-WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS-Truman Ignores Program Setback, Insists Congress Is Cooperating; Approval Seen for Vets' Pension

(EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysts and not necessarily of this newspaper.)

PRESIDENCY:

'Say It Isn't So'

Was President Truman emulating the ostrich with the old "head in the sand" technique, or was he naive enough to believe what he was saying?

This seemed a fair question when Mr. Truman, despite multiple set-backs in congress for his legislative program, declared he and the congress were cooperating and that only "troublemakers" talked of bad feelings between them. *
MR. TRUMAN had suffered three major setbacks in attempting to have his campaign pledges enacted into law. He had been blocked on rent controls, appoint-ment of Mon C. Walgren as a key figure in the national defense setup, and civil rights proposals.

But, the President shook off these reverses by ignoring them in a speech to the United States conference of mayors in Washington.

Instead, he told the mayors:
"Of course I differ with the congress on some points and where these differences are important I shall continue to urge the course

I think is right.
"BUT, BASICALLY, the congress and the President are working together and will continue to work together for the good of the whole country. We are going to agree on a lot more things than we disagree

Many observers took the view that the President's remarks indicated adoption of new strategy in dealing with congress-that an attitude of "soft words" might be held more advisable than angry denunciations of the lawmakers.

PENSIONS:

Who Pays?

It was beginning to appear that a veteran's pension bill in some form would be enacted by the 81st congress. Prodded by Rep. John Rankin (D., Miss.), of the house veteran's affairs committee, the measure under consideration would give veterans of World Wars I and II automatic pensions of $90 a month at age 65. Budget bureau experts contend this would cost the nation upwards of 125 billion dollars over the next 50 years.

WHO WOULD PAY the cost of the pensions? American taxpayers, of course, and among these would be all the veterans who might some day receive the bonus. As one young war veteran put it, "By the time I reached 65, I would have gone broke trying to pay taxes to grant me a pension.' That's the viewpoint of some veterans. There are many others who honestly feel they are entitled to a pension and would readily accept an "installment" tax payment period between their present age and age 65 in order to get the

SOME OPPONENTS of the pension measure favored restricting pensions only to veterans of World War I, but it was obvious no such proposal as this would be enacted. There were too many World War II veterans who would oppose that simply on the principle of discrimination, no matter how they might feel basically about the pension

On the first test of the measure, it was almost lost, but swift parliamentary maneuvering saved it from being returned to committee where it might have died a natural

DRAFT:

Easing Off

Military draft eligibles could relax - Maj. Gen. John E. Dahlquist, army personnel chief, said no more men will be inducted into the army before July, 1950; and that's when the present peacetime draft act expires.

SO, IT SEEMED that the peacetime draft was virtually over, except for the possibility of enactment of a new act or extension by congress of the present law.

However, the national defense establishment hastened to state that General Dahlquist was giving only his opinion - that no draft policy has been laid down, and that no one knows what the future holds.

IT WAS REGARDED as significant that there have been no inductions under the present law since the end of January because voluntary enlistments have filled quotas, and army officials have said that budget reductions forced them to cut their proposed strength.

Explains Pact

Acheson, secretary of state, explains north Atlantic pact at special press conference at the state department.

Reds Burn

The Kremlin and its satellites were literally burned up over the north Atlantic treaty alliance.

To the Russians the pact was a 'deceptive instrument of war aimed against them.

THE CONTROLLED Russian

press and radio joined in the clamor, branding the pact as the work of war-mongers trying to wreck the United Nations.

The general theme was that the alliance was the "main weapon of the aggressive policy of the ruling circles of the United States, Britain and France.

The Russian stew was under-standable. By this diplomatic coup western powers had managed to abate somewhat the legend of Soviet invincibility among the smaller countries and at the same time to serve notice on the Russians that any further violence or aggression within the pact area would mean

THE TERMS OF the pact do not actually say that: but they say something which is the same. That is that pact nations shall construe an attack on any member as an attack upon them all, and even the dumbest Muscovite could understand what that meant.

The treaty, however, was not without its cries at home. John Foster Dulles, slated to be secretary of state had Dewey nabbed the presidency, was anything but enthusiastic about the alliance. In fact, Dulles observations on the subject were such as to raise the ire of Dean Acheson, secretary of state, who charged that Dulles was put out because he, Dulles, couldn't get over Dewey's defeat and how he might have been secretary of state himself but for that.

