CLEAR CUT PRINCIPLES WOULD GIVE VOTERS REAL CHOICE

IF THE WISHES of the American people are to be determined, we need a new and more definite political alignment. As party names, Democrat and Republican have become largely meaningless insofar as standing for principles and policies are concerned. It is no longer easy for many voters to distinguish between them.

Presumably the Democratic party stands for what we have known as the New Deal. A portion of those elected on its ticket lean heavily to the left, with a strong tendency toward a more centralized government; encroachment on what has been considered the rights of the states; a government-planned economy—state socialism. Some portion of the senators and representatives elected on the Republican ticket join that New Deal element of the Democrats.

A considerable number of Democratic senators and representatives do not support New Deal policies. They are in the minority in the party, but with the assistance of the Republicans who are opposed to New Deal ideas and theories, the combination has been able to block much of the New Deal legislative program.

There is no clear cut cleavage between the two parties. So long as such conditions continue the voter has no means of expressing his preference as to the kind of government he wants. He can vote only for candidates, not for principles. When a majority of both parties expresses in definite terms the purposes and policies of the party we could get an accurate counting of hands showing what a majority of the American people want.

The choice must lie between a continuance of our free enterprise profit system; our local self government by states, counties and municipalities; encouragement of our individual ambition as represented by our profit system; our freedom as individuals to plan and do for ourselves, or that form of state socialism that proposes a planned economy; government ownership or direction of much of industry; responsibility of government for the support of the individual; a centralized form of government, and other things that were the purposes of the New Deal.

With such definite, clearly defined policies proposed by each of the two parties the voter can express his choice of principles, rather than, as now, only a choice as between candidates. Under such conditions the party that wins at the polls will have a definite mandate from a majority of the American people.

INDIVIDUAL FREEDOM ENDS UNDER A BUREAUCRACY

FREEDOM FOR THE INDIVIDUAL, as we have known it in America, is compounded of many ingredients. Among these is the right to reside where we wish; the right to work at what most appeals; to say and do those things we wish to say and do insofar as they do not injure others; to plan and build for ourselves as suits our fancy; to work or to play; to have what we may wish without depriving others of the same privilege. Under our kind of freedom each directs his own life to suit his desires. He is limited only by his individual ability to achieve. We cannot have our American kind of freedom under a planned rule of bureaucracy. Under a bureaucratic rule servitude to the state is inevitable whether it be called state socialism, nazism, fascism, communism or any of the many forms of socialism that are based on the state's regulation of the ambition of the individual. We cannot have both state socialism and individual freedom. They do not work together. We must plan for ourselves or accept the planning of a bureaucrat. We cannot sow bureaucracy and reap freedom.

THERE IS in America right now a demand for 10 to 12 million, or more, new automobiles. Manufacturers tell us the price will be 25 per cent higher than prewar; the car that sold at $800 will now sell at $1,000. The difference, and more, is the increased cost of labor. Despite that increase the cars will sell as rapidly as they can be produced, but the increased price demonstrates "what goes up must come down" somewhere. Wage increases come down on the heads of all of us. We are the buying public. We pay the wages.

ON TWO RECENT OCCASIONS Stalin has said that the interests of the United States and Russia do not clash, but that the interests of Great Britain and Russia do clash. That clash, Stalin said, could lead to war between Russia and England. Such statements on the part of Stalin are evidently a bid for American support for the expansion plans of Russia, or at least for this country to keep out of the argument.

Five Major Industries Face Further Cut in Lead Quotas

By MARSHALL W. BERGER
WASHINGTON, June 13.—The lead shortage, aggravated by domestic smelting strikes and by import bottlenecks, has now reached the point where five major lead-consuming industries are due to suffer at least an additional 50,000 ton cut in allocations during the remainder of 1946.

This amount will be over and above the trimming of 100,000 tons already scheduled for authorized uses.

Moreover, some further reductions in allocations are held likely by Government officials who point out that in the future greater quantities of lead will probably be channeled into the emergency housing program for sheet, pipe, and caulking. Whatever amounts are required for housing needs will probably be requisitioned from supplies which were allocated originally for the major lead users.

Industries Affected
The five industries faced with further allocation reductions are Batteries, cable, chemicals, oil fluid, and ammunition.

Earlier this year the nation's primary production, according to CPA, Domestic refinery production, including the processing of foreign ores, was estimated originally at 450,000 tons this year.

YOUR telephone company needs huge quantities of lead and copper, steel and tin, cotton yarn and lumber. These and many more are "musts" in the manufacture of telephone equipment.

But most are hard to get!

This must have a familiar sound to you. For you know how hard it's been to get certain foods and furnishings for your home.

So, just as you do in your housekeeping, we do the best we can with what we can get. In order to bring telephone service to as many waiting applicants as possible, Michigan Bell is using existing equipment to the limit.

We hope to fill by the end of this year most of the orders for telephone service received before the beginning of the year. In some areas—where facilities are available—we expect to fill many orders that have come in since the first of the year. But it may be late in 1947 before we are again on a ready-to-serve basis everywhere.

We shall continue to fill orders for service in their proper turn just as fast as we can. As supplies start flowing more freely, you'll see some real results.

WHETHER it is Eddie Dyer's Cardinals or Leo Durocher's Dodgers who will be called on to meet Joe Cronin's Red Sox this fall, there is one basic idea you can keep in mind—neither National league team is going to surrender in advance.

No other teams in baseball have been so well seasoned under fire from April into the final September stretch.

There has been no resting spot for either club — no loafing time or any recess in the day-by-day battle for the top. Both Cardinals and Dodgers by now should have steel-shod nerves under the pressure that has kept both teams hustling to the limit in an all summer dog fight that has been one of the best in many years.

