Russians Urge West German State Be Wiped Out; Ask 4-Power Rule; Congress Curtails 'Must' Legislation

(EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysis and not necessarily of this newspaper.)

GERMANY:

A Sour Note

The Big Four conference in Paris was underway. For the first time in the cold war between East and West there was real hope that harmony would be forthcoming.

In fact, Secretary of State Dean Acheson had been warned by Senator Vandenberg, senate foreign affairs committee chairman, not to be too aggressive with the Russians, but rather to keep open, if possible, the door to lasting peace.

WITH the Russian blockade of Berlin lifted and the Soviets apparently ready to sing a new tune in world cooperation, the theme of the conference was to be harmony.

But the delegates hardly had time to warm the seats of their chairs before the Russians were at it again. Russian Foreign Minister Andrei Vishinsky blandly proposed that the council of foreign ministers wipe out the new west German state and return German affairs, including direction of the Ruhr, to four-power control machinery

MANY had expected this course by the Soviets. They had predicted that lifting of the Berlin blockade was done to soften up the ministers for this very proposal. But it didn't work. All three western powers immediately rejected the proposi-

The Soviet foreign minister showed little tact. He led up to his proposal with a long tirade de-nouncing the U.S., Britain and France for what he termed "violations" of the Potsdam agreements.

SOVIET ideology could not tolerate a separate German state with autonomous powers and there was little question that the Kremlin would stand firm in this position. On the other hand there was no possibility that the western powers would recede from their intention to return government of Germany to the German people. Thus it would seem the impasse was clearly

For the U. S., Dean Acheson delivered himself of what might well be the decade's masterpiece of understatement when he called the Russian suggestions "disappoint-

But then he summed up the world's reaction when he added: "My hopes are distinctly chilled."

CONGRESS:

Let's Wait

A lot of "trouble for nothing" might be an apt phrase to describe all the national agitation against President Truman's health insurance and civil rights proposals-for his own leaders in congress erased the issues by taking both hotlythe "must" list.

ALSO slated for further delay was the administration's four-billion-dollar tax increase plan, the equally controversial Brannan farm program and the foreign-arms pro-

This left only three measure bills for top priority action. They were: 1. Extension of the reciprocal trade program which has passed the house but is stalled in the sen-

2. Repeal of the Taft-Hartley labor act.

3. Ratification of the North Atlantic security treaty which requires only a two-thirds majority vote in the senate.

SENATE MAJORITY LEADER Scott Lucas indicated action might be sought before adjournment on minimum-wage boosts, the international wheat agreement, and a pay raise for top government executives and military personnel.

Speculation was that decision to abandon for the time the compulsory health insurance program stemmed from mounting congressional clamor for sharp cuts in government spending, with the civil rights legislation delay believed motivated by fear of a southern filibuster. Congress wants to adjourn by August, and consideration of any of the "powder kcg" legislation might make that

LUCAS said he thought President Truman was "definitely satisfied" with the progress being made.

That surprised some legislators, for unless congress repeals the Taft-Hartley law, the President will be unable to point to accompledges when congress adjourns. to his death.

Potent Vote

POTENT VOTE . . . This lone woman voter, to whom a pair of shoes would be a Godsend, is shown as she cast her ballot in the elections held in the Russian zone of Germany. The Russians had hoped to make a big propaganda gun of the election -a gun that would be used in the "Big Four" conference be-ginning May 23. But the Soviets had to admit that one-third of the valid ballots cast voted against the all-Communist

Better to Die . . ."

"Comfortless, nameless, hopeless, save in the dark prospect of the yawning grave . . . better to die, and sleep the never-waking sleep than linger on . . . "

. With the import of these lines from Sophocles' "Chorus From Ajax'' so obviously goading his consciousness, James V. Forrestal, former U. S. defense secretary, plunged to his death from the 16th floor of national naval medical center in Washington

FORRESTAL had been under treatment for "operational fatigue" since April 2. Attendant physicians said he had been considering suicide, that the nature of his malady indicated this mental condition as an inescapable adjunct to it. But they felt he was getting better; in fact they had hoped to release him from the hospital in 30 days.

As secretary of defense, Forrestal labored under a burden such as few national servants have carried. His was the job of directing the gigantic naval program during the war, as well as the almost hopeless task of attempting unification of the armed forces. The strain was great and a sympathetic people could understand why it might have broken a strong man.

President Truman took full cognizance of Forrestal's worth when he declared the former defense secretary was "as much a casualty of war as if he had died on the firing line."

