Green-Shower

It was an apple blossom wedding for Elca Green and Harold Shover, the featured decoration for the ceremony being an arch of apple blossoms nestled in a cushion of cedar. The apple blossom theme was further carried out by apple blossoms and snap dragons on the altar. Satin bows and narcissus marked the pews.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was attired in a gown of silk marquisette over slipper satin. Features of the gown were long sleeves buttoning at the wrist, sweetheart neckline outlined in lace, and a fitted bodice. Folds of the dress fell into a long train which also accented by a lace edge. Elca's tulle veil was fingertip length and held in place by a sweet heart shaped crown of lace outlined by large pearls. Her jewelry consisted of a ruby pendant and earring set, a gift of the groom. The bridal bouquet was a cascade arrangement of American Beauty roses, snapdragons and lilies of the valley.

As bridesmaids, the groom's sisters, Lillian and Leona Shover, chose identical net and lace gowns over satin. Lillian's dress being aqua, while Leona's was maize. Matching head dresses, gauntlets and bouquets of white carnations and iris completed their costumes.

Alabaster Wins From Indies in 4 to 0 Battle

Will Play Next Sunday With Bob McPherson's Prescott Team

After George Myles threw the first pitch, to one time Tawas City player, Charlie Moeller, the game got underway with two traditional rivals, Tawas City and Alabaster battling it out in one of their ever close games.

Inability to solve the slants of Felsing, Alabaster pitcher, and some fine fielding plays, was Tawas City's downfall last Sunday, when they were shut out 4 to 0 by the White City boys.

It was a close and hard fought game with Alabaster scoring their first run in the fifth and not scoring again until the ninth when a three hit rally gave them three more runs.

In the fifth, Hill singled, went to second on Mark's sacrifice and scored on Pat Erickson's double.

Other three runs came in the ninth, when after one was out, Mark singled. Felsing flied to short stop, Pat Erickson was walked intentionally and pinch hitter, Joe Roberts, singled, driving in two runs, and Joe Martin came up, doubled, driving in Roberts.

Tawas City had several scoring opportunities, but each time some fine fielding plays by the Alabaster infield, and Felsing's ability to keep the locals from hitting the ball squarely, kept the locals scoreless.

Felsing allowed but three hits, one each by Wegner, Gingerich and Roy London. Pat Erickson smashed out two doubles and Hill (Continued No. 4, Back Page)

Resort Owners Will Hold Open House

Invite Merchants to Visit Their Business Places May 24-25-26

Tawas area resort owners have issued an invitation to retailers, and others interested, to visit their places of business during May 24, 25 and 26.

The invitation, in part, reads: "Most of you are called on from time to time to recommend a cottage or cabin or are asked where the tourist can find certain things at a cottage. For this reason, we feel it would be to your advantage to visit and inspect our places thereby putting yourself in a better position to place people in surroundings that they would like. Also, we believe the trip would show you how everyone gets a correct benefit from the guests that they can keep in the area.

All indications show that this will be a season when the tourist has to be sold on an area. Therefore, we must work as a partnership realizing that more satisfied patrons in the territory means more business for every one. Can we plan on your helping us keep the Tawas one of the most active communities in the State of Michigan?"

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

Gen. Clay Out as Berlin Chief; New Rent Curb Formula Attacked; Taft-Hartley Bill Wins in Test

EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysts and not necessarily of this newspaper.

BERLIN: Clay Is Done

Gen. Lucius D. Clay, stormy petrel of American administration in Berlin, was relieved of his post as military commander in Germany. The action was taken at the general's own request.

CLAY, who has been widely criticized for his apparent "soft" attitude toward German war criminals, notably in the case of Elsa Koch, the "witch of Buchenwald," notorious German horror camp, had frequently asked to be relieved of his command. He said he wanted to return to his home in Marietta, Ga., and "go catfishing."

Clay's leaving would open the way for appointment of the first civilian high commissioner for Germany, something the army has been wanting for a long time.

PRESIDENT TRUMAN, in making the announcement Clay was to leave, said the general deserved the thanks of the American people for his execution "of one of the toughest tasks and accomplishments of American history."

It was no secret that the President and Dean Acheson, secretary of state, were trying to persuade John J. McCloy to take the assignment in Berlin. McCloy is now head of the international bank for reconstruction and development, a position which carries a $30,000, tax-free annual salary.

Pending the appointment of a civilian commissioner, President Truman announced military government deputies and two generals would carry on Clay's work.

The United States, Britain and France have agreed to arrangements for turning over civilian control to the Germans when a provisional government is established for the western zones.

Meanwhile, hope continued for an end, through four-power negotiations, of the Berlin blockade by the Russians.

HOUSING: Nobody Pleased

The government, it appeared, couldn't please anyone in its efforts to implement the newly-enacted rent control bill.

Scores of landlords and tenants in New York turned out in angry confusion after Federal Housing Chief Tighe Woods announced a program for putting the new law into operation. Woods had come up with a plan which he hoped would provide owners of rental property with a "fair net operating income." This was one thing the new law said should be done.

BUT WOODS, in a personal appearance in the nation's largest city, stepped personally into a hot-bed of landlord's inquiries.

Landlords assailed the Woods formula as giving inadequate relief to hard-pressed property owners.

The formula was confusing because it contained so many indeterminate factors. It was intended to produce a "net operating income" of 25 to 30 per cent of gross income on some 14 million dwellings throughout the nation still under federal rent control.

As Woods expressed belief both landlords and tenants would be happier under the new formula, a surprised murmur of laughter swept the audience which overflowed the 869-seat hall. Woods dashed from the meeting, where he answered some 50 questions, to a conference with New York's Mayor William O'Dwyer.

WOODS SAID the new formula "goes right down the middle, protecting landlords against rents that would deny them a fair profit and protecting tenants against being charged a higher rent than the fair net operating income allows."

Meanwhile both property owners and tenants seethed, each fearing they were being put upon by the Woods formula; landlords obviously resentful that specific rent increases were not allowed, tenants bitter because of a "mixed-up" formula which they feared held nothing but bad news for themselves.

One most probable result of the formula was that local governmental units would be disposed to let existing conditions alone without petitioning their governors or state legislatures for lifting of rent controls in their respective areas.

LABOR LAW: Rough Going

If a big league scout were reporting on Harry Truman's performance against congressional moundsmen, he would have to say: "The President simply can't hit fast ball pitching."

And that certainly appeared to be the case. Mr. Truman had been to bat twice already. In his turn during the Mon. C. Walgren appointment to head the national security resources board, he had struck out. Next up with his civil rights program for a bat, he struck out again. Now, with his espousal of repeal of the Taft-Hartley labor law, he was at the plate again and, with the house of representatives pitching, there were two strikes on him.

FOR THE HOUSE, by a vote of 217-203 approved the Wood bill which retained most of the features of the Taft-Hartley law.

Administration forces were plunged into gloom. But a coalition of southern Democrats and northern Republicans were jubilant. They were bent on retaining the Taft-Hartley law largely intact, and at the moment they were victorious.

The Wood bill would repeal the Taft-Hartley law on paper, but would re-enact most of its important features. For instance, it would retain the 80-day injunction in "national emergency" strikes. It would keep the present non-Communist oath requirements, but would apply them to company officers as well as union officers.

It would ban closed-shop contracts, but permit them in any state which took affirmative action to permit them by state law.

