A meeting will be held at 7:30 Tuesday evening to discuss dredging out the mouth of Tawas river this spring. Commercial fishermen, boat owners and others interested are urged to attend.

A large amount of sand has been washed into the river mouth. This with the lower water level will make it impossible for commercial fishermen, pleasure boat and other boat owners to use the river this season if the condition is not remedied soon. The opening up of the channel will also improve perch and smelt fishing.

Those interested should come to the meeting and take part in the discussion of plans and the means for completing them.

Why Build a New Iosco Court House

Supervisors Prepare Pamphlet to Assist With Answer

The need of an adequate County Building has long been recognized by the Iosco County Board of Supervisors. Detailed plans for such a building were secured several years ago. At the January session the board authorized that the proposition again be submitted to the voters of the county.

To assist you in arriving at your decision a pamphlet is being prepared by the Board of Supervisors answering questions which may assist you in arriving at your decision. Please study this pamphlet carefully and then vote your decision at the polls April 4th.

The foreword of the pamphlet reads as follows:

To Iosco County Electors:
On April 4th at the Bi-ennial Spring Election you as electors and taxpayers and home owners in Iosco County and interested in its welfare, will be asked to pass upon the proposition of authorizing the construction of a new County Building.

You, as such electors, have charged the Board of Supervisors with responsibility for County affairs.

It is our duty, as Supervisors, to keep you informed about conditions in your County and about County affairs.

Your Board of Supervisors has no power to change the maximum tax rate. YOU ALONE HAVE THAT POWER.

It must be your decision whether or not you want an adequate County Building for your convenience and the safekeeping of your County Records.

The Peoples Party nominees as they will appear on the ballot are: William Groff, mayor; John King, treasurer; J. A. Brugger and Arthur Ziehl, Jr., aldermen 1st ward; George Philpot, supervisor, 3rd ward; William Cholger, Alderman, 3rd ward.

Mrs. Arthur Cadorette is a patient at the Samaritan Hospital, Bay City.

Volunteers for Benefit Show Cast Needed

Proceeds from Entertainment Go to Hospital Building Fund

The Tawas Hospital Association announces that the entire cast and chorus for their hospital benefit show, "Hearts and Gowns," will be volunteers from Tawas City and East Tawas. First tryouts will be held at the East Tawas Community Building on April 4th at 7:30. After tryouts the cast will be selected by a committee consisting of Mike Nunn, Ted Jacques, John Monarch and Lyle Mooney with the assistance of Marian Bontekoe, production manager, and Virginia Barnett, dramatic director.

Bontekoe announces that besides actors and singers, volunteers are needed as stage hands, electricians, costumes, make-up, etc.

Following is a brief synopsis of the show.

"Hearts and Gowns" is a musical comedy in two acts with five men and six women and as large a chorus as we can get both male and female. In the first scene all society is thrilled over the style show and beauty contest staged at Elijah Dunn's department store. To Dunn's spoiled and selfish daughter, Delphine, the show means a chance to capture the beauty prize. To Don Ridge, youthful store manager, the show's success means a substantial raise in salary and reinstatement as heir to a rich uncle. A comedy kidnapping in the second act piles up the excitement and an uproariously funny female impersonation, enacted by Bill, the office boy, furnishing the chief source of laughter. The style show parade offers a fine chance to exhibit some of our pretty girls in attractive costumes.

Following is the cast:

Miss Miggs—A brisk businesslike spinster, tall and angular.

Bill—A boy distinctly Bowery type. He is devoted to Ella and Don.

Josie—A frowsy looking, big hearted girl. Sue is the typical clerk.

Ella—A sweet faced girl rather cowed and pathetic looking. She is really beautiful, but appears too homely in the first act. (Must have a fair voice for singing.)

Don—A handsome young man preferably with singing voice.

Delphine—A pretty but petulant looking girl, selfish and snobbish.

Elijah—A tyrannical, loud voiced little man of fifty.

Mrs. Smythe—A dowager of 45. Fussy and domineering.

Wyne—A winsome, vivacious girl, expensively and becomingly dressed.

Calvin—A rather aristocratic looking bachelor of 50 with a keen eye for the women.

Maurice—A fine looking young man in his late twenties.

These are the parts to be cast so look them over and let's all turn out for tryouts or to sign up to help on Monday, April 4th at the Community Building.

LETTER FOR SPECIAL DELIVERY

Hon. Harry S. Truman, Washington, D. C.
Dear Mr. President:

It pains me to note that you, who over the long pull have seemed to me a horse-sense fellow who knew baloney when he saw it and who didn't like it thin, thick or medium, have now taken up that old cry about the newspapers being in a deep plot against the people. Harry, you know better.

"There are no full-page ads for our side," you say in taking a dig at the press. Now that is plain sense. All the page ads in opposition to your policies or acts in a year, if stacked end on end, would be completely lost in the thousands of pages which the American newspapers have devoted to you in reporting your speeches and your programs. The space devoted to any one of your speeches in the papers of the country would swamp the total space consumed by all those full-page ads over a period of six months. The ads get into few papers; no paper fails to report your speeches to its fullest ability.

Few Presidents in history have had a friendlier press. The note of kindness is to be found, even in the criticisms. The newspapers go to great expense to give you every break. It is doubtful if any occupant of the White House in 25 years has been more warmly treated by the newspapers of this country from coast to coast and from border to border.

