Play Nationals Sunday Morning at East Tawas

NUMBER 34

Tawas City missed their chance to climb into a tie for first place Sunday, when they dropped a 8 to3 decision to Harrisville. The Chiefs jumped to a three run lead in the first when two errors after two men were out, and two men on base paved the way for three of Harrisville's tallies. They added a fourth run in the second on three hits.

Tawas City staged a three run rally in the third to make the score 1 to 3. After one was out, Mark walked; Gingerich singled, Mark going to second; Landon singled, Mark scoring; Rollin grounded out; Peter scoring; Rollin grounded out; Peter son singled, Gingerich and Landon scoring; Peterson was out trying to steal second.

In the fifth Killmaster put the game on ice with a homer with two on, Harrisville got their last tally in the seventh on a walk, an error, and a fielders choice that failed to nip the runner at the plate.

Tawas had several scoring chance. but couldn't get hits when they counted, hitting the ball into someones hands or being unable to solve

IT'S SAME CROWD AGAIN
PARIS. — It's hot in the galleries of the palace of Luxembourg. In the top gallery sit hundreds of newsmen - Chinese, Siamese, Greek, Indian, New Zealanders, watching a man speak far below. Newsmen from all over the world watching the peace. It's their peace. What's done here will affect their countries from Baluchistan to Iceland, from Saskatchewan to Samoa, and they are watching.

Far below, under the klieg lights, sits Jimmy Byrnes - patient, polite Jimmy Byrnes - never leaving his seat, never failing to listen. . . man speaks into the microphone. He's interpreting Molotov French. Another man speaks. He's interpreting Molotov in English. . . . It takes hours. When, you wonder, will diplomacy ever become modernized? Diplomacy hasn't been changed since 1815... The Vienna conference when the great powers divided up Europe and brought on more wars. Paris today is depressingly the same. We invent modern methods of warfare. . . . Rockets that may reach the moon, atomic bombs that sink navies, germs that can destroy. civilizations. . . . But the weapons of peace never keep pace with the weapons of war . nor do the diplomats who wield the weapons of peace.

The same crowd which failed to head off the last war is here again -even some of the same crowd which sat in at the last Paris peace conference. . . . Look at their faces. Poker faces. No life, no lift, no passion for the peace they are negotiating, bored faces, preoccupied faces, bored with the endless translations. Bored with the whole boredom of diplomacy. Not a man among them who lost an arm or a leg, who knows what it is to suffer on the battlefield. These are the men who are writing the peace.

Jimmy Byrnes is not bored. Polite, patient, precise Jimmy Byrnes sits on the front row - perhaps he is too polite, too patient. . . . You feel like shouting down at Jimmy. You wish you had a telephone to reach him there, way down below. You wish you could tell him:

That was a great speech you made the other day, Jimmy, but finish it. Tell them the rest of the story. Tell them not only that the United States isn't going to remain isolated but also that we're going to raise hell with anyone who blocks our path to peace. Tell them that millions of Americans are fed up with all this frittering; that millions of Americans mean business and will back you up in anything

. Around the senate chamber of the palace of Luxembourg are great, gold ornaments. Woodwork carved in ornate shapes, heavily encrusted with gold-remnants of the lush days of the de Medicis. . . . If the European front. French had only been smart. If they had only painted out the gold and substituted white crosses! Then perhaps the bored diplomats sitting white . from Guadalcanal and Stalingrad, from Salerno and New Guinea, from Tobruk and the Rapido, from Normandy and Aachen Close your eyes and you can see them. . . . Thousands of white crosses. . . The dead speak:

"We who lie here have nothing left to give. "To all your praises we are deaf and blind. "We may not even know if you betray "The hopes we cherished for mankind."

But the diplomats below don't seem to hear. . . . Men in red plush seats, fastidious men in red plush seats, their nails polished, their cravats carefully tied. They don't seem to hear. They are thinking about procedure and majority votes, vetoes and prestige and whether they will get out in time to take tea with Mrs. Ogden Mills.

One man does hear. He sits opposite Jimmie Byrnes. . . . A big, uncouth man, his hair not even parted. . . . Evatt of Australia. His cockney accent is uncultured but he dares to speak. He is the only man who comes anywhere near preaching the Sermon on the Mount, who tells the bored men in the red plush seats that they must love their neighbors as themselves. . . . Un-pleasantly Evatt steps on the toes of the big nations - tells them they have no business sabotaging the peaceful goal of others. . . They don't like Evatt, but they listen. Even patient, polite Jimmie Byrnes doesn't like Evatt. But he listens. . . Thousands of men under white crosses listen, too.

BARTERING OVER PEACE

Clement Attlee, prime minister of Britain, speaks - the man who performed the miracle of defeating War Leader Winston Churchill-a modest man, a sincere, earnest man. His bald head shines under the klieg lights. But it is no halo. . Some hours before Attlee was haggling with Byrnes over the future of Germany-bartering over the peace of the world; wanting to trade off a British policy in IN THESE UNITED STATES

New Bong Stories Related On Anniversary of Death

By WNU Features.

On the first anniversary of the untimely death of Maj. Richard I. Bong of Poplar, Wis., America's ace of aces, many interesting facts concerning the modest farm youth who skyrocketed to fame in the armed service of his country are revealed for the first time by the memorial foundation bearing his name.

