WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

Critics Attack New Farm Program As Urging Unprecedented Controls; Extension Seen for Marshall Plan

EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysts and not necessarily of this newspaper.

FARM PROGRAM:

Pros & Cons President Truman's sweeping new farm program met with mixed response on Capitol Hill. Critics claimed it would carry the nation closer to socialism and would empower the government with unprecedented farm controls and powers.

PROponents of the measure contended that consumers would be benefited because retail food prices would be allowed to seek their own level.

No matter which school of thought was correct, it was inescapable that the program would use taxpayers' dollars to guarantee farmers an income equal to that of a recent 10-year period.

Some opposition to the plan termed it as one that might be so expensive that it would push the U. S. treasury toward bankruptcy and would thoroughly regiment the farmer.

CHARLES F. BRANNAN, secretary of agriculture, conceded that "imponderables" such as weather and improved farm techniques made it impossible now to estimate the cost of the program.

He said of the program that it probably would mean a heavy drain on consumers' dollars.

He added that the government plans soon to undertake a costly new program to keep up the price of pork. If this program is approved, Brannan said, farmers would sell their pork for whatever it would bring. The government—meaning the public—then would pay the farmer the difference between the support price and the price the farmer actually received.

REPRESENTATIVE Anderson (R., Minn.) was not impressed. He estimated the total government outlay under the program might run as high as 10 billion dollars a year.

When it is remembered the government has no money except that which it gets from the people in taxes, objective observers were wondering who, if anyone, could benefit by the program, since farmer and consumer alike would be paying out added funds to finance it.

OLD AGE:

No Elixir Impending old age affects many people in many ways. But to all who stand on its threshold, it is a topic of prime consideration. Of late, science, medicine and the psychiatrists all have been concerned with the subject and apparently little loath to be heard upon it.

LATEST to ponder the problem of how one should approach old age and what may be expected in this period of life was a conference of 800 physicians from all over the nation.

These physicians were all agreed that one of the biggest problems facing the medical profession in the problems of old age is making those added years healthy, happy and useful.

Throughout the conference the warning was sounded again and again that something must be done to give men and women not only long life, but a healthy, happy and useful old age.

THE SIMPLE and sad fact is that man's life has been extended beyond his present capacity to enjoy it as a useful citizen, the medical authorities agreed. For in prolonging life, science also prolonged suffering and misery—all the chronic illnesses and disabilities which plague mankind in the declining years.

Dr. Chauncey Leake, of the University of Texas, said that young people as early as in high school should be taught how to grow old—that is, how to cultivate hobbies and intellectual curiosity and how to develop a systematic regimen for physical and mental hygiene.

He declared the country should have an "old-age program" similar to the child-care program.

HE ALSO URGED increased research on drugs which may help the aged by preventing the disorders to which old people are subject.

But, coming out by the same door wherein he went, he warned that all hope for an "elixir of life" must be dismissed—that there is no "miracle drug" to restore youth to the aged.

Wherein he delivered himself of a truism well known even as Ponce de Leon was searching for the fountain of eternal youth.

"CORN" PROPOSAL

British Shudder at Hominid Grits Plan

It was doubtful if the majority of Americans would work up any vast regret at the plight of Englishmen who faced the horrible possibility of having to eat American-provided hominid grits.

For, most Americans would realize that there are thousands of needy poor right here in the South in our own United States to whom hominid grits is a staple item of Happy Birthday!

In the spring when care and strife are most easily forgotten and put aside, the expression here of Pandora, Philadelphia zoo's precocious chimpanzee seems to epitomize the carefree abandon of spring. But Pandora is happy for another reason—she's celebrating her second birthday on her gift bicycle, and is she having fun!

MARSHALL PLAN:

To Be Continued Europe appeared certain of continued receipt of Marshall plan aid for another 15 months.

An enthusiastic house of representatives, shouting down or beating off every attempt to reduce the proposed appropriation figure, approved the gift bill by a vote of 354 to 18.