At work or at play you get a million columns of newspaper space and any honest publicity expert in your own party would admit that the advertising is mostly good and that all the dough your opponents could lay a hand on wouldn't be enough to get that much space for their views. So you must be kidding when you say, "There are no full pages for our side."

"Selfish interests are on the job year in and year out, seven days a week and 24 hours a day. They work through the editorial pages, the columnists and the commentators they control," you assert, "They twist and misrepresent the measures the people voted for."

Well, Harry, may the press of America never be as unfair to you as you are to the press when you make a crack like that. The fact twisters don't last long on any paper. No newspaper can misrepresent things long and survive.

In a democratic country where a free press has men of all parties and beliefs running newspapers, you don't expect them all to be 100 per cent for everything you propose, do you?

The press is one of America's great institutions. Harry. It is mighty important to the American system. It is important to the Democratic party, the Republican party and any other party. To deliberately undermine its prestige, create an atmosphere of distrust in its fairness and foster the notion that it is a tool of the privileged few is bad stuff, Mr. President. In every great crisis the press is a Number One Need. You've needed it, Harry. And you've had it as few Americans have had it "year in and year out, seven days a week and 24 hours a day." I thought you knew.

Yours in surprise
ELMER.

Cuff Stuff

Walter Donnelly, slated as the new undersecretary of state in charge of South American affairs, used to work in the circulation department of the New Haven Register back home. Video does the darndest things. As for instance Sid Caesar's use of that old Willie Howard skit on the interrupting waiter, with no credit or apology to anybody. And it was played on another program only a few weeks back. "Knock On Any Door," widely proclaimed as a study in juvenile crime and a deterrent, is just another glorification of a hoodlum, with enough murders and stickups to keep a kid absorbed for weeks.

Excluded!

Fritz Kuhn, former Bund leader in America, has been freed by a German court. His sentence was cut to two years—already served! And his property—of which he has none—was ordered confiscated! The blind lady known as Justice can claim he didn't even go to a neutral corner after slugging her. Fritz announces he will now try to regain his American citizenship. He is willing, as we get it, to be a good sport and pardon us.

MOLOTOV PROMOTED?

World Speculates on Premier Stalin's Plans

Out of the welter of world speculation on the significance of Russia's naming Andrei Y. Vyshinski as foreign minister—replacing Vyacheslav M. Molotov—the British appeared most confident of their interpretation. Senior British diplomats had no hesitancy in declaring that Molotov is being groomed to step into Stalin's shoes whenever the Red dictator dies or retires from the scene.

INFORMATION from London was to the effect that the opinion apparently is based on reports which British Ambassador Sir Maurice Peterson had sent from Moscow. They said Peterson warned against expecting any change in Russian foreign policy as a result of Molotov's release as foreign minister. Andrei Gromyko, the "walking man" of the United Nations setup—so called because of the many times he has walked out of U.N. sessions—became Vyshinski's assistant.

All these diplomats agreed that Stalin would remain the No. 1 man in Russia even if he should quit the post of prime minister. His supreme position, they speculated, would be safeguarded by his personal prestige and his post as Communist party secretary general and politburo member.

THEY CONCEDED, however, that Stalin, 69 and ailing, may wish to be free of administrative chores. Informants made it clear that Ambassador Peterson himself did not make an outright prediction that Stalin contemplates retiring from the prime minister's job. They said the sense of his reports merely led British diplomats to think that is a possibility.

The interesting thing, however, was the wild and widespread speculation set off in the world by a change of Russian personnel at high policy level. This reaction served to emphasize world jitteriness in the "cold war" with the Soviets.

More churchmen in countries behind the "iron curtain" were coming to know what it means to suffer for the Cross. Bulgarian security police had seized approximately 50 more Protestant clergymen.

THE LATEST ROUNDUP was disclosed as 15 other Protestants were sentenced on charges ranging from treason and spying for the United States and Britain to black market money transactions. All 15 had pleaded guilty.

By now the pattern of church conflict in Soviet-dominated countries was becoming clear. The Russians would not tolerate a setup where the church might act independently of the state.

It mattered little whether the faith being prosecuted was Protestant or Catholic—the aim was the same, subjugate it and its adherents to the will of the state.

THE KREMLIN could not risk men having other gods than Stalin, could not risk continuance or spread of a thesis built upon the dignity of the individual and his oneness with his Creator.

The most terrible thing was that there was nothing anyone could do. Christian nations could not make war on the Soviets for religious persecution, however extensive such persecution might grow.

For the moment, men of good will could only pray for divine aid, hoping that retribution would finally overtake the agency which was subjecting Christian men to torture and imprisonment.

RICH MEN:
One "Fed up"

"I found something was wrong with the wealthy class and I think a whole lot of them would be better off if they had to work."

JOSEPH E. UHLEIN, 73, a senior member of one of the nation's wealthiest brewery families was fed up. Delivering himself of the above statement, he went on to say that he was resigning immediately as a director of the First Wisconsin National Bank so no one connected with the institution would be embarrassed by his actions.

Uihlein's consideration of his co-directors was understandable. For the former vice-president of the vast Schlitz brewing company was planning to devote his full time to the unionization of "white collar" workers in the United States.

"I believe five to six million can better their lot by joining white-collar unions," Uihlein declared. "I am not in it for any honor for myself, but only through a desire to help the working classes."

CONTINUING, he explained that "I have been thinking about this for about 15 years."

Joseph and his brother Erwin, now president of Schlitz, have been at odds recently over Joseph's suggestion that the brewery establish a million-dollar annual welfare fund for its employes by contributing 25 cents for each barrel of beer sold.