The admiration and respect for @ the air hero who shot down 40 Jap- of his tramps into the woods, gun anese planes, held by his friends and neighbors in the tiny village of Pop-lar in northwestern Wisconsin, is indicative of the personality and character traits of Bong the man.

Shunned Limelight. Bong never considered himself a famous personage. He never thought he was a hero and he consistently refused to accept the plaudits of the crowd. Inherently shy and overly modest, he shunned attempts of friends to place him in the limelight.

It is a matter of record that he usually tried to pass the glory on to others — to his ground crew, his flightmates and even to parents of all servicemen. It was his statement that "the real heroes of this war are the parents who sit and wait at home and suffer the real tortures."

Although Bong in early childhood showed keen interest in aeronautics and flying, it is doubtful that he ever thought he would realize an ambition to pilot a plane. He would gaze longingly at planes that passed over his father's farm, dreaming in awe at the miracle of flight.

Planned to Teach.

Of modest circumstances, he looked forward to a teaching career in his native state. To this end he was enrolled at Superior State Teachers college in Superior, Wis., during the days that fate was sweeping America towards war. By May of 1941 Dick had entered the army. In November he was accepted as an air cadet. That Bong was an apt pupil and skillful in the handling of airplanes was indicated soon after his training started. In January, 1942, he was made an instructor at Luke Field. In September of that same year he was on his way to the Pacific theater, where he accomplished the deeds now so well known to the world.

'Probables' Unrecorded.

Other airmen, hailing his record of "kills," have stated that Bong shot down at least 9 or 10 more planes than he was credited with, but that because of his rather unorthodox methods of air-fighting, these never were recorded officially. He had a habit of trailing his enemy to doom and consequently no witnesses were on hand to verify these probables.

Of further interest is the observation that the majority of Bong's missions were accomplished at long range; he flew hundreds of miles most of the time before encountering actual combat. Even so, he managed to outscore all pilots, not only in the Pacific area but also on the

His success and skill no doubt were accounted for by his aceurate "eye." It was an accepted fact that Dick's evesight was most unusual, for he could sight an enemy plane quicker than anyone else in his squadron. Once he got on the trail of a Zero, it was almost certain death for his foe, for he rarely missed.

Establishes Record.

On July 28, 1943, he became America's leading ace of World War II when he added four victims to his string. His total was 15 and he rapidly was approaching the mark set in World War I by Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker. He had engaged in nis 25th operational flight.

In August, 1943, he was promoted to the rank of captain and in October he received the Distinguished Service Cross from General Mac-Arthur for heroism over New Guinea's Markham valley on a mission flown July 26.

Bong passed Captain Rickenbacker's record of 26 planes on April 13, 1944, when he shot down his 26th and 27th enemy planes. In April, 1944, Bong was promoted to major and a short time later he was presented with the Congressional Medal

Test Flight Fatal.

Major Bong scored his 40th Jap plane in December, 1944, and not long afterwards he was ordered back to the United States for special duty. He was made a test pilot and it was while flying an army jet-propelled fighter that the accident occurred which cost his life on August 6, 1945. Two days later he was buried in the quiet little country cemetery at Poplar.

HARDY ANIMALS . . . In an attempt to fill the need felt by cattlemen in cold regions of North America for a breed of beef cattle which would weather sub-zero conditions, A. S. MacLellan, dominion herdsman at Wainwright, Alta., Canada, started crossing male beef cattle with buffalo cows 25 years ago. The result was "Cattalo." Today the Cattalo looks more like a domestic animal than a buffalo although it has inherited the latter's robust qualities and size. In weather which would freeze cattle, the Cattalo survives. After the third generation the buffalo hump has been bred out, reproduction bred in, so crossbreeding was dropped. Quality of the beef is equal to that of the Aberdeen Angus, Shorthorn and Hereford.

Parisians Secure First Shoe Repairs Since War Outbreak

Twenty-five thousand Parisians who have been wearing the same battered and tattered shoes since the war cut off all sources of leather-and new shoes-are having their first half-soles and new heels since 1940, as a result of a shoe repair project launched by the Sal-

Spurred by reports that shoes are the most needed article in France today, the Salvation Army recently dispatched 500 shoe repair kits to that country. Each kit contained enough material for the repair of 50 pairs of shoes. Leather soles, leather and rubber heels, pieces of leather for patching of sides and uppers were included in the kit along with a hammer, repair knife and other equipment.

Several Parisian shoe cobblers volunteered their services to the French Salvation army and these men have been working in the wel-fare department of the "Armee du Salut," taking care of long queues of French men, women and children, who were urged to come for free shoe repairs.

Referring to the dire need for shoes in France, returning Salvation Army investigators report that the few new shoes on sale not only are extremely expensive but also are very uncomfortable, the soles being made of wood and the tops of a heavy cotton material. Poorer people have managed to half-sole their old shoes with strips of abandoned tires while many, unable to procure even this material, are wearing shoes that literally are tied on. Many poor people are wearing makeshift sandals made of thin slats of wood.

