If Harry S. Truman were right, then possibility of war with Russia was less than many Americans imagined. In a "surprise" statement during an unheralded appearance at a luncheon in Kansas City, President Truman declared bluntly that "certain leaders" in Russia "are exceedingly anxious to reach an agreement with the United States to end the cold war."

THEN THE PRESIDENT lashed out with an accusation that the Soviets have violated "sacred" agreements and said their government "has a system of morals that are not moral."

Deliberately or not, President Truman was baring some closeted secrets when he said during that speech that the Russians had not kept important agreements made at Yalta and Potsdam. By that statement, the President was conceding charges of long duration that certain commitments were made at these two parleys with the Russians which were not generally known, and results of which led to accusations that American diplomacy had failed miserably in negotiations with Russia's Josef

Public Health Bill Faces Tough Battle in Congress

By BAUKHAGE News Analyst and Commentator.

WASHINGTON.—The dim roar of an approaching battle in congress is being heard over the horizon. The struggle will concern S-1320, the national health insurance and public health bill.

This measure was opposed in the last session by an organization formed by the American Medical association which turned out to be, in terms of dollars spent, the biggest lobby in Washington, and that is a

Why does the medical association oppose the bill? Supporters of the legislation say because the majority of the doctors, like the majority of the people in the country don't understand it. Many doctors think it would foul up their practice of medicine with politics. Many also say it would destroy normal patient-physician relations because the patient would have to take what medical treatment he could get on an assembly-line basis. This latter assumption is based on a misapprehension of what is actually in the bill which I'll mention later.

The former charge is a prediction and can't be answered categorically. I can understand it. When I was in college, I got a summer job on the Chautauqua daily. Chautauqua is a pretty big summer community, and health is important. A young medical student friend of mine whose father had a pull got the job of inspecting cowbarns of farmers supplying milk to Chautauqua. I made the rounds with him once. He examined the bovine living conditions thoroughly and some were pretty vile. He made notes and put them in a report recommending that purchases from a particular farmer be suspended until the barns were cleaned up.

What happened? He got a sharp call-down from his superior. After that, inspection consisted in opening cow-barn doors, holding the nose, and looking the other way.

That happened many years ago, and I have heard that Chautauqua county is noted for its model dairies. But there is always a lurking suspicion that when a politician puts his finger in the pie it turns sour.

The only specific answer to this charge of politics that I have discovered is one offered in a pamphlet gotten out by the Federation of Women's Clubs which says: "the plan allows for the representation of the people paying for it."

Perhaps a better answer lies in the fact that the American Federation of Labor and the CIO, both of whose leaders know just about as much about how politically-controlled institutions operate as any organization heads in the country, favor the bill. It has been supported by many individual doctors and by the Physicians Forum, and the Committee of Physicians for the Improvement of Medical Care.

But what is "it," this national health insurance bill? Are you familiar with its purpose, what it proposes to do and how it proposes to

Let's go back. What was the most shocking revelation in the World War II draft statistics? I'd be willing to bet the thing that most painfully surprised the whole country was that one-third of our youth of military age was unhealthy.

Out of fifteen million registrants, five million were rejected for physical or mental disabilities. Rural residents as a group were even less healthy. Forty-one out of each 100 rural registrants were turned down as 4-Fs. It had been just the opposite in World War I when farmers outdistanced city folk in good health.

From these figures, we suddenly discovered that the American youth wasn't such a hale and hearty individual as we had thought. Later, as you may not know, we learned that 325,000 Americans die every year who could be saved with proper medical care.

About twenty per cent of our peo-ple can afford all the medical care they need. Half our families-those with an income of $3,000 a year or less-find i hard, if not impossible—to pay for even routine medical care. Thirty per cent of our families in the $3,000 to $5,000-a-year bracket would have to go into debt or make other sacrifices to meet the cost of severe or chronic illness.

So you can see why America is twenty-three per cent unhealthy. From the beginning Americans have believed that sound minds are the responsibility of the state, hence the public school system. A sound mind isn't much good in an unsound body. So, say the supporters of the national health insurance bill, it is logical and thoroughly in keeping with American principles to tax everybody so that everybody can get medical care. They argue that freedom from persecution by germs is same orchestra.

as much the business of the whole people as freedom from persecution, censorship, or any of the other restrictions our ancestors came to America to avoid.