COW'S THAT, FELLOWS?

Yukon Lions Would Re-Ensiló "Grady"

The Yukon, Oklahoma Lions club was strictly on its toes—members organized a "committee to Put The Cow Back in The Silo." The cow, of course, was "Grady," who had captured national attention and country-wide press coverage when she leaped into a silo and there resulted great puzzlement as to how she was to be freed.

WITCHCRAFT:

"Spell" Broken

In the remote fastnesses of the Pennsylvania mountains strange fears and legends abound. Among the mountain people such things as "hexes" and "spells" and witchcraft are real and fearsome things.

And out of these regions has drifted a strange tale of eerie graveside rituals in which a uniform was stripped from the exhumed body of a soldier to "break a spell" cast over his widow.

PVT. REUBEN ROCK was a woodsman in Greenfield township. A veteran of the north African campaign, he returned in 1946 to his home in the Allegheny mountains and married Rosella Dively, then 19. The rigors of army life had created in Pvt. Rock a tubercular condition that steadily sapped the veteran's strength. Rosella cared for her husband night and day in their unfinished home. She denied herself proper rest and nourishment while carrying on her nursing duties.

But the veteran died. Before he died he gave his wife his army uniform. But Rosella requested that her husband be buried in it. That was done, then strange things began to happen. The young widow became a virtual invalid, refusing to eat or sleep, and began to waste away.

Mrs. ARTHUR DIVELY, Rosella's mother, was convinced Pvt. Rock had practiced witchcraft. Conceding he was "saved in the end," she told of weird "books and things" he kept in the house. "Rosella was crazy to be with him," she said. "She would go to him at any time. That's probably how he did it—by charming her picture that he always carried with him."

The Dively family finally concluded the uniform was the answer. They obtained permission to exhume the body. The grave was opened, the uniform stripped from Pvt. Rock's body and cast into a fire.

And there are myriad folks in the section who are convinced that this action "broke the spell," enabled Rosella to regain her health.

BABY SITTERS:

Big Business

The city of Milwaukee has found that baby-sitting has become big business. Admitting there were no actual statistics available, Milwaukee officials nevertheless contended that a safe guess would be that baby-sitters outnumber workers in any other field.

BABY-SITTING literally has become "big business," with full-time agencies providing sitters on a daily, or part-time basis. However, the majority of the sitters are still teen-agers—the girl next door who wants to make some extra spending money, or an older sister or brother who may become a baby-sitter under protest.

The professional baby-tenders from "Part-Time Parents" in Milwaukee are primarily middle-aged widows, according to the agency founder, Miss Dorothy Campbell. The most important part of Miss Campbell's service is fitting the right sitter to the right family.

HER EMPLOYEES are carefully screened before they are hired by the agency. They must like children, have an adequate knowledge of child care, including first aid training, and they must have a suitable background enabling them to serve as part-time parents.

Women may be hired to take children to the theatre, to a party or out to dinner. Many families hire a sitter for one, two or three days every week, and the part-time parent takes over for the day.

It all sounds like a good deal. Doubtless there are many communities in which a "Part-Time Parents" organization would be most welcome.

Was She Next?

The name of Mrs. Ruby Davis of High Point, N.C., appeared on a list carried by Raymond Fernandez, the confessed "Lonely Hearts" murderer, when he was arrested at Grand Rapids, Michigan.

OLD FUDS:

President Truman said it: "It's time for us old 'fuds' to begin to go, and let the next generation come into its own." He added: "That is true of government also." The President addressed his remarks to about 125 Legionnaires in Washington for a veteran's rehabilitation conference. He said he was pleased at not seeing so many "bald pates and gray heads" as usual.

Bill Dickey a Welcome Prodigal

By Grantland Rice

IN THE SPRING of 1928 a tall, lanky kid blew into the Yankee stadium from Little Rock. He had arrived via Little Rock, Muskogee, Jackson and Buffalo. He was then 11 years old, 6 feet 2, weighing 185 pounds. When he was born in Bastrop, La., back in 1907, he was formally christened William Malcolm Dickey. The William Malcolm soon gave way to plain Bill.

The point of this outbreak is that Bill Dickey, after a lapse of two years, is back with the Yankees again as a catching and pitching coach, a spot where he has no equal.

The Arkansas Traveler has at least two distinctions. He is about as fine a quail shot as you'll run across. And he comes close to being the best all-around catcher baseball ever produced. His main challengers are Mickey Cochrane, Gabby Hartnett and Ray Schalk. Or maybe Johnny Kling from old Cuba days.

Other catchers have had better arms, or arms just as good as Dickey's. All of them were faster. Mickey Cochrane was a ball-of-fire where Dickey was serene and unfluffed. Bill's claim to fame rested on his hitting and the way he handled pitchers.

As far as I know, Dickey is the only catcher who drove in over 100 runs four years in succession—107 in 1936, 133 in 1937, 115 in 1938 and 105 in 1939. In these four years Dickey hit 102 home runs.

Smart pitchers have told me more than once that in a clutch they considered Bill Dickey the most dangerous man in baseball—and this wasn't barring Ruth, Gehrig, DiMaggio, Greenburg, Foxx or Williams.

Dickey remained with the Yankees from 1928 through 1946, when he returned to Little Rock for a two-year stay. He was lured back to the Yankees this last winter and this spring he will help Casey Stengel unravel two Yankee tangles—the catching and the pitching.