State-Owned Farms Aid Food Shortage By Boosting Output

SPRINGFIELD, ILL. - Through its operation of four farms, the Illinois department of public safety ranks as one of the most extensive farm operators in the state, according to Director T. P. Sullivan. Three branches of the state penitentiary and the state farm at Vandalia farm a total of 7,928 acres and expect a 1946 crop with a valuation of more than $250,000.

Complying with an order from Gov. Dwight H. Green that the state's farming activities be extended to the maximum to relieve the present food shortage. Sullivan arranged with the institutions to cultivate all available acreage.

Although operation of the farms saves the state money, principal reason for their existence is the occupational therapy involved, Sullivan explains. Inmates are kept occupied on the farm, thereby learning a trade to qualify them for a job when released.

Products of the farms are as varied as any well-managed farm

Radar Gear Utilized In Ocean Oil Quest

NEW YORK.—Another postwar use of radar was disclosed with announcement that scientists in a diving chamber, using radar to fix exact location of their finds, will start soon on a hunt for ocean-bottom oil under 2,000 square miles of water in the northwestern Bahamas islands.

Work will get underway immediately, equipment already having arrived at Nassau aboard the 112-foot ship Stanba, which will serve as mother ship for the experts working below her. The ship formerly was used by the Canadian navy in anti-submarine work.

Geodetic Survey, in Spite of Hardships, Appeals to Young Men.

REGIMENTATION BEARS MOST

HEAVILY ON 'LITTLE MAN'
WHEN THE GOVERNMENT
starts regimentation, the making of regulations for the individual, it is more often the little fellow, rather than the big and powerful man, who is most seriously affected. When the southern plants were producing more cotton than could be profitably marketed, the agricultural department issued an edict pro-viding that a federal license must be secured before a cotton sale could be made, and fixing a minimum amount for which a license would be issued. A tenant farmer in Alabama had raised as his total crop one bale of cotton. He could not sell it because he could not get a license for so small an amount. His local paper carried the name and address of William Bruckart, a Washington correspondent. As a last resort, the tenant farmer wrote to Bruckart, asking that he intercede with the department. It was a pathetic letter, telling of a sick wife and no assets with which to provide comforts for her; of his year of effort being represented in that one bale of cotton. Bruckart took the letter to the then secretary of agriculture, but the secretary told him the rules prohibited the issuing of a sales license for so small an amount. Bruckart insisted that the man who made the rules could, if he wished, modify them or make an exception. He told the secretary that unless that small cotton farmer was permitted to sell his one bale crop that he, Bruckart, would have that letter printed in the more than 2,000 country newspapers for which he was writing. The license was issued. The secretary could not afford to take a chance on arousing public senti-ment against his brand of regimentation.

THE FOUNDATION for that inflation we are fearing is not the spiralling wage and price scales. They are but a visible evidence of the approach of the monster that has been created by our monetary system. Constantly increasing, and constantly depreciating, printing press money is the real foundation, just as it has been in the past in our own and other countries. We had it following the Civil war days. Europe had it following World War I, and the disease in all cases was cheap printing press money for which there was no standard of value. It was not that wages and prices went up. It was that the amount of commodities the dollar would buy went down because the dollar had no standard of value. The more we have of these decreasing value dollars the higher will go wages and prices. We have far too many of these cheap printing press dollars now.

In 1933 all the money in circulation in this country amounted to less than 6 billion dollars. By 1945 the amount had jumped to 29 billion dollars. In 1933 the per capita money in circulation was $42 for each one of us. In 1945 it was $240. The increase was in federal reserve notes, and they are purely and simply printing press money. In 1933 the amount of such notes was 3 billion dollars. By 1945 that had grown to 26 billion.

Those 26 billion are only as good as the government's promise to pay. So long as the government's operations are in the red that promise to pay grows weaker day by day. A stop to deficit financing, a reduction in outstanding government obligations, will make that promise to pay more substantial, and help to avoid inflation by retiring some of our printing press money.

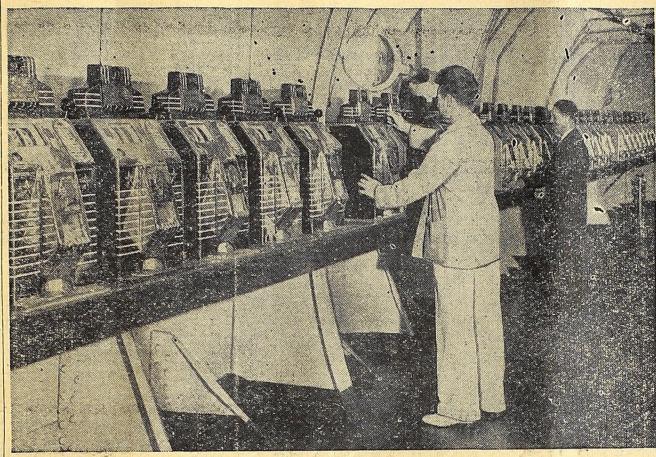

CRAVING FOR SPEED IS AMERICAN VICE

EACH SUNDAY a car passes my house at a speed of better than 60 miles in a 25-mile zone. I know the car, know where that driver is headed for, and what he will do when he reaches his destination. He is going to the beach, 12 miles away. At the speed when passing my home, he would reach the ocean sands in 12 minutes. For two or three hours he will sit on the sand, and look out over the Pacific, then he will return at the same high speed. I wonder why the hurry; why endanger himself, his car and the lives of others in order to save five or six minutes. Undoubtedly the reason is only that insane craving for speed that afflicts so many of us in our drive through life. It may end for that driver, as it has ended for others, in a prison cell.