RENT CURBS:

Outlook Dim

Overriding administration recommendations, the senate voted to let town and city governments abolish rent controls in their areas—if the state governors approve.

THERE WERE MANY who would discern instantly the political implication inherent in such a move. In states where governors are permitted under law to succeed themselves-and even in states which do not permit this-governors are usually concerned with re-election or with naming their successors. Abolition of rent control power could be used as a potent weapon with which to beat recalcitrant voters into line.

As anyone familiar with legislative processes knows, organizations are always the most powerful and effective lobbyists. Landlords have a national organization which already has been vociferously vocal at Washington. There has been no organization of renters and tenants, not even at the state or county level. Those who are heard in law-making assemblies are those who are organized and who know how to obtain hearings. And these organizations usually manage to do rather well for themselves.

IN WHATEVER FORM the bill finally emerges from the senate, it must go to a conference committee in order to iron out differences between house and senate versions. States righters would herald the local option features of the control bill with elation and landlord groups would find it easier to attempt legislative pressure in their own back yards.

MEMORY: Ours Is Short To many who had experienced

the horrors of war and who had inet German foemen in battle, American policy in Germany was almost maddening. Official ap-proval of selection of a group of ex-Nazis to manage the Ruhr-Germany's greatest war-making potential-was bringing cries of protest from all over the nation.

The grasp of the ex-Hitlerites was reaching farther and farther into Germany's vital affairs and the optimism of the group that their desires would be fulfilled was sig-

Latest manifestation of the trend was a statement by Hans Thomsen, who was the Nazis' last charge d'affaires in Washington, that he and other veteran Hitler diplomats expected to resume their careers in the "new Germany."

There was no lack of cockiness in Thomsen's stand. Said he: "The new German government cannot get along without the old Wilhelmstrasse men-who know their business." He is now in the banking business in Hamburg.

The old pattern was becoming increasingly clear. Smart diplomats, seeking a rampart against communism, were using this same objective to re-create Germany as a European power-a buffer against the Reds.

SWALLOWS:

Unfailing Legend

The old, old legend was unfailing. Always the swallows had come back to Capistrano, and this time they came again.

THE LEGEND was fulfilled to the day, Through the long, lazy centuries that the birds have always been coming back to San Juan Capistrano, their return has always been on the same day each year-St. Joseph's day.

And this year there was no deviation. On St. Joseph's day the birds came sweeping back at dawn to fly into their homes under the eaves of the historic old mission.

"They do not come in huge swarms as some reports have it." an old padre said. "Instead they arrive in small contingents, 50 to 75 at a time."

Father Hutchinson, pastor, said that the birds usually leave in July after their young can fly. They travel to nearby canyons to feed where insects are plentiful, he in-

BOGEY MAN:

Solons Defiant

Figuratively thumbing its collective nose at the "big man" the United States senate by a vote of 50 to 11 confirmed the appointment of Dr. James Boyd as director of the federal bureau of mines.

THE "BIG MAN" was John L. Lewis, leader of the United Mine Workers of America, and he wanted no part of Dr. Boyd in the federal mine regulation setup.

The senate action came while Lewis had the pressure on. Lewis' miners were in the second week of a 14-day shutdown ordered by Lewis who termed the stoppage a "memorial" to miners killed and injured last year.

Chief speculation concerned the import of the senate action. Did it mean that government, finally, was ready to clamp down on the dictatorial Lewis and abolish his power as a continuing threat to American industry?

It could mean that, if Lewis' mine stoppage resulted in a reversal of labor sentiment among some members of congress and a really "get-tough" labor law were to be enacted.

What Next?

Coal operators and coal consumers were wondering what would be the next move in John L. Lewis' campaign strategy. Lewis, above, had called the miners out in a two-week stoppage which he described as a "memorial" to miners killed and hurt in 1948.

Burglar Irked

In Champaign, Ill., Carl Fletcher, 23, was so irked at finding nothing worth stealing after housebreaking that he called police and reported his own burglary.

