

Vote Yes on Iosco County Court House Proposal

Two Contest Enliven Tuesday's Election Here

Slip Candidate for Road Commissioner; Iosco Candidate for Congress

With no opposition for county officers on the ballot, next Tuesday's election took on a new interest this week when Harry Cross of Wilber township announced his candidacy on slips for county road commissioner. Clarence Curry of Tawas township was nominated candidate on the Republican ticket at the June primary election.

Of special interest to the voters of Iosco county is the candidacy of Herman N. Butler for Congress on the Democratic ticket.

This is the first time for many years that this section of the Tenth District has placed a candidate in the race for Congress. Butler was drafted last spring by the State Democratic Committee to run for this office. Butler is well known throughout Northeastern Michigan. During the 35 years he has been a resident in this area he has worked continuously and effectively for the development of Iosco county and Northeastern Michigan. Many of these developments can be directly credited to his energetic efforts. Electing a Congressman from Iosco county would be a benefit to this section of the Tenth District.

The remainder of the ballot is as follows:

- Governor—Kim Sigler, Republican; Murray D. Van Wagoner, Democrat.
- Lieutenant Governor—Eugene C. Keyes, Republican; Osmund Kelly, Democrat.
- Secretary of State—Frederick M. Alger, Republican; Joseph L. Bannigan, Democrat.
- Attorney General—Eugene F. Black, Republican; Thurman B. Doyle, Democrat.
- State Treasurer—D. Hale Brake, Republican; John J. Kozaren, Democrat.
- Auditor General—Murl K. Aten, Republican; Marvin L. Coon, Democrat.
- U. S. Senator—Arthur H. Vandenberg, Republican; James H. Lee, Democrat.
- Congress—Roy O. Woodruff, Republican; Herman N. Butler, Democrat.

The unopposed candidates on the ballot are:

- State Senator—Charles T. Prescott.
- Representative—Richard H. Deadman.
- Prosecuting Attorney—Herbert Hertzler.
- Sheriff—John Moran.
- County Clerk—Russell H. McKenzie.
- County Treasurer—Grace L. Miller.
- Register of Deeds—Albert H. Buch.
- Drain Commissioner—George W. Schroeder.
- Coroners—E. D. Jacques, E. John Moffatt.
- Surveyor—Carl R. Small.
- Road Commissioner—Clarence Curry, who has slip opposition.

Three special ballots will also receive the voters consideration. The proposals are as follows.

(Proposal No. 1) Proposed Amendment to the State Constitution limiting State Control and Participation to certain Internal Improvements.

No. 1 A Joint Resolution of the 1946 (1st Extra Session) Legislature proposing an amendment to Section 14 of Article 10 of the State Constitution relative to limiting state control and participation to certain internal improvements.

(Proposal No. 2) Proposed Amendment to Article X of the Constitution by adding a new section to be known as number 23 to provide for the return of one percent of the state sales tax to be divided among the cities, villages, townships and schools, and to provide for the continuance of Annual School Grants.

No. 2 By initiative petition there is submitted a proposed amendment to Article X of the Constitution by adding a new section to be known as Number 23 to provide for the return of one cent of the state sales tax to be divided among cities, villages, townships and schools, and to provide for the continuance of annual school grants.

(Proposal No. 3) Proposed Amendment to Article X of the State Constitution by Adding thereto a New Section to Stand as Section 23 Relative to Payments for Military Service in World War II.

Oscoda Seniors to Present "Girl Shy"

The Oscoda High School senior class will present the three-act comedy, "Girl Shy," in the Oscoda High School auditorium on Friday evening, November 8th.

The play revolves around the hilarious adventures of two college boys, one of whom is allergic to girls. One of the college "cuties" decides to do something about this allergy by taking the place of the cleaning woman, which would give her a chance to "work" on the shy student and it certainly does! The impression of the first meeting of boy and girl is about as unnoticeable as two planets crashing in mid-air. Parental interference adds to the comedy and mix up, and the poor bashful boy wishes he could just evaporate out of it all.

Male leads are played by Don Paul and George Graef, with Wanda VanWagner holding the enviable spot as feminine lead in the production. The cast is under the direction of Mrs. Christine Draeger of Lincoln.

Hereford Sale Outstanding Event

$49,660 Worth of Cattle Sold

The 2nd annual feeder cattle sale of the Northeastern Michigan Hereford Calf Association firmly established itself as an outstanding agricultural event at West Branch Thursday afternoon, October 24.

562 head of feeder cattle trotted through the sale ring at the beat of Col. Steve Panigay's gavel for a total of $49,660.69. The 562 cattle averaged 437 pounds in weight, grossed their owners $88.36 per head and sold at an average of $20.21 per cwt. The consignors have expressed pleasure with the increase demand for feeder cattle. Twenty-two more cattle were consigned to the sale this year than a year ago. They sold for $11.36 per head more this year than a year ago, and the average selling price was $4.61 per cwt. higher this year, all of which is encouraging to the Hereford feeder calf program in this part of the state.

The total 1946 consignment was made up of 215 head of steer calves with an average weight of 414 pounds and sold at $21.16 per cwt.; 255 heifer calves averaging 372 pounds in weights sold at $19.86 per cwt.; 41 yearling heifers averaging 655 pounds per head sold for $19.00 per cwt; while 51 yearling steers averaging 686 pounds sold for $19.71 per cwt.

The high ceiling pen of steer calves were consigned by Dallus Ford of Glennie and were purchased by Joseph Rhode of Grand Haven at $23.50 per cwt. The next three high selling pens of steer calves brought their consignors $22.50 per cwt. These lots were consigned by James P. Mielock of Whittemore, Hodgins Bros. of Lupton and the Fred W. Stork Ranch of Hale.

The top pen of heifer calves selling at $21.75 per cwt. were also consigned by Dallus Ford of Glennie and purchased by Clare Knickerbocker of Mt. Morris. The next three high selling pens of heifer calves brought $21.25 per cwt. These consisted of a consignment from C. T. Prescott of Prescott, Harry McDougall's consignment from Glennie; the third lot in this group were made up of three calves consigned by Frank Holshoe of Prescott, two by Arthur Beyerlein of West Branch, two by Jim Mielock of Whittemore and one by Dick Prescott of Tawas City.

The high selling pen of the entire sale was consigned by C. T. Prescott of Prescott and included eight deep bodied, smooth fleshed yearling steers which averaged 839 pounds and sold for $24.00 per cwt. This consignment was purchased by Frank Ho'shoe of West Branch for the Schalk and Webber Packing Plant of Ann Arbor.

Each consignor was given the privilege of selecting his most outstanding steer calf and exhibiting this individual Wednesday afternoon previous to the sale. The ten top calves in this particular show were sold as individuals during the sale Thursday afternoon. The top calf of the show consigned by Henry Schultzy of West Branch sold at $30.00 per cwt. to John Schultz of Onsted, Michigan.

Some fifteen hundred cattlemen from all sections of Michigan attended this 2nd annual sale which followed a consignors banquet the previous evening. C. V. Ballard, state county agent leader from Michigan State College, served as toastmaster for the evening. Mr. Ballard introduced cattlemen from various sections of Michigan who were attending this sale. An address of welcome was delivered by Milton Frosh, president of the West Branch Chamber of Commerce and the cattlemen's response was given by C. T. Prescott, president of the Hereford Calf Association.

G. A. Branaman from the College Animal Husbandry Department commented upon the cattle that were being offered at this 2nd annual sale and stated that members of the Northeastern Michigan Hereford Calf Association are definitely making rapid strides toward the better utilization of these northern cut over lands.