THERE IS TOO much subterfuge involved in government spending; too much covering up of department and bureau costs. Even members of congress do not know the expenditures of any one of the bureaus that regiment us. The subsidies paid by OPA are fair examples. No appropriation was made for them. The money is borrowed from RFC and when RFC runs out of cash congress is asked to increase its capitalization.

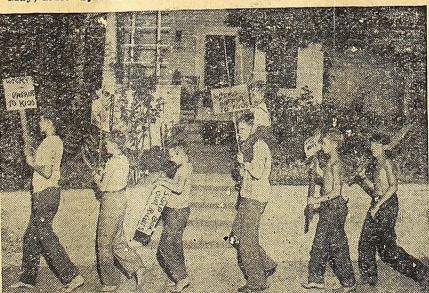

PAPER, NOT RICE . . . Hearing that an estimated 1,557,000 pounds of rice are wasted annually by wellwishers at American weddings, Fred Boggio and his pretty bride, the former Bridget Marand, requested that none of the precious grain be thrown at their ceremony. Attorneys for Tony Cornero, owner and operator of the Lux, believe that he will be untouchable out in the deep. Speedboats will taxi patrons back and forth every five minutes.

U.S. To Purchase Natural Rubber

Will Pay 23½ Cents a Pound For 145,000 Tons.

WASHINGTON. - The United States has agreed to buy 145,000 long tons of natural rubber from Britain, France and Holland for 231/2 cents per pound in the last half of this year, according to a state department announcement.

The price, which is basic, is 31/4 cents above the rate being paid up to July 1. This means either that domestic prices of raw rubber will have to be increased or the government will have to pay a subsidy to maintain the purchase program

A joint announcement here and in London said that Britain, while reopening the Malayan raw rubber market to the United States, would stabilize conditions there by paying a price equivalent to 231/2 cents a pound for all available rubber. Britain and the United States are the great purchasers of rubber. The base price was described as being for "number IX ribbed smoked sheet." Other grades will be paid for at agreed differentials. This raw rubber, purchased by the U. S. Rubber Development corporation, will be made available to American manufacturers through government outlet agencies. The official statement said that 'determining factors in the agreements reached were the continuing shortage of natural rubber in relation to demand and the present exceptionally high cost of producing natural rubber in these areas.'

The United States obtains the great bulk of its raw rubber from British, Dutch and French Far Eastern production but some is coming from such scattered places as South America, Siam, the Philippines and Africa.

Optometrists Pledge

Their Eyes to 'Bank'

PITTSBURGH. - Three hundred optometrists agreed at convention sessions here to bequeath their eyes to "eye banks" so that their careers of vision improvement would continue after death.

Members of Beta Sigma Kap-

"These men spend their lives improving vision," Dr. Pine as-serted, "what better means to improve people's sight exists than this method?"

Dr. Pine said recent development of new refrigerating methods made large-scale participation in a system of "eye banks" practical and efficient.

In a book called "Apes, Giants and Man," Dr. Weidenreich told of recent discoveries of a fossilized giant human jawbone in Java and a huge human tooth found in China.

"It may not be too far from the truth if we suggest the Java giant was much bigger than any living gorilla and that the Chinese giant was correspondingly bigger than the Java giant—that is 1½ times as large as the Java giant and twice as large as a male gorilla," he said.

He added there were only "mere indications" thus far that the giants were older than all other known human types and expressed hope that the search for fossils could be continued in Java and China now that the war in the Pacific has ended.

100,000 Deaths Blamed On Systematic Starvation

BERLIN.-The Red army newspaper Taegliche Rundschau blamed overwork, systematic starvation and epidemics for the deaths of more than 100,000 men whose mass graves, the newspaper said, have just been discovered.

The graves were found at a former German prison camp near Zeithain, Saxony, in the Russian oc-cupation zone. The prisoners were mostly Russian.

"In the so-called camp hospital, 50,000 prisoners had lain ill and unattended and with their only exit the mass grave," the newspaper reported.

Reverse Skirt

Before discarding a wool skirt that has begun to look worn and shabby, consider the possibility of giving it a new lease on life by turning it inside out. Wool goods and garments still are scarce, so every effort should be made to get full wear from the clothes on hand. Often the faded color, spots and wear that make a skirt look worn are only surface deep. If the underside looks new and if the fabric, when held up to the light, shows no sign of wearing thin, the skirt is probably worth revers-

Orange Sweeteners
Besides serving as sweets, oranges and tangerines have possibilities as sweeteners. Home economists suggest, for example: In orange gelatin dessert, if orange sections are used in addition to orange juice, sugar called for may be reduced a third or even a half. And for those who like a sweet salad, orange bits or slices mixed with slaw or combined with grated car-rot provide the touch of sweetness without sugar.

Cooking Macaroni

The secret of success in cooking macaroni, spaghetti or noodles is plenty of bubbling boiling water. Gradually add macaroni, spaghetti and noodles to the actively boiling water and watch them tumble about as they cook to firm tenderness. Two or three quarts boiling water, to which one tablespoon salt has been added, cooks four to eight ounces of macaroni, spaghetti or noodles.

