George A. Prescott, Jr., Gives Long Distinguished Service to State Fair

The official figures on attendance at this year's Michigan State Fair was 776,815, reports George A. Prescott, Jr., member of the state board of managers. The actual number in attendance approached 1,000,000, however, Mr. Prescott said. The larger estimated figure is because no close check was taken on children, for they had free admittance to the fair.

George A. Prescott, Jr. is the oldest, in point of service, on the state fair board. He was appointed to the board of managers by Governor Groesbeck. In 1935 and 1936 he was secretary-manager, and has served the state nearly continuously since on the state fair board.

Michigan State Fair extends over a much longer period than his activities on the board. Beginning with his grandfather, the late Charles H. Prescott, the Richland Farm at Prescott, was one of the principal Shorthorn exhibitors at the Michigan State Fair, and for many years carried off high honors. For a number of years his brother, Senator Charles T. Prescott, was a member of the fair board.

Celebrating its 100th anniversary this year, Michigan has the oldest state fair in the nation. It is an honor to this community to have one of its citizens give such a long distinguished service to one of Michigan's important institutions.

Martin Hurls 3-Hitter as Alabaster Wins

Melita Plays at Alabaster in Third Game of Series

Alabaster defeated the Rogers City Indians Sunday by the score of 12-2. John Martin, just returned from the Pampa, Texas team did a wonderful job of pitching for Alabaster, as he retired seventeen Rogers City batters, swinging for the count of three.

DeLosh grabbed top honors for hitting, with two singles, a double and a triple. He was closely followed by Roberts, with two singles and a double, and Herriman with a single and home run. Altogether, the Alabaster boys got 13 hits, while Johnny Martin held his opponents to three-one, a bunt, and one a "flake" infield hit.

Rogers City used two pitchers, M. Hopp and Carsons; neither could silence the Alabaster bats. The two Rogers City runs were scored in the ninth inning, on a combination of errors, walks and a hit batsman.

Alabaster ... 100 102 044—12 13 4
Rogers City ... 000 000 002—2 3 6

The game was played at Rogers City, with several carloads of Alabaster fans making the trip to see the home team win, and also take in the other interesting sights. Martin and Erickson formed the battery for Alabaster and M. Hopp and Carsons, and H. Hopp for Rogers City. Umpires were Bolen, Warwick and Sogrenfrei.

Melita comes to Alabaster next Sunday, September 18, in the third game of the NEM League playoff. Melita lost to Pinconning last Sunday, so the loser of next Sunday's game will be eliminated from the playoff, and the winner will meet Pinconning, September 25th, for the finals.

Libka-Frank Rites Read at Pigeon

Miss Joan Lois Frank, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nobel A. Frank of Pigeon, and Neil A. Libka, son of Louis A. Libka, of Los Angeles, California, formerly of Tawas City were united in marriage Saturday evening at 7:30, September 10, at the First Methodist Church in Pigeon.

Rev. H. E. Duttweiler read the double ring ceremony for the candlelight service before an altar trimmed with white gladioli. Pastel gladioli and greens completed the church decorations.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was gowned in a white organdy dress with full skirt and short train, her fitted sleeves came to a point over the wrist. The bib yoke and Peter Pan collar were of organdy eyelet and she wore a matching cap. She carried a cascade bouquet of pink roses.

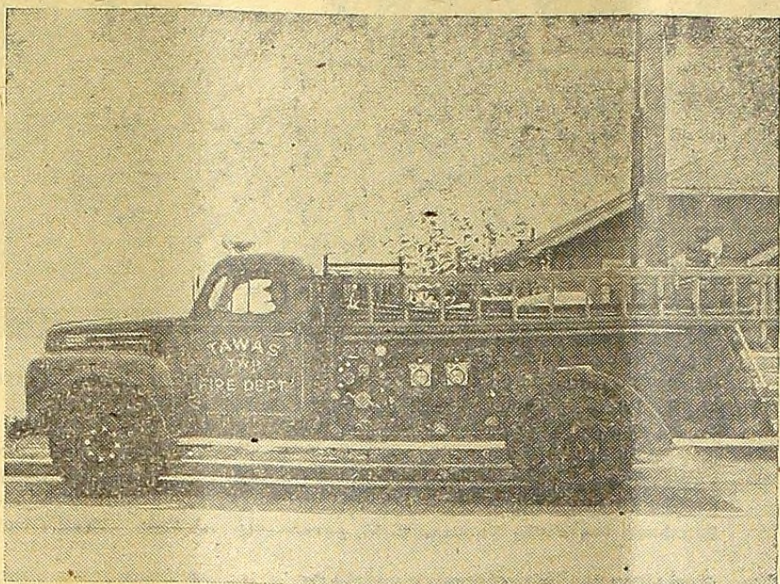

Marjorie Lou Hanniman, friend of the bride, as maid of honor, was the bride's only attendant. She wore a dress of lavender organdy, which was designed with large neckline and collar, apron effect front over full skirt, and cap sleeves. She carried a bouquet of tea roses.

The bridegroom was assisted by his brother-in-law, Robert Alda of East Tawas, as best man. Edward Libka, uncle of the bridegroom, and Richard Frank brother of the bride, seated the 125 guests.

Immediately following the ceremony the guests were received at a reception in the church parlors. A four-tiered wedding cake, topped with miniature bride and groom was centered among greens on the bride's table, and a buffet lunch was served from a table decorated with pastel gladioli. The couple received many lovely and useful gifts.

NEW FIRE ENGINE

Tawas Township Couple to Observe Golden Wedding

New Fire Fighting Equipment Delivered Last Saturday

Saturday afternoon Tawas township officials and members of the Tawas City fire department witnessed and took part in a demonstration of new fire equipment purchased by Tawas township from the Darley Fire Equipment Co., of Chicago.

The demonstration occurred at the Whittemore street bridge and was arranged for by George Prescott III, supervisor of Tawas township. The equipment consists of a heavy Ford V-8 truck chassis, with fire engine body, a 1000 gallon booster water tank, and a three stage fire pump which can pump up to 500 gallons per minute.

Equipped with the new fog nozzles, the engine demonstrated at the bridge that it will be a very efficient instrument in fighting fires. Necessary hose, extension roof ladders and other accessories are part of the equipment.

Arrangements are being made between Tawas township and Tawas City to have the new fire engine housed in the Tawas City fire hall and cared for by the city fire department. In a warm fire hall, the truck will be ready for emergency on call.

The purchase of this equipment is a progressive move on the part of Tawas township and will give farm homes and buildings in the area a protection lacked in the past.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

British Ask Special Loan Favors; Senate Rejects Economy Measure; GI's Apply for War Risk Rebates

EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysis and not necessarily of this newspaper.

BRITISH LOAN: True to Form

Even before the talks got fully underway, the trend of the discussion concerning British-American finance deals was becoming familiarly clear.

THE PROBLEM was Britain's current financial crisis. The hope rested with U. S. procedure as it affects assistance. That the U. S. was thoroughly under the spell of British need and persuasion was shown in the statement that this government is hospitable to a proposal to relax terms of the British loan pact.

Under the current preliminary proposal, the U. S. would grant Britain permission to discriminate temporarily against American goods. Under the British loan pact, Britain got 3.75 billion dollars from the United States in return for a promise to treat American exports the same as those from British Empire countries and Europe.

Now, the British want that requirement knocked out. Here's how the British plan would work:

BRITAIN could, for instance, refuse to license British buyers who want to buy American goods, but it could give "open licenses" to Britishers who, for example, wanted to import Italian goods. Since the Italian imports could be purchased with sterling, this would save Britain dollars.

Thus, with the monetary talks hardly underway, the British are asking a double burden of the American taxpayer—money from the taxpayer to solve Britain's economic problem while at the same time setting up what amounts to a boycott of American imports which will further cost the American taxpayer if he happens to be one of the businessmen affected by the ruling.

And, as the pattern seems to be, officials were reported favorable to the British proposal and—symptomatically, too—were planning to by-pass congress in implementing that approval.

WATCHMAKING:

Pioneered in U. S.

Many Americans believe precision watchmaking is an exclusively Swiss craft. Hence the small but lusty U. S. jeweled watch industry delights in pointing out that basic production methods now used by the Swiss were developed here a century ago, and that this "American system" was adopted by the Swiss about 1875.

Two years ago American craftsmen proved they hadn't lost their ingenuity. An Elgin, Ill., watch manufacturer introduced a rust-proof, acid-proof "durapower" mainspring which was called the most revolutionary advance in watchmaking since introduction of jeweled bearings 200 years ago.

Now by way of improving on perfection, the same factory announces its technicians have learned how to squeeze every last ounce of power out of the wonder-alloy mainspring.

Their method was to eliminate the conventional annealed arbor end of the spring, which had always been dead, unproductive weight. By pre-forming the arbor end, possible only with the new alloy, they have put the entire length of the spring to work. The result: A longer run of the watch between windings, hence a boon to lazy and forgetful thumbs and forefingers!