Karl T. Wright of the Farm Management Department, Michigan State College, encouraged the consignors in their present project and suggested that more adequate records should be made available so that their business might be more carefully studied and adjusted to meet the fluctuation in market demands, which occur from year to year.

Safeguard Vital Iosco County Records

Furnish Ample Room For County Business

Plans for the proposed new court house were prepared by Architect Joseph C. Goodyene of Bay City after a careful study was made of the county's necessary requirements by the Board of Supervisors and county officers.

For a number of years the board had been aware of the lack of space for the offices of the various departments, and the inadequate and obsolete condition of the vaults. Several years ago temporary offices for some of the departments were made in the basement, some were established at the Tawas City Hall and in other buildings in the two cities. Fire inspectors of the vaults disclosed that they were not only too small to accommodate all of the county records, but that they were not fireproof beyond a very limited period of fire.

Faced with the necessity of doing something about it, several years ago the Board of Supervisors established a building fund. About two years ago an architect was secured and plans were prepared for a new court house. To supplement the building fund a special levy of $2.00 per thousand assessed valuation will be needed.

NERVOUS OVER CONVICTIONS
WASHINGTON.—The war department isn't saying anything about it, but General Eisenhower and Field Marshal Montgomery, both now in Europe, got nervous over the results of the Nuernberg trials.

What they didn't like was the conviction of their opposite numbers in the German army, especially Field Marshals Jodl and Keitel, and Nazi Admiral Doenitz.

Eisenhower sent some rather strong though confidential representations back to the war department from Europe.

High-up military friends of the chief of staff point out that the Nuernberg precedent of convicting army-navy commanders for war guilt might easily boomerang against those in command of the American army and navy.

For instance, U. S. and Canadian armies have been conducting important maneuvers in the Arctic, "Operation Muskox," calculated to defend Canada and the U. S. from an Arctic circle invasion.

What worries Eisenhower and top military men is the idea that if we should get into war with Russia and lose, they could be tried and might be convicted on the grounds of instigating aggressive warfare.

Of course, the Muskox operation is defensive, and a long way from aggression, but a war-crimes court might twist it around.

NEW WAR PROGRAM
Although Hollywood strikes should keep movie mogul Donald Nelson busy, the former WPB chief is flying between Washington and Hollywood three or four times a month to work on a plan for quick remobilization of American industry in the event of another war.

Only announcement thus far is that Nelson has been asked by the President to consult him regarding which munitions plants should be kept in readiness for quick reconversion. Inside fact is that Nelson's activities have been far more extensive.

Administration leaders believe, however, that because of public impatience over continued war restrictions, it is best to censor public announcement of the remobilization preparedness program until after the elections.

The President probably will ask the next Congress for what might be termed a peacetime WPB, and will offer the top job to Nelson.

WANTS GOOD ADVISERS
Harry Truman has received a lot of criticism for not surrounding himself with higher type men in the White House. One reason of course is that Truman is genuinely fond of the poker-playing, joke-telling Missourians and Mississippians who are around him.

On the other hand, few except those on the inside know how hard Truman has tried to get others to join his staff. He begged Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr. to become assistant secretary of the navy. He urged Bob Nathan, former brain trustee for the War Production board, to become an economic adviser.

One of his most significant talks was with Isador Lubin, a White House secretary under Roosevelt. The talk indicates that Truman at times feels a sense of genuine loneliness.

In the course of the conversation, Lubin blurted: "Well, Mr. President, there's something I sort of miss around here."

"You mean," suggested the President, "that you miss Roosevelt?" "Yes," replied Lubin.

"Well, I miss him too," said Truman. From the tone of his voice you could tell that he very much meant it.

ARMY BANS BYRNES DISCUSSION
The White House order against public debate of Byrnes' foreign policy has now been extended to G.I.s. This is one aftermath of the Wallace-Byrnes feud, and is a reversal of the "free discussion" policy usually followed during the war.

"Since Secretary Byrnes' address is an expression of government policy," the army has just ruled, "discussion leaders will take an affirmative attitude toward the policy as presented and maintain discussion within the bounds outlined for this army talk, rather than lead a debate on the wisdom of our foreign policy."

LURES WINTER VISITORS . . . Miami relies on its sandy beaches and luxurious hotels as the main inducements for winter visitors. Added attractions are planned this season in connection with the resort's 50th anniversary year

'FUN IN THE SUN'

Miami Prepares Gala Fete For 50th Anniversary Year

MIAMI, FLA.—"Fun in the Sun" will be the general keynote as Miami, famed winter resort of the South, celebrates its 50th anniversary year this season.

With all wartime restrictions relaxed, the anniversary year will present Miami in all of its prewar brilliance with many added attractions. There are increased beach and park attractions, improved transportation facilities, more overseas trips available by air and sea to the Caribbean countries, Central and South America, and the prospect of going abroad by car once the Key West-Havana ferry opens.

Although the influx of visitors starts in the early fall months, the anniversary fete will not open officially until November 24.

Arrange Exhibition. Special festivities have been arranged for the first 10 days, highlighted by an exhibition in Bayfront park showing all the inventions and innovations science can provide to make the Miami of the future an even finer place for wholesome living. Focal point for visitors will be the neon-lighted sundial in Bayfront park, which will contain a billboard of attractions.

Miami's main lure for winter visitors is its luxurious hotels and endless miles of sandy beaches. Warm waters of the gulf stream and moderate temperatures permit bathing throughout the winter months.

Hotels of Miami and Miami Beach, now released by the army and navy after their wartime needs, will be available for guests. Numbering 160, the hotels have about 12,750 rooms available.

Sports Are Stressed. Catering to a carefree crowd, Miami will stress sports events on its fall and winter calendar. High school, college and professional gridiron contests lure the fall crowd. Culminating the football season will be the Orange Bowl game on New Year's Day. Demand for seats already exceeds the supply, the bowl accommodating only 38,000 spectators. The game itself, however, will be only one of the many attractions of the Orange Bowl festival.

Dates for horse and dog racing already have been set. The 120-day horse racing season will open at Tropical park December 2, continuing until January 16. Dates for Hialeah park are January 17 to March 4 while Gulfstream park will close the season, March 5 to April 19.

Number of Veterans Hits 17 Million Mark
WASHINGTON.—War veterans in the United States now number 17,499,000, it is revealed in a Veterans Administration survey.

Veterans of World War II outnumber all other veterans by a ratio of almost four to one. Figures now show 13,538,000 veterans of the last war.

Policemen Find Lion—Of Stuffed Variety
SAN ANTONIO, TEXAS.—A call to the police dispatcher reported: "There's a lion at large in the 1300 block on Broadway. Send an officer. Hurry!" The dispatcher himself, Officer Charles Weibacker, rushed to the scene. He found the lion. It was stuffed and was displayed on the lawn of a taxidermist.

RAGS TO RICHES . . . Hard-pressed for cash, Audrey Dice (left) and Bennett Rathbone, former WACs and now students at a Philadelphia school under the G.I. bill of rights, started making yarn dolls. The idea clicked and now they are in business, making 1,000 dolls a week.

Women Not Recognized as Veterans

WASHINGTON.—Former servicewomen complain that the old-fashioned public fails to regard them as war veterans.

Failure to gain recognition as veterans in competition for jobs is a major problem for women, a Veterans' administration survey discloses.

Best Future Is at Home, Rural County Tells Youth

NEW HOLSTEIN, WIS.—To prove to its youth that their best future lies at home, business, industry, private citizens and farmers of Calumet county have banded into a co-operative effort known as Interlakes Opportunities, Unlimited.