EVERY AMENDMENT which would have reduced the fund, or delayed action in order to study Europe's real needs, was brushed off by the majority.

The bill, as approved by the house, was for 200 million dollars less than the bill which was voted by the senate. The upper chamber passed a measure appropriating 5.58 billion dollars. The house bill called for 5.38 billion.

The house measure would authorize continued U. S. aid until July 1, 1950, subject to possible later cuts by the senate and house appropriations committees. It provided 272 million dollars to encourage American private business to invest in recovery projects abroad.

Such investments would be guaranteed against loss by confiscation of property overseas.

FINAL VOTE on the house bill came after Majority Leader John W. McCormack (D., Mass.) pleaded against a GOP-led economy drive with a warning that the "world is looking either to Washington or the Kremlin."

On the passage vote, 125 Republicans joined 229 Democrats in favor of the bill.

Rep. John M. Vorys (R., Ohio) backed an amendment to cut off 380 million dollars from the appropriations, which was defeated.

Vorys, saying he favored the Marshall plan and the North Atlantic pact, nevertheless warned that "we have to keep strong here at home... if we are to help out abroad."

Vorys offered an amendment of his own to term what he called the "give-away" of American billions. It, too, was defeated.

SACRIFICE: Love of Mate If the name of vanity truly is "woman" then the sacrifice made by a Chicago woman for her husband must rank among the "no greater love" examples which are contained in the record.

MRS. JOAN BIERDZ, 20, had a husband who was stricken with cancer. This disease had ravaged his face to a point where an adult told him that he "looked like the villain of Frankenstein." Mr. Bierdz was a patient in the Bronx, N.Y., veterans' hospital. He had written his wife that his face "caused comment" when he attended a movie, and that he would never go out again.

After receiving the letter from her 26-year-old husband, Mrs. Bierdz slashed both her arms. She was arraigned in a Chicago court on a charge of disorderly conduct.

SHE TOLD the judge: "I did it because I wanted people to look at me, instead of him... my husband has been told by VA doctors he can live only a year at most."

Bing Crosby, whose varied activities include the vice-presidency of the Pittsburgh Pirates, looks like anything but a crooner as he takes a turn at bat. Bing headed up a coast-to-coast radio program "welcome back, baseball."

PARKING: Now Automatic There appeared some hope for relief in the nation's parking dilemma. In Boston, William A. Braun had invented an automatic parking device where a customer's car could be parked in a mechanical storage garage. Boston city officials were showing interest in the proposition.

Braun said at such a garage human hands would not touch the automobiles.

DEFENSE:

Excesses Seen

What could the people believe about America's defense needs? Were the taxpayers being taken for a "ride" by a cynical, contemptuous coterie of military brass hats who were using world tension to set up an artificial basis for huge grabs from appropriation funds?

THOSE APPEARED to be fair questions—and here's why: Robert Patterson, former secretary of war said: "It is no exaggeration to say that the cost in duplication, competition and disjointed effort directly traceable to the two-headed (army-navy) system ran into billions and billions. Much of the public debt is due to that division of authority and responsibility between the war department and the navy department."

But what has that to do with defense appropriations? Herbert Hoover—appointed to head up a survey committee to streamline government and cut costs—said that the army, navy and air force are padding their money requests to congress by millions of dollars.

He also accused them of "startling" waste and extravagance. THE FORMER PRESIDENT, appearing before the senate armed forces committee, declared: "Applications in the military budget for hundreds of millions of dollars to retool industry should be examined with the greatest skepticism."

Hoover told the committee that what the department of national defense needs is a good bookkeeping system. "At the present time," he said, "nobody can tell the cost of any particular function in the armed services."

In submitting a report, Hoover observed that the federal government now has about 27 billion dollars worth of personal property, and said: "We might be able to live on our fat for awhile if we had it catalogued and knew where it was."

ALLIANCE: Things Humming The administration was really moving on the north atlantic defense alliance.