SPEAKER SAM RAYBURN had made a plea to the house for a compromise bill he put forward in an effort to salvage part of the administration's program, but his speech was in vain.

Whatever else congress might be doing, and whatever good or ill might result, lawmakers were serving notice on presidential candidates that campaign promises to enact or repeal this or that law ought to be conditioned, with the candidate making such pledges adding a word to the effect that those pledges would be kept "provided congress cooperates."

LEOPOLD: Wants Throne

Disliking the common life, exiled King Leopold III of Belgium has made it clear he wants to return to the throne of his country.

THIS was made known in a letter to his brother, Prince Charles, Belgium regent, in which Leopold said:

"I am convinced you are sharing my views that the time has come for a return to constitutional normalcy." That would mean, of course, an end to the regency and return to kingly rule.

HOWEVER, the outlook for any such development appeared dim. Leopold surrendered the Belgian forces to the Germans early in the war and became a prisoner-of-war. His action in that respect was criticized by many Belgians. The ex-king has not returned to his country since the war. He has been living in exile in Switzerland.

TRUMAN: Good Friend

President Truman had some better friends than he thought. David S. Wright, 84, proprietor of a feed store in Dunkirk, N. Y., offered to advance cash to President Truman on his salary check.

Reports had said Truman received only part of one month's check because of a congressional deadlock over a deficiency appropriation bill.

NEW DRUG DISCOVERED

Anti-Allergy Medicine Battles Colds

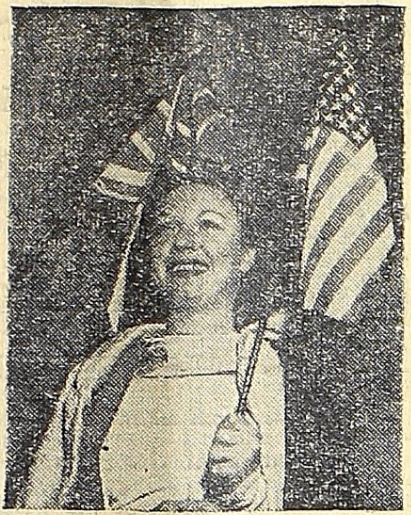

There was new hope for cold sufferers.

An industrial physician reported that an anti-allergy drug has been found effective in controlling common-cold symptoms.

Dr. Halstead G. Murray said that 75 per cent of 494 persons treated during early stages of colds reported "they were cured or had their symptoms alleviated."

The drug, pyribenzamine hydrochloride, was administered in 50 milligram tablets at four-hour intervals at the onset of a cold. The drug is used extensively in the treatment of hay fever. It is classed as an antihistamine because it neutralizes histamine, an irritant substance released by the body in allergic reactions. Checking results,

GRANDMAS: Enough's Enough

Grandma was getting fed up. Enough was enough. And she was becoming vocal about it.

Mrs. Lyn Greene, president of the New York chapter of the National Grandmothers' club, was the spokesman for the grandmas, the spearhead of a drive to make grandma a respected member of every family.

MRS. GREENE and all the other grandmas were up in arms against all the corny gags about grandmas and mother-in-law, too. They were in a crusade to ban such alleged humor from the face of the earth forever. And they held some powerful weapons in their arsenal.

For instance, if the jokes aren't banned, the grandmas said, there would be no more baby-sitting, no more crocheting, no more cookies and cakes. That was the grandmas' ultimatum.

Also knitting needles would stop, not one lullaby would be hummed and daughters "going home to mother" after a tiff with their husbands would have to find hotel rooms, instead.

THE GRANNIES were tired of being made to appear as jabbering, ridiculous troublemakers. But the grandmas were fair about the whole thing. In return for a new status as a "sweet, lovable old dear" they would agree to mind their own knitting.

Mrs. Greene, a professional artist, philanthropist, mother of two sons and grandmother of four small children, believes she is just the person to take the giggles out of references to grandmas.

"THERE ARE STILL a few rocking-chair grandmas, bridge-table grandmas, and drudge grandmas who need to be reformed," she said, but contends this reformation will never come about through silly radio and movie jokes and sillier cartoons.

Eventually Mrs. Greene and the thousands of other grannies in the national organization hope to win so much respect that October 10 will be proclaimed as national Grandmothers' day.

HEADACHES: Stop Worrying

Have a lot of headaches? Well, stop worrying.

That, according to a Columbia university headache study will cure your noggin knocks.

THE STUDY was conducted with 531 men and women as subjects. These sufferers were given three kinds of treatment. One made use of drugs supposed to help headaches; another "make believe" drugs; and a third a technique in which doctors spent quite some time talking to patients about their worries.

In the first two treatments, the "make believe" potions worked almost as well as medicines designed especially for aching heads. The patients never knew which kind of drugs they were taking.

It was learned in the study that best results came from combining drugs with conversation about worries. The conversation-type of treatment is known as psycho-therapy. Its purpose is to discover emotional and mental conflicts. In many cases the sufferer does not realize he has these conflicts and is likely to get better when he learns about them.

HOWEVER, mere knowledge of the conflicts isn't sufficient. The patient needs faith in his doctor to make this knowledge work. Sometimes this relief depends on how often the doctor sees the patient.

So Tired

People whose feet have ever hurt them will feel a twinge of sympathy for mailman William E. Lilly, Jr., of the Los Angeles post office who took 5,000 letters home with him. Lilly was jailed despite assertions he meant all the time to deliver the letters later.

Lack of Funds Blocks Making Real Movies

HOLLYWOOD. — Three-dimensional movies, that pry actors away from the scenery and make Lana Turner's curves look curvier, are ready to hit the screen. But their inventor warns that no studio will dish out money for his trick.

Joe Valentine, one of movie-land's top cameramen, developed a gadget that brought depth to the screen back in 1940. It's gathering dust. No studio will cough up dough to back the project.

"Two-dimensional movies we have now look flat—flat actors against flat scenery," explains Valentine, who's up for an Oscar for photographing "Joan of Arc," a movie that could've used a few more dimensions.

Lighting Now Used

"We use lighting now to try to bring them away from the scenery. Colors of costumes and sets are chosen carefully so actors won't melt into the background. In three-dimensional movies the actor stands out with natural roundness. He appears to be right in the theater."

Miss T. looks twice as whistle-able, and Humphrey Bogart appears to dash with his gat right into the audience. Trees look rounder and people look like people, and the moviegoer who gets stuck in a side seat won't have to squint at long thin men on a distorted screen, either. Miss Turner looks round, no matter where he sits.

Needed Special Glasses

Years ago one company billed "a three-dimensional movie" in theaters, but that was a fluke. You had to wear special spectacles to see curvier curves.

The new dimension comes from a prism that's inserted behind the camera lens. That costs about $500. The camera then gets two images instead of one. Prisms would have to be installed in every theater-projection machine in the country, costing another $500 per.

"Not half as expensive as sound was to install," snorts the cameraman. "And it would bring change and greater scope to the screen as sound did. Bring customers back to the theaters, too."

Absolute Silence Found Unbearable in U. S. Test

FORT MONMOUTH, N. J.—Silence—dead, absolute silence. Have you ever wondered what it would be like?

Not the stillness of a quiet room, but no noise at all.

Take a tip from the army signal corps engineers—it's no fun. They tried it and said they couldn't stand it.

