Rose City Team Forfeits to Alabaster

Tied in 8th Inning; Rain Intervenes; Rose City Refuses to Play

In the only game in the Northern Division of the NEM League, last Sunday, Alabaster and Rose City battled it out for eight innings, ending the eighth with a 4 to 4 tie. The Rain maker then took over, and the game was halted for ten minutes. Alabaster then took the field, but Rose City refused to send a batter to the plate and the umpire was forced to award the game to Alabaster on a 9 to 0 forfeit.

The Rose City pitcher, Sanback, was very effective, allowing but four hits. His team-mates didn't help the cause along though, making ten errors in the field. Rose City got to Felsing for eight hits and four runs in the 5 1-3 innings he worked, while Martin, who relieved him held the Rose City team hitless the rest of the way.

Rose City scored in first, Embury singled, Groberg was safe on an error and Van Camp singled, scoring all their runs in fourth, when E. Erickson was safe on an error. Bolen walked and J. Erickson singled, scoring E. Erickson and Bolen. J. Erickson stole second; Hill was safe on fielder's choice, and both scored on two wild pitches by Sanback.

In the sixth Van Camp and Sanback singled and Kangas drove them in with a double. Martin then replaced Felsing on the mound for Alabaster, and retired the side with two strikeouts.

Davis, playing short for Rose City threw out five runners at first base and made two very good catches of line drives. Kangas hit two doubles and a single in four times at bat.

Has $38,500 Gain in Valuation

1949 City Tax Rate Reduced 1 1/2 Mills

Tawas City has an assessed valuation of $821,250, a gain of $38,350 over last year, according to figures compiled from the assessment rolls of the city at the six-day meeting of the board of review which ended Tuesday. A substantial reduction has been made in the tax rate through the reduction of city indebtedness.

The principal gain was in the third ward with an assessed valuation of $356,950, an increase of $21,850 over last year. The increase registered in the third ward came through the construction of a number of new homes in that ward and the opening of two new subdivisions. Lee Case opened one of the new subdivisions going on the tax roll this year and Henry Brown, the other.

The first ward valuation is $264,700, an increase this year of $9,100; and the second ward, $238,550, an increase of $7,400.

The second ward, with little vacant property for expansion has dropped from first place in growth to the bottom of the list.

In setting up the city budget this year the tax rate was reduced 1 1/2 mills. The rate last year was 23 mills. This year it is 21 1/2 mills, divided as follows: General fund 12 1/2 mills; street 2 1/2 mills, debt 6 mills; interest 1/2 mill. The reduction occurred in the interest account through the reduction of city indebtedness.

Extended Area Phone Service Inaugurated Here

Extended-area telephone service will be inaugurated between East Tawas-Tawas City and Oscoda at exactly 12:01 a. m. Wednesday, June 1, Thomas C. Maher, manager announced today.

At that time, the necessary equipment with which to operate the system will be cut into service. No special ceremony has been arranged because of the time element, he said.

Beginning on June 1, East Tawas-Tawas City subscribers will be able to make unlimited, toll free calls to Oscoda. Subscribers in Oscoda may, at the same time, call East Tawas-Tawas City as often, and talk as long as they wish without paying toll charges.

The calling procedure for both exchanges will remain unchanged after the "cut over". Subscribers will continue to give the number of the telephone they are calling to their local operators who will complete the call for them.

When the new service is introduced here, the East Tawas-Tawas City's calling area will extend beyond the 1,338 telephones in its own exchange to include the 390 telephones in the Oscoda exchange as well.

East Tawas-Tawas City's telephone rates will remain the same as those that went into effect last October, while Oscoda's telephone rates will move up to the permanent schedule authorized by the Michigan Public Service Commission, supplanting the temporary rates in effect there since October 16.

End Season With 8 Wins; No Losses

Final Games Played With Oscoda and East Tawas Teams

The Tawas City High School team ended their 1949 baseball season this week, winning three more games and extending their winning streak to eight wins and no losses. The local team came up with a lot of good baseball talent, this season, and their team batting average for the entire spring campaign was over .320.

They started the ball rolling again last Thursday when they soundly trounced the Oscoda nine 9 to 1. With Look on the mound, holding the Owls to three hits and striking out 13. The Tawas players started leveling off on the pitches served up the Oscoda pitcher, blasting some hard hit balls into the outfield. Lee Herriman, local catcher, rapped out two hits, while Look, who pitched a masterful game on the mound, accounted for two. Tawas scored two runs in the first inning, one in the second, two in the third and four in the sixth. Oscoda tallied their only run in the second.

Friday afternoon the Elks played host to the East Tawas Indians and the game turned out to be one of those usual rip-roaring battles between the two schools, when it comes to competing sports, with Tawas City coming out on top of the heap, 6 to 5, in eleven hectic innings.

The locals started out with Barry McGuire making his second appearance on the mound, hooking up with Potts, side arm hurler for the Indians. The East Tawas team seemed to like his serving and were hitting the ball squarely until the seventh when he was relieved. However Barry did come through with a ringing single over second, after two of his mates had singled, scoring the tie-breaking run.

East Tawas started the ball game off with a single run in the first innings, but their lead was short lived when in the bottom half of the first the Elks retaliated with three. The Indians didn't care much for the two run lead by the Elks and promptly banged out three. Both teams scored one run in the sixth inning and with the Indians leading by one run, in the seventh, Tawas City knotted up the count, when Kohn flied out. Gracik singled, McGuire struck out, and with two out, Look doubled. The game remained tied up until the eleventh inning. Herb Look put in his appearance on the mound in the seventh and held the Indians for five innings, striking out 11 of the opposition. In the eleventh inning three straight singles produced the winning run for the locals. Kohn singled, Gracik singled and McGuire patted one over second base scoring Kohn.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

Russian Motives Puzzle Diplomats As Berlin Blockade Comes to End; U. S. Spending Widely Criticized

EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysis and not necessarily of this newspaper.

BLOCKADE LIFT PREPARATIONS . . . Preparations to get things ready for the Russian lift of the Berlin blockade went busily ahead as agreements between the occupation powers fixed the time. Photos above show workers getting trains ready to operate under regulations fixed by the Soviets—rules which will permit 16 freight trains to operate daily into the city. Efficacy of the U.S. airlift in supplying Berlin with needed supplies despite the blockade was given major credit for the Reds' decision to end the road block.

BERLIN:
Up The Barriers

What had really impelled the Russians to lift the Berlin blockade, and how would the action affect world peace?

Those were two top questions actuating western power diplomats as a semblance of peace was restored to the troubled Berlin sector of Germany and the U.S. airlift eased off.

MANY OBSERVERS professed to see in the Russian action proof that the U.S. airlift operations had shown the Soviets so decisively the futility of maintaining the blockade, that even the obtuse easterners finally had seen the light.

There were others who insisted the blockade lift decision was motivated by a hope within the Kremlin that such an action would delay formation of a German people's government. However, this did not seem a tenable theory, inasmuch as the western powers already had declared plans to go ahead with such a project.

Seekers of peace attempted to see in the decision evidence that Russia really did not mean to make war now and that some as-yet-obscure motive looking toward continuation of Red expansion without recourse to arms was really behind the move.

SINCE MOSCOW'S original announcement concerning the end to the blockade, the order was broadened. Restoration of "transport, trade and communications" services was directed.

The order permitted 16 freight trains a day to move into Berlin, restored highway traffic, waived previous Soviet claims to search Allied baggage, and demanded Soviet travel permits at certain check points. Mail service was also to be restored. Actually, the Soviet order restored the Berlin situation to what it was on March 1, 1948.

Both British and Americans moved in reinforcements for the small units at border points to check papers of travelers and hotels and rooming houses had filled with persons waiting for the barriers to be raised.