Fletcher broke into a filling station, then telephoned the sheriff and police to "come get" him. He waited for them and unlocked the door to let them in. "I just got mad," he said, "at finding nothing

COLLEGE FOR CHEFS

G. I. Schools in cooking, menu planning, restaurant operation and hotel management are being con-ducted in various parts of the country, with one more or less affliated with Yale. For this we give a lusty cheer. If there is one field in which plenty of education is needed, it is in the operation of the average American restaurant and lunchroom. The run-of-the-mill eating places of this country are presided over largely by chefs who are strictly grease-and-hot-flame

Even the proper technique in frying an egg escapes them. Their idea of a good dinner is anything that has been in and out of a grease bath. And they can make coffee taste like essence of marine varnish. They got into the business on a bet, learned to cook by taking an elementary course in arson and kept their jobs because the boss ate elsewhere.

A college for chefs, cooks and stewards is a crying need. America desperately needs it. The customers are tired of being guinea pigs for apprentice ham-and-bean boys whose motto is, "If you can eat it without catsup, it's our mis-

There are G. I. students from 38 states in the school at New Haven. The boys study cooking under experts and nobody who thinks two minutes are enough for a fourminute egg makes the team. No student with a fixed idea that any sandwich is tasty if well upholstered with faded lettuce finishes his freshman year.

We understand special attention is paid to the matter of chicken pies and beef stews and that the dean flunks any student who insists all a chicken pie needs to be irresistible is a slight segment of wing, one quartered potato and a boiled onion whipped in glue.

As for menu planners, ah, there's a field! Take 150,000 middle-class restaurants in this country today, and 149,923 think the menu has been radically changed if the string beans are left out.

Dietitians? Yes and no. Personally, we think that the moment person gets a sheepskin as a dietition he or she thinks it is a license to skimp on all the essentials of lunch except eggplant and coleslaw.

The course in hotel management is needed. too. What a field! There are thousands of cities and towns in America where, except for one inn (if lucky), the hotels are run by sock peddlers hired to keep down expenses and operate wholly on the theory that the guest should bring his own plumbing kit, be able to fix a lock and make no complaint if he has to have the hotel physician immediately after ordering the day's special.

Three cheers and a tiger for that school up in the rarified at-mosphere of Yale. And we hope Harvard and Princeton will see the light, too.

"Realtor" won a race at $43 in Miami the other day and Shudda Haddim is still knocking himself with reproachments. "Realtor! A name like that in Florida and I don't know it's a sure hunch!" he cried. "Every third guy I meet nurses or practical nurses and esthis winter down there is selling lots! I can't do any handicapping the night before this race on account of everybody on the porch is arguin' over real estate.

And on the way to the track the taxi driver stops to point out his acreage! Yet there is this skinner 'Realtor' on the program and I let him go."

But psychiatrists say who will play the horses or shoot dice with his employer's money even though he knows there's better than an even chance that he will be disgraced and ruined—is unconsciously the victim of a secret urge to self-destruction. It is this that will not let him quit when he's ahead but makes him go on till he's 'cleaned out.'

Ways to Better Government

CONGRESS has received all of the report of the commission named to study the administrative departments of the federal government, and make recommendations for the effective reorganization of such departments.

The commission was, in every sense, strictly nonpartisan. It consisted of an equal number of Democrats and Republicans, both in and out of the government. It was named by President Truman, the speaker of the house of representatives, and the president of the senate. Each named an equal number of both the major political parties. The then speaker, Joe Martin, named former President Herbert Hoover as a member of the commission, and, at the suggestion of President Truman, Mr. Hoover was selected as chairman of the Partisan politics had no place or part in the selection of the commission members, nor in its months of deliberation, study of conditions, nor its final recommendations. The one -and only-purpose of all members was to untangle the badly-tangled departments, bureaus, administrations, and what have you, that had been a growth of many years. In fewer words, the purpose was to provide a better administration of government, and reduce the cost.

The recommendations the commission has submitted to congress would, if enacted into law, accomplish, in a large way, all of the desired ends. Those recommendations were made without any consideration of their effect on any political party, or any group, or groups, of government employees. The only consideration was that of simplifying the government operations in the interests of all the American people and reducing the

We send to Washington, to represent us in both the house and senate, some whose attitude is: "Party first, country second." Such representatives and senators, regardless of party affiliation, look askance of anything that might affect partisan patronage; that would reduce the number of government employees. The government employees, whose jobs might be affected, are persistent in their efforts to prevent legislation of which they are selfishly fearful.