The tests were made in a new "silent chamber" perfected by the signal corps to help reduce the noise of military equipment.

About 30 minutes of absolute silence was just about all anyone could stand. After 30 minutes the engineers became uneasy. After a few hours, the army said, the dead silence produced "pronounced adverse psychological effects."

The room is used to measure the noise of field equipment. The army said even a small electric generator in the field was enough to reveal the position of the soldier and endanger his life. Now engineers can find out just how much noise it makes and quiet it enough to prevent detection.

Signal corps officials said the walls, floor, and ceilings of the new chamber are covered with wedge-shaped hunks of fiberglass, pointing out into the room. The pieces are bound at the large ends to an electrostatic shield. The shield is grounded to remove any surplus energy. There is complete stillness in the room.

But the room wouldn't do for a radio station. Spokesmen said musical tones are flat, monotonous and very dull in an absolutely sound-proof room.

Kentucky Establishes Place to Wash Money

FRANKFORT, KY. — Ever heat of a money laundry, a place to wash filthy lucre?

Well, they started one at the Alcoholic Beverage Control board.

It seems the girl clerks balked at counting coins dumped out of 27 slot machines confiscated in Bell county liquor joints. They were agreeable to counting the coins, but not while they were greasy and dirty. Gets under your skin, ruins your desk.

So W. Orbie Mitchell, director of A.B.C. field agents, had the coins dumped into pails of hot, soapy water and stirred around until they got into countable condition—for the clerks.

In addition to good U. S. money, there were French and German coins, slugs, and even a wartime red O.P.A. token.

Mitchell said the money probably would add up to $1,200 to $1,500. "The darned stuff weighed about 75 pounds," he added.

The money was to be turned over to the state's general fund.

PRAYER FOR U.N. CHAPEL

"The United Nations is to provide a non-denominational chapel in its new home where men of all nations may pray."—News Item

In this small room will be the cathedral, the mosque, the synagogue, the temple and the parish chapel.

Within these four walls will be the prayer-room of the world.

To this place let the white man and the black man, the Christian and the Jew, the yellow man and the brown man, the Hindu, the Moslem and the Buddhist—men of all races and creeds—gather to hear the still, small voice of whatever God they worship.

Here the representatives of all peoples shall come humbly and devoutly in their separate faiths and reach understandings that will save a stricken world.

Here let them kneel separately and at a time of their own choosing and ask their God or gods that their words and actions may never make a mockery of the precepts of whatever religion they observe and cherish.

Guide them as they invoke You. Keep their minds clear and make their decisions just; rid them of suspicions, fears and hatreds. Let them never lose sight of the belief that the Supreme Being of their own faith and of all faiths loathes war and holds peace and the brotherhood of man foremost.

Seldom have the representatives of peoples from the four corners of the earth been in a more difficult spot; rarely have human beings faced tasks more colossal; never have their decisions meant life or death, joy or misery, laughter or tears to so many millions.

Grant that they may not quibble over the details of this room, its appointments or its mood.

Help them realize that if men can fight and die as allies, they can worship and live as allies; that men who serve together in the same armies and navies and in the same cause can worship in the same cloister and in the same hope!

Here let all men find that if there is to be one world there must be one brotherhood, one depth of devotion, one abiding confidence in a Supreme Being.

Make them understand that if a man is not contaminated in the use of another man's council chambers, routines and customs in daily considerations, he can never be contaminated by the use of a common meeting place for meditation and prayer.

Here may no man forget that in every faith a man of any other faith may find the essence of his own faith: The belief in divine guidance. Prayer is universal. How strange that until now those who have come together from all parts of the earth to face the most complicated problems of recorded time have failed to provide a common meeting place in which to seek guidance!

Of all moments in history when men of every race, color and creed needed divine council, this is the most desperate. How barren and hopeless have been these edifices of world peace without recognition of a God above! How futile these proceedings in council chambers of 100 rooms without one room for a Creator!

May this quiet room be hallowed! Here there is no publicity; here no photographers, no newsreels, no microphones, tensions.

Here he may sit not as an important statesman, harassed diplomat or instructed agent, worried over the reactions at home, but rather as a child reaching for the hand in which he has confidence, pleading for the light, believing that nothing matters more than a cause be just.

This room shall be no device of architects, blueprinters and construction crews, its value to be measured in dollars; this shall be a room dedicated in the spirit of all faiths . . . a hushed chamber where every man may find the mood of his own temple.

Within these walls may the United Nations see the universal altar and find that guidance, inspiration and wisdom without which there can be no lasting peace and no brotherhood of man.

Here at last there is "room in the inn!"

These Hitters Will Bear Watching

By GRANTLAND RICE

AS 16 MAJOR league clubs move off under full steam, there will be more than one or two high spots to watch as the campaign rolls along.

It is only natural that most of these elevated notches will take in the stars of 1948, such as Stan Musial, Lou Boudreau, Ted Williams, Joe DiMaggio, Harry Breechen, Gene Bearden, the home-run duel between Ralph Kiner and Johnny Mize, plus such odd "Yogi" Berra's catching improvement.

With Joe DiMaggio's wounded heel in such a precarious state, the three holdover leaders from 1948 will be Musial, Williams and Boudreau.

Boudreau is the mystery man. His batting average for 10 seasons is now .299. It was well below this mark at this date last season. Yet the Cleveland pilot lifted his batting count to .355, a phenomenal upward leap. Lou is now 32 years old. The question is: Will the Cleveland star keep in the general neighborhood of .355 this season, or drop back to his lifetime average, around .299? Boudreau's 1949 career will write an important chapter in the new American league race.

What about the duel between Williams and Musial? Last year Musial struck for .376, Williams for .369. Musial hit 39 home runs, Williams 25. Musial drove home 131 runs, Williams 127.

The Cardinal slugger had a fair edge in every department of hitting, but it will be interesting to see whether he can repeat this triumph against one of the greatest hitters of all time.

On the other side of the question, it might be noted that Stan Musial can also handle the old ash rather deftly. His lifetime big league average is .348, Williams being .354. These are the two top men today, with no one else close.

What about the big league pitching duel between Harry Breechen and Gene Bearden? Last year each won 20 and dropped 7 for a mark of .741. Breechen allowed 2.24 earned runs per game, Bearden 2.43. This is about as close as the count can be.

THE HOME-RUN PICTURE

The section or sector allotted to home-run hitters will be a highly-interesting compartment this season.

First of all, it is high time the Johnny Mize-Ralph Kiner deadlock was broken. The two tied in 1947 and they remained tied in '48. They each struck off 51 homers in 1947 and 40 last year, making a total of 91. This can't go on forever. It is due to be snapped this new season.

Last season both Joe DiMaggio and Stan Musial hit 39 home runs each.

"Here's the odd part about this count," Stan Musial told me this spring. "I actually hit 41 homers. Two were credited only as two-base-hits. Yet certain umpires stated they were home runs. They really were."

"There's no question of a doubt about this fact," manager Eddie Dyer cut in. "Stan actually had 41 homers last year, which would have given him the triple crown."

Umpires make few mistakes. But apparently two blew a pair of four-baggers in the Musial case. Musial rarely complains. The fact that he was supported by Eddie Dyer and a number of umpires is proof enough that he was right.

No one can say yet whether Ted Williams will go out for right field swinging into the home-run zones, or fight for the batting leadership of his league. Williams and Musial are two all-star hitters.