The tendency of rural areas to bewail the trek of young people to the cities but to offer no concrete steps designed to induce them to remain in their home communities led to organization of the new group.

Cite Local Opportunities. As its main objective, the group intends to prove to the young people that Calumet county is just as good a place to live as the big city, that it offers as many or more opportunities in business and industry and for professional advancement, that it provides more opportunities for relaxation and pleasure.

"It is our duty to encourage our young people to get an education and return here to live and work," declares E. A. Longenecker of New Holstein, chairman of the new organization.

Stress will be placed on agricultural advantages, according to Longenecker, who added, "We must point out the advantages of farming in this area, particularly to those youngsters already living on farms, to encourage them to enjoy the benefits of farm life."

Plan Organized Trips. To carry out its program, the organization will sponsor visits to outstanding farms, organized trips through industrial plants, talks by University of Wisconsin speakers in high schools of the county and various mass rallies.

Directing the organization's activities is an executive committee headed by Longenecker and containing representatives of all Calumet county communities. Subcommittees also have been recruited from all sections of the county.

Stubborn Indian Squaw Acquires $500,000 Estate
WASHINGTON.—Stubbornness pays—at least it did in the case of Con-hei-sen-ney, Oklahoma Indian grandmother, the Bureau of Indian Affairs admits.

Before she died 17 months ago at the age of 88, Con-hei-sen-ney had netted $500,000 as a result of her stubbornness. When she was younger, Con-hei-sen-ney, called "Grandma Tiger" by her friends, refused to take an allotment from the government. Officials finally became impatient and gave her four 40-acre tracts which did not have even an outlet to the highway. Later oil was found on three of the tracts.

The aged Indian squaw left her fortune to four descendants. Federal inheritance taxes will take about $125,000 of the $500,000 legacy.

'Crying Room' Ends Youngsters' Wails
ASHLAND, WIS.—Even crying can be handled scientifically, contends Mrs. Dave Mackie, who has installed a "crying room" in her home especially for the young children of her two married sons.

The crying room, she explains, is for the exclusive use of a small child who weeps, perhaps long and loud, for little or no reason. Babies, of course, are excepted.

When a child wails, Mrs. Mackie tells him: "It's all right for you to cry as long as you wish, but you must do so in the crying room. There you will be all by yourself and can stay as long as you wish. I will close the door and no one will disturb you. It will be lots of fun to cry all by yourself. Want to try it now?"

As a general rule, the wailing ceases immediately.

Streamliner Speeds Into City, Leaving $20 Bills in Wake
MADISONVILLE, TENN.—Hundreds of $20 bills fluttering from a speeding streamliner of the Louisville & Nashville railroad caused a mild sensation here.

About 50 high school boys and girls, who had joined regular hangers-on to watch the train speed by, led in the quest for the bills. Most of the bills blew along the track although some were found clinging to bushes.

The money, according to Postal Inspector R. C. Hornsby, was being sent from a Knoxville bank to a Madisonville bank. Suction from the speeding train drew the mail sack beneath car wheels and the currency packet burst open.

Although declining to give the exact amount in the package, the postal inspector said 70 per cent of the bills were recovered.

Justice Too Slow, Cows Can't Wait
COLUMBUS, OHIO.—Law or no law, milking time still is the most important time in the dairy farmer's life. In Morgan county, Ohio, the wheels of justice slowed down because a member of the grand jury went home to milk his cows. The jury had to be reconvened because the anxious farmer had left before the jurors could sign official court records of actions taken.

HELPS IN PLANNING
State aid to local airport planning is helping California cities toward full participation in the billion dollar federal airport construction plan. The state airport planning staff serves as nerve-center for exchange of information on the planning phase, airport standards, construction and regulations. Special allocations on a federal-state matching basis are expected to boost California airport construction another 10 to 13 million dollars within seven years.

Record Is Set By Paper Mills

Product Is Now Rolling Out At the Highest Rate in American History.

NEW YORK.—Exclusive of newsprint, paper and paper products now are rolling from American mills at the highest rate in history, and the gap between supply and demand in most categories may be closed by the end of the year. One of the major shortages, according to industry leaders, appeared to be in paper for the book and magazine trade.

Chief difficulty in this division was not to determine supply — estimated to be about 400,000 tons greater this year than last—but to guess the future demand, since the recent hike in OPA wood pulp ceiling prices of about 10 per cent could work two ways:

Production might be spurred by attracting more pulpwood from farm woodlots and adding profit incentive at the mill level.

Cost May Go Higher. But, at the same time, the cost of paper might go to a point where publishers would drop some of their marginal publications and print fewer books.

Total U. S. production of paper and paperboard in August was estimated at 1,715,710 tons by Dr. Louis T. Stevenson, economist for American Paper and Pulp association. Daily average production was running about 17 per cent ahead of last year.

The industry entered 1946 hoping to produce at a rate of about 18 million tons domestically this year. Present production is at a rate of more than 20 million tons a year.

Estimates for 1946 have been revised as follows: Domestic production, 18,620,000 tons; imports, 3,100,000 tons; exports, 475,000 tons; giving American consumers 21,245,000 tons of paper and paper products.

The gap between supply and demand has been steadily narrowed. One industry source estimated that at the end of June supply was running one million tons behind demand, but the association believes that the gap should be "whittled down to reasonable dimensions by the end of this year."

Future Trouble Spots. There are, however, several future trouble spots. Swedish pulp, on which American mills have depended in the past to fill the gap between American production and American needs, has practically stopped coming in, and the OPA price rise of 10 per cent—designed to meet the 10 per cent increase in the value of the Canadian dollar—fell short of meeting a 14 per cent hike in the value of the Swedish krona.

The Swedes shipped about 200,000 tons to the United States so far this year, and Finland 69,000 tons. If the price incentive boosts total domestic production by 6 per cent, loss of the Swedish shipments would be offset.

Little more is expected from Sweden because, American mill owners pointed out, the Swedes can sell all their pulp in European and South American markets at prices above the American ceiling.

Consumers of paper noted with satisfaction that several pulp mills being built in Canada are about ready to start production.

Catholics Are Translating Bible Into Modern 'American'
BOSTON.—First "American" translation of the Catholic Bible is under way in this country, complete with "phrases and spelling proper to ourselves rather than to the English," reports the Rev. Matthew Stapleton, former head of the American Catholic Biblical association, which is charged with the translation.

So far, the group of Catholic scholars has put the first five books of the Old Testament into modern "American" from the ancient Greek and Hebrew texts.

To preclude possible bafflement of Bible readers outside the United States, two other Old Testament translations into English are in progress in England.

Soybeans Are Free and 5 Cents to Take 'Em Away
FREDERICK, OKLA.—A grocery store ran this advertisement in a Frederick newspaper: "We can't pull rabbits out of a hat or change your home to a castle, but we can pay you five cents a can to come carry these durn soybeans away. A genuine five cent piece, U. S. standard mint, is taped to every can of these soybeans. We can't sell 'em and we can't give 'em away. So-o-o we will pay you five cents per can to come and get 'em."

Volcanic Eruption Destroys Principal Village of Island
SUVA, FIJI ISLANDS.—Volcanic eruptions have burned out the main village of Angaha, on the isolated Tonga island of Niuafoou 450 miles east of here.

There was no loss of life in the eruptions, but all government buildings, the wireless station, stores, sheds, missions and boats were destroyed. Volcanic activity was subsiding.

