Prosecutor Warns Speeders and Reckless Drivers

The increasing violations of state and municipal motor vehicle laws by certain citizens and minors makes it necessary to order strict street enforcement of driv-ing regulations and laws for the protection and safety of the public of losco county.

Violations on the part of minors are particularly no-ticeable on the streets of East Tawas and Tawas City, resulting in danger to both adults and children.

Speeding, reckless driving and failure to report acci-dents are three of the most flagrant violations. The au-thorities feel that in the case of the driving habits of minors, the problem is one to be solved by the parents as well as the law enforcement officials.

All motor vehicle oper-ators should take notice that the law enforcement officers of Iosco county will make a definite effort to keep the streets and roads of Iosco county safe for everyone. Reginald J. Barnett,

(EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysis and not necessarily of this newspaper.)

LABOR BILL:

Issue Is Joined

The long-awaited fight on repeal of the Taft-Hartley labor law had begun. Debate had started in the senate with Chairman Elbert D. Thomas (D., Utah) of the labor committee opening for the administration. Government forces were committed to an attempt for outright repeal of the measure, but all Indications pointed to a compromise or nothing. Meanwhile, John L. Lewis declared that the AFL and CIO had betrayed organized labor's cause by reportedly agreeing to a compromise.

Urging adoption of the administration bill. Thomas said the voters last November "decided the Taft-Hartley law was a mistake." The administration seeks to replace it with a modified version of the New Deal Wagner act. Thomas called for quick repeal of the Taft-

Hartley law. In telegrams to all 96 senators, Lewis, head of the United Mine Workers union, said he had heard AFL and CIO leaders had agreed to accept four "oppressive amendments" to the administration bill. An AFL official pooh-poohed Lewis' charges of a secret deal. As a matter of fact, he said, the AFL convention in Cleveland recently agreed to accept the four amendments that "horrified" Lewis. These four amendments called for: 1. Power for the federal government to seize plants involved in national-emergency strikes. 2. The filing of financial returns by unions. 3. The filing of non-Communist and non-Fascist affidavits by workers and employers alike.

4. A guarantee of free speech in labor relations.

ARTICLE 5:

What Import?

The senate foreign relations committee, in reporting favorably the North Atlantic pact, had almost bogged down on Article 5. That is the proviso in the pact which binds signatories to the rule that an attack on one pact member would be an attack upon all, and binds each to take such action as is deemed accessary, "including the use of accession of accession of the second maine security of the area.

WORDING of Article 5 created in some minds a fear that Approise Guests its effect would nullify the right of congress to declare war and might put this power arbitrarily into the hands of the President.

Senator George (D., Ga.) who had expressed concern about the interpretation of Article 5, finally said that he was satisfied that under dren's poet, playwright and coit the President could not declare author of the Soviet national sufficient evidence. war nor "employ troops to enforce anthem.

ARMY BOSS: Was Buck Private

The cinderella story would take on new interest for the GI's in Uncle Sam's army. And there was a particular reason. Gordon Gray, a one-time buck private in the army, was nominated by President Truman to be secretary of the army. GRAY, now undersecretary, is 40 years old, a North Carolina publisher and lawyer. He has been acting secretary since the resigna-tion of Kenneth C. Royall on April Gray, born in Baltimore, is not an army career man. But he served three years in the army, enlisting as a buck private in 1942. But he had something on the ball then, and rose to captain with the 12th army group in Europe. THE new secretary would be the government's youngest head of an executive department. For the past 16 months Gray has been the army official responsible for the industrial mobilization and procurement official of his department.

JOHN L. LEWIS: A Severe Blow

A federal district court of appeals dealt a heavy blow at John L. Lewis and his United Mine Workers. Lewis and his union, found guilty of contempt of court for failing to call off the 1948 coal strike, had been fined $1,420,000. They appealed. The higher court brought before the senate. It was reported his cheekbone was upheld the finding and indications fractured when he was struck were that Lewis and his attorneys would lose no time appealing to the United States supreme court for a final decision. THE CASE grew out of Lewis' defiance of the Taft-Hartley law last year for ignoring a court order issued under the law that directed the miners to call off a month-old strike in the soft coal fields. The district appeals court ruling made it clear that the decision was based on the fact that Lewis and the miners waited until the de-totally unemployed to a probable postwar high of more than 3.25 mands were met before finally callmillion. These figures were reing off the strike when they had leased by the federal bureau of been previously directed by the court to do so. The rise in the unemployment fig-Justice E. Barrett Prettyman

Psychiatry Employed In Choosing Names For New Products

CHICAGO. - Picture a business executive reposing on a couch in a psychiatrist's office.