The condition of Joe DiMaggio's heel may eliminate one of the strong contenders. Mize, Kiner, Musial and Williams should provide most of the four-base artillery. But there is one more entry—Sid Gordon of the Giants.

Gordon blasted 30 home runs last season. He is far in front of the pack this spring, with a March and early April record that takes you back to the big years of Babe Ruth.

This home-run scramble should be one of the most interesting features of the new season.

"PEACE CARAVAN" IN PARIS . . . The flags of the United States, Britain, France and Russia are carried by this truck, one of many that participated in the "peace caravan" that brought parades to the big mass meeting at Buffalo stadium outside Paris. The meeting was the windup of the "world peace conference" at which "intellectuals" from many lands sang the praises of Russia.

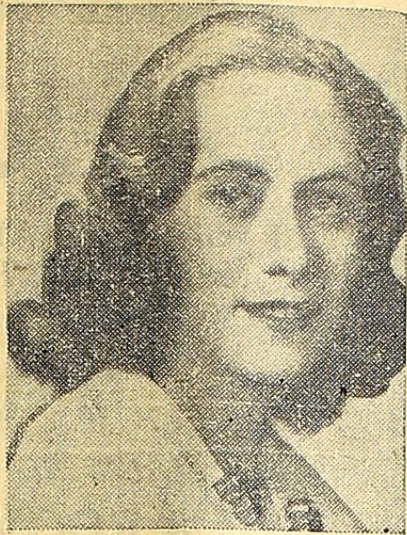

BROTHERLY GESTURE . . . It's all in the family (Uncle Sam's) as navy Lieut. George M. Thomson administers oath of allegiance to his sister, Ensign Esther May Thomson, upon her induction into the navy nurses' corps. She was graduated from San Diego school of nursing in 1947, and was to be stationed at the Long Beach naval hospital.

AMERICAN MOTHER OF 1949 WITH PART OF HER FAMILY . . . Mrs. E. A. Gillis of Fort Worth, Tex., named American mother of 1949 by the American mothers' committee of the Golden Rule Foundation, New York, said notice of the selection was the happiest day of her life and only presence of all six children could have made it better. She is seated in center with daughter Mrs. Evelyn Gray on left; daughter Mrs. Eileen Plemmons, right; her husband Earle Gillis and a son, Lewis Gill, standing.

DELEGATE TO FARM YOUTH CONFERENCE . . . Meta Marie Keller, 21, is the principal of one of the most dramatic stories in 4-H club history. She is the only known survivor of a "siamese twin" operation, and was picked from thousands of rural youths as a delegate to take a four-month trip to Europe under the international farm youth exchange project by the U. S. department of agriculture. She was chosen because of her outstanding 4-H club work.

FACING DEATH . . . Iris Davis, 24, was reported dying of a malignant brain tumor and her father, Jack Davis, American news-reel executive, has made a desperate appeal in Europe for any sort of medical aid which might save his daughter's life.

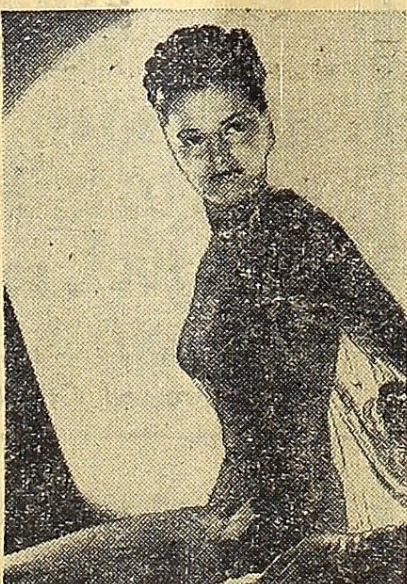

VISITOR . . . Michele Gina, Italian Socialist senator, is shown here as he arrived at La Guardia field from Rome. He proposed to join Henry Wallace on the latter's nationwide peace tour in which the former vice-president is expected to urge accord with the Russians.

OLD WEAPON . . . Mrs. Eugene Schum is shown behind the circular shield that protected the user of this old weapon—a King Henry VIII breech-loading pistol. The gun is the property of George Harding's Museum, Chicago.

SHOCKED . . . Peter Makushak registers shock and incredulity as he learns his son, 33-year old Paul, had been living in the house with him, walled up in a tiny secret room since 1939. It was said Paul's mother put him in the room to protect him from military service draft.

DREAM COMES TRUE . . . Clowns usually entertain a secret ambition to play Hamlet. Dancer Cyd Charisse made no secret of the fact she'd like to play dramatic roles. So, in her next movie she'll have a dramatic part.

Taft Warns GOP

BOTH in open sessions and behind closed doors of the caucus room, Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio told his colleagues in no uncertain terms that the Republican party is faced with extinction unless they agree on a program of at least limited social welfare legislation. This of course includes such fields as housing, medical care, education and expansion of those social welfare laws already on the statute books such as old age pension, survivors insurance and the various other governmental aids for the needy. The Ohio senator not only preaches this unity of program, he has put his preachings into practice by introducing bills to cover what he declares will support this kind of legislation without destroying either the free enterprise system or individual initiative. Since Senator Taft imputes to the Democratic administration measures covering these subjects complete socialistic trends, the inference to be drawn is that the senator stands for a limited socialism and this fact causes shudders of horror along the spines of the party's arch conservatives who are apparently in control, or hold the balance of power in the Republican party today.

To any one here in Washington who is watching the trend of legislation, there can be no question but that the people of the United States are changing their thinking along many lines. They are changing their habits, ignoring their precedents and traditions and at the same time attempting to maintain their freedoms under our system of representative government.

There is no question in the mind of this reporter that Senator Taft is one of the ablest men in public life today on either side of the political fence. Whether Senator Taft in his wisdom can espouse a limited socialism and draw a line or reach a point at which socialism stops, or at which he can satisfy the great mass of the voters, remains to be seen. In the meantime the fight between the liberal element in his party and the moderate conservatives which he represents, as against the arch-reactionaries in the Republican party, has become a major topic for discussion here in Washington.

Truman On Job

President Truman's new policy of "staying on the job" is paying dividends with his relations with congress. His vacation in Key West proved disastrous. Since he returned to Washington he has turned down all invitations, has started a round of consultations with his leaders, pops up on Capitol Hill for surprise luncheons and visits with both Democrats and Republicans. Result: whereas six weeks ago it looked like he would again be swamped by a hostile congress, today he is on better terms than at any time since he became President and it begins to look as though much of his program will go through.

Alexandria's Birthday

Next year Washington celebrates a sesqui-centennial. This year our sister city of Alexandria across the Potomac in Virginia is celebrating its bicentennial. Called George Washington's home town, Alexandria was founded in 1749 and has grown up within the shadow of the Washington monument to a city of 70,000. It was for fifty years a part of the District of Columbia but broke away and returned to Virginia in 1847. Honoring the occasion the post office department is issuing a special Alexandria 6-cent stamp and the bicentennial commission there is issuing two official covers for the stamps to be issued on May 11, 1949.

TVA Gets Fund

The 81st congress has reversed the 80th on the steam plant for the Tennessee Valley authority by pushing through by almost a two-to-one vote an appropriation of 2.5 million dollars to start construction of the plant at New Johnsonville, Tenn. This was a rousing defeat for the private power lobby. As a matter of fact the Truman administration has won out on its power program and interior department appropriations at every stage thus far in the congress. The interior department appropriations bill was lush with money for transmission lines, dams and other constructions in contrast to the ruthless prunings these items received in the 80th congress.