President Truman had urged the senate to take early action on the treaty in order to help western Europe ward off "brutality and aggression" by pledging U. S. participation in the pact.

SUCH ACTION, he said, "would be a long step on the road to peace."

Thus, as he began his fifth year as President of the United States, Harry Truman pointed up anew his conviction that a lasting world peace is an obtainable goal.

"This treaty," he said, "makes clear the determination of the people of the United States and of our neighbors in the North Atlantic community to do their utmost to maintain peace with justice and to take such action as they may deem necessary if the peace is broken."

WALLGREN: He's Willing Like the weak, but insistent jangling of a run-down alarm on a bedside clock, Mon C. Wallgren was still talking about what might have been.

A VISITOR to the White House—where he did not talk with Mr. Truman, the former Washington governor and close friend of the President, said he is "still available" for the chairmanship of the National Securities Resources Board.

Wallgren's nomination to that post by President Truman was tabled by a senate committee.

A BUTTON MAY MAKE GROMYKO A YES MAN...

What if Science Could Control Man's Thoughts?

...OR A RAY MIGHT MAKE HARRY CHEER KREMLIN

By H. I. PHILLIPS

SCIENCE AND THOUGHT CONTROL

WITHOUT assuming any mantle of prophecy, it is fair to suggest that ability to control man's thoughts with precision through science is by no means out of the question. This is more awesome in its interpretations than was the mushroom cloud in 1945.—Dr.

John Ely Burchard, Dean of Humanities at Massachusetts Tech. There goes that gooseflesh creeping up our spine again!

Say it ain't so, doctor! Tell us you don't really mean that the laboratory will find a way to throw a switch and make a man's thoughts come out the designated slot! Admit you are not serious in contemplating a day when a button may turn a yes man into a no man, nice as it might be to see in converting Gromyko—prestol—from a no man into a yes man!

Or is it to be done by rays? Turned by Joe Stalin onto President Truman, might they halt Harry in the middle of a stern "We intend to stand by to the bitter end" and bring forth an abrupt cry, "Hooray for the Kremlin!"

Do you see a time when the Thirteen Men of Moscow, giving uproarious approval to a Pravda editorial denouncing America, may, under a magic ray in the hands of Uncle Sam, suddenly glow with anger and order the Pravda editorial writer shot at once?

Is the time near when Vishinsky, loaded with expletives and rising to excoriate the democracies, will, due to a current, a ray or an isotope, break into a broad smile and say, "Ladies and gentlemen, I am just a Happiness Boy. There is nothing in this world like friendship. See what the boys in the backroom will have!"

Can Henry Wallace, mounting the platform, be reached by a mystery beam and his address denouncing ERP, the Truman administration and the Atlantic pact converted into a talk on how to produce better laying hens?

We see the following possibilities: 1.—Moscow issues orders for the complete seizure of China. The Chinese Communist general gets it, but Washington calls on its Thought Control tower, centers the beam on him and renders the general incapable of saying anything but "Nuts!" 2.—The politburo prepares to issue a blast at America. Under the Thought Blitzer the boys cannot think of the words "Wall Street," "Money Bund" or "Exploiters." This leaves them completely helpless. 3.—A new play opens on Broadway. It is lousy. But the producer has scientific connections. He controls the thoughts of the critics to such an extent they can't even dismiss it as "adequate."

4.—We go to the races with the right combination in the Daily Double. It is 2 and 6. The guy at the window who has a thought control apparatus fills our skull with the numbers 4 and 7.

(P. S.—Nothing keeps us sane except the fact that the winning combination turns out to be 5 and 8.)

It probably will be a long time before a return to the day when evidence that a man was under the influence of alcohol was not proof he belonged in the upper brackets.

Have you heard of the fellow who is so suspicious of everything he taps his phone to hear his own remarks?

TRIBUTE

Grace Nell Crowell

AND DAVID, AFTER HE HAD SERVED HIS OWN GENERATION... FELL ON SLEEP, AUG 13, 36.

