expert Code Breaker. Arrested with Colonel Ehrhardt in Shanghai were Bobo Habenicht, an expert Nazi code-breaker, Johannes Rathje, former personal pilot for Marshal Hermann Goering, and Wolfgang Schenke, a former newspaper correspondent who was trained as an agent by the German high command.

Rathje's specialty was supplying information on American aircraft installations to Japan. Schenke helped uncover Chungking agents who were smuggling Americans and other Allied nationals from occupied China to unoccupied China. Adolfo Rosi and W. Mantovani, two of the Italians arrested, were radio operators for the Ehrhardt bureau in Shanghai. They had been operators aboard the Italian liner Conte Verdi, which was scuttled at Shanghai. Andy escaped. After reporting to the army, he set out to find the gang. He was taken by two of them to the Jersey coast and in crossing to a small island managed to upset the boat. He swam ashore entered the house and found Paula. After turning Paula loose, he was captured and tied up. Arab came into the room and was also tied to a chair. Jones then explained that they were leaving that night by submarine for Germany. He said Arab could go along if they would furnish certain information.

CHAPTER XVII

"We may take her and the lieutenant. We were discussing it be-fore you came back."

Arab looked at me inquiringly, and I explained, "We got an offer. An all-expense trip to Germany. See the ruins of Cologne and Essen. See the Herrenvolk in their native airraid shelters. Watch the bombs go by.'

"It sounds awfully attractive, darling."

The fat man said, "You may stay here if you insist. It can be arranged." He walked over toward us and began wiping invisible smears from the slide of his automatic.

"He seems to have a gun," Arab said.

"He'd better be careful playing with it. People get hurt that way." "Do I get the idea," Arab said, "that there's a price on this trip to Germany? Let's wait and go free with the army."

"There's a price. I think the trip is selling for a secondhand military secret. Got any on you?"

"I had one a minute ago, Andy. Oh, yes. That new rifle they invented up in Pennsylvania."

The fat man crooned, "That is sensible. Tell me about the new rifle." "It's wonderful," Arab said. "It can knock out a squirrel's eye at a hundred paces. It means curtains for the Iroquois and Mohawks."

"Iroquois? Mohawks? I do not understand."

I explained politely, "Her military secret is a bit old. Two hundred years old, as a matter of fact. I'm afraid she's talking about the Pennsylvania long rifle, sometimes miscalled the Kentucky rifle."

"It will," Arab said firmly, "make the smooth-bore musket obsolete."

Light glared from the fat man's glasses. He swung his head from side to side, looking at us. "I wish to know merely little things," he said. "One could hardly call them military secrets. Little things like the operating ceiling of the B-17-E." "Oh, that!" I said. "I don't mind telling you that." I peered around nervously, and whispered, "It's twenty-five thousand feet."

He frowned. "That does not seem ration you are going to get?" to be very high." "Well, of course, that's with a fifty-ton bomb load." "Fifty tons! But the entire plane speed." That was on the feeble side, and he didn't bother to answer. He was busy setting up a tripod, topped by oversize binoculars. He took a compass bearing, adjusted the binoculars south-southeast. I stared hard across the glimmer of waves. Nothing showed. Of course the sub might be lying well out, decks awash.

I wondered how they made the contact. Plain Mr. Jones hadn't touched the short-wave set, so it must be by visual signal. I tried not to breathe fast. The Sea Fron-

"He says so," I said. "But I think he's just making it look tough so he can yell for a lot more credit. Listen, Chief, if you get destroyer fever, how will we board your sub?"

> "First," the fat man said, "I will make my report, in case of accidents. Then, if everything is safe, I will have them send in a rubber boat. If your destroyer stays around, I will send its position and we will see what the new torpedoes do to old warships."

FRIENDS AT BETHANY

LESSON TEXT-Mark 14:3-9; Luke 10: 38-42; John 11:1-3. MEMORY SELECTION - Let us love one another: for love is of God.-I John 4:7.

Friendship comes to those who are friendly. That response of heart to heart, which opens up the deep wells of mutual devotion, is one of life's richest experiences.

There is too little true friendship in the world because men and women have not learned of the Lord Jesus what it means to be a real friend.

There are mutual privileges and correspondingly mutual responsibilities in friendship. There are sorrows to share as well as joys, and there are times when there must be the outpouring of sacrificial devotion.