I won't go into the history of the bill. It was written after years of study, six years of public hearings before congressional committees.

Those who have opposed the measure have made their chief argument a contention that it would be another step toward a socialized state, that it would indeed socialize the medical profession. On point one, the supporters say truthfully "that argument was once raised against the public schools, city water-works, municipal sewage systems, electric light and power plants, which are now accepted as a matter of course."

Under the national health insurance bill, the federal government would collect the money and manage it along with the social security fund which it does now, disburse it to the states for the services rendered by the doctors and approve of the various state set-ups.

The actual arrangements for the services of the doctors who would go right on with their private practices as well if they wanted to, would be made between doctor and patient. The patient, unless his family doctor refused to join up, would have his services just the same, only they would be free. The doctor wouldn't have to accept any patient he didn't want.

Part of the money would go to the states for research, medical education and various preventive services. How much would it cost? One and one-half per cent of your earnings up to $3,600 which your employer would match. If you are self-employed, you would pay three per cent up to $3,600 of your own earnings. And that, say the bill's proponents is no more than you pay now (on the average) to a voluntary group health agency if you belong to one and it's less than you would pay to a private physician. Physicians' rates and mode of payment will be established by the vote of the majority of the physicians in the given area or locality.

Since the worst shortage of doctors is in rural areas, it is expected that with assurance of adequate pay through the national insurance fund, more physicians will be attracted to those areas. Also the fund will help to expand local public health services, rural hospital and ambulance service.

Aside from the poorer health in farm communities, maternal mortality is higher and, as every farmer knows, accidents are high. There are 54 deaths per 100,000 population on farms, only 20 per 100,000 in in-

In the controversy over this measure both sides point to the experience of other countries. They claim the national insurance system was inaugurated in Germany in 1883. One Americal Medical association member says medical care declined under it. He probably knows more about it than I, but the statement was certainly a surprise. Similar complaints have been made against a similar plan which has just been inaugurated in Britain. But a recent poll taken in England says 91 per cent of the physicians have joined up which would seem to show they approved of the way it works even if they opposed it in the beginning. And the people voted it the most popular measure passed by the present government. The British Medical association did not oppose the bill as a whole but fought against certain portions, particularly those which they thought might make them "servants of the state."

These facts I have checked as nearly as I can and do not believe they will be disputed. As to the opinions, they remain as such. And you can't look into the future. From what I can learn, the supporters of the bill believe that it will be one of the first introduced in the new congress, that it will reach the floor by February and that the chances for its passage are good.

Llanfairpwllgwyngyllgogerychwyrndrobwllllantysiliogogogoch is said by the National Geographic Society to be the longest place-name in the world. But it's no good for a cross-word puzzle.

COLLEGE AND BIG BUSINESS

A congressional committee reports that American colleges are partners in real estate projects, chain restaurants, mail order houses, department stores, gas stations and many other enterprises. One practically owns and operates a spaghetti plant and piston ring factory. Another has money invested in a Limoges china and leather industry. One of the biggest universities has apartment house, office building and Radio City Center projects running into millions.

Our colleges have to invest their endowment funds some way and it is perfectly legitimate to do what they have been doing, but the charge is made that, since the income of educational institutions is exempt from taxes, the colleges are in unfair competition with business, men and cost Uncle Sam millions in taxes every year.

About that we wouldn't know too much, but it is disconcerting to a man to find that the little lady he has been so tenderly calling Alma Mater is an industrial tycoon, a member of a dozen boards of directors and maybe a top distributor of potato chips, catsup, auto tires and lubricating oils.

Can it be that Alma, instead of being the dignified and handsome gal carved in marble on the lovely campus, should be pictured with a prematurely bald head, a countingroom twitch and a strictly business look? Instead of a sweet and aloof lady interested mostly in the arts and sciences, is she a holding corporation, an inner tube manufacturer and a promoter of chain lunchrooms?