BUT there was an added burden weighing on Forrestal. That was a burden of attack and vilification from two of the nation's top radio newscaster-columnists. After his shocking death, the press of the nation began to revalue the impact of its effect and that of the radio.

Some nationally-syndicated observers charged that the attacks upon Forrestal via radio and in print had added to his load of desperation. They advanced the premise that unless some check was put upon this type of journalism, it might discourage many able men from entering government

There is possibly no agony of mankind comparable to that which must go on in the mind of the man about to take his own life. It is wholly foreign to the concept of the normal, every-day mind. Certainly it flies in the face of the very first natural law-self preservation. Weighing all this, it is difficult to understand how there could be anything but sympathy for Forrestal and an honest effort to understand something of the torturous mental plishment of any of his campaign suffering which drove him to leap

JOB OUTLOOK:

Better for Grads

With starting salaries holding firm at last year's record high levels, signs of a last-minute pickup in jobs for the mammoth 1949 class of college graduates were showing up, according to an annual employment survey by the family economics bureau of Northwestern National Life Insurance Company.

Although two-thirds of the 133 colleges and universities covered to date find their total employment calls all the way from slightly to "disappointingly" below 1948, schools reporting in the final week of the survey have shown a much better ratio, the summary says. Approximately half of the late responses report their record of job offers to date as equal to or slightly above 1948 experience.

DARTMOUTH college's school of business administration observes, for example, "We were disturbed by the February-March slump, but the later pick-up has 'wiped out our losses,' "St. Louis wiped out our losses,' "St. Louis wiped out our losses," university also reports that demand faded in February and March, but "as of the past six weeks it has begun to develop beautifully." Uni-versity of Nebraska's college of business administration notes a stronger employment demand in the last ten days. But Duquesne university at Pittsburgh reports, "Calls in general are less than in 1948 except those for sales person-nel which have increased."

Boston university says job offers are 7 per cent fewer than last year; Ohio State finds about the same number of employers represented on the campus this spring, but each firm taking fewer men. Yale university has recorded more employment calls than as of a year

FIVE out of every six schools listed in the survey report starting salaries to be as high or higher than last year. Prevailing range of offers is from $200 to $275 per month for business administration and liberal arts seniors, and from $225 to $325 for engineering grads, with exceptional men getting still higher offers. Illinois Institute of Technology reports: "The class of 375 engineers graduating January 29, 1949, averaged $280 per month for a basic 40-hour week; this is the highest average salary of any class in our history."

TOURISTS:

More Cultured

The American tourist these days was coming in for a new type of treatment from his overseas hosts. For instance, in Capetown, South Africa, according to merchants, the new tourist is not the "vulgar type which used to invade Europe in hordes, wearing horn-rimmed glasses and loud clothes."

"THIS new American is well bred, quiet, wealthy, but has the familiar souvenir mania," said one curio dealer. "One bought everything I showed him. 'Is it genuine Zulu?' he kept asking."

Then, the dealer added, "he took all my shields, assegais and beadwork. I had to call a ricksha to get the stuff down to the ship. And when he saw the ricksha, he wanted to buy that."

AMERICANS no doubt will palpitate with pride at this new evaluation of their cultural level by those abroad who profit most from tourist business-but most will console themselves with the fact that so long as he has any money, the American tourist will manage to get along quite well wherever he may be in Europe or elsewhere.

A Midland, Mich., judge sagely fitted the punishment to the crime in a case in municipal court. Two youths, 21 and 18, were brought in on a charge of crashing a wedding party and running away with the wedding cake. They said they did it on a dare.

After pondering a moment, the judge ordered the culprits to buy a wedding present and give it to the World Has Never Forgotten Magic Of Will Rogers

HOLLYWOOD .- The world has never forgotten Will Rogers. Nearly 14 years after his death, his magic name still pulls in the crowds-both at the box office and to his own living room.

The supersophisticates of the Plaster City, who usually don't waste tears on nostalgia, have been jamming the Motion Picture Academy theatre to chuckle over a revival of Rogers' old movies like "David Harum" and "Life Begins At Forty."

And the guy with the tumbled hair and bashful grin is drawing eager crowds right to his own parlor in the hills near the ocean, too.

Tourists from all over the world stream to Will's sprawling, creamcolored frame ranch home to take a peek at his favorite easy chair, his saddles, and the tender letters he wrote to his children.

Gave Land as Park

When Mrs. Rogers died in 1944, her will gave 186 of the 345 ranch acres, including the home, to the state as a park. Last year 121,159 fans paid 25 cents apiece to troop through the big house (11 bedrooms, 11 bathrooms, and seven fire-

Every inch of the ivy-covered place is just the way it was when Will's plane dived to the ice at Point Barrow, Alaska, August 15, 1933. His comfortable Montereystyle chairs are still grouped around Navaho Indian rugs in front of the big stone fireplace in the living room.