If these two snarls are straightened out, the Yankees can be a dangerous outfit. If not, they won't be. If the combined snarl and tangle can be handled, Stengel has the right man on hand for the job.

Dickey vs. Pitchers

"One reason I get such a kick out of catching is the chance to see Joe Gordon play second base." Bill said some years ago. "He keeps on making plays that can't be made."

It was always a treat to watch the way Dickey handled his pitchers, especially the young ones. Atley Donald won his first 12 games pitching to Dickey. Now and then you'd see Bill stroll out to the box. The two would talk for a while and then Dickey would return to work.

"What do you two talk about?" I asked.

"Oh, I'd say what a nice day it was. Or ask him how the folks were. Something like that. And then suggest we had all afternoon and not to hurry. A lot of pitchers when they lose control or get in trouble seem to pitch faster and faster. That's when you have to slow them down."

"I'll never forget watching that Dickey stick his big glove under his left arm and start for the box." Roger Bresnahan said one day. Bresnahan was John McGraw's pick for the all-time catcher.

"You could almost see the pitcher settling down. He was another pitcher after Dickey got through. Usually a catcher gets a little peeved or sore at a pitcher who can't locate the plate. Not Dickey. This was his chance to use his soothing syrup."

It must be admitted that Bill Dickey is a hard fellow to upset, mentally or physically. Bill's philosophy consists largely in accepting the breaks as they come. The good breaks never lift him too high nor the tough breaks let him down.

"It doesn't pay to get excited," Dickey advises. "Why get worried?" Bill wouldn't know an alibi if he bumped into one.

Dickey as always carried a great admiration for Ted Williams' batting eye.

HOW TO FIX IT By TOM GREGORY

Heat Resistance
A thick glass filled with a hot liquid is more likely to crack than a thin one because glass expands when heated and, being a poor conductor of heat, some sections expand more quickly than others. Thin glass is not cracked so readily by hot liquid or by immersion in hot water because the heat is able to reach all sections of the glass more quickly and cause it to expand together.

WON'T BE LONG NOW UNTIL REAL THING . . . There's no surer harbinger of spring than the beginning of the baseball season, and it won't be long now until that is at hand. Then, pictures such as that above, will be showing actual play instead of training camp scenes as ball hawks and base-runners get underway. This photo shows Roy Campanella of the Brooklyn Dodgers practicing his sliding under the watchful eye of Branch Rickey, Jr., at the Dodgers' Vero Beach, Fla., training camp. Roy looks a little hefty here, but enough sessions like these and the old waistline will be back to normal.

CONGRESSIONAL "WATCH-DOG COMMITTEE TALKS CHINA AID . . . The joint congressional "watch-dog" committee on foreign aid got a first-hand report on conditions in China from Roger D. Lapham, E.C.A. mission chief to China. Lapham recommended that China be given 240 million dollars in economic assistance next year. His views were reported to the committee by Senator McCarran, Nevada, Democrat. Shown here, seated, Paul Hoffman, E.C.A. administrator, Lapham and McCarran. Standing, Representatives Sol Bloom, (who died a few days after this photo was taken) John Kee and John M. Vorys.

HERE'S HOW AIR REFUELING JOB WAS DONE . . . This photo of refueling of the Locky Lady II, which flew non-stop around the world in 94 hours, shows how the B-50 was supplied with fuel for the 23,452 miles. The bomber was refueled in this fashion at four points on the flight—the Azores, Saudi Arabia, the Philippine Islands and the Hawaiian Islands. The refueling technique was worked out especially for the flight. A top officer of the air corps declared that the flight had definitely established the fact that the United States was now in position to deliver the atom bomb "wherever it might be required." Where that might be remained an unknown quantity.

Man, 91, Cracks Nuts On Birthday, Plans Motorcycle Programs

APPLETON, Wis.—(AP)—JOE Leppla was cracking hickory nuts on his 91st birthday, waiting for spring so he can renew his claim of being the world's oldest motorcycle rider.

The man who figures he's the granddaddy of the motorcycle doesn't usually put away his bike for the winter. He kept riding last year when the icy season set in. But Joe picked up a cold this winter—the first in 40 years, he says—so he decided to sit out the snow and cold for the first time.

Leppla retired from farming at the age of 60 and took to the motorcycle so he'd have something to do and so he could keep on getting plenty of fresh air. Since then he's worn out five bikes and has well over 100,000 miles on his sixth.

When he winds up, Joe usually heads for a fishing spot in this area, but he's taken many long jaunts out west.

Leppla might claim another title when he climbs aboard his cycle this spring. Those hickory nuts he's been cracking at the home of his daughter here aren't merely time passers. Joe says he has 85 pounds of nut meats so far and is on his way to becoming the champion hickory nut cracker of the world.

Bank Suspends Business After Three Robberies

VIRGIL, ILL.—The Virgil State bank, pillaged by hold-up men three times in the last few months, has decided to "call it quits."

Directors called a stockholders meeting to vote on proposed liquidation. The reason, directors said in a statement, is the "recent succession of robberies and the evident necessity of continued protection outlays."

Protection outlays have included a burglar-alarm system and an armed guard at the front door at all times. Customers must convince him before they can get in.

The bank was robbed of $4,090 October 20 by Spencer Peterson of near-by Little Rock and Joseph Hornyan of Aurora. It was taken for $2,000 November 13 by Peterson and Louis Rabenburg of Aurora. It was looted of $1,917 January 14 by Arthur Otowski and John Minster, both of Chicago.