DIVIDEND:

Rebate for GI's

The federal government, in one of the most amazingly simple forms ever to come out of Washington, was receiving applications from World War II veterans for rebates on GI insurance premiums.

REJOICING over the windfall, surprised and delighted with the simple application form, veterans were flooding the mails with their application cards.

"It's like finding money on the street," one veteran declared.

The dividend payments from national life insurance surplus funds are to be made to persons who hold or have held these policies. The average payment is estimated at $175. To be eligible for a rebate, the veteran must have had his service life insurance in force at least 90 days. The dividend would not be issued on any service life insurance issued after December 31, 1947.

SPENDING:

Slash Rejected

The United States senate stood firm in support of President Truman's estimate of the financial needs of the nation for the next fiscal year.

A move to force the President to slash federal spending to a level 5 to 10 per cent below his advance estimates was defeated. But the margin was only three votes.

The economy amendment, had it carried, would have required the President to hold spending for the current fiscal year some two billion to four billion dollars below the estimates he made last January.

FOES of the proposed economy asserted it amounted to passing the economy buck to the President. Supporters of the amendment answered that the President was in better position than anyone else to determine where to cut.

After the decision on this issue, the senate passed by a voice vote a 14.80 billion dollar appropriation bill to pay for national defense—the cost of the army, navy and air force. This was 500 million less, however, than President Truman had asked.

IN OPPOSING the economy rider, Sen. Scott Lucas, majority floor leader, said the amendment was a "political gesture," an attempt to tell the President to do what congress lacked the courage to do. He asked if economy supporters would "impeach him" if Mr. Truman failed to save as much as ordered.

On the contrary, contended Senator McClellan of Arkansas, "it is sound legislation necessary in the public welfare, and failure to balance the budget or hold the deficit to the minimum this amendment makes possible may well prove to be a stupid and dangerous blunder."

TELEVISION:

Color Must Wait

For those who want color in television, there were four more years of waiting.

That was the expressed conviction of a television manufacturer, Benjamin Abrams. He said that while color television had been demonstrated successfully, "it still is in the laboratory stage and it will be years before it is available for the general public." He then estimated the waiting time as four years.

Abrams said that at the present stage of development of color television, he did not believe manufacturers could turn out adapters for less than $300 to $500. And he estimated a set built especially for color would cost $1,000.

He declared present sets would not become obsolete even with the advent of color. But he said widespread interest aroused by the FCC exploration of color television was causing some prospective customers to postpone buying sets.

Abrams took issue with charges that manufacturers are deliberately holding back color video. He declared it would be in the manufacturers' own interest to bring out color sets quickly if they could produce them at prices within range of the general public.

Summing up he said: "You can't push a button and have color television appear over night."

TITO:

How Long?

How long would Yugoslavia's Marshal Tito manage to hold out against Moscow? On-the-scene observers didn't give him long. They predicted that Tito would be liquidated by assassination or that Russia would abandon diplomatic maneuvering and move into Yugoslavia by force of arms.

THIS LATTER supposition was strengthened by the reported arrival of three Soviet mechanized divisions in southern Hungary. The general view in Belgrade was that the Soviet government had so involved its prestige in the 14-month campaign to destroy the present Yugoslav government that Moscow couldn't let Tito get away with anything further.

The presence of the new Soviet forces in Hungary was held indicative of the gravity of the new crisis between Belgrade and Moscow.

It was pointed out, however, that conditions which made Soviet operations successful in the Baltic states and in Poland do not exist in Yugoslavia. A direct attack might create a condition that could result in another European war.

THE RUSSIANS must realize that as well as anyone else. It will be interesting, therefore, to observe Russian strategy in the continuing onslaught against Tito's regime. If the Russians resort to military force, that action should notify the world that Moscow believes itself ready for war and is ready to face the issue.

If tactics of diplomatic attrition continue, then the embassies of the globe could safely hazard the opinion, and act upon it, that for all its sabre-rattling, the Kremlin is not ready to go to war—not just yet.

TRUMAN:

Long Memory

While President Truman may have nothing else in common with the symbolic GOP elephant, he shares the pachyderm's fame for long memory.

This was indicated by a recent story in Washington that the President appeared about to shake up the membership of the Fine Arts commission which opposed the controversial balcony Mr. Truman installed in the White House.

THAT BALCONY, as almost everyone will recall, was a bonanza for gag men and cartoonists, and, apparently, Mr. Truman didn't appreciate whatever humor might have been contained in the situation.

According to the Washington reports, Commission Chairman Gilmore D. Clark, who vigorously opposed the balcony project, has received no word from the White House since his term expired last March. Terms are about to expire for three other commission members and they, too, have received no communique from the White House about being reappointed.

During the winter of 1947-48 the dispute over the proposed balcony raged furiously after President Truman announced he wanted a second-floor "porch" built onto the White House. The Fine Arts commission formally voted disapproval and various architectural groups and citizens joined in.

THAT DIDN'T deter the President. Mr. Truman had the balcony built despite the criticism. The turmoil subsided quickly and many thought that was the end of the affair.

It might have been—but Mr. Truman, like an elephant, apparently, never forgets.

Moscow Bound

The Very Rev. Dr. Hewlett Johnson, dean of Canterbury, whose support of Russian ideologies has earned him the nickname, "Red Dean," is shown entering his car for the airport on the first stage of a trip to Moscow. This will mark his second journey to the Soviet capital since the war.

FARM AID:

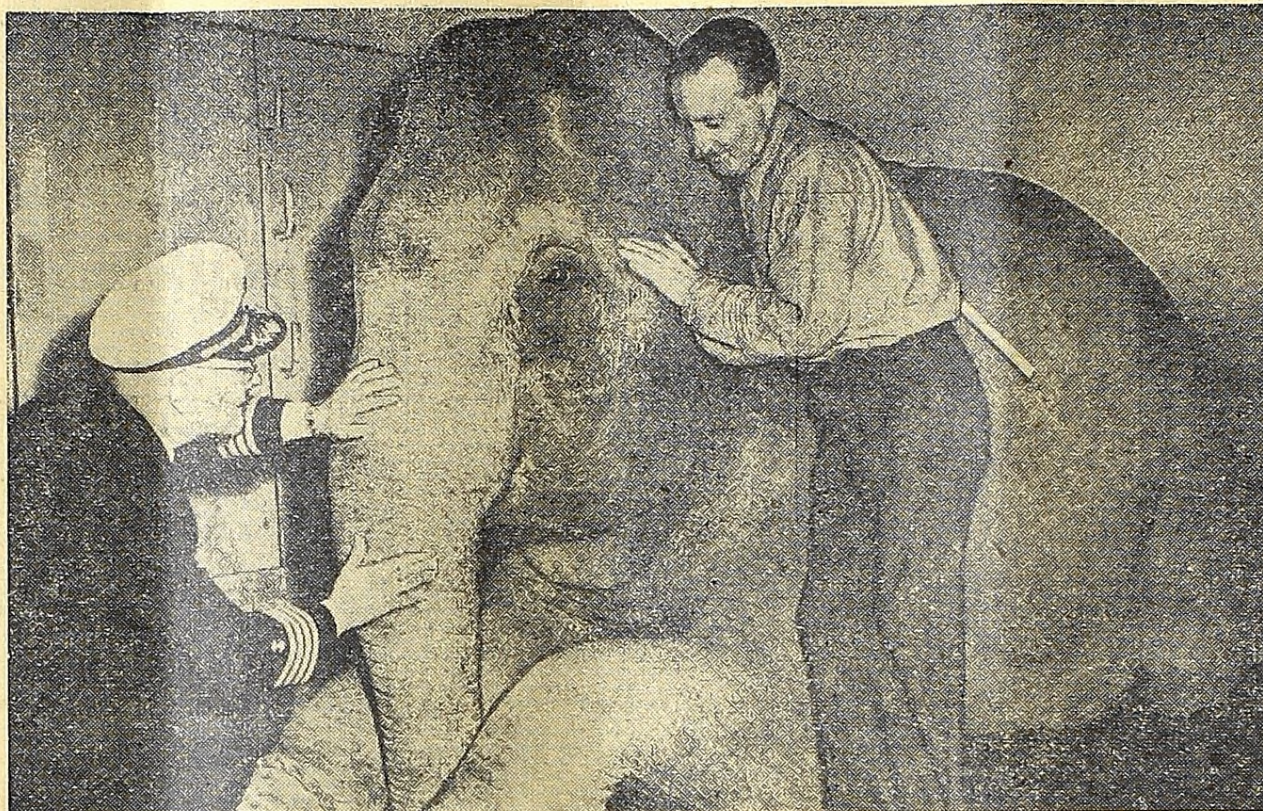

Truce Sought

President Truman was casting about for an end to the feud on farm programs. To that end he invited a group of congressional leaders to the White House to discuss the situation.