Both Cardinals and Dodgers are loaded with dead-game ball players out to give all they have—such men as Pete Reiser, Peewee Reese, Ed Stankey, Dixie Walker, Stan Musial, Marty Marion, Country Slaughter, Whitey Kurowski, Terry Moore and others from both scrappy camps.

Their batting records show no such power as the Red Sox command. Howie Pollet may be their only 20-game winner. But there is more than enough class on either team to give anyone a battle over the sprint route that a world series calls for.

The averages tell you that. Reiser, in condition, is one of the most valuable ball players baseball can show when you consider his worth at bat, in a pinch, in the field and around the bases.

The averages and the records of the field also prove that Musial is quite likely to out-hit Williams by a rather wide margin; not in the way of home runs, but in league leadership. Musial is one of the finest hitters we've seen in many years. His lifetime average is close to Williams', who has slipped a trifle from .356 to something around .353, which isn't too soggy for several years.

Outside of Musial and Walker, neither Cardinals nor Dodgers has other run-making hitters to match Pesky, Doerr and York, slashing Ted's three aiding musketeers.

Eddie Dyer on Pitching

After all, the pitching can play a star part in any world series, as pitching usually does.

We were talking with Eddie Dyer, the Cardinal manager, about this section of the world series argument.

"In the first place," Dyer said, "the Cardinals haven't yet won the National league pennant this season. The Dodgers are a tough team to catch and shake loose. They don't seem to discourage easily. But if the Cardinals do manage to break in and get a shot at the Red Sox, I have a rather hazy idea our pitching staff can worry them a lot.

"We have some left-handers that Williams and a number of others might not like too well. And if George Mungler can work back to his old form in the next few weeks, we'll have our share of good right-handers to match any staff — and that includes the Red Sox staff."

No one can be sure yet just how good the Red Sox pitching is. There have been too many games where a Red Sox pitcher could dish out a flock of hits and runs, and yet breeze home. We were rather astonished to see that Dave Ferris and Tex Hughson, two Red Sox mainstays, had allowed more hostile hits than any two pitchers in their circuit. Both had been tapped safely well over 200 times, where Spud Chandler had allowed only 151 hits and Hal Newhouser only 173, far below the Ferris-Hughson totals.

The Red Sox have wrecked the American league through a killing margin in runs, base hits and runs batted in. Their stampeade has been based on raw power, on attack, not on defense.

Hughson, undoubtedly one of the best pitchers now at work, has had a rather spotty year, being slightly over the 500 mark with a great run-making machine at his back. Ferris has been their star workman, but even the able Ferris has absorbed his share of manhandling more than once.

Red Sox No Cinch Bet

The Red Sox will be favored to win, but anyone who makes them lopsided favorites can be labeled a trifle curious in the cupola. As all around good as the Red Sox are, and they are good enough, up and down the line, they are no invincible, overwhelming force against either of the two fast, game outfits.

The main burden of proof is also on broad Red Sox backs who are expected by too many camp followers to win a four or five game romp.

er playing three-and-a-half hours. Lets all get out and drive to Standard Sunday and lend your moral support to the team. Anyone wanting a booster card for their bumper of their car, stop in at the Herald office and receive one. Come on folks! Let's respond to this call from the team. The game begins at two o'clock.

West Branch drew first blood in the first inning when Bertovik was hit by the pitcher, Oliver sacrificed him to second. Walters walked, Adams singled, Bertovik scoring, Goodman walked, Mathews hit into a double play, Gingerich unassisted. They scored again in the second inning when Blanchard flied out to center field, Hooper and Doyle were both safe on errors. Bertovik grounded out second to first, Hooper scoring, Oliver grounded out, pitcher to first.

Tawas City took the lead in the second when Thornton singled and took second on the catcher's error. Gingerich walked, R. Landon struck out, Prescott was safe on a fielder's choice, Thornton scoring. Mark walked, Landon flied out, Gingerich scoring, Libka singled, Prescott scoring, Rollin grounded out.

They scored two more runs in the sixth when Thornton singled, Gingerich struck out, R. Landon walked, Thornton went to third on a passed ball, Prescott walked, Mark struck out, D. Landon walked forcing in Thornton, Libka was hit by the pitcher, R. Landon scoring, Rollin grounded out.

Tawas City added two more runs in the seventh when Peterson flied out, Thornton was safe when the catcher dropped his third strike, went to second on a wild pitch, Gingerich walked, R. Landon walked and Thornton scored on a wild pitch, Gingerich was thrown out at third, Prescott forced R. Landon at second.

West Branch made it a new ball game when they scored four runs in the eighth inning. Blanchard flied out to center, Hooper struck out but the umpires ruled that the catcher caught the ball after it had hit the ground, Hooper safe taking first during the argument. Doyle singled, Bertovik singled, Hooper scoring. Oliver singled, Doyle scoring, Walters flied out to center, Adams hit a long double to left center field. Bertovik scoring; Goodman grounded out.

After both sides filling the bases a couple of times and not scoring, West Branch finally scored one run in the thirteenth inning. Hooper grounded out, short to first, Doyle singled, Bertovik grounded out. Oliver walked and Doyle stole third, Walters walked, Doyle scored on a passed ball and Adams grounded out.

With only three men to retire it looked as though West Branch would win the game, but three singles and a hit batter settled the matter with Tawas scoring two runs.

The success of this 1946 county fair may well be judged by two important features. First, the weather, of which we have no control, lets hope for the best. Second, upon the number of exhibits. Every home in the county has something that might will be displayed and would add greatly to the value and interest of this fall festival. Whether your exhibit is made up of a bouquet of cut flowers, fancy work, a nice dairy cow, or a big well trained pulling team—it is important and will help the fair. Lets all combine our efforts and make this 1946 fair of September 25-26-27 a credit to Iosco county.