Singer Outlines Technique For Bathroom Sinatras

BOSTON—Do they laugh when you sit down in the bathtub to sing? "It shouldn't happen," singer Bobby Wayne says. "Anyone can sing. All he has to do is brush up on the three R's of music."

Just let the bathroom warblers know their own voices, he said, and it would eliminate the wifely complaints about squawking seals.

Wayne, who gets no complaints because he whispers lyrics, believes most of the shower and bathtub singers have good voices, but try to do the wrong things with them.

Some are the Sinatra type and try to sing opera. Others are crooners who try to yodel.

"It can't be done," he said as he recalled an effort by Lawrence Tibbett to sing the "Hut-Sut Song."

"The opera fans screamed. The bobby socks screamed, too. Tibbett is terrific at opera, but he got out of his vocal circle."

The three musical R's—resonance, range and rhythm—will put anyone in his proper niche, Wayne said, and tag him as a yodeler, balladier, crooner, light classical or opera singer.

"You can gauge your resonance by the ability to hold a note powerfully. The longer you can sustain it, the more like an opera singer you are. If you can't hold it long, you're more like a heart patting crooner."

4,500 People to Share In Two-Million Dollars

NEW YORK.—A New York company has announced it has been hired to look for 4,500 persons to whom two recently organized Chicago companies want to give $2,298,038.

The pleasing part about the whole thing for the missing 4,500 if they're found—is that they don't know they have the money coming.

The potentially lucky 4,500 are missing stockholders in the Midland Utilities co. and the Midland United co., both of Chicago. The company hired to find the stockholders is the Tracers Company of America, in New York.

The last known addresses of the missing persons are scattered in Alaska, Hawaii, 15 foreign nations and in 500 cities, towns and villages of America, including Paw Paw and Midland, Mich., Nectarine, Pa., and Broken Bow, Ohio.

Under a court order last year in the proceedings for reorganization of the Chicago companies, the court decreed that stockholders entitled to participate in the exchange of securities under the plan of reorganization must surrender their old securities before June 30, 1953. Otherwise they lose their rights to any securities or cash held for them.

FARM NOTES

March 31 AAA Farm Program Deadline

Iosco county farmers are reminded this week by Earl M. Partlo, chairman of the Iosco County AAA Committee, that March 31 is the final date for signing farm plans for participation in the 1949 agricultural conservation program. The program, which offers federal assistance payments to farmers who carry out approved soil conservation practices, is open to all farmers in the County who sign farm plans prior to March 31, and who carry out the approved practices listed on their farm plans. The funds allotted to Iosco county for the 1949 soil conservation payments total $18,799 as compared to $12,233 available last year for the 1948 program, which will make possible an increase in the individual assistance payments to farmers and will allow a greater volume of conservation work to be carried out this year.

The following soil conservation practices have been approved for assistance payments in Iosco county in 1949: Liming materials, use of fertilizers applied on new seedings of biennial or perennial legumes or grasses with or without a nurse crop; use of fertilizers on old stands of hay and on pastures; plowing down a good stand and a good green growth of green manure crops; protecting the soil from wind and water erosion over winter by the use of fall-seeded small grain crops, provided a good cover is obtained, establishing sod waterways; controlling perennial noxious weeds by use of chemicals; clearing land now unsuited for tillage on farms with less than 80 acres of cropland; construction of open farm drainage ditches; and the installation tile drains.

Farmers who have not yet signed their ACP farm plans may do so any time between now and March 31 by calling at the county AAA office.

Community Farm Bureau Meets

The second meeting of the Reno No. 1 Community Farm Bureau met March 16 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Clemens.

The meeting was called to order at nine o'clock by the chairman, Frank Smith, who then introduced Wesley W. Hawley, state representative, who gave an outline talk on how to conduct a business meeting.

Mr. Papple moved that the plan made by Mr. Hawley be adopted. Supported by Harold Wagner. Motion carried.

The motion was made that we support the Michigan Farm Bureau stand, raising additional revenue (two cents additional gas tax.) Moved by Mr. Papple, supported by Lyle Robinson. Motion carried.

The meeting then adjourned on motion. A delicious pot luck lunch was served with Mrs. Glendora Clemens, hostess.

DAIRY POINTERS

Udder Troubles:

Help prevent by regularity of milking, by milking big milkers three times a day, by using teat plugs or milking tubes only as a last resort, by removing all "injury" places like high sills and them teeing was caled to order ding heavily.

Cure a cut teat, or bruised teat, by letting it hang for an hour at a time in a pint tin of hot epsom salts solution. The inflammation in the teat will keep the solution warm. Tie on the can by strings over the cow's back.

For Mastitis the best medicine is prevention, such as bedding heavily. To control, use penicillin teat bougies for occasional hard or sore quarter that gives gargety milk. When each cow that has had Mastitis is dried off, have Veterinarian inject crystalline penicillin solution in each quarter, seal teat with colodion.

Operation Underground

It was about 10 A. M. on a dull, grey morning when the huge steam shovel accidentally hooked onto an underground telephone cable.

Tom, a Michigan Bell splicer, and Ed, his helper, were among the telephone men who arrived on the scene within minutes. The situation was bad. Out of 200 pairs of vital telephone wires inside the cable, 135 were broken. And, to make matters worse, a steady rain had started, threatening to flood the hole where the break occurred.

The first job was to make temporary repairs on the most important wires so that calls could go through. Working swiftly, Tom and Ed completed their part of this job by 2 P. M.