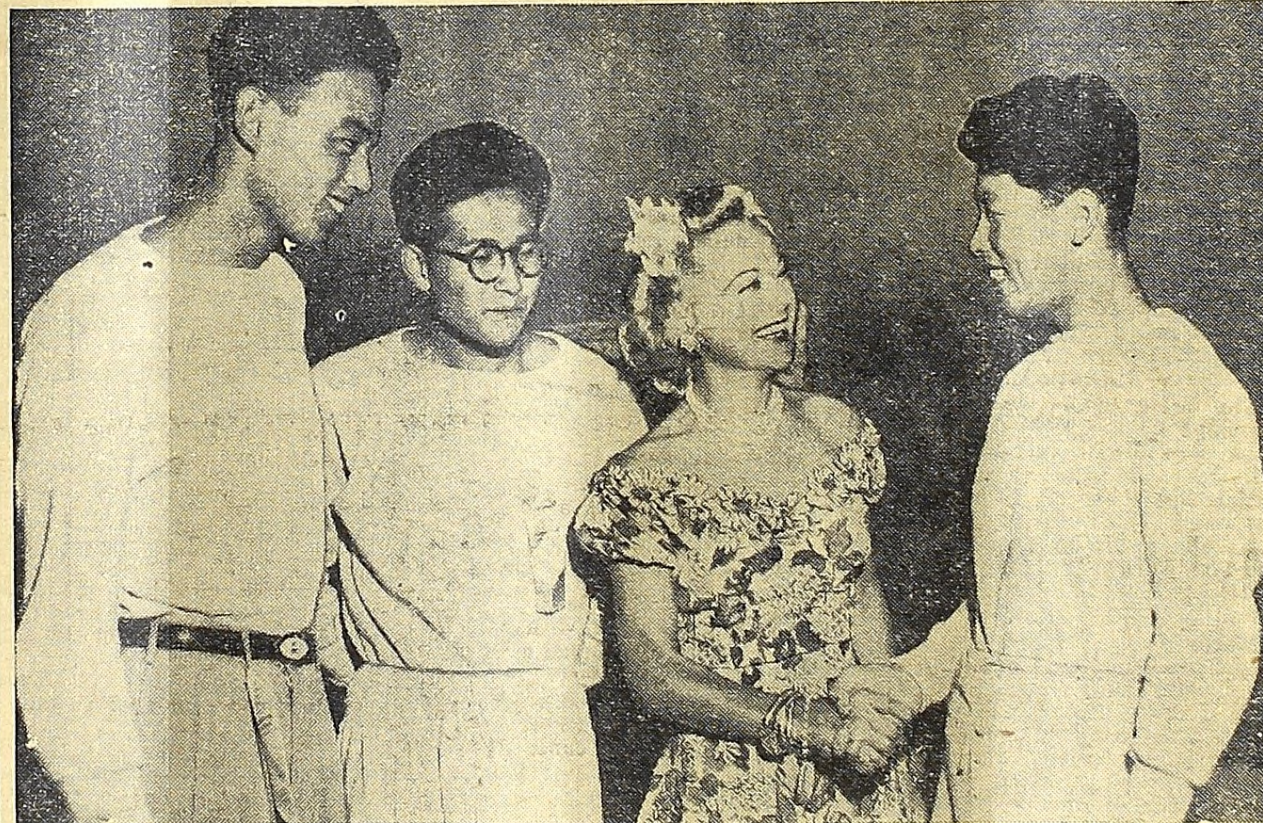

Senator Thomas (D., Okla.) who is chairman of the senate agriculture committee expressed a hope the President "tells us exactly what he wants for a farm program next year."

Barton was in constant communication with the surface. He reported upon the various luminous and strange undersea creatures that he saw, both on ascent and descent. He was striving for a depth of 6,000 feet, but faulty equipment caused an oxygen shortage in the bell.

Hoover Deserving

HERBERT HOOVER, as the only living ex-president of the United States deserves all the respect and well wishes of the people to which his 75 years and his position entitle him.

Named by President Truman to head a commission created by congress to work out a reorganization of the federal government, he did a splendid job and the recommendations of this bi-partisan commission have been acclaimed as sound and necessary and have been given the unqualified approval of President Truman. And the President is seeking, with indifferent success, to have many of these recommendations approved by the congress.

But something is hapening to the bi-partisanship of the Hoover commission and its recommendations. Already there is a flood of propaganda going out from half a dozen different organizations which seem to have a common backing and a common purpose to "sell" the Hoover commission to the people.

From observations here, there is every indication that the GOP leadership will seek to build Mr. Hoover and his commission report into an issue in the 1950 elections.

Serves as Symbol

Mr. Hoover has become some sort of a "symbol" in the Republican party, for not only is he the only living ex-president, but he is the last Republican president elected to office in 21 years, having been elected in 1928. So Mr. Hoover's name was the only one which was greeted with marked applause at the recent "kick-off for '50" dinner held here on the occasion of the election of Guy Gabrielson of New Jersey as the new GOP national chairman. Whether it was coincidental or not, the principal speaker at this dinner was Will Hays, the ex-movie czar, who is the last living successful national chairman of the Republican party. Hays was national chairman from 1918 to 1921 when Warren Harding was elected president. Mr. Hoover's national chairman was Hubert Work of Colorado, chairman from 1928 to 1929 and who resigned as secretary of interior to take the job. He died in 1942. William Butler, who was Coolidge's national chairman from 1924 to 1928, also is deceased.

Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania, the retiring GOP national chairman, who was at the party helm during the 1948 fiasco, put the 64-dollar question to the assembled Republicans when he asked: "I know that most of you are constantly confronted, as I am, with the query, 'what does the Republican party stand for?'"

Scott could only point out to the successive party platforms adopted each four years and which the party record in the congress, at least up to this point, fails to uphold.

Hoover as Forecaster

Mr. Hoover, on the occasion of his 75th birthday, again assumed the role of forecaster, although his reputation for predictions made in 1932 was sadly tarnished. But he set the pattern and the theme the GOP campaign will take in 1950 when he predicted that we are "on the last mile to collectivism, blissfully driving down the back road to it at top speed."

He referred to the concentration of power in the federal government and presumably the "back road" is such programs as support of farm crops, rural electrification, farm price supports, old age pensions, survivors insurance, reclamation of natural resources into public power, rural telephones, public housing, unemployment compensation and the many other benefits which Republicans and Dixiecrats now declare comprise a "welfare state."

Of course there is a "main road" to collectivism to which Mr. Hoover did not refer and that is the concentration of economic power in the hands of a few private enterprises a la the Hitler, Mussolini technique. But there is little question but that from now on we will hear much of this so-called "welfare state" of socialism and collectivism and that Mr. Hoover's "last mile" will be used plenty by the GOP high command in the coming campaign.

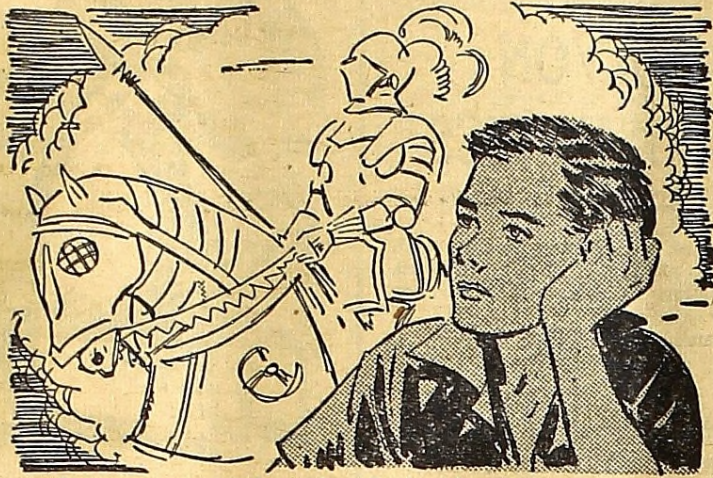

Profit Made

We hear so much about government loss of the taxpayers money, it is refreshing to see that at least in some instances federal agencies make a profit on their operations. The home loan bank board reports dividends of 55 million dollars on its total investment of 273 million, 156,000 dollars in the share capital of more than 1,400 member associations of the federal home loan bank system. Further, the total investment has been reduced.

Adventure Lure
Is Weakening

By Lawrence Gould

Do young people today lack adventurousness?

Answer: Many of them have already had enough adventures to last them the rest of their lives, but according to a recent survey the ambitions of the latest crop of college graduates (seventy per cent of whom are veterans) are quite different from those of young men and women before World War II. Only two per cent of them are planning to go into business for themselves, and few are concerned with becoming rich or famous. The majority have taken special training to prepare themselves for jobs which promise security and "no ulcers."

build a happy peaceful home with any man she marries. The fact that the hatred is based on fear of her own natural impulses, so that the more she loves you, the more she has to make you suffer, is not her fault since she does not realize it, but that will not make her easier to live with.