Don't tell us that Dean Dumplin and Professor Highforrid have in truth been responsible for the kid's education but that the spaghetti, mustard, orange drink and real estate businesses have been a big help, too.

Down there on the girdiron is it possible that the lads have been giving their all for dear old Schlotz, Brown, Hallock & Whifile, Inc., the Cronkhite Doughnut Machine corporation and the Grand Union Radio Ornament Industry? Is it possible that the old grads should sing it "For Siwanikosh, for Country and for Whooziss' Refrigerators"?

These are disillusioning times. We like to think of the faculty worrying only over a student's progress in philosophy, literature, Greek and mathematics, and never in an all-day conference over whether to put a few hundred grand into a department store, a row of de luxe apartment houses or a new

Of course it costs money to run universities. All those funds have to be invested where the return will be good. But we hope the paper isn't delivered the night the news comes out that Little Lester has had to be withdrawn from college because his old man couldn't keep him in and at the same time pay the rent, food and clothing bills sent in by the college's business affiliations.

The Nationalized Pub

England is considering nationalization of the pubs (bars and taverns to you). Government operation of hangovers is something new. But it is a further indication of how far the idea of state control of everything, up to and including the dark brown taste and the morning after,

For generations, it would have been thought far below the dignity of any government to run a saloon and put itself in the position of replying to unceasing orders of "make mine the same, Joe." But today a proposal that the state operate poolrooms, bowling alleys and men's smokers would hardly astonish any-

Just the same, we hate to think of any sovereign state becoming a combination saloonkeeper, bartender and bouncer. It isn't going to be nice when the folks take to blaming bad Mickey Finns on bureaucracy or demanding a change of administration on account of what seems to be a government imposed headache.

VANISHING AMERICANS "Let's all chip in 50 cents and make the present something good."

"The gentleman wants everybody in the place to have a drink on him."

"You can't do that, it's against the law."

We are all for the two-milliondollar fund for musicians' welfare, but hope it won't offer too much encouragement to the guy upstairs who is taking saxaphone lessons.

Spy Interest Wanes

INTEREST here has reached a low ebb in the so-called spy probes of the house un-American activities committee as the squabble between that "dead" committee and the justice department goes on.

One fact is evident: Although the house committee has played for the headlines by publishing piece-meal the "secret" documents unearthed from Whitaker Chamber's pumpkin, the state department is indifferent as to whether none or all of them are published, declaring they mean nothing insofar as the condition of national security is concerned.

The state department did de-mur to publication of some of the papers and micro-films, not on security grounds but because some might be embar-rassing to persons still identified with foreign governments. There is no evidence so far unearthed that any spy ring is operating in Washington or that the country is tottering on the brink of national disaster as a result of the house committee

When the new congress takes over there is some indication that the present house un-American activities committee may be replaced by a joint senate-house committee which will undertake the functions of the old house group.

Social Security Benefits

The question of whether to include the farmers in the extension of social security benefits has not been definitely decided for the reason that administration leaders are not sure where the majority of farmers stand on this issue. Federal Security Administrator Oscar Ewing, who likely will be raised to cabinet status, has made recommendations which include:

(1) INCLUSION of soldiers, sailors and airmen in the civilian oldage pension system.

(2) COMBINATION of retirement systems of the armed forces and the civil service pension system with the social security program. Civilians who enter the armed services now lose out on the accumulation of old-age benefits during their periods of military

(3) EXTENSION of social security protection to self-employed, farm hands, domestics and others not now protected.

(4) INCREASE of pension payments and survivors' benefits by at least 50 per cent. He described the present average old-age pension of $39.90 per month for a couple as "slow starvation."

(5) INCREASED direct aid to the needy aged and blind.

Mayors Want Rent Control

The real estate lobby which claims to represent the feeling in the local communities and which is seeking to defeat extension of rent control and public housing in the new housing bill, was given a setback in these claims here recently when the U. S. conference of mayors met here in Washington to talk over some of their problems.

The mayors of the country went on record strongly for rent control extension and public housing construction, even be-yond the provisions of the Wagner - Ellender - Taft bill. They want 800,000 public housing units instead of 500,000 as provided in the bill, restoration of rent ceilings in apartment hotels and effective rent controls until the nationwide housing shortage is relieved.