A daily radio feature interviews travelers, and not too interesting ones, on the Twentieth Century, a famous railroad train. We propose an extension to other trains; for instance, the 7:25 from Conk Hollow to Birdseed Hills:

Interviewer—This is the Conk Hollow 7:25, folks. Every afternoon at this time we board the old rattle-trap and interview the passengers. On this train today is Artemus Wiggins. What's your last name, Mr. Wiggins?

Passenger—Wiggins.
Interviewer—Well, well, that's very interesting. How long have you been Wiggins, Mr. Wiggins?

Passenger—Oh, ever since I can remember. My folks were Wiggins.

Interviewer (enthusiastically)—Is that so! That's exciting, yes indeed. And when did you first get into the oil business?

Passenger—I'm not in the oil business; those spots have always been on this suit.

Interviewer—Well, thank you, Mr. Wiggins for a very interesting moment in this day coach, and when you have next week try our free can of Mullett's Ruberoo. And now we have still another extraordinary person on this trip, a George Squiffey. What is your name, Mr. Squiffey?

Passenger—Squiffell.
Interviewer—A Squiffell on this train! Well, what do you know about that? Tell the radio audience what your business is, Carl.

Passenger—I just run around in day coaches.
Interviewer (beside himself)—Give him a hand, folks. Here is a man who runs around in day coaches. (Applause.) Why do you do this, Mr. Squiffell?

Passenger—Oh, somebody's always apt to come through with a microphone.
Interviewer—And you like to talk into microphones?

Passenger—I've often thought I would like it as a career.
Interviewer—You think this would be a better world, Mr. Squiffey, if more people talked into mikes on commuter trains?

Passenger—I heard Crosby and Hope started that way.
Interviewer—Thanks, Mr. Squiffey, for a very helpful little chat, which I am sure the great radio audience found most unique. Have a cake of soap! We have another interesting passenger here. He's lying here across two seats with his shoes off. What's your name?

Passenger—What's it to you?
Interviewer—Look! (He holds up the mike.)
Passenger—That's different! I am N. B. First—and get those initials N. B.!

Interviewer—Well! Well! Well! Well! Fancy meeting you in the third seat from the icewater tank! How long have you been doing this?
Passenger—Doing what?
Interviewer—Doing whatever you do for a living.

Passenger—I forgot, and, anyhow, somebody threw out all my calendars. But I met all challengers. Yes, sir, I fought 'em all.
Interviewer—That's funny; I didn't know you were a fighter. I thought you were a cornborer.

Passenger—No, I started out in that line but found there were too many borers and not enough corn. I wrote Dorothy Dix and she advised me to become a fighter. So the next morning I became the greatest battler the world had ever seen. Those initials explain everything.
Interviewer—What does N. B. stand for?
Passenger—Napoleon Bonaparte.

CAN YOU REMEMBER—
Away back when you needed a sharp knife at dinner?
A new car couldn't raise an eyebrow?
A friendly butcher overfed your dog?
Two cakes of soap floated in your bath?
A waiter smiled before he pocketed a tip?

Thoughts on Beef
I never saw a purple cow —
At least I cannot place it;
But this I'll promise, anyhow—
If I see one, I'll chase it!

I never saw a purple cow—
With beef I'm such a Jonah
That if I see one anyhow
Some racketeer will ownah.

HOW TO BUY A USED CAR

—as suggested by "Automotive News,"
the newspaper of the industry

1 Your best guarantee of a good buy is a good dealer. But today's used cars are often offered by "curbstone operators," or so-called "private parties." Then it's wise to get off alone with the car. You can judge general appearance... try lights, brakes, wiper, horn. Allow $10 for repairing a broken window, $5 for a dent. Always...

2 Shine your flashlight on the engine. Extra dirty? This shows many miles of poor care. Rust streaks or fresh oil on the block may mean cracks—around plugs, it shows oil pumping. And your flashlight will spot motor numbers—show at once if they match the title. Next...

3 Turn beam along frame and body—kinks suggest "Rebuilt wreck." Grease on running gear means wear. Look for worn pedals, shabby upholstery, dirt. Lift rubber around windshield! See yellow or green paint? Look out! May be an ex-taxi!

4 In car or camp, home or office, always rely on "Eveready" flashlight batteries for "a longer life of brighter light." They are the largest-selling flashlight batteries in the world—and justly so! Ask for "Eveready" flashlight batteries by name. Their extra life and light cost no more!

Time to plant one more crop of cheer

MILLIONS of folks—here and abroad—owe the cheerful sight of food on the table to you, Mr. Farmer!

Through long, hard work, you've helped keep us the best fed country in the world—while helping to feed many of the world's hungry.

Now we need your help to plant another important crop—one more crop of cheer for our servicemen.

Today, thousands of our boys, scattered over half the earth, are hungry for a touch of home. For a sight of their own people, the music of their own songs, the laughter of their own jokes.

You treat them to all these things when you give to the USO. Every dollar you give helps prevent another of yesterday's heroes from becoming one of today's "forgotten men." By sending USO entertainers to keep up their morale... by giving them a friendly home away from home through USO Clubs... by bringing entertainment to those in hospitals—for whom the war hasn't ended—to help them fight their way back to health.

You help keep America close to millions of homesick GI's... and keep them close to America. It's a job we all want to pitch in on. Lend a generous hand—won't you? Let's give the boys a big crop of cheer

Keep it up... USO Don't let them down!

Sweet Potatoes With Citrus Flavor

Winter Vegetables

The passing of summer is no good reason to neglect the serving of vegetables. We all need their precious vitamins and minerals in cooler weather and there are plenty of the winter variety to take their rightful place in our menus.

The yellow vegetables: carrots, turnips and squash are a good source of vitamin A, necessary for resisting infection, and essential for the health of eyes, ear, nose and throat. Serve these vegetables frequently and test your ingenuity by trying new ways with them.

Green vegetables aplenty can be found, too, for cabbage, green pepper, lettuce, etc. are abundant. And don't forget the canned variety, for canning cupboards are undoubtedly well-stocked with summer's produce. Use them up during the winter so you have space and jars for next year's produce.

Beets can be popular with your family if you prepare with flavor.

Stuffed Beets.

(Serves 6)
6 medium-sized beets
¼ cup diced bacon or drippings
¼ cup onion, chopped
1 tablespoon chili sauce
1 teaspoon lemon juice
½ cup cottage cheese
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon pepper

Boil whole beets about 40 minutes or until almost tender. Rub off skin under cold water. Scoop out centers, then sprinkle sides of beet with a little salt. Chop the removed pulp fine, add remaining ingredients. Fill beet shells with this mixture. Place in a dish containing a small amount of hot water and bake in a moderate (375 degrees) oven until browned, about 30 minutes.

Any type of cabbage may be used in the following sweet-sour recipe. Use all the seasonings listed for that mouth-watering flavor.

Sweet-Sour Cabbage.

(Serves 6)
4 to 6 cups cabbage, shredded
8 strips of bacon, diced
1 tablespoon brown sugar
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
¼ teaspoon paprika
¼ teaspoon dry mustard
3 tablespoons vinegar
1 tablespoon water

Boil cabbage until tender, drain and keep hot. Cook bacon until crisp, then add combined dry ingredients to it. Add vinegar and water and heat to boiling point. Pour over hot, cooked cabbage and serve at once.

Parsnip Patties.

(Makes 8)
4 cups pared, cored, thinly sliced parsnips
½ cup sliced onions
1¾ teaspoons salt
1¼ cups boiling water
¼ cup minced parsley
1 egg, beaten
½ cup coarse bread crumbs
Finely sifted bread crumbs
2 tablespoons fat or oil

Tips on Vegetable Dishes

When broiling vegetables, brush them with salad oil or melted butter to make them brown more evenly.