Should you tell a person he has cancer?

Answer: Probably not. The sort of girl who makes you so miserable that you resolve to break with her but invariably changes just as you're about to do so is likely to have too strong an element of the man-hater (conscious or unconscious) in her disposition to help Answer: That depends upon the circumstances—and the person. If you're dealing with a mature-minded man or woman, I believe he or she has a right to know the truth, both as an incentive to follow whatever treatment is prescribed and as a warning to put his or her affairs in order. For that matter, such a person nowadays would be pretty sure to guess the truth, however hard you tried to keep it from him. But a childish-minded person whom the truth would only terrify may well be left in "blissful ignorance" as long as possible.

Spanking Child Harms Emotions

By Dr. James W. Barton

WHEN YOU SEE a disobedient child, refusing to do as he or she is told, shouting his defiance at his mother's instructions, our natural inclination is to give him the spanking we assume he so richly deserves. What we forget is that this youngster is not normal, that is, not normal from the emotional standpoint, though he may have mental ability.

Oldum, West End Hospital For Nervous Diseases, London, states that if a child finds he can get his own way from hysterical behavior he will cling to his symptoms throughout life and may become a "nervous invalid" if the condition is not recognized and treated in childhood. Hysteria in youngsters before they reach the teen age is expressed as loss of nervous control, crying, screaming and complete loss of muscular power resembling paralysis. In the teen age, hysterical symptoms include fainting and loss of memory.

A child who acts up in this way, may be an only child or an over-protected child and has learned that by putting on his act, becoming hysterical, he can get his own way.

Nearly all hysterical disturbances in an emotionally unstable child are started by unstable home surroundings. "Quarrelsome or drunken parents, an unpredictable mother, overprotection or neglect, or the loss of a parent (mother most often), may be the source of the child's behavior."

If the parents are overprotective and the child sees any little ache or pain upsets them, he adopts their habits to assert or call attention to himself.

HEALTH NOTES

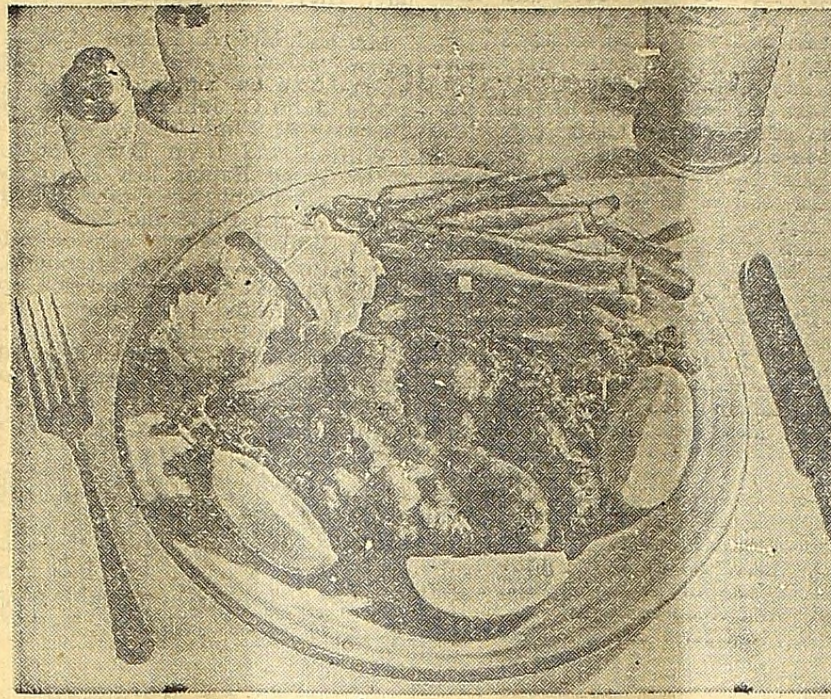

Injury to the back can be caused by poor bed springs, by a slouchy or tired attitude or from doing a medium-heavy task perhaps a hundred or more times a day.

As many patients with pernicious anemia are unable to eat the five ounces of liver daily necessary to keep them alive, the preparation of an extract of liver has proved a great boon.

Sixty per cent of heart patients who consulted heart specialists are suffering from an exaggerated or wholly unnecessary anxiety about their heart.

One of the great problems of our hospitals for tuberculosis is that so many patients leave the hospital too soon.

Serve Fish Often For Meal Variety (See Recipe Below)

Seafood Specials

"FISH do not swim in the ocean just to be eaten on Friday," says the old adage. If you've had the good fortune of eating fish prepared properly, then you certainly will adhere to the adage, for fish cooked to perfection is truly delicious.

But, there are other reasons for eating fish, too! You may have abundant body-building proteins, minerals and vitamins when you have a fish dinner.

Fish are modestly priced whether you buy them fresh, quick-frozen or canned, so they'll help you with food budgeting problems. They're plentiful and amazingly versatile, if you'll just give them a chance.

If you don't particularly enjoy fish, try a new way of preparation. One of the recipes in today's column might start you on a new food adventure. Or, if you tend to get tired of fish, try other methods of preparation with a dash of spanking brand new flavor tricks. You'll be surprised at how many new ways there are for preparing the same foods.

Many have heard of "fish and chips," but have you ever tried them at home? Use filets of fish which have been cleaned, then season with salt and pepper. Roll them in flour and dip in a thin batter, and fry in deep fat (360°). Served with shoe string potatoes, also fried in deep fat until golden and crisp, a hearts of lettuce salad and a generous serving of lemon quarters, you'll have a really delicious dinner for any night of the week.

DO YOU OBJECT to the odor of fish? Fish which is not overcooked will not have that odor to which you may rightfully object. It's wise to remember that fish is delicate and does not need long cooking to make it tender.

Baked fish is popular, especially when it's stuffed with a nicely seasoned celery mixture, then served with a tangy lemon-butter sauce.

- *Stuffed-Baked Fish (Serves 6)
- 3 to 4 pound whole fish
 - 3 tablespoons chopped onion
 - 1/2 cup chopped celery
 - 1 tablespoon minced parsley
 - 1/2 cup bacon drippings
 - 4 cups dry bread cubes
 - 1 teaspoon salt
 - 1/2 teaspoon pepper
 - 1 teaspoon sage, marjoram or thyme
 - 4 slices bacon

Have fish cleaned but leave on head, tail and fins. Wipe dry. Rub inside and out with salt; let stand about 10 minutes. Cook onion, celery and parsley in drippings until golden brown. Combine with bread cubes and seasonings.

Toss lightly and stuff fish loosely. Fasten fish with skewers and lace with string. Place fish, seam side down in a shallow, well greased baking pan. Brush with melted fat or salad oil. Bake, uncovered, in a moderately hot oven (375°) for 40 to 50 minutes. Baste occasionally with fat or oil. During the last 15

Lemon-Butter Sauce: Combine 1/2 cup melted butter or substitute with two tablespoons lemon juice and one tablespoon chopped parsley. Serve over baked fish.

Fish goes to lunch just as nicely as to dinner, when it's tuna fish in golden brown and puffy sandwiches:

- Tuna Fish Sandwiches (Serves 4-6)
- 1 cup grated tuna fish (canned)
 - 1/2 cup chopped celery
 - 1/2 cup chopped green pepper
 - 1 tablespoon grated onion
 - 2 tablespoons lemon juice
 - 1/2 cup salad dressing
 - Salt, pepper and paprika
 - 1/2 cup coarsely grated American cheese

Combine all ingredients except cheese and season to taste. Cut bread slice diagonally in half. Toast one side; spread other side with tuna mixture. Sprinkle with cheese and broil until golden brown and puffy.

HERE'S A RECIPE for the thin batter into which to dip the fish for deep fat frying:

- 1 cup sifted flour
- 1 teaspoon baking powder
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 2 eggs
- 3/4 cup milk
- 1 tablespoon melted butter or salad oil

Sift together flour, baking powder and salt. Beat eggs, add melted fat or oil and milk. Combine with dry ingredients. Beat until smooth and use for fish filets which have been seasoned and rolled in flour. Fry in deep fat until golden brown. Serve at once.