He may be choosing a new brand name for his products. Because, says a new study of 637 brand names, the psychological method is one of the best ways of choosing your brand name.

It used the word association test developed by psychologists to un-cover the mind's hidden problems. You simply repeat the associations suggested to you by a word given by the psychologist. Your answer gives him clues to what's wrong with you, if anything.

Now the method has been adapted to discover what, if anything, is wrong with brand names. The study, made by William Archer Jr., of the Robert N. McMurray Co., inanagement experts decided there is much wrong. Here are the findings

Of the 637 names involved in the study, "only 12 per cent were found to contribute materially to the sales 2ppeal of the product. "Of this 12 per cent-or 76

Lames—six names had been selected by what appeared to be chance or sheer good luck. Another 24 names were selected trough use of a previously succassful company or brand name, and 46 were selected by using most or nearly all the methods" recommended in the study.

At least we know of no other course or links that is 7200 yards long, par 74 where the normal weather is driving rains and battering gales.

Yet McCready in his morning round against Turnesa shot himself a 70, just about the equal of a 62 on most other tests. It would have been pleasant to have had Mc-Cready as a parlay against Stranahan and Turnesa. It should have been a nice 10 to 1 or 12 to 1 payoff. In the opening betting the final winner was around 40 to 1.

There is another young hitter who has moved up from his 1948 form. His name is Ralph Kiner. The First starters rarely ever win one of these big tournaments where experience is almost as important as skill. To stand 4 up at the midway point, to become 1 down late in the stretch, and then recover again is tribute enough to McCready's competitive side.

Inside Story

INSIDE STORY on the house slash of some 15 per cent from the appropriation for European recovery administration funds runs something like this: The administration has been told by the department of commerce and the committee on economic advisors to the President that the national income in 1950 will be definitely lower than now-some say 18 billion dollars lower than 1949. But some Democratic leaders declare that the budgets for domestic appropriations have been squeezed until there is little water left in them, so it will be impossible to slash domestic expenditures which, after all, amount to a very small percentage of the total overall federal budget. The story is that these leaders say that it will be politically more advantageous to pass the domestic appropriation measures as is than to cut them in the election year of 1950.

But, on the other hand, a realistic group in the house and senate, cognizant of the imminent drop in national income, declare that a cut in federal expenditures is absolutely essential if a tax increase is to be avoided, and it should be avoided.

So, although the administration is not going to consent publicly, the slashes in ECA funds will be permitted to go through on the theory that lower prices in the offing may make up for some of the cuts and that there will be less reverberations from the electorate than if domestic appropriations were pared.

With Senate Majority Leader Scott Lucas committed to keeping congress in session until the "major" points in President Truman's legislative program "are dis-posed of," the makings of a fullscaled row are shaping up.

Already the administration has shelved some of its "must" bills in order to get to the Taft-Hartley repeal measure, an admittedly redhot subject. Congressional leaders agreed it would be three weeks before this issue came to a showdown. That would mean the labor question might not be settled until around July 1. With a majority of legislators already on record as favoring adjournment early in August, Senator Lucas may find his hands full in keeping the lawmakers beyond that time, despite the status of the President's revised "must"

program at that time. An obvious indication of the powder-keg potentials in congress is the administration's willingness to put aside consideration of the North Atlantic pact in the senate, so the labor bill could have the right-ofway. In law-making assemblages where the administration has the whip-hand, delays such as that on major questions are not necessary. If the votes are there, then the measures proposed can hessen of Where there is uncertainty and one side or the other must make the best of a bad deal, compromise is the only way.

Adjournment Row?

The administration leaders still declare they will pass a Taft-Hartley labor law repeal. Labor's political problem for 1950 is two-fold, and it is determined to beat those who have opposed Taft-Hartley repeal,

First it must hold the spectacular gains it made in 1948 and second, it might win at least 15 additional seats in the house and seven more seats in the senate. Actually labor's program is non-partisan, but realistically it is one of electing more Democrats from the North and West and different Democrats from the South.

In the senate 34 will be elected in 1950. . . .

Economy Talked

In the meantime congress continues to talk economy and to vote for increased appropriations. The biggest money fight was over the army civil functions bill. The Hoover commission had charged colossal waste of money by army engineers. When appropriations for army civil functions came up Sen. Paul Douglas of Illinois asked for a 40 per cent cut. Republicans tried for a 5 or 10 per cent slash but they were defeated.