To make delicious fried potatoes, melt enough cooking oil or bacon drippings in a pan. Add sliced potatoes which have been cooked for 10 minutes, then peeled, and chopped onions. Let potatoes brown before turning them with a spatula.

Cook the parsnips with the onions and salt in boiling water for 15 minutes or until tender. Drain and mash well. Add parsley, egg, coarse bread crumbs. Chill well and form into patties. Roll in finely sifted bread crumbs and saute on both sides in fat until golden brown. Sprinkle with paprika, garnish with parsley and serve as a luncheon dish or as a side dish with meat.

Sweet potatoes are one item you'll be serving often in the next few months. I'll guarantee you'll like this way of preparing them.

Orange Sweet Potatoes

(Serves 4 to 6)
6 medium-sized sweet potatoes
1 cup orange juice
2 teaspoons grated orange rind
1 tablespoon cornstarch
3 tablespoons melted butter or substitute
½ cup brown sugar
½ cup granulated sugar
¼ teaspoon salt

Cook potatoes in their jackets until tender. Remove skins. Meanwhile, combine remaining ingredients in a saucepan and cook, stirring until thickened. Arrange sweet potatoes, either whole or cut in lengthwise slices, in a baking dish. Pour sauce over them. Cover and bake in a moderate (350 degrees) oven for 20 minutes. Uncover and bake 15 minutes longer. Cut-up pieces of marshmallow may be sprinkled over the potatoes during the last 15 minutes of baking.

*Squash De Luxe.

(Serves 6 to 8)
1 medium-sized squash
1 medium onion, minced
¼ cup butter or substitute
2 tablespoons granulated sugar
2 teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
¼ teaspoon mixed, powdered herbs
Rich milk, scalded
Melted butter or drippings

Cut squash into small pieces. Remove seeds and stringy portion. Place in steamer or colander over boiling water and cook on top of range for about 45 minutes or until tender. Scoop squash from shell, leaving each shell intact. Mash squash thoroughly, then cook onion until clear in butter, add to squash with the next four ingredients. Add enough milk, if necessary to make a fluffy mixture. Pile lightly into shell sections. Brush with melted fat and broil for 10 minutes, or until squash is browned.

Turnips with Peas.

(Serves 6)
3 cups hot, diced cooked turnips
2½ cups canned peas
¼ cup rich milk
4 tablespoons canned, diced pimiento
¼ teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons butter or substitute
Combine turnips with other ingredients in order given. Place in a saucepan and heat thoroughly before serving.

LYNN SAYS:

Unless you have your own vegetables, choose those you buy with extreme care. Look for freshness, since most vegetables lose their crispness and flavor as soon as they are picked.

When using frozen vegetables, it's best not to let them defrost before cooking as they deteriorate rapidly after thawing. Experts say they should be placed in boiling water in their frozen form.

MEAT ON WAY BACK . . . Buyers for major meat packing firms sit on pen fence rails at Kansas City livestock market as they bid for first control-free cattle since OPA restrictions were re-imposed. Early bids showed increase of $5 over OPA ceiling prices. Other stockyards report similar reaction to the lifting of meat ceiling prices, with little relief found in the cities in the first days of decontrol.

DREAMBOAT AND RECORD-MAKING CREW . . . The crew of the Pacusan Dreamboat which flew from Paris to Westover field, Mass., in 12 hours and 25 minutes, more than two hours faster than the record claimed by a commercial plane last year. Due to the splendid co-operation of the parents, the lunch the Senior class served on Tuesday at the Community building, was a success. The money taken in is to help defray the expenses of the graduating class. The Seniors extend thanks to their parents.

Chicken thieves have been visiting at some of the farmer's homes in this vicinity. Someone evidently wanted chicken dinners without paying for them.

"Come masked to the show Thursday night and you get in free," so says the Chamber of Commerce, who sponsored the show. Prizes were given for the best costumes, worst costume and the one doing the best stunt.

The 500 club met at Margie McClellan's home last Thursday. First prize went to Marion Love, second to Priscella Salisbury, third to Eunice Salisbury and consolation to Blanche Wagner.

Mr. and Mrs. Wiley Streeter are building a new home on their farm, north and west of town.

The Senior class had their graduation photos taken last week. There are over thirty in the Senior class and we are hoping that all of these will graduate.

It isn't every year that one can go out in the garden and pick ripe strawberries on the 30th of October, but such is the case this year. A row of Minnesota 1166 everbearers on Hugh Slosser's lot has nice berries on them along with plenty of blossoms.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Folcik, of Flint were recent visitors at the Kenneth Salisbury home. Mrs. Folcik is a sister to Mrs. Salisbury. Mr. Folcik was recently discharged from the service.

Tangerine Orange
The tangerine is not a hybrid like the citrange, tangelo, etc., but is a species of mandarin orange, originating in southeastern Asia. This small, flattened, seep-colored orange, sometimes called the kid-glove orange, appears to have been carried by the Arabs to southwestern Asia, thence to southern Europe and northern Africa. Its name is derived from Tangier, Morocco, across the strait from Gibraltar. In this country it was introduced by Colonel Dancy in 1872, at his plantation, Buena Vista, Florida.

Trans-Continental Line
The first telephone line between New York and San Francisco was completed in 1915.

Hemlock Road ANNOUNCEMENT PARTY

At a 9:30 dinner party Saturday evening, October 26, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Van Sickle announced the engagement of their daughter, June E. to Nelson F. Bean, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bean of East Tawas. The wedding date is December 18.
Those who attended were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Behn, Bud McKeen, Mr. and Mrs. George Gifford of East Tawas, Mrs. Clara Smith and son, Harvey McIvor, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Binder and Charles and Robert. A turkey dinner was served the guests.

Mrs. Will Herriman and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Pfahl and daughter, Marilyn, were at Tawas City Wednesday of last week.
Mr. and Mrs. Charles Brown were at Standish and West Branch last week Thursday.

The party put on by Greenwood Grange Friday night at the townhall was enjoyed by all. Thanks to Miss Green and Miss Lintys for the music and Mr. Finley for his wonderful talk.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Brown called on Mr. and Mrs. Harry Van Patten at Lupton, Sunday. Glad to see Harry look so good. He says he expects to set up in bed in two weeks. His brother, Willard, Elmer Bradley and Ralph Van Patten were also callers.
Mrs. Clara Smith and son, Harvey McIvor, spent Sunday at Tawas City with Mr. and Mrs. Will Brown.

Radar Equipment
All radar equipment employs the same principle; it sends out radio waves which are reflected back to the sender if they encounter a sufficiently dense object, just as the light of a searchlight beam on encountering an aircraft may be reflected back to an observer. The term "radar," however, covers a wide variety of gear designed for different tasks and differing strikingly in details. Only the microwave types, introduced since 1942, are of interest to the meteorologist.

Anthracite Producers
Although Pennsylvania is the largest producer of hard coal, anthracite, semi-anthracite or both are also found in Arkansas in the Denning-Coal Hill district (Franklin-Johnson counties) and in Pope and Logan counties; in Colorado in the Crested-Butte district (Gunnison county); New Mexico—Santa Fe county; Utah—Washington county; Virginia—Montgomery and Pulaski counties; Washington—Lewis county.

Reflects Color
A new textile material called Glame picks up and reflects colored light. It already has found application in the theater and will be available soon for home use.

Plywood Manufacture
Although the principle of making plywood was known to the ancients, and cabinet makers glued wood together for artistic effect, the first commercial factories to produce plywood were erected in Russia in the 1880s. Since that date factories have been built all over the world to make plywood.