No finer tribute ever could be given Than that brief simple utterance of praise. God asks no greater service than this: To raise the standard of men's earthly days. David, the king, "had served his generation"— Straightforward words that shine in his behalf, More challenging in their adulation Than any chiseled-marble epitaph.

To serve one's generation, to be giving New strength and courage to one's fellow-man, To tread life's highroad bravely, ever living With one clear purpose, one exalted plan, Will rear for any man a shaft so high Its climbing peak will reach and pierce the sky.

The Fiction ARTISTIC ANCESTORS

By Richard H. Wilkinson "I WISH," said Aime Butterworth wistfully, "I only wish there had been some one in our family who really did something, something worth while, something—" she smiled as she said it—"I could brag about."

Fred Butterworth laid aside the morning paper, gulped down the last of his coffee, shoved back his chair and said: "What?"

Aime overlooked his rudeness. "The bridge club meets here this afternoon," she said, "and I dread it because Aggie and Gertrude Wilcox will monopolize the conversation with stories of their ancestors."

Fred scratched his chin and contemplated the wistful look in his wife's eyes. Suddenly he banged the table. "By George, I'd almost forgotten it! Darned if I hadn't. You sit here a minute, sweet, till I rummage around in the attic. I'll give you something to brag about!"

Later he returned with a book. "But what is it?" asked Aime. "It's a book of poetry, that's what it is! Written by my mother and published 20 years ago. There's talent in my family, I'll have you know."

Aime's eyes lighted, then glowed with sudden joy. "Fred! You dear! Is it really? Was your mother really a poet? Oh, why didn't you tell me before! It's just too exciting!"

Fred grinned delightedly. Enroute to the station he began to smile. And by the time he had boarded the 8:15 the smile had deepened into an occasional chuckle. Tom Cooke, who usually sat with Fred during the short run to the city, became curious.

"Say what's eating you this morning? Let a man in on it if you've got something that'll fetch a laugh these dull days."

Fred laughed outright. "I'll tell you, Tom. It's too good to keep. But don't on your life breathe a word. It would kill Aime."

TOM MADE SOLEMN promises and cocked his ear. "Well," said Fred, "Aime was upset this morning because she didn't have anything to brag about at her bridge club. The other members, it seems, have artistic ancestors. It made Aime feel bad to think she married into such an uninteresting family, so I dug into an old trunk and produced a book of poems that mother published 20 years ago, and told her to brag about that."

Tom looked puzzled. "What's wrong with that? I'd say a mother-in-law poet was O.K."

HEADLESS ROOSTER . . . Mrs. Martha Green's remarkable rooster, to whom decapitation didn't matter very much, is shown putting away a tidy breakfast of egg yolk and warm milk. This is rather interesting when one stops to realize that the rooster has been without a head for several days. Mrs. Green was the most surprised shopper in Los Angeles when the beheaded bird she had bought at a meat market started squawking as soon as she got it home.

EASTER BONNET . . . Margaret Truman's Easter bonnet didn't have any bird on it, but this is how it would have looked to a bird if he had happened to be around. Like any other American girl, she got a big bang out of a becoming bonnet.

"HAIR-RAISING" PROSPECTS . . . Model Pam Shand displays one of the futuristic hair-dos that have invaded the New York style scene. They're creations of a Dali-like hair stylist whose trade name is Mark. Wires, lacquers, multi-colored switches and top-knots are all utilized.

LIKE A PAGE OUT OF THE PAST . . . Take a look at the faces giving this umpire a bad time. It's possible you may be seeing them again this season, wearing the same sneers but different uniforms. This picture, taken in 1937, shows two members of the original St. Louis Cardinals "Gas House Gang," Manager Frankie Frisch (left) and shortstop Leo Durocher staging a verbal battle at the plate during a tight game. The boys are back together again, only Durocher is manager of the New York Giants and Frisch is one of his coaches.