But then more trouble developed. Water from a nearby open-type drain began spilling into the hole where the men were working. If the open cable were submerged, moisture would short circuit the wires.

Pumps were working furiously. Meanwhile, Tom and Ed began building a foundation of planking. Then, with another plank as a lever, they began prying up the cable to keep it above the water level.

Higher and higher the water rose... above their knees... up to their waists and beyond. By sheer exertion, they kept lifting the cable break up and up. Sometimes it was only an inch and a half above the rising water. But more pumps were put to work and finally the water began to go down.

The problem now was to restore service on the remaining wires in the cable. This meant putting in a new section of cable ten feet long and making 400 wire splices at each end of the new piece.

Several times the foreman asked Tom and Ed if they didn't want to be relieved by another splicing crew. But they replied, "Look, this is an important cable. We don't want to quit until the job's done." The foreman agreed.

And that's how the precious threads of communication were restored between the outside world and the vital B-24 Bomber Plant at Willow Run, during the war.

This is one of countless stories that show the determination of Michigan Bell workers to keep your telephone calls going through.

WOMAN'S WORLD

Home Sewing Demands Attention to Details

By Ertta Haley

"I CAN cut, baste and fit my clothes," says an amateur seamstress, "but something's wrong with the fit of my sleeves and waist. How can I remedy these things?"

Details of completing a garment frequently offer a problem to those who have just begun to sew. Frequently, too, we find that even those who have made garments for some time are still at a loss as to how some basic construction problems are solved.

One of the main difficulties comes in fitting sleeves. This is easy to understand because there are three places for most sleeves to fit: at the shoulder where the sleeve joins the garment, at the elbow because of the movement of the arm, and, finally, at the wrist or cuff, if you are working on the long sleeve.

If you are using a pattern, you may be certain that the sleeve will fit the armhole, as this has been pre-tested. However, use a great deal of caution in cutting with the pattern. If the sleeve pattern moves even slightly on the material during cutting, it will twist during wearing.

Note, too, the mark for straight of the goods in placing the pattern on the fabric. Lay the fold of the pat-

Be Smart!

Those wonderfully soft pastel wools that are top favorites for resort wear now, have brought about an accompanying hat fashion: the matching felt, swathed in net or maline, and the lace turban of net or froth-iest ice-wool crochet. In the soft pinks, blues, pistachio greens and other pastel colors of sheer wool, the effect is a new and entrancing "confection" of a hat. The swathed turbans give a wonderful background for the jeweled touch of scatter pins or a single large pin.

Some of the puffed sleeves will also look peculiar because of their fullness. However, when properly gathered, they are designed to fit.

Sleeves should not be fitted high on the shoulder to eliminate the soft fold of the waist at the front and back. The sleeve will tear out.

If you have a model, this helps in fitting sleeves. It cannot do the job completely, though. You'll have to try on the garment and move your shoulders and arms about while you check the fit.

Have your shoulder pads ready to insert when you fit the sleeve. These should be inserted before the fitting. You should not do the final stitching before trying on sleeves with shoulder pads.

Pads Vary with Fabric Which is Used

Little padding is used currently on sleeves because the soft rounded, natural shoulder line is being hailed. However, most shoulder lines are improved if a slight padding is inserted to improve shoulder irregularities.

The shape of the pad varies with the material used in sewing the garment.

The large triangles are used for woolsens and some of the stiff, heavy silk and rayon materials. Small, long or round-shaped pads are considered best for the sheer fabrics, including the sheer woolsens which are now so favored. For washable fabrics, you'll find that gathered taffeta serves quite well.

Raglan sleeves usually take a pie-shaped pad, with the broad edge wide enough to extend across the shoulder line. Join one point to the shoulder or top of the sleeve while the other points are placed where yoke and sleeve meet.

If you have one shoulder higher than the other, make a heavier and larger pad for the lower shoulder to even the shoulder line.

New Vegetables Add Variety

By Eldred E. Green.

GROW YOUR OWN FOOD. During the war home food growing was necessary to add food to the nation's resources. Now home food growing is desirable to keep down high prices and to allow quantities of food to be shipped to ruined countries. And home grown food is fresh. Picked just when ready and used immediately, it has flavor that cannot be found in store-handled kinds.

Since the war, the seed industry has been able to put out some new varieties of vegetables that will help the home garden. One of the new items is a dwarf sweet corn. Just imagine a full grown corn plant as high as your knee! And two to three ears on it of the tenderest, sweetest corn ever! Moreover, the ears are ready in two months after planting. While the plant is small, the ears are large in proportion. They are about four inches long and have eight rows of medium size kernels. Plants take no more room than turnips, and any size garden can have this fine corn. This year it is in many seed catalogues under the name Golden Midget.

Another plant for the home garden is the tomato Bounty. This was developed in North Dakota especially for early maturity and colder climates. The plants are stocky, with several stems that do not need staking or a lot of room. Plants can be set as close as two feet apart. The fruits are dark red, round and similar to Marglobe or Rutgers. Plants produce fruit in about eight weeks after being set out. The fruits are excellent for eating or canning.

From Minnesota comes a dwarf cucumber. The vine is short and forms medium size fruits. About seven weeks are needed for the crop to start. The fruit is excellent for salads or for pickling. Plants take little room and bear heavily. Look for Mincu in the catalogs.

There are many less spectacular new vegetables as well. A white round early radish is one. Not quite as sharp as the red ones. If you like melons and have room there are early strains of muskmelons and watermelons. The midget muskmelon needs about 60 days of warm weather and forms quantities of melons about the size of a large ball. Has fine taste and color. Another is the ice box watermelon. Fruits are six inches across, thin skinned, and fine flavored. Needs about nine weeks of hot weather.