You may never have thought about it this way, but for each Michigan Bell employee there is $13,000 worth of telephone buildings and equip-

Where did the money for this telephone "plant" come from?

It came from the sale of Bell System securities to folks who had savings to invest. And, naturally, they want - and are entitled to - a fair return from their investment.

That return must come out of Bell System earnings - the money left after paying wages, taxes, and other operating expenses. But, if earnings are insufficient, investors will not put more money into the telephone business, and Michigan Bell would not be able to expand and improve your service. Since earnings depend so largely on telephone rates it's important to remember this:

Our "cost of living", like yours, has been rising rapidly. If it continues to go up, rate increases may become necessary to insure adequate earnings. In any event, Michigan Bell wants rates no higher and no lower - than necessary to operate the business efficiently . . . pay good wages . . . give a fair return to investors and, thereby, protect the future quality of the service we give you.

last, he lay on its brink, gasping.

"I saw you—you and Sherwin," he said quietly. "I was out in the road; there's an opening in the trees -one glimpses the ravine. How did you come to fall in that way, Max?" Stenhart roused himself; he lifted his head and tried to meet Jim's questioning eyes, but he wavered and gasped.

enemy! Are you sure, old chap, quite sure-that he was guilty?"

Stenhart's face took on an ashy whiteness, his lips shook. "I tell you he did it!" he cried wildly. "I—oh, my God, what lightning!"

The heavens had been torn by a jagged flash, the dark woods were, for an instant, ablaze with it; then the roar of thunder rolled crashing around them, echoed from height to suddenly swung aside by the other man's blind agony of terror; the fall had broken his nerve-he was almost hysterical. The rain began to catch up with him again, came abreast of a windswept thicket. He heard the men behind scrambling and shouting and thought of Jane. He had made her stay behind; was she out there still, holding the horses? He grasped Stenhart again and they came to the last lap of the descent. It was dusk in the trail and the rain blinded, but sudden-ly there was a tongue of flame from the thicket, a sharp report, and Stenhart crumpled up and sagged into Jim's arms. At first he did not sense what had happened; it seemed a part of the tempest, of Stenhart's utter collapse, and then he felt something warm and wet on his hands and knew it was blood.

"Good God, he's shot!" Jim gasped. Then he shouted, but his voice was cut off by a volley of shots. The men behind had been quicker than he; they were crashing into the thicket.

Stenhart, meanwhile, hung heavily against him. "He's got me this time," he murmured. "I'm shot, Jim!" He thought it was Sherwin.

But the sheriff came up, panting. "Hit you, did he? Here, Adams, you hold up Mr. Stenhart. I want you-" he hurried Jim;-"we killed th' fellow who did it, caught him running-"

They pushed into the thicket, rain dripping from their hats and soaking their clothes. Two of the posse were bending down over a prostrate figure. The dead man had fallen face downward, but they rolled him over and Jim saw his distorted face.

"It's Jordan," he said soberly. 'He meant to get me-I'm afraid poor Max is done for!"

"By George, then we've killed two birds with one stone-we've got the outlaw and the escaped convict in one bag! Sorry about Mr. Stenhart-maybe the men had better make a stretcher for him, eh?"

"Some one's got to go to the ranch and get a car-I-" Jim stopped short; he saw Jane coming.

She ran to him and clung about his neck, forgetful of the quarrel. "Oh, Jim, I thought you were hurt their bodies. The sheriff came next; | or-" her voice trailed; she knew that it was not Sherwin, for she had seen him standing grimly between his guards.

Jim pointed to Jordan. "It's done with, Jane; I'm going to have the poor devil decently buried. Jane, ride back to Las Palomas, get Mac to send the big car and-if she can come through this, send Fanny. I'm afraid poor Max got it bad, he's collapsed-be quick!"

"Jim!" she clung to him, whispering, "you know what he did—Sherwin, I mean—don't let them take him away! Do something, say something! Oh, Jim, you-you must!"

Jim loosed her arms from his "Look here, girlie, I'll promneck . ise to do all I can, but, for heaven's sake, get out of this quick-get a Stenhart may be dying-it may mean a lot to all of us. Quick!"

"Jim, I must speak to him-" Her brother caught her sternly by the arm and dragged her to the end of the thicket. "Now-go!" he said, "or-I swear I'll have him sent off now!"

Jane caught the look on his face and saw beyond him the death-like face of Stenhart, leaning against two deputies, only partly conscious.

"He's all in!" cried Jim. "Can't you see? Beat it!"

The girl, half crying, ran out into the road. The storm had nearly spent itself and she loosed Tex from the sapling where she had tied him, and springing into the saddle, turned his head homeward.

Her heart reproached her for the relief she felt. When she heard the shots she had thought only of Sherwin and her brother; Jordan had slipped out of her mind. She imagined Sherwin still bent on revenge, though the miracle of that rescue seemed to lift him above such a thought. They were both safe! Poor Max-well, she could pity him, yet, if he knew he had sworn to a lie about his cousin, wasn't it a judgment of God? In a strange tumult of feeling she galloped home, but, all the while, she seemed to vision Sherwin going down into the abyss to save the life of his foe!