EVENTS MATCH-UP WITH NAME . . . Seldom have the events in a person's life so happily matched up with a name as has happened in the case of little Mary Happy Heitman, shown here. The 3½-year old miss is both "merry" and "happy" since a major film studio has offered her a long-term contract and a judge has approved it. She will earn from $100 to $1,000 a week over a seven-year period. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Heitman, of Los Angeles.

Three Young Men

SEVENTY-FOUR years ago a kid of 13 saw Aristides win the first Kentucky Derby. His name is Matt Winn, now nearly 88 years old.

Seventy years ago, another kid showed up in one of the minor eastern ball parks, possibly Pittsfield, as a lean, lank scrawny catcher. His name is Connie Mack, now 86 years old.

Also some 70 years ago a high school kid did some pitching and playing end before he entered Yale. His name is Alonzo Stagg, also set at the tender age of 86.

Here are three men who might have the slogan, "Life can begin at any age, but it only warms up in the 80's." For Matt Winn is handling the production act for the 75th Kentucky Derby, the greatest of them all in the words and mind of this incredible turfman.

At the same time, Connie Mack is dreaming of his 10th pennant, actively in charge of a ball club that has a chance to win with just a few lucky spins from the wheel of chance.

And with Messrs. Winn and Mack featured entries in racing and baseball, Lonnie Stagg is actively helping young Lonnie, his son, to teach the young men in a Pennsylvania college how to tackle, block, run and throw passes.

Here are three men who can lay claim to a total of 260 years and are not only actively connected with sport, but in two instances, Winn and Mack, with the biggest shows of the year.

This has never happened before. Certainly no two men at the ages of 86 and 88 have played such leading roles in sport, and Stagg, at 86, is probably in better condition than either.

At a party one night in Los Angeles two years ago, I recall the block that Stagg put on the burly Curly Lambeau, explaining some play, as the big man, then coach of the Green Bay Packers, showed his astonishment, Connie Mack said, "I think I'll leave for my seat before I get killed."

It was Victor Hugo who wrote, in effect—"I feel in myself the future life. I am like a forest that more than once has been cut down. The new shoots are stronger and livelier than ever. My soul is more luminous when my body powers begin to fail. The snows of winter may be on my head, but the sunshine of eternal spring is in my heart."

This is the answer to Winn, Mack and Stagg—"The snows of winter may be on their heads, but the sunshine of eternal spring is in their hearts." They never look behind. They look only to the days and years ahead. The past is dust. It is only tomorrow that matters. This keeps 'em young.

The Big Year

Unless an unexpected jolt arrives at some early date, Messrs. Winn and Mack both figure that 1949 may be the best year either has ever known.

Colonel Winn is certain that his Derby will lure more than 100,000 spectators into his stands, and set a new mark. There seems to be grave doubt in many centers that any Kentucky Derby ever drew 100,000 fans.

Two years ago this doubt was expressed in loud tones. I asked Colonel Winn for the correct figures.

"I'll tell you," he said. "Tell those who doubt the figures that I will be glad to bet $10,000 that we had 100,000 or more spectators, and if they care to take the bet, I'll guarantee to prove it to their complete satisfaction." No one cared to take the bet.

Derby Day at Churchill Downs is beyond description. You can call the place a madhouse and then retire. But for all that, it is a terrific show, due largely to tradition and the showmanship of Colonel Matt Winn. The amazing feature is that so many take their beating, year after year, and come back for more.

So far as competition goes, 1949 has everything it takes to build up interest with the possibility or probability of a big, well-balanced field. The next two weeks will tell us more about this.

In the same way, Connie Mack believes he has a good chance to win the American league flag again. He makes no pennant predictions, but he will explain to you that if one or two things happen, his Athletics will be in front at the finish. He fully expects to be running one-two-three down the stretch in September, and this time he is equipped with reserves to handle bad breaks.

POLITICAL FACES . . . This belongs to British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin who is shown concentrating on some official papers with the aid of a protruding tongue. The picture was taken at a United Nations general assembly meeting in New York.

LADY ENGINEER . . . Phyllis "Sandy" Evans, junior in the Drexel institute college of engineering, studies a vibration tachometer. She has been elected first president of the society of women engineers.