Sewerage System
In 1942 about 70.9 million persons, or 87 per cent of the total urban population of the country, were provided with some kind of sewerage and there were 5,600 treatment plants with an estimated connected population of 42 million, or about 60 per cent of the population served by sewer systems.

Mink-Dyed Muskrat
The fur designated as "mink-mink," popular in the manufacture of ladies' coats, is mink-dyed muskrat (musquish) fur.

Liquefied Gases
Production and use of liquefied petroleum gases has tripled during the last two years.

The last lap is the hardest!

You've probably figured your present car won't have to last much longer.

We hope you're right. For our part, we're doing our best to get those grand new Packards to our customers.

You know the situation

But, like every other motor car manufacturer, Packard is still struggling with parts and materials shortages.

This year, the industry as a whole has been able to build only 44% of its output for the same period in 1941.

Packard has done better than that, but we'd like to put in a word of caution:
It may be some time yet before you get behind the wheel of your new car.

Don't take a chance!

Make sure your present car keeps rolling. Test your car with this easy quiz.

If you find any of these symptoms, bring your car in for a quick check-up.

Lots of cars are lasting longer and running better because our expert mechanics are trained to nip trouble before it takes hold!

WINTERIZE NOW! These days, it's doubly important to beat winter to the punch. Bring your car in early for a thorough check-up of your battery, electrical system, and cooling system—as well as pre-winter lubrication and engine tune-up. The last-minute rush will be terrific—and the first cold snap may damage hard-to-get parts!
P.S. Fenders, doors, running boards—in fact, all body parts are scarce. Don't let rust eat them away. Our protective treatment will add to your car's life, appearance and value.

This home quiz can help you catch little troubles before they become big ones!

1. ENGINE: Is smoke coming out of the exhaust? Are you using more oil than you used to? If "Yes," better have your piston rings looked at.

OK Needs Attention

2. CLUTCH: Can you push the pedal down 1" to 1½" before the clutch starts to release? If the distance is less than that, better have it adjusted.

OK Needs Attention

3. STEERING: Measure amount of "free play" from "A" to "B" and from "A" to "C." Two inches or more indicates too much lost motion before wheels begin to turn.

OK Needs Attention

4. BRAKES: Does your brake pedal travel more than one inch before any braking is felt—and at least one inch of pedal travel left after a full stop in 30 feet at 20 m.p.h.? If not, police will say they are unsafe.

Conservation NOTES---

While ordinary citizens are reveling in the mild, still days of Indian summer, duck hunters wait impatiently for the stormy weather that will give them good shooting. Since the first heavy flights of diving ducks were observed on Lake Erie October 12, good numbers of ducks have been reported rafted there and in Saginaw Bay. The weather has been so mild and clear, however, that not even hunters in sneak boats have been able to score respectable kills. If most of the season continues mild, hunters expect flights will extend well past the last day of shooting, November 18.

Very small flights of blue and snow geese, the species that may be taken legally in Michigan this year, were observed October 17-20 by conservation department game men, but it appears none lingered to furnish shooting on the state's marshes. The time of further blue and snow geese flights, if any, is unpredictable, but the protected Canadas are expected to begin flying in a week or two.

Though all others are reported to have taken a dozen and a half deer since the season opened October 1, the Michigan Bow Hunter's association has no claimants for its $10. bonus. The $10 reward is to be paid to the owner of any enclosed farmland on which an archer kills a deer. Archery deer kills have been reported to the conservation department from Allegan, St. Helen, Mt. Pleasant and Drummond Island, and the archer's take to date also includes one bear and one fox.

An art gum eraser has been recommended for rubbing the fine rowny feathers from a wild duck without breaking the skin.

Less than three per cent of the state's inland lake shoreline and less than seven per cent of the state's Great Lakes shoreline is now controlled by the conservation department for public use, and much of this is of such a character that the usable frontage available to the public still is less than adequate.

Most of the state's choice frontage has been bought piece by piece in small parcels—105 miles of it in 70 state parks and 35 miles is in public fishing sites. Frontage that boosts the state's total to a sizable figure is largely of such low value it once was let go to the state for unpaid taxes.

Michigan's Great Lakes shoreline is 3,028 miles, including 800 miles on islands. State frontage totals 200 miles, or 5.5 per cent. Much of the state's frontage, however is on the islands, and a good deal of the mainland shore it holds is tax-reverted land. Accurate shoreline surveys of the state's 11,000 inland lakes (8,000 of the named) are not available, but their total frontage is estimated at 20,000 miles. Of this the conservation department controls 470 miles for public use, in state parks, public fishing sites, state forests, state game areas and undelimited lands. State ownership is 2.35 per cent of the total, and as with Great Lakes frontage, much of it is of low value for resort purposes.

Cleaner Tips

It's a wise and economic house-keeper who takes care of her vacuum cleaner. An hour at a stretch is a good working stint for the electric motor in your cleaner. At the end of this period rest it for 10 or 15 minutes. Never run your cleaner over pins, nails, hairpins, paper clips or any other hard object that can unbalance the fan or damage the main casing.

Appetite Killer

For stout persons who wish to lose weight, physicians now have a drug which is a remarkable appetite killer. The medicine is not sold to the public and can be used only under direction of a physician.

Saginaw Station is Northern Headquarters

It was announced by Commander G. M. Winne that the U. S. Navy Recruiting Station at Saginaw will be the headquarters for Northern Michigan.

Joseph Ricca, CTC., USN, will be in charge of the station. Chief Ricca, will be assisted by R. D. Massey, S F1-c who will cover the northern area once a month with a one day stop at Cadillac, Traverse City, Alpena, Rogers City and Cheboygan, to interview and accept applications for enlistments in the Regular Navy, V-6 inactive Reserve, and V-10 inactive reserve for Ex-Waves.

The peacetime Regular Navy today offers a young man more opportunities than ever before in history. More than fifty service schools are open to the young man with ambition. Terms of enlistment are for four, or six years, and minority cruise for 17 year olds. Age limits to 30 years inclusive.

Applicants under 21 years of age must bring their parents, (father if living; otherwise mother, or in cases of divorce the parent having their custody) with them when they sign up for the Navy.

Household Hints

When using the food grinder for nuts, raisins, glazed fruits, add a little flour. This keeps them from sticking in the grinder.

A felt blackboard eraser will do a dandy job of cleaning the top of a kitchen range.

Never use metal mesh or wire scrapers to clean enamelware utensils as they discolor, scratch, or may even chip the enamel.

Place breaded chops or cutlets in the refrigerator for several hours before they are cooked. They will hold the crumbs better.

When using the oven, catch a piece of paper in the top edge of closed door, letting it extend out. As you go about your kitchen work, that little flag will remind you there's something cooking in the oven. Don't worry, the paper won't catch on fire.

Before baking your next macaroni and cheese casserole, add two tablespoonfuls of your favorite pickle relish. Gives it extra zip and flavor you will like.

Steel knives left in hot water may lose their handles.

DESERT ROSE By ROLLIN BROWN

Deputy sheriff Jim Doane sets out to track down a gang of train robbers. After meeting Dolores Alvaro and Monte Garcia he resigns his office and goes to see Star La Rue. Jim forces La Rue to deed over the ranch he has stolen from Dolores' father.

CHAPTER IX

The shadow of the westerly wall had covered the floor of the tiny pass and climbed inch by inch up the easterly, giving the side wall formation a still more fantastic appearance. Monte sighed, turning his head. Doane bent over him.

A count of twenty riders stood in the background leaning forward in saddles, legs hooked up, or standing about in groups, to ease saddle-weariness. Little curls of smoke lifted from quiet cigarettes.