Above the fireplace is a pair of 7-foot, 4-inch steer horns sent Rogers by a Fort Worth, Tex., publisher. In a corner is a hurdygurdy Will bought from an old street musician in New York for his kids. An elephant sole and toenails Harry Carey brought back from the filming of "Trader Horn" in Africa are on a table.

There's a huge window famed showman Flo Ziegfield gave Will to better his view of the green meadows and blue Pacific. Near by is a stuffed calf Rogers' pals gave him so he could practice roping something else besides the wagon-wheel chandeliers. He used it, too. One ear is gone, and the other is ragged from stings of the

Going to Point Barrow today . . . Lots of love, don't worry, pad," A trophy room holds nine of 11 scrappooks filled with clinoks filled with clip pings about Rogers' death. The other two are at the Rogers Memorial at Claremore, Okla.

Hollywood hasn't forgotten Rogers, either. Producer Jerry Wald this year will film Will's life at Warners' studio, with Will, Jr., possibly in the title role.

Salaries of Radio Stars Much Less Than Publicized

WASHINGTON .- The highly publicized salaries of radio stars contrast sharply with statistics showing that one-fourth of the freelance actors and singers in that business made under $1,000 in 1947, the Department of Labor reports. Its studies covered the earnings of announcers, actors, singers, and sound-effects artists.

The people at the top of these professions made $20,000 or more a year each in 1947, the report stated, but these were highly exceptional.

Actors giving their full time to radio earned an average of $3,100. One-fourth of the actors made more than $9,100, but another fourth-"not counting the large group of whom radio work was only a minor source of pay"-earned less than $900 each.

Singers enjoyed a better average, at $3,800, with less extremes: The top fourth of these earned more than $6,900 each, while the bottom fourth got up to $1,900.

Army Stops Hiring Civilians For U. S. Jobs in Germany

BERLIN.—The army has stopped hiring American civilians for military government jobs in Germany. Col. James T. Duke, personnel officer, said that recruitment had been frozen because considerable change in organization is expected when the army turns the occupation job over to a civilian high commissioner.

Military government now has about 2,500 American employes in the American zone and in the United States sector of Berlin. The staff once was three times its present size but now, after a year and a half of steady paring, the Americans have the smallest pay roll of all the occupying powers. Latest figures showed the British with 8,000 and the French with 9,000.

Derby and Capot on top in the Preakness, it would be no unfair turn of fortune's wheel to see Palestinian win the Belmont, which he might do. The Bieber-Jacobs horse was finishing close up and strongly in both the Derby and the Preakness and no one can say that Belmont's longer race will hurt him a bit.

Before the Preakness I happened to run across Warren Wright, the Baron of Calumet.

"The Preakness distance may have been too short for Ponder," he said. "But I honestly think Ponder should win the Belmont. The longer the distance, the better Ponder likes it. He comes from far back, 20 lengths or more, and he needs running distance to make up this ground."

Parnell Ben Jones offered no prediction but he admitted that the longer the race the better Ponder would like it-even up to two

No one can question the fact that Ponder can handle the route. What about Capot? John Gaver turned in a fine job of having Capot in perfect shape for both the Derby and the Preakness. When a horse breaks a track record, running against the time set by such horses as Whirlaway, Count Fleet and Citation, he must be moving in a hurry.

Capot was leading at the mile and three-sixteenths in both the Derby and the Preakness. He had the continued speed of the field. But what about a mile and a half? This is something else again. That extra quarter

Capot had to fight bravely and desperately to keep his head lead at Pimlico and I don't think an extra 16th of a mile would have bothered Palestinian in the slightest. He is both fast and strong.

The Belmont will have all thisplus Sun Bahram, Noble Impulse and others. Old Rockport? Rocky seems to be slipping instead of getting better. He hasn't had it since he left California, although as able a trainer as Ben Jones still believes he hasn't run his race.

More Games Than One

A day or two ago we ran into Ralph Kercheval, now in charge of Alfred Vanderbilt's racing farm.

How many remember that more than 10 years ago Kercheval was one of the greatest kickers college football ever knew? Many wellknown pro coaches have tangled in arguments as to whether Kercheval or Ken Strong was the greater allaround kicker. Shipwreck Kelly, another Kentuckian, was always a Kercheval booster.