SIGNS LAW . . . President Truman signs legislation giving the federal government's consent to the five-state upper Colorado river compact. Arizona, Utah, Wyoming, New Mexico and Colorado are signatories to the pact.

ADD—4 cups flour, beat until smooth; then mix in shortening. Stir in remaining flour, mix thoroughly; turn onto lightly floured board, cover and let rest about 10 min.

KNEAD—until smooth and satiny (about 5 minutes).

ROUND UP—dough, place in a large greased bowl. Cover with damp cloth, set in warm place (85° F.) and let rise until double (about 1½-2 hrs.)

PUNCH DOWN—and let rise again until nearly double. (May omit this 2nd rising to save time).

CUT—dough in 4 equal parts, round up, cover and let rest about 10 min. on lightly floured board.

SHAPE—into loaves and place in well greased bread pans. (See easy illustrated method below).

COVER—lightly and set in a warm place, allowing dough to rise until sides reach top of pan and corners are filled (about 1½ hours). Dough should feel light to the touch.

BAKE—in moderately hot oven, 375° F., about 50 minutes.

YIELD—4 Loaves.

*Use new Robin Hood "Rolled Dough" Method for shaping perfect loaves of better bread.

Step 1. With rolling pin, roll dough out to uniform thickness, stretching by hand to form rectangle approximately 9" x 12". Make certain to break down all gas bubbles in the outer edge of the dough.

Step 2. From upper edge, roll dough toward you, jelly roll fashion, sealing dough with heat of hand after each roll of dough. (About four turns will bring you to last seal.) Be sure to seal final seam on bottom of loaf.

Step 3. Seal ends of the loaf by using the side of the hand to get them sealed tight.

Step 4. Fold sealed ends of loaf under, using fingers, as above. Avoid tearing dough.

Step 5. Place shaped loaf, with seam side down, in well greased bread pan.

Step 6. Proceed in usual way for raising and baking . . . for a perfect loaf every time!

Be Smart!
 When hair-dos are simple, your hat takes on more of an ornamental quality. And what could be more provocatively ornamental than the many versions of the bonnet now in the fashion spotlight? Here, for example, is one of the new bonnets, close-fitting and tiny, the better to give the cap-like dash of color above bangs and softly-curved under-hair. For utter femininity, there's nothing more effective than a splash of small flowers repeated in a ribbon-backed corsage, and a velvet ribbon tied underneath the chin.

Give Your Home 'New Look' With More, Brighter Slipcovers
 By Ertta Haley

Rips Out Seams
 THE SPRING of the year seems a good time to do something about giving the home a new look. It's true that you've probably been putting away blankets and other wintry things, perhaps even added a new coat of paint or fresh wallpaper to some of the rooms; but what about new slipcovers?

Slipcovers are simple enough to make if you have taken proper measurements of your furniture, and when colors are well chosen and fitting accurate, the home achieves a newness that nothing else, except new furniture, can give it.

You need no longer put off the job of covering the furniture because of lack of fabric selection. All types of new materials are on the market, and coordinated fabrics are sold even in the inexpensive lines.

When covering more than one piece of furniture in a room, take advantage of the coordinated color

Rips Out Seams

A new sewing invention, known as the ripper, fits into the needle bar on any sewing machine and takes out seams as fast as the ordinary needle sews them in. Destined to save the home seamstress many hours of time, the ripper promises to eliminate completely old-fashioned ripping methods. The device is a specially honed and angled, tiny, knife-like instrument. It separates the weave in the fabric without cutting the cloth, but slices the taut bobbin stitch. The attachment is installed as simply as changing needles on the machine. To use, simply follow the path of stitching as the cloth passes under the foot.

schemes if you feel a bit shy about what's proper together. Even an amateur can come up with a combination of fabrics which looks professional when the choice of several fabrics is done by professionals.