"There's not a friend like the lowly Jesus, no, not one!" is not just the sentiment of a hymn writer. There is no friend like the Lord. He, therefore, merits our fullest devotion.

There are three incidents in our lesson, all of which took place in Bethany, the little village near Jerusalem where our Lord had found real friends. He went there to rest, to pray, and to find companionship. These incidents reveal that

I. Love Gives All in Sacrificial Devotion (Mark 14:3-9).

A rather shocking thing took place in the home of Simon. Jesus, his distinguished guest, was at din-ner with the disciples, when a woman walked in unannounced and anointed his head with costly spikenard ointment. The disciples were surprised, and led by the betrayer, Judas, who had his hands on and in the money bags, they protested such awful waste.

Think of it-the value of this ointment was 300 pence, the equivalent (we are told) of 500 days of work. That means in our day it would be worth from three to five thousand dollars.

She should have stopped to think! Some lesser gift would have shown her love, and this rich gift could

Thus reasons the cool, calculating church member; but the be-liever with his heart full of love for the Master, gives without stint. The Lord howored her gift, and ac-cepted it as the anointing of his body for his coming death. He re-minded them that they would al-ways have the poor to care for, and he would soon be gone. Love which never overflows in the abandonment of sacrifice for the one beloved is a cold and distant allow the two inches per yard of thing; in fact, one wonders if it really should be dignified by calling rial, but you will have to make alit love at all.

rial too heavy to be suitable for warmer days ahead?

If you have either of these problems and cannot find a nice material for curtains, perhaps you have an old chintz bedspread or drapery material tucked away in an old trunk in the attic. This is ideal for sewing gay attractive framing for kitchen windows.

A single-sized bedspread will usually yield at least two pair of one or two piece curtains for kitchen, windows. Yes, this includes ruffle from the same material, too. Of course, if you prefer to make the curtains look just a little bit more tailored, then you might consider trimming the edges with a contrasting colored piping, particularly if the pattern of the material is well-covered with a floral design.

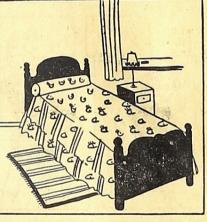

Your best pattern for kitchen windows is to cut a tissue paper facsimile of the curtains you now use. I am assuming they are the cor-rect length and fit properly. The important thing in windows is to have sufficient fullness so the curtains do not look skimpy.

If your home, and particularly the kitchen is done in a very early American motif or is strictly modern, you might forego some of the fullness for an effect of simplicity or good tailoring. Then you will plan to clothe the windows differently: avoid the ruffle, settle for bric-a-brac or a contrasting band around the edge, and let the curtain fall in soft folds rather than in a gathered effect.

"Uh-huh. Amazing what designers can do nowadays. And as for armament . . . it makes me shudder to think what that baby carries. It's got turrets from the M-4 tank mounted all over it, and . . . and that thing sticking out of its nose -whew!"

"What thing do you mean?"

"Lean closer," I said. "I hate to say it right out loud." He bent over me, and I said, "It's a blow gun!" He jerked back. "A blow gun!"

"Yop. We got the Jivaro Indians In South America turning them out on an assembly line. You blow tiny was back in the thirties when nobamboo arrows through it. When one of those things connects with a guy, it's taps."

Joey said wearily, "He's givin' you the business, Chief. Should I work over him some?"

"No. We will take them, anyway, if there is room. It is always possible to teach people manners."

He placed his foot carefully on my bare toes, shifted his weight onto them, and turned slowly. The sand on his shoe ground into flesh. Pain scorched up my body. I locked my jaw muscles and tried to pretend that the feet were miles away and didn't belong to me. The pressure stopped finally. I wiggled my toes. They moved and throbbed. No bones were broken.

"Would you like another lesson?" the fat man asked.

"You need dancing lessons before you have another waltz with me." "He sounds tough but he ain't,"

Joey said.

"Try it on Joey," I said. "I bet he'd bawl."