The great majority of the American people want the recommendations of that commission enacted into law; they want the simplified government for which the recommendations provide, the elimination of needless red tape, and the over-lapping authority of many departments and bureaus; they want the savingssome three billion dollars each year-to be effected.

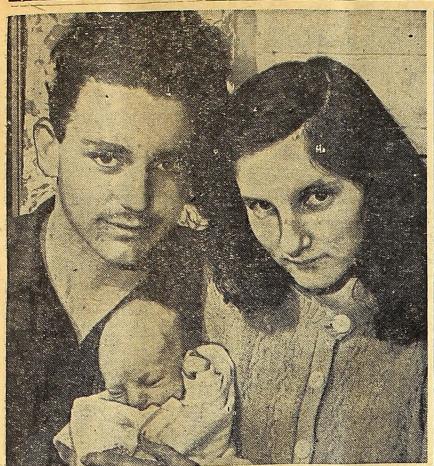

How badly do the American voters want these results? How great is their individual interest in their government? Do they want such things badly enough to cause them to express their wishes to the two senators from their state and to the congressman from their district? Or is the interest of each great enough?

It the result is not worth that small effort on the part of each American voter, the government is hardly worth saving as far as they are concerned. The partisan politician, seeing a threat to some of the patronage he has enjoyed, or may enjoy in the future; the millions of federal government employees, facing a possible loss 'o. his or her job, all will be actively opposing the enactment into law of the recommendations of the commission.

The sentimentalists of this and other countries are agitated over Holland's treatment of the socalled native government in the East Indies. The fact is it is not a government "of, for and by the people." It is the attempted rule of a self-appointed dictator whose outside support now comes from the Communists and did come from the war party in Japan. The people of Indonesia were far better off under Holland's rule and would be better off if that rule could continue. The Indonesians are in no way prepared for self-government. It took better than 40 years to prepare the Filipinos for such a

GOP Has No Program

AT THIS STAGE of the 81st congress, which on the surface has been embroiled in considerable confusion including a filibuster and an apparent split in the Democratic forces-south against norththere is still only a one-way street down which the objective reporter can travel in gathering the news.

For as a matter of fact, there is still only one positive program before the congress: the program which President Truman laid before its members in his state of the union message.

Try as one may to find one, the Republican minority in congress does not have a program, except the negative program of opposition and that does not completely hold water because many of the Republican members will go along with a majority of the Truman program.

The GOP policy committee holds periodical meetings to decide what position to take on a given bill, but even these meetings do not result in any agreement since men like Aiken of Vermont, Flanders of Vermont, Morse of Oregon, Thye of Minnesota, Ives of New York, Baldwin of Connecticut. Langer of North Dakota, Lodge of Massachusetts and others, do not see eye-to-eye with the leadership of the committee which is wrapped up in Senator Taft of Ohio. So no matter what the policy committee decides, these men are left pretty much to their own thinking on the problems before the senate.

Then there is a seeming disagreement between house and senate Republicans. The senate GOP campaign committee is going its own way, detouring around the Republican national committee on both matters of policy and operation. The senate committee has hired Victor Johnson, one-time strategist for former governor and presidential candidate Harold Stassen, as a public relations director. The house GOP campaign committee, headed by the wily ex-speaker Joe Martin of Massachusetts, is planning its own policy and operation and while giving lip service to Chairman Hugh Scott of the GOP national committee, is preparing to set up its own publicity staff and conduct its own operations. The senate committee, according to information is starting off with $50,000 in the kitty, but the house committee is not so well off and will start from scratch to raise its own money to better its press relations and get its public relations story over to the people.

The progressive Republican leadership is hoping that ultimately they will come up with a unified program upon which they can go to the people, but that time has not yet come. With the party apparently so hopelessly divided, whether that time will ever come is a matter for conjecture. Simultaneously whether or not the split between northern and southern Democrats is so deep that it cannot be healed and will endanger the Truman program also is a matter for conjecture. If so, then this congress will eventually turn into a coalition congress of southern Democrats and northern Republicans and will operate ineffectually, much as the 79th congress operated.

Truman Will Fight

The best thinking here in Washington holds that President Truman regards the vote at the last election as a mandate of the people and is out to use every power he has to force through his liberal program, a program which has been labeled everything from "pink New Dealish" to "socialistic" and even "communistic" depending upon the point of view of the opposition.