Ralph had full early faith in Vanderbilt's Loser Weeper, winner recently of the Metropolitan. "Loser Weeper has improved as much as any horse I know," Kercheval said before that race.

As far as racing goes, Sammy Renick has gone out for the versatility record. Sammy started as a rider-one of the best. Then he began as a racing owner and now is involved in the television section, where he is one of the season's video hits. "No," Sam said recently, "I've never tried training. I may take a shot at that later.

The one who has tried the toughest combination is Ellsworth Vines, who is battling earnestly to make as good a living out of golf as he did out of tennis. Vines has played a lot of fine golf, but he has never been the champion he used to be at tennis.

GRIDDERS ARE SITTERS

Lou Little, famous Columbia foot-ball coach, has appealed for jobs for football players as baby sitters. "It is no gag," he says. "I will personally guarantee that any of my players will prove 100 per cent dependable." dependable."

So there, Junior! Behave your-self while momsy and popsy are at the theater tonight or else develop some fast off-tackle plays.

Reactions to football players as baby sitters have been varied. At first thought, many parents had difficulty associating "Rock-a-bye Baby" and "Sleep, Pretty One, Sleep" with "Block that kick!" and "Hit that line hard!" They found it hard to think of a husky fullback as the best person to handle kids who made up their own rules as the evening went along.

It did not seem to mother that when she asked, "Do you think the baby is all right?" she would find comfort in father's answer, "Yes, my dear. Remember that our baby sitter for tonight booted the longest punt in the 1948 sea-

But on more sober reflection most people decided that, children being the problems they are when mom and pop are out, it might be reassuring to know that they are in the hands of a baby sitter coached in a rugged school and with a good record for victory, on fields wet or

Kids are quick to recognize authority. They know when they are up against heavy odds. In the manner and actions of a university grid star, they sense power, speed, determination and the old "do or die"

Few children will try to sit up until midnight listening to the radio if the baby sitter is all-American material. Baby is not going to whip out the airgun around 9:30 and take some pot shots at the old woman across the courtyard, knowing that a great broken field runner is on watch.

No kid is going to howl for a cooky if it can see in the eyes of the baby sitter the never-yield-aninch spirit of a football man around whose end no opponent made any progress in two seasons.

All in all, parents should feel easy with a football star as a baby sitter. Even in a home where the kiddies are sure to get rambunctious a crack gridiron man can detect the signals, sense the trick plays and stop the formations. Unless, of course, he is in one of those where there are so many children they use the double platoon

Why Fans Go Mad

These days in the video belts where baseball games and horse races are broadcast the same afternoon are proving pretty hectic to sports fans. Trying to follow both is doing the American nervous system no good. We found ourself shouting, "Slide ya big bum!" at a horse the other day and yelling, "Stop pullin' his head off," at a ballplayer.

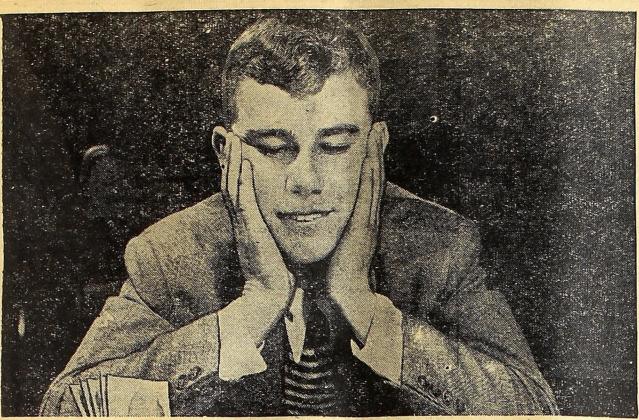

It is all quite confusing. To see both sports, a video addict has to be pretty fast on the switches. In a stirring ball game it is quite a trick tuning out at the proper moment to catch the horses all set in the starting gate. And in an especially important horse race splitsecond judgment is necessary in deciding when to tune out of the horse oval and into the ball park.

We were watching Elmer Twitchell in such an ordeal recently. The ball game was well under way when it came time for the ponies. It was a tie score. Elmer struggled to keep away from the race broadcast, but couldn't do it. He suddenly switched into the horse channel. The skinners were being saddled in the paddeck, Elmer missed one entry. "They must have benched him!" he observed.