"We have other work to do now," the fat man said. "It is time for the contact. Joey, turn out the lights and raise the window shades." The room blacked out. Joey felt his way past me, jabbing an elbow into my face. He raised the shades. The windows were wide and deep; the Atlantic, curving out to its distant horizon, filled the room with a misty silver glow. A moon the waves with chromium patterns. If everything clicked for our side,

Chills whisked across my skin. I shut my eyes, opened them after a few seconds. This time the shadow hadn't vanished. It was still there, far off in the moon lane, east by north of the house. A black sliver of steel was easing across the chromium-tipped waves. It carried four tilted funnels. That meant only one thing. I had seen those babies back in peacetime, back in Philadelphia. They had lain moored in deserted red-painted rows in the back chan-nel of the Navy Yard. You would drive past them and wonder why get?' they hadn't been scrapped. That body would ever dare attack America. Why didn't they scrap those tin-can destroyers from the World War?

One of them was out there now snuffling slowly through the waves. Saving her strength, like an old bird dog. She must be four miles north of the spot where the fat man expected his sub contact. I tried to pray her south. I wanted her in position to make a short fast run when the light signals began flickering. If she had to open up a long way off, the sub would very likely pick up the beat of her screws in time to get away. And the fat man could do his damage in five words: Invasion headed French North Af-eyes. The silhouette narrowed as she went into a turn-a turn which sawed the rope deeper into my wrists, trying to get free. The tin can turned slowly, relentlessly north. She steadied on the new course. Sweat stung my eyes. By the time I blinked them clear the moon lane was empty. The fat man stooped, fumbled with a floor plug. "You may be in-terested in this," he said. "It is a nice application of a well-known swung low in the sky and inlaid principle." I thought: go on, baby, show off.

You'll still be in trouble when you start flashing lights. "It is," he said, "the same principle by which doors open when a beam of light is broken.' I began to feel sick. He wasn't

He turned from the tripod. "What is it?" he snapped. "Why do you laugh?"

He moved toward me. Pudgy white fingers squirmed like tentacles. "Yes," he said. "I will be given the Knight's Cross with swords and oak leaves." His voice lifted half an octave. "You think I will not get it? You think the work does not demand it?"

"Oh, sure, sure. The work de-mands it. But you won't get the Knight's Cross. You'll-"

The fingers coiled at my throat. "Go on, choke me," I yelled. "That won't change things! The sub commander will get the Knight's Cross! You know what cross you'll get? Do you know? Do you?" Arab's voice cut in, "The doublecross." Some day I was going to buy her a store full of hats. The fingers loosened. "What do you mean?" he said thickly.

I talked fast. "You got big stuff here. You hand it to the sub commander. Where's your receipt? What's to stop him from taking all the credit? You work for Himmler. Who does he work for? Not Himmler. Himmler doesn't have the subs. Who does he work for?" would take her farther away. I

"Canaris," the fat man muttered. 'Admiral Canaris. German Naval Intelligence."

His hands went to work on a phantom neck. "The High Command runs it," he choked. "They hate us." "Sure. You think that sub commander's gonna give you and Himmler a buildup? Like hell. Naval Intelligence will steal the credit. They'll say they sweated the dope from the survivors of torpedoed ships." I made my voice low and nasty. "And do you know what happens to you? I know." His body was twitching, jerking. "What happens?" His voice skirled up suddenly. "What happens?" (TO BE CONTINUED)

II. Love Shares the Fellowship of Joy (Luke 10:38-42).

The little home of Mary, Martha and Lazarus in Bethany was light-ed up by that intangible but delightful glow which comes with a friend who honors one's home by his or her presence.

He had often been in this home. Here he found relaxation and comfort. Here he gave of himself in fellowship and blessing.

But there was a shadow over this visit. Martha, eager to have a good dinner, was "cumbered" in heart and soon became critical of Mary because she sat at Jesus' feet.

Do not assume that Mary had not done her share of the work. She had, but she "also sat at Jesus' feet." In other words, she knew when the time had come to quit fussing and to get some real fellowship out of the joy of having Jesus in the home.

We who love and serve the Lord need to watch lest we become so "cumbered with much serving" that we lose out spiritually. We can become so busy with church work, holding offices in religious organizations, yes, even with preaching and teaching, that we do not have time for personal fellowship with the Lord.

III. Love Bears the Burden of Sorrow (John 11:1-3).

The very home where joy was the portion one day, became the house of sickness, death and sorrow on another day. Life is like that-we may all expect that tragedy, sickness and trouble will come.