And this same source of thinking indicates that despite the Democratic split, the administration Democrats, with liberal Republican help, will push through most of the Truman "Fair Deal" program.

This reporter finds that the mail of many congressmen, even including some southern congressmen is unusually heavy. Some offices are swamped with mail, the big bulk of it from individuals and that almost 90 per cent of this mail is definitely favoring the program advanced by the President in his election campaign. The President and the president's cabinet are becoming more and more outspoken in demanding congressional Democrats to go along with the program

President Not 'Kidding'

There is every indication that the President was not kidding when some weeks ago he indicated he might "get on a train" and make another trip to take his program to the people if his measures were not forthcoming from congress. He may make some radio talks, but he has found he is not as effective on the radio as he is face-to-face with the audiences out in the home towns of the country, talking to them in their own language.

Plenty of Room For a Subdivision

Conceivably, a man could build a house and have his bedroom in New Mexico, his bathroom in Arizona, his kitchen in Colorado, and his living room in Utah.

The only drawback to such a plan is the fact that this would-be site-the common meeting point of Utah, Colorado, Arizona, and New Mexico-is quite inaccessible to the ordinary traveler since it is deep in Indian territory, miles from human inhabitants, and used for winter grazing land.

Surveyed by a surveyor named E. N. Darling in 1868, the fourstate boundary is at the intersection of the 37th parallel of north latitude and the 109th meridian of west longitude.

Answer: Try wiping the sticky places very lightly with benzine, being careful not to press hard on the finish. Be careful of fire, and close the door leading to the kitchen. If the table is in the kitchen. do not work there. If the benzine dulls the finish, apply a thin coat of paste wax, let it dry and then polish with a soft cloth.

Question: Can anything be done to stop the radio interference caused by our oil furnace? Some say to ground the furnace. Our furnace is on the main floor as we have no basement.

Answer: Radio interference from oil burners, motors and other electrical equipment can be eliminated, but this calls for the service of an expert electrician or radio serviceman. The manufacturer of your oil burner might be able to take care of the nuisance.

Compare the others with "The Car Designed with YOU in Mind"

You cannot compare the new cars merely by looking at pictures . . . or by watching them on the highway. You've got to get behind the wheel yourself.

That's why we urge you to come and see this new De Soto before you decide on any other car.

You notice the difference right away. De Soto's doors are wide. You walk in . . . and keep your hat on. The steering wheel doesn't hit your knees. You're on chair-high seats, so that you get all the benefit of the larger windows and windshield.

You've got full stretch-out leg room, front and back. And you've got more luggage space in that flush-floor trunk than you ever dreamed of before.

Yes, De Soto is lower. It's got a longer wheelbase (all passengers ride between the axles). But there's no penalty for these advantages. Overall length and breadth are not increased. You needn't rebuild your garage. You can still change a tire. And a dented fender doesn't mean an expensive body repair job.

Let us show you all the new features of the car that lets you drive without shifting. Compare it for beauty, comfort, safety and value. Then decide.

Tune in "HIT THE JACKPOT" every Tuesday night, all CBS stations

Our policy on prices

"It has always been our goal to put a bigger, better automobile within reach of more people. To that end, we have bought the huge factory at Willow Run, and have a great engine plant in Detroit. In Cleveland, we have acquired the world's largest blast furnace for the making of steel. Our engineering-production team and our vast dealer organization have worked overtime to reduce manufacturing and distribution costs. In line with the settled policy of our Corporation, we are giving substantial savings to the public in the form of greatly reduced prices ... even sooner than we expected. Now, almost any American family can own a really big, fine car!" Kaiser-Frazer Corporation

GLORIOUS FABRICS and new, enchanting styles await those of you who are handy with the needle and like to whip together your wardrobe on the sewing ma-

You'll like the feel of the new fabrics when you sew them, then again when you wear them. Patterns employ all the latest style tricks, and there's no reason why you can't come out with clothes that look as though they had been purchased from the smartest shops. If you don't consider yourself professional enough for a strict tailoring job, and still want a suit, why not choose one of the new soft bolero style suits? These are for girls as well as for their mothers, and look equally attractive.

Another new wrinkle in the fashion picture which has been used extensively with the bolero type suit is the print blouse that goes with the skirt. In some cases thes? are attached to the skirt, so that when you remove the bolero you have a dress.