- Oysters have a delicate flavor, but you can coax them into an even more appetite tempting dish as follows:
- Savory Oyster Casserole (Serves 4)
- 2 dozen oysters
 - 1 cup cooked, chopped spinach
 - 1 bay leaf
 - 1/4 teaspoon tabasco sauce
 - 1 cup toasted bread crumbs
 - 2 tablespoons butter
 - 2 tablespoons chopped onion
 - 1 tablespoon minced parsley
 - 2 tablespoons flour
 - 2 tablespoons minced celery
 - Salt, pepper and cayenne pepper

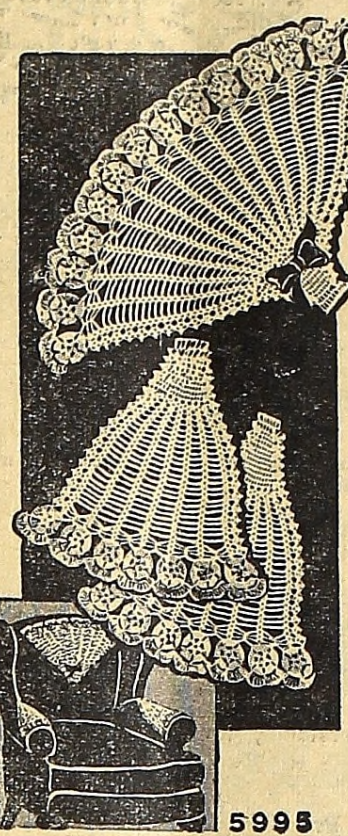

Add seasonings to parsley, spinach, bay leaf, onion and celery. Brown flour in butter and add spinach mixture to it. Cook slowly for 15 minutes and then remove bay leaf. Drain and dry oysters and place in a buttered baking dish, or in individual casseroles. Mix oysters with bread crumbs, then top with vegetable mixture. Dress with lemon juice. Bake in a hot (450°) oven for about 12 minutes. Serve with additional lemon, if desired.

Chopped sweet pickles added to bread stuffing make a nice innovation when used with pike or other white fleshed fish.

Lemon browned butter is another fine idea for serving with fish. Brown but do not burn butter over a slow fire in a heavy skillet. Add to this a dash of worcestershire sauce and lemon juice to season.

Fish filets are sometimes more interesting if dipped in bread dressing, rolled, fastened with string and baked or fried, than when served flat.

"My race for life against a Rattler's Poison!"
A true experience of WILLIAM F. COLLEY • San Diego, Calif.

1 "A piercing shriek cut the silence as I lay in wait for deer in the Laguna Mountains near San Diego. I dashed to Sam Reardon, my hunting companion. A 3 1/2-foot rattler had dug his fangs into Sam's ankle! Twice in my own life, I'd felt the rattler's sting. I knew what to do.

2 "I shot the rattler—opened my snake kit. Night was closing in. I needed light—good, steady light. My flashlight with its 'Eveready' batteries was the answer. By its light, I made a tourniquet, cut a cross incision and removed the venom.

3 "And those long-life 'Eveready' batteries gave plenty of bright light as I carried Sam and flagged a car. I thank my flashlight for saving Sam's life. Now I know why 'Eveready' batteries are the batteries with 'Nine Lives!'"

CHILD SAFETY APPEAL DUE TO ACCIDENT RATE

The current traffic safety campaign to protect children is the result of child traffic accident records, according to Sgt. Donald Cobb, of the East Tawas post of the Michigan State Police.

"The slogan, 'Watch Out for Kids,' that has been selected for this month in connection with the reopening of school just about tells the whole story," Sgt. Cobb said.

"Last year nearly 6,500 children were killed or injured in traffic accidents in Michigan. Of these 4,500 were child pedestrians or bicyclists. This tragic toll must be reduced, and the only way is for drivers to assume the responsibility of being extra careful whenever they are in an area where there may be children.

"Children are impulsive and they also forget. They'll dash out into the street or the highway and do other dangerous things without thinking. Certainly they're violating the rules of safety, but that isn't much consolation when there's an accident.

"With the arrival of September more than a million Michigan children are again crossing the streets and highways each day on their way to and from school. It's up to the drivers to protect them from harm by being alert and cautious.

"In other words, watch out for kids!"

Schools, police agencies and various organizations have joined in carrying on the child safety program.

Lacquer Finishes

Automobiles are no longer painted and varnished but are coated with a material, actually more durable than the metal it protects, which is in large part soluble cotton. Today's widely used lacquer finishes are made from cotton, corn, and air. From these basic sources the scientists derives his starting chemical materials, to which are added pigments and plasticizers.

Where Sixty Minutes Seem but Half an Hour!

DISTANCE isn't the only thing which passes swiftly when you sit at the wheel of a 1949 Cadillac. So does time!

You rest your hand on the beautiful steering wheel and press your toe—ever so lightly—against the obedient throttle . . . and you're off on a wonderful journey.

Your ride is free and easy and restful. You just sit—and relax—and enjoy the scenery—and the companionship of those about you. Conversation is as easy as if you were sitting in your own drawing room—for the car is so quiet you can hear the soft ticking of the electric clock.

The labor of driving is almost nonexistent. The big powerful motor moves you in and out of traffic as if by automatic propulsion. Steering is little more than a response to your wish. Brakes are light to the touch and velvety-smooth in action.

You are as relaxed and care-free as the happy passengers around you.

For you do little more than the thinking—and the car does the rest. And then a familiar landmark looms in the distance. Can it be that you are there?

You look at the clock and you look at the speedometer—and, surely enough, the time and the distance have passed, and your journey is over. Better come in and see for yourself that—when you sit at the wheel of a Cadillac—sixty minutes seem but half an hour!

Outlook for '50 Fertilizer Supplies Is Brighter

The outlook for fertilizer supplies for 1950 is brighter, Harold R. Clark, agricultural agent for Isco county, learned today from officials at Michigan State College. He warned farmers, however, that they should purchase fertilizers to be needed next spring and take delivery whenever it can be made.

Nitrogen production is expected to be up about 25 percent. Potash materials may increase 10 to 12 percent and phosphate materials for fertilizer are about 15 percent greater, Clark reports.

Although production facilities have also increased, the fertilizer industry faces a big problem of keeping plants going during the fall and winter because of a lack of storage.

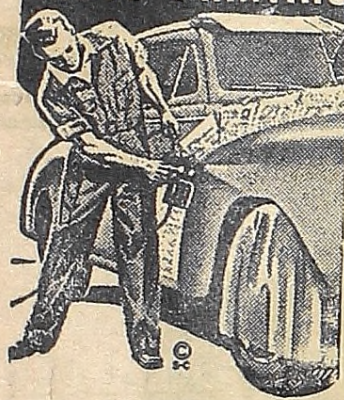

County farmers should purchase and accept delivery this fall or winter instead of waiting until spring, the agent advised. Such action will assure the farmers of having an adequate supply and also enable factories to utilize fully their labor and equipment and produce maximum outputs.

A dry, well ventilated place is needed for storage of the fertilizer, the agent explained. It should not be stacked more than 6 to 10 bags high and should be placed on planks in a manner to allow circulation of air underneath the piles.

Wyoming 'Swiss Cheese'
Wyoming now ranks fifth among the dairy states of the nation in the production of Swiss cheese. The annual output is about 1,250,000 pounds.

Tawas A. B. A. Shows Increase

At the third annual meeting of the Tawas Artificial Breeders Association, the report as given by Tom Nelkie, inseminator, showed an increase in membership and number of cows entered. Eighteen new members increased the total membership to 113. The 120 cows added during the year brings that total to 889. 496 cows are enrolled for Holstein service and 393 for Red Dane.

Mr. Nelkie stated that the breeding success was largely in the hands of the herd owner. Close observation and calling the inseminator promptly usually brought excellent results.

The new membership and finance fees plus the year's fees brought a gross income of $2669.00. Nearly half of the amount goes to the Michigan Artificial Breeder Cooperative Central, of which the local A. B. A. is member. The balance remains in the local association and is used for the maintenance of equipment, the purchase of supplies and the salary of the inseminator.

W. L. "Bill" Finley, Extension Livestock Specialist and George Parsons, Extension Dairy Specialist of Michigan State College were the speakers of the meeting. Mr. Finley said that he has always believed that Isco County's greatest potentiality was in the production of forage crops and pasture. He added that dairy farmers should take advantage of this and strive for greater yields and improved quality of roughage. Mr. Parsons reminded the members that they were very fortunate in having Tom Nelkie for their inseminator, adding that he is one of the best inseminator managers in the state.

He commended the board of directors for their outstanding conduct of the local business. He stated that a great improvement in the income of the dairy farmers is possible through a sound breeding and testing program.

The three directors elected to serve for a term of three years were Waldo Curry, Jr., Fred Latta and Lyle Long. Curry and Long were re-elected after serving for the past three years.

HOW TO MAKE LAMP SHADES DEMONSTRATED AT MEETING

Save eyes and energy and electricity by using lampshades of the right size, shape and color. That will be the aim of members of Home Economics Extension group members in Isco county. How to make plastic lampshades will be demonstrated at the Leader Training meetings scheduled for Tuesday and Wednesday, September 20, 21 at ten o'clock in the Federal Building at East Tawas. All leaders will attend both days.

Arrangement for the meeting have been made by Harold R. Clark, County Agricultural Agent. The lesson will be taught by Jessie E. Marion, Extension Specialist in Home Furnishing, from Michigan State College.