What then? Well, you will find that some of your professed friends will disappear. They are fairweather companions. They have no taste for storms. Real friends will stand by, and what a treasure they prove to be!

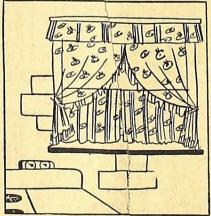

But here again, the best friend of all is Jesus. When Lazarus was sick, "his sisters sent unto him." Send for Jesus in the hour of need! Oh, it is true that he did not come until Lazarus was dead, but he hao a good reason for that, and in due time he came.

100,000 who gathered at Louisville for the Kentucky Derby offered a keen cross section of the sporting viewpoint. For they came from practically every state, and all are sports - minded. Outside of the Derby itself, I found that they were talking about the other turf classics, the two pennant races and the Louis-Conn fight.

It was rather amazing to hear the number backing Conn if the odds was still four years younger and he could afford to lose that much time to better advantage than could Louis.

So far as the two pennant races are concerned, most of the sentiment on the American league side belongs to the Boston Red Sox. The angle being that Owner Tom Yawkey had spent too much money to keep on missing pennants for-ever, and that both Yawkey and Boston rated a flag. The early showing of the Red Sox indicated that they may be even stronger than the pre-season dope indicated, because their pitching is better than it originally looked.

I found that the majority with whom I talked still don't believe that the Yankees can get enough consistent pitching to win. They rate Spud Chandler as one of the best in either league, but they also say that a pennant race is a heavy burden for the one right arm. Chandler is on his way to beat his great 1943 record, when he won 20 games and lost only 4. Spud still figures he might just as well have won 23 and lost only 1 that year. He always has been a hard-working, bear-down pitcher and he still has his stuff intact.

Lots of Dodger Fans

While I found that the National league fans were naturally pulling for their home teams, such as the Cubs and Cardinals, their outside sympathy still remains with the Dodgers. It is surprising what a strong nationwide following the Dodgers have. The enthusiasm of Brooklyn itself, on the baseball side, has a lot to do with this. In picking a World Series contender from the National league, the Dodger vote would be overwhelming. Their early rush to the front only started louder cheering.

Few believe that any team is going to beat out the Cardinals when the season finally swings into a steady grind. They look to have too many good ballplayers to be headed off by any team now in sight.

1946 Backfield Stars

I also ran into a number of leading football coaches at the recent Derby among the vast assemblage from the 48 states. Two of these were Wallie Butts of Georgia and Paul Bryant of Kentucky. They were talking about the job selectors are going to have in naming the four best backs of the coming season.

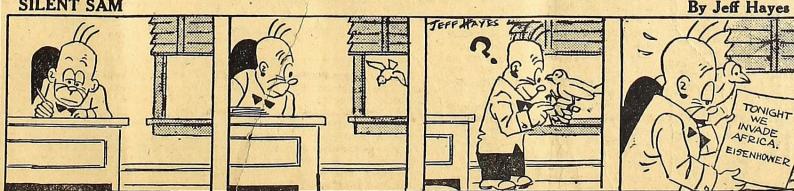

"For example," Wallie Butts said, "who can name a better allaround back than Charley Trippi of Georgia, who, as a passer, runner, tackler or blocker, has everything a star back needs. And he is ex-ceptionally good at them all."

Paul Bryant, who had a fine record at Maryland last fall, began to figure out the leading backs. "Trippi is certainly one of the best," he said. "But, in addition, there still are Blanchard and Davis from West Point to be remembered. There will be Bud Young at Illinois, Bob Fenimore at Oklahoma A. and M.; and there also will be Harry Gilmer at Alabama. And don't think these will complete the list. There will be others who can't be overlooked. There should be at least 10 or 12 great backs and I don't mean merely pretty good. For example, there is also Wedemeyer from St. Mary's, who will have more support than he could call on last fall.

The Big Batting Race

The expected batting race among Ted Williams, Joe DiMaggio and Dick Wakefield finds the Red Sox slugger showing most of the early foot. Williams has been belting away at a .350 clip or better, with DiMaggio down below .270. Wakefield has been of little help to the Tigers, with a mark under .240. Dom DiMaggio has been outshining them all with an average above .400, and Charley Keller also is riding high.