"My heart, you are dripping!" Teresa cried, seizing her as she dropped from the saddle; but Jane scarcely heard her.

"Call Mac!" she said sharply, panting, her hands clasped tightly against her breast. "And you, Fanny, you've got to go in the car-Jordan tried to shoot Jim and wounded Stenhart; they're afraid he's dy-

"Sangre de Criste!" she whis-pered, awed, "it is a judgment—his dreams, his terrible dreams!" Jane looked down at her, white-

The wind swept over them and she looked up; storm-clouds, black dress, then you will want a basic and threatening, were rolling around them and the shining peaks were swathed in a mantle of purple. Now fall in a torrent and Jim, trying to and then a red flash tore the black mist asunder, as though some hidden furnace was belching fire in the midst of the canyons. Jane, who knew that Sherwin had given up his hope of freedom to save a life, felt suddenly a thrill of utter pride and thankfulness; nothing mattered so much as that he had cleansed his soul! They brought Stenhart back to Las Palomas through the driving storm. The wind was snapping branches off the great trees and whipping the rain across the long slope in mighty gusts. The big car came swiftly, followed by the dripping horses and men of the posse. Jane, watching from the veranda. saw Stenhart's white face and closed eyes as they bore him in, but her own gaze was following the drenched figures going down to the men's quarters. She made out Sherwin's tall head, and then the others closed up about him. She drew a quick breath of relief; he was here—Jim had not let them hurry him away. Then she was aware of other things. She, herself, had telephoned for a doctor, but it would be two hours or more before he could reach them; meanwhile Jim and Cutler had carried the wounded man in and laid him on his bed. Fanny, quiet, competent, greatly concerned, was doing all she could; Stenhart had lost consciousness, but now, under her ministrations, he was slowly coming back to himself. Mechanically, Jane obeyed the young nurse's behests, helping as best she could.

Fanny, quietly and deftly at work, suddenly saw the girl's face, and she went over to Jim. He was standing by the door helplessly, staring at Stenhart.

"Take Jane away," Fanny whispered to him, her kind eyes grave and admonishing. "She's borne a good deal today. I can do it all now-until the doctor comes, if he comes in time." Jim's face fell. "You think-?"

She nodded. "He's going to dia Jim, slowly—perhaps it will be ball -take her away."

WOMAN'S WORLD

Plan Trim New Dresses for Fall While Fabric Selection is Good

By Ertta Haley

IT SOMETIMES is hard to realize during hot summer days that all the big stores and foresighted women are planning their wardrobes for fall, but that's a fact. If you plan your fall wardrobe now, your chances of getting better material in a wider selection of colors and weaves is greater than if you wait a few weeks.

Every woman likes a few trim new dresses for fall, and the matter is easily solved by selecting pat-terns and materials that will be figure flattering as well as practical.

One dress for the woman whose wardrobe does not permit the expenditure of too much money is a good basic style with several changes of collar and cuffs. She might like one set of collar and ouffs in a prim and dainty sheer fabric in frosty white. For more dressy wear, a good choice would be a gay stripe or plaid, in taffeta or one of the rayons.

Then again, the basic dress may not need collar or cuffs for really formal, dressy occasions. For this you might like to splurge on some clever costume jewelry—a touch of glitter at the neck, and a matching bracelet. Remember how popular pearl type necklaces were-and still are—and how much they do for a simple black, brown or navy blue dress? That's what I mean.

Basic Dress Must Flatter Figure

Unless you select the most figureflattering basic dress you won't be able to do a thing with it. The side drape is only good on some figures. Others look better in gored or slightly flared skirts. Still others prefer

Select figure-flattering material

All of these things must be important considerations in choosing a dress that will take the place of several. Select, too, one that has good sleeves and neckline. If you know, for example, that a V neck doesn't do a thing for you-and it doesn't do much for the very thin, flat-chested woman - then choose something with a little fullness in the bust.

If, on the other hand, you have a well-set pair of shoulders and are material at the top of the dress.

Should you be planning several changes of collar and cuffs for the changes of collar and cuffs for the changes of collar and cuffs for the changes of those soft sheer wool or wool jerstyle that will be usable with collars most flattering to you.

Buy a good pattern, a good material, put the dress together as carefully as you know how, and you will then have the most important ingredients of the successful dress. Black, navy blue, brown, dark green and gray are the classic colors for this type of dress. The one you look best in should be first, second and third choice.

Small Details Make Dress Fit Wearer

Recent figures prove what most of us have always suspected. That is that few women come close to the perfect figure. This means that small adjustments must be made on patterns and clothes to make them fit Adjust clothes to your figure. Some women run narrow in the shoulders and need an extra dart there or at the collar to make the dress lie smoothly. Shoulders, of course, can be built up with padding Easy to Sew

A simple pattern plus a simple rayon fabric that is easy for a beginner to handle makes this a nice frock on which to start sewing. The neckline can be worn high or low, and the fluffy peplum at the hip adds nice detail to the costume.

so that they will balance the figure. but this is an individual problem that must be handled directly in front of the mirror. Another important problem in fitting is the bodice. To give a well-molded line, it's advisable to take one or two darts under the arms to get this effect. How much of a dart, and just where it should lie, is best determined by basting and fitting. Just where the hemline should fall is another point that has troubled many of us for a long time. This should not be determined, I feel, so much by what the fashion is, but rather by where the line is most attractive to you. If you are short and plump you will want a longer skirt to give you the long line that is most flattering. The shape of the legs is often the most important factor in the length of the skirt.