PARROT:

Pretty Smart
Lorchen the parrot is a pretty smart bird.

HE LIVES in the Stamp & Coin Shop on Times Square in New York.

A customer tried to enter the store, but found the door locked.

However, as he turned away he heard Lorchen's insistent screams: "Let me out! Goodbye, goodbye."

Intrigued, the customer listened closer, heard muffled moans from inside the shop.

HE SUMMONED a building superintendent who opened the door and found Gustave Moerz, 50, the parrot's owner and shop proprietor, bound in a chair by tape and wire. His mouth was taped.

Moerz told police two men broke into the shop, tied him and took $644 from a safe and $100 from his pockets.

Nuclear Scientist Gives Definition of His Kind

In Baltimore, nuclear scientist Robert D. Fowler, of Johns Hopkins University, gave this definition of a nuclear scientist to a group of government officials at a symposium:

A man standing in a field in absolute darkness with thousands of baseballs on the ground around him. Somewhere in the field, invisible to him, is a barn with but one window and some kind of animals inside.

The man picks up a ball and throws it in any direction. If, by some chance, it goes through the barn window and hits the animal, then bounces out again so that the man can catch it in the darkness—he attempts to identify the animal by smelling the ball.

That is something like a nuclear scientist practicing nuclear science.

SPENDING:
Slash Urged

Suggestions that U.S. spending might be curtailed somewhat were coming from several quarters. Latest source was President Truman's economic advisers who held the idea that some existing tax burdens might be lightened and that the administration might scale down its call for four billion dollars in new levies.

THE COUNCIL of economic advisers, whose function is to counsel with the President on fiscal matters as they affect finance and economics, was reported to feel that current business trends justify an early check on federal spending—that is, if the budget is to be brought anywhere near to a balance.

It was the council's opinion that such levies as taxes on the transportation of goods add to the business costs and consumer prices and impede an orderly withdrawal from the postwar business boom.

The council was more than cool to any extended public works program—indicating its opinion by refraining from making any such recommendations in its report. The advisers have consistently urged that local governments prepare "shelves" of public-works blueprints for use when needed to bolster employment and public purchasing power.

BUT THE PRESENT trend of the national economy—which council chairman Edwin G. Nourse called a "healthy disinflation"—does not warrant large-scale works spending now, the council said. Such outlays would make it harder to reach the goal of lower government costs.

After a White House visit, Nourse informed newsmen that the council expects "some further easing of living costs." Prices, he said, are continuing downward, but "not on a demoralizing basis and there is no need to dig into the storm cellars."

ROAD SAFETY:
For Boys & Girls

In the year 1947—figures for last year are not yet available—National Safety Council figures showed that 7,150 persons between the ages of 15 and 24 were killed in automobile accidents on American highways. In addition 330,000 boys and girls within that age group were injured in highway accidents.

ACCIDENT REPORTS from 29 states last year disclosed that 27 per cent of all drivers involved in accidents—or nearly one out of three—were under 25 years of age.

That was an appalling toll of the nation's youths and something, it appeared, should be done about it. Now, something was being done about it. The Inter-Industry highway safety committee had come up with a program designed to enlist the aid of youth itself in cutting down highway accidents and fatalities among the nation's youth.

The program is one of education which would tend to encourage greater responsibility on the part of younger drivers when using the family car. Program material now is being distributed to national organizations which agree to help sponsor the movement. The program is centered around drivers 15 to 25 years of age.

CHIEF INTEREST-and-cooperation-getter in the program are "man-to-man" and "Dad-to-Daughter" agreement cards. The agreements are for the signature of eligible sons and daughters with their fathers, and outline eight good driving practices which the young drivers agree to observe while using the family car.

All state and local public support organizations were urged to take advantage of this opportunity to help reduce highway traffic accidents involving youngsters.

Those interested were directed to write: Inter-Industry highway safety committee, 1025 17th street, N. W., Washington 6, D. C.

WHEAT YIELD:
Near-Record Crop

With wheat surplus already straining grower and governmental ingenuity in housing it, word was that the United States may approach a new crop record during the new season. Farmers, already off to a good start, were not surprised at a U.S. department of agriculture estimate of more than a billion, 21 million bushels from the winter-wheat crop. That estimate was nearly two million several weeks ago.

No official forecast was given on spring wheat, but the department said prospects point to around 300 million bushels for that type of wheat.

OFFICIALS indicated the tremendous wheat yield will create further surplus and might lead to government controls designed to cut the acreage in 1950 between 15 and 25 per cent. Controls would include planting restrictions and possibly marketing quotas for individual farmers.

No forecasts were given on other crops except rye, hay and southern peaches. But the department said reports from various parts of the country indicated progress of 1949 crops is encouraging. Rye production was estimated at 22 million bushels, second smallest acreage in 75 years. The hay crop was put at 101 million tons, a more than average yield. The peach crop in 10 southeastern states was forecast at approximately 15 million bushels, about the same as last year.

"Iron Man"

President Harry S. Truman is shown lighting the candles on a pre-birthday cake presented to him by the White House staff. Bundles in front of him represent only a portion of the birthday greetings he received. Having observed his 65th natal anniversary, the President was described as being in excellent physical condition—a veritable "Iron man."

Lose in Stretch

It was a rough day for London merchants. Thousands of women besieged west end stores in the biggest nylon stocking hunt London had ever seen. Crowds, including some men waited outside the stores at dawn. But it was in vain.

The London Standard had announced the sale, but didn't mention that only 500 pairs of hose were issued to each of the 10 leading stores.

Average Man Works Half as Much Now To Clothe Family

NEW YORK.—The average man works only half as hard today to clothe his family as he did in 1914.

The national industrial conference board, an independent fact-finding organization, in a survey found the working man in 1948 spent the equivalent of less than five hours' work a week to buy clothes for his family whereas he had to work more than nine hours a week in 1914 to get the money.

"The purchasing value of the wage earners' clothing dollar has more than doubled over the 34-year period," said the board. "The three-fold rise in clothing prices has been overshadowed by the sixfold increase in wages over the hourly rate of 25 cents in 1914.

The wage earner could in 1948 outfit himself with an overcoat, gloves, hat, suit, shirt, socks, and shoes and pay the bill by working 61 hours.

"The 1914 wage earner would have had to work 153 hours for the same outfit."

On the same scale, a woman's hat cost one and a half hours work in 1948 and four hours in 1914.

Two factors in the cost difference were pointed out. The average family size in 1914 was 4.88 persons compared with 3.61 persons last year. But the board found the modern family buys a greater variety and larger amounts of clothing, with the increase in personal consumption amounting to almost 50 per cent in the 34 years.

Furthermore the expenditures for heavy clothing has declined in the period because of advances in home heating and travel in automobiles.

In the past 34 years, woman have taken over a larger and larger share of the clothing dollar, the board found. In 1914 the man spent 50 per cent more for his clothing than he permitted his wife to spend. But today, the woman spends 30 per cent more for her outfits than her husband does for his.

Johnny Appleseed Bones May Receive Reinterment

SPRINGFIELD, MASS.—Reports that the grave of Johnny Appleseed in Fort Wayne, Ind., has fallen into neglect inspired a movement to have the remains of the fabulous orchard planter brought back to Springfield.

Appleseed—his real name was John Chapman—generally is believed to have been born in Springfield. His cross-country sowing of appleseds won him his better-known name.

He died at Fort Wayne March 11, 1847.

A chamber of commerce campaign to transfer Chapman's remains was joined by Mayor Daniel B. Bunton.

"We'd be glad to have him rest here," said the Mayor, "in the heart of Johnny Appleseed Park."