One stand the mayors took affects rural areas. They want 50 per cent of state grants in the federal. highway act instead of the 25 per cent share for cities as presently provided.

Price Support Issue

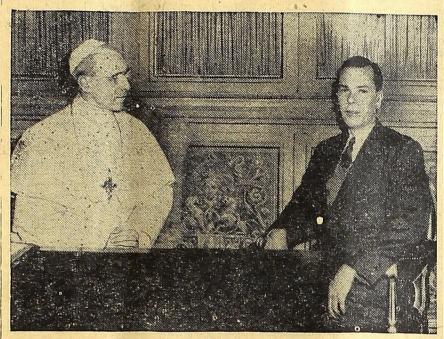

Indications here are that the advocates of a rigid price support program won at least a temporary victory in the American Farm Bureau Federation convention at Atlantic City when the meeting adjourned without taking decisive action on the controversial subject. It merely left decision up to its board of directors. The board, however, likely is dominated by President Allen Kline of Iowa who is said to favor the sliding scale of supports as provided in the Hope-Aiken law.

Women Favor Aid

Women's groups are particularly active in backing certain legislative enactments as the new congress gets underway. A survey conducted by Congressional Quarterly, a reliable non-political news gathering agency, indicates that most women's organizations are strongly backing continued economic aid to Europe under the Marshall plan, but are divided on including military aid as a part of the American program.

Take Back Brother

By KATHLEEN NORRIS

↑ RE WE supposed to weln come a criminal back into our family, after he has spent a year in jail?" writes Lucie Phillips, 18 years old. "My brother Greg always has been a mystery and a heartscald to my father - my mother has been dead for six years.

"Greg borrowed people's cars even when he was in grammar school, borrowed money from Dad, me and other relatives without any by-your-leave, ran away twice and finally, when he was 16, drove the stolen car that took two other boys to a cigar shop which they held up, threatening the proprietor with a gun. The others got long terms;

Greg got one year.

"Now he wants to come home," the resentful and distressed letter goes on. "Grandma, who lives with us, thinks he ought to be taken in and given another chance — and probably have his breakfast taken upstairs to him and his clothes pressed and all that. He had started drinking and will begin that again. Every one of my friends will know that my brother has a jail record.

He Needs Rehabilitation "Dad wants him to come home just long enough to get straightened out, as he calls it. He says that Greg is mother's son, that she loved him dearly and that he'll need clothes, baths, rest and general re-habilitation. I say I don't want to have anything to do with him. "I ought to say," Lucie finishes her letter, "that Greg does not seem like a criminal. He is good looking.

"Greg does not seem like a criminal."

stake him to the long six or seven years of training. Dad wants this, of all things, but says he will abide by your advice and write Greg, who will be released at the beginning of the year, what you say."

I already have answered this letter by a personal letter. In that letter I urged Lucie to share with her grandmother and father in giving Greg a chance. I said this not because I really believe that he will

He will study medicine for awhile, then tell his father with great charm and convincingness that he thinks he has chosen wrong, that his talent is for the law. Then he will want to be an explorer and go off on a trip. And if he does, he will turn up presently, unshaven and penniless, and want to start all over

Sister Must Stand Up

Yet, with his cleverness and copularity, Greg could wash all this miserable history out and make a man of himself, especially if he had at his side a courageous loyal little sister to help him. And that's a sister's job, Lucie—you have to take your share of it. Your only course is to stand by, comforting your father, cooperating with your grandmother, doing your best for Greg. Then if you fail, those friends of yours will think far more of you than if you hushed it all up.

Only a few weeks ago I had a somewhat similar letter from a frantic mother named Fanny Lee. Mrs. Lee has one son, 14, and girls of 16, 18 and 19. The 18-year-old went away to college a year ago, fell into the trap that waits all girls in the freedom of campus life, got mixed into too many drinking, driving, week-end affairs and came home at Christmas shamed, sullen, trapped. Her sisters were kept as much as possible from a realization of Grace's tragedy. Grace was sent away to an "aunt" and the baby was put out for adoption.