New Authorities

And speaking of TVA, it appears as though the Missouri Valley authority will get a more favorable hearing in this congress and that the Columbia River authority may go through a-flying. In addition two new river valleys are being added to the list, the Arkansas, sponsored by Oklahoma's freshman senator, millionaire oil man Robert S. Kerr, and the Connecticut river, sponsored by a group of New England solons.

Care of Floors

Question: A few months ago I had all the floors sanded, filled and varnished. I would like to wash them but have been advised not to use water, as it discolors floors. Please advise.

Answer: The manufacturers of hardwood flooring do not, as a rule, approve of using water on such flooring. As your floors have been so recently varnished, it should be fairly easy to clean them with some of the special cleaning preparations intended for this purpose. Or you can clean them by wiping with cloths damp with turpentine. Consult your hardware dealer. First take up the loose dust in the usual way.

Law Requires Motorboats
to Carry Life Preservers

An outboard motor plus a boat equals a motorboat, and a motor boat must carry an approved life preserver for each person aboard under Federal law.

By this simple addition, Commodore J. A. Hirschfield, Commander, Ninth Coast Guard District, today urged boaters and fishermen in the Great Lakes area to equip their craft with life preservers in the interests of safety and obeying regulations. In addition, outboard motor-propelled vessels over 16 feet in length must be numbered by the Coast Guard.

The portable motor enthusiast who rents a boat shares responsibility with the boat owner for equipping the boat with adequate safety devices, according to Commodore Hirschfield. The renter must carry a life preserver to operate the boat lawfully, and the boat owner is responsible that the boat leaves the dock with due precautions taken for the boater's safety. Violators are liable to a $100.00 Federal penalty.

"The outboard season is underway," said Commodore Hirschfield, "and the motor owner is just as anxious to get waterborne as the boat owner is to rent his boats. In many cases each thinks the other has obeyed Federal regulations governing motorboats. Sometimes the boat owner doesn't know his craft is going to be motor-propelled. Each should realize his responsibility and act accordingly.

Athlete's Foot Common

Half of the American people are infected with athlete's foot. Most individuals, especially adults, have had athlete's foot infection a number of times. The disease is usually more irritating than dangerous. It is produced from the spores, or seeds, of a certain fungus and as such, spreads rapidly, especially in damp, dark places.
The fungi causing the disease are usually found in three places: locker rooms, shower rooms and dressing rooms; shoes, garters, fabric equipment and towels and on the human body.

Wooden Boxes

Wooden boxes are valuable as outdoor play equipment, and all sizes and shapes can be used. One day the child will use these boxes to make a train, and the next day they will serve for table and chairs at a tea party. There is no end to the pleasure and satisfaction children may realize from an assortment of boxes.

SPORTS HIGHLIGHTS

JOHNNY MARTIN HURLS FOR CLARKSDALE THIS YEAR

Johnny "Lefty" Martin is a very mild mannered guy in private life but he proved to Clarksdalis last year that he can be a demon on the mound with a baseball in his hand. Quite a few fans were more than glad when the announcement was made that Martin would be back on the Planter's pitching roster in 1949.

The scintillating southpaw made his bow in the city when he came here for spring training with the Saginaw Bears about a year ago. When the Bears left, the management decided to leave Johnny behind to bolster an ailing Planter's hurling staff and bolster it he did. Martin won 14 games for the local team during 1948 and lost just half that number. His merits were acknowledged by the loop's sportswriters at mid-season when they named him on Mississippi's All-Star team.

His record for last season is all the more impressive when one considers the fact that 1948 was Johnny's first year in professional baseball. Of course, he had plenty of sand lot and high school experience before turning to baseball as a career.

Martin hails from Alabaster, Michigan. "The White City," as most Clarksdale fans now know. He is 25 years old, hits the scales at 160 pounds, stands five feet, 10 inches. Though he pitches left-handed, he wields the hickory with the other paw.—Clarksdale Daily News, Miss.

All Johnny's local friends are rooting for him and wishing him another successful season with Clarksdale. Johnny pitched locally with Alabaster in the NEM League and was with them in 1947 when they won the league championship. During the off season he plays guard with the Alabaster Independent basketball team and bowls in several local leagues. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Alpha Martin.

A lusty grand slam home run by Pete Peterson helped the East Tawas entry in the Northeastern Michigan League, off to a flying start, defeating the hapless Rose City nine, 24 to 4. Peterson who played formerly for the Tawas City baseball team, also took his turn on the mound and turned in a good performance.

Herb Look, youthful pitcher for the Tawas City High School team, according to a report from Coach Mark Deibaugh has had several scouts interested in him. Herb has turned in two no-hit no-run games this season, and turned in the same number in last season's play.

With the trout season only a few weeks old, Trooper Frank Harris has reported to us that he has had very good luck, with a three pound average of trout for three night's fishing at Guiley Pond. One of the largest trout to be taken thus far this year was by Dave Mills, who landed a whopper out of Guiley.

Those paint fumes you have been whiffing in the breeze lately aren't necessarily from house painting and general clean up work. Look a little closer and you might see some of the motor boat bugs putting a new paint job on their pet run-about. Several boat owners are very much interested in having motor boat races on the lake this summer, under a handicap basis. Not a bad idea.

Check your car--- Check accidents!

Three great service and safety organizations across the country are alerting car-owners everywhere this month on safety-checking their cars.

They list ten vital question marks for you to think about—How are your Brakes? Lights? Tires? Steering? Wheel alignment? Defective glass? Rear-view mirror? Muffler? Windshield wipers? Horn?

Be sure your family rides in safety—ask your Buick service man to look over these check-points this month—and join the great drive for driving safely!

Our men, trained in Buick ways, will give you brakes that stop you as Buicks should, with new brake linings that are right in size and brake drums turned to perfect round.

They can replace sealed-beam headlights to give you new-bulb brilliance—and while they're at it, check battery, voltage, wiring and headlamp-aim to boot.

They'll check tires, switch them as needed, look into wheel alignment for easy steering.

In a word, they'll renew your Buick with the same care and interest they would lavish on their own—and do it at no greater cost than for just ordinary service.

So drop in. Get set for some summer fun that's up to lively Buick standard.

NOTICE to Business Men:

It has come to our attention that, in certain Michigan Bell exchanges, advertising is being sold which is to appear on a "false cover" for telephone directories.

In that connection, we would like to call attention to the following provision of our tariff on file with the Michigan Public Service Commission:

"Directories regularly furnished to customers are the property of the Telephone Company and are loaned to customers; they are to be returned to the Telephone Company on request. No binder, holder or auxiliary cover of an advertising nature, except such as may be provided by or with the consent of the Telephone Company, shall be used in connection with any directory furnished by the Telephone Company."

In order to render good telephone service, it is necessary that we retain full control over our directories, which are an essential part of telephone service. We consider the above tariff to be a statement of a sound and necessary business policy and one which must be enforced.

Legal action has been taken to enjoin two persons who have sold advertising on and distributed such "false covers" for telephone directories.