Cads Invade Britain To Get Free Dentures

LONDON.—The house of commons got its teeth into a touchy topic:

Are aliens coming over in waves to get free British dentures?

Sir Waldron Smithers, 63-year-old Conservative, was the first to bare his upper.

He called the house's attention to a government leaflet which he said offered medical, dental, and nursing care to visitors to Britain under the national health services act.

Sir Waldron wanted to know if this is legal.

"I have all sorts of letters of people coming here and getting spectacles and false teeth and going to Antwerp and selling them," he said.

Sir Waldron added that a French doctor told him many of his patients who could afford the fare came to Britain for free treatment and that French doctors were "having a bad time as a result."

All this, he said bitingly, is "part of the Socialist technique of telling the whole world that the Socialist government of England would give free this and that at a time when we were living on the charity of America."

Arthur Blenkinsop, parliamentary secretary for the minister of health, said Sir Waldron's fears "about an invasion of our shores by people who want false teeth and spectacles are a figment of the imagination."

Hypnotism May Be Used To Lessen Dentist Fear

TROY, ALA.—Soon you may be able to believe that "painless dentist" sign.

Some 35 southeast Alabama dentists learned how it was done when Dr. James Fraser, head of the Troy State Teachers college chemistry department, hypnotized a patient before he had a tooth pulled.

"Didn't feel a thing," said George Hattaway, who agreed to the experiment. "And I needed the thing pulled anyway."

Dr. Fraser is a student of psychology and hypnosis and has suggested the use of hypnosis as an anesthetic for dentists.

Magic in Sarazen's Method

By GRANTLAND RICE

THERE IS ONE badly-needed lesson in golf that the present generation can take from Gene Sarazen. This is the vital matter of time and speed.

It takes most of the modern golfing generation just an hour longer to play a round of tournament golf than the stocky champion from 1922 employs. Sarazen moves along and wastes no time at all.

Most of today's leading players wear out the stop watch. They take entirely too long to play every shot, especially the shots around the green.

They turn a chip shot into an engineering ceremony. They turn a long-approach putt into a double engineering job as they survey every dip and roll of the green.

I have followed more than a few 18-hole matches that required over four hours of play. It is Sarazen's idea that a two-ball or three-ball match should be completed in two hours and 45 minutes.

Here is Sarazen's idea of playing his strokes. After the drive, he walks briskly to his ball. He sizes up the right line and the proper distance as he moves up. He takes about three or four seconds to make the proper club selection. Then he takes his swing.

On reaching the green, stocky Gene takes out his putter and walks up back of the ball, not around it. He picks out the correct line as he comes to the ball. He is then ready to make his putt. There is no waste motion—no extra pressure on the nerves—no form of convulsion—and a most pleasant afternoon for the cross-country runners who follow the matches.

Gene figures that with a two-ball match the pair should get around in about two hours and 20 minutes.

"I'd be goofy, a nervous wreck, if I wasted as much time playing each shot as so many do," Sarazen says. "Imagine walking at a snail's pace from your drive to the green, over 200 yards away, as I've seen several golfers do. Imagine taking seven or eight minutes to use up two putts. I would think that, after a few holes, many of these players would be hearing funny noises under their caps. I know my nerves would be in knots."

"One of the main reasons why I've been able to hang around for 27 years is the fact that I've saved my nerves by playing rather quickly. The longer you take to play a shot, the greater the pressure you put on your swing."

"Make your decisions quickly and definitely. Never have any doubt once you've reached for what you think should be the right club. And don't half-hit or over-swing. But above all, walk briskly and don't take up too much time playing your shots. Especially around the greens."

Getting the Jump

Quite recently, a pair of young men by the names of Billy Southworth and Leo Durocher were discussing the National league pennant race. Both agreed on one point.

"This is a good year," both said, "to reach July Fourth a few games in front. For the team in front after July Fourth will have a better chance to hold a lead."

"Why? Simple enough. The National league clubs are so well-matched that it will be harder than ever to close up any gap. The others won't let you. The eight clubs have never been as well-matched as they are this year."

"For example, if the Reds had Blackwell they would be just about as good as any team in the league. There isn't much to spare from top to bottom."

This was the expressed opinion of two of the league's veteran managers—two of the best in the game today. Eddie Dyer told me, before starting North, that the league might be less than 10 games apart at the finish. That means from top to bottom. Eddie didn't say it would be—he said it might be.

I honestly believe that if the Reds had the Ewell Blackwell of 1947, they would be about even money against any of the other seven teams. But baseball is full of breaks—injuries, accidents, mistakes, and team spirit.

Some teams quit quicker than others do. They let the psychological burden knock them over. They quit before they are beaten. This can be a battle of the game teams—the game teams against the quitters.

"I was rather astonished," Billy Southworth said, "to see how strong the Phillies were. They have a fine outfield, and good infield."

CLOTHES CLOSET REFUGEES

The case of the young New York man who lived in a clothes closet for 10 years and, upon his release, cried, "I want to go back in there. I don't like it outside," is not as unusual as you might think.

This department has come into possession of the fact that there are numerous such cases. Elmer Twitchell, for instance, has a nephew, Pastrami Twitchell, who has not only been in a closet for 10 years, but has resisted all efforts to entice him out. "He went in during Hitler's oratorical tirades over the mike. We nearly got him out this season, but he heard Vishinsky," Elmer explained. "Then he nailed up the door from the inside."

Other cases reported today, with statements by each follows: Thaddeus Swivelhead: "Yes, I have been living in the top drawer of an old dresser for five years. I crawled in because of the depressing war news all over the world. After a little while I heard that the war was over and that peace had been declared. I came out, read the newspaper headlines and leaped back in again. I'm no fool."

Asa Z. Boogie who has been living on a shelf in a basement pantry ever since 1943: "I climbed onto this shelf when the prices of everything began rising, with government controls helping very little. From time to time I peeked out and found things getting more unbearable. I am a fugitive from 75-cent cocktails, beer at 17-cents a glass, $4.50 steak dinners, 28-cent gasoline, shrimp cocktails at $1.10 a throw, 90 cents for watered soup, the $1.25 raw lambchop delivered on the butcher's block and people who call up to know what radio program I am listening to. Come out again? Why?"

H. K. G. Stuffinbo, who has been residing in a filing cabinet for ever so long: "If you wish to talk to me, climb in. I refuse to come out for anybody. I consider that I am a sane, wise and highly judicious fellow. You and all others who prefer the outside world in its present shape are nuts."

"The location of my home and my place of employment was such that I had to use the subways for north and south travel and buses for east and west. Once in a while when I went to a theater I had to get a taxi. I lived in an apartment where everybody kept the radio on all night. A room across the hall was occupied by an opera star who vocalized all day. Every few weeks there was an elevator strike in the building. And in order to get to my job I had to cross nine picket lines. So I got into this filing cabinet and, mister, it seems paradise."

Jarvis P. X. Waffle, who has been living in a abandoned cello case ever since 1919: "I got in right after Woodrow Wilson announced America would make the world safe for democracy. I knew what that would mean. Now and then I get a pretty good line on what life is like outside this cello case and, boy, am I happy to be where I am! No flying saucer mysteries! No video comedians! No pop music! No radio jingles! No jackpots! They can't even get me interested in "Stop The Music."

Four Against One

FOUR OUT OF EVERY five people in the United States live in cities or towns, and one lives on a farm, according to Wheeler McMillen, editor of the Farm Journal. The job of the one who lives on a farm is to provide food for himself and for the four who live in cities and towns. He will do that so long as doing it is profitable. When it is not, he will, quite naturally, lay down on the job, let his plant (his farm) go to pot, and the four in the cities and towns will suffer the tortures of hunger and famine.