But this problem is different, I think, from the one quoted earlier in this article. Grace has been through very deep waters. She is a sophisticated and disillusioned girl, and somewhere in the world there is a baby boy who ought to be calling her mother. To introduce her into a household of young girls and a small boy is unjust to them all.

Bet you never heard this littleknown fact before. "The Star-Spangled Banner" was once just another patriotic tune known as "The Defense Fort McHenry."

The lyric at once gained popularity as a national air. "The Star-Spangled Banner," however, was not officially named and designated as the national anthem until congress so legislated March

Mrs. GEORGE DE KUIPER of FREMONT, MICH., says: "Electrical Living is the KEY to Greater Comfort, Convenience, and Better Living in Our Home"

Mrs. De Kuiper gives much of her time to civic affairs in Fremon and she credits Reddy Kilowatt with helping to devote so much of her time to this work.

According to Mrs. De Kuiper her automatic electric range saves time and helps her to keep meals on schedule on those days when she is away from home.

Reddy also cuts hours from her weekly chore of washing and ironing. The electric vacuum cleaner speeds cleaning and during the winter months Reddy puts an end to furnace tending by operating the stoker.

Then there's the job of heating the water, refrigerating the food, and operating the sewing machine, clocks, fans, two radios, and many other appliances as well as the lights.

"After checking over the wages we paid Reddy for the past 12 months, it's easy to understand why people say Reddy Kilowatt is the lowest paid servant in the world.

"Think of it, Reddy worked over 3,700 hours in our home at an average wage of slightly more than 2 CENTS AN HOUR," Mrs. De Kuiper said.

Here's a new way with carrots, good to use when you have an oven meal:

Baked Carrots (Serves 8) 18 small carrots

1/3 cup butter ½ cup sugar

1 teaspoon salt 1/3 teaspoon cinnamon 1/3 cup boiling water

Scrape or pare carrots and place in a casserole. Cream butter, sugar and cinnamon together; add water and blend. Pour over carrots and bake in a moderate (350 degree) oven for one and one-half hours. Spiced Red Cabbage

(Serves 6 to 8)

2 tablespoons mixed spices 3 quarts water

1 teaspoon salt

2 pounds red cabbage, shredded 4 tablespoons brown sugar tablespoons vinegar 3 tablespoons butter Place spices in a small cheesecloth bag. Heat water and salt to boiling, add cabbage and spices and cook 30 minutes. Drain. Dissolve sugar in vinegar, add butter and combine with cabbage. In place of plain vinegar in the above recipe, you may use basil vinegar for an interesting variation.

2 tablespoons butter or substitute 4 tablespoons grated cheese Soak cauliflower in cold, salted water for 15 minutes. Drain. Place in a large pan of rapidly boiling salted water. Cook, covered, for 20 to 25 minutes or until cauliflower is tender.

Drain. Place cauliflower in baking dish. Cover top with canned tomato sauce. Dot with butter and sprinkle with cheese. Bake in a moderate (350 degree) oven for 15 minutes.

THERE ARE MORE than creamy potatoes to the following recipe. With the additional ingredients used to glorify them, you may use them for a light lunch or supper.

Stuffed Idaho Surprises (Serves 6) 3 Idaho potatoes, baked 6 frankfurters, diced 1 cup diced celery 1 small onion

2 to 3 tablespoons shortening 1/2 pound quick-melting cheese Saute the frankfurters, celery and onion in shortening; add a little water and steam until celery is done. Allow water to evaporate. Cut baked potatoes lengthwise and remove potato from skin. Mash the potato, adding seasoning and milk until they are creamy and smooth. Fill potato shell with frankfurter mixture; then a thin slice of cheese and top with the mashed potato. Place in a moderate (350 degree) oven until tops are lightly browned, about 15 to 20 minutes.

crumbs for the top. Place in a buttered casserole and cover with crumbs. Bake in a slow oven (325 degree) until crumbs are browned and the mixture is set in the center, about 35 minutes.

French-Fried Cauliflower (Serves 6 to 8) 41/2 cups cooked cauliflowerets 2 eggs, slightly beaten 1 cup dry bread crumbs

Dip cauliflower into slightly beaten eggs, roll in bread crumbs and let stand at least one-half hour.