County Agent Can Furnish Custom Rates

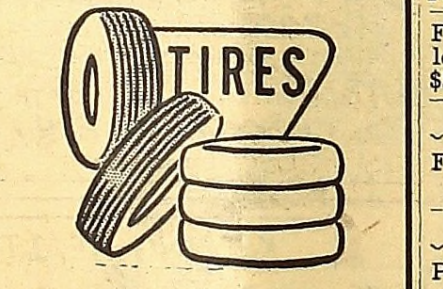

Many requests come to county agent Harold R. Clark for information concerning rates being charged for custom farm work.

Custom work is one method of solving the problem of making fewer machines serve more farmers. Large, expensive machines that many farmers could not afford to buy are made available to them by custom work. Other methods are, sharing work and owning machinery jointly.

The use of custom work has increased in the past few years. Farm machinery and labor have been scarce during the years of the war and post-war period. Prices of much equipment still remain high.

Many farmers are looking to custom work as a means of getting the work done without an investment in machinery out of line with their farm business. Others have bought machines and are looking for work on a custom basis to help carry the high investment and to supplement the farm income.

A recent study by B. R. Bookhout and R. W. Christian, agricultural economists at Michigan State College, gives details of common rates charged for any types of custom work. Agent Clark can furnish information from this report to aid those who wish to know more about common rates charged for custom farm work.

WOMAN'S WORLD

Hard Washing Will Weaken Fabrics

By Eritta Haley

GREAT PROGRESS has been made in the field of fabrics during the last 10 and 20 years. This progress has gone hand in hand with strides made in the laundering of those materials.

If, however, you are still following ancient laundering methods and wondering why clothes don't last, then take a good look at your laundering habits. Are you setting the clothes down in strong soap solution and letting them soak all night?

Do you run the washing machine for a long period of time in an effort to get them clean? Do you rub collars and cuffs on the board and wonder why they fray?

These are outmoded habits and have no place in modern laundering methods. Take a vacation from rough laundering methods, learn a bit about the new rules, and see how delightfully clean the clothes will be with much less effort and work. You'll be saving on the clothing budget, too.

Prolonged Soaking Weakens Material

Contrary to the general belief that the dirtier the clothes, the longer they should be soaked, over-night soaking is not a good idea. Prolonged soaking not only weakens the fibers but opens them and lets the soil become more deeply lodged. Even the most heavily soiled clothes such as work shirts and overalls covered with factory grease or farm soil or youngsters' dirty play clothes, should be soaked for no longer than 15 to 20 minutes.

If clothes are soaked in a sink or a laundry tub, fill with lukewarm water and add enough soap to make two inches of suds. The way to get the most good out of soaking is to place them in an

Pre-Wash Clothes

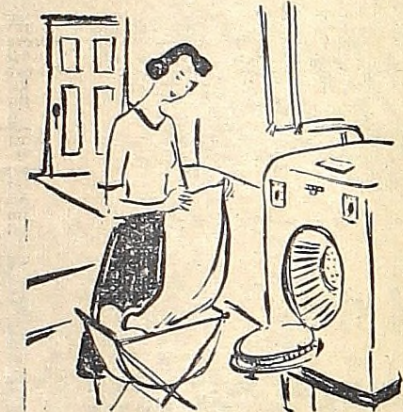

The men on the farm and the children in the backyard seem to get their clothes equally soiled. To make regular washing more effective on heavily soiled garments, give them an "agitated soak" first. The washer is filled for regular washing, but with lukewarm water and one-half the usual amount of soap is used. When the soap has formed suds, the machine is turned off and the clothes put in for a brief soaking.

Make up the third tub full of clothing which is lightly colored and slightly soiled.

From here you can go on to the dark socks and heavily soiled clothing.

If the water, during any of these tubs, gets too dirty, change it. No matter how long you run the washing machine, clothes will remain dirty looking if the water is dirty.

Heavily soiled clothes, particularly, should be washed in a load by themselves. With a good modern washer, the time of the washing progress can be regulated to the degree of soil. About 8-10 minutes agitator type washer. The agitated soak is a sort of pre-washing which helps to make the regular washing more effective on heavily soiled garments.

Follow approved methods

Fill the washer as for regular washing, but with lukewarm water. With the agitator going, add one-half the usual amount of soap. When the suds have been worked up, turn off the machine and put the clothes in for soaking.

Separate Clothes Into Groups

Anyone who has done home laundry realizes the dismay a colored sock can cause in a wash load of the towels and linens. For this reason, separate the clothes into different loads for washing.

Lightly soiled clothes and white clothes are washed in the first tub. Then come the less soiled fabrics such as napkins, towels.

For laundering ease.

in medium hot water (120°) will wash play and work clothes clean with no rubbing and scrubbing.

Fresh Air, Sunshine Benefit Materials

It's surprising how much of the stain sunshine will remove from many of the clothes. White collars do not become old and yellow looking if you dry them out-of-doors week after week.

As for colored clothes, from which stains cannot be removed by bleaching, it's wonderful how sunshine works. Many of the stains are bleached by gentle sunlight, and colors take on a new, refreshed look.

If you are fortunate enough to be able to dry your clothes outside, you'll also appreciate the beneficial properties of the wind or breeze. You don't have to shake out clothes carefully as the breeze will puff them out and get rid of the wrinkles you would otherwise have to iron out.

Save Ironing Time By Proper Preparation

Remember the tight knots into which women wound clothes to get them ready for ironing? Experts now tell us to lay clothes flat and fold them as little as possible.

It's not wise to dampen clothes too heavily either for ironing if you're interested in time-saving practices. In fact, if you can remove clothing from the line in a slightly damp state, they can be folded neatly then ironed.

KATHLEEN NORRIS

Self-Pity Can Destroy Lives

ONCE, when I was first married, I went with my husband to dine with some friends of his, a married couple unknown to me until then.

He had told me that the wife was a brilliant woman, but unlucky. She had many gifts but she didn't seem able to succeed with any venture, even in the great city where everyone we knew was either painting, or singing, acting, dancing, or writing—writing anything; essays, stories, poems, advertisements, scenarios. Not everyone was successful then, but everyone confidently expected to be, sooner or later, and almost everyone was.

But not Olive. I knew her for 25 years after that first bridal dinner and she never did anything except talk about her bad luck. She played the piano delightfully; she was one of the wittiest women I ever knew, but somehow she got small pleasure out of either gift, and even socially she was always left behind.

Her trouble was that she could think of nothing but herself, and of what everyone else was thinking of her. That everyone else might possibly have something better to think of never crossed her mind. Olive was self-centered. Like all self-centered women she was abnormally sensitive and managed to make anything and everything that was said in her hearing immediately applicable to herself.

So at the first dinner, when we were both young women, poor, ambitious, adventurous, determined that New York should give us the opportunity it had given so many others, Olive was obsessed with trifles. She apologized for the dinner napkins; she fluttered about the shortage of forks, she interrupted the conversation, just as it got under way, with nervous asides to her husband and to the bewildered amateur waitress who had been hired for the occasion. If a guest hesitated one second in attacking his food, Olive's eager apologies were there.

... played the piano delightfully . . .

"You don't like mint sauce? Oh, dear, dear. The lamb is cold. Arthur—sorry to interrupt you, dear, but this meat is stone cold. I did want things to be nice. Everything in Mother's house was so perfect. You'll think me quite uncivilized; I know there should be candies for dinner, but this room is so deplorably dark. Dreadful apartment, but all we could get."