The four in the cities and towns object to paying an artificially-created high price for the food which the one on the farm produces, whether they pay direct or pay as taxes what the government passes along to the one on the farm from the United States treasury. They want to pay only such price as may be determined by supply and demand—a low price when supply is in excess of demand, and high when the demand is in excess of the available supply. The four in the cities and towns remind the one on the farm that they have four votes to his one with which to enforce their wishes.

Should government continue to resort to temporary expedients as a means of satisfying the fair demands for a profit for the one on the farm, it will but speed the day when those four votes will be used, though it result in hunger for the four in the cities and towns.

The answer to it all is: increase the demand so that the supply will not so exceed the demand as to create unprofitable prices for the one on the farm. That can be accomplished by one of two, or both, methods, preferably both.

ONE—The world demand for food can absorb all the excess food the one on the farm can produce if the hungry and starving people of the world had the means with which to buy. It is not impossible for governments of the world to create a world food pool to which any excess supply from any country could go, and from which the hungry can draw at whatever may be the prevailing price at the time of purchase by the government of the nation for which the purchase is made. It would mean but another international bank, in which both prospective seller and buyer governments would provide the capital, and through which the financing of food purchases would be made. It would provide a demand that would keep pace with supply, and assure a profit to the one on a farm.

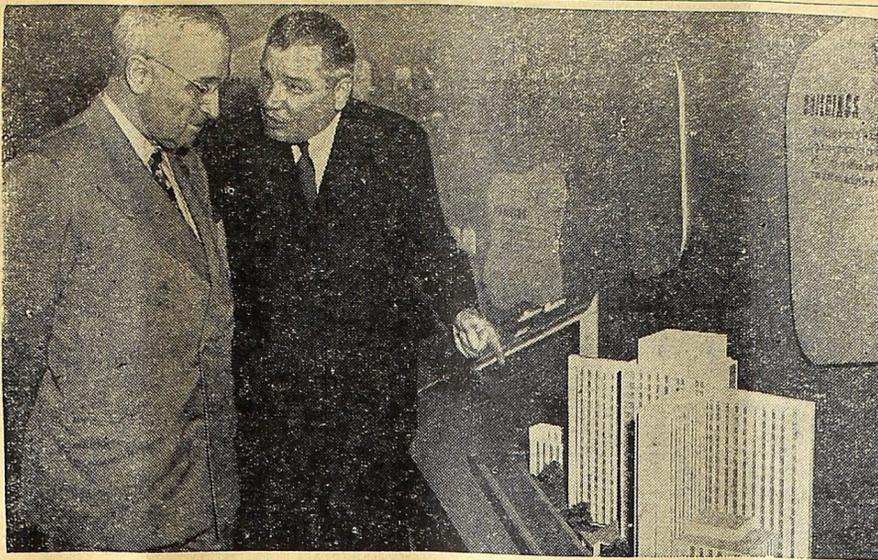

TWO—Another permanent assurance of demand-creating is the application of more farm crops to the purposes of industry. There are, undoubtedly, many things the one on the farm can produce which industry can utilize as raw material. Soy beans are a comparatively recent example. There are thousands of plant species that are, or could be, grown on American farms and could possibly be used by industry. A comparatively small sum used for research purposes might discover some of these species, and the industrial use to which they could be put. That would be another means of producing demand for the one on the farm, another method of keeping him and his acres profitably busy and assuring him a price, without a government subsidy, to which the four in the cities and towns object.

To attract the vote of that one on the farm, our political leaders have resorted to temporary expedients of either direct or indirect farm subsidies.

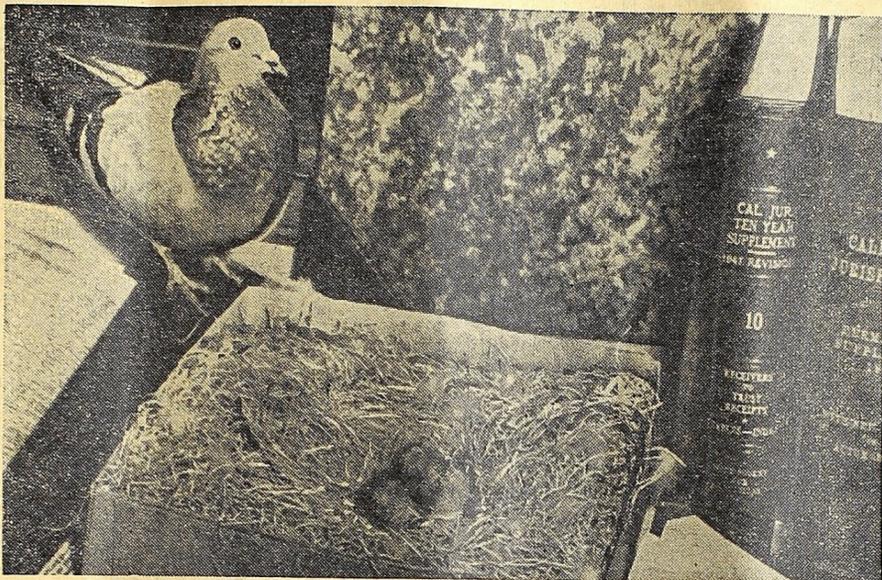

Now that the four in the cities and towns are showing signs of revolt at being forced to pay what they consider artificially-created high prices for food products the political leaders are proposing that supply and demand should regulate prices, but when such prices are lower than the government feels the one on the farm should have, the difference will be paid to him by the United States treasury. To that the four in the cities and towns object because, indirectly, they are paying it.

The four in the cities and towns object to being taxed that the one on the farm may get more than a supply and demand price. That the one on the farm also disapproves is demonstrated by the strenuous opposition to the proposed law on the part of the two largest—Farm Federation and National Grange—of the three farm organizations of the nation. They ask for a permanent remedy for the farm problem, not another temporary expedient.

Sixteen billions for defense; five billions for European recovery; two billions for rearming Europe; four billions for slum clearance; six billions for socialized medicine; three billions for farm price support, to mention just a few, of the many, appropriations made or asked for, and remember they call not for hay, but for American dollars. What is the limit, and where is it all coming from? Are we to go broke in financing the socialistic schemes of the theorists? That "something-for-nothing" bites hard.

PRESIDENT VIEWS MODEL OF PROPOSED VETS' HOSPITAL . . . President Harry S. Truman made a special trip to Washington's union station to view an exhibit of proposed veterans' hospitals which would be located at many centers in the United States. The models showed the treatment and rehabilitation offered war veterans by the Veterans' administration. Here the President is shown one of the models by the Veterans' Administrator Carl Gray. The proposed hospital expansion plan, whereby the most needy veterans would be cared for first, was a factor in congressional defeat of a proposed soldiers' bonus. President Truman took the position the disabled veterans should be considered first in any veterans' program.

EXTRA-LEGAL HATCHING ACTIVITY . . . Midge, resident pigeon at San Francisco's city hall, wasn't fooling when she laid two eggs on a superior court judge's desk some time ago, as this picture would indicate. The two pigeon offspring have been named "Juris" and "Prudence" and already are the pets of the city hall personnel. Judge Preston Devine, disclaiming the rights of jurisdiction in the matter, refrained from interfering with Midge's family activities, and his aides promptly fashioned a nest for Midge and her offspring. A previous picture of Midge and her eggs was taken shortly after she had deposited the first one on Judge Devine's desk.

Prayer in Pain

Lesson for May 29, 1949

THE SHADOW over Gethsemane is deep. We can scarcely see the tortured figure under the moonlit olive trees. If Jesus' closest friends, in that hour, were strangers to his soul, we cannot dare to penetrate all the secrets of that fateful hour. Yet while we cannot know all, we can know enough; enough to support us in our own time of darkness and of pain.