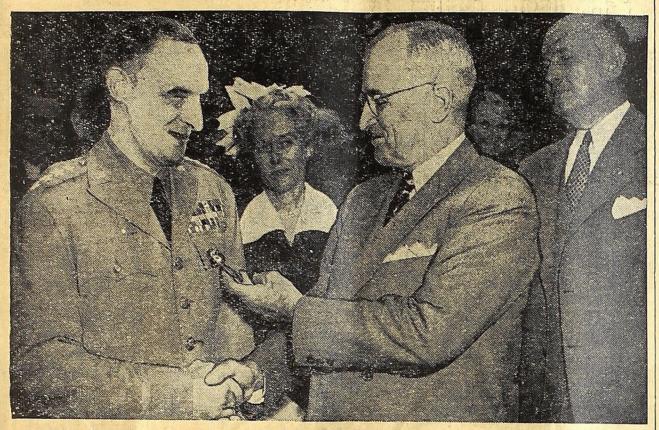

He liked a horse on which Arcaro was announced as the jockey. "Arcaro!" he exclaimed. "That's poor judgment. They pitched him yesterday."

Then while the race track announcer was chatting on generalities, Elmer dove back into the baseball channel. The home team had a man on second, one out and a big hitter up. It added to his pulse beat and general confusion. "Come on!" he yelled, "Don't go wide on the turns. Ya can't lose at the weights!"

Back to the ponies he switched, just in time. The horses broke as one. Elmer liked something called Mike's Pride. "Atta baby," he cried. "You got your stuff today!"

The papers will carry stories and pictures about the newspaper's new plant in connection with whose dedication he is covering the global route. Young Olson seems properly happy over the "dream assignment" which has been given him.

One of 844 displaced persons, she told newsmen the Reds sentenced her to death in 1941, but she avoided execution when friends hid her until she could escape to this country. She refused to give her name, fearing Russians might harm her relatives, but said she is en route to San Francisco to enter a Russian orthodox church convent.

Girl Adopts Career Of Training Dogs For Hunters' Use

RANDOM LAKE, WIS .- A 20year-old Wisconsin girl with a faint skein of freckles across her nose and a pair of large, gray eyes is undertaking a career as a trainer of hunting dogs—something almost unheard of in this masculine dominated branch of outdoor sport.

She is Wanda Woog of Random Lake, the assistant trainer of Charles (Chuck) Morgan, handler of two national retriever champions and for many years one of the best known of the professionals in the country.

Wanda's parents-and just about everybody else around here-were much opposed to Wanda going to the dogs, but she survived all such opposition and says, with commendable sagacity for one of her years:

"I guess that's the way it is with any woman who thinks she can do a man's work." (The ladies who re-bel strenuously at those who contend woman's place is in the home have a strong ally in Wanda.)

After five years of watching the training methods of the redoubtable Morgan, Wanda decided that dog training and field trial handling was just the dish for her. As a kid in her teens she would watch the veteran at his field training chores hour afte hour, and naturally learned a lot, for she is that kind of a girl.

But there was school. The folks insisted on that. Wanda thought maybe she could launch her training career after high school but mama and papa insisted on more schooling, so Wanda had another year of it at Whitewater State Teachers college. By that time she was so crazy about dogs, hunting and the outdoor life that there was no holding her back. She became Morgan's assistant.

Teachers on School Bus Held to Be Hitchhikers

RALEIGH, N. C .- North Carolina teachers can ride school busses to work if they want to but the state legislature says they're stricly hitchhikers.

A bill passed by the legislature allows teachers on the state-operated busses. They have no authority as teachers while riding, however, and drivers cannot go off the regular route to pick them up.

The law specifies that teachers must give up their seats if there isn't enough room to accommodate all the children.

Italian Bagpipe Player Delights New York Throngs

NEW YORK .- Windows are wide open again along Sullivan St. and banshee wails float once more over tenement roofs these nights and filter into crowded streets from areaways. Responsible for these hair raising harmonies are the Italian bagpipes of Roco Costello. Costello is probably the only Italian bagpipe player left in this city, which had a few dozen such instrumentalists when he came to this country from southern Italy in 1901. He was 24 then and the bagpipes were the only possession he had brought to this country from the farms and woods of his childhood.

"When I came over," he recalled, "I play on a ship for nine days. Everybody dance. People sick there. I don't care. Always playing bagpipes." He laughed and rose from a sofa to repeat the tarantellas and polkas he had played during that voyage.

After filling the apartment and several blocks of Greenwich Village with the chords that sounded like a duet between a steam calliope and foghorn, Costello paused to show how he tuned the instrument.

He worked his fingers over holes while corking and uncorking woodden pipes and blowing into the bag under his arm. Occasionally, he would remove a bit of wax from a hole along a pipe or else apply some wax with a bone pin. The tones were sometimes quite piercing. He was surprised when asked if neighbors complained.