Apologies Spoiled It. And so on and on. All through the years Olive flustered herself and everyone near her with her fluttered "pretentiousness." If one met her downtown all the pleasure of an unexpected encounter was spoiled by apologies.

"This dreadful old hat. But what can poor folk like us do? My dear, I know it's my turn for a party, but poor Arthur missed his commission, you know. I took my poor little play to Brady—he was very kind, but he looked at my hands. I told him dishwashing and playwriting didn't go very well together, and—poor me, I began to cry. Well, of course that made him impatient—"

Olive not only never did anything worthwhile, but she somehow held Arthur back, too. He was a clever writer, had a near-success or two. But then Olive

MIRROR Of Your MIND

Fits of Temper Can Be Curbed

By Lawrence Gould

Can you help losing your temper?

Answer: You can't possibly help getting angry any time that you are frightened or hurt, and telling yourself you are "above such feelings" only leads you to repress your anger out of consciousness, and perhaps "take it out on yourself." But whether you'll give way to a fit of temper depends upon your emotional maturity—your ability to stop and think whether the consequences will be "worth it" in the long run, as they rather seldom will be. The old rule of "counting ten before you speak" is both good psychology and good sense.

inwardly secure can behave naturally. But the best inward security is not based on feelings superior to others: it grows out of an awareness of your worth that is independent of "comparisons," and lets you ignore the foolish question of superiority entirely.

Will "blank" remedies cure skin ailments?

Answer: Yes, when the condition is "psychosomatic," says Dr. E. William Abramowitz of New York. There are inflammations of the skin for which the best cure is to make the patient think he's going to get well, and the way to implant this "suggestion" may be to give him a medicine or salve of which the chemical effects are only temporary. Whether this "placebo" contains any actual medication or not should depend upon the doctor's estimate of whether the patient is receptive to suggestion or is skeptical about the success of the treatment.

Will feeling superior to others make you "democratic"?

Answer: It will usually make you more considerate and friendly than feeling inferior to them, since what we call snobbishness is mainly an attempt to compensate for feelings of inferiority by making helpless people "bow and scrape" before us. Only someone who feels

Dogs Hound People Who Write Measures

CHICAGO.—The dogs are hounding the men and women who write state laws.

Bird bills have brought out pointed differences. Cats on the prowl have caused considerable caterwauling. Goats, too, have butted into the proceedings.

Everything, you might say loosely, wants to get into an act.

A bill introduced in the Arkansas legislature would have provided a bounty for citizens who killed untaxed dogs. The sponsor said dogs were killing livestock. The house killed the bill.

An Illinois proposal would make the owner liable for damages if his dog bit anybody who was "peacefully conducting himself in a place where he may lawfully be."

Postmen, milkmen, and meter readers were all for it. The legislators were told that letter carriers were attacked by dogs 650 times last year. Also that the cost of replacing a pair of postman's pants is $14.75.

There is a similar measure in Missouri. But it draws a fine line. If the dog bit an invited guest, the guest couldn't sue.

The senate and house in New Hampshire are trying to give each other the bird. The senate nominated the New Hampshire red hen as the official state bird. The house nominated the chickadee.

The coyote was named as the official animal of South Dakota. The Great Dane has been proposed as the official dog of Pennsylvania

KEEPING HEALTHY

Tuberculosis Is Still Common

By Dr. James W. Barton

BEFORE THE X-ray was in general use for examination of the chest for tuberculosis, the physician had to strike the chest wall with his fingers, listen to sounds of the chest by aid of the stethoscope, and then look through a microscope to try to find the tubercle bacillus in the patient's sputum.

While these methods of examination, together with the temperature taken three times daily, discovered most cases of tuberculosis, it was not until X-ray examination of the chest was used that tuberculosis and its location and extent were really made known.

Just before the X-ray examination of the chest for tuberculosis came into use, it was believed that practically all of us had tuberculosis at some time in our lives, but that most of us outgrew it or else it was in a "quiet" stage and so was causing no symptoms. Today, lung specialists state that tuberculosis is present in an active or in a "quiet" state in about 25 per cent of the population.

While it would take much time and money to obtain an X-ray of the chests of everybody, it is certainly worth it as it would save many useful lives. To save time and money, and thus get individuals and whole communities to have their chests examined, it has been suggested that the fluoroscope be used in mass surveys.

The advantages of the fluoroscope where the examining physician, by means of the X-ray machine, can look directly into the chest is that it shows the extent of the movement of the lungs, and the size, rhythm and position of the heart. The entire chest can be examined, by moving the fluoroscope and the patient. The disadvantage of the fluoroscope is that no permanent study record is made for the physician or X-ray specialist. While X-ray of the chest is considered the best single detection method, the physical examination and tuberculin test also are used.

HEALTH NOTES

Even though there may be no apparent symptom of indigestion, the fact that the aging individual is not getting full value from the food eaten may cause tiredness early in the day. In such cases, foods rich in minerals and vitamins should be eaten in increased amounts and a smaller quantity of foods used.

It is generally admitted that X-ray of the chest is the best single method of finding if tuberculosis of the lungs is present. The great surveys of whole communities by X-ray of chests not only have been the means of finding cases in which tuberculosis was suspected, but also in finding many cases in which tuberculosis was not suspected.

DOAN'S PILLS

GRASSROOTS

Minorities Gave "Mandate"

THE DECISION in the last national election was the result of minority groups, of radically-different interests, voting with the normal Democratic following. On disputed questions a minority group supported the President because of his stand on the question in which the members of a group were interested, and despite his position on other questions with which they did not agree.

The President attracted an unusual number of farm votes because of his promise to continue farm subsidies in the form of government price supports for farm products. The farmer was in no way interested in the promise to repeal the Taft-Hartley law. The portion of the labor vote that followed the urge of labor leaders did so because of the President's promise to repeal Taft-Hartley, but were not in sympathy with his farm policy that would maintain high food prices, against which they were clamoring.

Because of such conditions the election could not be considered as a mandate for all of the President's policies, as some members of his party have claimed it to be.

Richard Nixon, a Republican, represents the 12th California district in congress. That district is probably as near representative of America, as a whole, as is any other congressional district. Politically, it is almost equally divided between the two major parties, the Democratic registration showing a few more than the Republican. The district boundaries include a portion of Los Angeles, and a considerable rural farm section outside of the city. Its population contains all classes, ranging from workers, both organized and unorganized, industrial managers, bankers, professional people and a considerable number of truck, grain and dairy farmers.

To ascertain the wishes of his constituents, Representative Nixon mailed to each voter in his district, Republican and Democratic, a letter asking their answers to nine fairly-stated questions. Those nine questions covered the propositions, up to then introduced into the congress, on which some members of the President's party claimed he had a mandate from the people in the November election.

To those letters Nixon received a total of more than 26,000 replies, and to no one of the nine questions did the President's program receive a majority of the replies. Question No. 1, for example, was: "Do you favor the repeal of the Taft-Hartley labor law?" on that question 24 per cent voted for repeal, and 71 per cent voted against repeal. Six per cent had no opinion. Evidently from that district the President did not have a mandate to repeal Taft-Hartley.