Dr. Foreman

Mark uses very strong language to describe the state of Jesus' mind in Gethsemane. The two Greek words he uses, translated in the King James version "sore amazed" and "very heavy," are translated by the Revised Standard Version "greatly distressed and troubled;" by Goodspeed, "distress and dread;" by Moffatt, "appalled and agitated." As our hymn says,

"We know not how, we cannot tell
What pains He had to bear."

Still, we do know of some of the burdens which weighed so terribly on Jesus' mind and heart that night.

Power of Darkness

ONE THING that must have troubled our Lord was lack of sympathy. Peter, James and John were comfortably asleep, evidently without the slightest notion of what he was suffering. But there was worse than lack of sympathy, somewhere in the dark city one of Jesus' supposed friends, the man called Judas, was even then slinking through the alleys with murder in his heart.

Jesus well knew what was in store for him. He knew the Sanhedrin would call him a blasphemer, he knew what the Romans would do with him, once they got their hands on him. Worse than this must have been the tragic sense of failure.

"I would, but ye would not," he had said in tears to this very city; a city full of enemies who should have been his friends, of unbelievers who should have believed, a city he loved, but which had nothing for him but thorns and a cross.

All this was on Jesus' heart that night—and as many Christians believe, far more. One of the most profound Christian thinkers has suggested that the heaviest, most painful shadow on Jesus' white soul was the sense of guilt, not his own but for the sins of the world.

Blood and the Angel

SO JESUS PRAYED. Even in the cool spring night his forehead was covered with sweat, falling to the rocky ground like dripping blood. Never rose prayer from a more tortured heart. And what came of it? In one sense, the prayer was not answered. The cup did not pass from him, he must drink it to the last bitter dregs. The prayer did not remove the pain. Yet in a deeper sense, the prayer of Christ was fully answered. "Not as I will, but as Thou wilt," he breathed. The prayer that sets one's own will in line with the will of God, whatever His will may be, is the prayer that always finds answer. At the end, there was not release, but power. "An angel came and strengthened him."

What Prayer Can Do

JESUS "LEARNED obedience by the things which he suffered." (Heb. 5:8.) We can share his lesson. The hour of pain is not the hour to begin praying; those who have not learned prayer before, will scarcely know how to pray in a time of agony. Yet the time of pain is not the time to give up praying. When the dark hour comes, Jesus did not throw aside his faith, he prayed more intensely than ever before. Prayer does not explain pain, much less explain it away.

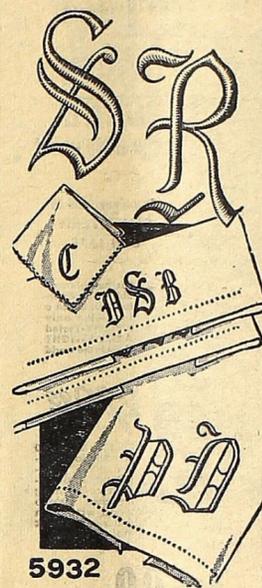

Prayer does not always get rid of pain, even though in many cases the prayer of faith works cures where doctors fail. What true prayer does always is to set the one who prays in tune with the will of God even when that will is not as our own.

Prayer does not bring us all the answers to the riddles of existence. It does bring power to bear what God sends us. For God's answer to those he loves is not always escape, but it is always endurance.

Faithful Messengers

Your feet, like your eyes, have to last a life-time—you get only one pair. And those feet, which spend two-thirds of their life in shoes, and carry you everywhere you go, deserve good care. Buy shoes and hose that fit and that give you proper support and comfort. Then it pays big dividends to massage your feet with a lubricating cream to keep them soft and relaxed.

Vitamin A in Butter

Butter is noted for being an excellent source of vitamin A. However, it is well to remember that the amount of vitamin A a pound of butter contains varies according to the season, from 11,000 units in winter to 18,000 units in summer.

Autumn Colors

In the fall in the northern states the leaves change color—brilliant reds, greens, blues, etc., but the color was there all the time. However, it isn't noticed until fall or autumn because earlier in the year the green of the chlorophyll in the leaves is so potent.

It was with much interest that I read about the recent Perch Festival. Such events, as this and the winter program at Silver Valley certainly aid in keeping the Tawas area on the map. I well remember back in the early '20's when a strange fisherman on the river bank was a novelty—a trip to the AuSable River was an all-day trip, longer if the car got stuck in the sand.

Sincerely,
F. D. McCaskey

Cereals Plenty

The 1948 carrot crop in California, Arizona and Texas was the largest on record—50 per cent above average. By the pound, in bunches or canned, raw or cooked, carrots supply large amounts of vitamin A. So do spinach, kale, broccoli, squash, and sweet potatoes. Nutritionists recommend eating one vegetable from this group every day.

Burning Rubbish

Safety officials warn against burning rubbish in open piles. Sudden gusts of wind, they point out, often carry flaming particles to dry rooftops where many destructive fires break out. The recommended method of burning rubbish calls for the use of galvanized steel rubbish burners. These containers permit rubbish to burn rapidly inside of a safe all metal framework.

Salt Important
Feed cattle salt daily. Sodium and chloride, the elements of salt, are constantly excreted in the milk and have to be replenished in the body of the cow. There is nearly a gram of salt in a pint of milk. Cows also need salt for maintenance of the body in addition to requirements needed for milk.

Restful Colors

If three walls of a bedroom are papered or painted a restful color and the fourth is brightly contrasting, the bed should be placed against the contrasting wall. Looking at the restful color is more relaxing and conducive to sleep—but even restful colors won't help if the bed is worn out and uncomfortable.

A Product of General Motors

America's Lowest-Priced Straight Eight?

Until they see the actual figures, few people realize that the big, beautiful Pontiac eight is America's lowest-priced straight eight. Not only does it undersell all other straight eights by a substantial margin, but it actually costs less than many six-cylinder cars!

The fact that the Pontiac eight gives so much for so little is the basic reason for the great and growing popularity it enjoys.

Pontiac has distinguished appearance, and distinctive Silver Streak styling. Its spacious Body by Fisher is handsomely upholstered and appointed.

And finally, it is powered by the world's sweetest engine—a great straight eight which is supremely smooth and quiet, instantly responsive to the accelerator, packed with power—an eight which gives peak performance and economy.

We honestly believe that no other car carries such definite assurance of really enjoyable performance at so low a cost. We invite you to come in and take the wheel yourself. We're sure you'll be very pleasantly surprised.

Difficult to Cultivate
Although rhododendrons and azaleas are favorite plants of many flower-lovers, they are among the most difficult to grow and respond only if given soil and climatic conditions favorable to their development. They are comparatively easy to grow in the southern states where the climate is less rigorous, but in the northern states they are grown with difficulty, and some of the tender Asiatic species cannot be grown outdoors the year around. In the North the evergreen species often suffer from windburn in the winter and drought in the summer.

Low in Calories
Celery, raw or cooked, combines well with many foods, such as creamed dishes, stews, fish, relishes and salads. It rates high in flavor and crispness but low in calories.

Printer's Point System

A point is 1/72 of an inch because up to the middle of the 18th Century very little had been done to standardize type sizes and then an arbitrary measure was chosen for a scale, divided into 72 parts, and the divisions were called points.

SPORTS HIGHLIGHTS

Rain may have helped the rhu- barb grow last week end, but it sure dampened the spirits of ball players in the Northeastern Michigan league, with only one game being held in the Northern division. Alabaster winning in a forfeited game, when in the ninth inning, after the game had been held up for a few minutes on account of rain, Rose City would not put their team back on the field. The score was tied up at 4 and 4.

The Tawas City High School baseball team finished up the season with flying colors with eight wins and no losses. Mark Defibaugh produced a lot of good baseball players from the local "Knowledge Factory" this year, and many of his players will be playing on teams in the North-eastern Michigan League this summer.