He snorted and beat his chest. "When I play," he retorted, "people listen.'

Bobber of Horses' Tails Added to U.S. Folklore

TENSLEEP, WYO .- Mike Bernett had no idea of making history back in the fall of 1833. All Mike wanted to make at that time was a horsehair checkrein for a wild bronc. He was short of material and, being a resourceful man, he chopped the tails off five indian ponies.

It developed that the removal of bobs his pony's tail is when he's mourning the death of someone. There was no death to mourn. The Indians decided the only way to bring the thing to a balanced conclusion was to kill Mike.

This lively bit of Americana stems from the Tensleep creek sector near here. It is one of scores or readable incidents included in the United States forest service's history of the Bighorn national forest. In the last three decades the 29 survived. The earlier the treatservice has compiled millions of words on the backgrounds of its 19 forest preserves in the Rocky moun-

TONS OF SUCKERS REMOVED FROM INLAND LAKES

Those nets of commercial fish-

Those nets of commercial fishermen remove tons of suckers which heavily infest several upstate lakes, providing an effective control measure of the species, and at the same time reveal to local doubting Thomases that the lakes do contain large game fish.

According to the conservation department's institute for fisheries research, experimental harvesting of suckers the last several years in Otsego county's Big Bear lake and other lakes has proved successful in releasing more food and growing space for game fish. Under department permit and inspection, commercial operators are permitted to take suckers and certain other less desirable fish, but must return game fish that turn up in their nets to the water. The public always has been welcome and even encouraged to witness these netting operations so they might see the big ones which seem so hard to catch.

Requests by local citizens for the catch.

Requests by local citizens for the removal of the common sucker prompted the investigation by the institute to determine the value of such a program.

Other locations where suckers have been removed include Burt, Black, and Mullett lakes, Cheboygan county; Hubbard lake, Alcona county; Carp lake, Emmet and Cheboygan counties, and Van Ettan lake, Iosco county.

Candled Eggs

Only by the use of a candler can eggs be sorted according to interior quality. This device will indicate porosity of shell, size of air cell, and character of albumen and yolk. It also will reveal blood spots, blood rings, bloody whites, grass and moldy eggs, and rotten eggs.

HERE'S the smile when you slip the selector lever into Driving notch-and realize that's all there is to do.

There's the smile when you swing smoothly up to cruising speed without halt or check or break of stride. There's the smile at traffic lights when you halt, wait, then move away with never a thought about shifting.

But the broadest grin of all comes at the end of a long day's drive and you find you've covered more miles more easily. Even your treadle-foot - so likely to become tired and cramped maintaining an even speed in direct-drive cars-appreciates the fluid ease of Dynaflow.

For Dynaflow Drive† is not merely a new transmission. It's a new experience - a new luxury in driving. In ten minutes you are handling it like a veteran - in two days you wouldn't be without it.

Small wonder, then, that Dynaflow is the drive with which all new developments in transmissions are compared.

Not merely "something better," it is something entirely new, the first exciting chapter in a whole new book.

Go learn for yourself how abundantly rich in pleasure every gallon becomes when you have Dynaflow.

Your Buick dealer will be glad to demonstrate-glad to quote delivered prices - glad to talk terms of as fine a deal as you could want.

Modernizing Kitchen Reduces Home Labor

By Ertta Haley

IF YOU'RE Mrs. Average Home-maker, you walk more than 3,000 miles each year in your kitchen alone, say domestic science experts. That's equal to a cross-country hike from New York to California, so it's no wonder many of you are interested in saving steps.

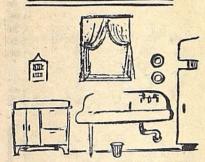

However, an efficient kitchen that saves steps is not the only reason you may want to change the kitchen. Perhaps, like many homemakers, you want more storage and more pleasing working conditions.

Color as well as beauty and effective design have been added to our new kitchens. When carefully planned and executed, they can be as lovely to look at as the most beautiful living or dining room. And what a joy to cook meals in! Add Colors to Kitchen

When Decorating There was a time when kitchens were white with just a small splash of color. They may still be carried out in white because, naturally appliances and cabinets are white, but that's more reason than ever to add colors where you can.

What about using a deep pink or a lovely coral or strawberry color on the walls, and spiking this with some delicate greens? The greens can be used in some simple, solid colored curtains or rough-textured cotton drapes appropriate for the kitchen.