It's smart, too, to have two sets of slipcovers and drapes, one for winter use, and now, one for summer wear. This gives you a good opportunity to "rest" one set when the other goes into use.

Then, too, it gives you plenty of time to clean or wash one set while still having the furniture covered.

Light Colored Fabrics Are Favored

For warm weather, the sunlight colors are much favored. That doesn't mean that you can not use some brown, navy or even black in the room for slipcovers; it simply implies that the over-all effect is gay and lighthearted as befits the season.

The boxed slipcover with welt seams is the most popular type of cover among professionals, but it may be made at home. The welt which is at the seams may now be purchased by the yard and may be attached to the seams before they are sewed together.

In place of fasteners, you may use zippers, which are put on much the same way as they are on dresses and skirts.

In the past, we were advised to cut the material right on the chair, leaving a seam allowance. For those of you who lack this confidence in cutting, patterns are available.

All of these aids will help in making the job of putting together a slipcover as easy as making a pot holder.

Step-by-Step Directions Given for Slipcovering

Many problems are solved, as I've mentioned, if you use a pattern, but if you do not use one, or if you cannot find the type you need, follow these tips.

Lay the fabric on the chair or whatever you are covering and see that the pattern or stripe is properly centered. Decide on the shape by shaping the boxing at the front of the chair. Pin the fabric in place. Work with the right side of the fabric. Every seam is folded three-fourths of an inch so there is enough fabric to be formed into a welt if you are making it of the same material.

Chalk lines where seams come; also chalk the outline of the seat and front bands. Remove fabric and place on the floor where you can check the measurements of the chair against the actual fabric outlines. Cut the seat and allow for seams. Make allowances at the end for all bands and flaps, so they may be tailored neatly in finishing the cover when the seat is joined to the skirt.

Lay the cut material, pinned and basted, on the chair. Measure for the back of the chair and also at the lowest point where the fabric folds into the chair. Chalk the usual lines again; place fabric on floor and check against the original measurements.

Now fit the fabric to the arm and wing of the chair. Check this on the floor as outlined above, and cut a similar piece for the other arm.

Measure, cut and pin a small piece for the sides of the chair. After one side is finished, it may be duplicated for the other side.

For pleats at the corners, allow four inches of material. Hem the skirt and join to the band of the cover with a welt seam.

When hair-dos are simple, your hat takes on more of an ornamental quality. And what could be more provocatively ornamental than the many versions of the bonnet now in the fashion spotlight? Here, for example, is one of the new bonnets, close-fitting and tiny, the better to give the cap-like dash of color above bangs and softly-curved under-hair. For utter femininity, there's nothing more effective than a splash of small flowers repeated in a ribbon-backed corsage, and a velvet ribbon tied underneath the chin.

Spring Meal Salads Should Be Kept Crisp, Always Look Delectable

HAVE YOU ever eaten salads that looked as though they had been pawed over too thoroughly in the making? Or, have they warmed and wilted before reaching the table?

No matter how good the salad originally may have been, if it suffers from either of these faults, no one is going to enjoy it.

The salad should be crisp and neat. Garnish it, yes, but don't over-do it or the salad will lose its much desired freshness.

The ingredients for a salad as well as the plate, bowl or platter on which it's served should be given a thorough chilling in the refrigerator. Save the salad's finishing touches for the very last preparation before serving the meal.

For the heavy meals, your best choice is a cold, crisp tossed salad. This may be made entirely of greens. You may add any of the following ingredients to a simple green salad: sliced or quartered tomatoes; cucumbers, sliced very thin; radishes; green onions; or grapefruit or orange sections.

GREENS WHICH ARE often used in a salad may consist of tender hearts of lettuce, endive, chicory, romaine, celery and watercress. Toss these together with a well-seasoned French dressing made as follows:

French Dressing
 (Makes 1 quart)
 5 tablespoons honey
 2 teaspoons salt
 1 tablespoon dry mustard
 1 tablespoon worcestershire sauce
 Dash of tobacco sauce
 1 tablespoon paprika
 2 tablespoons tarragon vinegar
 1/2 cup distilled vinegar
 1 can condensed tomato soup
 1 1/2 cups salad oil
 1 clove garlic

Mix all ingredients together. Place in a quart jar, store in refrigerator and use as needed. Shake well before using.