Local boat enthusiasts are hoping for clear, warm weather for Memorial day week-end so they can get their boats out into the bay without freezing to death. Last week cold weather hampered most of the boat owners fun, but weather looks promising for the week-end?

Trout catches have been very light lately, on account of this unexpected cold spell. Many, who have been fishing on the AuSable, near Mio, have reported very light catches or no luck at all.

This week-end finds the local independent team with a full schedule, with the Locals playing host to Sterling on Sunday, and Mikado, who always produce good fast teams, slated for a tangle at the local athletic field on Memorial Day. Why not come out and see some good baseball, and at the same time lending your support to the local team.

EAST TAWAS HIGH TENNIS TEAMS WIN HONORS

East Tawas High School tennis teams came home from Mount Pleasant Regional Champions. They were winners in Class C and D, from teams of West Branch, Leelenaw (Glen Arbor) and Ithaca. They will now be eligible to participate at the State Meet in Kalamazoo, to take place in the near future.

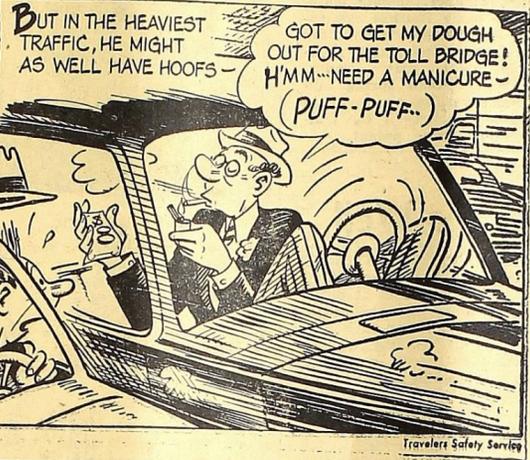

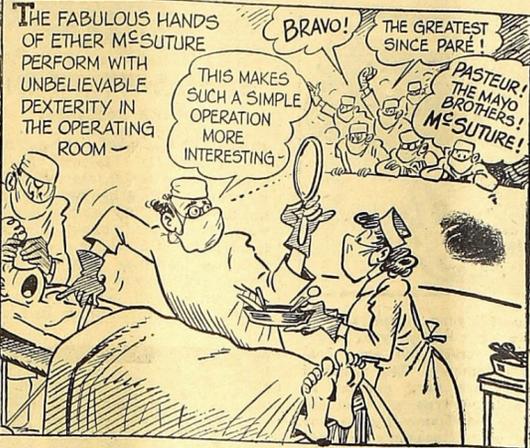

YMCA SWIMMERS "RACE TO TAWAS"

Members of the YMCA have started to "swim to Tawas." They won't actually cover the distance in Lake Huron waters; the swim will take place in the local pool, which measures 22 lengths to a nautical mile.

Participants will cover the course in four weeks at their convenience, and enroute will pass such tests as underwater swim, self rescue, first aid, artificial respiration, canoeing, and recovering from tipping over in a canoe in waders or hip boots.—Bay City Times.

I. O. O. F. BOYS CAMP OPENS JUNE 26

The Odd Fellow and Rebekah Camp will open on June 26th with the first group of boys up to and including 15 year olds come to spend a week at this beautiful spot on the shore of Big Star Lake in Lake County near Baldwin. The Board of Control will have everything in readiness for this annual event which for a period of eight weeks each summer provides a vacation to some 1000 boys and girls of Michigan.

The Camp is now in its ninth year of operation by the Odd Fellows and Rebekahs with each year showing a marked improvement, more children and greater interest than before. The season will again run for eight weeks with closing date August 28th. As in previous years the first four weeks will be for the boys and the final four weeks for the girls with the age groups bracketed as in the past.

Boys and girls do not have to be sons or daughters of members of the Order but must be sponsored by some lodge or approved by the Camp Board or other official of the Order. The teachings of the Order are not imposed upon any of the campers and the Sunday worship service is undenominational. Certificates of merit are granted those who make certain attainments in various sports and department.

Human Bloodstream

The blood constantly bathes all parts of the body. It flows through an estimated 60,000 miles of waterways. From the heart it flows along the arteries to smaller arteries. These narrow down to the capillaries, the timid blood vessels that reach all of the tissues.

Pygmy Buffalo

Pygmy buffalo, about the size of a St. Bernard dog, are found on Celebes, a main Indonesian island.

COUNTY RECEIVES $20,025.50 IN GAS TAX

Iosco county will receive $20,025.50 in gas tax money as part of way Commissioner Charles M. Ziegler.

Vouchers totaling $2,000,000 in gas tax money to be allocated to the counties have been prepared by the State Highway Department and sent to the Auditor General for payment. Under the provisions of the McNitt Act (Act 130 of the Public Acts of 1931) this money is to be used only on county roads. The amount of money allocated to any county is based on the number of miles of McNitt roads in that county in proportion to the total McNitt road mileage in the state, which is 68,969 miles. The distribution amounts to $58 per mile for this year. Mileage is re-certified to the Highway Department biennially.

McNitt roads, differing from other county roads, are former township roads which were taken over by the counties under provisions of the McNitt Act, which became effective in 1932.

WOMAN'S WORLD

Summer Fashions Offer Style Diversity

By Ertia Haley

SUMMER FASHIONS are universally appealing. They have the crisp and fresh look, and there's something for everybody's taste and budget.

If you like the fragile and feminine clothes, there's a wealth of sheer materials such as nylons and tissue cottons and rayons from which to choose.

For those who prefer trim and tailored lines, there are the beloved classics with just enough of the new fashion details to make them look interesting. The silky gabardines in wool and rayon as well as the sheer woollens all vie for honors in this class.

Fabric Choice Is Unlimited

Most of the new collections of summer clothes offer a wonderful wealth of fabrics. There are the always popular cottons, but you'll hardly recognize them from their intricate weaves, color combinations and treatments. In place of the usual prints, which are still available, if you want them, you'll find a beautiful array of plaids, checks and colorful stripes.

In the print line, be it cotton or rayon, the print which seems to be holding sway is the border print. Linsens are extremely popular and well used. You'll have no dif-

Three-Piece Ensemble

Among the fashion scoops of the season is this three-piece ensemble. Made up on companion color chambray, this grey blouse features the latest rolled dressmaker collar and dolman sleeves. Companioned to the blouse is the blue, grey and shrimp-toned chambray skirt. A shrimp-tone cummerbund accents a tiny waist. A black, cartwheel straw hat and shortie black gloves add to the costume to make it a delightful ensemble.

Jacket dresses are popular fluently finding the softest of pastels to fit your coloring; and, for those of you who feel that prints are the thing for summer, there are numerous vat-dyed butcher linens. Pure silk and silk shantung share honors with the other materials because they drape so softly and lend themselves to the cool look.

Interest in Necklines Highly Favored

Whether the dress be casual or formal, you'll see much neckline interest. These range from the large and flattering shawl collars to the deep dipping slashed neckline.

Shawl collars are face-framing and lovely if you're the tall dramatic type who needs some horizontal line at the shoulders to balance the figure. Many of these collars are used in two different ways: low to bare the shoulders, or high to cover them.

Most of the sundresses are strapless this season, but they do come with ties that are removable. The bodice is boned for security. Another feature which most of us appreciate in the sundress is the fact that many of the moderate and slightly high priced ones come with a brief jacket. These have a small Peter Pan collar and three-quarter fitted sleeves. If you purchase one of these in a lovely pure silk print, it will serve two occasions beautifully.