He Lives On

WHAT IS JESUS, after all? A w name in a book? A picture on the walls of churches? More than that! A historical character? Founder of a great religion? More than that! He is the one and only Person who can be everywhere. He would be important if he had only lived; he is far more so because he lives on. But where does he live, and how?

Dr. Foreman Christians would often feel lonely and discouraged, if it were not for one thing. They know Jesus prays for them. In long-ago times the High Priest of Israel used to pass beyond his people's sight into the silent Holy of Holies, and when he did, the people knew that in that sacred place he was bearing on his heart the whole people, the people whom he served. So the writer to the Hebrews, in the New Testament, pictures Jesus as the perfect High Priest, who has, passed beyond our sight, beyond the beautiful blue yeil of heaven, into the very presence of God, where he lives, now to intercede for his people who are ever on his heart.

life of prayer which we believe is still his. No matter what comes to the Christian, he can remember that One is praying for him who is stronger than all the world of evil.

In His Book

LUKE tells us that Jesus had to show some of his friends his own picture in the Old Testament. His portrait is not very plain there, but in the New Testament it is very plain indeed. The Bible leads up to Christ, he is its crowning figure. The Bible is, so to speak, a frame for his picture. Many a person, in remote regions of the world, has become Christian just by reading about Christ in some stray copy of the New Testament. The reader begins by reading about Jesus-then the pages come alive, and he meets Jesus, face to face. Jesus lives on, wherever the Bible goes.

A few hours after this photo was taken, however, the quarantine, which had been in effect many months, was lifted. Kropytko saw his son, Rickie, 9 months old, in high chair at left, and his daughter, Sally Jo, 3, who flew into a great state of rejoicing at seeing her father again. Mrs. Kropytko is forced to live in an iron lung at Los Angeles general hospital.

argue themselves about what Jesus meant by this or that. But there cannot be any argument about one thing. When Jesus left his friends behind, he gave them orders to go tell the world about him. "Make disciples of all nations . . . Ye shall be my witnesses." A shut-mouthed Christian isn't much of a Christian. A shut-mouthed church is a poor sort of church. (Is it really a church at all?) We do not believe that Jesus expected his followers all to become preachers.

Indeed, we should remember that all the first Christians were laymen. But they got results. One hundred twenty people grew to be three thousand, five thousand, in a few weeks.

What is the reason that 120 Christians today don't win 3,000 converts? One reason is that you would probably find those 120 Christians complaining that their church is "vacant," they don't have a pastor. The early Christians might have thought that very funny. How can a church be vacant with 120 people in it? Christ lives in his church.

Into All the World

CHRISTIANITY is the only relig-ion that can stand transplanting into any climate. There is no other religion that can number its people from the Arctic to the equator, and from east to west around the world. But this is not an accident. It would not have happened by itself. Jesus himself in Galilee walked wherever he went, and in all his grown-up life he did not walk farther from his birthplace than you could drive in an afternoon.

But he walks on every shore. Where ship and camel and plane carry the missionary, there goes Christ; where the airways carry his message, there is he. Wherever Christians go, Christ goes in them and with them.

He lives everywhere today where Christians live, he walks on Christians' feet. Beside the four Gospels in print, there is the Gospel According to You. Does Jesus live in and through you?

BRIDES are not the only ones who will be putting in a stock of household linens. Homemakers who have been keeping house for five to ten years may well find that their stocks need replenishing.

Buying linens these days needs thought, care, study and some background of knowledge. As in anything, you do not buy by price alone. You do not even buy by size alone. You must know something about such things as thread count, sizing, absorbency, machine stitches per inch, and all sorts of things which you may never have considered

Before considering these aspects of buying, check your supplies against what is deemed a minimum practical wardrobe for each bed. This includes six sheets, three pillowcases per pillow, two mattress pads, one winter bedspread, one summer bedspread, one summer blanket and winter blankets according to the climate.

Good Linens Contribute To Well Being

If you've ever slept on a bed in which the sheet barely covered the surface, you'll know the importance of intelligent selection. Sheets not only protect the mattress, but they contribute to comfort and well-being.

Although spoken of as linens, few women have sheets of actual linen. Cotton is used most frequently because it wears and launders well and absorbs moisture readily.

It's estimated that good cotton sheets will wear through several hundred launderings. Whether the sheet is muslin or percale is not the question, since each has different weights and qualities. Most women choose good quality percale for their "best"; for everyday wear, a good quality muslin is the accepted buy.