If you prefer, make a basic dress in one of the new soft woolen materials, then top this with bolero. Wear the dress with scatter pins or a necklace, and you'll be well dressed for club activities, shopping, business or calling. Swirling Skirts Suitable

Budget-Wise Coat

This all-over quilted coat, made of economical Indian Head cotton, is easily created at home with the aid of a quilting attachment on the sewing machine. Steel-gray with a bright red lining is a good combination to use. The coat serves now for school and casual wear and later over light dresses on breezy summer days. Note the natural shoulder line and full back which are fashion-wise features.

Carefully No matter how excellent your pattern, it will not do you justice unless you fit it to yourself. Very few of us coincide with pattern measurements and this means slight adjusting. Those of you who have had experience altering clothes know it's much easier to take in a dress that's too large than to enlist material for use in a dress that's too small. The same is true of patterns.

It's better to buy the next size larger in a pattern if you have one or two measurements in excess of those given on it. Tucks are easy to take on those portions in which you have smaller measurements.

No Life Is Wholly Without Hope

THIS IS NOT a letter of com-plaint," writes Rena Janzen, 19 years old, "It is to ask you a question. Is there anything ahead in my life that will make today's difficulties and humiliations worth while?

"We live on the fourth floor of a New York City apartment house far downtown," the letter goes on. 'It is one of the thousands of high, crowded brick tenements that form more than half of this city.

The ones down our way are older, dirtier, more crowded. We have four rooms: parlor, kitchen, two bedrooms, bath. There are eight of us: my young brothers of 17, 13 and 7, a sister of 11, Grandma, Mother and Dad. Joe and Matt sleep in the parlor; Henry with Mother and Dad; Grandma, my sister and I have a room so small that there is no space for a chair.

Grandma's mattress is under the three-quarter bed, and under the bed are also my brushes and makeup, a box with spare blouses, Anya's school-books, and Grandma's black valise.

Live in the Kitchen

"Of course we all live in the kitchen. It is smelly and noisy in summer, and hot as only city kitchens get hot; in winter it is smelly and noisy and hardly warmer than the rest of the house. Only the halls are warmed.

"I will leave to your imagination what chance a girl has of beauty, ried, crowded, hard-working, underleisure, rest, hospitality in a life privileged boys and girls about you like mine," writes Rena. "Papa are doing. sizes as ready-made dresses, so it's best to check measurements before buying.

on your own. Fix your thoughts upon that little country home with the flowers and open spaces about it, and it will begin to take shape and move toward you as steadily as tomorrow's dawn.

Out of just such sordid, crowded, noisy, squalid, odorous environments as the one you describe have come thousands-yes, millions, of our men and women who now occupy suburban homes, who have flowers, a car, fresh suitable clothing, pleasant plentiful mealsin a word, happy, busy, useful lives. Some have risen to actual wealth and power, but you will be satisfied with less than that, and you can win it.

In 10 or 15 years many of these neighbors you pity will be busy in important work: Secretaries, buyers, superintendents, politicians, dress designers, movie and radio performers, living the kind of life you now consider unattainable. What your father and mother and grandmother have, after their terrors in their own country, their suffering and privation, seems to them riches. Good food, light, amusements, education for their children, clinics and shops and movies accessible-these to them represent luxury.

These things are not enough for you, and you are right. You are exercising your inherent and glorious American right to go farther; to give your children a better start than you have had. Work and plan toward that day, as all these hur-

Need Patience 300 Words a Minute

Held Possible Pace NEW YORK, N. Y .- If it takes you more than three minutes to read a 900-word story "you are wasting valuable time." This is the contention of Dr. J. Wayne Wrightstone, assistant director in charge of tests and measurements for the board of education, who asserts that there is no valid reason why any adult of average intelligence cannot read at the rate of 300 words per minute. Although it takes only a few hours' practice to acquire good reading habits and speed, Dr. Wrightstone says that 80 per cent of the adult population of this city need improvement in their read-

All that is required to be a good reader - and to be able to complete an average sized novel in five hours-is patience, perseverance and proper judgment, according to Dr. Wrightstone.

Proper judgment, he explained enables a good reader to tell which passage he can scan and which he must scrutinize. This is the technique employed by most book reviewers and as a result they can achieve a reading speed of 500 to 600 words per minute.