Full Skirts Are Popular

Many of the warm weather fashions sport full skirts. These are not only flared as they were last year, but they are also gored, flowing neatly from a snug hip line. Some have unpressed pleats; others have a flounce, a rather deep one, to give them more fullness; and still others are elaborately draped.

There is little change in skirt length from spring fashions. The approved length remains at 12 inches from the floor.

Even the tailored types of dresses show a gentle flare or a suggestion of fullness. It's only in the suits that you have what can be called a really slim skirt line.

Trend Toward Femininity Still Making Strides

The feminine influences which have been observed during winter and spring are bound to show up even more for summer fashions and there's nothing in the fashion spotlight which would contradict this trend.

The camisole effect is new and very womanly looking. It's featured in vestees and on the tops of backless dresses. Equally feminine is the use of embroidery trim on pastel dresses of cotton and linen, or the tiny tie belts or the hubbust Empire silhouette.

KATHLEEN NORRIS

Don't Mix Love, Money too Well

EVA CARPENTER of Syracuse is going to be married in June, and she writes to ask me what financial adjustment a wife has a right to demand, because, as she says, she has always hated being imposed upon, and she wants things understood.

Barry, her young man, appears to be casual and cheerful about these matters, and assures her that with his good steady salary, prospect of promotion, with his comfortable house free of encumbrances and with the small but sure income both he and Eva derive from wartime investments, "everything will be fine." Barry's motherless small daughter, Meg, will live with them, but her school and clothing expenses are paid by her mother's money.

"I made out a budget," says Eva's letter. "Barry laughs at this, but I have been a financial manager of a small sanitarium for some years and know how to handle such affairs. My idea is that just so much shall be allocated to table, telephone, cleaner and so on; just so much to go to Barry for taxes, car maintenance, lunches, club and so on, and the residue be divided on an equal basis. Unless a wife is to be an unpaid servant, as my mother was for 25 years, she surely has a right to her share. Knowing your opinion of the importance of a money agreement in marriage I want to ask you two questions. What, out of an income of about $600 a month, should be my share, and should I ask Barry to put our agreement into writing?"

Serious Question

Eva, I say in reply, you are quite right in quoting me as saying that "... I have made out a budget . . ." the money question is a most serious one, in marriage, and that if it is settled to the satisfaction of both parties, other problems are apt to fall into line.

But that is not to say that I believe a woman of 31, marrying a man 10 years her senior, should enter upon matrimony in this brisk businesslike mood. No wonder it amuses Barry, who has already had some experiences of the way domestic expenses go.

Your staid, maidenly budget will be blown sky-high when the guest-room bathroom overflows onto the dining-room ceiling; when the dentist's bill comes in just double your expectations; when your brother Tom needs another loan; when your cleaner-by-the-hour slips on the cake of soap Meg didn't pick up and sues you for $600; when your mother is taken suddenly ill and you have to fly to Santa Barbara.

Have All Advantages

You are a responsible person; Barry is successful, industrious, thrifty, reliable. What more do you want. Certainly not budgets, before you are even married, and a bombardment of such words as allocation, residue and basis. Barry wants confidence from you, and unless you feel an affectionate trust in him, don't marry him at all. With the assets you mention, you are having much more than an average start, and your difficulty, as I see it, is going to be the loosening of all your pre-arranged lists, budgets, restrictions, rather than the tightening of your rules for Barry's improvement.

No wife is more annoying than the watching, suspicious woman who questions every move and eyes the spending of every penny. The old phrase "an unpaid servant in Choose your handbag to match or contrast your footwear, according to your costume's demands. The polished leathers are very popular in the tailored type of handbag. They're handsome indeed for many of the season's favorite fabrics. Thinner, smooth leathers and suede finishes are enjoying great popularity, the latter being particularly popular in light gray shades. Patents, perennial spring and summer favorites, are much in demand, especially if the footwear is glistening patent.

SANDY BECKER, the new "Young Dr. Malone" in the CBS daytime serial, started out to be exactly that, a doctor, to please his father. But his mother had always been keen about amateur theatricals; at a tender age he had appeared in a play with her. When he was eight he was making puppets and putting on shows at local church bazaars. So, when half way through pre-medical school, he abandoned the career of his father's choice and chose a branch of his mother's hobby. He has hobbies of his own, sculpturing and sketching in winter, playing tennis or golf in summer, but baby-sitting with his son and daughter limits his free time.

Cathy Downs, who is featured in Allied Artists' "Massacre River," is knitting like mad, all because she posed in six knitted dresses for a fashion layout, liked them, and decided she could duplicate them herself.

Linda Darnell, Robert Young, Robert Taylor, James Stewart, Clark Gable and a host of other Hollywood stars owe a debt of gratitude to radio comedian Morey Amsterdam. When he was one of the highest paid "special material" writers it was his job to whip up speeches and funny gags to be delivered by the stars when they had to make personal appearance tours.

The success of "Variety Time" has spurred RKO into speeding up production on a big-time vaudeville picture to be called "Make Mine Laugh." It will comprise a batch of new acts and a series of "Flicker Flashbacks" for old-time flavor.

Patric Knowles is going to let his rusty Spanish get even rustier from now on. In Mexico on location for RKO's "The Big Steal," he had a linguist disaster when he needed soap, asked a storekeeper for "Sopa"—and got a can of soup!

Unlike Hollywoodites, New Yorkers can't get used to seeing movie stars minus their glamor. Ginger Rogers, in a brown suit and little straw hat, looked like any nice working girl. Greta Garbo, in a mannish hat, a raincoat and long false eyelashes, was bitterly disappointing. Marlene Dietrich, wheeling her grandchild in the Park, dealt neatly with an auto-graph hunter who approached her. "I'm not really Marlene Dietrich," she said. "People just think I am," and she rapidly wheeled the baby down the path.

If you hear Jack Carson say "clunk," "Moosh" or "dunkie" during his CBS airer, don't think he's gone berserk. His son asks him to use these strange words so he can impress his friends — then he claims he wrote the script.

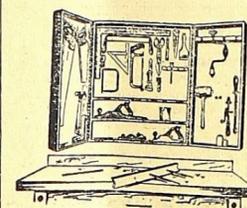

Elliott Lewis expects Lady Luck to visit him every time he appears on the "Screen Guild" air show with Ginger Rogers. "Every time I work with Ginger I get a terrific new break in contracts for a new show or recording," he said recently. "She's my good luck charm and I can hardly wait for the day after 'Screen Guild.'" As if "Frankie Remley" needed good luck!

Horace Heidt is planning a musical comedy to feature the youthful talent discovered on his "Original Youth Opportunity Program." It will be titled "The Kids Break Through," is tentatively scheduled for this fall on Broadway.

The confusion between the Niles brothers, both announcers, reached its climax when producer Hal Wallis wanted an announcer for the picture version of "My Friend Irma." He asked for Niles, got Ken, despite Ken's protestations to his agent that his brother Wendell, not he, was the regular announcer on the air show. Just so he got a Niles, Wallis was content.

Bette Davis has returned to her home in Laguna, Calif., after two months in Florida and New York.

Household Hints

Instead of rolling cookies, drop the dough from a spoon onto a cookie sheet; then stamp each one with a damp cloth stretched tightly over the bottom of a cup or glass.

Prevent water from boiling over when cooking macaroni or rice by greasing around the top of the pan or kettle.

When sewing rayon sharkskin or taffeta, use finely pointed pins and needles for all hand and machine work to avoid leaving pinholes in the material.

Scratches on shellacked doors, etc., usually disappear when wiped with alcohol.

THE GARDEN SPOT

What's Home Without a Lawn?

By Eldred E. Green

WHAT WOULD your home look like without a lawn? It would be a pretty dismal looking place. Because lawns are so common we pay little attention to them. Nature has provided many kinds of grass and some will grow in most any spot. With little thought and care the grass can be encouraged to provide a fine, green, living setting for home and garden.