Lampshade darken with age and wear out. They can be replaced easily and cheaply with new hand-made shades. New plastic materials which can be washed, will be used in making the shades.

NEW LAW MAKES SCHOOL ELECTION VOTING EASY

from August 28, 1949 Lansing State Journal

Machinery is now being set in motion for a second attempt at making it easier to get more Michigan citizens to vote in school elections.

First try, two years ago, fizzled out—as most school and election officials feared it would—so the 1949 legislature gave the subject another whirl, with more promising results in prospects.

Many of Michigan's 1,265 township clerks and most of the 183 city clerks throughout the state—as well as a similar number of school board secretaries—will discover they have a job on their hands when they begin carrying out the legislature's orders.

Obligations
Elections division of the secretary of state's office is now preparing to remind these local officials of their obligations under the new law, which takes effect September 23rd.

The measure aims at simplifying the registration process so that when a voter registers with his city or township clerk to cast his ballot in general elections he automatically qualifies at the same time to vote in school elections.

Previously, because of interest in national, state or local politics, many persons signed up to vote in general elections but never bothered to repeat the registration process for school elections. As a result, the voting turnout at most school elections has been dimly small for years past.

Many public officials, including Senator Don VanderWerp, Fremont newspaper publisher who sponsored the new law, thought the dual registration requirement was out-of-date, especially since basic voting qualifications were made identical for both school and general elections.

So long as the would-be voter is a United States citizen, 21 years old, a resident of Michigan at least six months and a resident of the school district 20 days or more, why not make one registration procedure serve both purposes.

VanderWerp tried to streamline the system in a law he pushed through two years ago, but it had the fatal defect of being permissive rather than compulsory and little was heard of it afterwards.

How It Works
Here's the way the new system is to work: If you're a new voter, registering for the first time with your city or township clerk, that official is required to inform you what school district you live in, and—if you wish—to provide a duplicate registration form on which you sign up as a registered school elector. It is then up to the city or township clerk to turn the duplicate over to the school district secretary who enters your name on his list of registered school voters.

That provision is intended to take care of future registrations. It is in catching up with the past that the extra bookwork comes in for municipal clerks and school board officials.

The legislature specified that school boards in districts maintaining a list of registered school voters are to ask their city or township clerks for a certified list of names and addresses of all "existing registered electors of the city or township who reside within that school district."

On getting that list it is the school board's job to place in its file of registered school voters all of the additional names appearing on the township or city registration records. Names thus added are automatically blanketed in from that date forward as registered school voters.

Subsequent cancellation or transfer of a voter's registration must also be reported by the city or township clerk to the school board. To keep the school election registration alive, the voter must exercise his franchise privilege at least once every four years.

The new law applies only to so-called "registration school districts"—those in which the board of education is required or permitted by law to maintain a list of registered voters. In that group are all of the major city school districts, plus many districts of less than 10,000 population which have voluntarily adopted the registration procedure.

The only school organization barred from the "registration" group are the primary districts, mostly in rural areas where a first name acquaintance among the voters makes the formal sign-up of an elector unnecessary.

New York State
Extreme length of the state of New York, east and west, exclusive of Long Island, is 320 miles and its depth is 310 miles. Of the total area, 49,576 square miles, inland waters account for 1,550 square miles. The state has more than 8,000 lakes and ponds. In addition there are 3,140 square miles of water in Lakes Ontario and Erie included within the state boundaries.

Milk Consumption
About 40 per cent of the milk produced in this country is consumed as fluid milk and cream. More than one-half of the milk produced is utilized in the making of manufactured products.

Cow Country
New Zealand contains more cows per capita than any other country in the world. The principal dairy product is butter.

18 Year Olds May Register at Nearest Local Board Office

College and university students who become 18 years of age after the school term starts need not return to their homes to register under the Selective Service Law, Michigan State Director, Colonel Glenn B. Arnold said today, but may register at the local board most convenient to them, as may others when they reach the age of 18.

"The law requires registration of all young men—with very few exceptions—within five days after their eighteenth birthday," Colonel Arnold said, "but there still seems to be some misunderstanding as to the place of registration. All the young man has to do is present himself to the local board or registration place designated in that particular area most convenient in the place he happens to be when he becomes 18. The registration process is simple and requires only a short time. The data thus gathered is sent to the local board of the community he terms his home and which has jurisdiction over him."

When the registrant has a permanent home, the permanent home address should be given to registration officials. For this purpose "home" is the place with which the registrant normally identifies himself and at which he would wish to be classified.

Colonel Arnold pointed out that there is no liability for service under the Act until the age of 19 is reached, but he emphasized the obligation to register at 18.

"The law is specific," he said, "and provides severe penalty for failure to comply."

Colonel Arnold added that the law is also specific in its requirements concerning obligations of a registrant to keep his local board informed as to any change in his address, where he may be reached by mail, that is—change in his status under the Act.

"That applies after the registrant becomes 26 as well as before, and it means that college and university students, as well as other registrants, should notify their respective local boards when they leave their homes. There is no form for this. It may be done by mail or personally appearing at the board office."

Colonel Arnold emphasized that the requirements to register and legal obligations of registrants were in no way altered because there have been no inductions within the past few months.

Place of registration in this county is 212 Federal Building, East Tawas, Michigan.

Indian Cattle Raisers

Indians have increased their beef cattle herds from 171,000 in 1932 to 383,300 in 1946, and meantime the quality of the cattle has improved greatly. Dairy cattle, likewise, increased from 11,000 to 50,000 in the same period. Income from livestock operations during these years grew from $1,300,000 to more than $21,000,000.

Abortion in Sheep

Cold weather helps to prolong the life of the germ that causes vibronic abortion in sheep. This probably explains why most cases of this disease occur during cold months.

Wash Water

It has been suggested that 160-degree water will wash clothes cleaner than 140-degree water. Tests at the Virginia Polytechnic Institute have yielded this statement: "A temperature of 160 degrees for wash water gives best cleaning results, but 140 degrees is nearly as good and is recommended because it is more economical to maintain in the water heating equipment. Temperatures above 170 degrees are not recommended except where boiling is done to sterilize white clothes."

WONDERFUL NEIGHBOR

by HOMER CROY

Driving home along a country road amid the scenes of his youth, Homer Croy recalled the people he knew, the friends he had had as a child. A prodigal son of northwest Missouri, he was returning to places that revived memories of happy times with the Kennedys—Newt, the kindest man he'd ever known; Mrs. Kennedy; their daughters, Ida and Lucy; their son, Harlan, his boyhood pal. He recalls how Anton Delinsky, the newly arrived "foreigner," almost let Newt shove off his head "so he'd look more American," and how Newt finally gave up in utter disgust. Then there was that watermelon party at the Kennedy "mansion." It was a gala affair.

CHAPTER IX

After hours . . . so it seemed . . . Harlan and I would get some to eat. But no knives and forks for us; just the easy, natural way.

Conversation falls away; people too busy.

The telephone rings. "Go and see who it is," Mrs. Kennedy tells Lucy, who goes in and takes the phone off the hook.

"Enoch Knabb is sinking," she announces when she comes back.

A hush falls. No knives tapping the plates now.

"He was always a good neighbor," Newt says. "I never knew anybody more accommodating."

"It's going to be hard on his wife," Mrs. Kennedy shakes her head sadly. She always thought of things from the woman's point of view.

The other women nod. "How long were they married?" someone asks.

"Twenty-nine years," Grandpa says promptly. "They were married the year after Grasshopper Year."

"I suppose it'll be at Cain's," comes from Mr. Willhoite. Cain's was where the pioneers were laid. It was on the old Cain farm.

At last we are so full some of us are panting a little. We just sit there and rest. The dog comes over and lies down by Harlan; Harlan pulls his ears gently. Fireflies flick by.

Anton Delinsky eats silently and moodily. Finally he says he is thinking of summer melons back home.

"Mooch better in old country," declares Newt; "there's no better melon than a Missouri sidehill."

Newt tries to argue with him, but the more Newt argues the more set in his opinion Delinsky becomes.

Newt says, "Well, if everything is so much better where you came from, why don't you go back?"

Sadness comes into Delinsky's face. "Get lonesome sometimes. It is hard to get opp an' leave your country."

"Well," says Newt, put down, "I can understand that. It is natural to like where you was born. How about some mushmelon? There's nothing better than our yellow-bottoms."

"Yah," says Anton.

The incident is over; Anton's moment of homesickness is gone.

A guinea lets off a potrack. "Rain tomorrow," announces Mr. Willhoite.

"Good for the corn," comes from Mr. Trullinger.

We always thought about everything in relation to corn; corn was our biggest crop. If there wasn't corn, we had a hard year. Sometimes Mrs. Kennedy would say, "It seems to me we're always having hard years."

"We manage to get along pretty well," Newt would say.

Sometimes she'd say: "People in town have an easier time."