Powdered blue is also a very restful color for the kitchen. This may be used with yellow or orange if you want a warmer combination. Plan Working Areas For Kitchen

To get the most good out of your kitchen, plan to have plenty of table space for working areas. These should be planned so there is a working area on either side of the sink, on one side of the refrigerator, and on both sides of the

Then when you cook, wash dishes or mix foods, you may choose your working area at the range refrigerator or sink, whichever you are utilizing.

Space such as this may be obtained from cabinets with good working areas. Above each working area you may plan to have cabincis, each containing the utensils or supplies needed for your work. Select Streamlined

New Kitchen Cabinet

This modern version of the old-fashioned kitchen cabinet is designed with an eye toward kitchen beauty as well as high utility value. It holds supplies both on the shelves as well as pots and pans in the cabinets below the large, pull-out table top which can be used as a preparation center.

Designed as a complete unit with shelf space, vertical and belowcounter storage space as well as table-top working area, the modernized version of the kitchen cabinet can be made into a supply and food preparation center for any phase of kitchen operations. The cabinet is ideally suited, for example, as a center for all preoven operations. Equipped with overhanging and base cupboards and a large pull-out table top work-ing area, the cabinet keeps all necessary baking materials, including pots and pans, within arm's reach.

In the overhanging shelf area of this type of cabinet, you may store spices, dried fruits, confectioners' sugar, vanilla and other ingredients.

For efficiency and beauty. Frequently, a built-in flour container and sifter is included as part of the cabinet itself. Ample below-counter space accommodates mixing bowls, double the kitchen is a streamlined ver- boilers, measuring cups, pie and sion of the kitchen cabinet. Recog- cake pans. Use Efficient Storage Plan in Wall Cupboards

As every woman knows, you can't put things behind a closed door and just expect to get them out in apple-pie order. Why waste time hunting for utensils and supplies when you can plan an efficient storage system?

Use the higher shelves on wall cabinets for dishes and supplies which are not used too frequently. Keep those things, in constant use, on the lower shelves on wall cupboards.

If you have limited cupboard space, why not get one of the new racks that can be attached to the inside door of the cupboard? Use it for spices, flavorings and food

Many Factors Count In Principal Causes

NEW YORK .- What is holding the cost of living up, when the price of basic raw materials has fallen so far since last fall?

Commodity prices, at wholesale, have retreated since then about half-way back to their O.P.A. levels, on the average, but the cost of To what better use could David and living has dropped back only about one-eight of the way. However, the average weekly wage in factories is about one-twelfth of the way

The recession so far adds up to

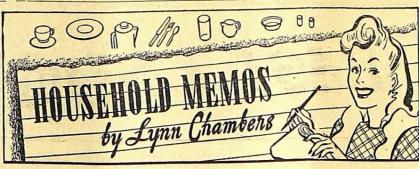

Producers are getting considerably less for many raw materialsbut not all. It costs almost as much to live as it did last year and the workers' average pay has been only slightly touched.

Roughly, the same factors that retarded the cost of living's pace upward in the months when wholesale commodities were soaring are now acting as a drag as it slips slightly lower.

Between June, 1946, and January, 1948, wholesale commodities went up at a dizzy pace. The cost of living climbed steadily, but more slowly. Between January and September of last year, commodities as a whole were on the downgrade, You'll never add anything to the but the cost of living still edged living has receded, but much more

Start Making Your Stocks Of Jams, Jelly Goodies Early as Supply Fades

MOST JAM and jelly cupboards are a sad sight to behold about this time of year because long months of use have depleted them pretty thor-oughly. Most homemakers will find it a joy to start stocking them now with bright, jewel-like glasses of delec-

Even for those of us who like good store of jam and jelly, the job need not seem an unsurmountable task. Make small batches and you'll have better results in both flavor and color retention. Neither will you get tired that you never want to see another jelly glass

Organize your work properly by getting out jars or replacing them. Wash them in sudsy water; rinse carefully and they will be all ready to place in cold water and started to sterilizing before you get ready for the fruit and berries. Many women like to get the glass washing chore out of the way the day before, and this is an excellent

Utensils for working as well as the paraffin and sugar may also be laid out the evening before jelly making day. Plan to make your batch first thing in the morning before the sun warms things up too much and makes you weary.

HERE's AN EASY guide for a favorite rhubarb and strawberry jam:

Rhubarb-Strawberry Jam (Makes 10 6-ounce glasses)

4 cups prepared fruit

7 cups sugar 1/2 bottle fruit pectin

To prepare fruit: slice thin or chop, but do not peel, about one pound of rhubarb. Crush thoroughly about one quart fully ripe strawberries. Combine fruits and measure four cups into a large sauce-

To make the jam: add sugar to fruit in saucepan and mix well. Place over high heat, bring to a full, rolling boil and boil hard one minute, stirring constantly. Remove from heat and at once stir in bottled fruit pectin. Then stir and skim by turns for five minutes to cool slightly, and to prevent floating fruit. Ladle quickly into glasses. Paraffin at once.