Consult Labels

When Buying Sheets

There's important information on labels, for women who want the most value when buying sheets and pillowcases. Generally speaking, the higher the thread count, the higher the quality and price of the sheet.

Threads per square inch means the total number of threads lengthwise and crosswise. You'll find some sheets rated at 180, and some low as 112.

Simple Styling

The breaking strength of a sheet will tell you how long the sheet will wear. When the count is low the wear is less than when the count is high. Select a sheet of the proper size for the bed. A standard double bed requires a sheet 81 by 108 inches in size. It should not be less than 99 inches long to satisfactorily cover the bcd.

a poor quality sheet.

Single beds require a 65-inch width sheet while three-quarter beds need a 72-inch width.

Look for adequate hems on sheets as well as pillowcases to give best wear.

White has been the generally accepted color for sheets for a long time. However, luscious pastels are now obtainable, if you want them. The colored sheets with matching cases are usually available only in the higher priced muslins and percales.

Oh, yes, Mother gets her way nine-tenths of the time, but she gets it by seeming to lose it. She falls in with Dad's plans so readily and pleasantly that he begins to question them himself; perhaps he has been a little hasty. Perhaps he doesn't really want it that way.

So when Mother says "Perhaps you're right, dear. We were going to have a little more formal party

And Mother continues with a few more innocent but well-placed pbjections.

After a few sweet considerations like this, Bob senior is very apt to break in with "I think you're right, morrow night. Ten-you can't do dear. We'll do it later and make it anything with ten. If I just use our more formal. I've not asked him yet, so just forget the whole thing." So Father arrives at this kindly conviction without ever realizing exactly how he got there. Advisory Position

New button effects as well as interesting color combinations are being featured on summer shorts. One of the unusual new ideas uses buttons in the back, such as the double row in the design sketched here. One of the very smart color effects is the black jersey for the tops, combined with another color such as blue checks at the left, with white or solid color.

Insure Success With This Vegetable Canning Guide (See Directions Below)

Vegetable Canning

GETTING VEGETABLES into the diet during the summer when the garden is literally bursting with them is + no problem at all. It's much more 10 11's much more difficult during the winter to meet the quota of two the quota a day, vegetables a day, unless you've made proper pro-vision for them. That's the best reason for canning at least a good store of them when they're available in your own garden or those of others for they may be purchased inexpensively. Canning vegetables is one of the best ways of feeding the family economically as well as satisfying them with valuable nutrients. Chart your course now, and then sail through the season, full speed ahead.

the garden to the can in a minimum amount of time will give the most satisfactory results.

Clean Vegetables Before Preparation

CLEANING the vegetables is the step after bringing them into the kitchen. This should be done before the skin is broken, or some of the valuable juices may escape. Dirt is not only objectionable in itself, but it may frequently contain certain organisms which hold spoilage. Wash the vegetables under run-ning water, or place then in a large vessel of water and lift them out gently onto a colander. Do not pour dirty water off the vegetables, as dirt may remain in the pan and then mix with the vegetable.

Pressure Cooker Is Recommended

TO PROCESS VEGETABLES properly, a pressure cooker is an invaluable aid. For vegetables, have the gauge read 10 pounds before you start counting processing time.

The pressure should not be allowed to fluctuate since this may drain liquid from the jar and give a poor looking jar. It will also overcook the vegetables, or undercook them, as the case may be.

Vegetables are a non-acid food, and this means they require a high temperature to kill the bacteria which lurk in them. This is why pressure cooker processing is recommended for them. Fruits, which are acid, need much less processing, time, and much lower temperature in which to have the bacteria killed.

Always follow the directions for your particular type of pressure cooker. One thing is generally true of all types, and that is to leave the petcock open for at least seven minutes during which time steam escapes from the cooker. Unless this is followed closely, the pressure may not be accurate, for all air must be exhausted before allowing the cooker to come to pressure. Another safe rule to follow is to allow the vegetables to boil 10 minutes in an open vessel before tasting or eating after they are taken from the can.

After filling the jar with vegetables and water, you may find some air bubbles anchored against the sides of the jar. Remove these a self sealing lid, do not turn the jars upside down, or bump or treat glass and the vegetable.

Jars which have been sealed with a self-sealing lid, should not be tested for sound until 24 hours after processing. It will take this length of time to cool the contents of the jar.

Six pounds of greens, such as spinach, are required to make one quart of the canned product.