Occasionally we'd feel sorry for ourselves. Then we'd hear about the poor people in the Ozarks, or in the hardpan section of Kansas or in the alkali section of Nebraska and we would thank God we were so well off. Of course there was always lots of work to do. Sometimes we'd make up barrels of clothes to send to these poor people; sometimes we'd get a letter back thanking us. Then we'd feel thankful all over again how lucky we were.

While Harlan and I was resting, Newt would say, "Boys."

Everybody expects boys to do all the work at a melon party. The girls never do anything; just sit there. Harlan and I gather up the rinds and put them in the wash boiler and carry it out to the chicken yard, dump the rinds out on the ground and bring the wash boiler back for another load. More work.

"Suppose we bring out the graphophone," says Newt. "Boys!"

The Flogging Of Uncle Tom

But Harlan and I didn't care, even if it did mean more work; anybody would like to bring out a graphophone, for the "graphophone" was the finest entertainment we had; and the Kennedys had an especially good one.

There it was, in its box and with it was a mammoth horn held up by an iron tripod and a hook.

"Who's got a favorite?" Newt would ask.

Harlan and I always had a favorite because it was the most exciting: "Flogging Scene From Uncle Tom's Cabin. With Incidental Music."

Newt would wind up the graphophone and give the lever a flip. There would be a dull scratching; then suddenly a voice would follow: "Flogging Scene From Uncle Tom's Cabin. With Incidental Music."

you strike this yere white haid, then the hand of Hebben will fall upon you."

Simon Legree snarled something, Uncle Tom's trembling voice replied, then suddenly the air was filled with the most dreadful sounds.

"I can still hear the crack of the bull whips in a mudhole," Grandpa would say.

Then, just as suddenly as it had started, the noise would stop. We had a colored preacher—the Reverend Clarence Baker—who preached on Sundays at his church, but helped us at haying time. Pa always asked him to say grace; and the Reverend Baker would bow his head and say a fine grace. When Uncle Tom was being flogged, I always saw the Reverend Clarence Baker there on his knees, tears streaming down his face, receiving the terrible blows. Nobody could speak for a few moments, so vivid, so terrible had the scene been. "I don't think we'll ever better put that on again," Mrs. Kennedy would say. But we all knew it would be the first next time there was a party.

Another was "Cummings' Indian Congress at Coney Island." I didn't know what an Indian Congress was (I'm still not quite sure) but it had the most bloodcurdling shrieks in the benighted." It was a good time to get rid of our old clothes and to feel we were also serving God.

But on this special day, the preacher said we were not to bring our old clothes and that no barrels would be packed. This sounded strange. It probably meant money.

Next Sabbath, when we tied up at the hitch racks, we got a surprise. The word flashed around that the preacher had two heathens in the church! We went to the windows and peeked through and there, sure enough, were two heathens sitting on the deacon's side. Our eyes nearly popped out; never before in our lives had we seen the benighted people we had been sending our old clothes to.

They had on the strangest, the most outlandish clothes, we had ever seen. One of the heathens was a man, the other a woman; the woman had an ivory fan; now and then she would open the fan, wave it back and forth, then drop it in her lap. Our women had palm-leaf fans and in the summer would swish them back and forth while listening to the sermon. It was a bit of a shock to find the heathen had better fans than we had. Maybe we shouldn't have rushed off our old clothes so fast.

The preacher began slow, for he knew he had something good; no one, today, was going to pretend the colt had got tangled up in the harness. He told about what splendid work our American missionaries were doing and what a blessed privilege it was to save the souls of the benighted and win their hearts to God. Then he read some statistics about how many had been saved. The number seemed tremendous. But there were, he said, millions yet to be saved. That was discouraging.

Finally he got to what everybody was waiting for. He said we were privileged to have with us, this Sabbath, Brother and Sister Miller who had just returned from performing a splendid work in Japan. Well, that was a shock. "Brother and Sister." They were not heathen at all. They were far above us, for they were missionaries doing God's work in a foreign land, while all we did was to stay at home and think only of ourselves. It made us feel pretty cheap.

"I will now introduce Brother Miller."

Brother Miller stood up and we had a good look at his Japanese clothes; they would never do for farming. His shoes were held on by straps between his toes. He wouldn't get very far in a muddy milk lot.

Suddenly Brother Miller smiled and said, "Ohio!" We thought that was where he was from, but it turned out this was the Japanese word for "How-are-you?"

"Now, let's all get acquainted and say it together—'Ohio!' So we all said it together. "Now let the women say it." "Now let the men say it." We said it.

We found we had misjudged him, for he began to tell about how poor the people of Japan were and how they had to plow with a cow on one side and the wife on the other. That was far, far worse than the Delinskys. About all they raised was rice; also they had some fish. At night they had to sleep on the floor. We felt sorer and sorer for the poor Japanese and saw how exceedingly lucky we were. None of us had to sleep on the floor except when company came. But that was not all, as we soon found; mothers had to sling their children in pokes over their backs and work in the rice fields with their children crying and sobbing. So vivid and stirring was his description that we could hardly keep from sobbing ourselves. Thank God! We lived in wonderful America where no woman had to carry her baby out to the field in a sling over her back. The Japanese loved their farms, he said; we understand that. Any farmer would.

'Heathens' Turn Out To Be Missionaries

Someone sings out, "Uncle Josh" and everybody smiles. Uncle Josh Weathersby was a farmer like us, but he wasn't as smart as we were. Sometimes he would be trying to learn to ride a bicycle, a lady would come along and he would try to tip his hat and dodge a streetcar at the same time. Sometimes he would be in a Chinese laundry trying to get his washing, but he had lost his tuckie, as the Chinaman called it. Pretty soon we would all be laughing, having forgotten all about Uncle Tom and the poor white settlers.

Newt would look at his watch and say, "I guess we'd better have President McKinley." The record read: "Address at the Funeral of our Martyred President, William McKinley." The solemn tones and the slow music moved and stirred us. We knew the story of how the assassin had shot President McKinley down at the Buffalo Exposition, and we thought of that as the orator told about the noble William McKinley. After it was over, no one could speak.

Finally Anton says: "How is President choosed?"

As Newt tells him, Anton nods from time to time and says, "Yah, yah, iss goot."

"I expect we'd better think about goin'," Mr. Willhoite says.

The women go out back, the men light the lanterns. Pa goes over and stands by Newt and the two talk in low tones; man talk. Mr. Willhoite says: "Well, Newt, my colt stood and suckled, so I guess I've got to pay you for your service."

"Any time you find it convenient," says Newt.

The women come back, politely pretending they haven't been anywhere, and soon everybody is moving across the yard. The horses begin to paw and whinny; the lanterns mean they can go home. Delinsky seizes Newt's hand. "Have fine time."

In a few moments the people are in their buggies and spring wagons and going down the road; the light from the lanterns gets smaller and smaller and finally disappears behind the osage hedges.

Work tomorrow.

One Sunday our preacher announced that the following Sunday was to be Foreign Missions Day. This was something to look forward to, for, on Foreign Missions Day, we always brought our old clothes and packed them in barrels for what the preacher called "the heathen and the benighted." It was a good time to get rid of our old clothes and to feel we were also serving God.

But on this special day, the preacher said we were not to bring our old clothes and that no barrels would be packed. This sounded strange. It probably meant money.

Religion and Habits

Lesson for September 18, 1949

IF RELIGION is not moral, it is a poor, flimsy, no-good religion. If morality is not religious, it soon cracks. Religion has to be moral and morality has to be religious, or else both of them lose their excuse for existence. This is not a new idea. It was in the Bible long ago. Our Psalms for this week are among those that bring out this truth: God is interested in how people live.

He is interested in what they do seven days and seven nights a week; he is interested in their habits as much as their souls. Psalms 15 and 24 are so plain on this point that they need no explaining.

Churches and Liquor Don't Mix

THIS truth, that right religion and right behavior are twins, lights up all of life like a floodlight; but since this is our temperance lesson, let us focus it more or less on one spot.

It is a sore spot: the drink habit. Why does the church make such a fuss about people drinking? Catholic churches are opposed to liquor in excess, and most Protestant churches are opposed to liquor, period.

The movies have made the "binge," the hangover, almost respectable; but the church knows better. Why? Will the time ever come when the churches are not opposed to the liquor business? No, it will not; because the churches know what liquor does.

The minister is usually the man (along with the lawyer and doctor and the sheriff) who has to pick up the pieces when drink gets a man or a woman and breaks up a family. The minister gets behind the scenes, he knows that some funerals would not have been funerals if it had not been for drink.

The car that "went out of control," the disease that should not have been fatal, the family quarrel that grew to hatred and violence—he sees enough of these caused by alcohol, to have no illusions about the stuff.

A Psalm in Reverse

IF THERE is a single reader of these lines who imagines that religion is only a "matter of the soul" and has nothing to do with what people eat or drink, then let him try a little experiment with the 15th Psalm.