Dr. Wrightstone's own reading rate is 500 words per minute, which, he adds, "is why I would never make a good copy reader—I read too fast." Of all the reading faults, he said, the most common is that of "vocalization.' Some "vocalizers" mumble out loud; other "keep quiet but allow their throat muscles to form words, thereby slowing the reading process." # Singing Coach Says Margaret Has Fine Voice

NEW YORK .- Margaret Truman is learning to frown, to smile, to bow "loosely" and to sing distinctly under the gay, benign direction of a ruddy-cheeked Dutchman.

But, Coenraad V. Bos wants it understood, he's not teaching her how to sing. He's the singing coach of the nation's best known music student-not her singing teacher.

Coaching the daughter of the President of the United States is not a novel experience for the 73year-old musician. An earlier pupil with professional ambitions was another Margaret, daughter of Woodrow Wilson.

In the course of a 52-year career Bos has been closely associated, as coach or accompanist, with some of the music world's outstanding performers. He is coach and accompanist to Helen Traubel and has been for 10 years. He thinks the blond soprano from St. Louis is the greatest living singer.

Only Beginning He's enthusiastic, too, about his new pupil from Missouri.

"Of course she is only beginning," he said of Margaret Truman, "but she has a lovely voice. Her French is beautiful and she's very indus-trious and ambitious. But she needs help with her German. I'm going to start her on Schubert's "Ave Maria."

Bos isn't prepared to say how long Miss Truman will work with him except that she intends to study "a long time."

"It's uncertain how soon she will sing in public," he said, "but what experience she already has had will stand her in good stead. Every young artist has to go through the business of stage fright, acquire stage presence. Now she wants to become a really fine artist and come out again."

Bos said his job includes correcting the language of the singers, working on their facial expressions.

"Many singers work hard on foreign languages-they'll sing perfectly in French or German or Itallian-and then neglect their own language," he continued.

"Also many singers-especially American girls-sing with no expression on their faces at all. They don't know how to use their brow to frown, if they're singing about death. Or to smile, if they are singing a gay song."

Training is Thorough

Bos trains his students thoroughly in the fine art of taking bows.

"So many singers have no idea about this at all," he explained. They bow so stiffly they look funny. I show them how to control themselves, be loose and relax and make their bows look elegant. Although he is not a singing teacher, Bos is most careful of his pupils voices. "If for example, one of them develops a tremolo, then I send him back to his singing teacher to get it corrected. For his age, Bos is about as decrepit as a healthy cheerleader. Associates marvel at his ability to work an exhausting schedule without becoming fatigued.

Swim Suits This Year

To Reveal More Wearer LOS ANGELES.—This summer's swim suits made a formal debut and to nobody's surprise they revealed a lot.

The occasion was the opening of California apparel creators' press week.

Fred Cole of California explained, A swim suit is not hung on the body -it's an engineering proposition.

One of the most popular entries was Cole's sheath silhouette, designed by Margit Fellegi, which tollows the body contour in graceful lines, set off my shirring. Another Cole standout is a skirted print number designed by Elza of Hollywood. Then there's a neat iridescent chambray with separate patio skirts.

The trend is to one piece outfits, mostly without straps. But there were plenty of the midriff variety, too, including one by Gantner called "Black Magic," fashioned entirely without vertical seams. As a result says the press agent, the fit can't be improved. Caltax features several short skirts and apron effects to flatter women a bit nippier than the models. A favorite is a gingham creation called "Bloomer Girl." Catalina's entries include two piece black decorated with a white night blooming cereus and a dressy boucle knit, with ivy print on a slimming front panel. Rose Marie Reid has even done evening dresses over swim trunks, in metallic cottons. And a favorite of hers is a elasticized fabric.

Basically, the new stuff has held fairly close to the previously accepted in design-with plenty of room for suntan. But colors are generally softer, and all sorts of fabrics have gone to sea-chambrays, seersuckers, terry cloth, jacquarded satins, tie silks, nylons, and even velvet and lame.

equals two tablespoons. New Test to Keep

Farmers on Toes A new test for detecting weevil infestation in grain has been developed by J. C. Frankenfeld, USDA entomologist at Manhatten, Kansas, who discovered that small red dots appeared where weevils had laid eggs in the kernels if grain samples were soaked in a dye containing acid fushsin: the dots do not appear on grain which is free from infestation. Using this new method, all grain brought for milling purposes can be tested for weevil infestation onthe-spot, and docked in price accordingly - likewise, the wise farmer will make sure his grain is safe.