A new lawn should be treated exactly like a garden. The soil should be deeply turned and finely pulverized on top. Fertilizer and humus should be added if the soil is clay or sandy. The grass should be sown evenly and the surface kept moist until the plants are well started.

Grass grows only in cool weather, so the lawn should be taken care of early. Use seed that is good for your situation. Kentucky Blue grass is the best over most of the country and under most conditions. However, it will not grow in heavy shade. Here some other grass is necessary, such as Canada Blue grass or Chewings Fescue.

In all grass seed mixtures there will be other grasses that come up rapidly and form a protection while the slower kinds get started. Red top and rye grass are the ones chiefly used.

State laws require the analysis of grass seed to be printed on the package. The greater the percentage of Kentucky Blue, Canada Blue or Chewings Fescue the better the seed. Cheap mixtures will have less of these desirable grasses and more of the less expensive.

Lawns are composed of plants and need the same care that you would give to plants in the garden. Weeds must be kept out. This is easy now with the new kinds of sprays containing 2,4-D that kills weeds but does not bother grass. Use these exactly as directed. Plant food will be needed. This is best given in the same way that you feed your garden. Use a good balanced fertilizer. Chemicals containing only one element may stimulate the grass but the growth will not be balanced and the plant may suffer later.

Cutting the lawn is not a hard task. Set the mower so that an inch and a half of grass is left. The clippings should be left to fall on the ground. Keep the mower sharp and well oiled. A light cutting every week or two is far better than a heavy cutting once in a great while. Occasionally grass will become too long and then the clippings should be removed if they are matting and causing a smothering of the grass.

Rolling may be necessary if your soil is subjected to thawing and freezing in the spring. The roller should be heavy enough to press the surface of the soil smooth without packing it down. Generally the steel water-weight ones are more easily adapted to the soil conditions. The rolling pushes the grass back into contact with the soil so that the roots can take hold. Frost action loosens the plants from the soil.

Good lawns are necessary. Rolling, fertilizing and cutting are little trouble. Weeds are gone with a spray. Select the right grass and you will have a good lawn with little effort.

Bad Moods Will Hurt Digestion

By Lawrence Gould

Do your moods affect your digestion?

Answer: Yes, writes Dr. R. Bilz in a German medical journal. "A mood always occurs simultaneously on the physical and psychological level." Even the expression on your face may be "mimicked internally" by what a doctor discovers with a stomach-pump and X-rays, so that when your mood is tense and anxious, your "ulcers" reveal the facts as clearly as your eyes do. If you want to have a good digestion, you'd better at least avoid the far too common practice of airing your grievances and worries at the dinner table.

your belief in your "luck"—which at bottom means your childish confidence in your parent's power to protect you from the consequences of your folly. A truly brave person never incurs needless risks because he does not have to prove he can face danger, if he has to.

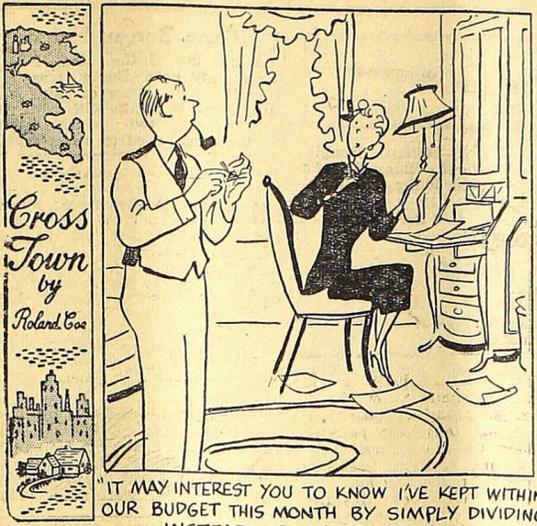

Is having been "tight" an excuse for rudeness?

Answer: Only in the degree that the person you are asking to excuse your bad behavior will accept the fact that you have rude impulses which you are able to control when you are sober. For what you said or did was not "foreign to your nature"—it was an expression of a part of yourself which you did not wish to reveal or acknowledge under ordinary circumstances. Indeed, it was probably a wish to give this side of yourself an airing that unconsciously induced you to anesthetize your inhibitions by drinking unwisely.

Is recklessness based on fear?

Answer: Yes. Most frequently the urge to "flirt with danger" represents an effort to avoid the shame of being thought a coward, and still more of being forced to recognize how frightened you'd be if you "stopped to think about it." But again, you may be bolstering

KEEPING HEALTHY

The Liver, Most Vital to Health

By Dr. James W. Barton

BECAUSE the liver has so many different jobs to do and the liver means so much to our general health, we should all try to remember that it is the largest organ in the body and contains about 25 per cent of all the blood. One of the jobs of the liver is manufacturing bile which breaks up fats for digestion. It is an anti-septic destroying harmful organisms and a natural purgative preventing constipation. It is, therefore, a true saying that "life depends upon the liver." Another important job is the manufacture by the liver of a substance needed by the blood. Aside from the bile killing harmful organisms, the liver cells themselves filter out poisons from the blood, which, if not removed, would cause tiredness and weakness. In order to find whether or not the liver is doing this important job of filtering wastes and poisons from the blood, various tests are made, one of which is giving a dye by mouth or injections and seeing how long it takes the liver to remove all the dye from the blood. Recently research workers, investigating two common ailments—gallstones and ulcer of the stomach and the first part of the small intestine (peptic ulcer)—took a tiny piece of the liver from these patients for examination under the microscope and found that in only 6 to 7 per cent was the liver in a normal, healthy condition. As the liver is really the "chief" or most important organ in the body from the health standpoint, we should all try to keep it active and healthy by two simple methods: First, cutting down on fat and rich foods; and, second, keeping the liver in an "active" condition by bending exercises, keeping the knees straight. At McGill university, Montreal, some years ago, research workers showed that squeezing the liver by bending exercises or deep breathing caused the liver to do its various jobs completely and in less time.

HEALTH NOTES

The economic cost of heart disease is staggering in terms of loss of life, absenteeism, disability, loss of gainful employment, and care and treatment programs. It has been found that insulin—which reduces the sugar in the blood, brings on sleep and increases the appetite—is more effective in restoring the alcoholic patient to normal than any other method.

While the passing of blood is but one symptom of cancer of the generative and urinary parts, it is one of the early signs and gives the patient a chance for successful treatment. Formerly, patients and, sometimes, physicians were lulled into false security by thinking that when the bleeding stopped, the progress of the underlying cause also stopped. But such is not the case.

FIRST AID to the AILING HOUSE

By Roger C. Whitman

Building A Basement Room

Question: We have a project in mind and I am able to do the work myself if I have a little help. We want to dig out a basement under the kitchen; we have two rooms under the house already. Have you any leaflets on tiling out the drain, and footings for concrete blocks? After the basement room is completed, we plan on a kitchen sink and cupboards. Have you any leaflets on plumbing for a kitchen?

Answer: Those are all rather large subjects, and I do not have any leaflets to cover them. If there is a good public library in your town, you should find handbooks on plumbing and piping on file. Other sources of information are the publishing house of Theodore Audel & Company, 49 West 23rd St., New York; also the Popular Mechanics Magazine, 200 East Ontario St., Chicago. The Portland Cement Association, 33 West Grand Ave., Chicago, can supply bulletins on concrete work around the house.

New Gasoline Process

The nation's transportation industries, worried by the current gasoline shortage, have been assured of an abundant supply of liquid fuel at reasonable cost when sufficient plants are placed in operation to use a new synthetic process from natural gas. However, this source of supply is not expected to be widely used for several years.