As it stands in the Bible, it is a description of the kind of man who can appear without shame before God—in short, of the religious-and-moral man.

Now beginning with verse 2, take the Psalm phrase by phrase, and see how false and ridiculous it is if you try to make the description fit the man with the drink habit. "The victim of drink walketh uprightly, and worketh righteousness—!" Quite the contrary, he seems to be doing his best to ruin his own happiness and that of others.

"The drunkard speaketh the truth in his heart!"—! There is one truth he never speaks in his heart: I am a drunkard. The one thing the victim of alcohol never admits till it is too late (if ever) is the hold which alcohol has on him. "He that backbiteth not with his tongue, nor taketh up a reproach against his neighbor!"—!

Contempt Is No Cure

WELL, read on for yourself. The slave to alcohol (and many a man is chained to it, who would feel insulted if you called him an alcoholic) certainly does not fit the description of the man whose life God approves.

But the Christian will by no means think his duty done merely by sitting in the seaman's seat, or being an abstainer himself, or even by helping those who have fallen into the pit. He will remember that an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure.

The liquor business has no conscience. It sometimes comes out with pious remarks about temperance—but it keeps right on advertising, it knows no law but profit. The only whole-hearted workers for temperance will always be the people who make no money out of it. And the most effective workers for temperance will be those who themselves, in all their habits, give examples in life of what they preach.

By INEZ GERHARD

MARIE WILSON, in New York to help publicize the hilarious screen version of "My Friend Irma," was probably the most cooperative actress Paramount has worked with in a long time. Also one of the nicest. "I want to go on making comedies," she said, "But with the radio 'My Friend Irma' going on, I won't have to take just anything that's offered." Pre-views of the picture have been so enthusiastically received that a sequel, "Irma Goes West," is being same cast. Three members of it, Miss Wilson, Dean Martin and Jerry Lewis, the comedians, have been prepared, to be made with the signed for "That's My Boy." So she's back on the screen to stay.

More about the pretty Marie. Arriving on one of New York's hottest days, she posed on a load of ice for news photographers. Her dog, a true lens hound, promptly scrambled up beside her and gazed into the cameras.

If you have a Mark Warnow Victor Record (No. 27868-BO) of "The Music Goes Round and Round" you may be able to get $10 for it.—Mark Goodson and Bill Todman, producers of CBS' "Spin to Win," use it as their theme song, and they've worn their disc thin. So they will pay that sum for the first 10 records they receive—in good condition, of course.

Tipsters and radio-columnists cannot cue listeners to the "Kate Smith Calls" show about the week's Mystery Personality. Each broadcast features a new celebrity, and a contestant must do some on-the-spot guesswork.

Since Fred Astaire's "retirement" didn't take he is working harder than ever. Winding up Paramount's "Let's Dance" with Betty Hutton, he goes to MGM for "Three Little Words," returns to Paramount later to team with Bing Crosby.

Betty Hutton, whose "Red, Hot and Blue" will be released before the end of the year, will make "Annie Get Your Gun" for MGM, then will do "The Life of Theda Bara" and another story based on the life of Mack Sennett.

When making "Samson and Delilah" Cecil B. DeMille stuck strictly to the Bible story except when the research department discovered an error. "For instance," he explained, "The Bible says 'Samson was bound with fetters of brass.' Brass was not discovered until 300 years after Samson's time. The mistake may have slipped into the King James version." So copper was used.

Barbara Hale received the fifth annual screen speech award from the Linguaphone Institute of America when she arrived in New York. She was selected because of the excellence of her diction in Columbia's "Jolson Sings Again."

In "The Case of the Prodigal Daughter" Perry Mason (CBS weekdays) solved a murder by staging a fake seance. Right on the heels of the radio show a somewhat similar case bobbed up in real life; there was a "voodoo doll." (Perry used one too,) and a spiritualistic seance was held in an attempt to find a murderer, but less successfully than in Mason's story.

William Talman of RKO's "I Married a Communist," got his big break when he landed a part on Broadway in "Spring Again." He played it one week, then was drafted. His understudy replaced him—the understudy being Kirk Douglas.

ODDS AND ENDS . . . Band-leader Elliot Lawrence, recognized as one of the best band leaders in the business, has just written a number that can be played with one finger . . . And Bill Harington, singing star of "Your Hit Parade," composer of several popular songs, is working on another—called "Hit Parade" . . . "Stop the Music" is said to be the hardest radio show in New York to get tickets for . . . It's reported that the belles of Stromboli have adopted Bergman's hair style.

Farm Bureau News— Send Delegates to State Meeting

Approximately 250 representatives from some 60 counties gathered at Michigan State College on September 8, at the State Farm Bureau's first roll call meeting. The enthusiastic group assured Wesley Hawley, director of State membership that they counties would make the State goal of 44,100 new members by December 10.

The Iosco Farm Bureau, called the "baby of the group" received a round of applause because of its fine representation. Mr. and Mrs. Tracy Vary, Mrs. Charles Kobs, Mr. and Mrs. William Herriman and James Mielock were delegates.

Carl E. Buskirk, president of Michigan Farm Bureau, high lighted the days speakers. He said that farmers in England are an example of government regimentation, under weak government subsidy schemes, as the Brannon plan. He spoke from his personal observation of English agriculture while in Europe last summer to observe the working of the Marshall plan.

"In England," Mr. Buskirk said, "the government pays subsidies to farmers to keep the price of agricultural commodities up for the farmers and prices down to consumers. It has resulted in arraying farmers and city people against each other, and has brought strict regimentation for farmers."

Pres. Buskirk said that the farmer in England is told what to raise and how much he should produce. If he can't meet the quota set by government, he is subject to being replaced by another farmer.

The American Farm Bureau Federation fruit and vegetable committee and representatives of all food merchandising organizations are at work to create a market ourselves, instead of running to Washington for a handout.

National grocer groups, hotel and restaurant associations agreed to push fruits and vegetables during the months of August and September in view of the surplus this season.

He stressed that the farmer's voice ought to be heard more often in our legislatures and in Michigan Educational groups where the biggest share of planning is done and for rural schools, there should be more farmer representation.

After speakers on the day's program reviewed the work of the delegates, during the coming membership drive December 5 to 10. They solicited everyone's cooperation.

Local Business Census Rapidly Nears End

"The census of business for 1948 is rapidly drawing to a close. District Supervisor Donald P. Watkins said 97 per-cent of the work has been completed in the Tawas area.

"In order to bring this census work to an early completion, Mr. Watkins urges all businesses which have not submitted their report to do so at once. Also, those which may have been overlooked by the census enumerator are requested to call Boyne City 39, or write to Donald P. Watkins, District Supervisor, Room 200, Post office building, Boyne City, Michigan, and the proper forms will be mailed immediately. The same request is made of those who have lost or mislaid their forms.

"Submission of reports is required by law." The completion of this work in each area has been made possible by the excellent cooperation received from the business men with the Census office. Your cooperation during your busy season to help the Census Bureau meet it's required dead lines has been greatly appreciated by this office.

BEAR MAY BECOME DOMESTICATED

Bear, in the near future, may become as domesticated as deer are now, and it will be nothing out of the ordinary to see a bear, from the back window of our home, come into the yard looking for tidbits to eat, says one of our amateur conservationists. This will be right in the environs of our city and not out on some remote country farm, he said.

This observation was based on the recent news story, that bear had been seen in the vicinity of Ottawas Beach and others had watched them cross the Tawas Beach road.

Among those who noticed signs of bear in the area near East Tawas are: Dr. L. A. Lambert, N. J. Crocker, Mr. and Mrs. Scott Shuman, Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Immers, Joseph Allen and others

Nanga Parbat
Nanga Parbat is an ice-sheathed giant that rises from the hot valley floor of the Indus river, in north-west India, to a height of 28,660 feet, or more than five miles above sea level, notes the National Geographic society. Although topped by unconquered Everest and half a dozen lesser cloud-breakers of the Himalayan chain, this mountain, in its isolated grandeur, long has been a tantalizing challenge to the "highest yet" fraternity. Twenty-nine men have lost their lives to the mountain during 50-odd years of attempts to scale its crowning peak.

"Upside-Down River"
Wood river in southeastern Idaho is sometimes called the upside-down river because at one place it is 100 feet wide and 4 feet deep and in another place not far away it is 100 feet deep in its gorge and 4 feet wide.

Undeveloped Land
About 80 million or more acres of undeveloped land in the United States are estimated to be suitable for farming.

Way Back When
Train robbers made big headlines in early days but they were never so costly to the railroads as tramps and bums. This was so not because the tramps and bums rode without paying fares, but because of their thefts of and damage to freight, and also because tramps and bums were likely to become clients of a whole army of shyster lawyers whose specialty was suing railroads on account of injuries to men who, to begin with, had no right to be where they were when injured.