Study your seed catalogue for new items in lettuce, hybrid corn for large gardens, beans and many other vegetables. Variety adds spice to the table.

Stitch Side Seams Before Joining Waistline

To have the waistline fit properly, it's necessary to prefit the garment and to prepare the garment properly before joining the bodice with the lower half of the garment.

Amateurs frequently feel it is easier to sew the waistline and then follow this by joining the side seams. Well, it certainly is easier to sew this way, but the waistline will rarely fit properly. It is either too high or too low!

On some dresses which require a stiff waist, you may insert an inner belt to keep the waistline firm. Among the new sheer dresses now appearing, an elasticized waist is sometimes used so the dress gathers softly and evenly.

With an inner belt, join the seam first, then insert the belt, basting it to the seam.

Let these Tips Guide When Making Pockets

Pockets are not hard to make, and they frequently add value as well as decoration to the garment.

Patch pockets, which are frequently used on house dresses and aprons, children's clothing, and the like, are easiest to make. They must be absolutely true and even. A cardboard pattern is best to use for cutting evenly. Baste before stitching.

Top edges of pockets are finished first. In lightweight fabrics, this edge is hemmed. In heavier fabrics, cover the raw edge with seam binding after turning the edge, then hem and pin pocket on the garment. Check your accuracy in placing it before stitching.

Unwanted Child Lives in Agony

Bill Syndicate—WNU Features

DESPITE THE FACT that David and I are deeply in love with each other," writes Janet Harrison from Toledo, "ours is a disturbed and unhappy home, and I am writing to ask your help in solving what has become a real problem.

"Two years ago, at 26, I married my office boss. I had been divorced, and have one child, Ann, who is 5. David also secured a divorce and also has a daughter, Pamela, who is 8. Pamela's mother has already married again and gone away, not even sending the child a card at Christmas.

"My first husband and his people are devoted to Ann, who goes to them for a week end twice a month, returning loaded with presents and stories of good times. Under the circumstances I can hardly ask them to include Pamela in these affairs, and as David often takes me on short business trips, we leave his daughter with my old Mammy here at home. But this is hard on Mammy, who has family and church interests of her own.

Sensitive Little Thing

"Naturally, David loves his own child deeply, and so do I. But she is a shy, sensitive little thing, and has made only one friend, a crippled boy of 10 in the adjoining apartment, whose parents are about to move back to their Philadelphia home.

"This is the problem. They adore Pamela, and she is quite as devoted to them. Bob, the son, never will walk and they tell me he has never found so congenial a companion as Pam. They want to adopt her. On investigation I have

BILL QUINN, radio's "Little Her- man," (ABC, Saturday evenings,) made his debut in show business with Adolphe Menjou, Ruth Roland and Marion Davies, at the age of five. His mother was an extra in the early days of film-making, at Fort Lee, N. J., and lock Bill along. A stage career followed; came the depression, and he helped his mother and brother run a stationery store, perfect preparation for the setting of his radio show. His radio experience is extensive. Says Bill, "If there is a show that originated in New York in the past 12 or 13 years that I haven't at least read a commercial on, I don't know what it is."

Jerry Hausner just returned from a three months' tour of Europe visited almost every country on the continent. His first radio assignment when he returned—playing the part of a dog and a used car salesman on "The Great Gildersleeve."

Rudd Weatherwax arrived at NBC the other day all white and shaking. "This other car bumped my station wagon and threw Lassie off the seat onto the floor," he explained. "I rushed to look at the dog, of course; didn't pay any attention to damage on the car. It's beginning to dawn on me that I told the other guy it was my fault!" Lassie can easily pay the damages.

Corrine Calvert thinks all women should wear the kind of clothes Edith Head designed for her for "Rope of Sand." So does Edith. The basic idea was to make women as alluring on the golf course or in the office as when they go to parties. "You might call it the temptress look," Edith said. "We're tossing shoulder straps out the window. We're dispensing with wired-up creations, too." Sounds impractical for a hard day at the typewriter!

William Wyler, producer-director of Paramount's "The Heiress," watched part of World War I from his front yard as a boy; he lived in Mulhouse, France, a battleground. But he got into the last war, in the air force.

For the first time in its history, the Lux Radio Theatre has scheduled an adaptation of a movie in advance of its release. Till now they waited for box office results. The exception is "Family Honey-moon," starring Claudette Colbert and Fred MacMurray, who have always done radio adaptations of their pictures on this program. The date, April 4, the station CBS.

Waitresses in Hollywood studios look on Joan Crawford as "the highest paid hysteric in the business," because she was one in "Mildred Pierce" and is one in "Flamingo Road." Eleanor Parker was one in real life—paid for her dramatic coaching that was a y. Bette Davis did it once at a girl's school, for tuition. Jack Carson wasn't a waiter but, worse, washed dishes in a beanyery.

Bob Stuart, the young actor who hounds Jack Carson for the payment of a loan in "My Dream Is Yours," is Carson's younger brother. Robert Stuart Carson. He did a few films prior to the war, saw five years of fighting as an Army lieutenant, mostly in the Pacific, and is just now getting back into pictures again. But he gets no screen credit for this role.

Jane Wyman ("Johnny Belinda," "A Kiss in the Dark") is convinced that her small daughter is a chip off the old block. "I asked her what she wanted to be when she grew up," says Jane. "And she replied 'Whistled at.'"