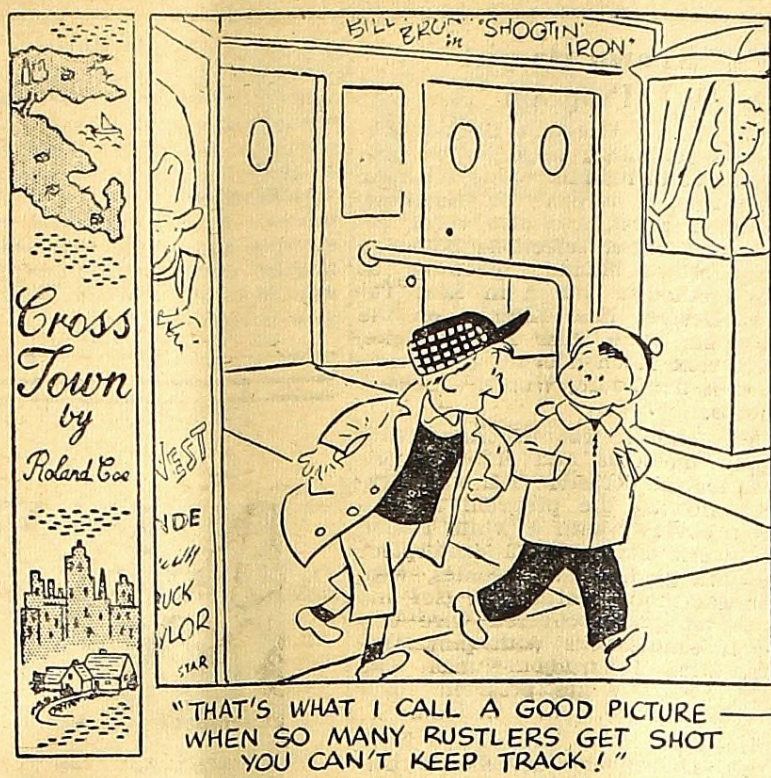

On the question of increasing taxes to the extent of $4,000,000,000 by an increase in the income tax rates, better than 81 per cent voted against an increase. The only one of the nine questions on which the vote was reasonably close was that covering proposed changes in the Social Security law. On that 48.38 per cent voted against the proposed changes, and 44.2 voted for them, and 6.7 per cent had no opinion.

Up to the time the letters containing the nine questions had been mailed, the administration's farm price support bill had not been introduced in congress, and it was not included in the list of questions. What the response might have been can only be guessed at.

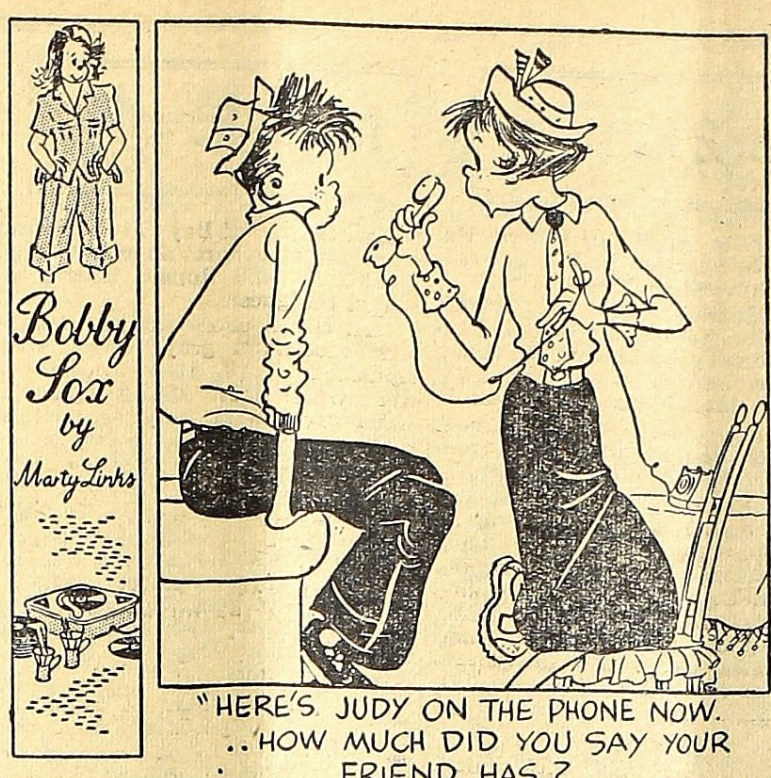

In the election last November President Truman received a larger number of votes than any of the other candidates. A majority favored him for the job, but in no single instance did a majority in that 12th California district endorse any of his policies as represented in those nine questions. It was a majority supporting a candidate, but not a majority supporting any one of the candidate's policies.

A mandate covers policies, rather than a candidate. Whether they be good or bad, in no single instance, unless it be the farm program, do the President's policies represent the wishes of a majority of the voters in Representative Nixon's district. It is evident the minorities do not agree on policies.

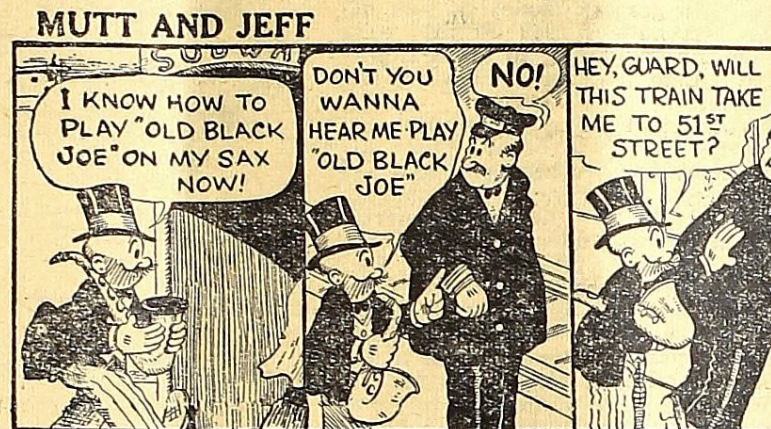

I watch the youth of today, and wonder about the future. Many of them evade the small tasks assigned to youth. They will not work. They will play when provided with the place and tools of play. They are drinking of the waters of something for nothing, as are many of their elders. Are we producing a generation of mendicants who will expect the government to provide for them through all of their days? Are we inviting disaster by encouraging idleness with too much paternalism?

COUNTY RECEIVES $20,025.50 IN GAS TAX

Iosco county will receive $20,025.50 in gas tax money as part of the first half of 1949 McNitt Act payments, according to State Highway Commissioner Charles M. Ziegler.

Vouchers totaling $2,000,000 in gas tax money to be allocated to the counties have been prepared by the State Highway Department and sent to the Auditor General for payment. Under the provisions of the McNitt Act (Act 130 of the Public Acts of 1931) this money is to be used only on county roads.

The amount of money allocated to any county is based on the number of miles of McNitt roads in that county in proportion to the total McNitt road mileage in the state, which is 68,969 miles. The distribution amounts to $58 per mile for this year. Mileage is re-certified to the Highway Department biennially.

McNitt roads, differing from other county roads, are former township roads which were taken over by the counties under provisions of the McNitt Act, which became effective in 1932.

Veterans who contracted malaria while fighting in tropical jungles will gain help from the human guinea pigs in Joliet, Ill., prison who offered their bodies for research. A new drug, pentamaine, was tested on the convicts. It proved effective and now is being distributed free by the Illinois veterans commission service. Authorities claim it will be of value in 95 per cent of all cases of relapsing malaria.