Waistlines and sleeve lengths are another detail which would be judged by the figure. For this there well-filled, stay away from too much | is no guide like the full length mirror.

> sey jackets to wear over it. There are some gathered-at-the-waist styles that are nice. There are others that are more tailored.

> If you wish to have a bolero jacket as another change of costume with the basic dress, select enough material and then choose a contrasting print for lining it and make a belt of the print to have with the dress.

for you if you have proper clothing to wear underneath it. A bulky slip can ruin the good lines of a dress, and a sagging slip is a mark of poor grooming.

cut slips; the stout figure should have one with gores. Pay just as much attention to the seams on the slip as the fit. A too-small bias-cut slip will ride up and yield little comfort.

Slender figures can wear bias

Select the correct length for your height. They now come in short, medium and tall lengths and everyone can be fitted properly. Leave only the minor adjustments for the straps.

Seams on slips should be flat and double-stitched. The zig-zag stitched seams wear well, but they may look wrinkled if you are wearing a sheer dress.

The top of the slip gets hard wear and should be flat and selfstitched around the edge. Lacy tops are pretty and dainty, but if a lightweight dress is worn, a simple slip will give the best lines underneath the garment.

Fashion Forecast

A good fall pick-up for last year's suit or this year's too is a smart stitched dickey. It's fine foil for the felt hats which are destined to appear soon.

If you're buying a good skirt for day wear, select at least two blouses to go with it for extra wear. One may be tailored and in bright, jewel-like colors, while the other may be crisp tubbable white.

men's wear in some of the sports wear. Some plaid jackets are tailored like the men's, and there are coats, so very sporty looking, that have four pockets.

Changing Character Of Outmoded Rocker

IN TODAY'S cramped living quarters there is little space for a rocker that neither harmonizes with antiques nor modern furniture. Yet, with the slight alterations shown here, such a chair may be made to seem at home with either type of furniture.

After the rockers have been removed, it may be made to change character to suit the material used for cushion and back covers.

What has happened in the first year after the war? Except in the way of record attendances and general enthusiasm, the aftermath of World War II hasn't even approached the aftermath of World War I. Not in the way of competi-

Can you name competitors today who have anything like the combined class of Babe Ruth, Jack Dempsey, Bobby Jones, Bill Til-den, Tommy Hitchcock, Rogers Hornsby, Earl Sande, Walter Hagen, Gene Sarazen, Red Grange, Man o' War? We have Joe Louis. But Joe Louis has been the world's heavyweight champion for over nine years.

We have Ted Williams, but Ted Williams hit over .400 before the last war. He was a great ball player, or at least a great hitter, before World War II ever developed a slight fever. Sammy Baugh and Sid Luckman go well back before World War II.

The brief postwar period has developed a wild stampede to the box office. But very little beyond that. In baseball the batting stars today include Ted Williams, Dixie Walker, Dom DiMaggio, Vernon, Musial, Hank Greenberg and a few more. But these are veterans-most of them. Hal Newhouser of the Tigers and Rocky Graziano have been the two leading stars since 1941.

Against this list I haven't the heart to give you the names of those who have faded, folded up or slipped badly-who, returning from army and navy assignments, fell far behind. The outstanding performance of 1946—so far—has been the Red Sox, plus Ted Williams. Plus the Dodgers' fine showing against heavy odds, player for player. The second nomination is Joe Louis-who against Billy Conn had almost no opposition.

Ben Hogan and Byron Nelson are the two major money winners in golf-but Lloyd Mangrum is Open champion and Herman Keiser is the Master's winner. And Sammy Snead is British champion. It is all very much confused, very badly tangled up.

Most Class in Football

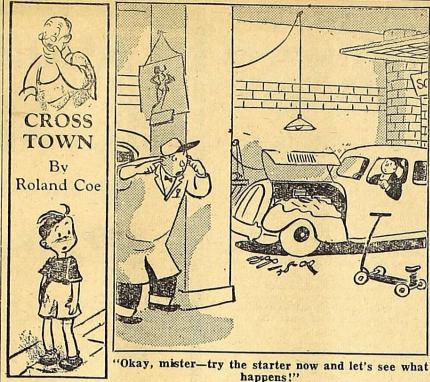

In my opinion the feature part of 1946 won't belong to baseball, racing, boxing, basketball, track, golf or tennis. It will belong to football. This applies to both the college teams and the pros. This first applies to the quality of competition. There will be far more class to football than any other postwar sport can even approach.
I understand that over 100,000 applications had been made for the Army-Michigan game back in June. There will be over 200,000 ticket applications for this contest at Ann Arbor. Applications for the Army-Notre Dame game will pass the 300,000 mark before September. Army-Notre Dame and Army-Navy together could leave the 500,000 mark behind - if there was only space enough.

The Navy-Georgia Tech game in Atlanta already has two times the seat applications that Atlanta can handle. Notre Dame, Army, Navy and Michigan will be a triple sellout for almost every contest. The same thing will happen to Southern California and UCLA on the west coast. Also to St. Mary's and others.