"But, Doane, my friend," it would seem I have one little thing to confess to you," Monte continued, smiling slowly. "Las' night when I go to my house, you know, for horse an' guns, it takes me a long while—do you remember? Thees things also explain the real reason why I am so willing to ride at your side.

"You see? At the time I think thees young lady have one ver', ver' hard time being in Maxmilla City, committing one robbery an' shooting, while at the same time she sits talking so peaceful with my mothaire. Mos' impos-ee-bull!"

"You said a mouthful, Garcia!" Flick had already explained that if Doane and Monte had waited in Sand Wells a bit longer the night before they would have had his second telegram with full details. La Rue, meeting them in the pass, had most logically thought his only course was to shoot a way through.

"Y'see, this was to have been another one of the girl's crimes," Flick had continued his explanation. "Uh-huh! Yeh, that's just what it was to have been! But the whole thing sorta worked out like this:

"Them four one-time cowhands of La Rue's—my first posse—come fannin' into Maxmilla City, reportin' the girl somewhere in the lead. So waitin' till along evenin'-time, La Rue in person simply opens up the bank. The five of 'em plunder the vaults an' start out. But right there luck ain't so good! Two men happen to be passin' in the street an' notice things. La Rue don't wait for nothin'. Starts shootin'! Drops one man; wounds the other.

La Rue's Wiles Finally Exposed

"I finally got the wounded man's story, an hour or so later. Then I sent down the second wire to Sand Wells. This man had seen La Rue with his own eyes! Recognized him beyond any doubt! An' then—why, dang me!—right at first I wouldn't hardly believe the story! Some things had to sorta click in my head first. That Sand Wells train robbery, f'instance. Inside job, I'd allus figured. I happened to remember that La Rue had been down in this country at the time, supposedly visitin' his ranch. Then them holdups in San Loreto, an' those four riders of his appearin' quite sudden-like on the spot to assist me. All that just warn't quite natural, when you got to lookin' at it close-like. But I got to considerin' all that hollerin' La Rue had put up about a girl bandit down here ridin' at the head of some of the old-time vaqueros from Tres Hermanos. La Rue yellin' his head off that she was gittin' his stock! Allus hintin' to me, also, that pretty soon she was goin' to get bold an' pull off somethin' big!

"Huh! She would! That's pretty good, eh? I've heard of men hidin' behind women's skirts, but never quite the way La Rue was workin' it." Flick laughed. "But this here girl ain't exactly wearin' skirts, leastwise not the way I seen her last. Danged if she didn't hand me about the hardest-rode chase of a long sheriffin' career. Fer a fac'!"

From the saddle pockets of the sorrel La Rue had hidden Flick had recovered the big end of the security and cash—stockholders' money—missing from the Maxmilla City

Cowman's Mortgage and Loan. The rest was found apportioned among La Rue's four men. The single rider who had turned back through the pass had met Flick's guns and surrendered. He alone of those men who had fought in the pass had gone unscathed by the battle.

Certain detail was attended to. The big posse Flick had commanded took to the saddle. The majority, cowmen from the upper country, chose to hit immediately back for Maxmilla City, to cover the distance while night lay cool over the desert strip. Only the sheriff, Doane, and a handful of riders—with the litter that bore Monte Garcia—rode on for Sand Wells.

Sunset flamed over the arid country as the little cavalcade rode for Sand Wells. Far west Doane could once again trace the high ranges of the Sierra Nueva, etched on a vivid sky. He remembered things that were past. He shuddered at the hell of thirst and the memory of a madman who was once himself, dragging himself toward those ranges over the desert floor.

"Doane, my friend!" Stiff and bandaged, Doane leaned from the saddle. The whitish spot of Monte's face lay below him in the litter, and Monte seemed to smile into the darkness in that curious, poker-faced way of his.

"Doane, my friend, las' night when I see her, Dolores Alvaro asks me to learn one thing from you. 'If possible.'"

"Yes?" said Doane, and wondered if he could have heard rightly. "Yes, my friend. An' it did sound to me as though you have once kissed thees young lady already," considered Monte. "Or did she say twice? I forget. But if it is true this came from the heart, then I was given orders. I was to learn—an' I have learned. You see? That was why I did not wish to speak too soon."

There was silence, except for the riding sounds of the little cavalcade—the soft creak of saddle leather, the muffled thud of hoofs, the tiny jingle of riders' spurs and bridle chains. Stars were low over the black desert. Monte coughed softly.

"But those orders—yes!" he whispered. "Doane, my friend, I am bringing you to her. She will be waiting. You... understand?"

Doane leaned low from his saddle, reached down and gently punched at the shoulder of his friend.

"I understand, Monte, old man. 'Sta bien!' And as he straightened up again, Monte saw that his lips were parted in a wide, almost arrogant smile. Doane lifted his hat and jammed it down again at a cocky angle over one eye, with the air of a man on his way to collect a million dollars.

Night had conquered the earth, and a great full moon rode high in the sparkling, starlit sky. Doane came through the front door of Monte's house and stood considering that old moon as he fumbled in his jacket for a cigarette. He was about to speak to that moon when... someone spoke to him.

"The moon and the stars... they are bright tonight, senior." He was not startled. He did not whirl. Strangely enough, he had expected this voice. Yet as it came to him, a warm, pulsing fire welled up within him. He turned slowly, and peered calmly through the whispering shadows of the porch. Her back against the wall of the house, her head held high and her hands pressed against the clapboards, stood Dolores Alvaro.

Jim Puts the Cuffs On Dolores' Wrists

Doane moved coolly toward her, his jaws set, his hand fumbling at a hip pocket. A foot from her, there was a glint of bright steel, and the girl found her right wrist locked in a handcuff.

"I arrest you in the name of the law!"

"But... senior... did not Monte tell you...?" "But nothing," said Doane, fighting back a smile. "Not so many moons ago, seniorita, I lay helpless in that bed where Monte lies now. Helpless, and you laughed in my face and told me I would never put these bracelets on your wrist. Well... they're on now."

"But something in his voice gave him away. Something that erased the look of hurt surprise and momentary fear from the face turned up to him in the soft moonlight, something that threw the girl's free hand around his neck and forced his lips down to her cheek.

"You... you have won, senior deputy Doane."

"Senior Jim, to you." His arm crushed her close, and their lips met. When at last he lifted his head and stepped back, Dolores laughingly held out to him her one unshackled hand.

"The other wrist, my caballero! You must not let your prisoner escape this time, you know."

"Don't worry. I won't." He snapped the empty cuff about his own left wrist. He turned on his heel, gave a savagely gentle little tug at the handcuff, jerking the girl toward the porch steps. "Come on!"

"But where, my Jim? Not to that jail? I would not like it there."

"Jail nothing," laughed Doane. "You're on your way to the nearest padre's. You'll like it there." They passed slowly down the winding, moonlit garden path, shoulder to shoulder. Now and then there was a gleam of steel from the tiny link that held them together. But neither seemed to notice it now; her hand lay in his, quite passive and willing and unresisting. Halfway to the gate, a voice halted them. It was Monte, at the window.

"My friend's," he said, "you will need the—what you call it—the best man, for the wedding, yes?"

They looked at Monte, at each other, and then walked through the gate.

PRIVATELY OWNED WAR PLANT OUT-PRODUCED OUR ENEMIES

DURING THE RUSH and roar of the war days there was no time for even a casual consideration of what the American economic system of free enterprise was accomplishing in that world conflict. The full story of that tremendous effort probably never will be known. At least it will not be known in the lifetimes of those on the farms, who produced the food for those on the fighting fronts and the factories; of those in the factories, who gave to the Allied armies the equipment of war, or to those valiant men who utilized that equipment on the far-flung battlefronts. If it were all expressed in total figures they would be so great none could comprehend their significance.