Here's a beautiful salad bowl around which you'll enjoy building the whole meal:

A VEGETABLE MEDLEY as pretty as the season itself goes into this next salad arrangement.

Spring Salad Bowl
 (Serves 6)
 2 cups cooked peas
 6 cooked cauliflowerets
 2 cups cooked green beans
 2 tomatoes, peeled and sliced
 French or roquefort dressing
 1 head lettuce
 Watercress
 Radish roses

Marinate vegetables, each one separately in French dressing for one hour in a cold place. Line

Ham Mousse
 (Serves 6)
 2 tablespoons gelatin
 2 1/2 cups bouillon
 2 teaspoons grated onion
 2 1/2 cups cooked ham, ground
 1/2 cup celery, chopped
 1/2 cup radishes, sliced
 1/2 cup green pepper, chopped
 1/2 cup real mayonnaise

Soften gelatin in one-fourth cup cold bouillon. Heat to boiling the remainder of the bouillon and add to gelatin mixture. Chill. When beginning to jell, add onion, ham, celery, radishes and green pepper. Fold in real mayonnaise and pour into a mold. Chill until set. Unmold on platter, garnish with watercress and radish roses. Serve with mustard mayonnaise, made by mixing three-fourths cup of real mayonnaise with one-fourth cup mustard-with-horseradish.

Fruit Salad dessert idea: melon balls, white grapes, strawberries, pineapple spears, peach halves and scoops of sherbet.

Cold meat platters may form the base of a salad. Use summer sausage, liver sausage, baked ham, and sliced tongue for one platter.

Strech chicken salad and add interesting flavor to it by using with half as many cooked sweetbreads.

 Use these Combinations For Delicious Salads

Garnishes for a salad add nourishment as well as beauty. Try some of these: asparagus spears marinated in French dressing, paper thin slices of onion, dipped in paprika, stalks of endive stuffed with Roquefort cheese paste, and grated carrots.

Cream or cottage cheese add protein to a meat-shy meal when mixed with chopped chives and sour cream. Serve in a lettuce cup.

Fresh Fruit Salad Bowl
 (Serves 4)
 2 bananas, cut lengthwise
 4 slices avocado
 Lemon juice
 1 head celery, shredded
 4 long strips cantaloupe
 4 slices pineapple
 8 orange segments
 12 black cherries
 12 honeydew melon balls

French dressing
 Dip banana and avocado in lemon juice. Line a salad bowl with chicory and on this arrange the banana and cantaloupe. Alternate pineapple, avocado and oranges in the bowl. Make a nest of the cherries and garnish with the melon balls. Serve with dressing.

Cottage cheese is the base of this next salad, accompanied by greens and fruits. It's nice to serve Sunday evening for supper or for luncheon on a warm day.

Cottage Cheese-Fruit Salad
 (Serves 6)
 1 grapefruit, segmented
 2 oranges, segmented
 1 avocado, pared and sliced
 1/2 head lettuce
 1/2 head French endive
 1/2 bunch watercress
 1 1/2 cups cottage cheese
 Sour cream
 French dressing

Marinate fruits in French dressing and chill. Toss together all salad greens in salad bowl and pile cottage cheese which has been mixed with sour cream, in center of greens.

VARIATIONS: Use tomato wedges in place of orange segments. Use pineapple spears and strawberries instead of grapefruit and avocado. Use fresh figs and ripe cherries instead of avocado.

Ham or chicken may be combined with other salad essentials to give you delightful main dish salads for warm days. They're a wonderful idea for using leftovers.

Ham Mousse
 (Serves 6)
 2 tablespoons gelatin
 2 1/2 cups bouillon
 2 teaspoons grated onion
 2 1/2 cups cooked ham, ground