United Artists will release "Black Magic," starring Orson Welles. The fabulous story of Caliostris, it was filmed against backgrounds of old Roman palaces, the magnificent gardens of Tivoli, and other famous Italian places.

Linoleum remnants can be made into formal place mats by cementing them to plywood and painting the edges a bright color; such mats are heat resistant and easy to keep clean.

Almonds that have been blanched, cut in thin strips and toasted are an excellent topping for any creamed dish.

Hold rugs by the sides instead of by the ends when shaking—helps prevent the threads from straining and pulling apart.

Artificial pussywillows made from brown crepe paper and gray chenille can be made to look like the real thing.

FIRST AID to the AILING HOUSE

by Roger C. Whitman

QUESTION: Could you tell me how to mend a marble table top which is broken straight across. Of course, I'd want it to show as little as possible, but at the same time, be strong.

ANSWER: Marble in thin slabs, as table tops, when broken, can be permanently mended only when supported by a reinforcement. Plasterboard can be used for this, or a strip of board. The reinforcement is cut to fit within the frame. The marble is turned upside down, the edges of the break are cemented and pressed together, a thin mixture of plaster of Paris is spread on the back of the marble, and the reinforcement placed in position. After a number of hours for hardening, the marble is returned to place.

Mystery Shrub, Sick Cow Lead To Big Nursery

CHATTANOGA, TENN.—A Tennessee farmer's conception of what constitutes an economic "fair deal" in man's eternal struggle to wrest a livelihood from nature has resulted in the establishment of one of the major businesses of this region.

The farmer, a cow with an indiscriminate appetite and a fragrant, maroon colored shrub with mysterious properties were the principals in a farmland "tragedy" some 60 years ago that eventually brought about the founding of the huge plant nursery business of this state.

Today large acreages and scores of concerns are engaged in the nursery business in this area. Several thousand persons are employed in the business and its monetary value is estimated in millions of dollars.

People Help

In Warren county alone some 500 people help out approximately 1,500 acres of land to the growing and development of fruit trees, flowers, ornamental shrubs and other plants for sale throughout the nation.

It was in rich Sequatchie valley in the early 1880's that a cow belonging to J. H. H. Boyd did some nibbling in a patch of "sweet shrub," known to every country boy and girl for its bright petaled, sweet smelling bloom.

In a few hours farmer Boyd had the sickest cow in the valley. Local "cow doctors" tried all their remedies for "holler horn" and "holler tail," but the cow died.

Farmer Boyd gathered some specimens of "sweet shrub" and mailed them to the United States department of agriculture, with an inquiry as to what was about this plant that killed his cow.

He was notified that the botanical name of the plant was calycanthus and that its seed pod contained a substance that was a poison to some animals but was also much in demand for medical purposes.

Farmer Boyd determined that the calycanthus should pay him for the loss of his cow. So he started harvesting seed pods from "sweet shrubs" and selling them to various laboratories.

Methods Studied

This led to an interest in other plants and a study of methods of growing and propagation. In 1887 he opened a regular nursery business, offering native plants, shrubs and seedlings to the public. He called the concern the Forest Nursery Co.

Farmer Boyd's son, J. R. Boyd, still operates the company as a wholesale business. Another son, F. C. Boyd, has a wholesale and retail nursery, and a grandson, J. Austin Boyd, is in the nursery business also.

In J. R. Boyd's newest catalog there is listed as available, and priced by the dozen or by the hundred, the following item: "calycanthus ("sweet shrub)."

Meat Industry Derides Scientific Substitutes

CHICAGO.—The American meat institute has characterized as "ridiculous" and "just plain nonsense" many of the statements attributed to a group of allied and German scientists in a dispatch from Frankfurt, Germany, in which the scientists disclosed that they had produced and were ready to distribute "two food substitutes that are said to taste and have the same nutritious qualities as milk and meat."

The institution, an organization of the country's meat packers, voiced its criticism in a bulletin titled "Ersatz Meat Crop Up Again," which, along with a photostatic copy of the dispatch, was distributed to its members.

Signed by Wesley Hardenborgh, the bulletin said:

"This is another of the long series of 'discoveries' as to how people can get the nutrition of meat from a pill, a capsule, the end result of some chemical process, field crops grown for farm animals, minute animal life that swims in the sea, protein derived from sawdust, a combination of powdered vegetables, and so on.

"For example, the flavor of meat does not come from monosodium-glutamate. This product is supposed to enhance the flavor of various foods.

"For another example, the statement is made that all protein is alike. This emphatically is not true. There are two kinds of protein—complete and incomplete. Meat is a complete protein food."

French Family Files Suit Against Grasping Medium

TOULOUSE.—A French farmer family near Toulouse is suing a woman clairvoyant.

Their cattle were dying of a strange malady. She advised them not to go out after dark, prescribed a "magic" brew, went around the house with an olive branch to dispel the "curse," told them to move—and charged them a fee of 190,000 francs ($880).

For a boy in the family who had stomach trouble, she prescribed a "magic" powder, took 12 dozen eggs, 12 pounds of sausages—and a "refresher" fee of 140,000 francs ($652).

While cases of albino horses are known, ordinary white horses are not born white.

Horses of certain colors, particularly dappled grays, become lighter as they grow older—until they become pure white. Such horses do not give birth to white colts which are so rare that they are virtually unknown.

Many Arabian horses are light gray at birth and become pure white at the age of four or five years.