Ice Cream, Cake Make Acceptable Desserts For Nearly Every Meal

THERE'S NOTHING FANCY about ice cream and cake, but they make a wonderful dessert for any occasion, plain or fancy. Then, too, there are few who can resist turning down a heaping bowl of creamy ice cream and a slice of feather-like cake, so you have no worry about pleasing family or guests.

For youngsters who have difficulty getting their daily quota of milk and other dairy foods, ice cream is the perfect answer. The same is true, too, of adults who cannot drink their pint of milk.

Ice cream is a highly nutritious dairy food that furnishes energy as well as minerals such as calcium and phosphorus. It also gives significant amounts of vitamins A and B2 and quality protein, all of which are needed for proper growth, strong muscles, bones and teeth.

You don't need to do anything special to make a festive dessert out of ice cream. Simply pile it in a glass bowl for easy serving

A large serving bowl of ice cream surrounded with luscious fudge cup cakes topped with swirls of chocolate frosting and pecan halves make a gala dessert for a festive occasion. Pass this with assorted sauces or jams and jellies for sundaes.

cakes which you may want to serve:

Fudge Cupcakes (Makes 12 cakes)

- 2 squares unsweetened choc-
- olate 14 eup sugar
- 2 tablespoons milk 1 teaspoon vanilla
- 14 cup butter 1/2 eup sugar
- 1 egg 14 cups sifted cake flour
- 11/2 teaspoon baking powder 1/4 teaspoon baking soda
- * teaspoon salt Melt chocolate over hot water, add one-fourth cup sugar and two tablespoons milk; stir until very smooth. Add vanilla and remove from heat.

Work butter and sugar to a soft cream, add egg and beat hard until blended. Stir in milk, then the flour mixed and sifted with the other dry ingredients. When mixed, stir in chocolate mixture and pour into buttered cupcake pans. Bake in a moderate (375°) oven for about 25 minutes. Cool and cover tops with:

Apple-Raisin Sauce (For Ice Cream)

- 2 cups sweetened; strained apple sauce
- 1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
- 1/2 cup seedless raisins
- 1 tablespoon orange marmalade

Mix apple sauce with all other ingredients and heat slowly to the boiling point. Simmer 10 minutes over a slow fire or until raisins are plump. Cool before serving.

1/4 teaspoon salt 2 tablespoons butter 1 teaspoon cornstarch 1/2 cup coffee cream

Mix sugar with cornstarch, cof-fee and salt. Add butter and cream and stir over a slow fire until boiling. Boil for one minute, remove from fire and cool slightly. Add one teaspoon vanilla. Serve cold. Another delicious way to serve ice cream and cake is to arrange two slices of spice cake for a serving. Place a portion of ice cream in the center and top with fruit sauce, an apple-raisin sauce, as given below, or crushed pineapple, pineapple and ginger or mincemeat sauce.

Chocolate Frosting 2 squares unsweetened chocolate, melted

2 tablespoons bot milk 11/2 cups sifted confectioners' sugar (about)

1 teaspoon vanilla pecan nut meats

Melt chocolate over hot water, add hot milk, sugar and vanilla to make a thick frosting. Beat vigorously to make it creamy and more sugar, if necessary, to make frosting spread easily, without running. Coffee flavor beautifully goes with vanilla ice cream. If you like a sauce, here's just the one:

of Harmful Body Waste

Your kidneys are constantly filtering waste matter from the blood stream. But kidneys sometimes lag in their work—do not act as Nature intended—fail to remove impurities that, if retained, may poison the system and upset the whole body machinery.

Symptoms may be nagging backache, persistent headache, attacks of dizziness, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes—a feeling of nervous anxiety and loss of pep and strength. Other signs of kidney or bladder disorder are sometimes burning, scanty or too frequent urination.

There should be no doubt that prompt treatment is wiser than neglect. Use Doan's Pills. Doan's have been winning new friends for more than forty years. They have a nation-wide reputation. Are recommended by grateful people the country over. Ask your neighbor!