Cauliflower will look prettier and taste better when you serve it with canned tomato sauce and a bit of Parmesan cheese as a pepup touch. This may also be used as an idea for a vegetable platter, adding green beans or peas to surround the cauliflower.

Second Time Around

THE MOST important spot in any baseball player's career is the second time around. It is the sophomore year, not the freshman span, that counts.

Naturally a ballplayer likes to look good that first season to get his chance, but too many of them have suddenly hit the soapy chute after a fine initial campaign, much to the sorrow of some son will be: Al Dark, the Braves' shortstop; Richie Ashburn, the fleet-footed Phillip outfielder; Billy Goodman, the Red Sox first baseman; Larry Doby, the Indian outfielder, and Hank Sauer, and Virgil Stallcup of the Reds.

Some of the pitchers under scrutiny will be: Gene Bearden of the Cleveland club; Robin Roberts and Curt Simmons of the Phillies; Bob Porterfield of the Yankees; Pittsburgh's Bob Chesnes; Ralph Hamner of the Cubs and Erv Palica and a few other Dodger entries.

The three prize rookies who can play leading roles next season are Bark, Ashburn and Bearden. Ashburn will have no pennant-winning act to unroll, but Dark and Bearden might. Both are fine young ballplayers on teams that won pennants last fall, largely or partly because these two rookies were around. The Braves couldn't have won without Dark and the Indians couldn't have won without Bearden.

I can almost hear Billy South-worth singing: "Honey dear, listen here—I'm afraid to go home with-out Dark."

Dark, a great football playeralmost another Van Buren, a fine golfer - a star all-around athlete, can be the top entry of 1949.

So can Gene Bearden of the Indians. If Dark is as good as he was last year, and Bearden is just as effective, we might see a replay of 1948 this next Raschi and Porterfield can mean a lot to the Yankees. You may recall the able job Frank Shea did for the Yankees in 1947. He was a different Shea in 1948, where he had exchanged his streamlined form for a blimp. If Shea reports at 190 or 193 pounds, he has a chance. He has plenty in the way of stuff and heart.

Doby, like Raschi, is hardly a sophomore. He was around in 1947. But not too much in evidence. His first big year was 1948 and he has the equipment needed to have a bigger year in 1949.

Looking to 1949

We are now looking through winter's snowstorms, mists and fogs into the campaign of 1949 from late April to October. Who will be the star rookie of 1949 to make good on his "second trip around?"

You already have the leaders-Dark, Bearden, Ashburn and Goodman. Doby can be rated, if you figure him a 1948 freshman or a 1949 sophomore.

Doby is as good an all-around outfielder as I've seen besides Musial, Williams, and DiMaggio. And Bearden is the best young pitcher I've seen in some time. He was the pennant and the world's series savior of 1948. But there are always pitfalls ahead. Who can tell where they are?

In 1947, Ewell Blackwell looked to be one of the star pitchers of many years. The 6-foot 6-inch star from California won 22 games and lost eight with the drooping Reds. With other teams he would have passed the 30 mark. Here was one of the great young pitchers from baseball history to reach the game. But it was a different story in 1948. The tall and willowy Blackwell came along with a sore arm. He was never right through the 1948 season, where the year before he had pitched 17 consecutive no-

You can't pitch with a sore arm. Blackwell couldn't. You ean't pitch with too much fat. Shea couldn't. You can only pitch when you are in shape.

You can only play baseball when you are in shape, and yet last spring I'd say that about 70 per cent of the players who reported were not in nearly as good condition as Ducky Medwick was, and Medwick has been around for more years than most of us can remember.

Medwick has always reported in shape. And then gotten in better shape. Most ballplayers report in soggy shape and spend most of their time trying to work off fat. At least too many do.

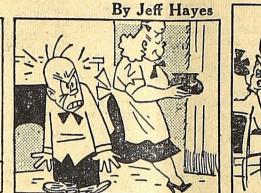

I don't believe this will happen to Dark, Ashburn, Bearden, Doby, Goodman, Chesnes and one or two others who can be vital cogs in various pennant machines of 1949. I look to see both Raschi and Porterfield of the Yankees ready to go.