Currants are rich in their own pectin and may be combined with other fruits not as rich in the substance to make fine jelly.

Protecting Silver from Tarnish Question: Is there any way to prevent silverware from tarnishing? Isn't there a preparation to apply on the silverware as a thin coating to prevent tarnish?

Answer: Dealers in jewelers' supplies usually sell a lacquer for this purpose, but firms of this kind are only found in large cities. If you cannot get it, a clear lacquer, sold at a well-stocked paint store, can be used instead. After polishing the silver, wipe it with benzine and then apply the lacquer.

of Harmful Body Waste

Your kidneys are constantly filtering waste matter from the blood stream. But kidneys sometimes lag in their work—do not act as Nature intended—fall to remove impurities that, if retained, may polson the system and upset the whole body machinery.

Symptoms may be nagging backache, persistent headache, attacks of dizziness, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness
under the eyes—a feeling of nervous anxiety and loss of pep and strength.

Other signs of kidney or bladder disorder are sometimes burning, scanty or too frequent urination.

been criminally assaulted by a certain young man. The youth was taken into custody, and, after lengthy questioning, he confessed the crime. However, by the time of the trial, the girl withdrew her accusation and the young man re-pudiated his statement. Thus the only evidence the district attorney had left was the defendent's original confession. The court promptly ordered the prisoner released. The judge said that a confession alone, without any other evidence, is not enough basis for a conviction.

ment later, "John Lund is wonderful; steals the show." He said the same of Dean Martin and Jerry Lewis-but didn't mention that he plays the voice of "Joe," heard only on the phone. CBS and Paramount are lucky to have him under contract.

With M-G-M shooting sequences for "Adam's Rib" all around New York pretty girls wearing dark glasses learned to avoid crowds; the interested spectators suspected them of being movie actresses. Judy Holliday, one of the principals, kept right on in her play. Yesterday," during the shooting. Tom Ewell, just through with a play, is now back in Hollywood.

Another Metro picture, the musical "On the Town," has heen shooting in New York. All six principals—Gene Kelly, Frank Sinatra, Jules Munshin, Ann Miller, Vera-Ellen and Betty Garrett, worked two days at the Brooklyn navy yard.

Gloria Graham has joined Hollywood's group of feminine flying enthusiasists. She is taking flying lessons and will pilot her own private plane. You will probably see her soon-but not flying-in RKO's "Roughshod."

Patsy Lee's job on ABC's "Breakfast Club" came about by what she considers a lucky fluke. A friend sent a recording of her voice to the station when a replacement for Nancy Martin was being sought. Patsy was offered the job for one week; she flew to California to take it. She was off and on the show for about 10 months, then was made a permanent member of the cast, Gale Storm has been accused of wanting another child because a dining room table looks better balanced when six, instead of five, are seated around it. She says that isn't true, though she and her husband, Lee Bonnell, do want just one addition to their three boys. She grew up as one of five children, says its only natural to want a large family.

M-G-M has added two more principals to the cast of "Quo Vadis," which will star Gregory Peck and Elizabeth Taylor. They are Peter Ustinov and Leo Genn. Signed in England, they will report to Director John Huston in Italy in July.

Cast in a minor role in "Riding High," Dorothy Barrett sang a song for members of the cast during a break; Director Frank Capra heard her and chose her to sing with Bing. She has appeared in several Broadway productions and was vocalist for Vaughn Monroe's band for six months before entering films. Her next step up is a featured role in "Copper Canyon," Technicolor western.

Raymond Navarro is selling the neon-lighted mansion where he has lived for 25 years. Discussing it, on the set of "The Big Steal," at RKO, he recalled the famous parties he used to give there. Many stars appeared in the full scale theater, including Elsie Janis. Norma Shearer, Lawrence Tibbett and Jeanette MacDonald. It is in what was once the most popular residential district for movie stars.

Following the lead of "Portia Faces Life," another NBC program, the "Jack Berch Show," will record in advance to give the cast a vacation. Berch and accordionist Magnanti will have five weeks off, plan to go hunting in Alaska.

Walter Coy, New York stage actor who is making his screen bow in Warner Bros.' "Barricade," thinks maybe it's fate that he was mistaken for Errol Flynn his first day on the lot, then was assigned part of Flynn's wardrobe.