I realized something of what our free competitive system of privately owned industry meant to all of us when looking at the war production record of but one concern. It was by no means the largest of American industrial institutions. The American Car and Foundry company is not a name that is familiar to any large percentage of the American people. Its capital, its organization, its workers and its plants were all enlisted in the Allied cause. War equipment of many varieties flowed from those plants, financed by private capital; directed by men trained in a highly competitive field; manned by employees receiving far higher wages than paid in any other country in the world.

The thousands of tanks, of many sizes and types, produced in its plants were used by every Allied army on every battlefront. They helped to drive the German army backward across Russia. They helped to drive the Japs out of Burma, the Philippines, China and the islands of the Pacific. They were used by the armies of Eisenhower, Montgomery, Clark and other commanding generals in the campaigns in Egypt, through North Africa, the length of Italy and in the final advance across Europe.

Those privately owned, competently operated plants produced for the war effort throughout the world by all Allied nations, bulldozers, ships, hospital trains, movable power plants for Russia, valves that made the production of penicillin possible, freight cars, mats for air fields and many other war necessities, in addition to thousands of tanks.

The report I read was a vivid picture of the activities of but one of the thousands of privately owned plants, operating under our free competitive system, that made defeat of those enemies of civilization possible. Such concerns—their capital, their organizations, with a vast fund of technological experience developed in a highly competitive field, their machines and trained employees—were all at the command of the government when war came. They met every demand for production. They would, and did, do what the government-owned and operated plants of other nations could not, and did not, accomplish. They did these things while paying to free labor a wage that was from two to several times the wages paid in government-operated plants in other countries. It was the open competition of our free enterprise economic system, as compared with the cumbersome, inexperienced, dead-weighted system of state socialist countries that provided the armies of darkness, the legions of Germany and Japan, that made Allied victory possible.

Some, who class themselves as Americans, proposed to change our free enterprise system and substitute for it the state socialism that led the enemies of our civilization to unconditional surrender.

A NEW UNION has been organized, and is growing rapidly. Its organizers term it a union of tool owners, as distinguished from the unions of tool users. Its membership consists of the small stockholders of American industry, of which there are more than 20 millions. To the politician they represent fully twice as many votes as the organized tool users do. The purpose of the tool owners is to see that they, as the providers of the tools of industry, get a square deal in the matter of legislation.

FOR AN UNDERSTANDABLE interpretation of the present day complex problems of government we should have a revival of those country store forums of grandfather's day.

RUSSIA, and the American fellow travelers, ask that we lay off until Russia has recovered from World War II.

IF NOT FOR ALL keep your sunny disposition for those you like best.

PROTECT YOUR FUTURE

AFTER watching the scramble for world series seats and hearing of the record demand for every game that teams like Army, Michigan and Notre Dame play, one begins to wonder how many over-eager fans are turned away in the course of a year.

Grantland Rice

The waste in the matter of spectators runs far into the millions. In fact, it will surpass many hundreds of millions, since on certain big occasions far more people are turned away than the number of those admitted.

The Red Sox office in Boston told me that, with room enough, the Boston seat sale for the World Series would have passed the 500,000 mark. This means that about 80 per cent of the ticket applicants were turned away.

Army feels confident that it could have played before more than 250,000 at Ann Arbor, if Michigan had a 250,000 stadium, and just as certain it could play before close to a million in the Notre Dame game.

Unfortunately, when earlier stands were built no one saw the possibilities of any such public demand. Certainly New York didn't, where there is no such bowl as so many other cities have.

Los Angeles can handle 103,000 at her Municipal stadium, with Pasadena only a few miles away, able to put away over 90,000. With Santa Anita and Hollywood set for racing, Los Angeles is well in front so far as accommodations for the human frame are concerned. Philadelphia and Chicago have 100,000 plants at the Sesqui-centennial stadium and Soldier field.

New York's Big Parks

But their ball parks are too meager, along with so many other cities.

The Yankees have the only ball park that can seat 70,000 fans. Polo grounds and Briggs stadium are about on a par at 58,000. Outside of these places, few ball parks can seat more than 35,000 with any comfort. Public interest in sport, almost every variety of sport, has grown far beyond seating or even standing space. They can handle far bigger crowds in England and Scotland because hillsides often are used. In the matter of football or baseball, it is difficult to build stadiums that could handle more than 110,000 or possibly 125,000 spectators.

When crowds reach or pass these marks, too many spectators are too far away from the scene of conflict or contest. But there is vast room for improving conditions, where space too often is much too limited. The Michigan stadium at Ann Arbor leads all strictly college facilities with room for slightly over 86,000 spectators. With over 100,000 applications for the Army-Michigan game, you can see how inadequate this is.

Just what will be done about the situation is a story for the future, with lack of space and also lack of building material. But many an owner or promoter has wasted many a sigh in thinking of all the lost gold from so many millions crowded out.

Too Much Baseball

There was a good deal of talk, during the recent series, about how baseball is extending its playing season deep into football's brief weeks. Then too, there's the matter of traveling.

We were wondering what would happen in the future when Los Angeles or San Francisco had to face Boston or Brooklyn.

A world series that rolls back and forth from ocean to ocean could be much worse than this shift from St. Louis to Boston and back.

The Mississippi isn't nearly as far away from the Atlantic ocean as the Pacific ocean is.

The main fact is that baseball is crowding much too far into the football season.

Naturally, baseball magnates can't see it that way. They have failed to realize that football is now as much of a major sport as baseball ever was, or ever will be.

If a series happens to run into a day or two of rain, those who follow both baseball and football see their first football game around midseason. This doesn't happen to make any sense. Baseball gets its start back in February. It has at least a six months' span. Football only asks for two and a half months.

Football Rankings

The majority of football fans agree that Texas university belongs on top, or close to the top of the heap, as far as this season goes.

Army and Notre Dame are ranked close alongside, with Michigan in fourth place.

It remains to be seen what Michigan will do in its remaining games. Also more than a trifle of Army's future depends on Doc Blanchard's condition.

people during the war and pointed out that cattlemen have little to worry about regarding the demand for their product providing they continue to produce high quality material such as was offered in the Hereford calf sale. Mr. Figy pointed out that agriculture is definitely changing at a rapid pace and that Northeastern Michigan is changing at this same rate by producing feeder calves of high quality and high efficiency.

"Agriculture will never get back to normal as long as government controls continue and capacity farm production can only be achieved under a policy of free action for farmers," stated Mr. Figy.

A Big Vote of Confidence for Senator Vandenberg

We believe that the re-election of Senator Vandenberg presents a challenge to the people of Michigan. The Senator has taken the voice of our State into the highest councils of domestic affairs and into the peace deliberations of the world. He has given our State a prominence and an influence in world events that is unequalled in our history. His re-election becomes a matter of State pride.

We are proud of Arthur H. Vandenberg. We are proud that he comes from Michigan. He should be re-elected to the U. S. Senate with an extra big vote of confidence.

And remember this — no matter how heavy his responsibilities around the world, he has never failed you and our home State when Michigan interests have been at stake in Washington.

Let's get out and vote on Nov. 5. Let's "tell the world" that we support our Senior Senator from Michigan.

This message is published in behalf of 100,000 citizens from all 83 Counties of Michigan who placed Senator Vandenberg in nomination in June.

Re-elect SENATOR VANDENBERG