But I doubt that Notre Dame will have the team Frank Leahy had in 1943 or that Army will have the team Red Blaik had in 1944 or 1945. The talent hasn't improved, but the crowd interest has. Veterans coming from army and navy service have proved nothing. Some have been better — others have taken a big dip. This has been true in baseball — and it will be just as true in college and pro football. There will be stars from other years who will shine - and there will be stars from other years who will be flops. There will be a professional foot-ball entanglement that will leave you gasping—and more than a few pocketbooks flatter than a thin plank. In looking on ahead you will also see a big revival in tentilis interest. his interest — and one of the hottest amateur golf championships any galloping member of the Thun-dering Herd has ever known. Bud Ward - Frank Stranahan - Cary Middlecoff — golfers good enough to beat the Nelsons and the Hogans in major tests, plus young stars moving up. This has been a rather dizzy season so far, up and down.

Clean Milk Comes From Modern Barns Well Constructed and

Concrete dairy barn floors and mangers will prove a big help in producing milk of high quality as well as reducing the amount of labor required. The U. S. public health service milk code provides that no dairy harp meets the requirethat no dairy barn meets the require-ments for producing high grade milk without a long-lasting, non-ab-sorbent, sanitary floor such as con-

Forms are made of one-inch lumber, well braced. Concrete for the floor is made with five gallons of water per sack of portland cement when sand and gravel are moist. The mix should be plastic and work-able, but not too sloppy nor too stiff.

Barn floors and mangers properly designed and built help assure clean, comfortable, healthy stock-high quality milk.

Build the manger curb first; then the litter alley and the manger. Leave holes in concrete for future stall equipment if not now available. Then build stall platforms. These will vary according to the kind of cattle. The mangers should be finished with a steel trowel. The concrete should be damp cured for at least five days before using.

Know Your Breed Guernsey

By W. J. DRYDEN

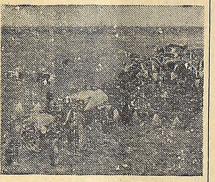

Valleywood Valiant Hero 235690, a grand champion Guernsey bull of registered performance.

The Guernsey breed originated on the small English channel island of Guernsey. The breed was brought to America as early as 1818.

The Guernsey is of medium size with fawn and white clearly deline-ated markings. Summary of 98,297 advanced registered records show advanced registered records show the average production was 10,151 pounds of milk and 498 pounds butterfat. Some 53 animals pro-duced over 1,000 pounds butterfat and 14 have lifetime records of over 100,000 pounds of milk.

Salt grass which cattle ordinarily will not eat may be covered with a solution of one-third water and two-thirds molasses. Power spray may be used economically with a 20-foot width.

Cattle fatten on the molasses and water combined with the grass, produce bigger and tastier steaks. Other similar uses may be devised for use of power sprays to meet individual requirements.

State Conservation Department Pays Taxes

The state conservation department this week paid its biggest annual 'bill' when lands division workers mailed to the treasurers of 82 counties checks totalling $438,556.26.

The checks are tax payments on 4,385,566 acres administered by the department as state forests, state parks, state game areas, fishing access sites and miscellaneous holdings. The first 1,000 acres in each park is the only lands exempt from this 10 cent an acre levy which takes the cent an acre levy which takes the place of local taxes in supporting schools and other local government merous high school activities, high school scholastic record and because of her community interests and many of her community interests and many activities in the 4-H club program of Iosco county. This scholarship was made possible through the W. K. Kellogg Foundation, State Board of Control for Vocational Education and Michigan State College. Miss Bueschen was selected to represent Iosco county and attended the short course with representatives from counties in the northern half of the lower Peninsula of Michigan.

lower Peminsula of Michigan.
At the close of the short course which was completed during the latter part of April Miss Bueschen was selected from the group of 35 home economics members to receive the activity award and was presented activity award and was presented with a large colored picture of the Beaumont Memorial Tower which stands at the center of the Michigan State College campus. She was selected because of her high scholastic standing and because of her popularity and citizenship throughout the training course at Michigan State College.

The short course is designed for personal development in which rural minded young people are given training in programs of self improvement as well as training in relation-ships and understandings between individuals within a given rural community. Vocational development training is provided so the students may have a broader view of the possibilities for production, processing and utilization of Michigan grown agricultural products. The students are also given practical information in new improved methods of both agriculture and home economics. Training is also given in community responsibility in which emphasis is placed upon the opportunities for developing leadership capacities so that students may become more effective citizens in their community, their state and their community.

While attending this short course at Michigan State College Miss Bueschen took definite training courses in foods and nutrition, clothing, home furnishings and home management, family relations, personal problems, family relations, personal problems, farm poultry, farm gardening and small fruits, health education and community recreation.

Whe t discussing short courses which are offered by Michigan State College with County Agricultural Agent W. L. Finley he stated that Iosco county had been given an opportunity to select one boy and one girl to receive this training at Michgirl to receive this training at Michterm of 1947. Mr. Finley stated that young men and women who are interested in a training course of this type should discuss the program with Miss Bueschen and may receive literature upon the course from County Agents office at East Tawas.
